

PLEA FOR THE HOMESTEADERS

Senator Borah Sharply Criticises the Government.

DRAWS COMPARISON BETWEEN U.S. AND CANADA.

Settlers of the West Find An Eloquent Champion In Junior Senator from Idaho.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The cause of the homesteader in the west found an eloquent champion in the United States senate today in Senator Borah of Idaho, who ably criticized the the government for its attitude and drew a sharp comparison between the discouragement settlers receive from the United States and the welcome extended them by Canada.

Senator Horn spoke as follows: "I urge, Mr. President, that our land laws are antiquated and out of date—impractical, harsh and sometimes cruel in their operation. They discourage bona fide settlers, they practically ostracize from our public lands the homesteader of limited means—those whose peculiar province it ought to be our public land laws to serve. They have driven, as the figures which I have called to the attention of the

These laws leave the homesteader at the time he gets his title, if he ever gets it, stripped, impoverished and dis-encouraged, ready to sell at any price that which he had wanted as a home. These laws have come more to drive the homesteader away, not only before getting title but in his discouragement immediately thereafter, than you can well imagine. These laws do not help the government, they retard the development of the community and they are severe and unjust to the settler.

when the operations of the law are so confessedly unjust and unfair is it possible that congress will with the same flatless indifference or supine unconcern as has characterized it in the last 20 years, let this session pass without remedying them? If there were any public good to be served by leaving the laws as they are it would be different. Every interest of the community and the government is centered in having these lands reclaimed and oc-settlers. These laws are against that purpose. There is no possible exaggeration in the statement that they do more injury and cause far more misery and suffering than one can well describe. I know that if congress could realize their ineffectiveness, their harshness and their injustice, it would end. Congress ought to earnestly set about to amend these laws.

It cannot shift its responsibility to the departments. The departments have enough to bear without this. We have something to do ourselves in order to better conditions and the departments cannot except in a limited way help

Basketball Games Between High School Teams.

Last year Jerome broke even with Twin Falls in the series of basketball games played on the North Side, one team of each school winning a victory. On Saturday, January 20, the two schools will measure strength in basketball games which will be played in the high school gymnasium. Two games will be played, one between the boys of the two schools and one between the girls. The high school of this city is showing up better in athhearty support from the school patrons by attendance at the games.

very fortunate in being able to present to his patrons Dante's Inferno. The pictures are no doubt the best of the kind ever seen in the city. Both Monday and Tuesday evenings the theatre was crowded to the utmost. On Monday Mr. Wilson was compelled to give three shows in order to accommodate the crowds. For next Monday and Tuesday he will show the Current Event pictures, which are fast becoming at ing a leading feature in moving-pi-ture films.

Henry Waterson, seer of the Democracy, in a press interview, says that Woodrow Wilson is not a statesman, only a mere schoolman. Of course Waterson ought to know the difference between the two without a doubt, but his estimate of the popular governor of New Jersey will possibly be taken with a grain of reason by the rank of the Democracy, which believes in many of the reforms the schoolman Wilson is advocating. As a matter of fact, both Republicans and Democrats are looking for something better in a statesman or a man with judicial calm and poise, who will be able to hold his own until there is no time left for action. A pedagogus with fixed convictions and a mind to carry them out would be a relief after four years of blowing hot and cold on the part of one of the so-called statesmen of our modern times. There would at least be the knowledge that certain things would be attempted with the intent to succeed.

The governor's message read before the legislature—personally adds little to what has appeared from his versatile pen on the same subject. Cash value must be enforced. Contention at rights with regard to the levy by the legislature should be quietly overlooked. A very liberal share of the document is given to the tracers of the "By the Eternal" harmony plan and some attention to conditions which cash value has brought about. The message, getting down to basis of needs, could have been written and delivered in ten to fifteen minutes, and the balance in the form of an apology for a condition which is not due to his own folly, but to the foot laws with which he so carelessly tinkered. Persecution according to the governor, does not include anything that has transpired during his activity as the state chief executive. Between the lines can be read a mute admission of his mistake which makes legislative action necessary.

Postmaster General Hitchcock in his recommendation for government ownership of the telegraph lines is evidently after something bigger than a cabinet position. His recommendation strikes at one of the big monopolies and cannot be said to have assisted President Taft in the slightest in his campaign. Hitchcock is a much bigger man and better politician than the average cabinet officer and is at the present using his office to further the big stick policies which were instituted by his former chief, Roosevelt. If the recommendations of the postmaster general regarding civil service extension, the postal telegraph and parcel post were carried out, it would make the postoffice department the most powerful patronage system in the world with the opportunity for the head of such system after four years to practically dominate the politics of the party due to the influence which goes with power to confer favors in the matter of concessions and appointments. The Hitchcock business administration in the postoffice, while actually cutting out a deficit, looks far more menacing to the freedom of the press in the United States than anything which was ever been done even in times of war. It will practically make every publication in the United States dependent upon the autocratic authority of the postmaster general. If the recommendations which he has recently made to congress are enacted into a law, the effect of the active mind of Hitchcock seems to be tending toward making the postoffice department the political center rather than the White House.

IRRESPONSIBLE JOURNALISM.

The conduct of a great portion of the press relating to presidential politics resembles one of Kipling's banderlog—the money people. Incessantly they chatter, and the things they spoke of yesterday they have forgotten tomorrow. The New York "Globe," rightly represents the actual situation when in commenting on a recent statement in the Philadelphia "North American" (a statement which was substantially correct) it says: "Mr. Roosevelt is not a candidate now. He has no expectation of being a candidate next year. To state so much emphatically is as far as Mr. Roosevelt may be expected to go. It is disclaiming enough to satisfy the fair-minded. As to what would be his answer if a universal demand for him should arise next year it is not for him to ask him to say. As Lincoln was fond of saying, no man may be justly asked to say, before he has reached it. Whether he will or will not cross a particular bridge." This should be explicit enough; yet, without any evidence whatever to sustain them, some of the New York papers, following their customary wild and irresponsible methods as regards presidential campaigns, soon after the publication of the "North American" article, began to assert that Mr. Roosevelt had declared himself to be a candidate; that he was observing a profound secrecy as to his intentions; that he was plotting in all sorts of mysterious ways, and that his friends generally knew that he was secretly aiming at the presidency. The New York "Times" caps the climax by declaring (January 6): "The observant have long been aware that Mr. Roosevelt intends, by fair means or foul, to secure the Republican nomination for the presidency this year." The ultimate truth about the situation may be ascertained by a recent quotation from the New York "Globe," which says: "Is a presidential nomination private property? May any man speak of it as 'his,' 'belonging to him?' Is it proper to say that one man is 'entitled' to a nomination and another not?" and replies to its own question: "It is not vital what is the personal attitude of President Taft toward his candidacy or what is the attitude of Colonel Roosevelt toward his possible candidacy. We should not give to one man because he wants it, and not confer on another because he does not. We have been running a democratic republic for one hundred and twenty-five years. Yet it looks sometimes as if there is small appreciation of what a democracy is and what the presidency is. It is time to vindicate the public ownership of the presidency. We bestow it not to please any man but to please ourselves." Our favorite device in the kind of journalism we are describing is the distorted headline—that is, the headline which has a tremendously sensational meaning, but which is not in the least substantiated by anything which appears in the article following. A striking instance in the headline in the New York "Evening Post" of December 31 referring to the Sheldon correspondence—"Colonel Roosevelt Says It's False!" Another is that of the New York "Sun" of January 4—"Roosevelt is a Candidate Again!" Examples might be multiplied of cases like this, in which the text of the article, misleading as it may be, does not in the least substantiate the headline. This kind of journalism greatly increases the permanency of falsehoods in those newspapers which practice it.

THE 1912 RULES.

Governing the Baking of Baked Potatoes.

1. Grasp the potato gently with both hands. Use a napkin if he is too hot.
2. Break him amiable and lay one piece back on the plate.
3. After the potato is remaining a lump of Twin Falls butter, a little cream, pepper and salt, and stir with a fork. Eat direct from the potato skin, using a fork.
4. Do not scrape the potato out of his skin onto your plate and then wash him. That is a social error, and it spoils the nicely potato flavor.

Directions for Baking.

1. Wash potato thoroughly and chip off small piece of skin at each end. This allows steam to escape and leaves the potato meaty. Bake in moderate oven for one hour. Serve immediately.

While Governor Hawley realizes that a special session of the legislature is an important event, he is also of the opinion that a Twin Falls baked potato breakfast is worthy of attention, and he is going to try to prevent it. He writes in receipt of yours of the 5th instant inviting me to be present at the annual potato breakfast of the Twin Falls club on Saturday, January 20th, and address you on that occasion. "The Future of the Gem State." Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to be with you there. I am not sure whether it will be possible to do so, however, and hardly believe I can as I am going to be in Boise on Monday next. If I can in any way get off

I will be with you, but do not depend on me.

I will be with you, but do not depend on me. I hope you will have a pleasant and profitable time on the occasion mentioned.

Yours very truly,
J. H. HAWLEY.

John McMillan, one of the bulwarks of Boise, also postmaster, protector and defender of the faith, regrets his inability to be present at the breakfast. He says "There's a reason," and gives it thus:

To the Distinguished Independent Order Baked Potato Worshipers
Twin Falls Chapter Number One.
Very sorry that I cannot attend breakfast. There's a reason. I am a potato. Potatoes are fatter than I am, and I'm too fat. Twin Falls potatoes would make me burst my suspenders.

Yours with thanks,
JOHN McMILLAN.

Joel Priest, representing the Oregon Short Line and affiliated railroads, with tears in his voice, says:

"Yours of January 8th, regarding the potato breakfast, to be held by the Twin Falls Commercial club next Saturday night.

"I have been withholding reply to your letter, because I have been hoping against hope that it would be possible for me to be with you. I find now, however, that I will not be able to get away from Boise. I thank you very much for your invitation, and for your offer of a chance to talk on 'What the Sunset Limited Can Do for Twin Falls.' I can imagine no more inspiring subject. It leaves so much to the imagination, and so wide a field in which to wander indefinitely without beginning to exhaust the subject. Of course, eventually, the Sunset Limited is coming to Twin Falls, and all other good and important things must come true in the Magic City.

"I want you to know that my heart will be with you on this occasion. I will look towards you at an appropriate hour and drink the health of Twin Falls, your Commercial club and yourself.

"Yours very truly,
JOEL L. PRIEST."

WITHDRAWAL OF HIGHLAND.

Statement made by D. C. MacWaters in regard to Land on North Side.

At the time the statement was made in the Boise Statesman that 7,000 acres of the land included in the pumping projects of the Twin Falls North Side Land & Water company on the North Side had been withdrawn from entry, the News stated that the report was apparently grabbed and misleading. Under date of December 27th, 1911, the News had received a written statement from General Manager D. C. MacWaters concerning this matter as follows:

"Referring to the recent report in the Boise Statesman to the effect that seven thousand acres had been withdrawn by the state land board from our pumping aggregation, beg to advise that this seven thousand acres was voluntarily relinquished by the company and did not include any of the lands in the pumping projects. In fact, it was land on the outskirts of the first aggregation that the company never intended to cover and which was included in a blanket segregation made before the final survey and classification were completed. No lands under the pumping projects have been released, nor is there any intention or necessity for so doing. North Side News.

The expense of trees, planting and growing until 5 years old. Terms—5 per cent. cash, 25 per cent. in 60 monthly payments per cent. the orchard pays.

No Interest to Pay—No Taxes.

Think of it, only $600 dollars and 5 long years to pay it in, will purchase a choice 5 acre tract with 350 six year old bearing apple trees on it, only $171 for each tree that is ready to bear 5 to 8 boxes of apples the first season. Your money all back and a large sum besides, the first year after you get possession. There never was and almost sure there never will be another such an opportunity to buy a bearing orchard within 2 1/4 miles of the city limits on such terms. I am selling my on property and make these easy terms to close it all out quick so that all the contracts mature about the same time.

I am not going to leave and I will give these orchards my personal supervision, I could not afford to do otherwise on such a deal. I can give satisfactory references. For full information call at my residence.

duty then the department it is to be hoped will execute these laws upon the presumption that the homesteader is an honest, law abiding citizen and not a criminal. If the evidence proves a man a wrong doer, punish him. But do not presume him to be a wrong doer and call upon him with his limited means at the end of five years of hardship, to prove his innocence against a pack of suspicious, lynx-eyed special agents, and above all, do not indiscriminately mix up the innocent with the guilty, upon assumption that every man who wants a home must necessarily be a thief.

"I want to recall to you the kind of court in which we, the congress of the United States, have provided for that class of sturdy citizens who have been striving and are still striving to build up the great northwestern empire that lies yonder between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific.

"For the first time the government invites the settler to go out and get a home. It says to him in the calm, benedict tones of the law, if you will make your family and move out upon that raw and unborn soil and subdue it the government will give it to you. The settler, under the impression that his government is acting in good faith and that he as a citizen without opposition with a presumption of honesty. But at the same time the government sends along a special agent, warily watching not alone for the illegal wrongdoer of which no one has a right to complain, but watching for every technical device which a devilish and hungry ingenuity can suggest in order to trap the settler. Finally a ground of contest is found and this homesteader goes up against the special representatives laid the charge, spy and mystery, his case in a court which has hired the man to catch him. He must go before a tribunal whose special representatives laid the charge. He has no impartial tribunal to hear his case, and while I do not seek to condemn the lawyer, but to condemn the men who finally decide these causes, it is against every principle of justice and every sense of right that the government should do this. A man shall contest his rights before a tribunal which has employed agents to catch him. The result has been that the homesteader must not only disprove wilful wrong doing, untried though he is in the law and generally without the aid of technical mistakes and stand exempt from every overt slight and snare.

"In any other country except a country where we are too bigoted in our ideas of justice to see our inconsistency in profaneing one thing and doing another, such a system would be considered as hideousness. No wonder that our immigrants are crowding the line into Canada, where

City Engineer O. M. Buhl returned Tuesday evening from Boise where he had been for a few days on business.

There will be a Men's meeting at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, January 21, commencing at 3:30 o'clock. All the men of the city are most cordially invited to attend. Rev. Blaisdell will speak and he will take for his subject, "What Sin is Destroying Your Soul."

Services as follows at the Church of Christ, next Lord's day: Bible school 10 a. m. Worship and sermon 11 a. m. This will be a brief ordination service for the elders and deacons recently elected. All members are urged to be present. C. E. meeting 6:30 p. m. Song service and sermon 7:30 p. m. Subject, "The Martyr to Him." The public will be welcome to all services.

A charming lunch was prepared on Tuesday night for the expected arrival of the famous lady lecturer, Mrs. May Webb Simpson, by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crawford. The disappointment was great when the news came that the noted speaker had been compelled to return to her home in Grand, Kan., from Pocatello. However, nothing daunted the table was really furnished and the jolly victrolas were soon captured by a small number of delighted guests who were on hand for the occasion. It proved to be a very jolly affair and the dining of the fortunate ones were mingled with regrets that Mrs. Simpson's illness prevented her appearance and participation. Those enjoying the generous spread of the hostess were: Mr. and Mrs. Buhl, Mr. and Mrs. Whitel, Dr. H. H. Freese and Mrs. Schall.

J. W. White of Buhl, was in the city yesterday on business.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hitting, Saturday, January 13, a son.

J. H. Baugh of Gooding, was transacting business in the city, Wednesday.

The first of the week the miners working in the tunnel of the Blumier mine in the Jarbridge district, struck the main ledge at a depth of 250 feet. The rock came up out, but at the present time no assay report is available.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY.
Engagement of Amy Olson to J. L. Bussey Celebrated.

One of the most delightful social events of the season was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Olson on Blue Lake Boulevard, when their daughters, the Misses Amy and Frances, entertained about twenty-five of their friends. The spacious rooms of the pleasant home were very attractively decorated in a color scheme of yellow and white. The four corners of the room being enclosed as in large yellow rose buds, while festoons of yellow and white crepe paper gracefully swung from the chandeliers to the corners, and large vases of white roses gave a touch of white to the general effect. Punch was served during the evening and at 11:30 o'clock a delicious three-course repast was served in their beautifully appointed dining room. Under the chandelier, which represented a large yellow rose, hung a yellow bag out from which peeped many little white cloth caps, from each of which a yellow ribbon extended to each plate bearing a dainty water color place card in the predominant colors. White roses were strewn on the floor.

The guests were seated—were instructed to draw a cat from the bag and read the message or question it bore. The first cat bore the declaration "The cat is out of the bag." The last to draw a cat from the bag was Miss Amy Olson, the cat she drew bearing a diamond ring and a message which she read, announcing her engagement to Mr. J. L. Bussey. Following the exclamation of surprise, congratulations, and a toast by Miss Rose Dygert, the repast was served. Miss Frances Olson was assisted by Miss Grace Warrington in serving and both were tastefully dressed in simple white with a touch of yellow.

Miss Amy Olson never looked more attractive than in her handsome gown of yellow mesaloon with corseu bouquet of white roses. She is one of our fairest and most beautiful and popular young ladies. Mr. Bussey is a well known and highly respected young man. For the past two years he has been manager for the Citizens' Electric Supply company, but a few months ago he accepted the position of manager for the Idaho Electric company at Boise.

The guests at the announcement party were: Misses Cora Bartholomew, Isabelle Pock, Ruby Booth, Pearl Hooper, Mary Seckman, Mabel Paton, Mary Davis, Edna Bracwell, Ruby Ashmore, Flora Duncan, Lola Gaylord, Vera Banks, Villa Bingham, Dena Jordan, Carrie Rice, Thelma Canine, Gertrude Zoellner, Ethel Woodard, Camille Wisco, Nina Baker, Estelle Warrington, Grace Warrington, Elizabeth Martin, Nellie Bullen, Jess Olsen, Rose Dygert, Jessie Warrington.

POOR PRINTING

Every bit of good printing done for your competitor makes the poor printing---or the ordinary printing---which you are "using up" because you have it, more certainly and inevitably harmful to your business.

For this is the day and the hour and the vogue of distinctive, GOOD printing. And it does, usually, cost somewhat more, of course ---in "first-cost." After that, it doesn't "cost" ---it "pays."

rates of consumption and the comparative intensities of light yielded gives a good idea of the nature of the oil.
Kerosene containing large proportion of light oils give a better light, but burn faster than others, while the presence of heavy oils retards the consumption and diminishes the light.
An oil containing an excess of both light and heavy oils may give a good light at first, but after a while the flame will diminish in size and luminosity, and the wick will begin to char.
The absence of any objectionable portion of heavy oil as indicated by a distillation test, and the light giving power, are important characteristics in judging the quality of a sample of kerosene.

It is perhaps needless for me to add after all I have said, that our work is confined to grocery stores and similar places of business. The scope of the work of the State Dairy, Food and Sanitary Inspector, who is sealer of weights and measures, covers a multitude of things, including, in addition to the grocery stores, other establishments, such as drug stores, restaurants, hotels, meat markets, slaughter houses, dairies, canneries, canning factories, preserving plants, packing houses, ice cream parlors, bakeries, soft drink places, lodging and rooming houses, water systems, sewerage systems, cesspools, drainage systems, public buildings and many other things, so you no doubt will readily understand why we have not been able to do full justice to some phases of our work with but three inspectors. And yet, we have done some work, if I may be permitted to mention it. Since our 15th last, when our new laws went into effect, there have been 320 cases prosecuted, an average of 46 each month. This number 34 were for violation of the meat inspection law, 86 short-weight cases, 49 for dirty receptacles and 30 against insanitary dairies and adulterated milk; 14 misbranded or adulterated vinegar; 47 miscellaneous misbranded groceries and drugs. The total of fines collected and paid into the State Treasury was over $9,000.00. Fourteen hotels and rooming houses were condemned and closed, as also 35 restaurants and barberies, and 5 city and county jails. No jail sentences have been imposed, and it has been our policy to work for the minimum fine in all but a very few extreme cases. City Councils, County Commissioners, public health officials, commercial clubs and other similar organizations have co-operated with us most heartily in our campaign for better conditions.

Now my friends of these two organizations, let me say to you that our department wants you to co-operate with it and it sincerely desires to co-operate with you in all that stands for the best interests of the community and the state at large. In other words, to make you half-way on an equitable basis.
Our only hope, as I have already stated, is to be absolutely fair in all matters coming before us for consideration and adjustment, contending only and solely for simple justice between dealer and consumer and for protection of the public health and safety.
This, and this only is our aim.
In closing, I desire to most sincerely express my hope that our relations during the coming year will be most cordial, as I certainly anticipate they will be. Let us work together to better conditions not only for the consumers, but for ourselves, for I am more than sure that a broad-minded, generous and a wholesome cooperation with our department will be mutually helpful.

ROCK CREEK ITEMS.

Rock Creek, Ida., Jan. 17, 1912.
Chris Newman was over from Kimberly on business a few days.
Robt. Rogerson and a cattle buyer from Twin Falls, was in town Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Taylor, who has been visiting T. M. Atkin and family, returned Monday to their home in Rehburg. Dr. Taylor, who is a dentist, is thinking of locating in Twin Falls.
J. F. Wright has returned to Twin Falls.

John Harma spent last week with his family in Twin Falls.
Mrs. Mary Allen from Salt Lake City is with her sons, J. B. and Andrew Allen, at the Keller ranch.

J. Fuller and Frank Terrell, Jr., were over looking at their cattle interests here Monday.

The Misses Atkin entertained the following from Haines last Saturday:
Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Vanderpool, Mr. and Mrs. Lacourse, Mrs. E. P. Hinton, Miss Myrtle Hill and Leon Redhead.
The occasion being Miss Atkin's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fritz of Jarvis, Nev., are visiting here on a recent writing with J. E. Burke and family.
The Ladies' club met last Friday with Mrs. C. J. Dornose. New officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Robt. Broese; vice-president, Mrs.
Olla M. Hansen; treasurer, Mrs. Lou Stricker; recording secretary, Mrs.
Laura C. Lawrence; assistant secretary, Mrs. Mary C. Dornose. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lou Stricker on January 22.

Wanda Broese has entered school in Twin Falls.

Thomas R. Deason, superintendent, was out from Nevada, again Monday, looking after the interests of the V. L. & S. Co.

The "Shadow School" given under the able management of Miss Zula Donahue on Saturday night at Excellor school house, was a success both financially and socially. A fine time but well arranged program was rendered by the pupils, the real fun began. Some ten or twelve little girls under twelve years of age, took their turn behind the canvas. These shadows were said to be the highest bidder. Some of the girls were very clever. They went past the $1.00 mark, they knew some of the little girls had very fancy baskets. The ladies likewise were very much interested in the auctioned off. One hungry bachelor bought two shadows and was still sitting down when the auctioneer called, which reached the $5.00 mark.
The proceeds of the social, which was $28.00, will be placed in the library fund.

Richard Gray was over from Rogerson Monday, visiting his mother, Mrs.
Susan Gray.

After sending out a relief corps to the cowboys who went into the mountains for cattle, they succeeded in getting in 145 head of cattle.

The ladies are planning a leap year dance for Friday night. Gentlemen will be admitted free. Tickets for the dancers, 50 cents. The program will be furnished by the ladies. Music will be furnished by Mrs. H. Stricker, John Harriman and Geo. H. Taylor.

Magnus Larson went to Hansen to have his cow receive a consignment of freight.

Chris Peterson has just got in a set of bob-sleighs. Unless this rain gives place to more snow they will be damaged much this winter.

Messrs. Scranton and Andry were up from Twin Falls on Tuesday, to attend the directors relative to opening school next Monday. It is understood that the board employed Mr.
James E. Walker came to town.

T. J. Autry, line man from Hansen, was called out on the Valley line today.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Vance spent several days with their parents in Twin Falls last week.

James E. Walker came in from Twin Falls Monday and will stay at the Norton ranch a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hartley were ven-erably called to Oakley on account of the illness of their grand child, Carl Harrison's baby.

H. B. Larson and daughter, Miss Anna, were Kimberly visitors Tuesday.

KIMBERLY NEWS.

Kimberly, Ida., Jan. 17, 1912.

Thos. Jones and family were in Kimberly Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. M. W. Johnson of Rock Creek, stopped in Kimberly over night Saturday. Mrs. Johnson returned from Eller, where she had been attending the Sunday school convention. Everyone will recognize Mrs. Johnson.

Great Sunday school workers, especially of the Home Department.
There are certain ones of the Kimberly people who would greatly appreciate it if the townsite company would put a rustic bridge over the draw between their boarding place and the school house. They think that their duty boots (?) would present a better appearance.

A company of young people from Twin Falls were the guests of Miss Trevelle Kimball Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Draper and daughter were in Twin Falls on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Turner and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fletcher and family, Mrs. J. R. Turner and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tucker, Sunday.
Miss Halo went to Hansen, Sunday.
Miss Manny spent the week's vacation at her home in Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Barnhill and family returned to town, Wednesday.

Ruskin was once a grocer. In 1876 he opened a shop in Padgett street, Notting Hill, in order, as he announced, "to supply the poor with pure tea in packets as small as they choose to buy, without making a profit on the subdivision, larger orders being of course, more acceptable. For anybody who cares to promote honest
