WILL BUILD GOOD ROADS

Meeting Held in Club Rooms Thursday Evening

WORK TO START ABOUT FIRST OF MARCH.

Will Build From Buhl, Through Flier, Twin Falls and Kimberly to Hansen.

The Good Roads department of the Twin Falls Commercial club was organized last Thursday evening and initial preparations made for active work during the coming spring.

Judge P. R. Chamberlain was elected chairman of the department and M. J. Sweetley and W. H. Weaver appointed as assistants. The first work under consideration is the building of a road from Buhl, through Flier, Twin Falls and Kimberly, to Hansen, all the work to be done in one day. The distance is about thirty miles. A superintendent will be appointed to take charge of every mile of work under the general direction of Judge Chamberlain. Each superintendent will see the farmers along his particular mile and secure their cooperation so that it will practically be each man building the road by his own farm, but the united effort will give a good road for the entire distance.

County Commissioner H. C. Taylor was present and he promised the cooperation and assistance of the county commissioners. He said there were three road graders and a dozen King drags now ready and more drags to be built if needed. About one drag to the mile will be necessary to build a special piece of road and then the machinery will be available for further road building on the side roads leading to the main highway.

Attorney J. Benj. Hall, who is a member of the Inter-Mountain Good Roads association, told the members of the building of the transcontinental highway through Twin Falls county and said that the Buhl-Hansen road would aid materially in securing the trans-continental route. With it as a basis he could go to the Inter-Mountain Good Roads association meeting at Logan next June and present convincing arguments why the trans-continental highway should go through Twin Falls county. Commissioner Taylor said this spring and the Lincoln county will build a road round up to that point. The expected completion and cooperation of the American Automobile Association was also promised in securing this route, provided the people showed the proper amount of enthusiasm. Willet James, president of the Lincoln Produce & Refrigerating Co. In a stirring talk, demonstrated the enthusiasm of the people of one or two teams for the day set aside for road building. J. L. Danne presented one or more teams. L. A. Snyder, W. H. Weaver, M. J. Sweetley and several others also came forward with similar offers so that there was no lack of practical enthusiasm at the meeting.

Judge Chamberlain said he would start at once over the road appointing superintendents for each mile and getting the farmers interested. It was thought that the work could be done about the first of March, the exact date to be decided by the weather conditions. Another meeting will be held at the Commercial club rooms, Thursday evening, February 8, and everyone interested in building good roads is invited to be present. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock, sharp.

BRADY MAKES A PAYMENT.

Will Take Over Mountaineer Project If He Gets Deeded Water Rights.

Mountaineer, Feb. 4.—Ex-Governor James H. Brady paid to the hands of O. E. Cannon, receiver for the Grand Western Beet Sugar company, the sum of $14,125, the same being the stipulated 25 per cent. of the price at which the property of that defunct company was bid in by Harry Watkins, agent, at the recent receiver's sale.

The transaction took place following conference of a committee representing the holders of deeded water rights and Mr. Brady and his legal advisers. The committee has since bought itself in securing the signing over of the deeded water rights to Mr. Brady, the same to be held in escrow by the First National bank until the balance of the purchase price is paid, which will be immediately upon receipt of the last shipment.

The court has notified Receiver Cannon that it will set aside on Saturday, February 10, for the purpose of confirming the sale.

The price of water has been placed at $100 per acre, on 5,000 acres, offsetting this price, there will be credits given: $15 per acre on land on which water has been placed, and $10 per acre on land which has, in good faith, been prepared for the receipt of water but upon which the water has not been delivered. Again, according to the committee's report, the system to be constructed will include concrete tunnels, steel flumes and the connecting of main canals and laterals where breaks are liable to occur. This, it is asserted, will reduce the maintenance fee to a minimum estimate of 50 cents per acre. As the maintenance fee in the Boise valley runs from $1.25 and $2 per acre, this will be responsible for a saving of about $20 per acre during the term of the payment agreement, which stipulates that the full amount is to be paid in annual installments, the first becoming due and payable five years from the date of signing contract.

Mr. Brady promises that in the formation of his company he will so arrange that a majority of the board of directors will be local water right holders of Mountaineer, on whom he will depend for guidance in the conduct of the affairs of the company.

As soon as conditions will permit, he will make full investigation of all the possibilities surrounding the availability of water and the best methods of conducting the same, and will be able to great an acreage as can be fully cared for.

Already considerable activity has been manifested in the real estate and farm land market—Statesman.

MOVE FREIGHT THIS WEEK.

The steel is now laid to Blaine and the company will handle freight from that point this week. A passenger schedule, it is stated, will be put in effect after the freight schedule. The crew are now working on the Y at Blaine, and the temporary depot will be erected at once.

While the laying of the road has made no definite announcement concerning freight rights, they have given the grain and stock and understand that to Blaine from Blaine will be in the neighborhood of 10 cents, and already two firms of grain buyers are expected to handle grain in carloads from that point—Cass Prairie Courier.

Dress Fabrics are Marked at Wonderful Prices

Dress Fabrics have never sold for such amazingly small sums, and we advise every woman in this vicinity to come and partake of the immense economies provided. We purchased the Mill Ends from several large manufacturers. These pieces, while not full, are all in usable lengths, and are in most cases no less than you would ordinarily be offered. But the mills cannot sell anything but full lots and they are always glad to dispose of short pieces and single bolts for practically any price. We made a number of satisfactory purchases which enable us to offer you the handsomest of the season's fabrics at fractional prices.

IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE

MILL END SALE

The Greatest Trade Event of Recent Years will be Inaugurated Wednesday at The IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE.

This extraordinary event did not come about by mere chance or accident. It was planned and provided for months ago. We laid our plans and massed our forces with the aim in view of making this sale the greatest and most memorable in our career. All through the past few months we were bargaining with the mills, and even now, as this advertisement is being written, there are cases of goods arriving in rapid succession. The merchandise comprised in this stirring Mill End Sale consists, as its name implies, principally of mill ends—in other words, the short pieces, odd bolts and loom-remnants for which the big mills have no regular sale, and which they are usually glad to release at a fractional price. In addition to these loom ends are surplus stocks of several wholesalers and jobbers, who found themselves with more materials than they could possibly use. Their season is over, ours just beginning. They were anxious to clear out their stocks; we were more than anxious to get them. So it didn't require much skirmishing for us to close deals that will net our customers rich, round savings. We have also gone through our own stocks and slashed prices unhesitatingly, for we are resolved to make this sale the most wonderful and amazing trade event this town has had the opportunity of sharing in.

Sale Begins Wednesday Morning, Feb. 7th, Ends Saturday Evening, Feb. 10th. Come early, if possible, but be certain to come. You will surely be agreeably surprised at the extreme lowness of prices.

A General Mill Dispersal of Sheets, and Pillow Cases.

Sheets and Pillow Cases, as well as all the materials used in their construction, are marked at prices lower than it has recently been your fortune to obtain. We made large purchases from the mills and importers, receiving price concessions that revert immediately to you. The lots we bought from the mills seemed small to them, and they were glad to dispose of them for trifling sums; but to us they are large indeed, and you'll find assortments and varieties that are more complete and comprehensive than ever.

Wash Fabrics are Cut to Sacrifice Prices.

The daintiest, prettiest Wash Fabrics are marked at prices that will quickly find purchasers for them.

In addition to our own stock are Mill Ends of spring wash goods, and the prices at which all are now marked will jolt every woman who sees them into quick buying.

We cannot too strongly urge you to hasten. While assortments are now immense, many of the lots are quite small, and delay means almost certain disappointment, so come at once.

Charming White Waists At Magnetic Prices.

Such a wondrous gathering of lovely White Waists is seldom offered and such extraordinary prices are rarely seen.

Their crisp, snowy whiteness, the sheerness and cleanness of their various materials, their great variety, all combine to hold your attention, while the incomparable lowness of prices will not permit you to depart without buying.

There are multitudes of styles and models, and you are sure to find many Waists that will strike your fancy, to prove to be just what you most desire.

Handsome Linens

Are Comprised in this

Great Merchandise Dispersal

We've surpassed even our own expectations in the extreme lowness of Linen Prices. We never thought that linens of such superlative merit could ever be sold so low; but special purchases from various manufacturers brought us such price-concessions that we're able to offer you the biggest economies you have ever seen.

We are not quoting specific prices in this announcement. We ask you to come, however, and see how low these linens are marked. You'll agree with us in acclaiming them the greatest values of the decade.

Many of the lots are small, so hasten if you wish to choose from largest assortments.

Unheard of Reductions on Staple White Goods

Surely, you have never seen such savings on materials of such staple merit. Practically every sort of White Fabric is represented in a most comprehensive array, and prices are unparalleled.

Such a brilliant, gleaming aggregation of charming white goods is rarely seen marked at such great economies. Aisles and tables are flooded with a veritable wave of white, and the appearance of this department is irresistibly attractive to women who care for dainty, bewitching white materials, and what woman doesn't?

Hurry, though, for at the present prices, lots will not hold out for very long.

Come at Once and Avail Yourself of This Incomparable Opportunity

Domestics Have Never Sold for Such Low Prices.

Thrifty housewives will hasten to partake of the splendid values this Mill End Sale brings in domestics. Practically every sort of household cotton goods is represented. Numerous wholesalers have contributed to these great bargains with small lots at fractional prices. All lengths are usable, and many of the lots are as large as you would be offered in regular stocks.

And remember that every item is marked at a price that is truly reasonable for lowness.

A GREAT SALE OF EMBROIDERIES

Interest Compelling Price-News of Fine Embroideries and Laces in This Great Sale.

An immense diversity of lovely patterns is comprised by this great sale. You'll be really amazed to see such a vast assemblage of Gorgeous Laces and Embroideries, priced at such unbelievable low prices. A considerable quantity of our own regular stock is included, and several Special Purchases from the manufacturers swell assortments to large proportions. Many of the lots are small, but all are in good, practical lengths, of which you can surely make good use. Not once more this year will you be offered such a splendid economy-opportunity as this Great Mill End Sale presents in Embroideries and Laces. Take advantage of it while you may. Come at your earliest convenience, and make selections before stocks are all picked over.

We confidently assert that savings are larger than you could possibly obtain elsewhere.

H. A. BRIZEE*SUCCESS WITH STRAWBERRIES.

How It May be Won Under Southern Idaho Conditions.

F. E. Healy Tells What Varieties to Select and How to Grow Them.

During the past few years I have done considerable experimenting with strawberries on the Twin Falls North and South Side tracts, and taking as a basis the result of these experiments, I feel justified in recommending the following method:

If possible, use ground which has previously been in alfalfa, clover or orchard, and which after being plowed has grown at least one cultivated crop. The alfalfa, clover and orchards are great attractants for ants, and these are the one plant-food element that seems to be lacking in the soil of southern Idaho.

The ground should be plowed in the spring just as early as the soil is dry enough to work in, and the soil should be stirred and harrowed until it has become smooth. This soil also will press the soil grains firmly together, which makes less work in irrigating, as the water will run more satisfactorily and will sub better in firm soil than it will in soil which is left very loose.

In marking out the rows use a corrugator that will make shallow furrows 3 1/2 feet apart. Run the water into these furrows until the moisture shows on the surface of the soil for six or eight inches on each side of the furrow. About twenty-four hours after the water has been drained off the soil will be in splendid condition to set the plants. By irrigating one day ahead of the setting, the soil is made moist enough to prevent the dry soil from falling into the opening which is made for the plant. Besides this advantage, the moist soil may be pressed more firmly against the roots of the plants which makes much better work possible than could be done in any other way.

When setting plants, see that the plants are set in a straight line about four inches from the edge of the furrow, and that the roots of the plants extend straight down into the opening. These openings may be made with a long-handled shovel, spade or dibble. A regular irrigating shovel is a splendid tool for this work. While one man makes the opening, another man or boy puts the roots of the plants into the opening, holding the crown or body of the plant even with the surface of the soil until the shovel is withdrawn and the soil pressed against the plant with the foot.

As you set the plants let the water flow into the furrow after you and allow it to run until the soil is thoroughly soaked around the plants. This will press the soil grains around the roots so firmly that the feeding roots will start to grow immediately. These furrows should be left open until another irrigation is made, at which time the plants will be large enough to cultivate. After you begin cultivating, water only as plants require more moisture. Cultivate and hoe shallow, and often, and while hoeing cover the runner cords with soil just back of the young plants. This will hold the plant in place firmly against the moist soil which will encourage it to take root quickly. Do not allow runners to form too thickly. About four to six runner plants from each mother plant are sufficient. Use plants of the highest fruiting quality. The cost of fertilizing, plowing, and preparing an acre of ground and setting it to plants and caring for them until fruit time is just the same whether you set 2000 or 5000 quarts of berries. Plants that will give you the most quarts of fancy berries per acre are the cheapest plants you can buy.

It is bad practice to take plants from an old fruiting bed. Such plants have almost invariably become weakened by pollen infection and seed production, and in most cases such plants are diseased and infested with dangerous insects such as the crown borer and root borer.

The Twin Falls soil and climatic conditions seem to be especially adapted to the growing of strawberries. While some varieties are more susceptible to crown and root rot, and varieties will do well when properly handled. The varieties that I would recommend either for home use or commercial purposes are the Glen Mary, Wm. Belt, Joconda, Senator Dunlap, Warfield and Parsons Beauty. These several varieties have been thoroughly tested in the Twin Falls soil and have proved to be wonderfully productive. The berries are large, of splendid color and flavor, good shippers, and are in every way very desirable varieties.

At our farm at Twin Falls we have under test about fifty different varieties. We are now preparing an experimental bed and expect to have one hundred and twenty varieties under test this spring.

There is no other crop that I know of which can be so easily grown in an irrigated country as strawberries, and I am sure that no other crop will give as large profits in so short a time, and by following these simple rules you will have no trouble in getting a perfect stand of plants and in growing a big crop of big, red berries.

HIGH SCHOOL IS DEDICATED.

the law would allow. On Jan. 23, 1911, bonds were voted for $52,000. With these funds the present building has been completed in this condition.

On October 16, 1911, another issue was asked and voted, with which to complete the building, as planned by the architects, which will give to Twin Falls the finest and best-appointed high school building in the state.

The total cost of the building will exceed the original estimate of $150,000 by about $20,000. The heating plant for the complete building will cost $20,570. The plumbing, $6,492. Some of the plumbing work is of the most expensive character. On account of the acids used in the chemical department it is necessary to have lead drain pipes from the laboratory to the sewer, or go to the expense of frequent renewals.

The board has been more or less severely criticized for constructing the splendid audience room and the gymnasium, but we believe that, as the years go by, people will see that it was a wise expenditure of the funds. Since the school moved to this building about the first of December, there has not been an evening when the gymnasium has not been in use with from twenty to forty students on the floor wrestling, boxing, jumping the bag, or with the basket balls.

This year the total assessment for the district was $55,575,501.00, on which was levied a tax of eight mills, seven of which goes to the running expenses of the school and one mill for the winding fund to retire the district bonds when they fall due. This assessment tax levy will raise $41,022.50, adding to about $25,000 received as the county and state apportionment, to total about $66,000.

We are employing this year forty-eight teachers with a monthly pay-roll of $4,025.85, seventeen wagon drivers $550, janitor work about $200, making a total of nearly $5,200 which for nine months, totals $46,800, together with interest $13,310. Fuel about $2,000, insurance, repairs, etc., makes up the amount raised by taxation.

Superintendent Elliott followed Mr. Nixon with a description of the plan of organization of the high school. He stated that in most large cities it has been demonstrated that the large study room is neither satisfactory nor practical hence the more progressive communities have established the plan of arranging several smaller study rooms in preference to one or two large ones. This arrangement has been carried out in the construction of the Twin Falls high school and continues to prove most satisfactory. Prof. Elliott also explained the plan and general arrangement of the two wings.

Every one has ideas of their own about the styles they want in eye glasses. People's eyes differ, noses are different, and the entire face should be considered. What sets well on one face might not do for another. In fitting glasses we are glad to consider the patient's ideas in regard to the style they have in mind, but we use our best judgment in making them up. What is good for one might not do for another.

science and mathematics rooms, also the chemistry and physics laboratories which will be modern and up-to-date in every way. Between these two rooms will be the science lecture room with its raised floor, overhead lighting and other arrangements whereby it may easily be turned into a dark room for the microscope. In the basement will be the manual training room with linoleum room and a machine room adjoining.

The south wing will include the commercial and banking departments, typewriting room, etc. In the basement there will be a sewing room, dining room, and a cooking room complete with all modern electric devices for cooking.

Hence with the completion of these wings there will be added to the present curriculum of the school two modern branches of education that have long been desired—manual training and domestic science.

J. A. Walters, president of the board, spoke briefly but to the point on "The Purpose of the School Building." He stated that the board had long desired to establish the modern and practical branches, including horticulture, in the school but the rapid growth of the schools had prevented them from accomplishing many things.

Hon. M. J. Sweeley is one of the ablest speakers on the tract and his address on "The Function of the High School, from a Lawyer's View Point," was very apt and well received. Mr. Sweeley highly complimented Superintendent Elliott and the faculty in the splendid management of the school, saying, in part, "Superintendent Elliott doesn't need my help in running this high school. A lawyer's part is to advise, and advice from me to Prof. Elliott and the faculty would be like trying to cry in the desert, or to sing a note to the Twin Falls tribe."

"The Function of the High School, from a Business Man's View Point," was discussed by C. P. Thonina, who struck a popular note in speaking of the social, literary and athletic life of the high school life.

Rev. W. C. Henry, pastor of the Baptist church, delivered an excellent address on "The Function of the High School, from a Minister's View Point." He urged the importance to the student of inculcating correct means in life because life is a large degree measured up to ideals, therefore it is essential that these ideals be essentially correct. Rev. Henry urged the importance of two points, namely: That high school students get the proper conception of the value of honest labor and the proper conception of the value of truth, and that they be not satisfied with simply the good nor the better, but only with the best, in everything.

County Superintendent T. W. Potter was to have spoken "From an Agricultural View-Point," but he was unable to do so on account of the fact that he was in Buhl at the time, assisting the citizens of that place to plan for the erection of a new $50,000 school building.

The occasion was made more important and pleasing by the presence of Miss Grace M. Shepherd of Boise, state superintendent of public instruction, who delivered the principal address of the afternoon. This was Miss Shepherd's first visit to this city since her official capacity, and both her address and her personality impressed the people of Twin Falls most favorably. In her address she reviewed the subject of education from the old schools down to the present, pointing out the need of a new type of education and the general aversion of the majority of people toward modern methods. She advocated most earnestly the vocational training for boys and girls of today, advancing convincing and logical reasons for this plan of education. "We began wrong," states Miss Shepherd. "We educated the structure and left the foundation alone and the difficulty now is in building new foundations on this erroneous system. The child has been taught to die for his country but not the more important thing—how to live for his country. He has been educated away from the real activities of life. Educators have finally realized this wrong but they cannot get the parents to realize it. A great many parents insist that what was good enough for them is good enough for their children."

Germany has schools for the training of boys in every known trade, and England, following this example of Germany, has vastly improved the education system there. The most modern and up-to-date schools of our land today are introducing the vocational training for boys and girls, and the deplorable fact that a large majority of people oppose these modern methods. A great many of the present day failures in business life are due to our educational system which omitted the practical or vocational lines.

The afternoon program closed with a splendid wind drill by twenty high school girls under direction of Mrs. J. M. Mays, teacher of physical culture.

In the evening the Schubert Symphony club and Ladies' quartet, gave a delightful entertainment. Owing to the fact that the entertainment was not sufficiently advertised, a small though very appreciative audience greeted this company. The concert was a veritable feast and music lovers and critics declare that it was one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever given in Twin Falls.

SPEND PLEASANT EVENING.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Woods entertain at their Country Home.

Last Friday evening, Feb. 7, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Woods, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodman, entertained their neighbors at their home two miles southeast of the city. A nice program consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and readings was given by the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Fuller, Miss Clark and Owen Fuller, and Mrs. Fred Gibson, Miss Myra Arbuckle and Mrs. C. H. Dull. This was followed by several very enjoyable cantatas and Fred Gibson received the prize, a nice salt and pepper box, Mr. Fuller receiving the consolation prize, Captain Woods' last made the suggestion that we name our road, the first road leading south from the Kimberly road, which has been named by a unanimous vote that it be called "Spring Garden Road."

At the wee wee hour, thirty refreshments were served. The first menu, which was very enjoyable but not digestible, was as follows: Blue Points on half shell, planked with fish, canvas back duck, scalloped potatoes, asparagus on toast, Savatoga, chips, rolls and butter, Cambric cream, fruit.

The second menu, which thoroughly satisfied the inner man, was nice, generous dishes of ice cream, plenty of cake and cocoa. All departed at a late hour, feeling that they had been royally entertained.

The following were present: Messrs. and Mrs. L. A. Snyder, S. W. Hazen, P. H. Gibson, J. C. Arbuckle, O. T. Fuller, C. H. Dull, Chas. Angley, Yates, Misses Mae and Arlin Snyder, Myra Arbuckle, Ruth and Dorothy Fuller, Signa and Evelyn Dull, Mable Henderson, Messrs. Gulliland, Don Haden, Melvin Gibson, Owen Fuller, James and Lawrence McKister.

The supposed executioners, to save their own lives, execute the victim, and plead for mercy. Grand finale.
