

CAMP OF SONS OF VETERANS

Patriotic Order Established in Twin Falls.

OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR. SOME SPLENDID ADDRESSES.

Will Meet this Evening to Perfect Organization. All Sons are Requested to Become Members.

One of the results of the visit of Col. M. W. Wood to this city last week was the organization of a camp of Sons of Veterans, to be known as McCook Camp No. 3. The organization was perfected in the Masonic Temple last Thursday evening, when a goodly number of the sons of the veterans of the great civil strife were present.

The address of the evening was delivered by Reul Rouns of Boise. Very interesting short talks were made by A. A. Anderson, Attorney J. W. Porter, H. H. Barnes and E. N. Day.

The next meeting is to be held in the office of Probate Judge Shields this evening, when an interesting address will be delivered by Captain Campbell on the battle of Vicksburg. A committee consisting of J. W. Porter, and E. N. Day was appointed to secure a permanent meeting place.

The camp starts out with a membership of fifteen and it is expected to increase the membership very materially in the near future. It is to be hoped that all who are sons will come forward and let it be known so that they may enroll as members.

The object of the organization is purely patriotic and to assist the old soldiers in the proper observation of decoration day and other occasions.

The officers-elect for the ensuing term are as follows:

- Commander—S. P. Atherton.
- Sen. Vice Com.—W. Porter.
- Jr. Vice Com.—C. D. Dauterman.
- Sec.—Treas.—F. N. Day.
- Patriotic Instructor—W. Rice.
- Adjutant—Henry Mahan.
- Idaho Guard—C. G. Doversy.
- Outside Guard—T. J. Mills.
- Musician—Ralph Anderson.
- Color Bearer—Everett Chaplin.
- Camp Council—P. H. Crow, H. B. Johnson, G. W. Rice.

THE WHITE PALACE

Glen Cox Gives Sinking Name to Jewelry Establishment.

The White Palace Jewelry store is the somewhat notable name given to the store fitted up in the Boyd building in the rooms vacated by Hill & Taylor, which the proprietor Glen Cox has fitted up to hold out the name of the enameled walls, white bases for the cases and everything possible in the way of giving the new place a new appearance. The store was recently purchased the balance of the C. D. Anderson stock, and has placed on the walls where the wholesale house for a large line of standard stock which is now being installed. During a three years residence in this city the proprietor has gained many friends both as a high class jeweler and as a business man, and they are pleased to see him locate in this city.

PEA-GREEN TIMOTHY

Idaho Hay Talk of Commission Men in Kansas City.

The new timothy from the irrigated district of Idaho, many loads of which have come to the Kansas City market during the past week, is being sold at a high price. One said to the Nugget man yesterday:

"An appropriate name for it would be pea-green timothy, for the color of it is a perfect and possesses a peculiar fragrance. It is in the color, predict, green, and has the mark of good hay just as the Indiana hay has been harvested. This Idaho stuff is the very acme of good timothy hay. This is its first season in any quantity in the Kansas City market—Kansas City Stock Yards Nugget."

FOR CHAMPIONSHIP OF IDAHO

Boise Y. M. C. A. vs. Twin Falls Commercial Club, Saturday, March 23.

One of the fastest basketball games ever known to be played off at the High School gymnasium, tomorrow evening between the team from the Boise Y. M. C. A. and a team made up of the members of the Twin Falls Commercial Club. The contest is for the championship of Idaho and will be one of the brightest ever witnessed here.

The game is called for 8:30 sharp and all Twin Falls boosters should be on hand promptly at that time.

CONTEST WARMING UP.

New Candidates Enter Field and Make Hard Race.

Macaulay Bros.-Times. Dixie Flyer contest is just beginning to work up enthusiasm of a high order. The contestants have gotten busy and piled up votes for themselves in a wonderful manner in the past two weeks.

Number three still leads, but is being crowded pretty hard for first place by several others.

The contest managers have decided to offer a first and second prize in the contest. So if a contestant can not win the Dixie-Flyer he will still receive a $250 in prize money and a new outfit, or he may be third and receive the amount of $15.00 in Baseball or Tennis goods.

Everybody will be playing tennis or baseball this summer and all the contestants would appreciate an outfit of fishing goods that will catch fish.

Beginning April 1st, the Twin Falls Times will give 10,000 votes for every year subscription to the Times for one year and 5000 votes for every renewal.

The Liberal Cigar store, will as a further special inducement for votes to help, receive additional votes for each dollar in sales of cigars, when the card is in all punched, 5000 votes will be given and 1000 additional votes when it is cancelled.

This will help get friends of the contestants, who are regular customers of this popular store and readers of the Twin Falls Times, more interested in their behalf—and with no extra cost to any one.

Now is a good time for some bright young man, who has not yet entered to start in and win the elegant Dixie-Flyer machine, on exhibition at the Macaulay Bros. will be glad to give you any number of an inactive contestant and also allow you his votes to start.

While no votes can be transferred from one original contestant to another, a number of the contestants, of whom any one of the 100 or more drops out, by not securing votes for themselves, will be able to get ready cast for that number will count for new contestant.

Here is the standing of leading contestants:

FROM THE FROZEN EAST

Idahoan Who Knew Where Climate Is Fit to Live In.

W. M. Beck, who returned a few days ago from a visit of several weeks in the east, says that the people of this section do not fairly realize what a good climate Idaho has.

He says in this regard that the climate is just what is needed for the winter months registered 15 degrees below zero, and the smoke and the dead air of the house build it was almost like the Arctic zone. But that was nothing, for down in Ohio he saw it 25 below with such a blizzard as no one here has ever known.

IRRIGATION QUESTION SETTLED

Companies Promising Water Liable for Damages for Non-Delivery.

Idaho Irrigation Company Loses in Suit Brought by a Dietrich Settler. Water Companies Responsibility.

A most important suit was decided by the state supreme court this week in the case of Virginia A. Hance against the Idaho Irrigation company, whereby the plaintiff in the action brought suit for damages for failure to deliver water during irrigation season.

Porter of this city together with Attorney Wilcox of Wendell, who entered the suit, the plaintiff brought suit for damages for failure to deliver water during irrigation season.

The supreme court yesterday decided, in a decision handed down in the case of Virginia A. Hance against the Idaho Irrigation company, that when a Carey act company enters into a contract to provide water on the Carey act, it is liable for damages for failure to deliver water.

The decision was rendered from the fact that the Carey act company, when it enters into a contract to provide water on the Carey act, it is liable for damages for failure to deliver water.

Applying, as it does, to all Carey act companies, and all the water companies, the decision is regarded as one of the most important rendered from that tribunal.

The decision was rendered from the fact that the Carey act company, when it enters into a contract to provide water on the Carey act, it is liable for damages for failure to deliver water.

The action was originally brought to recover damages for failure to deliver water, and when the trial was had in the district court in Lincoln county, Judge Edward A. Walters presiding, judgment in the sum of $500 was awarded Mrs. Hance by the jury.

This the supreme court affirms in addition to the ruling upon the features regarding the recovery of damages, the court also defines its attitude relative to the interest on deferred payments.

The Commercial Club Luncheon Creates Enthusiasm.

C. D. Thomas Talks on Brotherly Love at Session.

A Good Humored Argument Which Applied to All Citizens of this City.

At the Wednesday Commercial Club luncheon, C. D. Thomas was listened to with marked curiosity at the topic of brotherly love was given out as his subject, which quickly changed to marked interest as he went straight to the real source of community apathy and the solution of the community problem.

The Times prints the whole speech—regardless of whom it hurt, because it believes that all broad men have the foundation of a community feeling.

The subject assigned to me of Brotherly Love is one that we naturally have to go into the religious point of in-order to sustain. Why such a subject was assigned to me is more than I have been able to discuss.

On all of Your Printed Matter. It represents Good Workmanship, Good Wages, and Good Conditions.

The address of C. D. Thomas at the Commercial Club luncheon on a subject which his home to every business man should have been heard by more people. "It is true that nothing of permanent good can be accomplished in a divided camp. It is also true that Twin Falls right at this time needs the effective boosting of every man in it. Good will does a lot toward making things move with a vim and snap that gets results. There is need for Twin Falls boosters to reflect that single-handed boosting is neither good for the booster nor the city."

In a short time the question of the delegates from the state to the national convention must come up and it is time for this county to see that it gets a representative on that delegation. The Republican party of this county is entitled to it, for the plums coming this way have been few and far between. W. P. Guthrie, one of the pioneer lawyers of the city and county has signified his desire to go as a delegate, and his many friends here are pushing his name to the front for that honor. If the honor comes to the county it is no more than just that Mr. Guthrie's long service in the party be recognized and that he be given the endorsement of the Republicans of this county. Due to his prominence in the legal business of the state, Mr. Guthrie has a great many friends scattered over the state who will no doubt aid him when the convention meets to select the state's delegates.

THE SENATORS AND THE ARBITRATION TREATIES.

On Thursday of last week, in half a dozen surprising votes, the United States Senate gradually killed President Taft's program for general arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France. The spectacle in the Senate during these votes was a striking one. As they proceeded it became evident that the many weary and patient months of preparation by those who wanted to see the President's methods adopted had been of little use as against the weight of the Senate. As the opponents of the proposed treaties began to show their frustration at the cumulative results, the administration senators became visibly and proportionately surprised and confused. When, finally, the victors, not content with eliminating the chief cause of opposition, went further and caused their own amendments to be adopted, distinctly specifying just what questions were never to be arbitrated, it was interesting to watch Mr. Root, Mr. Lodge, and Mr. Burton suddenly circumvented and beaten, with the treaties no longer a subject for their always interesting and suggestive opinions, but by the senate's action now very much "in the air." Yet last week's speeches by these leaders will remain fine examples of analytical power and of prophetic pointing out of the real effect of the proposed treaties, as we more fully move on our government's part in the effort to limit war. The senate did not altogether reject the treaties; indeed, it ratified them, so that the obligation of arbitration in our treaty of 1908 with Great Britain should be extended "to exclude certain exceptions contained in that treaty. But—and this is a big 'but'—the senate only consented with certain understandings. The first was that "the treaty does not authorize the submission to arbitration of any question, which affects the admission of aliens into the United States; second, of any question affecting the admission of aliens to the educational institutions of the several states; states, or of the United States; fourth, any question concerning the alleged indebtedness or moneyed obligation of any state of the United States; fifth, any question concerning the Monroe Doctrine; sixth, any 'other purely governmental policy.' As far as subjects are concerned, that is the net result.—Outlook.

METHODS.

How about methods? The principal method proposed was a Joint High Commission, and this suggestion has aroused "no much" controversy. The congressional parties were to bind themselves to submit to a Joint High Commission, composed of representatives of the two countries in dispute, all questions on which they could not accept arbitration. They furthermore were to bind themselves to accept the Commission's decision as to whether a question were arbitrable or not, and were at once to submit it to arbitration. These propositions were opposed by those who felt that the clause might bind the United States to submit to arbitration questions involving the Monroe Doctrine, the admission of aliens, and other matters either of national honor or of vital interest. As a majority of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations represented these opponents, its first action had been to recommend that the High Commission clause be struck out. Later it submitted an amendment affirming all the treaty-making prerogatives of the senate with regard to each subject proposed for arbitration, as well as the senate's right to confirm the appointment of American members of the High Commission. However, when, in the senate's final and open debate, the Joint High Commission clause was defeated, the later amendment was of course worthless. Elated, the Democrats pressed their victory home. Senator Bacon of Georgia, a Democrat, proposed an amendment eliminating from the scope of the treaty most of the questions above mentioned. The amendment was lost. When, however, Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, a Democrat, introduced an amendment regarding aliens, it was adopted by a very narrow majority, and this thing edge of the wedge gave opportunity to Senator Bacon again to offer his amendment. This time it was adopted, and then the treaties in their mangled form were ratified, only three senators—Martin of New Jersey and Reed of Missouri, Democrats, and Lorimer of Illinois, Republican—voted against them. The final defeat resulted from the action of four senators, who held the balance of power. As the treaties are in such modified form they should be again referred to England and France, if they are not "pigeonholed" in the State Department, following the fate of the earlier amended treaties of 1905. "Certainly" in the form in which they were ratified they differ little from the arbitration treaties of 1908 negotiated by Senator Root when Secretary of State. Critics say that the earlier treaties were superior both in phraseology and definiteness. On another page we comment editorially on the relation of the action to the arbitration movement in general.—Outlook.

AN ANSWER TO ARROGANCE.

Under the above head the Indianapolis Sun, a Republican newspaper, has an editorial which, while of course not in direct local significance to conditions in Idaho, is still so nearly written to comply with evident conditions here that by the mere substitution of names, one might think it had been written for this state. At any rate, the point made in it possesses such merit that we wish to give the entire editorial an opportunity to be read by readers of the Capital News. It is as follows:

"The man who has no other vocation than politics is a perilous risk in public office. Any party long in power, is bound to evolve an office-holding aristocracy. The arrogance of this aristocracy grows with its tenure. Happily, under a republican form of government, the people have a way of driving out the underclass."

"Sometimes the people are slow to act, but when they do move it is with the irresistible force of an avalanche. Any one who inquires the cause of Republican disaster in Indiana will find his own answer in such names as Hemenway, Cromer, Watson, Hill, Helmer, Steele, Fitzpatrick, Keating and Blingham. Every one of these men was more a politician than a public servant. Where are they now? They have been relegated to private life. Hemenway is fighting desperately to control his own party in a district once strangely servile. Cromer is shorn of power and influence. Watson is discredited and without prestige in a district where he was once an idol. Blingham, Steele, Fitzpatrick and Blingham are scarcely remembered. And to think, a few years ago they were all powerful in a party entrusted with state and national government."

"These men were the consummation of machine politics, as such reveal its dangers. We do not say that a party machine does not honor any good men. It does, but the tendency is the other way. Men are likely to be entrusted with public offices by the machine because of their personal connections, 'long service' and 'good fellowship' rather than their fitness. For fear of antagonizing some one a party is not to become inquisitorial. Responsibility seems to begot reaction."

"Both locally and nationally the Republican party has failed to respond to the spirit of the times. That it has been swallowed up by the powers of Special Privilege is apparent in the senate of the United States, where two members hold seats purchased at the cost of more than $300,000 each. Members of the ways and means committee responsible for the Payne-Aldrich tariff, admitted that Schedule K was not revised because no evidence was presented to refute that of the American Woolen company. Special Privilege is always on the job. And this committee supposedly set on the job for the people. 'The Republican party was a double power in Indiana from 1896 to 1905—twelve years, during the creation of the railroad commission, to what can it point as constructive statesmanship. There is yet no public utilities commission in Indiana and the regulation of factories, workshops, boilers and dangerous machinery, until the new inspection law was operative, was of the ineffective, bird's nest variety. The state has no law to prevent the peddling of lithographed shares in imaginary mines and insurance companies, no inheritance tax law, no income tax law, no workmen's compensation act and no satisfactory employers' liability law. 'Republicans who count upon a reaction in four years, following a Democratic administration, may have other guests coming. The party, saved by the fact administration, obviously refuse to respond to progressive sentiments. The continued and continuing success of the Democratic party, if victorious at the polls, depend on the Democrats themselves.—Capital News."

HATCHING TIME.

Hints for Chicken Raisers as to Taking Care of Eggs.

It is now in order to condemn the incubator for the raising of fowls we have, and make a change, often for the worse. If the machine is tight, and all there, brush it up, clean it out, and if it did not do good work last season, change the location and have the thermometer tested, or buy a tested one. The thermometer is the cause of much trouble; so be sure it is accurate.

Perhaps you do not know what good work is and expect to much chick from two eggs is good enough. Changing from the collar to a living room, or vice versa, or providing better ventilation in the cellar, often changes luck. Ventilation in the machine is of as much importance as the moisture; so ventilate without sending a current of air over or through the machine. A constant current of air, either over or under the machine, means much evaporation of the egg moisture; so prevent this as much as possible.

After the first week or so, eggs can stand a good deal of cooling off, but cooling by chilling in a cold room is a mistake. If it was not so cold, better cover the eggs with a soft cloth, or several thicknesses if necessary. Cool slowly. Chilled eggs hatch every time we read of a better one is poor business, and means more dissatisfaction. On the other hand, one who does not suit your location, condition, or personality better than some other, but if you have tried two or three, and cannot get any one of them better give it up and go back to the old hen; she is the only incubator that is self-regulating.

Likewise, do not change breeds every time a "setter" one springs up. If you have "run out," run it back. For years you have used the "early moving pullets" and most vigorous hens as hatchers, because they have laid all winter and gone broody. You have thought that eggs laid by the first of the year were better than those of the flock that were slower to do business, the slower maturing or later hatched pullets and the long resting hens, and that the better the "early" the poorer quality of the flock. To build it up, select a breeding pen of the best and use only the eggs from this selected banding every time.

Get rid of all "roosters" not needed for this pen, and produce for market inferior eggs, inferior keeping eggs, which will mean much less loss on the market. W. E. Valpon, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins.

Little Miss Helen Fisher was hostess for a number of her little friends last Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Fisher. The occasion was the sixth birthday of Miss Helen and the afternoon proved most pleasant to all the guests. The dainty luncheon served at the close of the afternoon was enhanced by the unique table decorations and place cards which were ducks and roosters of most lifelike appearance. The balance of the time was spent in childish games. The little folks present were May Alvord, Constance Stahler, "Bully" Ball, Aileen Booth, Audrey Baker, Melba Noy, Angela Beckwith, Margaret Finch, Mildred Wilson, the Mills, Bernice Puckett, Betty and Vivian Wilson, Elsie Loring, Freeman McDougall, Allan Bedford, Dede and Norma Alvord.

Mrs. Henry J. Wall entertained at a charming children's party last Friday afternoon, from three to five o'clock, her little daughter Miss Peggy acting as hostess. The occasion being in honor of her fourth birthday. The little guests consisting of Constance Taylor, Margaret Harlan, Margaret Harrison, Julia Jensen, Alice Taylor, Elizabeth Miller, Leonard Mee, Edwin Deles, Joseph Deles, George Sprague, Jr., Stuart Scott, Theodore Scott, John Harkbrook, Elsie Loring, and Robert Fisher, spent the time in playing childish games and feasting from a wonderful pond, where each child captured a top, that was carried away as a souvenir of the party. The decorations were carried out in a color scheme of pink and white, and dainty refreshments were served at a large table. The crowning feature of which was the big birthday cake, with its four pink candles, each plate was marked by a favor in the token of a big fire cracker, which was found to contain paper caps and other things due to the childish heart.

Mrs. J. E. Hardison and E. C. Laving were the hostesses Monday afternoon at one of the largest and most enjoyable parties of the season. The Laving home on Eleventh North was very beautifully decorated for the occasion with green carnations, palms and ferns with festoons of shamrock, all being cut, the color scheme for the occasion was white, blue and green. Refreshments also brought out the verdant color, while from the novel table cards a real Irishman from the out-looked out with a grin from a back ground of shamrock. The afternoon spent at five hundred, proved most delightful and merriment reigns. The prizes for high score were won by Mesdames W. H. Greenhow and C. E. Booth, who received beautiful hand embroidered, lunch cloths. The guests invited were Mesdames P. Costello, Sinclair, Shroot, Malone, Neuman, Stahler, Alva Hamilton, John Graham, L. F. Morse, T. J. Miller, Wiglesworth, Kunkley, Pike, Buckley, A. C. Gross of Hollister, H. W. Clouche, Riley, Road, Deles, Wilson, Storer, H. J. Wall, Mitchell, Booth, Miller, Senior, W. S. Hill, Charles, Gaudin, E. E. Wright. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mesdames Mitchell, Hill and Guthrie. In the evening the same ladies to-gether with their husbands entertained at an equally enjoyable five hundred party. A large number of ladies and gentlemen. The ladies assisting in serving in the evening affair were Mesdames Booth, Mitchell, Senior and Hill. The prizes for score were awarded Mrs. F. T. Mitchell and Mrs. W. S. Hill. The invited guests were Mesdames Mesdames Greenhow, McAttee, L. T. Wright, Wiker, Bedford, Chancel, Guthrie, E. J. Swenley, Mitchell, R. A. Hamilton, Senior, F. J. Ostrander, Booth, Helms, J. Costello, Mall, G. P. Baker, E. M. Swenley, J. F. Allen, Nixon, Royd Hamilton, Frank, Miller, A. G. Fisher, Felt, Grant, R. A. Read, Hill, Gott, McAttee, O. V. Allen, McAttee, Hally, Greenhow, Maxwell, Meyer, W. Smith, J. W. Smith, T. M. Roberts, W. H. Eldridge.

Mrs. Hubert Wallace Wilson, and Mrs. Guy Bowman Sierce entertained at the home of the latter on Eighth Ave. North on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. During this week, the rooms being beautifully decorated in white carnations and smilax. The color scheme of green and white being carried out in the dainty cards and refreshments also. Assisting in serving both afternoons were the Mesdames Vesta Thomas, Harriet Warner, Lida McMaster, Lura Wolf, Leslie Williams and Margaret Wilson. On Tuesday five hundred was played at which prizes for score were won by Mrs. C. W. Walton and Mrs. Thos. A. Reed, a handsome locket of white, each for first prize, and an immense bunch of white carnations a second. The second afternoon was devoted to a novel game of hearts, at which Mrs. A. R. Ostrander

BETTER LIGHT for EVERYBODY

If everybody who owns a house knew the economy of Electric Light there would be no demand for any other kind of illumination.

Electric light is both cheap and economical—it is cheap because by using Tungsten lamps in principle living rooms and metallic filament lamps elsewhere you now get as much light for one dollar as you formerly got for two dollars.

The price of the efficient lamps, having Tungsten and metallic filaments, have recently been reduced, the latter now being sold at the former price of carbon lamps.

It is economical because it is SAFE, SANITARY, easy upon the eyes, cleanly.

The Half Fool

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

One day when Abner Gray appeared in the village of Medina for the first time the first citizen he met asked him up for a half dollar. He appeared to be a young man of about twenty-four and was stout and hearty. About all that he had to say was that he was looking for work, and he found it at the livery stable. He was given work at $10 a month, which the stableman had been paying double that to have done, but he had said to Abner:

"You see, you may run across a bird-worked, and if you do it's all yours."

He worked for the liveryman for two months, and then, having found no treasure, he decided to quit his job. There was a rush to secure his services. He was a good worker, and he could be had at half price. He put in a month at the village tavern, and as the treasure still eluded him he engaged himself to Deacon Spiney.

The deacon had a talk with Abner. He was not going to deceive the man in the least.

"Abner," he said, in his slow and honest way, "I have got ten acres in corn."

"Yes, sir."

"I want to hire you to attend to them."

"Do you think the British buried any gold in that field?" was asked.

"Um, I can't say. Folks are saying that they buried gold somewhere around here. It might have been in my cornfield, and it might not. If you want 40 cents a day and board till that corn is shelled you can go ahead."

"But I must be looking for buried treasure while I work."

"And I'll allow you to do that."

"And if I find a box of gold?"

"It will be all yours—that is, half of it shall be yours."

"But I want it all," Mr. Jones, the carpenter, wants me to go to work for him. He says a carpenter often finds buried treasure, and he always keeps it all."

"Well, I can afford to be as liberal as Mr. Jones. Go to work, Abner, and make the dirt fly."

The village was still keeping track of the half fool. There was a general grin when it was known that he had gone to work for Deacon Spiney, and he was accosted on all sides with:

"Hoe away, Abner. You'll find that box of gold before snow flies."

"How deep do you suppose they buried the box?" Abner would ask in a whisper.

"About two feet. You see, General Washington was hot on their trail and shooting them in the back, and they wouldn't have time to dig more than two feet."

"And how much gold would there be in the box?"

"At least $20,000 and maybe double that. The British were mighty mean about some things, but when they buried their gold they heaped up the treasure."

"All right. I'll be looking for that box every day."

Abner had been working in that cornfield for two days and doing two men's work in one when Deacon Spiney found his conscience troubling him. He therefore walked down to the field to say:

"Abner, I think I ought to tell you that I don't believe the British ever buried any gold hereabout. I can't find in history that there were ever any British soldiers as far west as this."

"You are going back on your word," asked the bird man.

"Well, no, no, but I want you to understand that I don't believe there is any treasure here. It's 40 cents a day."

"But I'm to have all the treasure I find."

"Exactly."

"Then it's all right."

"But I'd like to have you tell people that I don't believe there is any treasure here."

"I will."

Abner kept his promise. When asked about his wages he would reply:

"It's 40 cents a day and board and lodgings and all the treasure I find."

There are people yet in Medina who will tell you that on the afternoon of the seventeenth day of corn shelling Abner Taylor was seen jumping up and down and running about and swinging his arms. Those who saw him from a distance did not go near him, thinking he had been attacked by bumblebees. No inhabitant of the village saw him drop from his waist a bag containing a treasure of gold.

That night he had the purple light on the run nor return four hours later. It was the same next night, and on the morning after Abner said to the deacon:

"I have found the treasure and am fleeing away."

"What, what?" exclaimed the deacon. "You say you have found some thing?"

"Yes, a box of gold."

"Is my cornfield?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"Half a bushel or so. I couldn't lift the box."

"And where is it?" Abner. I think we must divide up that money between us."

But Abner took to his heels, and Medina saw him no more. They found the empty box, and they almost wept as they figured on the amount it had held, but the half fool had fooled the wisest and was far away.

BIG CLOSING OUT DAIRY SALE

THURSDAY, MARCH 28, '12

BEGINNING AT TEN O'CLOCK SHARP

Having decided to quit the dairy business I will, on the above date, 2 miles due west of the south-west end of Shoshone creek, Twin Falls, Idaho, sell to the highest and best bidder, my entire DAIRY HERD and FIXTURES

85 HEAD OF FIRST-CLASS DAIRY COWS

Consisting of Shorthorn, Holstein-Jersey and Guernsey strains. This has undoubtedly been one of the best paying dairy herds in the Pacific Northwest. Having been personally selected by me from time to time I have never kept an unsatisfactory cow in my herd. The cows have been tested as a herd a great many times and have always tested 4 per cent and better, and no cow in the herd is over 8 years old and down to two years. All of the 85 head are giving milk—some fresh—the balance fresh soon. I have 2 first-class Holstein bulls with my cows all of the time. Also

25 HEAD OF HEIFERS

FROM ONE YEAR TO TWENTY-TWO MONTHS OLD.

That I have selected to keep up my dairy—bulls have been running with these heifers and some will be fresh by day of sale, I am certain that these heifers cannot fail to please a judge of dairy stock. The dairy will be open for inspection any day before the sale. Come and see the cows milked. But don't ask to buy them before March 28, at 10 a. m. sharp.

TWO MILK WAGONS

De Laval Separator, 900-lbs. capacity. 1500 MILK BOTTLES. 50 Milk Cans, from 1 to 10 gallons. Bottle filler, Airlator. 25 Bottle Trays.

FREE LUNCH ALL DAY

TERMS—Sums of $10.00 and under, cash; over $10.00, bankable note due October 1st, 1912, with 8 per cent interest if paid when due; if not so paid to draw 12 per cent interest from date. Five per cent discount for cash on sums over $10.00. Terms of sale must be complied with before property is removed.

Rock Creek, Idaho, March 20, 1911. W. R. Ashdown and family have moved out to their ranch after spending the winter in Twin Falls.

Ray Perry and family have moved out to their ranch from Kimberly.

W. J. Gamble and Billy Haynes were called to Twin Falls on business last Friday.

Herman Shaffer unloaded his carload of household goods at Hansen Friday. They were shipped from Belington, Washington.

H. P. Larsen and daughter, Miss Ann, went to Twin Falls Friday. Miss Ann Larsen is spending this week with friends in Twin Falls.

Misses Clara and Maude Broese spent Saturday and Sunday with the home folks.

Miss Zina Donahue was a Twin Falls visitor Saturday.

Herb Cottle was over from Rogerson Thursday.

Miss Emma Smith came in from Elkhart Friday to spend a few days with her parents. She returned to her school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Scranton were Twin Falls visitors. Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Payetta Johnson returned last Saturday, after spending the winter in Walla Walla and Prescott, Washington.

D. G. Ferguson and Merle F. Ellis were here from Murtaugh Saturday.

Magnus and Henry Larsen had ten tons of grain to Artesian City and other farmers.

The social given Saturday evening at Pleasant Valley was a success in every way. The program and lunch were thoroughly enjoyed, after which everyone had a good social time. The proceeds at the door were $12.85, which will be turned into the treasury of the Sunday school.

On Saturday night, March the 30th, the pupils of the Artesian City school will render a play entitled "Fables of Aesop." Also the play "Punch and Judy" will be given.

It is hoped that everyone will attend who can, for the proceeds will be placed toward establishing a library for the use of the school children. The admission for grown up will be 25 cents, children 10 cents.

Miss Grace Allan returned Friday from a two-year stay in Great Falls, Montana, where she has been attending school. She completed a course stenography, but her eyes failing, she was compelled to give up other studies for the present.

Mr. Herman Striker visited friends in Twin Falls last week.

A. J. Fuller, Miles Robison and T. C. Brooks were over from Artesian City Friday.

Announcement on the Valley line was over today from Hansen on business.

Henry Larsen made a business trip to Twin Falls Monday.

Frank Reeves went to Kimberly and Twin Falls Tuesday.

The roads are reported much better. The prevailing winds have done some good at last.

The little babe of Mr. and Mrs. L. Larsen had a severe attack of croup Saturday, but is better at this writing.

Announcement

The attention of the public and more especially the ranchers of this tract is called to the opening of the known as THE CASH BUYERS UNION, which has for its purpose the bringing of prices of the ranchers' necessities down to the lowest possible point. To make this possible we have purchased direct from the manufacturers, cutting out the jobbers' profit. We have no branch houses to increase the cost of doing business, and thereby increasing the cost of the goods to the consumer. We are handling a full line of farm implements, wagons, buggies and ranchers' hardware. We believe that we can make prices on reputable machinery and implements that will interest you. Will you call and give us a chance to show you that we mean business.

Implement House

Verdict Is Upheld.

"Held, that the evidence is sufficient to sustain the verdict, and that the instruction given by the court correctly states the law."

The measure of damages for the destruction of apple trees for want of water, which have been planted and in a condition to grow, is what such destroyed trees were worth on the premises in their growing state at the time of the destruction, and in determining that question there may be taken into consideration the difference in the value of land immediately before the trees were planted and the value of the land after the trees were planted, which increased value results wholly by reason of the planting of the trees in a growing condition and

The decision closes.

"Finding no reversible error in the record, the judgment must be affirmed and it is so ordered. Costs of this appeal are awarded to the respondent, Mrs. Hanes."

Strikes at Root of Present Apathy

ter of southern Idaho, and if we neglect to develop our natural resources, our adjacent towns will lose that trade. Let us go down to Buhl; let us go down to Teller; let us go to the North Side—to Jerome and Wendell—let acquainted with the merchants there and the business men, and they will give us advice and help that will not only help us, but also by that acquaintance we will broaden the trade of our own city."

"We have been planted out here in this desert, and by the help of financiers like Buhl, Kimberly, Milner, the Kuhns and others, who by their expenditure of money have put water upon this soil, we have been allowed to exist. These people may make money out of this tract—and I sincerely hope they do, but they will not make nearly the amount of money that it is in our power to make when we reclaim the desert and build it up to the great future empire it is destined to be."

"We have the people here; we have the soil here; we have the climate here; and, thanks to our financiers, we have the water here—and I believe we will have the greatest country on earth when we have fully developed our resources. Let us then apply the principle of brotherly love. Forget our jealousies and go-out-and-boast, not for Twin Falls and the immediate surrounding neighborhood, but boost for all of the tracts surrounding Twin Falls that bear its name."

"The growth of the Salmon River country means a future growth for Twin Falls; and whenever we knock these countries we are knocking ourselves."

"We should not be jealous of the men who are doing things in Southern Idaho. We have one man here, who lives in our own community, who has done more to develop this country than the united efforts of all of us put together. I refer to L. B. Perrine. Seven years ago he told us that he intended not only to reclaim the Twin Falls country, but that he was going to interest capital to reclaim an immense amount on the north side of the river. We laughed at him. We did not believe it. Yet in a few months he had brought the Kuhns into this country and interested them, and they not only reclaimed the North Side, but they also reclaimed the Salmon River tract to the south of us, and the Goose Creek tract to the east of us. They have made an empire out of what would have only been a small irrigated country in a desert—and it is no shame that we hear so often of our own streets people knocking the North Side, and saying they have not water enough. This country will never succeed; people knock the Salmon, and saying they never will have water enough to irrigate one-tenth of their land. These statements are not true, and whoever says them is knocking his own town and does himself no good. Let us be broad enough and big enough and apply the principles of brotherly love in a broader sense that we can wish, and talk, and hope for the success of all tracts that join us or are near to us."

"Only today in my office I met three different men from the East who had come out here to settle on the Salmon, and who were told on the streets of Twin Falls that the Salmon River country would never have water; that the land would be no good, and that their investment was a failure. They came to my office and asked me what I thought about it, and I told them as I have always told, that I believed that the Salmon River lands and North Side lands. The North Side country is destined to be one of the greatest irrigated sections in Southern Idaho. The Salmon River—water right will be equally as good as the Twin Falls water right, and that an investment in the Salmon today was as good an investment as there is in Southern Idaho. I don't believe that the Salmon River country will have plenty of water and is destined to be a great source of income and revenue to the Twin Falls country."

"Mr. Perrine is now advancing the building of electric lines, and he has actually built, by the help of other people, a road from here to Shoshone Falls. It will probably be now to a great many business men of this town that that road is actually built ready for the ties and the rails, and still you hear everywhere people knocking Mr. Perrine. This is not right. He is doing his own money, and building up Southern Idaho for your benefit, and even though he might have some faults, forget them. Write us letters upon the sand, but his virtues upon tablets of rock."

"The Kuhns—and we give most credit to Mr. Perrine for bringing them into this country—have done more to build up Southern Idaho than all the advertising we can do in the next fifty years. Let them alone; let them help them out. There may be differences of opinion that will have to be adjusted. If there are, we are the like men and adjust them; but do not forget what they have done for us. A knock to them reflects upon ourselves and will do us more damage than it does them."

"In conclusion let me say: Let all of us get together; boost for the great Twin Falls; boost for the empire, and in boosting we will grow. We must stand together. And let me repeat that song:

"A song for our banner, the watchword recall,
Which gave the Republic her station."

"United we stand, divided we fall";
It made and preserves us a nation;
The union of land, the union of land,
The union of states none can sever;
The union of hearts, the union of heads,
The flag of our Union forever."

liable for damages to the settler in case he sustained any.

Under the provisions of section 1628, revised codes, it is made the duty of a Carey Act Irrigation company to notify the settler when water is ready for delivery, in order that the settler may improve his land and make the reclamation required in order to secure title from the state to this land.

Where Company Failed.

The giving of such notice under the contract and law served to fix the time within which the settler must cultivate and reclaim his land and also fixes the time. If the water is furnished, when interest shall begin on deferred payments on his water contract, and it was the duty of the construction company to furnish the water after it had given the notice.

Under said state contract the said construction company was required to supply water and an irrigation system.

Held, that in the operation of said canal and the furnishing of water, the construction company was a quasi public service corporation, and under the state contract, the company not an increase in the value of the land occasioned by anything else."

Interest Carey Act Settlers.

From the decision proper a number of pertinent paragraphs which have a direct bearing upon certain issues in the case and which are of particular interest to Carey land act settlers are here appended:

"It would be a strange doctrine indeed to hold that the settler would be obliged to pay interest upon the receipt of a notice that water would be ready on a certain date, and the company not be obligated under the contract to deliver him the water."

Under the state of facts, the contracts and the law, there can be but one rational conclusion, therefore, that is that if the settler was injured by failure to deliver water, the irrigation company is liable."

The court adds a touch of satire to the counsel for the irrigation company to the effect that the trees in
