From the number of unsavory incidents which have occurred in this city, it would seem necessary for the city to put more restrictions on the transient class and, when no viable source of income can be shown, give the men of that class over as vagrants and run them out. If such a law does not exist for the city, it should be created as an ordinance. It costs an utterly too much to take care of the minor scraps and small riots which are continually happening. If a man cannot show a good reason for hanging about the city he should have an invitation to move with considerable propelling power back of it.

Twin Falls road holds enthusiasm should be turning their minds toward the convention at Boise next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and be making plans to be there. If any of the automobile owners contemplate the trip they should be sure to give their names to the committee or to the Commercial club secretary with the number of people they can take with them. Those who do not care to make the drive with their cars or who may not own them, can secure a mighty cheap trip to Boise, and also boost the good roads game for this section. The start will be made next Monday so that there is urgent need of preparation prior to that time. The Automobile association, in conjunction with the Commercial club, should also make some plan for entertaining the other delegates who will come by this route from Pocatello, Blackfoot and Idaho Falls.

The city council should be commended for the increased allowance made for the public library which will allow that institution to run on the same economical basis as formerly and still take care of the demands made upon it for new books and periodicals. Before the library was given $750 by the city, it was allowed the use of a small room in the county court house rent free. Owing to the demand for the room now occupied by the library by the county commissioners for their own use, the library must needs move and with the move begin paying rental and other incidental expenses which will consume the sum given in addition by the council. The library is one of the most important and worthy institutions supported by the taxpayers, and it should be given every encouragement to broaden out. It should offer a sure haven for some of the leisure hours of the boys and girls which will otherwise hang heavily on their hands during the summer months and school vacations.

ENGLAND'S DEFEAT OF WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

The suffragettes of England have received their second setback from the Parliament at Westminster. The bill enfranchising women has been defeated in spite of the unceasing efforts of the followers of Mrs. Pankhurst to obtain what they consider their rights. However, they are not broken, windows unharmed, blown up and burned down houses, churches, and palaces, threatened the lives of Cabinet Ministers, destroyed costly works of art, defied the law, suffered imprisonment, and hurled bad language at the magistrates who sent them to the cells, where they valiantly refused food, and dared starvation for the cause. In spite of these setbacks, the English suffragettes have far outlasted the American ones. The English suffragettes have far outlasted the American ones. The English suffragettes have far outlasted the American ones.

as they style the Prime Minister, has not only given the measure the unqualified support they were led to expect, because, as he remarked, the question had never yet been before the people in the form of an election issue. One member, Sir C. Compton-Rickett, objected to the bill because he said that women Members of Parliament would be as likely to riot and break windows or throw bricks at their opponents in the House, as they had been doing outside of it. Mr. Asquith spoke among the nays, and said of the sex difference sometimes urged against women's enfranchisement:

"Now I go back to the general principle. Let me point out here, what I think is a truism, that the whole burden of proof is on those who assert that the distinction of sex in regard to the exercise of political rights which has hitherto with a very few exceptions, been universally recognized even in the most democratic communities, should in this country under this bill be ignored. It is not a question of the inferiority of one or the superiority of the other, either in intellect, character, temperament, or anything else. It is a question of the appropriateness of the franchise to the function which, in a totally different thing. Nor is it, in my view, a question of the application or the exclusion of democratic principles. Democracy aims at the obliteration of arbitrary and artificial distinctions. Democracy has no quarrel whatever with distinctions which nature has created and experience has sanctioned. I will put in one sentence what seems to me to be the gist and the core of the real question the House has to answer, and it is this: 'Would our political fabric be strengthened, would legislation be more respected, would our public and domestic life be enriched, would our standard of manners—and in manners I include the old-fashioned virtues of chivalry and courtesy—and of the two sexes; would this standard be raised and refined if women were politically enfranchised? (Cheers, and a voice—"It has been in Australia.") I am not talking about Australia. I am talking about Great Britain, the country in which we live and which we know. I want an answer to the question, would it or would it not be the case? Every man must answer that question. It is a question of judgment and experience, (cheers.) I answer it in the negative. I believe such a negative answer to be in no wise derogatory to the honor and dignity of the other sex."

Mr. Snowden, a Laborite member for one of the great industrial centers of Lancashire, Blackburn, famous for its cotton and textile industry, would be for the good of the community if women had the power to vote. The action of the militants does not seem to him to impair the force of the argument in favor of enfranchising women. Nor does he think, either, that Parliament ought to be intimidated into saying yes to their demand. He observed:

"The members who declare that they will vote against the bill because they will not be intimidated by violence are allowing themselves to be intimidated from doing what they believe to be right because one woman in a thousand has done something of which they disapprove. The 'courageous' thing for those members to do is to do what is right, and if they do that they can stand upon a secure rebellion and revolution. Now, because revolution can not continue unless based upon a justifiable cause of grievance. Is the House of Commons to go on forever mocking the women by its professions of sympathy? I appeal not to the sympathy, but to the chivalry of the House, and to its sense of justice, and I hope that a large majority of the members will declare by their vote that the time has come when a self-respecting House of Commons demands that this question be finally settled in harmony with those principles of democratic self-government on which alone the greatness and stability of Parliamentary government can be based."

The comments of the London press run much in the groove these questions were very largely, and the Liberal Daily News naturally supports the Suffrage Bill and refers to the movements in England before the passing of the Reform Bill, when the Chartists, who destroyed property, resisted the military, and caused the loss of many lives, something less than a century ago. Thus we read:

"For the three who have been believed with understanding in the suffragette cause, the cause remains as sacred as ever. Its justice, and what is not less, its necessity, remain as unquestionable, they can not be affected by the offenses of a few ill-behaved fanatics. What reason can be put forward to induce a suffragist to withhold himself of such a favorable moment? Is it the desire to punish the militants? Assuredly, of all classes of suffragists the militants will feel the blow least. They will answer that they have expected nothing better from the House of Commons, and that the rejection of the bill has confirmed their dreadful philosophy.

"Those who will be punished are the great host of suffragists, who have done nothing to deserve punishment, and the state, which needs the enfranchisement of women for its political and social health. Can it be said that to grant women the suffrage after a succession of outrages would be to create a dangerous precedent and set the seal upon violence as a political weapon in a free country? It would be historical perversity to inquire whether the history of our franchise legislation contains no instances of concession to violence."—Literary Digest.

AS OTHERS SEE US

Filler Man Does Not Like Electric Bill Read.

The Journal man paid a visit to the county seat last Saturday and was proud to note the activity of the Magic City along many lines. Every citizen of this county is proud of Twin Falls and never fails to boost for the good town whether in conversation or in writing. The Journal man, however, is not so sure. He is not so sure of the town's reputation for doing things in a nation wide, and dull indeed, must be the mind that never heard of her wonderful achievements.

On the way to the postoffice he glanced across the street to some vacant lots and noticed a very large bill board which contained the announcement "Leading Business Firms of Twin Falls." Naturally, this announcement interested us and we stopped to read. Hardly a name was familiar to us, and we reread the list. There were three splendid papers published in Twin Falls, and for more than three years we have carefully scanned their interesting pages. It is a pity that it is a waste of space to note the firms that lack the public into their confidence by advertising in the local papers. The list of names that most nearly adjudge in the upbuilding of a country—the press—and more especially a new one that comes from the grass roots and with but hardly a day's notice.

And so we looked again. What firms are there that have the honor of being listed with such distinction as "leading firms." Say, gentle reader, there was a name that we recognized as an established firm. The name of Osterander—whether used in connection with furniture or lumber, as both of these firms are entitled to their designation. But the others, who were they? We looked in vain for the name of Booth, or Jenkins & Co., Idaho Bank, C. J. Peterson, Priebe, Young-Lytle Co., Eldridge, Taylor, Shoshone Grocery, City Market, T. F. Grocery, not a hardware store, not a hotel, nor many other business firms familiar to the eye of the newspaper reader.

The unsightly bill board is a positive disgrace to the city, blemishing the city of Twin Falls as it gives the visitor a wrong impression of the character of the community. The bill board should be moved to a town like Shoshone or Albion. It looks provincial. It ought to be taken down. The Twin Falls desires to retain her reputation, as it is a reflection on the business sagacity of a live town, full of the best boosters and the best citizens. We want to excuse the bill board. It does not reflect the best sentiment that we know exists in the community. We want to excuse the bill board. It does not reflect the best sentiment that we know exists in the community.

From the viewpoint of the disinterested outsider it would appear that it was now up to the civic committee of the Twentieth Century club to hang a can on the inartistic appearance of the sign, and see that it is moved from the present location to the library wing section of the town—Filler Journal.

FARMERS FLOCK TO GOODING

Sales of Advantage to the Farmer, and Every Member of the Family.

Bigger, better and more wonderful than ever, traders' day, Saturday, June 7, will draw people to Gooding from Camanche to Snake river. Farmers will be on hand with articles of all kinds for sale and trade. They have learned that they have secured opportunity to dispose of what they have and do not want and to acquire those things which they need.

The counters of the mercantile establishments will be loaded with bargains. The streets of the city will witness enthusiastic throngs of people. There will be foot races, potato races, horse races, and in all likelihood, a splendid ball game. The prizes for these contests will be announced in the next issue of the Leader.

The Gooding Packing company manufactures Gem State Brand open kettle rendered pure lard. This lard is a fine quality and is one of the best obtainable. Its use stimulates the market for hogs in this community. It is distinctly a home product.

The Gooding Packing company, in order to disclose to the public the superior quality of this lard, will offer two prizes for the best doughnuts baked in the lard.

For the best lot of two dozen doughnuts a prize of forty pounds of lard will be given.

For the second best lot of two dozen doughnuts a prize of twenty pounds of lard will be given.

These doughnuts are to be taken to the Gooding Mercantile store where the prizes will be awarded by a committee and will be disposed of by the department of the Woman's club.

The doughnuts submitted become the property of the Home Economics department and will be disposed of by these ladies, the proceeds going to a fund being raised for the purchase of a public drinking fountain.

The contest will no doubt be one of the most interesting features of the day. Other contests are being planned and will be announced in next week's issue of the Leader.

People living within fifty miles of Gooding should make it a point to lay in their supplies for the day of the big traders' day. You can enjoy yourself with the amusements that will be offered and profit by the trading you will do.

Be sure to bring in for sale or trade anything you have and do not want. If you desire articles sold at the auction sale please have them listed at once with J. R. Bradford, clerk.

A. J. Stoffer, the confectioner, has offered a prize for the best spread interest on traders' day. He will give a magnificent box of cigars to the second prize winner whose list of four wins a race from the Gooding hotel to the Leader building corner.

He will supplement this by refreshments for the winners, who will be brought to the lodge as a whole.

The K. of P. Odd Fellows, Modern Woodmen of America, and others are expected to enter teams in this contest.—Gooding Leader.

HAS PLAN TO SUPPRESS VICE

New Law Passed in Minnesota Now in Force.

St. Paul, Minn.—The Wallace-Poole law, enacted by the Minnesota legislature with a view to suppressing disorderly and gambling resorts by preventing the use of property for improper purposes, came into effect today. The law has several unique features. Under its provisions any citizen may begin a civil action to abate a nuisance, the resorts being classed as nuisances. Any attorney prosecuting the law, which will be brought in the name of the state. If the court finds that the charges are true an order will be issued closing the property for one year; confiscating the household goods in the places and ordering their sale, and fining the property owner $200. Under the law the property owner is presumed to be aware of the purpose to which the property is being put. The attorney prosecuting the case is successful, is to be given 10 per cent of the fines and the amount realized from the sale of goods. To guard against an abuse of the law it is provided that the court, if convinced that an action is being brought in bad faith, may dismiss the case and assess the costs against the citizen who brought it.

EXTENSION OF TIME GRANTED

West-End Twin-Falls Project Given Thirty Days More Time.

The West End Twin Falls Irrigation company, whose contract with the state for the completion of its project expired today, presented an application to the state land board today for an extension. The board gave the company thirty days with the understanding that in the meantime the company would furnish to the board a financial statement showing the amount of money it has raised on contracts, the amount of water sold and other data that the state requires.

The company asked for a ninety-day extension. Its contract is subject to forfeiture under that provision of the law which makes forfeiture possible if for a period of six months there had not been work done on the irrigation system.

That there is another company or men with capital securing estimates on the same project with the view of taking over the holdings of the West End company, was evident from the statements made to the board this morning. The name of this company, or the financial back of the proposition were not given. The board was informed, however, that one of the reasons the West End company wished the extension of time was for the purpose of permitting the new parties completing their estimates. It is understood that they have had surveys and engineers over the project gathering the necessary data.

Work on the West End project virtually stopped a year ago, it is said, and since then little has been done on it. The state is anxious to have definite information as to the exact financial condition of the West End company and the project is in and the information asked for will be a complete financial statement showing these facts, together with facts in relation to the bonds and securities.

THE TWIN FALLS SCHOOLS CLOSE

and the ruthless are transformed into helpers. Whole communities, as degraded as mankind can well be, have been lifted into respectability and worthiness. Nor are these things to be found anywhere in the world's history apart from eternal life. Reformations are to be seen, but not the transformation into genuine believers that accompanies the receiving of eternal life.

"There is no human wholeness apart from the possession of eternal life. The Bible declares that all man have it. The history of Christianity in the last 150 years shows that no race of men, no classes within the races are incapable of receiving it. It has now been demonstrated that all men have capacity for eternal life as the printing machine has capacity for the ink and paper, the telephone for electricity. If all have capacity for eternal life, then none can be regarded as complete without possessing it. As a man without physical development must be regarded as imperfect, so also must a man without spiritual development be regarded as imperfect. "Eternal life is essential to the highest usefulness. A man with an undeveloped body cannot do a man's work in the world. Nor can one with an undeveloped mind. The high course adds 100 per cent to one's efficiency. A college course 220 to 240 per cent. If a man with an undeveloped body or an undeveloped mind cannot perform a man's work in the world today, how can one with an undeveloped spirit? If bodily and mental development are necessary, spiritual development must be regarded as still more necessary. The completion of the high school course begins to put upon one the stamp of leadership. Only 2 per cent of American men take a college course. But of the 10,000 leaders in American activity 7,000 come from this 2 per cent. It is the duty of a leader to set a good example to those who are to follow his leadership. He should be a whole man and capable of the highest service possible to him.

"Eternal life is essential also to the highest happiness. All seek happiness, all are entitled to it. Those who miss it blunder as to the way. Some human beings find their highest happiness in the taking of human life. Others in a continual feast. Others in a drunken carousal or in winning by whatever means, great wealth. Still others think that in the polite trivialities of the social world they find the highest joy of life. But the unworthiness of all these conceptions becomes apparent when compared with the joy that comes to the real helpers in human life, the possessors of eternal life. Dr. Faunce, president of Brown university, returning from a trip around the world, said: "If I were still a young man, I would ask no finer chance than some opening in awakening China." The possessor of eternal life may enter into every joy of every legitimate human experience, and no other can."

JUNIORS-REFLECTIVE SENIORS.

Cottillon hall was the scene on Friday night of a gay assemblage of Juniors and Seniors of the high school, the event being the annual reception accorded the graduating class by the Junior class.

The hall was elaborately decorated in the senior colors of green and white and the Junior class colors of yellow and white, these combinations of colors being carried out in yellow and white crepe paper, cut flowers and ferns. The early part of the evening was given over to a splendid program consisting of a speech by the Junior president, Carl Hoag; vocal solo by Losh Woods; instrumental duet, Alice Terrill and Edith Ramsey; reading by Alice Sanderson; vocal duet, Miss Libert and Leah Woods; and the address by Harry McGraw, the Senior president. Delicious refreshments were served by the Junior girls and dancing occupied the remainder of the very pleasant event.

The Senior class held their picnic at Shoshone falls on Saturday afternoon. Baskets heaped with all the good things for a picnic dinner were taken and a big spread held at a picturesque place near the falls. A jolly afternoon was spent in roaming about the canyon.

A WOMAN'S AIM SAVES LIFE

Mrs. Edward Palmer of Bliss Kills Mad Bull with Rifle Shot.

Rancher Edward Palmer, brother of former Mayor J. E. Palmer of Gooding, was saved from death by the prompt action and sure aim of his wife at their ranch home near Bliss a few days ago.

Mr. Palmer undertook to lead a bull into the corral. The brute became enraged, charged the rancher—and would soon have killed him had not Mrs. Palmer run out to the corral with a rifle and shot the animal dead.

As it was Mr. Palmer was badly bruised and battered, but not seriously hurt.

Mr. Palmer had just bought the bull from a neighbor and had taken it home. It had not been known as a vicious animal and since it was a horned, he was not expecting trouble from it. Suddenly, however, it rushed at him and threw him to the ground.

Seeing the predicament of her husband and realizing that only quick action could save him, she took aim and fired. The bull let out a howl of rage, dropped over and expired.

The brave woman does not yet realize how calmly-courageous she was. —Gooding Leader.

R. C. Robertson will leave this week for a visit at Twin Falls. —Tribune Record.

BUIL CLUB'S NEW LOCATION

R. W. Allred has agreed to lease the front rooms of the bank building on the second floor to the club for a month. This includes both heat and janitor service and is a very reasonable amount. The rooms will seat twenty people, but if a larger meeting is to be held, the lodge room can be used.

The Herald would like to see this temporary organization made permanent and the club get down to business. A number of important enterprises demand immediate attention.

Let's get the Buhl Farm Products cooperative started in June this year instead of September.—Buhl Herald.

KUHN'S BUY-POWER SITE.

Purchase Sand Springs on Snake River for Power Site.

The Kuhn's are fast getting control of all the available power in this part of the state. Last week they closed the deal with Judge F. N. Uhlir for the purchase of the Sand Springs site. Construction work will start this fall on the dam which is to divert the water. It is estimated that the new plant will generate 3,000 horsepower.

The building of the dam will cause the formation of an artificial lake covering 25 acres. A company with a capital stock of $10,000 has been incorporated for the purpose of making a pleasure resort out of the lake and some 200 acres surrounding, which is the property of Mr. Uhlir. The officers of the new corporation are: F. W. Uhlir, of Riverton, president; W. L. Colborn of Hagerman vice president; R. W. Alfred of Dubl, Secretary-treasurer, and Dr. H. C. Coleman of Dubl, director.

The lake will be heavily stocked with trout, and trees will be planted on every available spot of the 200 acres, it being the intention of the company to have a game preserve that will be first class in every respect. A modern sportsman's club house is to be one of the pleasing features of the grounds. Approximately $25,000 is to be expended by the company in this work, making it, as it will be completed, one of the most attractive spots on the Tri-State road which skirts the opposite side of the Snake river canyon.—Dubl Herald.

Mrs. A. W. Hettler returned Wednesday morning from Twin Falls, where she had been visiting for several days.—Advocate, Burley.

The Rev. H. W. Parker, superintendent of Pocatello district, was in town between trains on business Wednesday.—Advocate, Burley.

U. S. CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

Rural Carrier at Twin Falls, Idaho, for Twin Falls County, Saturday, June 14, 1913.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination on the date and at the places named above as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a vacancy in the position of rural carrier at Hagerman, Idaho, and other vacancies as they may occur on rural routes at post offices in the above named county, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by re-statement, transfer, or promotion.

W. F. Brockton, manager for rural carriers in from $500 to $1,200 per annum. Age, 18 to 35, on the date of the examination. The examination is waived in cases of persons honorably discharged from the United States military or naval service.

An applicant must have his actual domicile in the territory supplied by a post office in the county for which the examination is announced.

The examination is open to all male citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements.

Application Form 234, and full information concerning the requirements of the examination, can be secured from the secretary of the local examining board or the postmaster at any of the places named above, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Eligible candidates established prior to March 1, 1912, can be considered for appointment only in the office for which they were examined. Such eligibles may be examined with in one year from the date of their former examination upon filing applications showing that they meet the requirements of the new examination, their old eligibility for their home offices not being cancelled.

Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington. As examination papers are shipped direct from the Commission to the places of examination, it is necessary that applications be received in ample time to arrive for the examination desired at the place indicated by the applicant. The Commission will therefore arrange to examine any applicant whose application is received in time to permit the shipment of the necessary papers.

An eligible register for the position of rural letter carrier for each county will be maintained. A person must be examined in the county in which the most office that supplies his home is situated. As a result of such examination he may become eligible to appointment as rural carrier at any post office in such county. A rural letter carrier after one year's satisfactory service may be transferred to the position of clerk or carrier in a first or second class post office, to the position of railway mail clerk, or to other positions in the civil service, subject to such examination as may be required by the civil service rules.

IDAHO CEMENT FACTORY.

Pocatello Men Take Option on First Deposits of Raw Material.

What is believed to be the first step toward the erection of a new cement factory near Pocatello, was taken last week when options on vast deposits of the required raw material were received in the office of the county clerk in this city. One of the options runs from Whitford & Gath, present owners of the property, to J. D. Browning and John A. Kellogg. It provides for a transfer of title in four months on consideration of the payment of $25,000. The option may be renewed at the end of four months by the payment of $1,000; to be credited on the purchase price. The other option runs from Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart, P. Holmes to William H. Jackson, Jr. It calls for the payment of $14,476 in four months. The Holmes option also carries with it 25 miners' inches of water from the South fork of Jackson creek.

It is understood that the gentlemen taking the options are acting for a big eastern syndicate with cement plants in various parts of the world who are closely affiliated with the Kuhns of Pittsburgh.

The ink on these deposits have been procured by experts as among the most valuable in the international region.
