

PILOT CAR IS NOT GREETED

Northern Autoists Pike on Over-land Trip

PEOPLE ALONG ROUTE TO THIS CITY INTERESTED.

George Ensley and Dr. McAttee Return from American Falls Minus Their Guests.

After making the lunch miles that separates this city from American Falls in record time, last Saturday, George Ensign of the Western Auto Sales Co., of American Falls, was to bring in the good roads boosters from Pocatello, Blackfoot and Idaho Falls, found that his trip to the city was a real one. The real boosters for good roads were evidently afraid to take any good roads to the first land and had gone by rail to Boise.

On reaching the power city, Mesaña, Ensign and Dr. P. P. McAttee, who had been on the trip, found that the trip and after waiting some time without a sign of an automobile, began to keep the telephone lines.

Ensign and McAttee found only to find that out of about twenty-five cars which had planned to make the trip, only a few had arrived. The rest of the American Falls. Instead, the boosters were trusting to the Short Line rather than the good roads to land them.

Both gentlemen, however, were delighted with the cordially shown to them at all the towns on the trip. The trip was a real one in the coming of the good roads boosters. One bright idea in the trip was the greeting given to the boosters by the people of the town of Burley, where the gateposts and houses were decorated with flags and bunting and two eagles—Jag and Ensign.

The pilot car, however, did not come of the guests who never came to the pilot car, however, did not come.

SIGHTSEERS IN CITY

Secretary of Pocahontas Commercial Club and Friends Pay Visit.

A jolly bunch of sightseers from Pocahontas arrived in Twin Falls Sunday evening. The party left the Gate City Saturday with two autos and made the trip by the way of American Falls. The government dam on the Snake river project is the first thing they saw. The place south of Burley. They remained in the city Sunday night and yesterday morning left for the Shoshone falls and Blue Lakes, and after viewing the wonders of the Snake

The party is made up of A. R. Davidson, secretary of the Pocatello Commercial club; J. Wyley Seasons, the department of agriculture of the Academy of Idaho; Miss Barnes, Boston, Mass.; Miss Corey, Los Angeles, Cal.; Miss Wheaton, Pennsylvania; Miss Stoddard, Sterling, Ill.; Miss Funk, Oakley, Idaho; Miss Reed, Jerome, Idaho, and Miss Sterns, Duluth, Minn.

The gentlemen of the party made the Secretary Mobilize the Commercial club and expressed their delight with Twin Falls and the trip.

A repetition of your want ad, at a trivial cost, may be a "lucky investment" if you want to rent some rooms.

A man from Oakley tried to ford it with three rigs. The creek was higher than ever known before from water being turned out at the canal spillway and the rigs were washed down stream, but the man and horses were saved. Frankie Terrill was in from Artesian City, Sunday, in his auto. Several were in from Artesian City, Sunday, to play ball. It is a great pastime for the boys. Miss Blanche Goss is again well after several days of illness from tonsillitis. J. F. Lawwell moved his family and household goods to his ranch at Borg, Idaho, Wednesday. He was the principal of the school here for the past two years. Mr. Chas. Harper was in Murtaugh from Twin Falls the last of the week, looking after his bees. His oldest boy is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morrison.

When the apartment, which might, almost, have been planned and designed for you, becomes available to you the news will be found in the "To Rent" column.

A repetition of your want ad—again and again if needed—may be good business sense if you're looking for work.

If you want to tell the people what you have, try a want ad.

JARBIDGE LOCALS.

The dance given under the auspices of the Jarbridge Commercial club, Thursday evening, May 29, was one of the most enjoyable social affairs that has taken place here for some time.

Everyone present seemed to feel it incumbent upon himself to show the other fellow a good time. The spirit of hospitality was in the air and with open arms the strangers who have come to make their homes in this camp were welcomed. Much credit is due the Commercial club for making it possible to enjoy these diversions.

The music by Messrs. Harris and Duncan was all that could be desired. The slow dreamy waltzes made one sentimental, and the bright rollicking two-steps made one forget his troubles. The quadrilles were the features of the evening. Convention was cast aside and everyone entered into these dances with a will.

Attention should be made of the ladies' gowns, but the "mere man" who was delegated to furnish the required information insists that he "will have to pass" or words to that effect. The date of the next dance has not yet been announced, but it is being looked forward to with expectancy and a good crowd is assured.

The ladies of Jarbridge have organized a riding club and have decided to meet about once a week. They rode Sunday evening for the first time and made quite a picture, there being fourteen in party.

The members of the club are: Mesdames Dexter, Fletcher, Correll, Middleton, Silver, Cook, Goodwin, Ross, Martin, Yawoll, Swigwood, Lund, Fletcher and Thron.

Friday nights have been set aside by the Commercial club for the benefit of the ladies of Jarbridge. Whist and other card games are played, and the musicians of the camp favor with vocal and instrumental selections. The spirit of the 28th was especially enjoyable. Some beautiful vocal selections, and Mr. Gehrman, a big, well-known materially in the pleasure of the evening. A social dance, in which everyone participated, followed. These social events help break the monotony for the ladies of the camp and they always turn out in force.

Among the new arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stewart, formerly of Baker,

RELINQUISH LAND ON SALMON

Carey Act Entrusted Given Privilege
by the State Land Board.

At a meeting of the state land board, Saturday, permission was granted to a number of Carey act land entries on the Salmon river tract to relinquish their claims without prejudice to the state, their contracts with the irrigation company to be transferred to the state.

This matter has been up for some time. It is claimed that there is about 2,000 acres of land in the Salmon river project which was filed on at the time of the opening, and which, although it is not of a character to be made productive. Much of this land was in what are called dry lakes, where in the past water was abundant. Since the irrigation of this district has been commenced it is discovered that these lands will receive the water and support crops from the surrounding country, and will probably eventually be submerged.—Statesman.

The indications of the last few days point to the fact that Twin Falls will have an up-hill fight on her hands to gether with the south side of the Snake river valley to get anything from the state highway commission that will help this section. The fact that none of the upper Snake river cities nor the Pocatello ones came this way, indicates either one of two unfavorable facts regarding the state highway coming this direction. First, that there is a settled course and fixed policy to ignore the scenic claims of the lower Snake river and go by the northern route, or that, at best, the camp of the upper Snake river road enthusiasts is divided over the respective merits of the two routes. In either case Twin Falls can look for no help from the sections which are not directly concerned in the south side route.

The tariff war goes merrily on with President Wilson seeming to hold the whip hand through the Federal patronage and the Republican Senators acting as thorns in the flesh of the Democratic majority. There seems to be no question but what President Wilson will get his way and a number of the crude products of the country are due for a body blow. So far, however, there has failed to develop anything in the Underwood bill that will hit the protected interests to any great extent. The Times believes that President Wilson is sincere in his belief that great relief will come from the tariff measure, but the Times also believes that little benefit will accrue to the consumers of the country through such reductions. The manufactured products which convert the free wool and other subjects in the new tariff bill to marketable condition will in no wise be affected, owing to the monopoly which has been in force for so many years and by which independent operation and manufacturing has been cut off altogether. It is a condition for which President Wilson is not to blame and one which he is powerless at present to overcome.

The report published in the San Francisco Chronicle regarding the building of the proposed branch of the Western Pacific into this city from Nevada, is bringing encouragement to the local boosters that out of the mass of "unhappy" tariffed country this section will eventually get its southern outlet. From the anxiety which the Short Line has shown in getting things shaped up for the Rogers extension there is reason to believe that it knows more of its rival's plans than does the public and that Twin Falls is apt to have two instead of one road to the southward, and on the map as a railroad center instead of a dead end at the end of a road. The news from Price, while as yet unconfirmed, has not been denied by the Western Pacific officials who would undoubtedly make vigorous denials unless there was some truth to the story printed. Twin Falls, however, should not lay down for a single moment in its boasting for another railroad and every effort should be made to get Louis Hill to keep his promise and visit this city. There should be a determined effort made to put in the tonnage of this tract, and at Contact to the North-western road which is coming through this state at some point. The principal idea is, keep Twin Falls and Twin Falls resources constantly hampered into the rather hard hands of the railroad magnates who control the future of western territory.

THE PRESIDENT'S WAR ON THE TARIFF LOBBY.

The deliberate and emphatic assertion of the President that "Washington has seldom seen so numerous, so industrious, or so invidious a lobby" as is now working against the Underwood Tariff Bill, is received here with approval, with incredulity. But it is accepted everywhere as a significant indication of the Administration's attitude toward changes or delays in the Democratic Congressional tariff program. Taking it in connection with President Wilson's earlier statement that he has taken his stand with the house leaders for the present bill, and is not looking for an acquiescent compromise, Washington correspondents view this "lobby warning" as a virtual announcement that he will veto a mutilated measure. That is, remarks the New York Evening Sun (Ind.), "President Wilson has not the slightest intention of going to Winona." While "everybody else admits the possibility, even the probability, of an error," Mr. Wilson does not, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, which adds, almost scornfully, that "he has taken a stand, and with the immobility of a titan-saurus he will keep it." But this very attitude commands itself to two New York papers which opposed Mr. Wilson's candidacy for the Presidency last fall. "By driving through his tariff measure," says The Press, which preferred Mr. Roosevelt, President Wilson "may be sure to respect him for having the same principles after he was elected as he said he had before he was elected, and for fighting for those principles in the White House—when members of his party seek to confound them and to repudiate their campaign pledges." And The Sun, whose predilection was for Mr. Taft, now declares itself "quite in agreement with the spirit" of the Wilsonian warning.

"The Senators opposed to the bill have a right to express their dissent in toto or in detail, but dilatory tactics, or talk only for political consumption, or obstructive enterprise, or filibustering of any sort against the Underwood Tariff Bill of 1913 is something which an overwhelming majority of the people of the United States are in no mood to tolerate; and it is just as well that the main fact should be understood with crystalline clearness at the Senate end of the Capitol."

The President's "demand for prompt and final action" opens with a reaffirmation of that reliance upon "publicity" which has been so notable a feature of his political acts. He says:

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertions being made by the lobby in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the Tariff Bill. Washington has seldom seen so numerous, so industrious, or so invidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with advertisements calculated to mislead not only the judgment of public men, but also the public opinion of the country itself. There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby, and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the Tariff Bill."

"It is of serious interest to the country that the people at large should have no lobby, and be voiceless in these matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interests of the public for their private profit. It is thoroughly wrong while the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check and destroy it."

The Government in all its branches ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden and this constant interruption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses, who would rejoice as much as I would to be released from this unbearable situation."

Without actually contradicting the President, the Boston Transcript (Rep.) reminds him that if he were not a new-comer, "he would not be astonished at the appearance of an enterprise lobby influence has been exerted. It is for 'access of activity' such as this 'have always attended the making of a tariff.' And the New York Times (Ind. Dem.) wonders if it may not be possible that "The President has mistaken for lobbying the ordinary, usual, and perfectly legitimate measures taken by protected interests to present their case to Congress. Washington is full of representatives of these interests whenever a tariff bill is under consideration, and sometimes it is to be feared that undue influence has been exerted. We should be inclined to doubt whether that is the case now. The command of the country that the tariff be reduced is unmistakable. It has been twice uttered, and every sensible man knows that whether the protected interests want it or not, the duties are going to be lower. The manufacturers must be very foolish to spend money without limit to oppose the irresistible will of the people. We hope Mr. Wilson will discover that the gentlemen who are asking such consideration at the hands of Congress in respect to the schedules that affect them are not so wicked, or so tight, as he takes them to be."

Even in the Senate, where the tariff fight is now on, Messrs. Oliver (Rep., Pa.), Burton (Rep., O.), and Warren

(Rep., Wyo.), as quoted in the New York Herald, have seen no evidence of activity in the lobby. Senator Randall (Dem., La.), who is fighting for a retention of the sugar duties, tells us that "there are no lobbyists" among his constituents. Senator Brandegee (Rep., Conn.) takes the opportunity for a little fling at the President, remarking that "the country ought to have realized before this that no one has any right to discuss the provisions of the Tariff Bill except the White House." Representatives of the wool, sugar and other industries now visiting Washington insist that the shoe does not fit them, and that their activities are entirely legitimate. The wool and sugar lobbies have been very busy, according to the New York Journal of Commerce—Washington correspondent, but they are spending their money in "information" and "enlightenment." This, he says, is just what Congress and the people want. "There is no complaint in Congress over the information left there," one of the lobby declared to exist. "The first real complaint has come from the American people." Finally, the Democratic New York Telegraph-tribune President Wilson that the Constitution "guarantees to every citizen the right of petition," and informs him that "the lobby is nothing more nor less than this right systematized."

THE RACE ISSUE IN THE JAPANESE PROBLEM.

The enactment of the Webb-Hoodgood Act has, in the opinion of most press commentators, enabled California to exclude the Japanese from land ownership without violating the treaty of 1911. Herein, and in passing the controversy entirely over to the Federal State Department, which must now defend California's action, Governor Johnson and the State legislature have admirably triumphed. But they are reminded by a Japanese lecturer in the University of Chicago that "they have now raised an issue which, we presume, the Californians are not much enamored of—the question of the naturalization of the Japanese." Japan being "in a way pushed to the wall," this writer says in a letter to the New York Times that "one can see no other recourse for her than to ask the American Government to grant to her subjects the right of naturalization accorded to Europeans, or to give her a satisfactory answer that her subjects shall not be discriminated against." So, despite the objections of some Washington correspondents that Japan will never take any move to assist her citizens to expatriate themselves, it seems to be generally understood among newspaper writers that Japan has now made the issue "one affecting her national pride and honor rather than the mere question of alleged violation of treaty rights." Mr. John Temple Graves even goes far as to inform readers of the Hearst papers of the "idea now generally entertained" in Washington "that Japan has from the beginning used this protest as a mere preliminary to a formal demand that its people should be eligible to citizenship." And it seems "more than likely" to the more conservative editor of the Philadelphia Record that "the purpose of the protest is to press the race issue to the front."

"The California demagogues had better have left well enough alone. They have made acute a controversy that lay dormant and would have remained so indefinitely."

The race issue has thus superseded the land question in journalistic discussions in both Japan and the United States. Tokyo dispatches tell of newspaper protests against "racial prejudice of the whites" and quote a declaration by Mr. Tokutomi, editor of the Kokumin, that "the white man's clique must be overthrown in the interest of Japan and in the interest of humanity."

Dr. John R. Mott, who only lately refused the post of Minister to China and who has just returned from a visit to Japan, where he talked with leaders of public opinion, says that "The Japanese, as a nation, want nothing more of us than a non-discriminatory attitude. They have no objection to the most rigid requirements laid for immigration as a naturalization; in fact, they have themselves some of the most drastic laws concerning the holding of property by aliens, but they do not want to be considered as a race inferior to the races of Southern and Eastern Europe whose immigrants we admit in such large numbers. They simply do not want to be discriminated against."

Dr. Mott, it should be added, in the course of a New York Tribune interview, warned Easterners that, the opening of the Panama Canal "will bring the question that is now bothering California right up to our Eastern ports." "So long as the American attitude excludes the Japanese from rights accorded to Europeans, so long," writes the New York Evening Post's Tokyo correspondent, "will there be trouble." "Personally," he continues:

"I may say that I have lived in various parts of Europe, in Canada, and in every part of the United States, including the most congested immigrant regions, both East and West, and I do not hesitate to say, after some years of residence in Japan, that the Japanese is more worthy of American citizenship than the average immigrant from Europe. It is a mistake to wait until Japan asks for the right of citizenship. I can scarcely conceive of the Japanese authorities ever taking an attitude that many could be sure to interpret as disloyal, at least, to national tradition. It is a matter that, so far as Japan is concerned, must be left to individual initiative; but it would be a just and gracious act if America could see her way to granting, without formal request, the same right to naturalization that she now concedes to nationals from Europe."

It need hardly be said that such a view is not fairly representative of newspaper opinion in this country. Says the New York American:

"Under existing economic and social conditions in this country, it is quite out of the question to open our doors to an unrestricted Oriental invasion. We can not possibly permit a horde of Japanese immigrants to become part and parcel of the American people."

"On this subject Americans are sure to be practically unanimous."

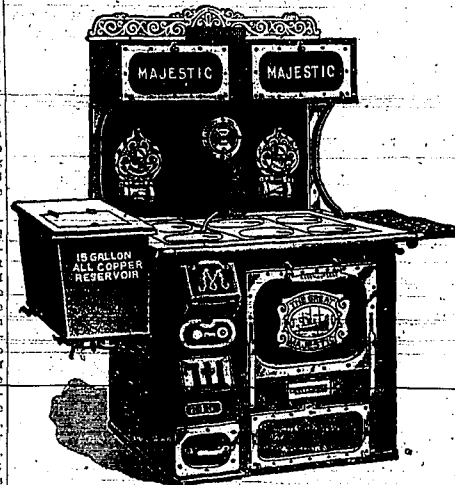

And with varying decisiveness and vigor of utterance we find such papers as the San Francisco Star, New York Times, Chicago Tribune and Inter Ocean, and St. Louis Globe-Democrat testifying to this practical unanimity. The Chicago Tribune, indeed, tries to convince the Japanese that exclusion from citizenship implies no inferiority, only essential difference in kind, "that the Oriental races might be excluded from citizenship with a full recognition of the eminence of their civilizations, of their great virtues." Quite, however, are more outspoken. The Newark Star, for instance, declares that we are really facing the much-talked-of "yellow peril," that this is not a Californian, or even an American, but a "world question." To the Oakland (Cal.) Enquirer's question, as to what Japan will do now, we find three suggested answers in the press. Suit may be brought in the United States courts to determine the validity of the California laws, or to fix the question of Japanese eligibility under our naturalization laws. Were the latter done, it would, in the New York Journal of Commerce's opinion, be a most desirable consummation. Or Japan might negotiate a new treaty with this country "increasing the opportunities of immigration and guaranteeing real property rights." But, says the Salt Lake Herald, "should the Administration endeavor to force the California situation by the formulation of a new compact, the Senate of the United States is there to prevent it." And the St. Louis Globe-Democrat is convinced that the Senate would do so. Then, if diplomacy fails, we read in the New York Tribune's Washington correspondence, obviously "Japan's only resort is to the Hague, under the provisions of the arbitration convention, which requires by limitation on August 24 next." To this we should object, protests The Army and Navy Journal (New York), which thinks that "the men at the Hague will be no better qualified to render a just decision on the points raised by the acts of the California Legislature than would be the people of the Western Continent to decide between the Turks and the Allies if the questions at issue between them were submitted to a tribunal made up of delegates from North and South America."

last Saturday night, who reported a most pleasant time. Mr. Shurman has changed his dates to every other Saturday, thereby giving everyone a chance to attend the Filer dances.
 It is first thought pleasure that the Journal is able to announce that Filer is to have a band once again. Monday night R. A. Nichols, the new leader, for about fourteen members of the old band together for practice. It is the intention of the new organization to hold regular weekly meetings and get in shape to give public concerts in the band stand, and the news that Mr. Nichols will be able to work the talent now here into a band is the best item in the Journal this week.
 Lots of whooping cough yet in circulation.
 The country certainly looks fine and dandy.
 Homegrown strawberries are on the market.
 Mrs. Corum is visiting relatives and friends here.
 Another nice shower yesterday helped to brighten up things.
 H. H. Schildman is shipping hops to the Portland market today.
 J. B. Fisher went over to Rogerson the first of the week to look after business matters.
 John Williams, an attorney from Twin Falls was transacting business in Filer Monday.
 The new scales put in on lower Main street by H. H. Schildman have been finished and are now ready for teams, wagons and all.
 Dan Connor is putting the roads on the Oregon Trail through his territory in fine shape for the automobile trip to Boise next week.
 H. J. Weaver moved here from Twin Falls the first of the week. These good people will find a royal welcome from their old friends.
 Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Allen will leave Monday evening to attend the state meeting of the O. E. S. to be held at Weiser, Idaho, June 10 to 13.
 L. T. Kelley has purchased the Joe Waters eighty adjoining him on the south. Consideration was $6,800.00. The deal was made by C. W. Case.
 No use to speak of the watermelon crop now. If you have neglected to plant when the planting was good, nothing that we do or say will help the cause along. To those who have the seed in the ground, see that they are properly cultivated and bring the first ripe one, to this office without fail.
 Houses are very scarce in Filer. There is not a vacant house in town. Mr. Shank, the new man at the Farmers Grain & Milling company, has had to take a house in Dubl. Fortunately the train run so he can come up early in the morning and leave about 7 o'clock in the evening. Just the same it is unhandy and he would prefer living in Filer.
 The Women's club will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. D. C. Connor. This will be the last meeting of the club year. On Tuesday evening June 17, the club members and their husbands will be entertained in the hall by Mrs. Tanner. A program will be presented, followed by a banquet, after which a number of the gentlemen will be called upon to respond to toasts.

 The city marshal has started a crusade against unlicensed dogs in this community. In other words he is conducting a massacre. If there is any "bull" in town that is not come under the lid of overproduction it is dogs. Let the good work go merrily on to the end that unlicensed and homeless dogs may be speedily exterminated.
 The bee inspector was around last week and it is reported that considerable foul brood was discovered. H. B. Walter and F. E. Allen were cited to appear at the court house Friday afternoon by the inspector. He claims that Mr. Walter was notified that his bees were affected with the disease and that he failed to destroy them. In Mr. Allen's case, we are informed, that the inspector found foul brood, and that he himself destroyed the hives. How he comes to charge Mr. Allen with any obstruction of the law is not stated. A hearing will be had tomorrow.

HEALTH AND HYGIENE.

Vital Statistics.

Idaho has a model law for the registration of births and deaths. Under this law the state is divided into registration districts each with a local registrar in charge.
 Physicians and midwives must report a birth to the registrar within ten days of its occurrence.
 Deaths must be reported by the undertaker or person acting as such. No body may be buried without first filing a death certificate and obtaining a burial permit.

If your doctor has not registered the birth, he has done your child an injustice which it may be impossible to remedy later.
 Breeders of fancy livestock are careful to have their animals recorded at birth. Idaho has done this for her babies. Surely they are as deserving of this consideration as is the pure bred beast of the farm.

Why Register Deaths?

1. That there may be available, complete and accurate information as to deaths of all human beings, with dates of death and causes of death, to the end that preventable causes of death may be eliminated and human lives lengthened.

2. That the various public health agencies—national, state and municipal—and the various private agencies for the prevention of disease may know the number of deaths that occur and thereby may operate intelligently.

3. That these agencies may determine what part of our mortality is preventable and when and where preventable deaths occur.

4. That pestilential and epidemic diseases may be detected promptly.

5. That we may apply our remarkable scientific knowledge of disease prevention intelligently at the time and in the place where such application is most needed.

6. That the success or failure of all measures attempted in the prevention of diseases may be accurately determined.

7. That individual cities and localities may learn their own health condition by comparison with the conditions of other communities and determine thereby the wise course of public health activity.

8. That housekeepers and immigrants may be guided in the selection of safe and healthful homes by accurate information rather than by misstatement of interested persons.

9. That the settlement of estates and matters of inheritance, pensions, etc., may be definitely settled by official record of death instead of on the memory of interested witnesses.

"It seems to me that there is almost nothing more important in the entire field of statistics than vital statistics because of their direct bearing upon the health and consequent welfare of the people."—B. H. Davis, Director of the Census, Washington, D. C.

Why Register Births?

1. That the birth, date of birth, parentage and other essential information for governmental and identification purposes may be made a matter of official record.

2. That the ages of school children may be definitely known, making the proper enforcement of school laws possible.

3. That prosecutions dealing with "age of consent" may be settled by record and not by conjecture.

4. That litigation in matters of inheritance and settlement of estates may be simplified by the definite knowledge of the ages of all persons concerned.

5. That the American-born children of foreign-born parents may have indisputable evidence of American birth—which will protect them from enforced military service when visiting the mother country of the parents.

6. That blindness may be prevented by prompt medical attention to the infected eyes of the new-born.

7. That infection and mortality among women may be prevented and that young babies may be saved by immediate attention by existing agencies for the relief of the poor.

8. That the children's Bureau of the United States Government may become effective and may carry out the duties imposed upon it by Congress.

Death registration without birth registration is like an accurate accounting of expenditures without consideration of income.
