ELECTRIC AUTOS POPULAR

Popularity of These Vehicles Increasing

Ten years ago a man who owned an electric vehicle was looked upon with pity and was considered an having in his possession an expensive toy. To-day the quietest way for a woman to excite the envy of an entire community is to purchase an electric coupe. Ten years ago what few electric trucks were in operation would hardly propel themselves and their trailers 50 miles per day, ruminating over a pair of horses. The economy of the electric truck compels progressive merchants to purchase them in lots of from ten to 100.

This wonderful advance in popularity is perfectly natural and is not due to the glittering advertisements of vendors of electric cars but to actual performance. What car can compare with the electric coupe in cleanliness, comfort and simplicity? Not even the latest of the self-starting gas cars, where one has to push a button or two, throw a clutch, then adjust gasoline and spark and shift off.

Another great argument in favor of electric transportation is found in the fact that the cost of electricity has during the past few years gradually been reduced by successive stages from 20 cents per kilowatt-hour, until now large users are able to get their electric energy for five cents, and in some cases as low as three cents. During this time the cost of gasoline has steadily risen from fifteen cents a gallon to eighteen cents, stopping only a few weeks at 20 cents, and is now generally quoted at 25 cents, with a good prospect of a still further rise in price.

GROOMING THE HORSE

A New Use for the Vacuum Cleaner

A reader of this magazine after having experimented with several different machines for grooming a horse has settled upon the vacuum cleaner as the most practicable. A carry-over and brush will only take the larger particles of dirt and dust and the smaller particles cannot be brushed out. The operation of the machine for this purpose is simple, all the work required being to hold the nozzle of the cleaner about an inch from the horse's coat. If the nozzle is held too close it will cause an uncomfortable pulling of the hair. When the horse is covered with a thick coat of mud, a carry-over must be used to break it up a little. —Electric Journal.

USE MORE ELECTRICITY

Cheapsness Will Come With Increased Use

The greatest economy of electricity "cheapsness" is still to come! Consumers have not fully realized that the more purposes they put it to, the more current consumed, just as much less expensive becomes the cost of production—and ultimately the cost of current.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERING

Electricity on Farms Important Present Day Development

The rapidly increasing use of electricity in agriculture is one of the most important developments now taking place in this country. The benefits which will result will not alone affect the farmer, but, greatly increasing the agricultural output, will be of vast consequence to the city dweller. A motor of even diminutive size does the work of a man at far less expense, while larger units economically supplant farm draft animals, whose consumption of farm produce is of itself an enormous item. Thus in supplying the agricultural output, electricity has a most profound effect upon agriculture since agricultural demands a great amount of labor as compared with the skill involved.

The use of electricity for light, heat and power, it being the only medium so adaptable, means far more than mere saving and convenience, for it has the effect of making hours of labor on the farm uniform and so direct the farmer that farm life becomes sufficiently attractive to stay the drift to the cities.

The electrification of farms is being greatly stimulated by the practice by central station companies in running feed branches to the farms from their main transmission systems, and by a greater attention to the subject on the part of consulting engineers who are placed to the best advantage to advise the farmer of the kind of machinery and equipment which will give him the most economical results.

Electric farming is long past the experimental stage, and the farmer to-day who is not alive to its advantages is losing money. —Frank Koester.

BALTIMORE PURIFIES WATER

New Electric Sterilizing Plant Installed

Baltimore is one of the first cities in the United States to adopt the electrical method for sterilizing the city water supply.

Purifying water by means of ozone gas has been found to be a quick and efficient way, and for large quantities, such as a city supply, the saving of space occupied by the plant and the easy installation are in its favor.

Ozone is a powerful deodorizer and purifier of either air or water, it quickly unites with any dangerous organic substance and reduces it to harmless water or ash. This installation is one of the first in this country, but ozone has been extensively used for the sterilization of water supplied in Europe for several years and with great success. Foremost among these installations may be mentioned the cities of St. Petersburg, Paris, Chemnitz, Nice, Madrid, Milan and Barcelona. Extensive plants are also in operation in other cities. St. Petersburg will increase that of its plant in an expenditure of $2,500,000. The advantages of this method are obvious, particularly in low cost of operation, simplicity and the total absence of poisonous residue or taste.

THE TOASTER STOVE'S MISSION

The Use of This Appliance Is a Great Convenience

Fresh, crisp, golden-brown toast! Does it not convey a pleasant suggestion to the palate? Is there any other form in which bread is served that will equal it? Is there anything that gives as much satisfaction as toast? For toast appears in so many forms and has become the necessary accompaniment of so many delicious dishes. We could hardly do without it. To make toast in the dining room on the table so that it can be served fresh and crisp is my mission.

My name is electric toaster-stove. I might be taken for a five-pound candy box, if I were not made of metal, finished in highly-polished nickel and did not have four legs and a mouth. My place is right on the breakfast table close to the lady of the house. A warm friendly smile greets us up between us and from the time I make my first appearance at the table my position is secured. She takes interest in having the meal served in its best form and when she discovers how well I prepare the important part for which I was intended, she gives me her full attention. I require, she finds me indispensable. She likes to have me on the table, because it is as great a pleasure for her to serve the good toast that I make as it is for other members of the family to eat it.

My important mission—my reason for existence—is my electric heating element. This is just a series of metal strips that give off heat when the current flows. The lady puts a cord from an electric outlet into my mouth and before she knows it, I'm hot—just hot enough to make perfect toast.

COST OF OPERATING DEVICES

Table Showing Low Costs of Operating Electrical Appliances.

The following table compiled by the National Electric Light Association, serves to show how inexpensive the operation of domestic heating and cooking devices, which are now widely used. Usually, it is more than understood that the cost will vary in different localities according to the rate charged for electric current. The present rate of ten cents per kilowatt-hour was used in computing this table:

Device	Cents per hour
Chaffing dishes	1.2 to 2.0
Clear lighters	0.75
Coffee percolators	1 to 1.4
Flatiron (3 lb.)	2.75
Flatiron (4 lb.)	3.5
Heating pads	0.5
Nursery milk warmers	4.5
Radiators	7 to 60
Shaving mugs	1.5
Stoves (4 1/2 to 12 inches)	0.5 to 1.3
Tonsters (5 in. by 12 in.)	3.5 to 5.5
Tonsters (12 in. by 18 in.)	5 to 15
Waffle irons (waffles)	7.5

SEWING BY MOTOR POWER

Sewing Machine Work Made Easy With Electric Motor.

The sewing machine will do practically everything that an expert sewer by hand can do, but it will not run itself. To get the very best service out of a sewing machine it is necessary to drive it by mechanical power, and for this purpose the tiny electric motor has no equal. It is small, convenient, perfectly clean, and will run the sewing machine four hours for a cent's worth of current.

Very few women are really clever with the needle and not a few find it difficult to do good work on the sewing machine when they have to pedal it with the foot. It is quite a difficult task to keep the feet and hands employed at the same time. It requires considerable practice and experience and at best is tiresome. Nearly every woman has the desire to make her own clothes and to do so some extent independent of the dressmaker. Usually she can devote but a short part of the day to sewing, because of the press of other household work. It is important that the sewing machine be in excellent running order, and where it is driven by an electric motor it will sew faster and better and give the operator a chance to do better work with her hands and head.

It looks easy to see a woman guiding the cloth under the needle and pedaling the machine at top speed, but, in reality, it is weary work and sure to tire one out very quickly. A quarter of a cent an hour is so cheap that it hardly pays to pedal a sewing machine at all if there is any large amount of sewing to be done.

On all of Your Printed Matter, it represents Good Workmanship, Good Wages, and Good Conditions.

There is need for the annual caution against the flies in this city and the ordinance is urged to help the city authorities in seeing that the sanitary conditions recently passed be strictly observed. Every citizen should see that a tightly covered garbage can be placed at the rear of his property and that the fly drawing garbage is always placed in it. If your neighbor is neglecting such precaution he is making your own precautions of no avail and for your own self protection and the welfare of the city you should report such neglect to the city authorities. There is no question about the better sanitary conditions in this city and the scarcity of the flies, but it should be kept in mind that just one fly kept place in each block will allow a reversion to the old order of things when the flies were uncontrolled and regarded as a part of a modern civilization. For your own safety aid the city in its effort to keep this city clean and healthful.

The results of the fight put up by the Southern Idaho and Utah good roads delegates at Boise, while ending in a temporary defeat in the struggle for the offices in the International Good Roads association, have been great. In the first place it has lined up a good, strong boosting force with a united front to get the Oregon Trail improved as a direct highway and puts behind the movement of the people of two states. In the second place it has shown to the enemies of the state highway through this section that it will have to produce something more than political buncombe as an excuse to route the highway through the mountain passes to the north. While the state highway commission is supposed to be non-partisan it is nevertheless true that its appointment places it under obligation to certain parties of the state who are fighting this route through the Snake river valley. The strong fight put up by the boosters of this section will do much to warn the commission of the danger politically of affronting this big political factor.

MUTTERINGS OF A "SILENT PANIC"

The lightning of money, the gradual decline in stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the last nine months, and the difficulty lately experienced in floating bond issues, indicate a condition in our finance which the New York World calls a "silent panic." The underlying cause, according to a New York Sun writer, is simply that "at present there is not enough money in the world to supply the wants of the borrowers." That is, "available supplies of capital are insufficient to provide for all the financing that borrowing governments, municipalities, states, colonies, and corporations have undertaken." Wall Street, explain several editors, suffers most because of foreign influences. For it is impossible, declares the New York World, to attribute the "silent panic" to home affairs.

"The crop outlook has rarely ever been better than now. Speculative excesses have been absent. Surplus bank resources are unusually large. Business long since accepted the popular decree that legitimate money must come, and is active accordingly. The number of people who have so misinterpreted history or so misinterpreted knowledge as to believe that panics and hard times are inseparable from any tariff reduction is now com paratively small.

"Wall Street has had its silent panics before, and under the highest of tariffs. But it has never had such a long period of quietness and confidence as it has now.

And The Sun, in a leading editorial, after dismissing a number of popular explanations of the stories of hard times tells us that "What is going on in Wall Street is primarily the reflection of Europe's need for money." Similar conditions prevailing in London are explained by the editor of the London Statist as due to the fact that whereas investors in America, France, and Germany have of late years subscribed huge amounts for new enterprises, "since the war in the Balkans these countries appear to have lost their nerve." That means that "borrowers have had to resort to the London market to an almost unprecedented extent. But all the world, according to The Economist, "is overladen and overburdened," and all the great financial centers are feeling the strain. Many recent loans have been underwritten and left largely on the hands of the underwriters. London underwriters, The Sun hears, "have agreed to discourage further bond issues until the present surplus is absorbed and the congestion in the investment market reduced." Wars and rumors of wars, with expensive military programs, have had their influence, but after all, thinks The Sun, the trouble is that the bond market is oversupplied.

"Under the tremendous outpouring of bonds of all varieties, interest rates have been driven down, and investment capital commands a higher price and is worth more the world over. The reactionary tendencies of investment markets everywhere are favorable to this influence. All alike are feeling the effects of a world-wide credit strain, of the state of saturation in the market for capital. In time no doubt the situation will change, but in banking circles it is believed that the change can be brought about only by enforced economy, for at present there is not enough money in the world to supply the wants of borrowers."—Literary Digest.

CONTACT THREATENS BOYCOTT

Failure to Secure Shipment at Rogerson Leads to Instance of Proclamation.

Contact is mad and threatens retaliation. The delivery of liquor consigned to Rogerson for Contact has been refused in accordance with orders received from O. S. L. agents under the new national and state laws pertaining to prohibition territory. One exaggerated feature of the situation seems to be that a shipment of wet goods arrived at the terminal city the day before the law went into effect, and so, naturally, but unfortunately, could not get it. Hence the following proclamation, which was printed across a page in large type in a recent issue of the Contact Miner.

Contact Repudiates the Dry Territory. There has been much speculation as to the outcome of the Webb liquor law, and a feeling of resentment is expressed against the dry territory. To the north of us and it is not at all probable that this feeling will take on the form of a boycott and may extend to mercantile lines and banks. Our people feel that the railroad should be allowed to deliver wet goods and our freight teams when such goods are billed through to Contact. The law says no; and in the meantime our people are setting their traps and waiting for the day when they can murder and refuse to do business with those in the dry territory. Liquor shipments are being routed to Wells, and other goods will soon be coming that way. Freighting outfits are being pulled off from Rogerson and headed for the southward. Nevada for Nevada!—Hollister Herald.

NEW CONVENTION
BUTTE, MONTANA

vention held all further action until 9 o'clock at night.

Yells of "that don't go here, just because it goes in the legislature," and shouts of "No" came from all over the theater, and delegates explained

the two-thirds of them would be away from Boise by 9 o'clock and could not vote.

"I did not understand this," said

Senator Macbeth, "and will withdraw my motion."

Commissioner Gibson of Fremont

county called attention to the possibility of traveling by automobile from

Utah and Idaho to Butte and urged the convention be held there.

Former Governor Gooding and a number of others made earnest pleas for holding the convention at Butte.

After a lengthy parliamentary discussion the matter finally ruled that the motion before the house was that the convention in 1914 go to Provo.

A delegate from the northern end of state promptly offered a substitute motion that the convention go to Butte. This motion was put.

All members and delegates were invented to vote by standing, and former

Governor Gooding, Professor Jensen

and Eugene Herli were appointed as clerk. Their work was necessary, however, since the affirmative vote plainly showed a majority of those in favor of Butte. At this point the Utah delegation and the delegation from Twin Falls, Hagerman and others who had sided with Provo rose to their feet. When the motion

Neph withdrew the name of the Utah

and offered a motion that a union committee be organized to send 200

delegates to Montana next year.

Jesse Jewkes of Utah, as the crowd begun to thin out, offered a motion declaring it to be the sense of the meeting that all present remain until the delegates were transported, regardless of whether they miscare train or not. His motion was passed by unanimous vote, but gradually the delegates left the hall and the meeting ended.

The report of the resolutions committee was adopted and Senator Macbeth, as chairman of the committee on organization, recommended to President Dr. McCalla of Boise, and for secretary J. David Larson of Oc-lahoma, and for former Lieutenant Governor Sweetser promptly nominated

J. Sweeney of Twin Falls. Addresses of the candidates were made and high tributes were paid to both.

Another struggle as to parliamentary procedure ensued. The convention voted first Mr. McCalla to stand and then for Sweeney. Before the vote was announced Mr. Sweetser withdrew the name of Senator Macbeth

and the motion was made.

By this time the attendance was materially less and when the vote was announced, the secretary was cast only 121 delegates voted. Of this number, 71
