Straight Statement From O-S-L
Official

REASONS FOR DELAYED CONSTRUCTION MADE PUBLIC.

Denies Any Connection With Boise-Winnemucca Paper Railroad Now Building.

The Oregon Short Line has no intention of building a railroad from Boise to Winnemucca or from Twin Falls to Boise, according to the statement made by W. H. Bancroft, general manager of the Oregon Short Line. This information has reached Boise railroad men in a copy of a letter to M. J. Sweeney of Twin Falls by the Oregon Short Line head. It bears out the claims of those who are active in the promotion of building the Winnemucca route, both independent of each other.

The authentic reports received here, however, from Twin Falls are to the effect the business men there are attempting to set behind an entirely new railroad, to be known as the Idaho-California, to connect Twin Falls by rail with Los Angeles. It is even proposed to extend the new line from Twin Falls north to Montana to secure northern connections for the trunk line. The route proposed is as follows:

From Los Angeles over the Santa Fe to Ludlow, where connection is made with the Tonopah & Tidewater railway for Tonopah, Nev. From Tonopah to Elko, a distance of 187 miles, a railway survey has been made, and is a route well adapted for railway construction. At Elko connection is made with the Nevada Northern for Cozart on the Western Pacific, a distance from Elko of 140 miles. From Cozart to Twin Falls, a distance of 130 miles, a line has been ascertained that can be constructed quickly and easily. By this route the distance between Twin Falls and Los Angeles would be 314 miles, and would give a direct outlet to the coast.

Through Twin Falls men now in Los Angeles, and who are well acquainted with the Twin Falls country, the proposition of the new route is being presented to the general board and board of trade of Los Angeles.

General Manager Bancroft's letter to Senator Sweeney of Twin Falls, containing a report published about the Twin Falls-Boise extension, copies of which have been received here, follows:

"I wish to thank you for your favor of June 21, enclosing clipping from a local newspaper of an article, presumably from San Francisco, about plans of the Oregon Short Line to build from Twin Falls to Boise and thence to Winnemucca, etc. Your letter reached me at Omaha this morning as I am en route home after an absence of some three weeks in New York. I can say emphatically that there is no connection whatever for the state's benefit in the newspaper article referred to. We have no plans or intentions whatever of building a line from Twin Falls to Boise and thence to Winnemucca, for that matter.

"As you of course know, we have plans for extending the Oregon branch to a connection with the Central Pacific and I had confidently hoped and expected the same to be accomplished before this date. This proposition, however, has been unavoidably delayed pending outcome of the merger dissolution. Our people have not had time to give this matter the consideration they would had not their time been so fully occupied with the very important merger case, and that substantially represents the sole reason for the delay.

"I am greatly in hopes that conditions shortly will be more favorable for construction of this extension south; but just at this time I am sorry to say that I can give you nothing definite concerning it.

"Very truly yours,
"W. H. BANCROFT."

AN IRISH PICNIC

Held at the Upper Salmon Falls Sunday, June 13.

A jolly party of young folks left this city Sunday morning at seven o'clock bound for the Upper Salmon Falls in the ten passenger $2500 car of the 1913, which they spent the day hunting and fishing. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. M. E. O'Donell, who proved to be the best chaperon ever. The trip was made in about two hours and a half. When they were climbing the grade near the ferry, something happened to the car and the party was compelled to walk about a mile to the picnic grounds. On reaching the picnic grounds a ten-course picnic dinner was served. About the balance of the day was spent in hunting and fishing. The return trip was made without mishap, arriving in Twin Falls between two and three o'clock Monday morning. Following are those who attended the picnic: Mrs. Danahy, Miss Carrie Rice, Mrs. Alice Schreffel, Miss Gene Schreffel, Miss Donna Jordan, Messrs. McClary, Pat Murphy, Jack O'Brien, P. J. Hurley, Leland Hurst and Joe Hyer.

GREAT RUSH TO PARK

300 Passengers' Pass Through Pocatello Gateway Wednesday.

Another record was smashed this morning when the Short Line Railroad company unloaded 300 passengers at Yellowstone station, the western entrance to Yellowstone park. The high record for this year was established yesterday morning, when 350 tourists passed through the western station. The regular park train which passes through Pocatello last night consisted of 11 cars and carried 132 passengers. Running as a second record, it was the first time since the inauguration of S. J. Ruddy and carrying 75 teachers and students from the Southern Methodist university.

Chicago Athletics will pass out to the park through the Pocatello gateway—Pocatello Tribune.

PLEASED WITH SEED FARM

Heavy Stockholder Visits the Local Project.

State Treasurer O. V. Allen was a visitor in this city last Thursday as the guest of his brother, H. P. Allen. While here Mr. Allen visited the two big projects in the county, the Idaho Seed Farm company near the city of Hottelville and Buhl and inspected the work being done to bring the land under merced and stock raising. Under the company the state treasurer stated to the Times that he found everything in splendid shape and that he considered the project a good one and rolling into good shape. It is the intention of the manager to put in the first crop next spring on the two ranches, amounting to 450 acres.

FROM CAREY ACT TO DESERT LAND

For Benefit of Settlers on Poor Lands of Tract

LAND BOARD AUTHORIZES CHANGE ON SALMON RIVER PROJECT.

Board, However, Declines to Will Not Make Practice of Such Authorization.

At a meeting of the state land board on Thursday permission was granted to several settlers and land owners on the Twin Falls-Salmon River Land and Water reclamation project to have their water rights from Carey act lands to desert entries. This was in cases where the settlers discovered they held poor Carey act land and felt they could better themselves by making the transfer of their water rights to desert claims. But the board decided it would not allow in granting permission for transfers of this kind in the future. It was decided preference would be given to actual settlers on the land to those who had purchased relinquishments for speculative purposes. If actual settlers can demonstrate to the board that it is to their advantage to make a change of this kind, permission will be granted; but such permission will never be given in the future except in case of actual settlers. S. D. Taylor, the Carey act agent, presented a rule covering this ground and it was adopted by the board.

It was pointed out the water supply on this project was none too great. The Carey act settlers in the summer of 1911 and an attempt was made to raise crops this year, but the service was unsatisfactory and the crops were not a success. Under the rule they would have but three years for making final proof from the date of the board's revocation of water to the land board decided to eliminate that first year altogether and start in with April 1, 1912, and give them three full years from that date in which to make their improvements and submit their final proof.

S. D. Taylor, the Carey act agent, said that the board's decision was a study of conditions on this Salmon river project, was before the board at last morning and afternoon sessions to assist the board in its deliberations.—Statesman.

SWATTED COYOTE WITH CLUB

Domesticated Chicken Impaled Visitor's Jumping Anvil.

Twenty-five spring chickens cost a coyote his life Sunday night at the chicken camp belonging to Mr. F. H. Morgan. When the stray from the place braved attempted to jump a fence easily neglected in his more agile movements, but failed owing to over weight of toothsome springers. Attracted to the chicken coop in the middle of the night, the coyote found a second avenue north, found his camp resembling the shambles and a live coyote as a cause of the havoc, vainly attempted to escape. Seizing a stout club, the brave chicken owner soon laid a dead coyote and his pet to rest. The coyote was killed and partly eaten by the midnight visitor. Greed for the succulent young fry alone can be said to have caused the coyote to overrate his wits and overestimate his athletic ability.

JARBIDGE NEWS

Jarbridge, Nev., July 8, 1913.

A more elaborate, perhaps, but no more expensive celebration was held on the Fourth of July than at Jarbridge. Everybody in camp participated and a number from other places were present. The sports were enjoyed in the afternoon, and in the evening the concert and dancing gave entertainment to all. Mrs. Cook and her party were among the hardest workers for the success of the affair. Only one untoward incident occurred. Some miscreant stole the ice cream—but that's another story.

In the afternoon races the following were winners: Jack's foot race, Jay Staley; potato race, Clarence Kittling; boys' race (under nine), Will Staley; girls' race (under nine), Frances Staley; boys' race (under fifteen), Scott Plummer; girls' race (under fifteen), Dorothy Middleton; ladies' race, Jack Goodwin; slow horse race, Ed Pedersen; horse race, "Nugget," owned by Mrs. Roy Cook; the pony race wound up in a free for all and no decision was rendered. The evening concert was a hit. Mrs. Cordell, a talented singer, rendered several classical vocal selections that were splendid. Mrs. Woodwin and Mrs. Martin sang character songs that were much enjoyed. Billy Blackley and Charley Harris also contributed a very large share to the success of the evening.

The Jarbridge Commercial club held their annual picnic and social at the following officers for the ensuing year were chosen: Frank Middleton, president; J. T. McCormick, vice president; J. S. Silver, secretary; Chas. J. Nelson, treasurer; N. L. Hildebrand, Geo. Strobel, Wm. Schopke, Heber Lewis and James Duncan, directors.

Charlie Howard, the sheep man, spent the Fourth in camp and, before leaving, purchased the riding horse owned by Mrs. Roy Cook.

Cornwall Smith arrived from Mian, Nev., last week. Daniel Goughler, commonly known as "Denty," left last week for Buhl, Idaho. Tom McDonald drove the mail stage Friday. Saturday the city for low Bart Billingsly to attend the Fourth of July festivities in camp. Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay spent the Fourth with Mrs. Perry Freeman at Warm Springs. A. D. George and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fry are en route from the Craters to spend the Fourth.

IDAHO'S PLACE IN ELECTRICAL WORLD

Ranks First in Nation as to Use

DEVELOPMENTS HERE WATCHED BY LARGE POWER CENTERS.

More Electrically Heated Homes and More Appliances Used Than Large Eastern Cities.

Though one of the youngest states in the Union and perhaps the latest to undertake extensive electrical development, Idaho is coming to be known all over the world for its wonderful water power developments and for the giant strides it has taken in bringing about the general adoption and use of electricity in all branches of the industrial and home life of its citizenry.

The application of electric power to the reclamation of semi-arid lands by means of large and numerous irrigation pumping plants has been brought about very extensively in Southern Idaho. The fact that an enormous surplus of power becomes available each winter, on account of its non-use for irrigation purposes during that season, has made it possible to utilize electricity for general household and industrial heating purposes on a very extensive scale. It is, in fact, beyond question that Idaho is being reclaimed and more general heating is being done in Idaho through the agency of electric power, than anywhere else in the world. Notable examples of the application of electricity for heating purposes are the high school building at Mountain Home, Idaho, and the General Hospital at Twin Falls, Idaho. The former is a large, forty-five-room building, and is heated throughout by means of well-distributed radiators. The latter is a large structure, in which an electric water heater has been substituted for the furnace in the ordinary hot water heating system. The former makes use of a 150 kilowatt installation and the latter requires a 60 kilowatt installation. Each has proved entirely satisfactory after one year's operation.

Electric cooking also is becoming more and more prevalent in Southern Idaho. The domestic electric range with two hundred complete electric range installations in operation on both domestic and industrial purposes are using electricity entirely for cooking purposes. The subtle fluid is being utilized extensively for heating water for domestic and industrial purposes, for the bath, and for the various ordinary purposes.

Many of the houses that have been built in Idaho are being equipped with electricity being relied upon entirely for lighting, heating and cooking services. The domestic electric range is not equipped with one or more electrically operated heating, cooking, or labor-saving devices is really an exception.

All this wonderful development is in a new and rapidly growing country, where the most extensive growth has taken place during the past five years. What the future of Southern Idaho will be from an electrical standpoint only can be imagined by considering

LAMP-CANDLEPOWER

Exact Candlepower Desired Should be Procured.

Strange as it may seem there are thousands of people who do not know that incandescent lamps can be selected in almost any candlepower desired. They accept whatever is given them and pay whatever is asked without a question. More than half the time a complaint for excessive cost of electric lighting is traceable directly to lamps of too high candlepower for the light required. That cost mounts up in direct ratio with the increase of candlepower is shown by the fact that an eight candlepower Mazda lamp with burn for the house for a total cost of but ten cents, where the rate is ten cents a unit. A 25 candlepower lamp on the same circuit would burn only 40 hours for ten cents and a 25 candlepower but 25 hours for ten cents. It is evident that over-exercising a little judgment in selection of lamps is saving may be made.

The marvelous attainments that all roads have been brought about in so short a time. While the population of Idaho has not yet comparatively nearly doubled but a few hundred thousand, its total area is several millions of acres greater than the combined area of New York and Pennsylvania. Its natural resources are unlimited, and will eventually be the means of providing a livelihood for millions of people. The marvelous possibilities of Southern Idaho for water power development and its capacity for supporting the rapidly increasing population, will result in the growth of this great commonwealth from an electrical standpoint on a scale that has never before been heard of.

The Kuhn interests of Pittsburgh have aided and assisted in carrying forward by far the greater portion of this wonderful electrical development, and the successful culmination of the great results that are being made possible of accomplishment must be attributed eventually to their worthy endeavors.

Make the benefits of electricity YOURS. Prosperity rides on a wire.

NEW-PSALM COMPOSED

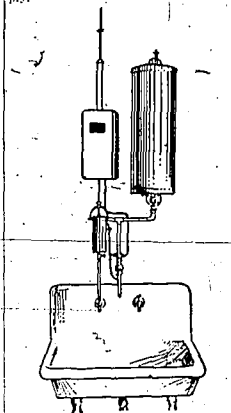

Woman Makes Song of Praise to Servant.

Some woman who has found a solution to the hard work of living has at last found time to pour out her soul in psalms in honor of her chief assistant. ELECTRICITY is my servant; it doeth my work. It enableth me to take mine ease. I can sleep in the morning. I hold the service in my hand. I control it with my finger tips. It maketh the coffee in the percolator. It heateth the water for my husband's shave. It cleaneth my rug and my carpets, the walls of my house, and all of my furniture. It washeth my clothes. It keepeth my clothes. It carleth my hair. My house would be incomplete without it. Yes, I leave the home at nine in the morning to go on a shopping expedition. In an hour I return at six in the evening more refreshed. My electric fireless cooker doeth it. The clock attachment manageth the cooking. By night it showeth me my way with its light. It keepeth me from dark places and bad bruises. At night it warmeth the milk for the babe in the milk warmer. Yes, I sit up of nights to read by its light I would not be without it at twice the price. (The Silk Cord)

WATER PURIFIED AT HOME

Sterilizing Plant Attached to Kitchen Faucet.

A means to sterilize water as it flows from the faucet has been found which, no doubt, will become very popular. A small ozonizing machine is attached to the faucet in such a way that the water passes through the ozonizer. These machines are made in sizes to attach to an ordinary kitchen faucet or larger to be placed in the basement or elsewhere in apartment houses to act upon the entire water supply before it enters the distribution pipes. Scientists say that with one of these electric sterilizers attached to every faucet, people can forget the bug and cry so frequently raised in every city about disease germs in the water supply.

Electric Water Purifier.

A wall switch is easier to find than a watch.

BILLS FOR CURRENT

Summer and Winter Bills Differ.

The electric bill is often one of the most interesting pieces of "monthly literature" which many families receive, and there is a great deal of speculation leveled at it as to what brought it up to here or what kept it down to there. The most potent factors affecting the up or down of the electric bill are seasons and lamps.

A noticeable decrease is always registered in the amount of billing which dwindled down to a minimum as the longer days of summer advanced.

The effect which lamps have upon the electric bill is just as noticeable as is that of summer and winter to those who have changed from the old style electric lamps to the power, more economical ones.

Last winter one family who had been using the same size of lamp in the basement and the attic and the closets as they did in the kitchen and parlor dome a general survey of the premises, and substituted the smaller size Mazda lamps wherever they would answer for the light needed.

A 25-watt lamp was found to suffice in the basement and attic and 25-watt lamps in the closets.

Don't guess the lighting company when your bills come in, anyway, but until you're asked for the trip cause.

Electricity, the power key to all problems. Nothing succeeds like electricity.

DRESSMAKING SIMPLIFIED

Easy Running Makes Easy Sewing.

If there is one thing of the year when the household sewing books larger than in another time, it must be at the beginning of summer when we are retouching with towels and sheets and maybe rehemming worn curtains and think of the plain summer waists and dresses that could be made if there was more time or if it was not such hard work. How long does it take to make an ordinary dress? An ordinary house sewer does very well indeed if she makes one in a day. A great many people would give up at this rate even at this rate it means a whole day's intermittent-peddling of the sewing machine, and this overhauling peddling is not the best part of it either. The greatest improvement which has been made on the sewing machine is the motor and will run the sewing machine entirely by electric power. It has been calculated that the electric motor for running the sewing machine takes off only two-thirds of the work of machine sewing. Factories have long since taken up the electric motor for sewing purely for the amount of time it saves. It really seems strange that so many women who really have a considerable amount of sewing to do year in and year out do not begin to notice the small motor which can be attached to any sewing machine. The household size costs from ten to twenty-five dollars and costs about one cent an hour to run. I consider the electrically operated sewing machine as great an advantage over the foot-power machine as the latter is over hand peddling. I would no longer think of doing without my electric seamstress than I would of doing without a sewing machine at every stage. —Mrs. Mary Mary Mortimer.

Health and sanitary cleanliness demand that upholstery and bedding should have this kind of treatment at least once a week. When smooth add gradually a cup and a half or two cups according to size of your pan of milk. Stir well thickened to prevent lumps. Put into the white sauce thus made a cupful of chicken cut in cubes, a little celery and two cups of mushrooms or sweet peppers cut in strips. Use the water pan to prevent scorching. Let the mixture cook about fifteen minutes. Season with salt and pepper. This is nice served with rice boiled in plenty of water and simply salted. Make a nest of the hot rice and put the chicken on top. This makes a delicious dish for Sunday supper or after the theatre.

Every time a man of prominence gets full of booze and oases trouble during his crazy spell there is the general tendency on the part of the press to overlook such conduct and keep silent. So much has the custom grown that it is generally expected that newspapers shall remain silent over the escapades of prominent citizens when under the influence of liquor. The Times has followed the general custom to a great extent, believing that lapses from ordinary good conduct were rare and that publicity usually hurts the dignity of the man more than the real culprit. However, after considerable observation along this line the Times is forced to admit that the only effect apparent from the policy of silence is the idea of the culprit that silence gives approval. Hereafter it will be the policy of this paper to give publicity to the affairs of such people after the first offense with the idea that fear of publicity may work a reformation where silence and the respect for the culprit's feelings have no lasting impression. The man who uses booze knowing it he does so knowing that it steals his reason and judgment and thus tacitly admits that he cares more for liquor than he does for the self-respect of his fellow citizens. It is perfectly logical reasoning.

The general mix-up of the Department of Justice with Attorney General

McReynolds over the California white slavery cases in which the president's chief of sides with his cabinet officer although ordering speedy prosecution, is being made a choice morsel by the more active political sheets of the country who are questioning both President Wilson's and the Attorney General's motives in the matter. The Times believes that President Wilson has struck one of the wisest of the administration and that he made his first mistake in just the same way that Taft made his most fatal blunder in refusing to put Hallenbeck out of his cabinet at the time of the Glavin-Planchon controversy. If McReynolds was guilty merely of a blunder as the president by the action intimates and which is probably true, there is still room for doubt on the part of political newspapers and the mistake will soon up larger with the coming months of political turmoil. President Wilson has expressed his confidence in McReynolds, although rescinding his action. He should now get rid of a weak man in a very important position. For just as soon as the vested powers know the Attorney General's weak spot they will practically offset his usefulness in that department.

BREAK-UP OF THE HARRIMAN SYSTEM

Eminent authorities to the contrary, it would still seem that corporate eggs may sometimes be uncrackable, and also recombined. For the final decree, on June 30, dissolving the twelve-year-old Harriman merger of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads, satisfies equally the federal department of justice, the railroad attorneys and officials, and most newspaper commentators. Furthermore, the final act of dissolution is looked upon by some as a first act in the formation of a new combination. The plan, finally adopted after many propositions and suggestions, proposes, according to the dispatches, "that the Union Pacific shall exchange $38,000,000 of its $126,000,000 holdings in the Southern Pacific for the Pennsylvania Railroad's entire holdings in the Baltimore and Ohio" (valued at $20,000,000), and that the remaining $38,000,000 shall be sold to the general public through the Central Trust Company of New York. This means, according to the Washington Times, that "two transcontinental systems will emerge, in place of two alliances of powerful parallel systems, one in the east and the other in the west." Though the New York Journal of Commerce sees at present no special reason why the Union Pacific should acquire a large interest in the Baltimore and Ohio, it says that the holdings now acquired by the Atlantic coast with the lines to the Pacific coast. Something similar might be said of the Pennsylvania's acquiring a substantial interest in the Southern Pacific, and already there has been talk of its obtaining control of the Louisville and Nashville, which would connect its present lines with the Southern Pacific at New Orleans. These possibilities involve no question of unlawful combination under the present law.

Here the Springfield Republican likewise sees the elements of two coast-to-coast systems, which, it observes, "would not be repugnant to the Antitrust Law or to the antimonopoly sentiment of the country."

As for the $58,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock to be put on the market, it is explained in the news columns of the New York Journal of Commerce, that "no present stockholder in the Union Pacific, continuing as such, may buy any of the Southern Pacific stock so sold, and each purchaser will be obliged to make affidavit that he is not acting in concert or agreement with any one else buying Southern Pacific stock to secure a new control for the Union Pacific."

"The transaction would begin on November 1, 1913, and if not complete by January 1, 1916, the court would direct the disposition of any Southern Pacific stock remaining untraded. The government expressly stipulates that, should any illegal conditions arise from the exchange of Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio stock, either under existing law or future legislation, or future interpretation by the courts of present statutes, the government would have the right freely to 'unwind' the arrangement."

stockholders of the latter and thus effectually dissolve the unlawful combination. They unexpectedly fall the disposition of the stock will remain subject to the further order of the court."

As to what the Union Pacific will eventually do with the capital obtained by the sale of its Southern Pacific stock, the New York Evening Post finds it "interesting to observe that the attorney general has announced his purpose of entering suit to force the Southern Pacific itself to relinquish the Central Pacific property, as a result of this, continued ownership of which is in restraint of trade." And the New York Journal of Commerce remarks that "There remains now the problem of accomplishing the legitimate and desirable object of the original Harriman merger, by detaching the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific control and attaching it to the Union Pacific, giving the latter through-line of its own from Omaha to San Francisco. This is desirable on all accounts, for shippers and the public as well as investors in the railroad."—Literary Digest.
