CONVENTION A MARKED SUCCESS

W. C. T. U. Officers Elected for Ensuing Year

Caldwell Selected for the Next Meeting Place.

Strong Resolutions Adopted by Convention—Stand Taken Against Sunday Amusements.

The state W. C. T. U. convention, which closed its session in this city Tuesday evening, was one of the most successful in the history of the order. On Saturday evening, a reception was tendered the visiting delegates which was well attended by the people of the city. On Sunday afternoon, a special meeting was held in the First Methodist church. Sessions of the convention were held in the First Methodist church Monday and Tuesday evenings. At both meetings splendid programs were given by local talent. Resolutions were adopted by the convention declaring for constitutional amendments at both meetings, and pledging the organization to work and vote for men for the legislature who would pledge themselves to uphold their views. The convention also took a strong stand against Sunday moving picture shows, Sunday baseball, and comic suppers in the newspapers. The next convention will be held in Caldwell. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Nettie Cliff, Boise. Vice President—Mrs. Mollie Vance, Boise. Recording Secretary—Mrs. O. Polly, Weiser. Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Jennie A. Stout, Caldwell. Treasurer—Mrs. Sue Prescott, Glenna, Forz.

HIGH FOOT BALL SEASON OPENS

League Game With Rupert Scheduled for Saturday.

The high school gridiron warriors will have their first battle next Saturday afternoon in this city when they will meet the husky Rupert high school team. The season's schedule, Rupert has had one game with Hoyle in which they lost, but the one game's experience with local boys has given them a big advantage. Coach Jones has had to build up an entirely new team this year and for that reason expects a hard battle Saturday until the boys get used to the team work in a regular game. The admission price for the game will be thirty-five cents and will be used to pay expenses of the team. Owing to the fact that athletics in the school this year will have to be self supporting every citizen is urged to attend and thus help the boys to victory and also to financial success. Get out Saturday and get a little live blood in circulating in your veins. Get out and help the boys through their first game by your routing.

The drys have started a vigorous campaign against the wet campaign and the contest will be a spirited one from the start. Both forces are well organized and are using the mails to distribute literature freely. ## WORLD SERIES ATTRACTS FANS

Philadelphia Wins Two Out of First Three

RESULT THURSDAY OVERHEWHELMINGLY ONE-SIDED FOR MACK.

Betting Favors Connie Mack's Hard Hitting Yankees Rather Than New York.

Results of Thursday's Game.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 S. H. Philadelphia 3 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 8 15 New York 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 5

Pitchers for Game—Lynch for Philadelphia; Tressanier and Crandall for New York.

With probably forty million fans eagerly watching the outcome of the series of baseball, which began on Tuesday of this week the first three of the seven contests have been decided with Philadelphia taking two one-sided games and New York taking the other in a spectacular ten-inning game, won by the prowess of New York's wonderful pitcher, Christy Mathewson, who in the tenth started a batting rally that won his own game. Today the giant leaguers battle in Philadelphia for the fourth game, with the betting odds slowly veering round to the American League leaders to make the series. If the next two games go to Philadelphia it will close the series according to the rules, which stop the series when one team has won four games out of seven.

New York, Oct. 7.—Outfitting and outfitting the New York Giants in the opening game of the world's series, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Polo grounds Tuesday afternoon by a score of 6 to 4. So complete was the supremacy of the American league champions in the initial contest that the victory appeared to be but a continuation of the series of 1911 Philadelphia's title of that year from the Giants by four games out of six. As if to highlight the situation, the Athletics' victory in this contest might have been reproduced, so closely did they resemble those of 24 months ago.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 7.—The Athletics, 6 to 4, New York, 0 to 1. Score by innings: Philadelphia, 3 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 8 15 New York, 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 5

Summary: Home run—Baker, three hits—Collins, Schanz. Two base hits—Barry, Burns, McInnis. Hits—Marquard, 8 in 5 innings; off Marquard, 10 in 2 innings; off Tressanier, 10 in 2 innings. Sacrifices—Marquard, McInnis. Stolen bases—Collins, Double plays—Barry, Collins and McInnis. Errors—off Tressanier, 1; off Marquard, 1. First base on errors—off Tressanier, 1; off Marquard, 1. Time of game—2:06. Umpires—Klein, behind plate, Fann, base, Richter, left field, Connolly, right field.

Fielding—Philadelphia, Bender and Schanz; New York, Marquard, Crandall and Meyers.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Christy Mathewson, master manipulator of the baseball, led the New York Giants to victory at Shibe park Wednesday when he shut out the Philadelphia Athletics by a 3 to 0 score in the second game of the world's series.

Hero of a decade of league and world's championship play, the famous veteran man to the big pitcher, the hero of his diamond career, he has a reputation of all-around play that wears yollars of applause from the fans. Left supporters who were massed in the stands and bleachers expecting to witness a second triumph for the standard-bearer of the American league. Box seats exerted

POTATO MARKET IS IN A SLUMP

Drop of 30 Cents Per Hundred in Ten Days

REMOVAL OF CONDEMNED POTATOES IN CHICAGO UNFOUNDED.

From both farmers and commission men a howl is going up over the big slump in the potato market which has resulted in local prices declining nearly thirty cents in ten days, with almost no demand for the spuds at any price.

From nearly ninety cents the local price declined to sixty and sixty-five cents, with a keeping of the price, down, when elsewhere it was much better in the eastern market. The Times, after investigating such rumors, fully believes that there is no combine at present for the reason that variation in price among the local commission men is too great to indicate anything but uncertain markets and uncertain buying for that reason. One firm was offering high prices for high quality and another was offering sixty, while a third acting on orders from the headoffice, refused to buy at all. The N. W. P. distributors, shipping on consignment, continue to offer no price, with the farmer who shipped during former high prices taking a chance of his potatoes entering the eastern market while the slump is on. Taken, altogether, there was little of encouragement for the buyer or the producer. In order to confirm the prices in various eastern markets the Times secured quotations from a number of markets and the following taken from the St. Louis stock reports, shows the same condition that exists in this city. Prices ranging from sixty to seventy cents.

"Potatoes—Values unchanged, but a firmer undertone observable, a noticeable improvement in demand having developed, although recovery is so far do not show any material falling off, smaller arrivals and a better market are expected. Car lots, quoted to day, have slipped on track, stock and early Ohio at 62c to 65c, Red River early Ohio at 63¢ to 70¢; white stock, rural and burbank at 65¢ to 70¢; inferior and off stock less.

The dealers as a rule take the same hopeful tone that the market will improve as the storage potatoes are ready for market.

No Wholesale Condemnation.

Another report current on the street to the effect that a large number of cars of potatoes had been condemned by the health department, and that the potatoes were being shipped too green, proved to be an exaggeration and only a few cars of potatoes were refused by any of the commission houses. There is no report that any of the cars came from this section.

The potato situation should improve and develop, along the theme of every dealer and it stands to reason that any sane commission man would not make the mistake of shipping a falling one and that with competitive buying such as is evidenced here that the market price is a fair selling price for the potatoes.

Section 17.1 of the Horticultural Law: "It shall be unlawful to sell, offer to sell, or have in one's possession for sale or barter, any fruit which is or has been infested with San Jose scale, apple scab or the larva or larvae of the codling moth or the peach twig borer, and the fact that the fruit is infested with San Jose scale, apple scab, or is worm-eaten by the larva or the larvae of the codling moth or the peach twig borer, shall be deemed conclusive evidence that such fruit is infested within the meaning of this section; and it is hereby made the duty of the state inspector and the several deputy inspectors to prevent the sale of such infected fruit, and they are hereby authorized to seize and destroy such infected fruit, whenever they shall find that the same has been packed, sold, shipped or offered for sale or barter. It is the duty of the fruit inspector to enforce this law, and any violation of it renders the offender liable to a penalty of $200. This law was enacted by the legislature in 1911, and you are asked to co-operate with the inspector in its enforcement.

STATE HAD DEPOSITS

$45,000 State Money Tied Up in Deposit Nampa Bank.

Developing an interesting situation with relations to state deposits in the bank of Nampa, which suspended a week ago, the state of Idaho Saturday, through the action of Attorney General J. H. Peterson, brought suit against C. R. Hickey, William Strode and George Duval for the recovery of $45,000 on the state bank's state deposits amounting to $45,000.45, representing funds that State Treasurer O. V. Allen had placed on deposit in the bank of Nampa, Idaho. Hickey, Strode and Duval are bondsmen or surety for the safety of the state's deposits. Judge Edwin Bryan of the district court for Canyon county ordered injunctions to issue out of that court directed to the defendants to restrain them from removing or converting the funds, and their property during the outcome of the pending suit.

The state asks for judgment against C. R. Hickey and William Strode for the sum of $10,000 each and against George Duval for the sum of $25,000. The state also asks for the bank's state deposits amounting to $45,000.45, representing funds that State Treasurer O. V. Allen had placed on deposit in the bank of Nampa, Idaho. Hickey, Strode and Duval are bondsmen or surety for the safety of the state's deposits. ## MUTTON WILL REPLACE BEEF

Such Is the Opinion of Prof. W. T. Carls.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 6.—Sheep raising on the semi-arid land of the west for mutton is the remedy for the shortage in beef is the prediction made here by Prof. W. T. Carls, acting president and dean of the University of Idaho. He believes that mutton may replace beef on the American table, at least until the present shortage can be overcome. Estimated that the sheep industry of the United States will produce an average of three or four years.

PRODUCE IS MOVING SLOWLY

Carload Shipment Heavy But Behind Last Year

IN FALLS SHOWS FAIR TONNAGE FOR SEPTEMBER.

Local Station Handles Total of Three Hundred and Seventy-two Carloads.

As a barometer of the crop movement the number of carloads shipped from this city is pretty accurate. While the shipping seems rather large, yet compared with last year the crops cannot be said to have begun and the month of October will have to see a big increase if the tonnage of last year is duplicated. At this time last year several hundred cars of hay had been moved while this year approximately only a few have been shipped out. The same is true of the spuds which are not moving with nearly as much steadiness as characterized last year's shipping.

The following approximate estimate of the carloads shipped in and out of this station should be multiplied by two to get at the real shipment from the whole tract. The stations of Rogersen, Hollister, Berger, Buhl, Piller, Curry, Kimberly, Hanson and Marlaugh are all developing into heavy shipping points and it is possible that the Times' estimate of the whole shipping is much under actual conditions.

GRAPES FOR USE IN WINTER

Placed in Department of House Celler Without Any Artificial Heat Some Keep Well.

What a pity it is that grapes will not keep longer. Every autumn I place in a department of my house cellar, where there is no artificial heat, baskets of various varieties of grapes, says a writer in Garden's Fruit Grower. I do not expect the Warden, Concord, Delaware and Niagara to keep long, therefore I consume them first. After these I consume the Brighton, which is a fairly good keeper, but which shrivels up considerably. Barry has kept well with me this season. Gairner, a red grape, has kept perfectly up to Thanksgiving.

Mills, a black grape with very large compact cluster, in the best keeper of all that I have tested, being in perfect condition on Thanksgiving day. I hear of many methods of keeping grapes through the winter, but I have never succeeded in doing so in my ordinary fruit room. The grapes must not be placed in piles in baskets or boxes. With me they do the best in single layers. If one layer is piled on top of another they are inclined to rot. Some people cut off portions of the vine with clusters on it and place the ends of the vine in a bottle of water and report good results in keeping the grapes plump and fresh. Others insert one end of each stem of grapes in a bottle of water, but when the water evaporates it must have attention, therefore this is rather an expensive method. The Catawba has the reputation of being the best keeper of the hardy northern grapes. The Catawba and even the Delaware are kept, as I assume in cold storage, and put on the market in western New York all through the winter, but I observe there is difficulty in keeping even the Catawba in prime condition for the holidays.

DEVICE FOR LOADING SWINE

Detailed Instructions and Illustration Given for Construction of Implement Handy on Farm.

The device described and shown herewith may be found very handy on any farm. Take a mow-truck, hammer and cold chisel and knock off the prongs and so make a smooth wheel. Then drive out the pins that go through the shaft. Take the sickle bars from an old binder for fills. Lay the board holes down and stick a bolt in the holes where the pins were and through the holes where the guards were. Then you have a hole every two inches and by taking off the burrs you can change to any height from a high wagon to a low sled. Put a good piece of oak on the upper end 2x8, bore two holes in the center, then take an old tongue and bore two holes through it. Have in the bolt and you have a cart. Haul one end over for each end and that the sow, pigs or calves can be removed from one pen to another with ease.

DAIRY NOTES

Good pasture lands are the basis of successful dairy farming.

To make dairying a success we must make it of interest to the boys.

Get your cows started right for the coming cold weather and they will do well in winter.

Summer or winter, a good dairy three-quarter pays its way whenever dairy cows are kept.

Give the cows a change to get under the shed every night now. If too cold keep them in the stable.

Keeping the cows comfortable is a neglected point in the management of the herd during the fall months.

The best cows are never cheap, and are seldom for sale; so it pays to give the better calves the best care.

The milk pail should be the main consideration, but not the sole one. Judging the value of the dairy cow.

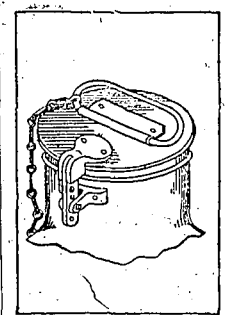

Green fodder at the tail end of the summer is relished by the cow as no feed is relished by the school children. The strong cow can eat and digest large quantities of food, and this is essential for the production of big milk yields.

At the time you bring your cow to your neighbors.

SAFETY SEAL FOR MILK CAN

Soft Piece of Metal Arranged So That Receptacle Cannot Be Opened Without Detection.

Often a farmer will lose a good deal of milk through having his cans opened in transit and a little of the contents removed from each one. It is practically impossible, under ordinary circumstances, to detect this. But a Milk Can Seal.

Pennsylvania man has devised a milk can seal that will tell immediately whether or not a can has been opened. On the neck of the can is a bifurcated lug, and just above it, on the lid, is a small hinged arm with perforations in it. There are also perforations on opposite sides of the lug. To seal the can the hinged member is dropped into the opening of the lug and the perforations align. A soft metal seal is then inserted in the aligned perforations and the can defies any one to open it without breaking the seal and leaving trace of their operations.

BOTTLE SIPHON FOR LIQUIDS

Handy for Use When Desirable to Remove Milk From Bottom Without Disturbing the Cream.

For the separating of liquids of different gravities, a Connecticut man has designed the apparatus shown herewith. For the purpose of explanation it might be called a bottle siphon, though its use, of course, is not restricted to milk and cream. Its removing it was desirable to remove milk from the bottom of a bottle without disturbing the cream at the top. A cap fits over the mouth of the bot tle and a tube runs through the cap. In this tube are the long end of the siphon and a plunger for creating a pressure in the bottle to start the flow through the siphon. The long arm of the siphon can be thrust down to the bottom of the bottle and the liquid at the bottom can be drained off without disturbing that at the top.

USE PARISIAN SAGE

If your hair is too dry, brittle, dull, thin, or if the scalp burns and itches, immediately begin the use of Parisian Sage. The first application removes the dandruff, cools and invigorates the scalp, and increases the beauty of the hair by making it soft—wavy—abundant.

Parisian Sage supplies hair needs. It is equally effective for wet sticky or greasy. Surely try a 50c bottle.

DEMAND THIS LABEL

On all of Your Printed Matter. It represents Good Workmanship, Good Prices, and Good Conditions.

The old time adage, therefore you do for a man the more he demands, is most fully brought out today in the number of people who try to get free newspaper advertising. In the daily mail of every newspaper publishing company, come innumerable pleas for publicity from the government down to the get-rich-quick schemes of the baldest sort. A government conservation bureau flooded the mails with profound information under the direction of Clifford Pinchot, which must have cost the government thousands to prepare and distribute and the newspapers millions of dollars of valuable space to publish, all over the United States. Profiting from Pinchot's scheme the government agricultural bureaus resort to the same thing and ask for free publicity. The postoffice department charges its patrons one cent for every advertised letter. Then it turns around and asks the newspaper to publish the advertised letter for nothing. Every corporation, every assembly and every church does the same thing. Newspapers are asked to be of service to all public or semi-public organizations which are dependent upon public charity for their support. On the other hand corporations which are supposedly in business for profit should be very chary of asking for newspaper space without paying for it. Newspapers, contrary to general opinion, have to obtain a little coin of the realm together with the usual wind in order to keep running. A newspaper for the public good run on wind in this city came to a dismal failure. None of the papers remaining in this city are fueling the least bit generous with the public which ran off the new paper and finally got stung. The three papers which have contributed to every public enterprise regardless of personal loss will probably keep on donating space to the public organizations, but all private public organizations are presently requested to come with the money when desiring publicity from this paper, at least. The Times would be delighted to be open-handed and generous with all people, but does hate like sin to be stung by the usual grater for newspaper space.

AT IT AGAIN.

Perhaps to some of the more calloused minded taxpayers the slight of the waterworks company tearing great gashing holes in pavement causes no emotion, but to most of the business men it is like a red rag to a bull and work of the company this week is setting in motion a good big roar which the city council will hear from on all sides unless they take some action. The Times believes fully that the city council have the best of intentions in protecting the city's interests and have been loath to make any criticism for that reason, but after two years and a half in office and not a single decisive action taken it would appear that the council should show the proper amount of spirit and crowd legal action through in this term of court. Another winter is fast approaching when the usual stall of the company will be made to wait until spring. They have gotten away with it for four years now and will get away with it again this fall unless something is done. The Times believes that a court injunction can be obtained within five days which will make the start for breaking ground for new piping around the paving district. It is further possible to cause so much trouble to the company that its fictitious value on its plant will be materially reduced thus allowing the city to get it at a reasonable price. At any rate nothing can be accomplished by letting things run on as at present until every block of pavement is ruined. The council owes it to the taxpayers in the paved district to protect their interests this fall and prevent further injury to property.

A GREAT COASTAL CANAL SYSTEM

It is probable that in the future vessels may be able to go from Boston to the Rio Grande entirely through inland waters. This will be effected by a system of canals connecting the various bays and sounds that parallel the Atlantic coast along most of its extent. Some of these canals have already been such as that connecting Bar Harbor with the Delaware river, so that only enlargement will be necessary. One of the most costly, the great Cape Cod canal, shortening the distance by water from New York to Boston by 70 miles, and cutting off the stormy trip around the Cape, is nearing completion. These works have hitherto been undertaken on their individual merits, but it is now proposed that they shall form part of a comprehensive plan for inland navigation just within the coastline. In 1905 congress ordered the missing links be constructed by the federal government. Regular appropriations have already been made during several years past to build needed sections of the route between New Orleans and the Rio Grande. The completion of the whole scheme is doubtless only a matter of time. Regarding the northern part of the plan, the Scientific American (New York, September 6) speaks as follows: "The arguments in favor of putting through this great work are based upon the favorable physical conditions along the proposed route, the advantages that would be derived by our coastwise traffic, and the naval and military value of a chain of interior canals in time of war. "If a study is made of the several maps which accompany this article, showing the Atlantic coast-line from Boston to New York, it will be seen at once that its configuration is such as to invite the construction of the interconnecting canals. Cape Cod bay, Long Island Sound, New York bay, the Delaware river, and the long reaches of Chesapeake bay, Albemarle sound, and Pamlico sound, already afford several hundred miles of protected waterway, far removed from the coast-line, which, if connected by canals, would afford a continuous interior route, protected alike against the shoals and heavy gales of the Atlantic and against attacks by the ships of a hostile navy.

"As the result of several years of earnest work on the part of the various commercial interests, shipping and otherwise, congress authorized the army engineers to make surveys and estimates to determine the feasibility of the scheme, considered as an engineering proposition; the prospects of a sufficiently large amount of traffic to warrant the cost of its construction; the naval and military advantages of the canal in the event of war, and the best size and type of canal to meet all the conditions, present and future."

"With regard to that part of the route that parallels the Gulf of Mexico, Cassel's Magazine (New York, Sept.) prints an article entitled "A Dream Come True," part of which runs as follows:

"One of the greatest projects in waterway development that has been promulgated in the United States is the Intercoastal Canal extending from the Mississippi river through the coast sections of Louisiana and Texas to the mouth of the Rio Grande river. The canal is now open to navigation from New Orleans to the Mermentau river in that state, and from Galveston to Arkansas river and Corpus Christi, in Texas. Appropriations have been made for the canal from the Mermentau river in Louisiana to the Sabine river which will connect the same with the channel already completed from the Sabine river to Port Arthur and Galveston bay."

"A hearing has recently been held by the board of engineers of the United States army, and undoubtedly a favorable report will be made on that section connecting Port Arthur with Galveston; also a hearing is soon to be held to consider a portion of the Corpus Christi-Brownsville section, from Corpus Christi to Galveston bay. If these two latter sections are approved and appropriations made by congress for same, then there will be left only that portion of Corpus Christi to Galveston bay section extending from Galveston bay to the mouth of the Rio Grande river."

"Thus it will be seen that in the near future the Mississippi river will be connected by an inland route with the Rio Grande river, which means, when Mexico shall become tranquil again, that the canal proposed in that country will continue inland navigation as far as Vera Cruz, Mexico, and eventually there will doubtless be an inland water route to the Panama canal, which means, in turn, that boats from the upper Ohio and Mississippi rivers and their tributaries may carry freight to Louisiana, Texas, and Mexican ports with barge and tug. It means further that with the completion of the Atlantic and the Atlantic to the Mississippi river inland route, boats may come from Boston to the Mississippi river and through this western canal to the Rio Grande without the attendant dangers of ocean and gulf navigation.

"The importance of this great inland waterway is largely increased by virtue of the fact that the rivers and bays tributary to the Intercoastal canal of Texas and Louisiana amount to a mileage of 7,000 miles. The canal connects these tributaries with each other and with the various ports of Texas. . . .

"The citizens along the route of the completed sections of this canal are rapidly taking advantage of its facilities, and when the canal is completed its entrance is likely to carry a tonnage equalled by no other inland waterway route in the world. "In addition, it serves as a source of drainage and opens up thousands of acres of the most fertile land in the country."

A point of some interest is that the Scientific American calls this enterprise an "intercoastal canal," while Cassel's names it "Intercoastal." The former term "within the coast," the latter "between coasts." Does this signify that while the federal engineers think of our coast as a unit, it is still regarded in the south as made up of the separate "coasts" of Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana, and so on?—Literary Digest.

CRUSADE AGAINST HOG CHOLERA

State Officials Send Out Appeal to Farmers.

In an appeal sent out to the hog raisers of the state through the press, Dr. V. C. White, state veterinarian, makes the following suggestions: "Among others for the prevention of the spread of hog cholera and for the treatment of the disease where it is known to exist: "Do not visit your neighbors' pens or inclosures, nor allow any unauthorized person to go into your pens or inclosures, keep your pens closed, confine your hogs to small dry pens or inclosures, in not over 10 to 15 in a bunch. Disinfect troughs and pens daily before being placed with other hogs. Hogs sold for breeding purposes should be kept isolated for a least 14 days before being placed with other hogs. Hogs sold for breeding purposes should be crated and expressed, and not allowed in stockyard. "Intelligent prevention is much more satisfactory than treatment. "Do not allow hogs to run all over your place, as is customary in the case of the year, especially if cholera is present in your community. Dust from the public highway may be infected. Keep hogs away from ditches and canals. This is very important, especially if the canal is a large one, because you will not know if it has run through an infected place before reaching your own. Feed good, wholesome food. If your hogs are in good condition they are less likely to be contracted the disease. It would be well to give a mild physic occasionally in order to clean out the system. "Whenever hog cholera reveals, many remedies have been given as 'sure cures,' but as yet no cure is known."

Good Advice From Washington. "Taken from report of bureau of animal industry: "Do not locate hog lots near a public highway, a railroad or a stream. The germ of hog cholera may be carried along any one of these avenues. "Do not allow strangers or neighbors to enter your hog lots, and do not go into your neighbors' lots. The germ of hog cholera may be readily carried in a small amount of dirt on the shoes. "Do not put new stock, either hogs or pigs, into the herd already on the farm. Newly purchased hogs should be put in separate inclosures, well separated from the herd on the farm, and kept under observation for three weeks, because practically all stock cars, unloading chutes and pens are infected with hog cholera, and hogs shipped by rail are therefore apt to contract hog cholera. "Hogs sent to fairs should be quarantined for at least three weeks after they return to the farm. "If hog cholera breaks out on a farm, separate the stock from the apparently healthy animals, and burn all carcasses of dead animals on the day of death. Do not leave them unburied, for this will endanger all other farmers in the neighborhood. Dogs, crows or buzzards may transport particles of flesh from dead hogs and thus carry the disease. "If after the observation of all possible precautions hog cholera appears on your farm, notify the state veterinarian and secure serum for the treatment of those not affected. The early application of the serum is essential. "Following is a list of assistant state veterinarians in the state of Idaho:

GIVE THE BABY WATER

Advice Given by Physician to Parents.

Dr. Jacob and recently: "When you are hungry, you want to eat; when you are thirsty, you drink. The baby wants to eat and drink. But no matter whether it is hungry or thirsty it is condemned to receive the same food to quench both its hunger and thirst. When it cries with hunger it is really crying from the bottle or breast; when it cries with thirst it is given the same food from the same source. "We have often felt like procuring a bill to the legislature, enforcing, when father, mother and physician are thirsty, feed and quench. "Perhaps if father, mother and physician had to quench their thirst with beef steak and potatoes they would feel more sympathetic toward the thirsty baby, and give him what he is calling for—water. Milk is not water, and will not take the place of water for thirsty baby or child."

Every dollar spent on health boards should be regarded as an investment and not an expense. It is not the babies born, but the babies saved, that count.

tion regarding orchard land in the Twin Falls district of the Snake River Valley, Idaho, offered for $500 an acre under a contract to plant and deliver a four-year-old, well-cared-for orchard. The advantage is that I could continue in my present position during the non-productive years, and have the land added half and for the taking possession. Would you advise me to try it, or to buy and develop raw, cheaper land myself?

Answer—Much depends on the reputation and stability of the company offering the land. The advantage you mention is not a bad one, but remember that at the end of the time you may get just the sort of orchard you want or you may not; and then you will have lost four years during which you might have been familiarizing yourself with the locality, the land, the markets, and the trees, and building a foundation for future success by giving personal attention to the farm.

The locality is a splendid one for fruit raising. The soil is of volcanic origin, strong and fertile, especially under irrigation. Water for this purpose is abundant although the rainfall is sufficient for ordinary results. The price seems quite fair for an established orchard; nevertheless, when a sound farming proposition rather than a business speculation is wanted, no one is invariably in favor of the development of property by the resident purchaser. —Vendell Irigoin.

FOREST NOTES

Dead Timber Given to Settlers Near National Forests.

Over eighty million feet of timber was cut from the national forests of the United States during the year, according to a statement just compiled by the local district office of the forest service. The above amount was cut under sales and free use and the total shown for the year is a considerable increase over the cut for the preceding year. The average stumpage price received for the timber cut under sales during the year was $2.18 per M. for green and $1.74 per M. for dead material. There were 1,335 timber sales made and practically every stick of lumber sold was used locally in the regions surrounding the national forests.

Of the above total, 38,741,000 feet were cut under free use, no stumpage charge being made for this material. The free use regulation provides that settlers living within and adjacent to the national forests are entitled to $20 worth of timber free each year. It is estimated that this timber given away under the free use regulations cannot be used commercially, but must be utilized by the permittee upon his ranch or for farm land.

The extent to which the forest service aids new settlers in furnishing them free timber is shown not alone by the permits among which this timber was distributed. The total number of free use permits actually issued in this district during the year was 12,052, making the average amount taken by each permittee approximately 3,200 feet. All of this timber was used personally by the permittees in the upbuilding of their ranches and homes. It represents all classes of material, the most common being house lumber, fence posts and poles, corner poles, corral poles, barn rafters, etc.

When permits are made, the worth of timber available to each settler is noted and that each permittee is clearly shown that the showing that of over 12,000 settlers who ask for free use timber the average amount taken is only about 3,200 feet. The average stumpage price that the heaviest free use forest in the district is the Targhee, on which 929 permits, aggregating 4,778 feet of timber, were issued. The forest which has issued the largest number of permits was the Minidoka, where 1,418 settlers were given an aggregate of 2,857,000 feet of timber. Other forests on which the free use business was heavy are the Targhee, Salmon, Snake, Platte, Wyoming, Cache, Pocatello, Idaho, more, Platslake, Mantle, Sevier and Humbolt.

The forests on which the heaviest timberable business was done are the

Do Your Dollars Fly up the Flue?

Coal costs money. You know it. The winter's coal costs BIG money. You know that also. Yet, half of it is wasted by poor management. Oh, yes it is! Listen and be convinced.

Ordinary soft coal is half gas. An average ton of $3.00 coal contains about 14,000 cubic feet of gas—common illuminating gas. A gas which will, if properly mixed with air, burn with an intensely hot blue flame. This gas represents the best half of your ton of coal.

This unburned gas and a large portion of the heat is CARRIED UP THE CHIMNEY by the air leaking cracks in stoves of ORDINARY construction.

There is only one way to save this wasted gas and heat and that is with a

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

which is so constructed that it has no air leaking cracks. In this wonderful heater and fuel-saver the gas is kept under perfect control until oxidized and burned.

It is the only stove that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

It is the only stove that saves the wasted chimney heat.

It's the only stove that gives you a constant, steady heat with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.

It will give you all the heat that is in your coal.

It will hold your fire 36 hours without attention.

It will burn all kinds of fuel.

It is guaranteed to consume one-third less fuel than any lower draft stove of the same size, using soft coal, lignite or slack.

AND—It is sold you under a guarantee to fill all these claims.

Back of this guarantee is the credit and capital of an immense factory and it is worth to you 100 cents on the dollar.

A Little Talk on Home Affairs

There are hundreds of swindlers in this land who take people's money for subscriptions and move on to the next town to spend it. Usually these confidence men offer magazines at greatly reduced prices.

No standard magazine, that is, no magazine you really want, permits anyone to reduce its price. You cannot buy the kind of subscription you want, cheaper than through your newsdealer.

Don't pay money for subscriptions—goods not delivered—to people you do not know. Your dealer pays rent and taxes and guarantees that your subscriptions will be properly placed with the publisher. Also he is on the spot as the publisher's agent when anything goes wrong.

Origin of an English Custom.
Parliament's custom of assembling for a new session on Tuesday instead of on the first working day of the week originated in the religious scruples of legislators of a century ago. In 1560 it was proposed that Monday should be made the day of meeting, but Mr. William Wilberforce, M. P. for the County of York, pointed out that for himself and many other members this would involve Sunday traveling—a thing he abhorred. So the day was changed to Tuesday, and a Sabbatarian scruple has ruled the action of parliament to an era which sees more motor cars on Sunday than on any day of the week.—London Chronicle.

LETTER TO MR. C. D. ANDERSON, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Dear Sir: It is an old saying: the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

It happens to us continually in this way: A man buys Devoe for his home—he has painted it once in three years for a dollar—size, and thinks he knows what he wants—buys 30 gallons, and has 10 left.

He sees right off that 20 Devoe is as much as 20 of anything else. He likes that; it comes quick; it is a surprise; and he tells of it. The best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Three years roll round. There isn't a sign that his house needs paint; he don't paint it. Next year he don't paint it. This comes about; it is a surprise; but he has got used to it. Still the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Yours truly,

Mignonne Tree.
Few mignonne trees appear to realize that a plant of this so fragrant flower may be preserved from year to year until it becomes a little tree. You take a strong plant from seeds sown in the month of April, put in a pot all alone, and whenever and wherever it attempts to show a blossom nip it off without remorse. At the end of September or the beginning of October cut off all the bottom shoots to make it look like a tree; move it into a larger pot and put it in the greenhouse or oratory if possible and keep it moderately warm. Treat it in the same way the following year, cutting off all the lower shoots and blossoms, and you will have a mignonne tree that will last and bloom for years.

Derivation of "Cop."
"When the policemen are referred to as 'cops' or 'coppers,' it is a very legitimate and historical appellation," said the old-timer. "You've never heard whence the term was derived? Well, here it is. 'The first uniformed police force succeeded the old night watch in the early days of the English domination, and the patrolmen wore large shields of copper. They were harrassed until they could be seen shining like a beacon in the reflected rays of the sun, and even at night scintillated in the light of the torches which were forerunners of the white lights of Broadway. At no time the policemen were known as 'coppers.' Port Young America found that too long, and 'cop' was the result."

CANARIS PLEADED GUILTY

Given Five Years in State Prison for Statutory Crime.

Peter Canaris, who has been held in the county jail since early last summer, charged with a statutory offense, had his case called in the district court Wednesday and pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Strickland sentenced Canaris to serve five years in the state prison at Boise.

Odd Greek Supplication.
The belief, illustrated in the ballad of The Bridge of Arta, that a human victim is required to insure the stability of a bridge or building survives in Greece today, J. A. Lawson says.

There is no murmur now. It suffices to obtain, preferably from an enemy or an old person, a hair, nail paring, shred of clothing, old shoe or a thread or stick marked with the person's height or footprint measure, and bury these beneath the foundation stone. The victim dies within a year, but the building is safe.
