WALLIS WARNS WATER COMPANY

Letter Sent Urging Action Here.

STATE LAW MAKES NEGLIGENCE A CRIMINAL OFFENSE.

Water Company Given Time to State Reasons for Delay in Orders of Department.

The state pure food and sanitary department is again after the local water company, warning it to take prompt action to protect the water users. Some months ago the company was ordered to repair and enlarge its plant south of this city and work has been carried on by the company since that time. Evidently, however, the progress made does not meet with the approval of the department, who recently sent the following warning:

November 2nd, 1913.

Twin Falls Water Co., Twin Falls, Idaho.

Gentlemen: The several analyses, both chemical and bacteriological, made of the water being supplied by your company to the people of Twin Falls, show it to be a menace to the health of those who are using it. It is the duty of the department to protect the public health and it is the duty of the water company to supply pure water. Efforts have been made during the past summer by the state board of health to assist you in perfecting your supply, and it is hoped have been determined that the recommendations made would have been carried out before now.

Under the pure water law, passed by the last session of the legislature, it is a crime, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, to supply contaminated water to the people for domestic use, and this department feels justified in bringing such action against your company unless you make reasonable showing can be made why such proceedings should not be instituted. Section 2 of the law referred to reads as follows:

"Section 2, Chapter 173, Session Laws, 1913.—That any corporation or person owning or maintaining any plant or system for the supply of water to the inhabitants of this state, or any part thereof, of water for domestic purposes shall keep the same in such condition as to insure the health of the consumers of such water. Any person or corporation failing or neglecting to comply with any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

A reasonable time will be given in which to present any statement you desire to make.

Respectfully yours,

J. H. WALLIS,
State Sanitary Inspector.

EXPLOSION AT GAMBLE HOME

Giant Caps Thrown in Store by Miss Lake—No Damage Done.

An accident, which might have been of a serious nature, occurred at the Sun Gamble home, a few days before Mr. Gamble had placed six giant caps wrapped in an old paper on a shelf and left them there. Mrs. Gamble, while cleaning up the home Monday, picked up the bundle of paper and threw the package in the stove. It was not until the fire had been out for some time that she discovered the package. During her absence the explosion took place, and no damage was done, except blowing the lid from the stove.

EXTRA WIFE AND GRIEF

Oakley Man Has One Too Many Lands in Jail.

As a result of a charge filed against him for bigamy, Samuel Jackson, a native of West Virginia, but more recently of Utah and Idaho, was arrested at Oakley last Saturday and on the next day given a hearing in Cassia county court. The charge was filed against him by Willis Benton of Oakley, stepfather of one of the alleged wives, says the Abilene Nugget.

About the first that was known of Jackson in this community was during last January when he, with Miss Gladys Gee of Oakley, aged 14 years, made application at the county clerk's office in this city for a marriage license. On account of the tender age of the girl the application was refused. Jackson, however, urged his suit and finally received the girl's mother's consent to the marriage, and the couple obtained their license and were married here by Dr. Stockinger, then a justice of the peace. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson then left for Oakley, where they made their home for some time.

Jackson some time later left this country for Colorado, where he remained for quite a while. It then developed that he had left back in West Virginia, on coming west, a wife and four children. After his sojourn in Colorado, Jackson came to Utah and later to the vicinity of Oakley, where he proceeded to resume his residence with the second Mrs. Jackson. After some while in Colorado secured a divorce from his first wife, and after returning here tried to get a second license, this time at Twin Falls, apparently thinking that such action would assure the thing up. The license, however, was refused on account of the girl's age as before. It was then that the action was started by Willis Benton.

ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED AS AULT

Jewel Cox Arrested for Striking II. Culland With Base Ball Bat.

Deputy Sheriff P. O. Herriman returned Wednesday from Rupert where he arrested Jewel Cox who was wanted for an alleged assault on a brother-in-law, H. Culland. He was picked up and taken care of at Murtaugh until an auto with a doctor arrived from the city when he was brought to the hospital here. As near as can be learned there has been blood between the two men for some time. A warrant was issued for Cox Wednesday evening by the father of Culland, charging Cox with an assault on the health of the son. The preliminary examination will take place before the probate judge today or tomorrow.

BANKERS TO VISIT HERE

With President Bush Will Look Over Line to the South

Western Pacific Officials Endeavoring to Raise Money to Build Feeders

Bankers of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Western Pacific Railroad companies, President B. H. Bush, with his four of inspection over the line here yesterday, with a view of seeing whether the property will stand another bond issue of $1,000,000 in order to build feeders to the Western Pacific in California, Utah and Idaho. Automobile trips have been arranged by the Denver & Rio Grande and the Western Pacific, and the line of the Western Pacific Northern Pacific and Saturday, November 14 and 15. If the bankers give the work, it is said that the Western Pacific will go to work at once on the road.

The trip is being made entirely in the interests of the financial condition of the Gould system, and to impress upon those who furnished money for the building of the Western Pacific that more money must be forthcoming in order to secure business. Several telegrams were awaiting the railroad party here from different points in Idaho and there was a loud telephone call for Vice President E. L. Brown from James E. Clingman, president of the Idaho Bankers' association in Boise. Mr. Brown seemed very anxious to answer the telephone call, but owing to the special train-stopping here for only direct minutes it was impossible to get a line through to the Idaho capital. It was said that the call had to do with the entertainment of the party in Boise. President Bush said that he and the bankers would go to Boise November 11 and would probably leave Twin Falls November 12. The itinerary of the special train calls for a two or three days stop in Boise, and it was said by a member of the party that the entertainment of the party in Boise would go over the line of the Western Pacific Northern and at least look over the Chicago right of way, which runs through Ada county and Boise, and which will be donated to the first railroad built into the city with immediate connections. "After that right of way is established to be worth several millions of dollars and the bankers in the party wish to see the declared a secretary heard the train.

In the party besides President Bush were E. L. Marston, representative of the Idaho Bankers' association, and the financial agents of the Denver & Rio Grande, D. L. Potter, representative of the Colorado & Pacific, and a representative to raise about $250,000 for the new improvement and President Clingman. The bankers have been taking notes upon the condition of the Denver & Rio Grande, and yesterday there was a meeting at the home of President Bush's car belonging to the financial men.

The party left last night for San Francisco on the Great Northern. The bankers will be in the city for a few days, and they are expected to visit the offices of the Western Pacific Northern railroad, according to the financial men. The terms of the proposed Western Pacific Northern, and will be the financial point with the Western Pacific. How long the party will remain in Victorville is not known, but President Bush said that he would go into San Francisco immediately. The party will spend several days in the coast and will go to Boise and Twin Falls over the Southern Pacific and the Oregon Short Line.

SMASHUP WORST IN HISTORY

Soda Springs Wreck Not Yet Cleared Up.

Those who have visited the scene of the wreck that occurred near Soda Springs early last Saturday morning, when an eastbound freight and a westbound freight came together, state that the smashup is indescribable, and that 2000 tons of coal is scattered over a space forty feet wide, and that battleship coal cars were twisted out of shape, and wooden cars reduced to splinters. Aside from the two engines, which were put out of commission, a great many cars were broken up.

One of the engines remained on the track, while the other was smashed in bad shape. The remains of Freeman Davis are still under the great mass of debris, and it is thought the body will be recovered today. The body of Freeman Davis was brought to Pocatello and placed in charge of Undertaker Walker, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The body of Freeman Davis, removed with care in the hope that Freeman Davis may be recovered alive, but it is rather a barren hope. The body of Freeman Davis, when recovered, will be shipped to Cove, Oregon, for burial. Freeman Davis was found in the debris, and was thrown from the crash came, broken. P. E. Carman, who fell between the cars and lost a leg, was found 40 feet from the wreckage, and was in the hospital, and everything indicates that he will recover.

The wreck was one of the worst experienced by the Short Line, and as far from the lives lost a great amount of property was destroyed. Traffic was delayed for about twelve hours Saturday night, and on Sunday morning, the train was sent out as first No. 17, two or three hours late in the evening. The wreck has been cleared up within the next few days—Pocatello Tribune.

JUDGE LOVETT NOT COMING

Hurries Eastward from Trip to Coast Terminals.

A judge was received today from I. J. Lovett, who had been in the city for a few days on his trip and who was hurrying eastward. The head of the Oregon Short Line, who was west last week over the Union Pacific to California, and from there to Portland on a tour of inspection which brought him through this state, early in the morning through this state over the Short Line on his return trip. It was expected that he would visit this city, and would make some announcement regarding railroad building. The telegram crushed that hope.

PUBLIC ROADS

WASTE ROAD BUILDING FUNDS

Department of Agriculture Points Out Need of Constructing the Right Kind of Roads.

The office of public roads of the department of agriculture is making a strong effort to focus the mind of the country on the fact that maintenance and effective repair are of equal importance with the actual improvement of bad roads. Investment of money in new roads does not become real economy until provision is made for keeping the new roads in condition after they are built. If a new road was built and then allowed to fall into disrepair, much of the original investment is simply wasted.

Europe, generally speaking, is ahead of the United States in the matter of road improvement, but Great Britain is struggling with a problem similar to the one that confronts the people of the United States. In England and Scotland and Wales there are fewer than 2,140 separate authorities who between them administer 175,487 miles of roads, or an average of only 82 miles apiece. In Scotland, apart from the big cities there are over 200 burghs, one-half of which have but ten miles of road apiece to maintain. Needless to say, such a minute mileage is insufficient to keep the road plant fully occupied all the year around, and renders the employment of a skilled engineer impossible for economical reasons.

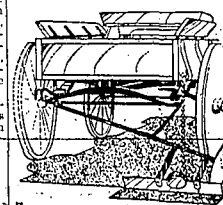

Officials of the office of public roads who called upon for assistance by the various states are pointing out that road building is an art based on a science, and that trained men and experienced men are necessary to secure the best results from the expenditure of road funds.

Statisticians have found that although the average expenditure on the improvement of roads exceeds one million dollars a day, a large portion of the money in the United States is wasted because of the failure to build the right type of road to meet the local requirements or the failure to provide for the continued maintenance of the improvement.

KEEPS ROADS IN CONDITION

Device Known as Chuck-Hole Filler Has Been Invented by Idaho Man for Work in Country.

A simple device for keeping country roads in good condition, and known as a chuck-hole filler, has been invented by an Idaho farmer. By means of an 18-inch steel disk or blade, which revolves upon one end of a steel rod fastened to a rear axle of the vehicle at such an angle that the disk is slightly out of line with the rear wheel and disk cuts and throws the dirt under the wheel, and a drag, 3/4 feet long, immediately behind the disk, levels the surface as the vehicle is drawn along the road. The machine weighs about 150 pounds.

Good Roads.

The making of good roads is one of the most important duties of the American people, and their prompt and careful maintenance is essential. There is probably no subject in which the progressive farmer is more deeply interested than that of having roads connecting him with his market, over which he may be able to haul the greatest possible load. Good roads, like all other good things, are too expensive to build and of too much value to be neglected.

Missouri Has "Shown."

It is estimated that the voluntary labor by business men and farmers put on the roads of Missouri for two days was worth to the state in money value about $1,500,000 besides the impetus given the good roads movement, whose value cannot be calculated in dollars and cents. One leading authority of every state ought to be for its good roads, and Missouri, in strict accordance with its motto, has "shown" to the other states how practical the ambition is in its own case.

Resident of Atlantic City Buried Dead Pet in Style Accorped Human Beings.

An Atlantic City resident recently buried a pet canary in a style seldom accorded either bird or beast. The little body was placed in a silk lined metallic coffin. Then a burial service was read over the bird, setting forth how the songster had brought happiness and good cheer into the home of the owner through the influence of his silvery notes. There were tears shed at the funeral and at the little grave. A complacent sort of an attendant at the obsequies was the family cat, who listened to the solemn words and watched the little bundle of feathers as he humbly stroked his whiskers. He had been the death of the canary and would have had it eaten after his first spring brought down to the floor had not the owner intervened.

A Cincinnati woman not long ago buried her pet parrot with unique honors. She had had the bird, who was a great talker, speak into a graphophone, and although to visitors the result was nothing but a lot of blawking the owner insisted that it was a faithful reproduction of the affectionate words uttered now and then by the parrot. At the funeral of the bird the woman had this record put in the graphophone and turned out to several listeners called in to take part in the obsequies. Then the record was placed alongside the bird's body and buried with it, for the owner declared she could never bear to hear her pet's voice again if she could not see the bird in the flesh.

Aeroplane Shaped Like Bird.

An artificial bird built by a French inventor, which has recently been subjected to practical tests, apparently solve what has been one of the hardest problems in connection with heavier-than-air flying machines, that of inherent stability. This device is a small model of an aeroplane, with body and wings shaped exactly like those of a bird, and, from reports of the tests, it represents the biggest step forward since the Wright brothers first invented the aeroplane. This model is the result of years of investigation of the mechanics of bird flight, and, in particular, of the shape of the body and wings of soaring birds, the object being to develop a type of aeroplane that would automatically right itself and maintain its balance in varying air currents without the use of stabilizing devices of any kind and without the necessity of any attention from the pilot. If the full-sized machines work out as successfully as this model, it means that one of the greatest dangers in aviation has been practically eliminated. With an aeroplane of this type the airman would be free to devote all his attention to steering and running his machine, as there would be no necessity for warping the wings or changing the position of the ailerons to maintain its balance, as at present. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Darwin on Marriage.

A newspaper co-responder recalls the following early advocacy of eugenic marriages from Darwin's "Descent of Man": "Man scans with scrupulous care the character and pedigree of his horses, cattle and dogs before he matches them; but when it comes to his own marriage he rarely or never takes any such care. He is impelled by nearly the same motives as the lower animals when they are left to their own free choice, though he is in so far superior to them that he highly values mental charms and virtues. On the other hand, he is strongly attracted by mere wealth or rank. Yet he might by selection do something—not only for the bodily constitution and force of his offspring, but for their intellectual and moral qualities. Both sexes ought to refrain from marriage if they are in any marked degree inferior in body or mind; but such hopes are Utopian and will never be even partially realized until the laws of inheritance are thoroughly known. Everyone does good service who aids towards this end." —New York Evening Post.

New Trade in New Guinea.

Having returned to England after an expedition into the heart of New Guinea, Rev. Cecil Hall, formerly of Jamaica, described to a reporter some of his experiences in a hitherto unexplored country.

"After several days' journey," he said, "I came into the region of the cannibal tribes, who seemed very fierce. Particularly was this the case with the Kiki tribe, who make a practice of preserving their enemies' heads. After this we came to mountain slopes, and after climbing some distance—we estimated it at about three miles—we met a new upon a tribe, the men of which were more fully clad than the ordinary native of the country, while the women were completely clothed in a texture woven from cocoon fibers.

Mr. Hall added that the completely clad tribe was found about three hundred miles inland from Monrovia. No one in the lowlands knew of their existence.

HIS JOURNEY PERILOUS

HOW EXPRESS RIDER CARRIED NEWS OF INDIAN UPRISING.

Messenger's Trip in What Is Now State of Washington, Was One of the Most Spectacular and Venturesome Kind.

Probably the most spectacular and perilous journey that has ever been made by an express rider in the inland empire is recorded in the official reports of Gov. Isaac I. Stevens. The governor and a small party of twenty-four were near Fort Benton, Mont., in the autumn of 1855 after a summer of hard work negotiating treaties with Indian tribes between the Cascade mountains and the Montana plains.

Said Stevens' biographer: "The great tribes of the upper Columbia country—the Cayuses, Yakimas, Walla Walla, Umatillas, Palouses and all the Oregon bands down to the Dalles the very ones who had signed the treaties at the Walla Walla council and professed such friendship, had all broken out in open war. They had swept the upper country clean of whites, killing all the settlers and miners found there, and murdered Agent Holon under circumstances of peculiar atrocity. Major-Hallier, sent into the Yakima country with 100 regulars and a howitzer, had been defeated and forced to retreat by Kamlakon's warriors with the loss of a third of his force and his cannon."

This startling news the governor must know and W. H. Pearson was chosen to ride to Fort Benton. The trust was not misplaced.

Fearless rode out of the Dalles fresh and well mounted, and riding all day and night reached Billy McKay's ranch on the Umatilla by daylight. The place was deserted. Lassoing a fresh mount he saw a band of hostiles racing down the hills toward the valley, and as he sprang into the saddle they gave fierce yells and cries of "Kill the white man!"

They pursued him for many miles, but he slowly drew away and at nightfall turned off the trail at right angles, rode for several miles and then took a course parallel with the regular route.

Riding in this strategic manner, resting a few hours in secluded covert when he went out of office in 455, Pearson reached Lapwai and after a day's rest pushed on over the Blitter Root mountains. A blinding snowstorm met him; a tree fell and crushed his Nez Perce companion and the trail was buried under several feet of new fallen snow.

Unable to travel further on horseback Pearson improvised snowshoes, cutting the frames with his knife and driving the web with his fingers. His rawhide lariet and packing his blankets and a little dried meat upon his back he struggled over the snow buried heights, and after four days of this desperate travel descended into the Blitter Root valley near Fort Owen, where rest, a fresh mount and friendly greetings awaited him. Three days later he rode into Stevens' camp on the Te-on so faint and exhausted that Stevens' men lifted him out of the saddle.

Modern Ethics.

Rev. Dr. Madison Peters, who for several years has been working to reduce the cost of living and who has recently said, "The cost of living in the streets of New York for this cause, said in a recent address to a New York housewives' league:

"I will tell you how to buy fifteen dollars' worth of goods for twelve dollars. For three cents—eliminate the middleman. I believe, after careful investigation, that the cost of living in the United States is lower than in any other country at the point of production. The consumer should therefore buy at the point of production."

"And by buying thus we would greatly benefit the producer, who is now cheated none too well by the middleman. His honest industry is not rewarded as it should be."

"We are too apt to belittle honest industry. We are like the young immigrant at the East Side mission. This lady's teacher one day put the following question to him:

"There were two rich men, one of whom made his fortune by honest industry, while the other made his by fraud. Now, which of these men would you prefer to be?"

"Which made the most? the boy asked, sharply."

Pendulum Steadies Aeroplane.

"An automatic means for steadying aeroplanes has been considered, discovered," said M. Quinton, president of the French National Aerial League, at a banquet given to President Poincare.

"The apparatus is that of an aviator who has flown with a pendulum for thirty-five minutes, controlling his apparatus with only the levers for rising and descending. On that day the wind attained seven meters (twenty-three feet) per second. The principle of the device is that of a pendulum. The machine is a monoplane in type. The engine, gasoline tank and wings form a compact mass, while the seats for pilot and passenger, hanging beneath as a pendulum."

In Bohemia.

"I fear I shall have to let you go and employ a brunette model," said the artist.

"I'm topped," responded the model, "that I'm giving satisfaction."

"You are. But you are a blonde, and I am all out of yellow paint," Louisville Courier-Journal.

When Rome Tried Socialism.

The old agrarian law in Rome decreed, an equal division among the Roman people of all lands acquired by conquest, limiting the possessions of each person. It was first proposed by the consul Spurius Cassius, 480 B. C., and occasioned his judicial murder when he went out of office in 455. An agrarian law was passed by the tribune Licinius Stolo, 376; and for demanding extensions Tiberius Gracchus, in 133, and his brother Caius, in 121, were murdered. Livius Drusus, a tribune, was murdered for a like cause in 91. Julius Caesar prohibited the plebeians by an agrarian law in 69.

Being Awake.

Moral reform and improvement are the effort to throw off sleep. Why is it that men give so poor an account of their day if they have not been asleep? If they had not been overcome with drowsiness they would have performed something. The millions are awake enough for physical labor; but only one in a million is awake enough for effective intellectual exertion, only one in a hundred million to a poetic or divine life. To be awake is to be alive. I have never yet met a man who was quite awake. How could I have looked him in the face?—Thoreau.

Make Exemplary Patients.

A place of bone lamed between the molars of a Bengal tiger made the great cat furious, but when the zoological physicians touched the tormenting object with the forceps, he began to "relax completely, and the bone was removed with ridiculous ease." The Bulletin of the Zoological society records the case of several other animals that proved to be far more susceptible patients than human beings. All the great apes, for example, are perfect patients. But the gentle deer, which are high-strung, nervous creatures, are the most difficult of all to handle when ill.

He and She.

"With a woman, it isn't what a man looks like that he says and does." "A woman doesn't care what a man looks like. They'd rather a man wouldn't be handsome, so he'll think about them instead of about himself. The way to please a woman is to help her to think of nothing but herself."

"A serious young woman is never in any circumstances so interesting to a man as a light and gay pretty woman, whatever may be pretended. It is in born in the male to regard the female as the representative of the lighter side of life."—"George Helm," by David Graham Phillips.

If you are in need of anything, a Times Want Ad. will fill your want.

The Ready Coder.

The late Col. Samuel F. Cody, Engineer, once successful aviator, was an American; and Cody in his youth had an eventful life as a showman, photographer, circus tumbler and what-not.

Cody once exhibited, as a side-show feature of a circus, a Tartary wild horse. "Here you are, gentles," he shouted from his side-show platform. "Here you are—the only genuine wild horse of Tartary. A purse of $10 is offered to anybody who can stick on his back."

There were no aspirants for the purse, and Cody continued:

"If any gentleman here can stick on his back thirty seconds I'll give him the ten-dollar purse and the wild horse besides," by Jingo. The animals' unridable. I've had years of equestrian practice, and he shakes me off in ten seconds."

"Ever try gitlin' inside 'im?" shouted a yokel.

"Yes, I've tried that, friend," Cody replied, "but his mouth ain't quite as big as yours."

"The Cut-Flower Express."

American railway trains often bear amusing or picturesque names, but no American "special" or "limited" bears such a poetic name as that of a train that runs every day in the year between Toulon and Paris. This train is, called the "rapido des fleurs"—which we may translate as "the cut-flower express."

The train carries nothing but cut flowers, which are shipped in baskets and pasteboard boxes for the Paris market. You can buy the violets of Antibes and the Roman hyacinths of Obolus and Carthagenes at the lower stalls of Paris eighteen hours after they were gathered on the shores of the Mediterranean.

A considerable quantity of these flowers go also to Germany and Belgium, and some are sent as far as Vienna and St. Petersburg. A special "c" crew handles the packages and as it comes with mail clerks' carts and the "cut-flower express" runs at high speed and is nearly always on time—York's Companion.

Awful Shock.

Harper's wife was out of town on a visit. When Harper opened his mail the other morning he found a "a neat little check and the following note:

"Dear Fred—Inclosed you will find $12.50. Please credit same to my 'condemned fund.' After long hours of deliberation I have reached the conclusion that I paid too much for my hat. Lovingly, Mae."

Then Harper fainted.

A repetition of your want ad—again and again if needed—may be good business sense if you're looking for work.

KAMMANY HALL MEETS DEFEAT

In Massachusetts David J. Walsh, Democrat, present lieutenant governor, was elected by a plurality of about 50,000 over Augustus P. Gardner, Republican; Charles S. Hild, Progressive, and Governor S. P. Fox, Independent. Henry C. Stuart was chosen governor of Virginia, together with an entire state ticket, Republicans and Progressives having declined to name candidates because of inability to agree on a united ticket.

Returns from New Jersey were delayed. Though Democratic leaders claimed a safe plurality for James J. Fiedler for governor over Edward C. Stokes, Republican, and Everett C. Calkins, Progressive. In the early returns Stokes and Fiedler were running neck and neck. The Democrats claimed Hudson county for Fiedler by 25,000, while Republican leaders asserted supremacy for Stokes. Fiedler, who succeeded President Wilson as governor of New Jersey, had the support of the national administration, several members of the cabinet taking stump in his behalf. National Republican leaders spoke in behalf of Stokes and President Wilson and his policies were made the dominant issues.

In New York city the triumph of the fusion ticket was assured and late returns from the state indicated a Republican majority in the general assembly and the selection of Republican chief judge of the court of appeals and nine supreme court justices. For United States senator Justice chose Blair Lee, Democrat.

Democracy triumphed also in the Twentieth New York congressional district, where Jacob H. Cantor was elected; the Thirtieth New York, where George W. Foltz, succeeding the late "Tim" Sullivan, was elected; and the Third Maryland district, where Charles P. Costly was the choice. Returns from the Third Massachusetts district had not been received at a late hour, but Democratic leaders claimed a victory.—Statesman.

FINDS JEWELRY IN POCATELLO

Montana Sheriff Finds $5,000 Worth of Jewelry in Trunk

Yesterday Sheriff John Killorn of Park county, Montana, returned to Livingston, having in his charge Manuel Lencina, the Spaniard, who was arrested here one day last week by Officer Frank Wilson, and charged with the robbery of the store of the Schenker jewelry company of Livingston.

It will be remembered that Lencina and another Spaniard by the name of Panfalo Alvarado, were arrested by Officer Wilson on the charge of having stolen a revolver from the proprietor of the Wood River house. In the search that followed a steamer trunk filled with about $5,000 worth of diamonds, watches, rings and other jewelry, was discovered in Lencina's room. Subsequent developments brought to light the Livingston robbery.

The manager for the jewelry company accompanied the sheriff to Pocatello Saturday, and readily identified the entire stock. It had the exact marks of the firm, and was part of the same stock that Officer Wilson had looked over while in Livingston last week. The stock, minus a few rings and a watch or two, was returned to the firm.

It was thoroughly determined by the officers that Panfalo Alvarado was not interested in the theft, nor in possession of the goods, and he was released from custody.

The jewelry manager stated that the wholesale cost of the valueless stolen from the store was about $5,000, which would make the retail value of the lost in possession of Lencina at about $5,000, and the capture of the man and the theft is considered one of the most important police jobs that has been pulled off in the city for several years.—Pocatello Tribune.
