One of the Salt Lake dailies recently devoted almost a half of its front page to showing how it had scouted its contemporaries in getting a photograph of the outlaw Lepke. The blowing of the horn in self-praise whether in the individual or the newspaper gets little sympathy from the people forced to hear the egotistical blarney. The average reader of the modern newspaper has not even known the existence of the news is carried on, or the labor and grief which enters into every day newspaper work. The public wants the news delivered with as little blarney as possible and when it finds a paper which delivers the goods, the public then does the blowing for the paper. The paper, which has the public's blessing for its blarney, is never a dead proposition. Even the undertakers will posit a live paper.

Mr. Louis D. Brandeis continues to afford the railroad exploiters of this country considerable food for thought. He was promised the place of Attorney General, and the railroads promptly pulled some of the strings, and did him out of that. Then he was slated to be Secretary of the interior and the railroads pulled some strings and did him out of that also. Great joy in railroad circles.

However, they were not done with this man. The Interstate Commerce Commission has chosen him to conduct the hearings on rate increase that the railroads are now trying to flim-flam through.

Hold with their own petard. They had much better have allowed him to be Attorney General. With the courts full of railroad judges, an Attorney General, no matter how honest, can do the railroads little harm. But a man like Brandeis, that knows the preposterous nature of the proposed rate advance, can knock that pet project cold.

After which, how about our melons? Nothing seems left but for the press vultures of the private ship to renew their personal attacks on this man and the confidence that persons him with anonymous threatening letters to return to their activities. These things do not seem greatly to daunt Mr. Brandeis, but they may some day. Much virtue lies in persistent effort.—Pearson's Magazine.

During the last session of the house, there was a woman of this state and member of the club women of this city, who was long and earnestly for a reduction of the working hours for women. It is a matter for congratulation that they succeeded in their efforts and had the nine-hour bill become a law. It is one there was need for the law and every merchant in the state probably admits its justice. But there is another side to the question which the club women and the women shoppers should not overlook while planning the Christmas shopping. It is justice to the merchant who is hit the hardest by the nine-hour bill. Every merchant has the same problem to face who employs women. From the beginning of the Friday before Christmas on up to Christmas eve the stores have to be kept open to meet the demands of the women shoppers. It is too well known to need comment that every person waits until the last minute to make purchases. It is a fact that women as a rule always seek the same hour of every day to shop, forgetting that to crowd stores for two hours means more clerks if they are to be secured, and with it more expense to the merchant. To take care of this rush shopping is a problem, while for many merchants stores which cater to women trade do not have enough business to keep the clerks busy. To the women of this city the Times desires to put up the plea of justice both to the clerks and to the merchants to not only shop early but to go that shopping at hours when the woman shopper is at home. Try to get to your shopping in the morning and do it early in the month. It means that you get better service for yourself and that you are trying to sustain your sex in the matter of labor uplift. Don't figure that your activity in pushing through the nine-hour law is the last of your responsibility toward establishing better conditions for working women. Just remember that speedup the human machine beyond its just pace for three mad shopping hours is just as bad as longer hours under a more moderate pace induced by sane shopping.

WAKE UP, GOVERNOR, YOU'RE DREAMING.

If the engineers of the New Haven railroad strike, Governor Foss of Massachusetts promises to call a special session of the legislature to pass a law making a strike by railroad employees a crime.

But why stop with railroad employees? They cannot be put upon a different footing from other employed persons. There is a law governing making every strike a crime, and then compelling all employed persons to work under such conditions and for such hours as their employers may designate, and thus create at once a state of industrial serfdom in which even the National Association of Manufacturers could find no flaw. If you are going into this thing, do it right.

Meaning, if a mere ordinary citizen may inspire, since when has the Massachusetts legislature abrogated its constitutional functions and become a facile registry for the governor's decrees? He says he "will have the legislature do this." "Will have" is a good phrase in the mouth of the president of the Russian council, but we do not recall ever encountering it before in the utterances of an American executive. The governor is dreaming he is in at his factory again and about to give out orders to his "hands."—Pearson's Magazine for December.

TALKS ON THRIFT

No. 27—FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE.

EXCE.

"I know of no greater independence than this thing of having a little lump sum of money stowed away, that I can draw on any day in the position he finally secured. It will be a year at least before this young man pays what he owes—provided he observes the strictest economy. That he had friends was unusually fortunate. WHAT A DIFFERENT POSITION HE WOULD HAVE FOUND HIMSELF IN IF HE HAD SAVED SOME MONEY WHEN HE HAD IT!"

There are various paths that lead to fortune, but if you expect to acquire a competence through your own efforts, there is only one starting point—the regular saving of a portion of your income.

As an illustration, one of the common roads that lead on to fortune is judicious investment in real estate. To buy land you must have at least some cash. Many a man has made profitable deals because he had more or less cash on hand to take advantage of an opportunity when it presented itself, while such profits are rarely for the man who has no money saved.

Saving money is practically indispensable for business success, not only in itself and in the credit which brings, but also for the good mental, moral and physical effects that habits of thrift have upon the individual himself.

It takes some backbone, some genuine courage, to withstand the temptation to spend more money than you can really afford, but you'll feel better to keep out of debt and then you'll be working today for tomorrow's satisfaction, and not to make good on account of yesterday's extravagance.

When the finest home-buying chance in your life is open to you, you'll get the news in the "Real Estate For Sale."

the best musical talent of the city rendered selections to a delighted and enthusiastic audience. The program consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Kenneth and by Mr. Wilton Peck; a violin solo by Miss Viola Alfano; a piano solo by Miss Vesta Thomas. The ladies' quartet and the quintette of mixed voices were especially enjoyed. The mandolin orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Rezan, gave much pleasure to the listeners.

After the musical program, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Madeline Higgins, Brookover, B. A. Baker, H. B. Johnson, Kenneth, assisted by Misses Hamilton, Ostrander, Dwight.

At about ten o'clock the company dispersed, looking forward to another social and musical evening some time in January.

Club Notes.

The Century Star is to be edited and published by the Current Events department. The first issue of this newspaper will appear on January 6, 1914, at the next general club meeting. Every club member is entitled to public reading of the same. The "local correspondent" is busy day and night writing locals about all the Century people. The fashion editor is busy making good reputable fashions. The foreign correspondent is visiting the capitals of Europe gathering and assimilating foreign news for the pampered appetites of the million and one subscribers to The Century Star. All lost, strayed and stolen articles will be found in the editorial sanctum.

Mrs. Robert McCullum has been appointed chairman of the ways and means committee.

The Junior department wish to express their appreciation to Prof. Elliott and Mr. Jones for their interest and courtesy in securing the auditorium and arranging for rehearsals.

Department Items.

The Current Events department met November 25. Among the current events given, those from foreign countries were especially interesting. The lesson period was devoted to finishing the study of Alaska, taking up the natural resources, coal deposits, and the more valuable minerals. The effect which the conservation of the natural resources had upon Alaska proved a very interesting subject, and was followed by a lively discussion concerning the doctrine of conservation. The opinions of recognized authorities were quoted both for and against conservation. It was developed that much might be said on both sides of the question. Mrs. Wallington read poems from an Alaska collection.

The next meeting will be the last of the year, and will be of a social nature, a sort of Christmas treat by the officers of the department. Each member will bring verses pertaining to the holiday season. The History and Literature department met with the leader, Mrs. Bradley, Friday. Each member responded to roll call by giving some item of interest about England. The class then continued the reading and discussion of Shakespeare's historic play, King John. This department holds one more meeting before the Christmas vacation.

The Parliamentary and Civics department met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Daube. An election without nominations was demonstrated. The class continued the study of incidental and miscellaneous motions.

Announcements.

The Household and Economics department will meet at the home of Mrs. J. O. Gates on Seventh avenue north, Tuesday, December 9, at 2:30. The Current Events department will meet at the Masonic hall dining room, Wednesday, December 10, at 3:30. The History and Literature department will meet at the home of Mrs. Bradley on Eighth avenue East, Friday, December 12, at 2:30. The Parliamentary and Civics department will meet at the home of Mrs. Daube on Seventh avenue North, Monday, December 15, at 2:30.

Wife: "In his breakfast viewed;
"I cannot stay here, sir," said he,
"For all these prunes are stewed."

At luncheon I was very sure
His palate would be tickled;
Said he: "Such sights I can't endure;
These wretched beets are 'pickled'."

At dinner, I was very strong
To bar all boozey junk;
Said he: "Twit not be very long
Until that water's 'drunk'."

I offered him a Cuesta flay;
'E'en this his rage provoked.
"I've heard," said he, "that night and day,
This brand is always 'smoked'."

Good Reasoning In Home Building

seems natural with good citizens, but there's no denying the fact that our forefathers gave home building a grand boost for all time when they almost to a man selected wood as the best material. There's absolutely no doubt they adopted it not alone because of its low cost, but also because it afforded the most sanitary homes. For the same reason people are still using wood to build homes. It's the thing in the world supplied by Nature that human minds and hands have not been able to improve upon. The lumber, however, made these days from Nature's wood does show a big improvement—due to man's ingenuity in the mill—when the stock we want to furnish you for your new home is truly a marvel in smoothness, softness, grain and color.
