President Wilson's appointment of Col. Goethals as governor of the Panama Canal zone is a happy choice and preserves to the nation's service one of the brightest engineering minds of the century. Just the same, many would have liked to see Goethals at the head of New York's police department. There is no question that New York would have been cleaned up morally just as the canal zone under his administration has been the cleanest portion of the country, similarly. His unswerving loyalty to his duty would have exonerated the barrier of political writers who has made the New York police department such a power for political evil.

The "Times" is speculating greatly this week on just what the city does drink in a dry town like Twin Falls. It must be a different brand from the nasty, dirty looking water which the waterworks company is supplying to the people or a strong bowl would do us from that August body against the water company cutting off its filtration system during recent flood waters and heavy rains. This city could be by all means better than not, unfiltered water is allowed to be turned into the mud. If it has not authority, to do so it should try the attention of the state board of health to the action of the company. It will be remembered that last year the state board gave the water company a limited time to get its filter system in order. It was not intended to order such filter merely for ornamental purpose, but for the protection of the consumers. A wire to Boise would bring trouble down on the heads of the company in a short time if the council would do its duty and report the matter.

The Lincoln Day banquet called by the Lincoln Day leaders in this county should make more specific its invitation. If it means merely the standard element, the party, the invitation should have an added line—No Progressives—Republicans need apply. If the banquet is to be the means of welding the party together in this country then effort should be made to get both branches there and formulate some plan for interesting both sides. It will not do for the progressive Republicans to say that you must come to my terms or I will not have anything to do with the party. Neither should the standard or old line Republican say that to the progressive. We all do things that the progressive, we all do things our way and you don't like it. Your help is not wanted. It is high time that both wings of the party stop thinking and do something to convince the people of this country that the party is still alive and not a dead thing to be mocked at by the Democrats. The Times believes that the lesson of 1912 cannot have made a very deep impression on the party leaders in this country or they would be a greater effort to live up every Republican no matter what his individual brand may be. It is still alive and not a dead thing to be mocked at by the Democrats. The Times believes that the lesson of 1912 cannot have made a very deep impression on the party leaders in this country or they would be a greater effort to live up every Republican no matter more than a day before Woodrow Wilson was elected. Before Woodrow Wilson had closed their doors, throwing the coming elections next fall, there were 15,000 men out of work.

Now a correspondent from Charleston, W. Va., writes to the "Daily Progress": "The closing down of a large number of the single and lumber mills of our state is an annual occurrence at this time of year, and the policies of the present national administration have nothing to do with it."

Then, treating them to ammunition from their own camp, he cites the recent statement of John Wanamaker, a leading Republican and a leading business man, who in a New Year's speech before the Union League Club, Philadelphia, said:

"The man who goes nothing but also never ahead is not a true American. The breeders of pane are to be deplored."

"I have no fear of any serious diminution of business or of any long disturbance of prosperity."

And to Mr. Humphrey's tale of the iron and steel industry, Mr. Underwood replies:

"I represent a great iron and steel industry myself." Practically everything made in my district has been on the free list. I have not received very high prices for our commodities but the mills, furnaces, and factories have been running. Since the holidays

I have seen in one of the papers that one of the great concerns in that country has put men to work in doing shifts."

It is interesting to note that on the same day that Mr. Underwood made the same story that the news dispatches from various districts reported resumption of activity in mills and factories. Thus a Chicago dispatch of January 15 states that more than 3,000 men went back to work today in the mills of the Illinois Steel Company at South Chicago, and a Pittsburgh correspondent on the same date reported the re-employment of 10,000 idle men.

Turning again to the alarming picture painted by Representative Humphrey of the state of Washington, we learn that an annual tax roll of $15,000,000 has been wiped out since President Wilson entered the White House.

Says Mr. Humphrey:

"The wage earners are losing $60,000,000 per month. An annual payroll of $75,000,000 has been wiped out.

A sum equal to $2,000,000 a day that the American workmen were receiving a few months ago has been taken from them and paid to the foremen, or not paid at all."

"It is an awful wonder, with this sum daily taken from labor, that there is a general business prosperity!"

It will be recalled that in our issue of Feb. 22, shingle and lumber mills had closed their doors, throwing the coming elections next fall, there were 15,000 men out of work."

Now a correspondent from Charleston, W. Va., writes to the "Daily Progress": "The closing down of a large number of shipments will be attracted by express of goods weighing fifty pounds or less, which have hitherto been moved by freight," for the new express rates will cut under some of the long-haul freight charges.

Even where the express rates are higher than the freight rates, promptness in delivery and greater ease and certainty in tracing pleasant parcels will attract much of this business."

The express companies are able to number express parcels to better advantage than the government postal service at the railroad freight service."

While the establishment of the parcel post system has undoubtedly cut down the profits of the express companies, promises to lead to greater, and, in some cases unforeseen, expansion of traffic of this character, which will be of benefit to the people at large, and it is to be hoped, will be reasonably profitable to the express companies themselves."

City dwellers are no strangers to the express advertisements in the papers and the placards in windows and on delivery wagons proclaiming the advantages to the public in the superior service and low rates.

In an editorial in the Wells-Fargo Messenger (New York) we find agents urged "to talk low prices," "to bring the traffic flooding through the channels of the express," Wells-Fargo agents—and all the big companies are pursuing the same policy—are further reminded not to "forget our other talking points." And these are to quote a typical advertisement: "The express, with its wagons, give a free collection service, a receipt for each package, and free insurance up to $100 dollars and at a low figure above that. It carries your packages in passenger-trains and sometimes in special trains that are faster than passenger cars, and if those packages are small or at all fragile it will carry them in its stout, iron-bound safes office."

Express experts believe, according to the "Commercial," that a large number of shipments will be attracted by express of goods weighing fifty pounds or less, which have hitherto been moved by freight," for the new express rates will cut under some of the long-haul freight charges.

Even where the express rates are higher than the freight rates, promptness in delivery and greater ease and certainty in tracing pleasant parcels will attract much of this business."

MANY BILLS INTRODUCED

More Than 15,000 Bills Introduced In Both Houses of Congress.
(Special Correspondence.)

Brady Lands Vetoable Federal Idaho Bill—Idaho, D.—C., Jan. 27.—Poultre is to be prohibited from building, and it is to be constructed of Idaho sandstone at a cost of $39,575.00. For a time it looked as though the case was hopeless, the treasury department having closed all matters, the bills for the construction being so much in excess of the appropriation. However, after Senator Brady's recent visit to Idaho, where he had taken up the matter with various congressmen, he immediately upon his return to Washington prevailed upon the treasury department to reopen the case.

As a result of his persistent efforts, the senator has been notified that the contract has been awarded the firm of F. J. and E. C. Smith, who submitted a bid within the limits of the appropriation, specifying the use of Idaho sand stone in the construction of this building.

The work is to be completed by July 5, 1916.

More Than 12,000 Bills Now Before Congress.

The almost impossible task that would confront congress should it attempt to act upon all the bills that come before it is shown by the records of the clerk's office of the two houses since last April.

In the first session the number of bills introduced has already reached 12,269, while in the Senate less than one-fourth as large in membership, bills number 3,874. With the exception of a few measures that have been passed, all bills will be introduced before congress. Their number will be augmented by thousands, it is expected, before the current session ends next summer, and another session of the sixty-third congress, beginning in November, will add many more to the total.

The thousands of measures that pour in at each session have greatly increased the work of committees during the last two years. A great proportion of the bills will get no further than the committee stage. The number of bills passed at a session seldom exceeds 500, including special bills of a legal character.

The large number introduced thus far is due to the fact that there is little legislation of a general character of the bills that get through, and that the number of bills introduced is taken up between the first assembling of congress April 7, and the beginning of the regular session December 1.

Monthly Instead of Quarterly Payment of Penalties.

Congressman Smith of Idaho, is urging the enactment of legislation providing for the payment of penalties monthly instead of quarterly, to the survivors of the Union army and their widows.

Mr. Smith contends that the additional expense required to issue monthly checks instead of quarterly checks, the benefit that it would be to the department of the government fifty-fifty and who are, in many instances, dependent upon their pension for support, as there are but few of them now able to earn their livelihood.

Creamery Trust in Hands of Attorney General.

Representative Burton L. French has received a copy of resolutions adopted by the Idaho State Dairymen's Association, at Gooding, Idaho, alleging that a trust exists and is now operating for the purpose of defeating the efforts of the creameries of Idaho, and controlling the entire butter output of the northwest, contrary to the provisions of the interstate commerce laws, and he has taken up the matter with the attorney-general to see if the present laws are not sufficient ample to correct the situation.

Idahoans at National Capital.

Former Senator George W. Borrell of Middleton, is one of Idaho's visitors at the national capital, having extended his trip east from Indiana where he has been staying a few weeks with relatives. Dr. W. F. Smith of Boise, and Mrs. Dr. Prole of Pocatello, are also visiting Washington.

The Right Way to Roll a Cigarette

I. In fingers of left hand, hold cigarette paper curved, so as to receive the tobacco. Pour right quantity of "Bull" Durham tobacco into middle sack with right hand, stroking tobacco evenly in paper.

II. Then place your two thumbs next to each other in the middle of the paper in this position.

III. And roll the cigarette on the lower fingers, so that the index fingers move up and the thumbs move down. With the thumbs, gently but firmly force the edge of the paper over the tobacco, and

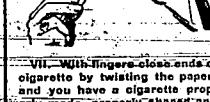

IV. Shape the cigarette by rolling it with the thumbs, as you draw them apart.

V. Hold the cigarette in your right hand, and

VI. Molten the projecting edge of the paper.

VII. With fingers close ends of cigarette by twisting the paper and you have a cigarette properly made, properly shaped and ready to smoke.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Attorneys are also visiting Washington, has been followed. This would give the governor control of all features of Commission Day and Gov. Burrell had a conference with the president last week regarding Idaho affairs, which had been introduced by Congressman Smith.

Colonel Gouthals is understood to have selected Captain Hugo Rodman of the navy as superintendant of the new canal and navigation, and Captain Gouthals and Naval Constructor Daniel C. Nutting to be superintendents of all the construction shops at Balboa and elsewhere, succeeding Lieutenant-Colonel Tracy Dickson.

Washington—Official notification of the Panama Canal selection was cable to him at Panama. Secretary Garrison said he was confident there would be no question about his acceptance.

The change in title will mean a loss of $5,000 a month, but the new title as the receiver's salary will be $10,000 and he now receives $15,000 as chairman of the commission.

Washington—President Wilson Tuesday signed an executive order putting into operation an Anglo-American agreement to name the Panama Canal zone, naming Colonel George W. Goethals as the first civil governor.

Panama—News of the signing by President Wilson of the Anglo-American agreement establishing a permanent government for the canal zone, with Colonel Goethals as governor, reached here late Tuesday and brought with it a general feeling of relief.

Washington—A general and pleasant surprise awaited the appointment, which declined to make comment in the absence of official notification.

It is believed in official circles here that the plan submitted by Colonel Goethals through the secretary of war carrying a kettle of boiling water it was accidentally spilled, scalding his lower limb considerably but not seriously.

A repetition of your want ad—or even a dozen publications of it—would like to sell—or who would sell a really inexpensive way of selling at property?
