The decision of the public utilities commission delayed until after the election, presumably with the hope of keeping a few voters in line for Haines made its appearance in the administration sheet, Sunday, and Twin Falls is denied any form of electrical competition. The decision is no surprise to the people here who have followed the career of the Haines-Weiler Commission in its almost frantic effort to help every utility corporation at the expense of the detriment of the state. The notable exception was their lowering rates to help the city of Boise. The statement of the commission that the present company was covering the field here was not borne out by the testimony produced at the hearing and a number of instances where service was refused, passed by the commission members all through the hearing, as if their minds were already made up and that the proceedings bore no fruit.

The great agitation for more effective legislation will begin from now on until the legislature adjourns next March. Every group of citizens in the state wants favorable legislation passed which fits its own requirements. As a result the Idaho legislature, overwhelmed with so many insistent demands, accomplishes little good and more often a great deal of harm as the freak legislation is passed and left to work a hardship. It seems a pity that so little of value is obtained as a result of fifty to ninety days work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars. The legislature has many laws protecting the credit of the state, but it is a pity that the legislature has not a better tax system and uniform method of assessing values. But on the other hand Idaho needs the fool killer a great deal more so, to stop the passage of a thousand laws that conflict with the constitution, annual better laws, and in the main, after a poor excuse from the legislature for its existence. If the country could get along with a few useful commissions, such as a resolution amendment, curtail expenses and go home, it will make a hit with the people of the state as a whole.

WHY GERMANY EXPECTS VICTORY

Between the lines of the German and Austrian press one can see an expectation of victory not based on the operations in France or Poland. Insurrections of peoples held in subjection by Britain, Russia and France, the hostility of neutral nations angered by British interference with commerce and dissensions among the Allies themselves are expected to appear soon and end the Austro-German cause. No subject, except the progress of action on the fighting lines, is more frequently discussed than that of greater union of expression either in the news columns, the editorial pages, or even in the literary or magazine supplements of the German-Austrian press. History is searched and probabilities worked out, showing how dangerous is the situation for all of the powers in the Entente, while the other combatants on that side, Serbia and Japan, are not without their distractions. The expectation of Germany and Austria seems to be, either that forces now in the European field will have to be withdrawn to protect and build colonial possessions, or that these possessions will at least grow in performance to furnish troops for the contest in Europe. India, Egypt, South Africa, Persia and Morocco are expected to burst into a flame of revolt that may decide the war. Then we are assured that nearer home England is raising up trouble for herself. Her complaints against Scandinavian countries are angering them, as are her attacks upon their commerce with Germany. The tribulation about the attitude of the Scandinavian press is similarly leading to feeling that may bring nations together. In fact, Italy and Italy to the latter the Kolchache Zeitung devotes much space are becoming still more aroused by the arrest of their shipping. The search process, initiated, and the removal of German and Austrian goods from the Hamburg Nachrichten, Berliner Tageblatt, and the Preussische Zeitung, all much opposed to this phase of England's international relations. When to all these external troubles and to her full occupation at the seat of war there are added at home difficulties of providing a sufficient food supply, the embarrassment of the unemployed, and the dangers and loss to her commerce by the German cruisers now on the coast of England appears to the German press to be quite desperate and liable to cause her withdrawal from the contest before many more days elapse.

Where we kill Building Cost

Is in our knowledge of average lengths required in a home. But it would surprise you if you knew how much hand sawing by the carpenter can be saved in knowing the percentage of long 10 foot stuff that goes into the average house as compared to 10 and 12 foot lengths. Never thought of that, had you? Well we're figuring on just that sort of stuff all the time in addition to studying the uses for which certain kinds of lumber are best suited, and that's why we have so many satisfied customers.

So far as France is concerned, her external difficulties are less only as her colonial possessions are smaller and less diversified, and at home are are told such embarrassments exist as a dangerous royalist agitation, which has even got into the army; the exceedingly great need caused by unemployment and a strengthening of reaction, which affects the population at large that many are naturally alarmed. The situation is not that, according to the Berliner Tageblatt, a great deal of looting of their own wounded and dead is done by the French themselves on the battlefield.

On the Russian boundaries all is not harmony. If Mohammedans are arousing themselves against England and France, their objective includes also Russia. She holds away over twenty millions who profess this faith, so that Persia and Afghanistan are no less resolved to enter the lists against her than against the other two powers. The Frankfurter Zeitung recalls in this connection the fanaticism of the Russian orthodox. The position of the "Frankfurter Zeitung" is not a result, but a symptom of the Russian correspondence of the Post-Lloyd and the Berliner Tageblatt. An outbreak of hostilities on the Russian-Persian boundary. Nearer home the Finns and Polish revolutionaries are pictured as giving trouble, the former being engaged in actively opposing conscription.

On the other side of the field of conflict Serbia is finding her path anything but smooth, since New Serbia, the province named by her in the Balkan conflict is already in insurrection. And in the extreme east, according to the "Frankfurter Zeitung," the Japanese government has to contend with a serious popular movement against participation in the war. House-to-house search has brought to light posters setting forth that Japan were better employed in the concern with Manchuria and Mongolia than in pulling Great Britain's chestnuts out of the fire.

The Kolchache Zeitung and the Pest-Lloyd also find the seeds of disunity among the Allies. Neither trusts the other, and why the agreement about making peace jointly? Plinicks contribute little to cordiality and good feeling. Such a one is the reported "treatment" of English journalists whom the French staff kept jamming from post to post ineffectively. And how little England trusts Japan is shown by her taking part in the Kichew offense. "Surely a whole nation like Japan ought to be enough to take care of a little place like that and a few Germans."

The "Frankfurter Zeitung" quotes the Paris correspondent of the Manchester Guardian to the effect that France cannot sustain a war of two or three years' duration. The Gottenburger Handelsblatt predicts complete victory over France in two months, says the Pest-Lloyd.

As soon as Verdun is taken, the development of events will be rapid. "The spirit of the German army is totally unshaken, while the French wait only the opportunity to submit." Thus conditions throughout the world are declared to point infallibly to German and Austrian success. Translations made for the Literary Digest.

BOOSTING JEROME

Water Company inaugurates Plan of Utilizing Vacant Lots.

Plans were laid before us yesterday of an arrangement now being considered by the company to further demonstrate the great possibilities of this section in the growing of various products for which the North Side has become famous. Through this plan all the vacant lots lying in and around the town, which have been allowed to grow up to weeds will another year be utilized for general farming and demonstration purposes.

It is the intention of the company to at once commence the erection of buildings, sheds, pens, etc., for the accommodation of stock and they will, once enter into the business of breeding thoroughbred horses, cattle, hogs and sheep under the general supervision of experienced men, and in this manner assist in demonstrating to the farmers on the tract the best methods of raising good stock.

A large and modern poultry house will also be erected in close proximity to the town, which will be stocked with the best fowls that can be found including chickens, turkeys, geese, and other fowls and a general poultry business will be carried on.

In portions of the town limits are blocks of land that are still held by the company are also some of the best tracts of land in the section. The purpose of the company to make this land become a source of revenue to them and to this end these tracts will be fenced, cleared and put in condition to raise crops. All kinds of grain and grasses will be sown and the proper attention will be given to the cultivation of the land which it may be fully demonstrated to strangers as well as the settlers on the tract the possibilities that may be expected from proper attention to their crops.

Other blocks of the land will be given over to the cultivation of vegetables and garden produce of all kinds, which will be under scientific management.

The scheme conceived by the company is indeed a commendable one and we will have more to say of it as the work progresses. Lincoln County Times.

COMPETITION—DO YOU WANT IT?

Until the recent economy. On opened a plant in Twin Falls did you ever receive a premium of one net cent per pound on butter fat in rich cream? Were you able to get cash for your cream? The possibilities of a permanent cash market for poultry and eggs? Is competition of this sort worth anything to you?

Red Cross Fund Receives Unexpected Donation.

Dr. J. F. Shepherd, secretary of the local Red Cross association, happened upon a substantial donation for the Italian relief fund, the other day which adds not only to the fund but to the doctor's faith in the latent generosity in every person. While calling on one of his congregation at the hospital, Dr. Shepherd was informed that there was a patient in another room whom the divine might like to visit too. Upon entering the room, a man over seventy years of age was found there, a complete stranger in the city, who had been taken sick while visiting. During the conversation, Dr. Shepherd ascertained that he was very busy with the Red Cross work. The stranger becoming interested asked him to hand him his check book lying on the table and filled in a check for twenty-five dollars as a donation to the cause, stating that he could well afford it.

SOCIETY NOTES

Society items for this column will be gladly received by The Times.

The Klamath Club meets this week with Julia Jennison.

The Fortnightly club is postponed until Wednesday, when it will meet with Mrs. Hazel.

A football game was given Saturday evening in the Moose hall in honor of the victory over Buhl.

Mrs. Coughlin, entertained the Saturday Auction Bridge club last week. Mrs. Guthrie won first prize and Mrs. McCollum second. The pretty hand painted plates being awarded.

A number of men from town enjoyed a "stag" party at the home of Mr. Batio last Thursday evening. A feature of the evening was the reading from Shakespeare by Messrs. Holmes and Moore.

A very pleasant evening's enjoyment was provided last Thursday evening by Miss Pridgen for several of her friends. 500 was the donation of the evening, and woven flower basket being awarded Miss Grace Bryant for high score.

Mrs. Chapman was hostess to the Cozy 600 club Thursday last. Her high score was gained by Mrs. Baker. Hosts of the club were Messadoms, Evans, Newman and H. B. Johnson. Mrs. Harry Alexander assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McKay Olson entertained Saturday evening with a "dinner party," the members of "The Shepherds of the Hills" company, all of whom were old acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Olson, at one time, being associated with them in professional work.

The ladies of the Episcopal guild assembled at the home of Mrs. Senior last Thursday. A program consisting of vocal solos by the Misses Combs, Paris and Roberts, a reading by Carmen Cox and a recitation by little Malcher Priebe, was enjoyed by those present.

A small party of friends were, informally entertained by Mrs. C. E. Baker last Saturday. Auction Bridge was the enjoyment of the evening, a set of dinner gobs being won by Mrs. C. E. Baker. Present were Messadoms, W. S. Hill, Laverne, Channe, Fisher, Wiley, Baker, T. J. Woods, Senior, Miss Hornaday and Mr. Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Skeels entertained several of their friends Saturday evening with an after theatre supper. Flox were the effective decorations of the three tables around which the guests were seated. Present were Messadoms and Messadoms, Batio, Nixon, W. S. Hill, Laverne, Channe, Fisher, Wiley, Baker, T. J. Woods, Senior, Miss Hornaday and Mr. Bailey.

Prominent among the social events of the week was the large reception given by Mrs. Hugh Smith Monday afternoon, honoring Mrs. W. E. Leiby and Mrs. Addison T. Smith. Pink and white chrysanthemums beautified the room. The table in the dining room at which Messadoms P. H. Smith and Greenhow poured tea was tastefully laid, with a beautiful cloth of Japanese drawn work with a dragon design. The hostess was further assisted by Messadoms Head, Craven, Hoop, and Miss Stella Perrine. Concessions Addison T. Smith called during the afternoon and evening. The guests present. About fifty ladies left cards.

A novel miscellaneous shower was given last evening for Miss Mary Chick, whose marriage to Mr. Marman Hayward will take place Thursday of this week. Miss Bess Conover, being the hostess. Early in the evening the guests assembled in an upstairs room and upon the arrival of the guest of honor a shower of fifty cards pouring down the stairway at her feet. A dinner followed, the table being decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and the place cards bearing the same flower. Interest centered around the large seating, which held the coin ring and thimble, the lucky holder of the ring, being, according to tradition, the next bride, and on this occasion, fortune favored Miss Dorothy Wright. The amusement of the evening was a mock wedding. Miss Fannie Hart acted as bridegroom, Miss Thyma Conover as bride and the knot being tied by Miss Dorothy Wright. In the guise of a minister. The invited guests were Messadoms Batio, Edith Tarr, Mae Scott, Verne and Thyma Conover, Frances and Bertha Bellville, Leah Woods, Dorothy Wright, Edith Boyer, and Mrs. Arnold Schreiber.

ROBERT NOBLE DIES

Wealthiest Man in Southern Idaho Passes Away.

Robert Noble, one of the wealthiest men known in the southern Idaho, passed away at his home in Boise yesterday morning, following a short illness from diabetes. A pioneer in Idaho, having come here about 40 years ago, Mr. Noble finally became known as the sheep king of Idaho. In 1906 he moved to Boise, where he had since been active in the affairs of the Idaho Trust & Savings bank, of which he was president at the time of his death.

Mr. Noble was well known in Nampa. He was a friend and neighbor of Col. W. H. Dewey, when the latter lived in Tonawanda, New York, and the friendship grew during years of business relations in Idaho. He owned, among other holdings in Nampa, the building now occupied by the V. T. Elver company, that where the "Baker Brothers" tobacco and city and farm interests in this vicinity. He was heavily interested also in Boise and Caldwell.

Robert Noble was born in Cumberland, England, October 19, 1844. His family moved to Kingston, Ontario, when he was ten years old. In 1867 they came to the United States. When he came to Idaho in 1875, he was a poor man. He spent his first year in tending ferry on the Snake river. Later he went to Reno, Nevada, where he worked for Peter Peters, whose daughter he later married. He received a bunch of cattle for a wedding gift. He then came to Oregon and sold them for a good price, bought sheep and trailed his first band into Owyhee county. At one time he owned as high as 300,000 sheep. In 1906 he moved to Boise and took an important place in commercial and industrial affairs. His principal holdings are in Canyon, Ada and Owyhee counties. It is estimated that he leaves a fortune of more than $2,000,000.

Mr. Noble was a 32nd degree Mason, an Odd Fellow and an Elk. He is survived by a wife and the following children: Nellie, wife of Augustus McDonald; Robert, Jr.; Frank, Ernest, May and Rosella. Nampa-Latest.

FOUR BUHL MEN INJURED

Car Runs Off Bridge, Going at High Speed on Way to Buhl.

While going at a fast rate of speed the car containing Harry Hanks, Roy Ballou, J. Masters and Frank George ran off the bridge crossing the lateral near the Kuzo cheese factory and was hurled into the ditch with terrific force, severely injuring each occupant. The party was returning to Buhl with the men that they might vote and as the time was drawing near for the closing of the polls, Ballou, who was driving, was going at a high rate of speed when the accident happened. Hanks sustained a bad cut on the head and a number of painful bruises, but no broken bones. Ballou received a smash on the head. George is suffering from a badly wrenched back and a wound on his head. George received a fractured collar bone and arm besides numerous other injuries. Chas. Kreigh, at the time of the accident was driving his car about a half mile away and heard the crash of the car. He left the bridge hurriedly, reached the scene and picked up the injured men and brought them to the city where they were given all aid possible by the local physicians. At the time we go to press, each one is recovering nicely.

The road at the point where it crosses the bridge and where the accident happened makes an S-like turn, which can be made only by slowing to a low speed while crossing. The driver, it seems, in his anxiety to reach the polls had forgotten this particular place.

The automobile belonged to Cloyd Oliver, and experienced the catastrophe without as much damage as would have been expected. Buhl Herald.

JUDGE STANDROD RESIGNS

Long Term Member of Public Utilities Commission Steps Out.

Judge D. W. Standrod, of Pocatello, appointed by Governor Haines less than two years ago for the long or six-year term on the public utilities commission, placed his resignation in the hands of the governor late yesterday afternoon to take effect immediately. Although loath to do so, Governor Haines accepted it. Judge Standrod closed his official acts in connection with the commission during the day together with private business matters and left this morning for his home. No appointment is announced to fill the vacancy on the commission as yet. The two remaining commissioners constituting a majority of the commission are J. A. Blomquist, of Boise, president, and Arsl. F. Hamstedt, of Moscow.

Business Interests Pressing. The resignation of Judge Standrod will not come as a surprise to those familiar with the conditions under which he accepted the appointment in the six-year term on the commission. Owing to the pressure of his banking interests, Judge Standrod found it inconvenient to accept the appointment. It was his desire and the desire of those instrumental in his appointment to endeavor to clear away the preliminaries toward establishing the commission on a firm foundation for the regulation of common carriers and public utilities. The intent of the public utility act was to place the commission non-partisan and removal from politics made the work of properly installing it one of some difficulty. Judge Standrod's association with it is generally conceded by those familiar with the work of the commission, having placed the commission on an excellent working basis. Capital News.

Urges Better Club Support organizations perfect a machine to fight for the rights and in the interest of the whole Northwest. Then there will be new plans to work out, new lines of offense and defense to establish and the need of men with some training will be paramount.

The larger the training and the greater knowledge of conditions and requirements, the sooner will the vast empire come into being, and the older state made to feel that our rights must be respected, and our possibilities more thoroughly understood. Every man owes a certain amount of time, money and energy to the community in which he lives, where he enjoys the benefits of civilization, and he should not be a personal fortune, and not alone does the commonwealth benefit from his efforts and sacrifices, but he himself broadens and gets more enjoyment out of life, feeling that he is not living to himself alone. This feeling is present to a degree in less than in our midst. But the earlier in life that it is fostered and that this energy is organized and expended in a definite way and to a definite end, the greater the benefits to both individual and state.

It is indeed fortunate that various minds run in different channels, and the desire to assist in the general uplift, present in each man who is starting in active business life, wishes to manifest itself in various ways, and that organization that attempts to assist in everything, from adjusting and equalizing freight rates to improvements of seed corn; from encouraging manufacturing enterprise to destruction of flies; from the improving of roads to the marketing of potatoes; from the securing of water to irrigate vast tracts of land to the providing of hitchhike posts in the city; from bettering the moral status of society to the securing of street car fare for the amusement of the citizens, surely, it may claim in an organization that attempts to co-ordinate a vast field of improvement and betterment, there is an opportunity to make use of the assistance of every man who will lend a helping hand, and it is my belief that there are a vast number of young business men and clerks who are ready and willing to work if they can be gotten started and their work organized and systematized.

The "Committee of Direction" is lost to this state because the latent possibilities in many are not recognized and developed until late in life. I believe in a great future for the state of Idaho. How great possibilities are just beginning to be developed, for vast natural resources in minerals, timber and water, and her splendid climate are sufficient to insure her final supremacy. But the greatest asset she has in her splendid citizenship, and if there is one thing more than another that argues for the early solution of many problems that have retarded her development, it is just such meetings as this, where the experience, the successes and failures of the individual clubs over the state can be discussed, the ideas better understood, and where union action may be initiated.

I believe that the final results of this organization of the Commercial clubs of the state will result in a working machine that will accomplish ends, the importance of which are hardly conceived, as was the modern transatlantic palace in the mind of Fulton when he floated his first steamboat on the Hudson river.

Once you get the thinking men of this state working for the good of the state as a whole, and exchange ideas in meetings like this, success is as inevitable as the wires telegraph, sure to follow the discovery of electricity. It is not possible for one mind to conceive of or formulate a plan. If results are to be accomplished they will come from the assembling of the ideas of many. The thing of first importance is to get the Commercial club organization, just as it does a local Commercial club, to be associated as many men as possible among whom there is no jealousy and no strife for pre-eminence, but among whom there is a feeling of good fellowship and a desire to do their share and to work for the common good.

Gentlemen, I congratulate you on your organization, I congratulate the various Commercial clubs which you represent, and I congratulate the state that you have started this important work.
