ENOUGH FOR ENTIRE ARMY

Horticultural Inspector Compiles Interesting Figures on Prune Crop

"Idaho has furnished this year enough Italian prunes to feed the entire Italian army of the United States for five years." This statement was made by H. P. Ashby, deputy state horticultural inspector, who has been making an investigation of the prune crop. According to the figures which Mr. Ashby has made, each soldier would receive 58.17 pounds of protein, 13.68 pounds of carbohydrates, and ample laxative properties to keep the military machine in a sturdy healthy condition.

"In order that the Italian prune may be enjoyed by our eastern friends," he said, "they must pay into the transportation company's vault the sum of one hundred and eighty thousand dollars. The timber cruiser collects a toll of forty-eight thousand dollars for boxes, the paper mill for eighteen hundred dollars and the steel trust for one thousand, one hundred and fifty dollars for nails. After the tax man has punched the ticket for thirty-eight thousand dollars for refrigeration, the Idaho grower still looms up in the background, waving a flag of three for two hundred and ninety thousand, two hundred and fifty dollars, his share in the net profits as a reward for a Turkish hope."

"Two thousand acres of bearing prune orchards in Idaho produced six hundred cars of green fruit this year, about 10 cars of dried prunes remain on hand. This represents about 40 per cent of a full crop, with about one-half of the total acreage in bearing. The average yield per acre this year was low, owing to freezes in the early spring. The prune orchards situated in favorable localities yielded as high as a car per acre."

"One orchard on the bench west of Boise, consisting of two and one-half acres, produced a crop which sold for fourteen hundred dollars; another orchard, a half acre, produced 75,772 pounds which sold for $113.05. An orchard near Meridian, consisting of 16 acres, produced 194 cars, which sold for $11,280. "These high yields are due not only to favorable locations, but also to the method employed in operating the orchards. It has been found that freezing the orchard during the freeze period in early spring helps to insure the crop against frost. The method employed in putting the trees in condition for wintering also has the effect upon the making of the next year's crop."

"Mr. Ashby also gave the following interesting suggestions on the care of orchards during the winter months: "A tree may be up of layers of wood around a central pit, each year a new layer is added. A layer of bark, also made annually, covers the wood. Between the bark and the wood is a delicate layer of living tissue called cambium; the cambium is the life of the tree; exposure to the air and the consequent loss of its moisture by evaporation means the death of the cambium. The cells of the cambium are full of little masses of protoplasm, which float in consistency in the growth season."

"The damage in winter consists largely through the drying out of the cambium. The cambium that with evaporation still goes on during the winter, the tree can not take up moisture from the frozen soil to make good this evaporation; the cambium then, before becoming so thoroughly dried out during cold weather that the tissues are killed."

"A cover crop will tend to hold what snow falls and will to a marked degree, prevent deep freezing of the soil. "When the wood of the tree should be well covered before cold weather sets in, it is also a good practice to allow the tree to dry out. In the absence of fall rains irrigation should be practiced. "Where straw mulch is used, great care should be taken to keep it from piling up around the tree and thereby providing a home for mice," Statesman.

What has become of all the candidates?

"When will the county be divided and when will the capital be located? Everybody should attend the temperance lecture to be given in the high school building, tomorrow evening. Come and see the stereopticon views of the tree."

Several went to Twin Falls Saturday to see the foot ball game. They can scarcely talk above a whisper. "The blind tiger has quietly crept away but a blind pig has come in its place. It is reported that forty bottles were on top a few nights ago."

REPUBLICANS HAVE MAJORITY

Returns Show That Party Have 18 Senators and 51 Members of House.

Verification of the statement made in the Capital News a week ago that the Republicans have control of the next legislature was secured yesterday on a check with the secretary of state's office showing that there are 18 Republicans in the senate and 51 Republican representatives in the house, or a clear majority in both branches of the legislature. It is not now believed that the figures will be changed. Owing to the fact that there is a tie for representative in Latah county which the state board of canvassers will be called upon to decide, there is still a possibility for the Republicans to gain one more vote as well as for the Democrats, but it will make no difference in the majority. The narrow margin of control in the house, however, is sufficient to give the organization of the legislature which means the control of the committee and the speaker as well as to add interest to party measures presented to that body.

There are 61 members entitled to seats in the house of representatives. While the apportionment was not changed at the last session, two new counties were created out of old Lincoln county, which before had but two representatives. Each of these two counties, together with the old county, is entitled to a representative which accounts for the extra member. Instead of being 60 members in the house, when the legislature meets again, as there was last session, there will be 61 members. Of this number the Democrats have 41 and the Progressives one. If the tie for representative in Latah county is decided for the Democrats and their member is seated that party will have 50 members. It was thought at one time that should the tie be decided in favor of the Democrats and the one Progressive member vote with that party, a tie could be forced in the house. This was figured on a membership of 60 in the house instead of 61, which places the control with the Republicans.

In the senate the Republicans have 18 senators, a sufficient number to control. The Democrats have 12, the Progressives two and the Socialists one, making a total of 23. Combined the Democrats, Progressives and Socialists have fifteen votes—10 for the Democrats and five for the Socialists.

The personnel of both houses as re-elected showing the strength of the respective parties is as follows:

Montgomery: Fremont, Hiram G. Fuller; Madison, Nathan Hicks; Power, K. D. House; Banook, W. H. Mendenhall; Blaine, J. B. Rockwell; Bonner, E. E. Elliott; Bonnell, J. E. Steele; Canyon, E. K. COMMUNICATION

Twin Falls, Ida., Nov. 16, 1914.

Editor Twin Falls Times,

Dear Sir:

Will you please allow me to say through your paper that the lecture given by Rev. Mr. Snodgrass at the high school auditorium last Thursday night was indeed a most successful one. I heard one man say that it reminded him of a rose. There was first the bud, then it grew and unfolded; all the while he was thinking it would be a beautiful rose in full bloom. His theme, from first to last, was "The Gospel of Christ," and an artfully did he present it, that it was as if he were presenting before us a carefully prepared table laden with the most delicious fruit, yet solid, spiritual food, at which the audience enjoyed a rare feast. And to the marriage of some of those "wedded couples" (the kind that used to come to shudder at the thought that they would destroy the church and home) and there and at that food with such ravishing appetites that it indicated that they too, like the rest of us, are starving for want of the true bread of life.

Never before did I realize so strongly how and why also, commandments heard Christ gladly, and the small audience and the absence of so many church people helped me appreciate more keenly than before, the saying that Christ must have felt when he came unto his own, and his own rejected him not.

The harvest is indeed ripe but the reapers are few.

My earnest prayer to the Lord of the Harvest is that we may have many men like Conrad Snodgrass.

S. S. GILKELAND.

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT.

Receipts for the week have been: cattle, 1100; calves, 17; hogs, 6300; sheep, 2292.

Cattle.

Receipts of cattle continue to be light, barely enough coming forward to make a showing. Some good steers were sold the first of the week at $7.00. During the week from $7.00 to $7.25 was the general price for tops. Market is steady to strong for all classes.

Hogs.

Hogs again made a better showing, the market opening at $7.15 and closing at $7.20 for tops. Monday's run of 4,000 did not cause a flutter in the market all week, as the market was steady. Good average receipts and quality all week.

Sheep.

Receipts of sheep were light, and demand excellent. Top lambs sold at $6.35, all other lines strong to higher. For killing sheep trade has been good.

The following sales are representative:

GOOD SUGGESTION TO TWIN FALLS PEOPLE

It is surprising the amount of old food matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Alster-Ka, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing the upper and lower bowels so thoroughly that One Does relieve sour stomach, gas on stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Twin Falls agents for Adler-Ka. Bedford-Palmer Fruit Company—Adv.

It was rumored that J. A. Blomquist, the member of the commission, whose term will expire in January, would resign and be appointed to the long term. Mr. Blomquist denied, however, that there was anything in fact upon which to base such a report.

The presence in the city Sunday of Victor O. Johnson, of Shoshone, gave room for speculation as to whether he would be offered the place. Mr. Johnson was mentioned for the place as head of the commission at the time of its creation. But Mr. Blomquist—named for that place.

As to the judgment, speculation has been free. The concern is understood that the place will be offered to a man from the southeast, since the returns from the recent election indicate the choice of a northern man. W. M. Veysen, for that other place. Prominent among the possible candidates are Judge Walters, the defeated candidate for the bench and Judge Budge, elected to succeed himself on the district bench, but who received a number of votes for the supreme bench also.

Another possible candidate is Judge Holden, whose name was placed on a number of ballots in the territory along Idaho Falls by means of stickers. Statesman.

Our Semi-Annual Sale

The Wherefore And Where-as Of It

This is an extraordinary sale. A sale brought about thru force of circumstances. "No man is wise at all hours," said an ancient worthy—and so it is even today. Ordinarily, this sale occurs the first week in January each year, and is looked forward to by many thrifty citizens who know our honorable methods of doing business, and the high grade merchandise we carry. This year we find ourselves overloaded with goods owing to the backward season and disturbed financial conditions thruout the country. Therefore, we are compelled to reduce our stocks. The prices here given will speak for themselves. This sale is most opportune for you, in that Christmas is but five weeks hence, and you are able to buy at saving prices now. Everything has been cut in price.
