FILER BOYS UP FOR BURGLARY

Arrested for Breaking Into Pool Hall

PRAOBATION OFFICER BRINGS IN JUVENILES TUESDAY

Begaining of Systematic Robbery Believed to Have Been Nipped by the Arrests.

On Tuesday Juvenile Officer Orman by arrested Vern McDrippe and Quina Fattor for the alleged breaking into a club room of Filer Monday night. It is understood that the boys "had confessed" to the crime. As far as can be learned—the boys broke into the pool hall with the intention of robbing the bar but failed to work the combination so contentiously—taking a quantity of tobacco and pipes. The robbery was made by breaking a window in the rear of the hall and opening the door. It has been learned that arrangements had been made to rob a bar in Filer the same evening with the help of another party, but this arrangement went wrong.

Young Patton is only sixteen years of age and his case will be tried in the juvenile court. McBride's bond has been placed at $2000 to insure his appearance for preliminary hearing. Mr. W. E. D. Roberts, Probate Judge Shakes. He has been in trouble before, about two years ago he was acquitted of horse stealing by jury, in the district court.

TIMES WAR BULLETIN

Germans Invasion Again—Feared by England as Result of War.

(Special to The Times.)
San Luis City, Dec. 3, 1914.

London, December 3.—England says it has been reported that Germany's warship fleet has been bombarded by an armada.

King George of England, is now on the flying line. Emperor William yesterday conferred with Archduke Frederick, commander-in-chief of the Austro-Hungarian forces. Yesterday evening at night at one of the Belgian provincial towns, Cambrai, at Douai, and the Dutch troops were compelled to fire into the rioters to preserve order. It is reported that six were killed and the trouble is unknown to date. It is generally believed in London that the fighting in West Flanders has been more vigorous than official advisers indicate. Heavy firing has been heard from the front. French reports of German attacks on the British coast, the boys "had confessed" to the crime. As far as can be learned—the boys broke into the pool hall with the intention of robbing the bar but failed to work the combination so contentiously—taking a quantity of tobacco and pipes.

He was adopted at the last meeting of the club.

Irish Plays and Players Furnished Topic for the Week.

Iowa hall will be filled on Tuesday, Dec. 1, with members of the Twentieth Century Club and their friends, who listened to the program on "Irish Plays and Players," interspersed with music and refreshments. The speaker was Arthur L. Swinehart, president of the Commercial club; an address by J. F. Denney, chairman of the local committee; introductory remarks by acting president, Prof. J. Wiley Sessions, and a response to the address which he touched upon some of the complex and mysterious things of the Irish race.

He made a strong plea for peace and for waging relentless war on pernicious weeds.

He also pledged the best efforts of University of Idaho students to the program subject of "Gorminadon of Seeds," which only followed in part, gave a scholarly and helpful address on which he touched upon some of the complex and mysterious things of the Irish race.

He urged farmers to get together and co-operate in securing this end.

Dr. A. A. Johnson, president of the University of Idaho, followed with a talk on the importance of close co-operation among the various branches of agriculture.

He urged farmers to get together and co-operate in securing this end.

The first session, which was held Wednesday afternoon, was rather more introductory than otherwise and consisted of an invocation by Dr. J. Wiley Sessions, a short talk by Prof. J. Wiley Sessions, and a response to the address which he touched upon some of the complex and mysterious things of the Irish race.

The second session, which was given by the Commercial club in its entirety, was a brief welcome, followed by a talk on the importance of the school by local Chairman Denney.

TOO LITTLE PUBLICITY

For a government which is supremely arbitrary in the dictates of its laws, our own nation gives mighty small amount of publicity to the laws which affect all people. Only a very small proportion of the population of the entire country obtain any knowledge of national legislation. No effort is made by the government to acquaint its citizens with the laws for the violation of which there is a fixed penalty. All of the measure information given, is in the newspapers who must of course curtail on the account of the expense in connection with publishing all news. When the federal corporation tax law was passed several years ago, corporations all over the country were caught defrauding and compelled to pay heavy sums of money, just because of their lack of knowledge of the passage of the law. The same thing happened with the income tax law, passed two years ago.

The same can be said of the migratory bird law, of which the actual requirements is not known to the sportsmen today, because of no published schedules of sunrise and sunset for the different seasons of the year, yet a number of sportsmen have been compelled to pay heavy fines for their lack of knowledge. Taken altogether, the national laws are an unknown and dangerous factor to the average American citizen, who is law-abiding and desires to do everything just right. There is no doubt too great an expense connected with the publishing broadcast of all federal laws, but where a law such as the recent war tax stamp law concerns so many people, an extra effort should be made to place a concise digest of the law in every postoffice in the country. Some of this expense is much more necessary than the Rivers and Harbor part in the national park bill.

TURKEY'S FATE?

Aghast at what they term the "audacity of Turkey," the English papers predict swift retribution. They foretell the disappearance of the Turk from Europe and his relocation to the role of a minor Asiatic power whose dominions will be confined to Anatolia. Like all the other organs of English opinion, the London Times sees the hand of the Kaiser in Turkey's act, and says:

"By her foolish yielding to the insidious of Germany, Turkey has pronounced her own doom. The Ottoman empire in Europe soon will be merely a memory. Since the Turks have resolved upon their own destruction, we do not regret their appearance in the ranks of the combatants."

"Their acts of war mean that, when this mighty struggle is over, Europe will be rid of two factors which for more than fifty years have been the chief enemies to the peace of the Old World. We shall get rid of Prussian militarism and we shall simultaneously get rid of the Turks in Europe. The people of Syria, of Arabia, and of Mesopotamia will also be freed from the blighting influence of the Turks, and the Ottoman race will be reduced to the obscure valleys of Asia Minor from which it long ago emerged."

These hard words from an ardent friend of the Sublime Porte are echoed by another former supporter, the Paris Temps, which considers that Turkey's entrance into the war will not in any way embarrass the Allies, and adds:

"The Turkish aggressor has been foremost at Petrograd, as it has been before by the English in Egypt. It is not on the banks of the Dnieper that the fate of the Ottoman empire, which has been guilty of treason and complicity with the enemy, will be settled."

On the Russian side more attention is paid to the practical aspect of it, for to rub out the task of meeting the Turkish attack. The Petrograd Novoye Vremya says that, under German influence, Turkey has gathered together fifteen efficient army corps. "These corps give Turkey an available fighting force of 600,000 men.

Those in Asia will be used in invading the Caucasus and Armenia. There are fully 1,000 German officers in the Turkish army, and it is no longer the disorganized, poorly equipped army that was crushed by the Balkan allies. Gen. Lothar von Sanders, able German leader, now commands the command of the army. Wober Pasha, another German, commands the fortress guarding the Turkish straits."

In Germany, naturally enough, the press deny that Germany was in any way responsible for Turkey's war fever, which was, it claims, instigated by some other power. Thus the Frankfurter Zeitung and the Berliner Tagblatt consider that England forced Turkey into the war, and the latter paper states that "Turkey had not acted when she did. England's long and carefully prepared plans against the Porte would have miscarried." The Frankfurter Zeitung, however, knows she fights for her existence when she fights on our side.

She knows that the defeat of Germany would mean that Turkey would become the helpless victim of Russian covetousness. At any rate, our diplomacy, which since the beginning of the war has incurred unprofitable blame in Germany, at last accomplishes a distinct success, but not in the sense that Turkey has become a blind tool of our purposes. She acts in accordance with her own highest interests."

This view is supported by the Berlin Tagblatt, Rundschau which is inclined to think that France also had a finger in the pie for it says:

"Turkey's action had been expected for a long time by the entire world after the Anglo-French entente against the Porte. Turkey is to be congratulated on her honorable decision. We sought no allies, but we welcome all the more heartily one who takes our side from the recognition of the fact that it is advantageous to do so."

"While the allies claim that Turkey started the war and then tried to explain away why they consider were aggressive actions against Russia by apologizing for them as 'temporary momentary aberrations,' and while most of the German papers blame England, quite the contrary view is taken by the well-informed and influential Berliner Anzeiger, which affirms:

"It must be emphasized that it was not Turkey, but Russia, which started the war. Turkey's action in the Black Sea and the attack on Theodosia were natural sequels to the notorious Russian assault on Turkey's integrity. The breach of the peace was Russia's work."

In Italy, Germany is roundly accused of causing all the trouble, and the special correspondent of the Milan Secolo, writing from Constantinople, says that Turkey has to all intents and purposes become a German colony, and adds:

"The Grand Vizier blindly follows orders from Berlin and has not the slightest notion what the morrow may bring forth for Turkey." Translations made for The Literary Digest,

We Have Been Forced to It

4 Months Business Must Be Done
Here in 4 Weeks

We love commercial battles but we cannot successfully fight unseasonable weather conditions.

THE Summer weather which has prevailed until now, results in conditions unprecedented in the clothing trade. The Winter selling season usually comprises September, October, November and December. Now we are forced to turn this normal four months supply of overcoats and suits into cash in 4 weeks selling. Nothing will accomplish this except the most radical price cutting. We are forced to it, as over 500 suits and overcoats must leave this store between now and January 1st. This sale is your opportunity.

There are corresponding price sacrifices to be found in every department of this Big store.

For a $5.00 Deposit

If for any reason you do not wish to take your overcoat or suit now, you can select it from this mammoth assortment, and for a $5.00 deposit we will lay it aside and keep it pressed and ready for you when needed.

Don't hesitate to take fullest advantage of this offer.

JEWELRY—THE GIFT OF GIFTS

A PERFECT GIFT

One of the chief advantages of jewelry at Christmas remembrances is that it can be had at so great a range of prices.

In nothing else can a small amount of money produce so good an effect—dozens of articles here at a few cents cost.

And on nothing else can a relatively large sum of money be spent to produce an equal appreciation from the recipient.

Jewelry certainly is the gift of gifts.

We are inviting you people these days.

We are promising you a tempting array from which to do your choosing.

We show you the just-produced ideas of the leading designers among them being many novelties that are exclusive with us.

And in every instance we promise to give you the most for the least money.

Made it Jewelry and get it here, and everyone's satisfaction is assured.

ZUDORA—THE MYSTIC GIRL-DETECTIVE—SOLVING THE MYSTERY OF THE SPOTTED COLLAR.

A Wonderful Story

Another Times Scoop! In two Weeks the Orpheum Theatre will present to you the first episode of Thanhouser's greatest photoplay—ZUDORA.

Beginning NEXT TUESDAY, the Twice-a-Week Twin Falls Times will present the novelized version of this exciting story by Harold MacGrath, to its readers. This is Mr. MacGrath's masterpiece. It was written in collaboration with Daniel Carson Goodman—famous author, philosopher and scientist. It is a story of love, science, mysticism and adventure that is bound to thrill you, bound to hold your interest. You'll marvel at the remarkable powers of deduction and hypnotism which belong to beautiful Zudora—the heroine. You'll wonder as the sensational pitfalls of this young girl's life are revealed. You'll admire John Storm, the hero. Don't miss it—even if you have to stay awake nights to read it. It begins

Chimney Sentinel Fuel-Saver (AUTOMATIC)

No matter how hard the wind blows, this device automatically regulates the chimney draft to keep the fire hot.

This uniformly correct draft makes any fuel burn more completely and waste-free. It prevents waste. That means a saving of 25% on fuel bills (by actually a uniform, comfortable temperature in your home, less time and labor spent in fixing the fire).

It's simple in design, easy to install, lasts a lifetime. Price from $6.00 up. Write for descriptive literature and savings of fuel during the windy months of February, March and April.

Big Christmas Sale Wonderful Values

This is our first Christmas sale. It is brought about thru stress of circumstances caused by overloaded stocks and the unseasonable weather this fall. This sale will bring joy to many who find their gift list too long for their means. Everything thruout the store has been reduced. We believe in an honest statement of facts to the public, believing that they have enough "savvy" to discern between genuine reductions and the loud, noisy hurrah sales. On this sheet we quote a few of the bargains being offered. Cold type cannot adequately picture the quality of the goods therefore we invite you to "look us over."
