What Can Please a Housewife More

Than a Good Kitchen Cabinet, New Library Table, a Good Rug, a Davenport or a Dining Table and set of Chairs.

That Young Lady will appreciate a Cedar Chest, Writing Box, Sewing Stand, Music Cabinet, or Writing Desk, more than all the useless gewgaws that are so often given.

Husband or Father will get real comfort from an Easy Chair, a Good Foot Rest, a Smokers Stand, or Reading Table, and will think more of your judgment than if you spend your money for some ornamental trifle.

We are showing a big line of Framed Pictures at very low prices. Our stock of Rugs is very complete. In fact we are overstocked on sizes and are offering these at Special Bargain Prices.

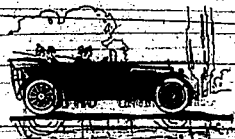

Our entire line of Woolen Blankets, Navajo Rugs, and Comforts are included in the Bargain List and will be offered at Sale Prices until January 1st.

HONEYDEW ON RED CLOVER SEED

Much red clover seed comes from the buller this year held together by a sticky substance resembling honey, often referred to as "honeydew" on the seed. Clover seed is in some instances, held together into small pellets or balls after threshing, and the substance is so sticky that it covers the coating of the seed, and which causes them to stick together.

This substance is really the honeydew which is secreted by aphids or plant lice. It is the substance upon which ants feed, and is responsible for their presence among the seed. In fact, it is the secretion or "honey" is secreted by a small green plant louse with a reddish tint, and which is commonly found on the seed. It is secreted while it is in bloom and while the seed is still young. The lice are often found massed together in the blooming heads, where they feed and secrete their honeydew, which is rubbed off by the seed. As the seed matures, it is often found in the seed, and it is

FILER NEWS

(From the Filer Journal)

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammerquist were in Twin Falls today.

C. C. Stevens left this morning on a business trip to the eastern part of the state.

The Grand Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star will be here tomorrow evening. Every member of the order is urged to be present. Refreshments will be served.

James Kirkpatrick was in Twin Falls this morning and informs the Journal that the item in another part of the paper is wrong about Melville and Patton. Their trial has not been held yet.

W. P. Blinn was at the county seat Tuesday on business.

A. J. Ripley of Twin Falls, was a Filer visitor yesterday.

Jack Munson was transacting business in Twin Falls.

The Thanksgiving dance was well attended and all seemed to have a good time.

Jack Tyree was in town Monday, and will be in this neighborhood during the winter.

The woman's club will hold their next meeting in the Masonic hall on December 15th-16th.

Chas. Reynolds has sold his Maxwell to Matt Dunster, and will probably ride a bicycle in the future.

A. B. Slattery killed a large eagle yesterday. He shot it with a rifle and brought it to earth and after a hand to hand fight succeeded in catching it.

Dr. Courtney was called to Omaha Monday by the serious illness of a brother with typhoid fever. In order to make the greatest time Earl Walker drove him in his car to Wendell.

B. A. Nichols, the jeweler, has sold his stock of goods to L. O. Hughes and gave possession last evening. Mr. Hughes is a son-in-law of A. J. Ripley, and is an experienced workman.

The dance last night under the new management was fairly well attended. The music was exceptionally good. It is hoped that Rogers, Allen and Nye will meet with success in constructing the dances during the season.

The annual meeting of the county and city school superintendents was held in Boise last. The convention did a most commendable thing when they elected J. M. Markel of Filer, president. In the judgment of this paper, Markel is the biggest all around school man in the state.

At Sunday night Quinn Patton and Varn McBride broke into the Kirkpatrick pool hall and appropriated three pipes, some smoking tobacco and cigar papers. They acknowledged the theft and were taken to Twin Falls Tuesday by the sheriff. We have not learned what disposition was made of them.

When the opportunity to step right into a "better position" with doubled salary comes, you'll be in line for it if you watch the classified ads.

VARNEY---LIVE CANDY MAN

THE MOTOR AND THE SILO

In many sections of Idaho where dairying is coming to the front rapidly as one of the most important factors in the farming industry, the silo is recognized now as indispensable for the economical production of cream and butter.

After the silo is built and ready for active operation, the cutting of the ensilage and the filling of the silo are matters that demand immediate attention. Here is where electricity comes in as especially valuable.

The farmer who has electric power at his command has a tremendous advantage over the farmer not so favorably situated. He can perform his work of ensiling cutting at any convenient time which is not always the case when the power plant for this work has to be rented.

Electric machines may be safely set up in the barn or other building, near all kinds of combustible material and operated freely without danger from fire. And with all but the ensilage cutter the motor may usually be mounted on the machine itself.

The operation of the cutter by means of a motor does not require the presence of an engineer or expert attendant, as the motor can be started and stopped by simply throwing the switch.

The silage of personal danger is reduced to the minimum by the simple and strong construction of the modern electric motor, coupled with the fact that it is under the instant control of the man who is feeding the machine.

As to the cost: John Bowditch has a silo 32 feet high on his farm in Framingham, Massachusetts. It has a capacity of 200 tons and is filled by an Ohio No. 14 ensilage cutter. Last year this silo was filled by means of a hired steam engine which cost $46 for rental, fuel and service of an engine.

CASTLEFORD ITEMS.

We had lots to be thankful for.

Quite a number of our people were shopping in Buhl last week.

A surprise was given Miss Margaret Ellis, Friday night, it being her 16th birthday.

Mr. Bell Snodden and Miss Hazel Cassen were quietly united in marriage Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the home.

They have the best wishes of the entire community.

Mrs. Peo. of La Grande, Oregon, left for her home Tuesday after spending a month visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smithwick.

The people's Mining and Elevator association of Idaho, are in our midst trying to organize a local milling company and from all reports a successful canvass is being made.

BRITAIN'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

History of Island Empire of 250 Years
Contained in Its Columns.

Modern newspaper enterprise has somewhat dwarfed the importance of the London Gazette, Britain's oldest newspaper, which for 250 years has officially chronicled the history of the country. Today it is practically only used for such announcements as the king's birthday, honors list and local notices. Time was, however, when the Gazette was the only medium through which the public could learn any foreign news or any public announcement which royalty and statesmen had to make.

Nowadays such announcements
while being sent to the London Gazette, are simultaneously communicated to the more important newspapers.

But even today the London Gazette is controlled by the government, and a particularly watchful eye is kept on the advertisements in its pages which are regulated by law. These advertisements are mostly of an official or legal character, of which it is necessary to keep a record and entry for the nation about $100,000 a year. No great manufacturer could obtain a put in its pages, even though he were willing to pay $50,000 a line for it. Although the Gazette yields the country a profit of about $100,000 a year, although practically the only people who buy it are 50,000 clerical officials and lawyers.

One of the most curious facts regarding the London Gazette is that while it is Britain's oldest newspaper, it is also one of the youngest, in the sense that it was not until 1788 that it was released at the general postoffice for transmission by inland post as a newspaper. Previously it had been regarded as a government publication
only, and was despatched "G. H. M. S."

In this was causing postal charges altogether. But apparently the government saw a way to reap a few extra halfpence by having it regulated.

The Gazette varies in size very considerably. Sometimes it consists merely of one page, and sometimes of between four and five hundred, but the price always remains the same, viz., one shilling. There was one memorable issue in 1817, which was known as the "Gazette of the Day."

One of the most interesting numbers of the Gazette ever published was the "Diamond Jubilee" number, the whole paper being devoted to an official record of that historic celebration.

As an illustration of the importance of the Gazette in the old days, it might be mentioned that as recently as the Victorian era the Gazette was the first to publish the names of the victors of the battle of Alma. At one time the London newspapers had to wait the publication of the Gazette in order to secure such news of public importance as the list of casualties which the war office in those days sent direct to Fleet street.

It is the proud boast of Messrs Harrison, who for more than one hundred and thirty years published the London Gazette, that although kings and cabinet ministers contributed to its pages
during the time they published the paper, and although thousands of employees were engaged in the work of producing it, none of its official secrets went to them for publication
have ever leaked out.

STOCK OWNERS ARE WARNED

Importers Claiming to be Inspectors
Collecting Money.

Reports are now beginning to come in to the department of agriculture
from several of the states quarantined for the foot-and-mouth disease that persons who have a connection with ever with the department are attempting to "pass themselves off as federal inspectors. There are several possible motives of these impostors.
In the outbreak of 1908 they were victims of men who obtained money from credulous victims who believed that in this way they could escape the inconvenience of quarantine and disinfection. This, of course, is a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quick remedy for the disease.

Stock owners can protect themselves very easily against this fraud, for there is no specific remedy for the foot-and-mouth disease. Since the germ has never been isolated, it has never been possible as yet to find any germ that would act either as a cure or preventive, and the public may be quite certain that anyone who says that he is an employee of the department of agriculture and at the same time attempts to sell or even recommend anything for the cure is simply an impostor. For this reason stock owners are warned not to allow strangers to visit their stock or attend any demonstrations or so-called cures by injections or otherwise.

There is, moreover, very great danger that such people might themselves contract the disease. It is a well known fact that the germs can be carried on clothing, in infected territory, therefore, it is quite possible that a man who has come in contact with infected animals may bring the disease to a perfectly healthy herd, thus causing counts for much of the spread of the disease.

The department, therefore, recommends all farmers to keep their animals from contact with all those who have definite business with them.

KRUPP GUN IDEA STOLEN

United States Designed Monster Cannon Which Germans Use.

London.—A strange report is being circulated here as to how the Germans came to build the famous 42-centimeter gun, that played havoc with the French and Belgian fortifications.

Two and a half years ago, it is said,
an American firm finished the plans for the construction of these guns.
The design was sent here to a big firm of patent agents to be patented.
The firm did so, and in its employ a clever young German draughtsman, who resigned his place and returned to Germany shortly after the American plans and specifications had been lodged with his firm. When the German army turned out its 42-centimeter gun, his disappearance was understood by those interested.

However, it is said now that the same American firm has improved and perfected its former design, and that several of these improved guns now are under construction here for the British sea trains. It is said that the newest United States battleships
are to have guns of the same caliber.

WINNING THE PUBLIC
Della Pringle Company Making Good
Every Night.

The Della Pringle Company, which has been on the boards at the Lavering theatre for the past two weeks,
is still making a hit with the public both in the class of plays given and the excellence of the company supporting Miss Pringle and Mr. Van-Aken. This week—the farce comedy
"The Happiest Man" was the attraction for the first of the week and proved that the Pringle company could make good in comedy as well as in the heavier drama. Wednesday and Thursday evenings, "Paid in Full," a more serious play drew a good crowd and delighted the audience. For tonight "The Lion and the Mouse" is stuffed and will no doubt be up to the standard set by the excellent company.

ANGER NOW PASSED

Telephone People Have Adopted Safety First.

Denver, Dec. 7.—A settlement of the dispute between the power and the light interests in Idaho and the telephone company which is now up before the Idaho Utilities Commission is expected by the officials of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company as a result of conferences that are being held. Engineers representing all of the wire using companies in Idaho are meeting with officials of the power, light and telephone companies.
The result of the conference is a long and reasonable agreement. The long standing trouble is the outlook.
T. M. Burgess, vice president and general manager of the telephone service in every part of the state, made the following statement in an interview today:

"Our sole purpose is to be fair but the overbuilding of our telephone lines by the high voltage power, and light companies has not only interfered with our telephone service, but it is the cause of great danger to our employees and to the public. The current in itself is not dangerous, but with our net work of lines extending to all parts of the state, there is great danger to life and property which has come into contact with the lines of the power companies which carry a high voltage.

"We do not want to impose hardships upon these companies, for we realize that the upbuilding and settlement of the state is just as much in their advantage as it is to ours, but we have insisted all along that the lives of our workmen and the public be properly safeguarded.

"We have recommended to the Utilities Commission a set of safeguarding regulations which are fair to both parties alike, and which will greatly reduce the danger of contact with the high current of the light and power circuits. These rules are exactly the same as those adopted by the majority of railroads, light and telephone companies all over the United States and they should not be objected to by the power interests, as their sole object is to guard life and property. Their

ANDREWS-EASLEY

Popular Young Business Man Surprises His Many Friends.

Shipping quietly away to Pocatello
Sunday morning, George R. Easley, the popular manager of the Western Hotel, has been united in marriage to Miss Claire Andrews, an estimable young lady of Pocatello, New York. The happy couple will spend a short honeymoon in Salt Lake City, and then return to their home in Pocatello. The wedding took place at their residence on Fourth avenue north. While the bride is not a resident of this city,
she has visited here and in her brief
stay made a large number of friends.
Mr. Easley is not only a pioneer of this city, but of the state, having spent the greater part of his life identified with the mining excitement of both Idaho and Montana. He has many friends all over the state, and a host of them in this city, where he has for the past three years been actively identified with the business activities. Mr. Easley is popular with the business people of this city and rightly so, because of his genial disposition and staunch integrity. Both Mr. and Mrs. Easley will be heartily welcomed and congratulated by their friends here.

parole from the juvenile institution and will be sent to St. Anthony on that charge.

SWENSON BOY ARRESTED

Young Boy is Arrested Last Friday on the Charge of Forgery.

Last Friday juvenile officer Ormsby
arrested Alma Swenson, a young boy, on the charge of forgery. The boy became frightened and made his way to Minidoka, where he was arrested.
He will be given a hearing before Juvenile Judge Shank in a few days.

Reductions in Prices at An Opportune Time

for the thrifty shoppers. Dollars saved at Christmas time when the family purse is none too big means much to everyone. That is what the many bargains in real necessities in this store will do for you. It will make your Christmas money go farther.

Shoes Reduced 60c Per Pair

For the next ten days we are going to reduce the price on every pair of ladies shoes in our big shoe department.

This does not mean reductions merely on odds and ends and broken sizes, but every pair of ladies' shoes in our stock. The lines are complete and the styles up-to-date and in making the reduction we are turning over to your inspection real shoe bargains. Our cost prices on children's and young Misses' shoes will continue until the line is sold out. There are bargains left.

Big Cut in Furs

For the next ten days also we are going to sacrifice our profits upon one of the biggest and best lines of furs ever brought to this city, consisting of Sitka Mink, Alaska Beaver, Hudson Bay Seal and many other well-known lines. Twenty-five per cent cut in these furs brings the price down to cost, but we must close out a portion of our big stock at these figures. It is your opportunity.

25% Off

Shirtwaists Reduced

One of the biggest and most stylish lines of shirtwaists ever shown in this city is selected for sacrifice in prices that will make them go like hot cakes. These shirtwaists range from cottons to crepes and silks, but the sizes are broken and we want to cut down still farther.
Twenty-five per cent reductions means something on this line, which was priced lower than elsewhere in the city.

New Shipment of Ladies and Misses Cloaks

We received this week an express shipment of high grade ladies' and misses' cloaks, which represent big values at our normal prices, but which we bought under the regular price. Cloaks ranging in misses' sizes from 14 up to 48 for the largest sizes in ladies' cloaks, gives us a line which will fit and satisfy any patron. These cloaks priced regularly at from $17.50 to $35.00, reduced to $12.50 up to $25.00

Ladies' and Misses Suits

$7.50

We have a few suits, sizes 15 to 18 and 36 to 45, which we will offer at the wonderfully low prices of $7.50, for any suit in the lot. These suits are the broken lines of our regular suits selling at $15.00 to $25.00,
and are both stylish and beautifully tailored. They are worth at least your investigation for your size.

Misses Coats $3.50

We have eight stylish misses coats, which we will sell at the low price of $3.50. Every one is a beauty, and worth $7.50 to $10.00. Sizes 13 to 20.

It will be the policy of this store to offer genuine reductions on lines which have become broken and to give the public real values and at real reductions. We believe that honest merchandising and honest advertising make permanent customers. We want your continued patronage rather than excess profits on spasmodic sales.

The uncertainty regarding the constitutionality of the state automobile license tax will make collections next year out of the question until all points have been cleared up. This year ninety per cent of the automobile owners have paid their taxes. The other ten have refused or neglected to do so and have had the name use of the highways as the ninety per cent and have likewise escaped any county tax for their cars. If that ten per cent can evade payment, year after year, with no attempt on the part of the state to make collections or inflict punishment, it is very certain that the ten per cent will increase to ninety next year. The auto tax is a good thing if made to work equally for all owners and all parts of the state and would be of great benefit in improved highways. But the whole system depends upon the enforcement of the law. If unconstitutional, the state should find it out before the money is expended on the highway for it must be refunded dollar for dollar to those who have paid it.

GET ACQUAINTED.
North Americans must get better acquainted with South Americans, and the time has now come for doing so, as a new era of mutual interest and knowledge of one another has dawned upon the people of both North and South America. The present great world's struggle having thrown the people of these countries and ourselves closer to each other, we should take the opportunity to favor the occasion to become better acquainted. There should be every effort made towards the cultivation of a spirit of Pan-Americanism.

The men in Brazil who sell us coffee and rubber and the men who buy our machinery might profitably can and look us over, see what kind of people we are, what we can buy and what we can sell, what our schools, our courts, our politics, our art and literature are like. Our citizens who buy meat and hides in the Argentine and our manufacturers who sell hardware and machinery might profitably go to the Argentine and become familiar with the people and the conditions there. And our tourists and foreign travelers who do not take this opportunity to see the United States can very profitably see at least something of the great republics on the South American continent.

Like ourselves, each southern nation has its own history and traditions, peculiar institutions, its identity. Each is an individual in the community of nations. If our relations are to be built up on stronger foundations, each nation separately and for the sake of its own special reciprocity for us. We must have the same discrimination, in trade and in international politics, in our dealings with Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and the other independent nations of the southern continent.

ment, that we now exercise in our relations with European and Asiatic nations. We must go direct, for example, to Paris, Bolivia, or Colombia, as we wish them to come direct to us, not as part of an all inclusive loosely woven policy, but as a matter of specific mutual advantage.

For the United States of North America the best Pan-Americanism is not a large, vague attitude of protective god will; gratuitously foisted upon the other American republics to be by them either ignored or repented. Of this kind of comparatively empty Pan-Americanism there has been too much in the past. The healthy and abiding relationship of the future, which may grow out of long-continuing conditions created by the war, in that of mutual respect and inter-religious relation with nation. Out of such consistent relationship a real Pan-Americanism will in time grow, founded on proved advantage, not uttered as a doctrine by the strongest, but subscribed to as a policy by all alike.—Idaho Falls Register.

WHY IT IS READ.

One of the foundation principles of successful newspaper work is that the slower anything comes home to the personal affairs of the reader, the more interest it excites. An item about business interests of a neighbor is likely to be read with more attention than a report of some far-off disaster many miles away, affecting communities and people of which no one knows anything.

This gives one an idea why it is that advertisements are always read with such attentive interest. They relate directly to the personal affairs of the public.

People are deeply concerned now as always about the cost of living. They do awake nights worrying about it. The club formed to discuss the cost of living may spend much of its time talking over the cost of beef or the wages paid servants.

So anything relating directly to living costs appeals as keenly as anything there is in the newspaper. The account of the battle over in Healdsburg, but it is many miles away, and without immediate effect on the reader.

But, when one learns from some reliable source that a certain article has been acquired a lot of potatoes at a low price, the thing hits us where we live.

Everyone that wants to reduce his cost of living, is affected by such an advertisement.

Advertising is often the best way in the paper.—Pocatello Tribune.

EARNERS FREQUENTLY FAIL.

Lined among the business who frequently fail is the farmer, the greatest producer of all. He fails for the same reason as all other business men, because of ignorance. Many of these men have been born and reared farmers, and imagine that that is all the qualification necessary to follow that vocation. It is not. Technical education, constant study of conditions elsewhere and a full realization of the necessity of fertilization of their farms constitute the first principles of the successful farmer.

When a farmer fails, the whole community suffers, and the man who must bear the brunt of the burden is the local merchant. His capital is invested in his home and with the farmer's ability to produce, if a blight is brought, a portion of that blight is brought to the merchant. The merchant must make the loss of it and "carry" the farmer for another season, or until he has recovered.

We know that the average merchant does not feel that his local merchant is a robber or a cheat, but like all human kind, catenances and "pities" of mail order houses appeal to him and

TELEPHONE COMPANY'S VIEW

Contention of the Power Companies Met With Sound Argument.

Denver, Colo., December 5, 1914.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners.

The Idaho Power and Light Men's association has forwarded a letter to the mayors of each city and town, and to each newspaper editor in the state of Idaho, evidently conducting a campaign against the adoption by the public utilities commission of certain rules and regulations covering overhead and parallel construction of telegraph, telephone and power lines.

Our company is seeking to influence the adoption of unfair rules, at the expense of the power companies. We submit that the suggestions offered on our part to the Idaho commission were drawn up after thorough and careful investigations by a body of recognized authorities on these subjects. Other interested companies have also submitted suggestions to the commission. As far as The Mountain State Telephone and Telegraph company is concerned, they represent an earnest desire to reach an equitable and harmonious settlement of a very important question.

Similar rules to those suggested have been generally adopted throughout the country by railroad, light and telegraph associations and have proved their value in the light and power companies.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. FIELD,
First Vice President.

on their value in the safe operation of overhead lines.

The suggestions offered by us do not contain any particular type of construction or class of material to be used, but they do contain all the essential features to insure the protection to life and property.

With our large number of employees many amount on the poles and wires of our system, it would be little short of criminal on our part if we did not make to the limit of our power, absolute protection to lives which are necessarily dependent upon us for their safety.

We are interested in the protection of property, but the interest is entirely secondary to the safeguarding of life, both of our employees and of the general public.

Our network of telephone lines is absolutely indispensable so far as any current-day transit is concerned, and the breaking down of a power line may result in the loss of life, miles away from where the point between the power and telephone lines takes place.

There is no advantage in our company insulating on the power companies' restrictions which they should not be willing to adopt themselves. The power companies rely primarily on the fact that people generally consider the power lines dangerous and keep their children away from them. Protection because the telephone lines are a constant life with the current they transmit.

If the rules suggested by us were adopted by the Idaho utilities commission, which enforcement means a much larger permanent investment of money on the part of the telephone companies than the power companies. We have been in conference with the power companies' representatives with the end in view of reaching a mutual understanding before the commission holds its hearings, these conferences are still in progress.

With the gradual development of the state of Idaho, to which development its utilities are contributing now is the time to adopt proper methods of construction practice, stay by side rather than at a future time to call for wholesale and complete changes with the attendant expense to all communities involved and ultimately to the general public.

Our sole object in writing this letter is to correct any impression that the presentation of our suggestions to the Commission is for a selfish benefit to the telephone company, or that their suggestion to work any real hardship on the light and power companies.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. FIELD,
First Vice President.

OREGON LAND BARGAIN

A valuable ranch of seventeen and one-half acres adjoining one of the most thriving and best known cities in Oregon—for sale, exchange or trade.

Owner wishes to secure land or property in or nearby Twin Falls, and will make attractive proposition to responsible party.

The ranch house is within the city limits, has six rooms and bath, electric lights and telephone has city water, screened porch, and fine front porch, cellar adjoining kitchen, also chicken house and wood shed. Everything in first-class condition. Fifty feet from house is a street or light.

Seven and one-half acres adjoining are outside of the city limits with a twelve hundred foot river frontage.

Six of the ten are in fruit trees of assorted varieties—about mixed years old, including about sixty "Royal Anne" cherries, and about twenty-five "Blings".

The average output is about 2,000 boxes of apples and six tons of cherries. The balance of the ground is well adapted for garden truck and pasture.

On this property, one block below, is a new three room cottage, good for rental purposes. One hundred feet back of it is a root-house or cellar, twelve by twenty-five feet. One hundred feet back of that is a fine barn large enough for team and cow, also hay lot.

The entire property is well fenced with PAIGE wire fencing, in excellent condition, having been well taken care of. This would make an ideal dairy or hog ranch—being so near town.

COMPETITION—DO YOU WANT IT?

Until The Jensen Creamery Co. opened a plant on Twin Falls, did you ever receive a premium of one cent per pound on butter fat in rich cream? Were you able to get cash for your cream? Did you have a permanent cash market for poultry and eggs? Is competition at this sort of thing making to you?

HONEY DEW ON RED CLOVER SEED

Most clover seed comes from the bulk of this year held together by a sticky substance resembling honey, and often referred to as "honey-dew" on the seed. Clover seed, in some instances, held together into small pellets or balls after threshing, and the sticky substance can be seen covering the coating of the seed and after threshing.

This substance is really the honey-dew commonly associated with aphids which live on the clover plants upon which ants feed, and is responsible for their presence among plant life. In this case the sticky substance is a secretion of the aphid, a small green plant louse with a rod-like tail, and which is commonly found feeding in the buds of red clover.

While the aphid is present, the seed is still young. The lice are often found in large numbers in the blossoms of the clover, which is why they are called "honey-dew" on the seed. The aphid is a pest of the clover, and its presence is a sign of trouble.

The best method of preparing the "honey-dew" seed for market or sowing is by washing the seed with water, and then spreading it in the sun to dry. This should be done as soon as the seed is threshed, and the seed should be in good shape for sowing.

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT.

Receipts for the week have been: Cattle, 1009; calves, 10; hogs, 8366; sheep, 1886.

Cattle market continues steady to slow with only moderate receipts for the last few days. Quality of stuff of red continues good in the main with trading at fairly good prices. Steers are quoted at $7.35 for 1025, best cows and heifers, $4.00.

In line with the markets all over the country, cattle prices have declined considerably this week, opening at $7.50 and closing at $7.00. This is on a par with eastern markets.

Sheep—Receipts continue very light with a strong demand, all offerings were quickly snapped up at $7.50 for lambs and $4.00 for ewes. The market is extremely snappy.

Representative sales are as follows:

FILER NEWS.

(From the Filer Journal)

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hamnerquist were at Twin Falls today.

C. C. Stevens left this morning on a business trip to the eastern part of the state.

Mr. R. A. Reynolds returned today from Twin Falls, where she was a guest of Mrs. A. H. Wood for several days.

The Grand Worthy Matron of the most ancient and honorable order of the Evening, Every member of the order is urged to be present. Refreshments will be served.

James Kirkpatrick was in Twin Falls this morning and informs the Journal that the item in another part of the paper is wrong about Melville and Patten. Their trial has not been held yet.

W. P. Shinn was at the county seat Tuesday on business.

A. J. Ripley, of Twin Falls, was a Filer visitor yesterday.

Jake Musser was transacting business at the county seat today.

The Thanksgiving dance was well attended and all seemed to have a good time.

Joe Tyree was in town Monday, and will be in this neighborhood during the winter.

The woman's club will hold their next meeting in the Masonic hall, on December 15th—Nov. day.

Chas. Reynolds has sold his Max-well to Mart. Baugher, and will probably ride a bicycle in the future.

J. S. Siverson killed a large eagle yesterday. He shot it with a rifle and brought it to town and after a hard hand fight succeeded in catching it.

Dr. Cartney was called to Omaha Monday by the serious illness of a brother with typhoid fever. In order to make the journey Earl Walker drove him in his car to Wendell.

R. A. Nichols, the jeweler, has sold his stock of goods to L. O. Hughes and given possession last evening. Mr. Hughes is a son-in-law of A. J. Ripley and is an experienced workman.

The dance last night under the new management was fairly well attended. The music was exceptionally good. It is hoped that Messrs. Allen and Rye will meet with success in conducting dances during the winter.

The annual meeting of the county and city school superintendents was held in Boise last. The convention did a most commendable thing when they elected J. M. Marked, of Boise, to the position of county superintendent.

Last Sunday night Quinn Patton and Vern McBride broke into the Kirkpatrick pool hall and appropriated three pipes, some smoking tobacco and cigarette papers. They acknowledged the theft and were taken to Twin Falls Tuesday by the sheriff. We have not learned what disposition was made of them.

VARNEY---LIVE CANDY MAN

THE MOTOR AND THE SILO

In many sections of Idaho where dairying is coming up rapidly, so one of the most important factors in the farming in dairy, the silo is recognized now as indispensable for the economical production of cream and butter.

After the silo is built and ready for operation, the cutting of the ensilage and the filling of the silo are matters that demand immediate attention. Here is where electricity comes in as especially valuable.

The farmer who has electric service at his command has a tremendous advantage over the farmer not so favorably situated. He can perform his work of ensilage cutting at a convenient time which is not always the case when the power plant for this work has to be routed.

Electric machines may be safely set up in the barn or other building, near all kinds of combustible material and operated freely without danger from fire, and with the silo ensilage cutter the motor may usually be mounted on the machine itself. The operation of the cutter by means of a motor does not require the presence of an engineer or expert attendance as the motor can be started and stopped by simply throwing the switch.

The element of personal danger in operating machinery of this class is reduced to the minimum by the simple and strong construction of the modern electric motor, coupled with the fact that it is under the instant control of the man who is feeding the machine.

As in the case, John Bowditch has a silo 32 feet high on his farm at Framingham Center, Massachusetts. It has a capacity of 200 tons and is filled by an Ohio No. 14 ensilage cutter. Last week this silo was filled by means of a three-horse engine, which cost $450 for rental, fuel and service of an engine.

near. This year the same work was done by a 15 horsepower electric motor which cut about 13 tons an hour, with a total cost of $16 for electric current.

Of course, it is useless to talk of operating machinery of this kind in rural communities where there is no electric power available. It is equally useless to talk of building transmission and distribution lines into sparsely settled rural communities in this state if the cost of line construction is to be made prohibitive by arbitrary rules set up by the Public Utilities Commission in response to demands from the telephone and railway interests.

The building of modern silos with the other indications of advancement in the dairy industry is regarded as one of the most encouraging indications of the day. The dairy should be fostered in every way possible, and the silo is an essential part of the modern dairy.

CASTLEFORD ITEMS.

We had lots to be thankful for shopping in Twin Falls week.

A surprise was given Miss Margaret Ellis Friday night, it being her 15th birthday.

Mr. Dell Snoddo and Mrs. Hazel Castles were quietly visited in the morning Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the hotel. They have the best wishes of the entire community.

Mrs. Geo. of La Grande, Oregon, left for home Tuesday after spending a month visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smithwick.

The People's Milling and Elevator association, of Idaho, are in our midst trying to organize a local milling company and from all quarters a successful canvass is being made.

BRITAIN'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

History of Island Empire of 250 Years Continued in its Columns.

Modern newspaper enterprise has somewhat dwarfed the importance of the London Gazette, Britain's oldest newspaper, which for 250 years has officially chronicled the history of the country. Today it is practically only used for such announcements as the king's birthday, honors list and legal notices. It was, however, when the Gazette was the only medium through which the public could learn any foreign news or any public announcement which royalty and statesmen had to make.

Nowadays such announcements while being sent to the London Gazette, are simultaneously communicated to the more important newspapers.

But even today the London Gazette is controlled by the government, and is particularly watchful eye in regard to the advertisements in its pages which are regulated by law. These advertisements are mostly of an official or legal character, of which it is necessary to keep a record and earn for the nation about $100,000 a year. No grant manufacturer could obtain a patent in its pages, even though he were willing to pay $50,000 a line for it. Altogether the Gazette yields the country a profit of about $100,000 a year, although practically the only people who buy it are government officials and lawyers.

One of the most curious facts regarding the London Gazette is that while it is Britain's oldest newspaper, it is also one of the youngest. In the sense that it was not until 1822 that it was registered at the general post-office for transmission by inland post as a newspaper. Previously it had been regarded as a government publication only, and was dispatched "O. H. M. S."

In this way escaping postal charges altogether. But apparently the government saw a way to reap a few extra millions by making it registered. The Gazette varies in size very considerably, sometimes being only of one page, and sometimes of between four and five hundred, but the price always remains the same, viz. one shilling. There was one memorable week in 1847, which was known as the "Halfway Year" when so many advertisements were sent in that the publication of the Gazette for the week totaled about three thousand pages.

One of the most interesting numbers of the Gazette ever published was the "Diamond Jubilee" number, the whole paper being devoted to an official record of that historic celebration.

An illustration of the importance of the Gazette in the old days, it might be mentioned that as recently as the Crimean war the Gazette was the first to publish that important item of news—the names of the fallen. At one time the London newspapers had to wait the publication of the Gazette in order to secure such news of public importance as the list of casualties which the war office in those days sent direct to Fleet street.

It is the proud boast of Messrs Harrison, who for more than one hundred and thirty years published the London Gazette, that although kings and cabinet ministers contributed to its pages during the time they published the paper, and although thousands of notices were entered in the work of producing the Gazette, no official secrets came to them for publication.

The Gazette is probably the only paper which returns the original copy to its authors along with the proof. This is done in the case of communications from sovereigns and cabinet ministers.

STOCK OWNERS ARE WARNED

Reports are now beginning to come in to the department of agriculture from several of the states quarantined for the foot-and-mouth disease that persons who have no connection whatever with the department are attempting to pass themselves off as federal inspectors. There are several possible motives of these impostors.

In the outbreak of 1908 there were instances of men who obtained money from frightened victims who believed that in this way they would escape the inconvenience of quarantine and disinfection. This, of course, is a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quick remedy for the disease.

Stock owners can protect themselves very easily against this fraud, for there is no specific remedy for the foot-and-mouth disease. Since the department has never been able to find any remedy that would act either as a cure or preventive, and the public may be quite certain that anyone who says that he is an employee of the department of agriculture and at the same time attempts to sell or even recommend anything of the sort, is simply an impostor. For this reason stock owners are warned not to allow strangers to visit their stock or attempt any dissection of vaccinated calves by injections or otherwise.

There is, moreover, very great danger that such people might disseminate the disease. It is a well-known fact that the germs can be carried on clothing. In infected territory, therefore, it is quite possible that a man who has come in contact with stricken animals may bring the disease to a perfectly healthy herd. This also accounts for much of the spread of the disease.

The department therefore recommends all farmers to keep their animals from contact with all save those who have definite business with them.

KRUPP GUN IDEA STOLEN

United States Designed Monster Cannon Which Germans Use.

London. — A strange report is being circulated here as to how the Krupp came to build the famous 42-centimeter guns that played havoc with the French and Belgian fortifications.

Two and a half years ago, it is said, an American firm finished the plans for the construction of these guns. The designs were sent here to a local firm of patent agents to be patented. This firm had in its employ a clever young German draughtsman, who resigned his place and returned to Germany shortly after the American plans and specifications had been lodged with his firm.

When the German army turned out its 42-centimeter guns, his disappearance was understood by those interested. "However, it is said now that the same American firm has improved and perfected its former designs and that several of these improved guns now are under construction here for the British army. It is said that the newest United States battlehips are to have guns of the same caliber. — Idaho Falls Register.

POWER MEN FIGHT RULING

W. C. Clark says Propagation of Order Would Hurt

Kellogg, Idaho—Walter C. Clark, superintendent of the electrical department of the Baker Hill & Sullivan company, has returned from a conference with the Idaho Light & Power Men's association relative to the regulations recently submitted to the Idaho public utilities commission covering all overhead construction of power and light wires in the state.

Some of the proposed regulations have been submitted by the American Telephone & Telegraph company of New York, the Oregon Short Line, the O. N. & N. & the Idaho Light & Power Men's association. The hearing on the matter will come up before the commission in Boise in January, at which time all of the interested individuals and corporations will be given a hearing and will be permitted to state their objections to the proposed regulations.

"This hearing is a sequel to the one which was held last July," said Mr. Clark, "at which time the American Telephone & Telegraph company, through its subsidiaries in this section, the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph company, and the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, submitted a proposed order to the commission."

"This order would have compelled the power interests of Idaho to shift into the state eastern poles, as the use of the Idaho cedar would have been prohibited and for this and other reasons the power people of Idaho objected most strenuously to the promulgation of the order with the result that the commission postponed the hearing and instructed the different interests to submit regulations for consideration which would provide for the safety of the employees and the public."

While the new regulations submitted by the American Telephone and Telegraph company do not prohibit the use of the Idaho cedar, the power people claim that many of the requirements are unnecessary for safety and will increase construction costs so as to make prohibitive the building of electric light and power lines into sparsely settled communities or to mining prospects where electric power plays such an important part in the development of the mining industry.

Let Reason Govern.

Much of the immediate development and prosperity of Idaho, especially in the rural communities, blazes on the nature of an order soon to be issued by the public utilities commission. This has to do with the rules to govern the construction of overhead lines for the transmission and distribution of power.

There is grave danger that those rules may be so arbitrary as to make it impracticable to extend power and light lines into sparsely settled communities, where there are rapidly growing demands for them, if other interests are permitted to dictate.

It is proposed by the telephone and railroad companies to establish rules of such character as to add heavily to the cost of construction. The lumber and other interests of this state would have to bar out lower and light companies from a vast domain of rich but undeveloped lands.

Rules such as are now demanded would make it impracticable for the power and light companies to construct rural lines carrying upward of 6,000 volts. The country has grown away from this antiquated standard that it is here proposed to set up. This is particularly true of the west.

It has been demonstrated that a line carrying 6,000 volts is the most practical and economical line for most rural and small communities, and just as safe as a line with a smaller voltage.

Oregon and Washington have established rules permitting the use of voltage up to 15,000 for rural development, and this without requiring any of the special construction now demanded by the telephone and railway interests in Idaho.

These interests demand a type of construction at crossings in this state so expensive and cumbersome as to make this a grievous burden on the companies compelled to install the crossings. As the railroads and telephone companies are already on the ground in most cases, the crossing of wires is thrown upon the power and light companies alone.

Because of the low cost of line construction and the early demand for service of this kind, the telephone companies have large areas of the state covered with a network of wires and are in a position to make proposals to make it impracticable for the power and light companies to enter much of this territory.

It would make it impossible for the power and light companies to parallel or cross any telephone line without first negotiating with and down by the telephone company.

If the telephone companies were to have their own way in these matters they would shut the power and light companies out of the use of all streets and highways occupied by telephone lines unless they kept their lines away from the telephone lines at a distance equal to the height of the tallest pole. The effect of this would be to drive the power companies off the streets and highways and into the woods.

These demands of the telephone and railroad companies are based on the contention that this present type of construction is unsafe. That it means life and property.

The contention is not supported by the facts. Thorough investigation into the nature and causes of the accidents resulting from the use of electric lines in Idaho demonstrates beyond question that not one of the accidents recorded would have been prevented by the changes in construction now demanded by the telephone and railroad companies.

POWER MEN FIGHT RULING

W. C. Clark says Propagation of Order Would Hurt

Kellogg, Idaho—Walter C. Clark, superintendent of the electrical department of the Baker Hill & Sullivan company, has returned from a conference with the Idaho Light & Power Men's association relative to the regulations recently submitted to the Idaho public utilities commission covering all overhead construction of power and light wires in the state.

Some of the proposed regulations have been submitted by the American Telephone & Telegraph company of New York, the Oregon Short Line, the O. N. & N. & the Idaho Light & Power Men's association. WINNING THE PUBLIC

Della Pringle Company Making Good Every Night.

The Della Pringle Company, which has been on the boards at the Laying-off-theatre for the past two weeks, is still making a hit with the public both in the class of plays given and the excellence of the company supporting Miss Pringle and Mr. Vandenberg. This week the farce-comedy, "The Happiest Man," was the attraction for the first of the week and proved that the Pringle company could make good its comedy as well as in the heavier dramas. Wednesday and Thursday evenings, "Paid in Full," a more serious play drew a good crowd and delighted the audience. For tonight "The Lion and the Mouse," is billed, and will no doubt be up to the standard set by the excellent company.

DANGER NOW PASSED

Telephone People Have Adopted Safety Plans

Denver, Dec. 7.—A settlement of the dispute between the power and the light interests in Idaho and the telephone company which is now up before the Idaho Utilities Commission is expected by the officials of the American States Telephone and Telegraph company as a result of conferences that are being held. Engineers representing all of the wire using companies in Idaho are meeting with officials of the power, light and telephone companies and a reasonable agreement of the long standing trouble in the state. E. M. Duggan, vice president and general manager of the big Bell company, which furnishes telephone service in every part of the state, made the following statement in an interview today: "Our sole purpose is to be fair but the overbuilding of our telephone lines by the high-voltage power and light companies has not only interfered with our telephone service, but it is the cause of great danger to our employees and to the general public. Our current in itself is not dangerous, but with our work of lines extending to all parts of the state, there is great danger to life and property when they come into contact with the lines of the power companies which carry a high voltage."

"We do not want to impose hardships upon these companies, for we realize that the upbuilding and betterment of the state is just as much to their advantage as it is to ours, but we have insisted all along that the lives of our workmen and the public be properly safeguarded."

"We have recommended to the Utilities Commission a set of safeguarding regulations which are fair to both parties alike, and which will greatly reduce the danger of contact with the high current of the light and power circuits. These rules are exactly the same as those adopted by the majority of railroads, light and telephone companies all over the United States and they should not be objectionable to the power interests, as their sole object is to guard life and property. They safeguard the commission would cost our company a great deal more than the other companies."

Conferences are now being held in New York between our officials and the power people and a fair settlement of the question is expected."

Popular Young Business Man Surprises His Many Friends.

Slipping quietly away to Pocatello Sunday morning, George R. Easley, the popular manager of the Western Auto company, was noticed in marriage to Miss Claire Andrews, an estimable young lady of Olton, New York. The happy couple will spend a short honeymoon in Salt Lake City, and will be at home to their friends in this city after December twentieth, at their residence on Fourth avenue north. While the bride is not a resident of this city, she has visited here and in her brief stay made a large number of friends. Mr. Easley is not only a successful business man, but a very popular citizen of this city, but of the state, having spent the greater part of his life identified with the mining excitement of both Idaho and Mackay, Canada, and many friends all over the state, and a host of them in this city, where he has for the past three years been actively identified with the business activities. Mr. Easley is popular with the business people of this city, and right so, because of his honest disposition and staunch integrity. Both Mr. and Mrs. Easley will be heartily welcomed and congratulated by their friends here.

Reductions in Prices at An Opportune Time

for the thrifty shoppers. Dollars saved at Christmas time when the family purse is none too big means much to everyone. That is what the many bargains in real necessities in this store will do for you. It will make your Christmas money go farther.

Shoes Reduced 60c Per Pair

For the next ten days we are going to reduce the price on every pair of ladies shoes in our big shoe department.

This does not mean reductions merely on odds and ends and broken sizes, but every pair of ladies' shoes in our stock. The lines are complete and the styles up-to-date and in making the reduction we are turning over to you inspection real shoe bargains. Our cost prices on children's and young-misses' shoes will continue until the line is sold out. There are bargains left.

Big Cut in Furs

For the next ten days also we are going to sacrifice our profits upon one of the biggest and best lines of furs ever brought to this city, consisting of Silver Mink, Black Bear, Red-son Day Seal and many other well known lines. Twenty-five per cent cut in these furs brings the price down to cost, but we must close out a portion of our big stock at these figures. It is your opportunity.

25% Off

Shirtwaists Reduced

One of the biggest and most stylish lines of shirtwaists ever shown in this city is selected for sacrifice in prices that will make them go like hot cakes. These shirtwaists range from cottons to organdies and silks, but the sizes are broken and we want to cut down still farther. Twenty-five per cent reductions means no nothing on this line, which was priced lower than elsewhere in the city.

New Shipment of Ladies and Misses Cloaks

We received this week an express shipment of high-grade ladies' and misses' cloaks, which represent big values at our normal prices, but which we bought under the regular price. Cloaks ranging in misses' sizes from 14 up to 48 for the largest sizes in ladies' cloaks, gives us a line which will fit and satisfy any patron. These cloaks priced regularly at from $17.50 to $35.00, reduced to

$12.50 up to $25.00

Ladies' and Misses Suits

$7.50

We have a few suits, sizes 15 to 18 and 36 to 45, which we will offer at the wonderfully low prices of $7.50, for any suit in the lot. These suits are the broken lines of our regular suits selling at $15.00 to $25.00, and are both stylish and beautifully tailored. They are worth at least your investigation for your size.

Misses Coats $3.50

We have eight stylish misses coats, which we will sell at the low price of $3.50. Every one is a beauty, and worth $7.50 to $10.00. Sizes 13 to 20.

It will be the policy of this store to offer genuine reductions on lines which have become broken and to give the public real values and at real reductions. We believe that honest merchandising and honest advertising make permanent customers. We want your continued patronage rather than excess profits on spasmodic sales.
