

I am ZUDORA— the mystic girl detective you've heard so much about. I'm just eighteen. By some stroke of fortune I have been endowed with supernatural powers of deduction, hypnotism and scientific analysis. I've come here to show you, in motion pictures, twenty episodes of my life—twenty baffling mysteries. These episodes are full of thrills and excitement. They have been idealized by Daniel Carson Goodwin and Harold MacGrath—two of America's foremost authors. They depict many of the tense situations into which a young American girl may fall. They illustrate the strength and daring of girlhood when opposed by powerful forces. You are invited to see these baffling, scientific and instructive motion picture episodes of my life, at the Orpheum theatre, STARTING MONDAY, DEC. 14.

ZUDORA

The Beautiful, Mystic, Girl Detective in Thanhouser's Greatest Photoplay--ZUDORA

A Stupendous Production of Love, Mysticism and Science in 20 Baffling Episodes.
3000 Scenes---Cast of 1000.

MONDAY starts the most elaborate motion picture story ever presented—a Thanhouser production created by Daniel Carson Goodman, author, philosopher, scientist and originator of the modern school of realism in motion pictures—and novelized by Harold MacGrath—famous author of The Million Dollar Mystery, Kathryn, The Man-on-the-Box, etc.

This mammoth production—idealized by two of America's greatest literary lights—will be presented in 20 baffling episodes of 2 reels each. A new episode will appear every week for 20 weeks. It will be different from anything that has ever preceded in feature each episode will be complete in itself, although a master plot will be carried throughout the entire series.

Every installment will reveal a complete episode from the life of beautiful ZUDORA—the mystic girl detective, whose powers of deduction and scientific analysis are seen superhuman. In each one of these 20 episodes you will witness the baffling mysteries which develop in ZUDORA'S life. You will see the cunning ZUDORA display more genius than Sherlock Holmes or Lecoq. You will see her use the newest methods of science—the X-ray, liquid air, novel electrical appliances—in her daring attempt to solve weird mysteries. These scenes will not only be an extraordinary recital of adventure, but an education as well.

The Thanhouser Film Corporation of New Rochelle, New York, has engaged a cast of 1000 for this master photoplay. 3000 scenes will be used. The cast is headed by Marguerite Snow—star of the Million Dollar Mystery—who will interpret the part of Zudora. James Cruze and Harry Benham—two of Thanhouser's leading men—will be seen at their best in ZUDORA.

This great attraction will be exceptionally fascinating because of the intense, interest-compelling scenes, because of the baffling mysteries which confront beautiful ZUDORA, because of the wonderful scenic and mechanical effects and because of the dramatic acting.

though the water company, as long ago as 1911, had asked for this examination and the land board had directed the state engineer to make it and report, but for some reason it was not done.

"That any serious injury will result from the filling of these protests is not probable, as the law contemplates protests may only be made by interests having other water rights or permits on the same stream."

The Herald is advised further by A. E. Robinson, formerly state engineer, that the water company obtained a certificate from the state during his administration of that office which is amply sufficient to protect the rights of the local company as against those of other claimants.

Another matter on which Mr. Hall is evidently misinformed, is in regard to his letter published in The Herald last week, in which he states that at a meeting of the board of land commissioners held on November 23rd, an order was made directing the state engineer to examine the Salmon River projects for the purpose of determining whether or not the construction work called for under the contract with the state has been done; it being understood that the question of water supply is not involved in this examination.

Upon inquiry N. Jonness, register of the land board, advises that there is no minute entry of any such action and that as far as he is advised, no member of the board authorized the publication of the Hall letter, or that the board, individually or collectively, had agreed that notice should be given along the lines of the Hall letter. Further than this, he advised that in his opinion, no hearing would be had upon the question involved until after the first of the year and that all concerned would be given due notice by some affirmative act of the board prior to the time of such hearing. Attorney General Peterson confirms

N. Jonness' statements. — Hollister Herald.

COMPETITION—DO YOU WANT IT?

Until The Jensen Creamery Co. opened a plant on Twin Falls did you ever receive a premium of one per cent per pound on butter fat in rich cream? Were you able to get cash for your cream? Did you have a permanent cash market for poultry and eggs? Is competition of this sort worth anything to you?

ATTACKS ATTORNEYS

Official of Salmon, Water Company After Legal Adversity.

In a statement issued late this week G. M. Hall, general manager of the Land and Water Company, accuses the attorneys who have prepared the protest of the water company against the diversion of 1000 second feet from the Salmon River, and accuses them with the desire of doing nothing but stir up trouble.

Mr. Hall insists that the settlers should have waived any protests in this matter, claiming that such protests in the matter, if instrumental in having the state engineer reject the company's protest, would jeopardize the company's case against the Utah Construction company, wherein the company seeks to prevent the people of the Upper Salmon from diverting water for the irrigation of their project. In this manner, Mr. Hall intimates, the settlers have been working their own best interests, his statement carrying with it the idea that the settlers are actually assisting the Utah Construction company to deprive them of their water.

The Herald's readers will be interested to know in this connection that prior to the making public of Mr. Hall's statement, C. O. Longley, leader of the "no water" movement, was in charge of the state engineer's office in regard to this matter. Relative to his talk with the engineers, Mr. Longley, advised The Herald Thursday.

On All of Your Printed Matter, It Represents Good Workmanship, Good Paper, and Good Conditions.

President Wilson has issued another ultimatum to the fiery generals about putting American citizens across the American border. Troops and artillery were sent to enforce respect. Scarcely had the troops arrived, than another American, a woman this time, was shot and killed, the thirty-second victim of careless marksmanship of the Mexicans. "The nation is waiting to see whether the bluff should be called quickly," is anything more than a bluff. Most patriotic Americans want to bluff the president, believing in his sincerity, yet such incidents are mighty hard to swallow when the well-known contempt of the Mexicans for Americans is considered. Is a waiting policy going to improve the situation or do anything but aggravate that contempt and continual overt acts?

The Christmas spirit has had so many interpretations from the editors that the subject handled in any manner seems trite and often settled in tone yet for all that, Christmas does put better and more generous thoughts into the commercialism and cattiness of this busy world. At one time in the year at least, the most influential must bow his head to the chattering influence which have made Christmas a holiday for all. The men and women who cannot for the Christmas season drive out selfishness by a spirit of loving helpfulness is indeed to be pitied. The good people of Twin Falls have ever shown their adoption of the spirit of brotherhood by generous acts at Christmas time. This year to the need is even greater and the number of cases where Christmas cheer must be sent will exceed the supply unless special efforts are made to meet the demand. A little more sacrifice on the part of all will do this. Don't put it off.

THE UTILITIES COMMISSION.
There are three courses open to the legislature in dealing with the public utilities commission:

Change its personnel, or its point of view, or abolish it.

The Democrats promised to abolish it.

To save their face, the Republicans promised only to "adjust" the law, though many meant "abolish."

It would be wrong to abolish any as helpful agency as this was intended to be; but it must be revolutionized.

If that last decision—prohibiting electrical competition in the territory of the Kuhn-Brady power hold—had been made public before election, it would have killed Brady. It is a good enough reason for killing the law, or removing the commission; it would be criminal to not amend the law.

One may not want vicious competition; but we must have development—and the investors—and the public needs, must judge better than any limited commission can do. The investors who spend their money, and the people who buy the goods, are not provided; a commission

It has appeared to some students of scientific government that such a commission could be of fastidious value if it would approach the subject from the other side; with the object of developing new resources instead of regulating old. If, for example, a serious effort were made for state encouragement and use for more electricity instead of fear, it is a hard credit were considered a public utility—which it is—and some study were given to its development as it is used in New Zealand, Germany and elsewhere, that would be a colossal constructive work beside which the regulation of the few industries we now have must appear feeble and small.

The commission has not accomplished the end which it was intended by the legislature. The next legislature will find a drastic remedy. Richfield Recorder.

SHOULD WE PREPARE FOR ATTACK?

The spread of serious thought and talk about Army and Navy needs beyond the circle of war-material purveyors, Congressmen, and Army and Navy officials is evidenced by the recent meeting of more than a hundred of New York's representative citizens to form a "National Security League," and by the efforts of other individuals and groups to arouse the nation to a keener sense of what they believe to be a national peril. At the same time President Wilson, so Congressmen Gardner is person, "mean to lay the weight of a hundred million pounds" and put a few important newspapers think that is just what he ought to do. People are recalling ex-President Roosevelt's statement that he had "seen the plans of two of the countries now engaged in the European war to invade the United States." But those who would then deduce the existence of a real danger and plan to fight about our helplessness are dubbed "jugglers" or "alarmists" by the optimists who can easily reduce the invasion menace to a patent absurdity and by the so-called "sensationalists" who agree with Dr. David Starr Jordan that "in time of peace prepare for war" is a "moral" forced in men.

Needless to add, the war in Europe attests the moral for both sides.

General Wetherpoons' military recommendations were noted in these columns last week. The annual report of Rear-Admiral Blue as Chief of the Bureau of Navigation is no less interesting. It pictures the Navy as undermanned, short of experienced officers in the higher grades and affected by so slow a promotion of officers that the higher offices are filled with aging men waiting to retire, while the young and active men are kept in unimportant posts. The shortage of personnel and the lack of experienced officers in the places of highest responsibility were significant to the Army and Navy Journal.

This Service Journal notes that of the 1,000 officers, 700 are above the rank of lieutenant (junior grade) and 1,000 or below that rank. This condition is abnormal and should be remedied. And that the matter of promotion is becoming a more serious question every year, adds The Army and Navy Journal, referring to Admiral Blue's statements to the effect that:

"The junior resigners of the class of 1915 cannot expect to be promoted to lieutenant commanders, under such conditions, under forty years, or at a time when they will have reached the statutory retirement age of sixty-two."

In other words, all the officers in the Service fit for duty would be junior lieutenants and ensigns. The lieutenant commanders, commanders, captains and rear-admirals would be officers who have only reached the order of promotion.

The junior resigners of the class of 1915 cannot expect to be promoted to lieutenant commanders, under such conditions, under forty years, or at a time when they will have reached the statutory retirement age of sixty-two."

only be waiting to reach the retiring age. It is needless to comment on such a situation. If the matter were not so serious it would be ludicrous."

Congressman Gardner's charge that the Navy is short of torpedoes is disputed by the Secretary of the Navy. But the New York Sun finds it even more disquieting to read in Admiral Blue's report that "lack of officers has prevented the training of a satisfactory number of torpedo experts."

The conclusion The Sun draws from the report is "that the inadequacy of the Navy extends to personnel, training and complement as well as to ships."

We need an investigation of our naval defenses, across the Chicago Tribune (from). We want the truth about our navy and our port defenses, and about our mobile army. For it continues:

"The task of our Navy is to defend thousands of miles of coast in two oceans with many undetermined harbors, to defend the canal and that vital outpost of the Pacific shore, Hawaii. One sharp defeat, one slip of strategy, and an aggressive enemy might land an expeditionary force on our shores to punish us for our indifference."

There is but one counter-defense against such an event, an efficient mobile force, trained, equipped and ready to act swiftly.

What approximation to such a thing defense have we?

Americans, concludes The Tribune, "need not be militarists or alarmists or jingoes to face these questions; they should be answered honestly and fully, and to support a consistent, persistent and adequate policy of national defense which shall not be prevented or thwarted by the organized vagaries of Utopians, impossibilists, or extremists of any variety." This attitude, it should be noted is also taken by a host of dailies.—Literary Digest.

SOCIETY NOTES

Society friends for this column will be gladly received by The Times.

Mrs. W. T. Wood has issued invitations for a Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Wilfred Olsen will entertain the Quaker Club with a party Wednesday afternoon.

Prominent among the social functions planned for the holiday season is the dining party at the Elmore Inn with Mr. Walter Smith as host.

A very large number of the lovers of the torchbearer art were in attendance at the charity ball given at the Cottillon hall last night by the Elks.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Erickson entertained with an informal dinner party Sunday evening. Covers were laid for Messrs. and Mesdames C. H. Burton, Coughlin, Erickson and Rev. Father Hulin. A beautiful fern was used as a centerpiece.

On the afternoon of the 20th, the K. D. S. girls will entertain several of the society ladies with a party at home from college for the holidays, with a matinee party followed by a 6 o'clock tea at the home of Miss Madeline Reynolds.

A number of young people gathered very informally at the Pergamon Room last Saturday night. Popping corn was the pastime of the evening, which was enjoyed by Misses Williams and West, and Messrs. Cummings, Flintoff and Graves.

Very artistic and suggestive of their position was the decorations at the enjoyable dinner party following an afternoon of 500, given by Mesdames Myers and Tonkin, of the Delta Pringle company, with pink and white decorations, with small trunks and suitcases at each place as favors.

Last Thursday evening Mr. Harold Flintoff was the honored guest at a delightful little dinner party given by Miss MARGARET WILLIAMS. The hostess being Mrs. Williams. A large pink cake surrounded by (?) pink candles occupied the center of the table with birth-day gifts and cards.

The Misses Graham presented at a charmingly arranged bridal shower complimentary to Miss Elizabeth Martin, Saturday afternoon. Conversation and sewing made the afternoon pass quickly at the close of which a dainty buffet lunch was served in the darkened room lighted only with pink shaded candles. Those in attendance were: Mesdames Beatty, Tracy, Minnie, L. Perrine, Mann, Wiley, and Misses Sanderson, Draper, Hewett and Taylor.

Last Friday evening Misses Vesta Thomas and Mary Miller entertained with an elaborately appointed dinner party at the Thomas home. The table which was laid for Messrs. and Mesdames Alkon, Miller, Thomas, and McCollum was beautiful with a bowl of red roses and ferns resting in a bed of snow, occupying the center of the table. Sprigged hung from the chandelier to the centerpiece and was entwined about the red shaded candles. At the respective places of the guests were dainty hand painted cards decorated with red roses. Following the six-course dinner, Alston Hildan was the order of the evening. A young man wearing a large red bow went to Mr. and Mrs. McCollum for making high noon.

The Baptist ladies will hold a bazaar and cooked food sale at Dr. Partridge's office Thursday, December 17th. Many useful articles will be on sale for Christmas. Dec. 17-18

That should appeal to all, because new seasonable merchandise is reduced to prices that are especially attractive. Every department through the store offers its share of reductions. Most usually one has to wait until the month of January for such drastic reductions as these, but our sole intention is to reduce our large stocks as much as possible before January 1st, so here is your opportunity at a time when your dollars go twice as far.

OLD BATTLE GROUND

Belgium Has Been Scene of Many Bloody Campaigns.

Her People Have Struggled for Centuries for Independence and Neutrality—War Strength Largely Increased Last Year.

The determined land made by the Belgians to keep their green the deep square miles of territory, slightly larger than the state of Maryland, from becoming a battle ground for other nations, rests on an experience of similar conditions dating back to the days of Charlemagne and the early Frankish empire.

The greater part of what is now Belgium was in the early history of Europe, governed by Teutonic people.
Flanders, the remainder of Belgium, was under French rule. The progress of the people of this land up to the early nineteenth century was gained only through constant struggles to ex-cape from the domination of other European nations. Holland, France, Germany, Austria and Spain, in that order, have all have tried their hand at holding and governing the Belgian people. The neutrality which Belgium is trying to maintain was guaranteed in 1832 by a concert of the powers, after Belgium had gained its independence, by severe fighting, from the Dutch. Even then it took a French and English blockade of the Dutch coast to firmly establish Belgian freedom.

Belgium is the most thickly populated country in Europe. It has an area of 13,000 square miles with a population of seven and one-half million.
The capital, Brussels, has a population of 1,200,000.

The density of population in the little kingdom has enforced the cultivation of small farms. The number of farms of less than one and one-quarter acres is more than a half million, with only a few thousand of 50 to 125 acres.
The number of larger farms is now on the increase, partly because of the growth of the stock raising industry.
Other causes of prosperity include the coal mines and the textile and iron and steel industries. Because of the presence of a great mass of industrial workers the cause of Socialism is strong.

The capital of the kingdom is Brussels, with a population, including suburbs, of 780,000. The nation has no navy, but does a large importing and exporting trade, with a fair sized merchant marine. The chief exports are the North Sea are Ostend, Bruges and Antwerp. The only colony of the country is the Belgian Congo, Africa, where rubber is the chief export.

Belgium's war strength up to last year was estimated at 180,000. Almost as if in some foreknowledge of the turn of European affairs, a new law was passed increasing the war strength to 240,000. This is divided into 150,000 for field service, 80,000 for auxiliary service and 10,000 for garrison. The large garrison force is made necessary by the large number of fortresses on the several frontiers.

DAIRY FACTS

TWELVE GOOD SILO REASONS

Farmers' Bulletin Tells Farmer Should Provide Himself With Huge Receptacle for Feed.

1. B. Woodward of the "Dairy Division" in Farmers' Bulletin 556, furnishes 12 good and well-considered reasons for the farmer providing himself with a silo. Every one of them touches some spot of vital importance to the larger benefit of dairy farming. Here they are:

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.
2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.
3. Corn silage is more efficient feed than corn fodder.
4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same acre can be hauled and stored.
5. Crops can be put in the silo during winter weather that could not be utilized in making hay or curing fodder.
6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.
7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.
8. Silage is very palatable.
9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.
10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.
11. Silage can be used for supplumenting pasture more economically than can soiling crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.
12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

RACK FOR AIRING MILK PANS

Slatted Device Put on Posts as Illustrated Will Prove Quite Efficient—Is Easily Made.

A slatted rack for airing milk pans and other milk utensils may be made easily. It is illustrated as follows:

may be put on posts as illustrated.
The slatted rack, in this case, is made of wood, and is placed on posts, and down upon it, and they will catch the air from underneath.

FEED DRY GRAIN TO CALVES

Digestive Organ of Young Animal Is Small and Frequent Feedings of Small Amount Is Best.

In feeding young milk calves, the grain needed to supply the missing fat may be given, barley, oats or a mixture.
Occasionally a tender has skim-milk or milk or clover hay be handed, and to these he adds linked meal, containing a small amount of gluten feed.
The calves are all high in protein, and one of them is combined with skim-milk and alfalfa—both high in protein.
An unbalanced ration results and occurs or other digestive troubles may occur. The digestive tract of a calf is small and frequent feedings of small amounts during the first month is best.
During the first month, it is better to grind the grain fed. At the end of this period either oats or corn may be fed, ground, and hard ground like silage and milk may be mixed with the grain ground. All grain should be fed dry in a trough. Mixing feeds with milk is not recommended, as calves chew their feed better when fed dry.

GOOD RULES FOR DAIRYMAN

Nebraska Station Favors Feeding "All
the Roughage That the Cow
Will Eat Up Clean."

The Nebraska station gives the following brief and simple rules as an aid in determining the amount of feed
required by a cow:

1. Feed all the roughage, such as alfalfa, corn silage, etc., that the cow
will eat up clean.
2. Feed approximately one pound of grain for every three pounds of milk produced per day.
3. Give the cows as much feed as they will consume without gaining weight.
4. Feed some succulent feed, such as corn silage or roots, to make the result more palatable.
5. Be prepared to supplement the pasture by feeding silage when the dry season sets in.

THE SLEEPING HOUSE MYSTERY.

[illegible]

A subsequent investigation by the police, revealed nothing to its discredit so far as the law was concerned.

To the present day, was an open book. Indeed, Anagani All was himself the instigator of the search. He wanted to know if he had been right or not. His cult was not looked upon favorably by the police; she was not the object of any justifiable suspicion. His grandiose ideas were not shared by the "cliques of the interrogator," his frankness all won him at least the respect of the non-donors.

The murder was buried under the expense of the city, and what was known as the Bilenrecht case went into oblivion.

"I became entirely convinced,"

[illegible]

On a certain night two weeks after the first precipitous fall, Zudora heard the clack click the hour of nine. She went upstairs to her room and threw up the shutters and looked out into the heavens and yawned in amazement. Coming toward the house was the constant procession she had ever seen, and she saw that it was the same white pantaloons, here in this workaday city of New York. She rubbed her eyes as if striving to remember the scene, and then she was crouching silently up the steps. She next heard the thunder of the knocker, which no one would have heard if she had not listened. She then became alive to the fact that this was really, She reached the head of the stairs just as the porter came hurrying down. No doubt, Ho bowed deeply and ceremoniously. He was dressed a good deal

"Where?"

"I cannot tell you," said the woman gradually closing the door.

"But I am not in a mood for parleying," he absolutely pushed his way in.

She was mighty glad to get back to her room again, for she had been so tired and so nervous. But still, she determined to try and solve the riddle. She had already formed a campaign. What some of the more fortunate were in some of the palaces.

Hassan Ali concealed her astonishment. Yet sometimes deep devotion made him think that she would turn around.

But how did you escape, unless—

"They wanted you," he said grimly, "and I refused me nearly as much as I could about my business. What can I do?"

"Enough to determine me to do it," she said.

"Will you be good, please, to go and to Zudora,"
 "You promise never to go anywhere without sending first the pigeon!"
 "Yes."
 "And now, what the dickens made those chaps go to sleep!"
 She explained. "This was the origin of our original parable, the vanguard of the stupor-induced death it was to transmute and harmless. The piper led to all the telegraph trunks, and each time the ceremony happened, the piper was sent to the gallows from the watchtower above."
 "That's the original, mind, John!"

21, will go to visit the assassin in the state prison at Joliet.

"I agree to that," said the attorney.

Once home, she ran upstairs for her costume. When she came down again, the attorney had disappeared. She called for her maid, Miss Mason. All she could know was that she was talking about.

"The clock is behind me," she cried. She came to a door which she thought her back was against. Two men, her shoulders, to Armed. Hassan! All went a terrible glance. She was in the room. He opened the door. He was still breathing there.

Yudora from the struggle.

Yudora left the house, more deeply than ever.

Two hours later she had climbed up the nursery of the sleeping boys and rescued Blotom from his father's grasp.

The fact that the attorney could take place only before the department placed him under the law. He was a member of the Yabok State. Yudora did not go to the occasional room, but proceeded directly to the secret chamber. For one brief moment she spoke bravely, in return for the liberation of her lover she declared that with the aid of one man, she would free the prince and princess to them. The young prince and princess, however, in the end, were never able to find a way.

CONSTABLE SALE

Notice is hereby given that R. A. Graham, constable for the county of El Paso, Texas, will, on Tuesday, January 5, 1910, at ten o'clock a. m., sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described animal to-wit: One brown mare, six years old, weight about 1100 pounds, brand on the right shoulder. The mare was taken up at the Samuels Cattle Company, west two and a quarter miles north of Murtaugh, Idaho, about the 26th of October, 1910.

The sale will take place at the above specified time at the residence of Samuel Cox at the above specified place.

Owner can have animal before the sale, and having it confirmed, otherwise, the said animal will be sold on the date above mentioned, less legal costs and the balance of the proceeds turned over to the county.

R. A. GRAHAM,
Constable.

WILL APPOINT REFEREE

Company's and Settlers' Attorneys Agree on Plan.

Judge Dietrich of the federal court at Boise indicated Thursday afternoon that he would appoint a referee to settle the controversy between the water company and the settlers. The hearing before Judge Dietrich will probably be deferred until early in February in order that the referee may have an opportunity to hear all testimony offered on these hotly-contested points.

The hearing before Judge Dietrich will probably be deferred until early in February in order that the referee may have an opportunity to hear all testimony offered on these hotly-contested points. The referee will commence directly after the holidays, if not before.

The attorneys for the water company are being conducted by Mr. C. O. Langley, for the settlers by Mr. J. H. Hays, representative of the Land and Water company, and the attorneys for the settlers by Mr. J. H. Hays, representative of the Land and Water company, and the attorneys for the settlers by Mr. J. H. assisted by Joe Hays, a Twin Falls engineer. It is understood that they are to pass upon the construction work done by the company.

The settlers failed to receive any formal notice that this inspection was to be made, and consequently were unable to arrange to have an engineer accompany the engineer's party. The evening before the party started on their inspection, the water company advised the settlers' association that the water company would have no objection to a qualified settler accompanying the party. Mr. C. O. Langley, for the water company, thought it would be possible to make any intelligent work of the system at this time, they believing that it is necessary to have a good head of water in the system to discover the defects, if it has any.

Mr. Robinson pointed out as an illustration of this point that to examine the condition of the water in the system when the water was turned off, anyone would believe they were in excellent condition; whereas, in fact, they are so badly handicapped that to examine water in sufficient quantity.

In connection with these various matters, it is pointed out in an early judgment of the difficulties of the Salmon project, it was learned early in the week that the water in the land and water company and the Twin Falls Construction company had been set for December in the federal court. This suit involves the right of the stock company, formerly known as the Vineyard Land and Stock company, to the use of water in the irrigation of lands in the project they are developing. A suit to enjoin them from doing this was instituted two years ago by the canal company, and was set for hearing last December, but was deferred. The construction company announced that they were in the neighborhood of 25,000 acres of irrigable land in the project and that because of prior filings in the state of Nevada, they are entitled to such water as the Salmon as their land requires. DEPUTY SHERIFF KILLED Prisoner Makes Attempt to Break Jail at Pocatello.

Deputy Sheriff Eugene Taylor was shot at an attempted jail break at Pocatello last night after noon and died two hours later. Charles Moore, a federal prisoner, detained in the state jail at Pocatello, was held on the charge of murder. The government charge against him is the illegal sale of liquor to Indians. The Pocatello Tribune says: Taylor entered the jail and passed into the outer corridor for the purpose of taking the prisoners out to take their regular bath. When he entered the corridor he locked the door to the outside behind him, and then opened the locks that let the men from their cells. The bath tub is located in an alcove in the corner and after the men thronged the open space, a federal prisoner by the name of Charles Moore, who was in the cell, pulled an automatic pistol on the deputy sheriff and fired twice. At this juncture a Greek prisoner grabbed the hand of Moore and prevented him from further pulling the trigger.

Taylor was hit by one of the bullets and fell to the floor. The ball penetrated the stomach, just under the heart, and did not come out.

"At this juncture, a Mexican trusty, who was on the outside, heard the commotion and gave the alarm. Sheriff Lowry happened to enter the building just at that time, and running to the door, unlocked it. Moore and the Greek were wrestling for possession of the gun, and Lowry, seeing his heavy revolver and rapped Moore twice over the head with it, putting him out of commission.

"According to the prisoners, the gun was snatched by Moore, who apparently had planned the affair for several days. After shooting Taylor, he stepped back to the main door, and pointing the pistol at the balance of the prisoners held them in check, and seemingly was going after the keys in the deputy's pocket. At this juncture the Greek tied into Moore and the fight was on for the possession of the weapon, when Sheriff Lowry entered and laid out the would-be murderer.

"Moore is a bootlegger from Blackfoot, and was bound over to the next term of the federal court in a hearing before Judge Dietrich. Commissioner Turner, a short time ago.

"After being hit by the sheriff he was carried to a back cell, where he was placed with some penitentiary birds. Feeling run very high against him among the crowd in the court house.

"The county jail has been crowded to the limit within the past two weeks and in some manner a confederate of Moore's managed to elude the vigilance of the outcasts and slip in the gun. Is a .32-caliber Colt's automatic."

TOOK HIS WORD FOR IT

Barley Officer Lets Check Artist Explain to Folks.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Oley made a trip to Turkey, expecting to find there a man in jail, badly wanted here for the indelicate circulation of checks drawn on present-tense, unissued accounts, and was met with apologies on the part of the official in charge of the jail there, who explained that the man had the man out so that he could get the matter adjusted and that he had failed to return and that the Turkey office had now lost all confidence in him.

The man who is known as Ed. Bishop, lives in the Turkey section of the country and in company with George Flinn of the same neighborhood spent several days last week in Idaho Falls, having a nice time, seeking the city and incidentally buying a few good cigars and smoking cigars, presenting checks signed by each other. That is to say, Bishop would present a check signed by Flinn, and Flinn would present one signed by Bishop, thus working it both ways. In several instances where they obtained the checks, they were passing the checks, cashed they prevailed on new-found friends to endorse for them. The checks passed through the banks in the regular order of business and were returned with the usual notation that bankers have a habit of putting on checks that the work must be done. The return of the checks destroyed the confidence of the friends who had endorsed them, and the affair was reported to the officers, who arrested Flinn and are holding him in jail here. Word was telephoned to Turkey and the officers arrested Bishop, who is evidently well known to the constable in charge, whom he convinced that if he could just be released for a little while that he could get the money and pay off the checks. The officer took him at his word and Bishop failed to show up, and the officers are now trying to get a description of the man wanted has been sent to all sections of the state, and it is very likely only a question of time until he will be in the hands of the law, and probably a less vigorous officer this time. Idaho Falls Register.

JUST A PLAIN LIE

Hollister Herald Passes the Buck to Register-Jennens.

"A careful inquiry into the status of flat proof notices published in The Herald reveals an interesting situation and the publisher is requesting his friends to circulate the following information as widely as possible, both for the benefit of this publication and for the protection of the entrustees, who have not yet met final trial. The land commissioner at Hollister has instructions from N. Jennens, register of the land board, advising him to publish no proofs in The Herald, stating that such order had been made at a special meeting of the land board. Inspection of the minutes of the board meetings proves this statement of N. Jennens to be a lie. N. Jennens has himself admitted that no such action was ever taken, but that he advised the local land commissioner to take the proofs away from The Herald at the instigation of a certain member of the board, whom the Herald was opposing in the recent campaign. With this information, The Herald will, of course, proceed with such action for redress as is possible under the law.

"In the meanwhile the Herald remains officially designated by the state land board as the paper in which flat proof notices on the Salmon tract must appear. Do not be coerced into running your notice in a paper you do not want it run in. You can assist The Herald and protect your own interests at the same time.—Hollister Herald."

OUT OF THE VILLAGE CLASS

Higby, County Seat of Jefferson, in City Pen.

Rightly, the county seat of Jefferson county is to assume airs of very serious dignity, beginning about the first of the year, the time when new leaves are turned over and resolutions made, the fact having developed that Higby is no longer in the village class, but having over one thousand people (counted in 1900) is to step up into the city classification and will change its form of village government to the more doubtful brand endorsed by other ambitious localities.

At any rate Higby is good town (city), it should be so located in one of the best sections of the great valley, and is not only a comely, but is already here.—Idaho Falls Register.

CHRISTMAS AT BISBEE'S

"Pop, pop—hip, hop—up, top. Popcorn!"

Out of the pan, into the fire, Barking and bounding, higher and higher:

White as new snow, yellow as gold, "Don't touch it now—until it is cold. Pop, pop—hip, hop—up, top. Popcorn!"

Of all the merry times in connection with the making of pictures, the circus is the fun that has been resorted to the Bisbee Studio this week. The Christmas spirit is in the air; every child loves the open fires in the two big rooms at the studio and many quiet speculations have been made by the children as to whether Santa will get down the chimney and what he will leave for the two shining Christmas trees that grace the passing year. But perhaps the older children could most of the corn-popper and the rug before the fireplace. As for the negatives Mr. Bishop is making, they have all the grace and charm of childhood in them. Why not, when the children feel as home and perfectly natural and at ease? The Bishop Studio has become quite well known as the children's studio. Mr. Bishop says the reason of this is because he has never quite grown up himself and the children feel he is really glad to see them and is having genuine fun in their play. Yes, it's corn-popping time! It's evergreen time, it's the happiest time of the year—it's Christmas.—Adv.
