

WASHINGTON REGARDS GERMAN ACTION MOST SERIOUS.

NO ANSWER RECEIVED TO SHARP NOTE OF PROTEST SENT BY U. S.

DESTINATION OF AMERICAN BOATS OR AMERICAN LIVES HIGHLY PROBABLY IN DANGER.

Washington Secretary Bryan said late Wednesday night that no reply has been received from Germany to the American note concerning submarine attacks on belligerent merchant ships in the new zone of war under the German admiral's proclamation.

Publication Wednesday night of the text of Great Britain's complete reply to the American communication concerning contraband and belligerent shipping revealed that England does not intend to relay its position on the shipments of foodstuffs to Germany and announces that measures are being contemplated for retaliation against submarine attacks on Germany on British merchant ships.

The warning in the British note that Germany abandons the principle of international law by endeavoring to verify the character of a merchant ship before attacking it, England may not remember that this principle was accepted, injected into the general situation further uncertainties on which the developments of the next few days were generally expected to have an important bearing.

White officials at the White House said late Wednesday night that the note was what might be done if any American vessels or lives should be lost in the war zone. It was admitted on all hands that the note was a warning with many grave possibilities.

American officials are entirely positive in their conferences with Ambassador Gerard and there is something to show that officially there has been no change in the good relations which have hitherto existed.

Twin Falls is certainly entitled to better telephone service for the price charged the consumers here. Under the present condition it is easier to walk three or four blocks than to try to talk over the telephone.

The impeachment proceeding against Judge Steele of the Northern Idaho District should be given little attention by the legislature unless it intends to go to the limit of the matter for every district in the state.

The senate bill enabling act introduced by seven senators, is one of the most pernicious measures ever introduced in Idaho's legislature.

The innocent bystander is proverbially hit by the brick, and just now America is coming in for her full share of hard knocks. All cities are charging us with holding a dubious position in every country's eyes.

CLEAN-UP TIME HERE: Before the spring freshets strike the veins of the good citizens here, the Times would urge that a thorough clean-up campaign be started.

Impress of their taste and handicraft. The world affords abundant evidence of the truth that a community is but the mirror of the character of its actor.

The well-known shipping expert, in discussing the question in detail in the Herald-Voice, says: "The situation is serious in the light of the Declaration of London, our must come to the conclusion that the change of flag of the Duchin is legal; but if one inquires on the basis of German prize laws, whether the change of flag would have taken place if there had been no war, it is possible that, if one clings to the letter of the law, one may be in doubt.

The Paris Temps makes the novel suggestion that the Duchin incident was arranged by German-Americans as an attempt to put Anglo-American relations to a new test; while the Journal des Debats is frankly indignant and says roundly: "The infringement of neutrality in clear violation of the principles which remain in neutral ports is only a means for business with other neutrals.

A very sensible statement comes from the London Daily News, which, in the course of approving remarks on Mr. Bryan's recent defense of our neutrality, warns its contemporaries that regarding the United States as a dangerous territory.

By deplorable example of this appeared in the Spectator on Saturday last. The demand has been notorious for its persistent depreciation of President Wilson's administration.

There are no incendiary journals there as well as here, and attempts in this country to elevate to the United States the standard of neutrality.

T. B. Hendricks & Son Manufacturers of Hendricks Sagebrush Grubbers Twin Falls, Idaho History of the First Scientific Grubber Ever Built

Being a pioneer by nature and a machinist by trade, I decided some eight years ago to go to the Twin Falls country, which was then being opened for settlement, in search of a location in which to establish a business.

CONSTRUCTION—The frame is constructed of steel one-half inch in thickness ranging in width from one and one-half to two inches, and is amply braced to meet any extraordinary strain to which it may be subjected.

ADJUSTMENTS—There is a certain satisfaction in being the owner of a machine which is constructed so that adjustments can be easily made. On the Hendricks every operation relative to its adjustment is performed by the lever, which is accessible to the operator's hand.

For a number of years there has been a steady advance in the cost of all material entering into the construction of all classes of farm machinery as well as in labor in building it.

Very Respectfully Yours, T. B. HENDRICKS & SON

FARM POLTRY

PRODUCE HARD-SHELLED EGG Strong, Heavy Shell Is Not Nearly So Likely to Be Broken by Rough Handling as Weak One.

The feeding of hens for the production of hard-shelled eggs, not easily breakable in handling, is possible and demands attention. Shells vary greatly in strength. A strong, heavy shell is not nearly so likely to be broken by the jars, jolts and rough handling incident to ordinary shipment as a weak one.

Chemical analysis shows that the shell of the egg is largely carbonate of lime, but that it also contains carbonate of magnesium, mineral phosphate and some organic matter. If strong shells are to be produced, the mineral elements must not be lacking. Grains that are ordinarily fed do not contain these mineral elements in sufficient proportions, and an additional and separate supply is necessary. Fortunately these mineral elements are available in much cheaper form than in grains. Lime is the principal ingredient of oyster shells, which may be procured for about twelve dollars a ton.

Bone meal contains phosphorus in appreciable amounts, besides lime, magnesia, etc., and while expensive, it is effective in giving the shell an evenness and fineness of texture which adds much to its strength. It is, therefore, often used as an ingredient for dry mash for laying flocks, usually in amount varying from three to five per cent.

Eggs that won't break give the poultrymen greater profits than eggs that will. Make your hens lay the nonbreakable kind.

GETTING MOST FROM TURKEY

Do Not Encourage Fowls to Come to Kitchen Door for Tit-Bits—Expense is of Importance.

Turkeys should not be encouraged to come about the kitchen door for tit-bits. The health of this fowl requires that it exercise. Far better have a flock of turkeys that come up only at roosting time than a flock hanging about the kitchen door. Feed regularly twice a day when the range food is gone, and give all the sour milk that can be spared. See that they have no lice, and that their nests are free from mice. They should be sheltered in an open shed, but better roost in the trees than in the chicken-house unless conditions are unusually favorable and ventilation good. Turkeys are very susceptible to bad air and poor ventilation. They will come down with roup if allowed to roost over damp droppings in a dirty house.

Do not try to fatten in confinement. If they are to be marketed, let them out corn with the pigs, and see that they have all they can eat for the three or four weeks just before Thanksgiving. A dose of ground salt given once a month is good for the flock. Give a teaspoonful to every two birds in the mash. Provide plenty of grit and charcoal and all the onions available—toys and baths as well.

Difficult as it is, the lesson, it is nevertheless true that profit in raising broilers or first-class roasters comes only to him who uses pure-bred, colorful, broad, deep, full-breasted birds; yellow in skin and legs. The strategy of the barnyard hen, with mongrel male as the sire of her chicks, is incapable of producing a chick that will weigh three pounds weight long before it is matured, at which period of its existence it ceases to be a broiler. It is the use of good breeds that gives success and profit.

Poor Stuff Goes Begging. It is a fact that in market, plump chickens, neatly dressed, freed from pin feathers, with unsoiled skin, and with perfectly clean legs; will find a ready sale, while poor stuff goes begging.

ORCHARD TOPICS

DAMAGE BY CURRANT MAGGOT Worst Pest of Small Bush Fruits—Its Attack Causes Berries to Turn Red and Drop to Ground.

Perhaps the worst pest to the currant and gooseberry is the maggot that gets into the fruit before the berries are ripe, causing them to turn red and drop. The adult insect is a fly about the size of an ordinary house fly, but a light yellowish brown in color with dusky bands crossing its wings. This fly deposits its eggs one in a place, just beneath the skin of the currant and gooseberry, which upon hatching develop into the maggot. The fruit drops to the ground and the maggot escapes and burrows a little beneath the surface of the soil and remains until the next spring.

We do not know any remedy aside from that of allowing chickens to run among the currant and gooseberry bushes after the fruit is off, for the purpose of picking up these maggots in the older stages of their development. Spading the soil around the bushes so that the surface soil will be covered with four or five inches of fresh dirt will also destroy a great many of the insects. Whatever can be done toward gathering the infested fruit and destroying it will also lessen the number of flies to destroy during the following spring.

PLANTING THE WALNUT TREE

Prepare Soil Carefully and Plant Note Three Feet Apart in Rows—Carefully Conserve Moisture.

Black walnut seeds are to be gathered in the fall, and the nuts carefully stored. The nuts are not to be hulled over winter, as the seed is planted, as the hull interferes in so way with the germination, and it may prevent the nut from drying out.

Soak the nuts, and alternate a layer of them with a layer of sand and leaves. Moisture the pile, and allow it to freeze. Let it remain moist and frozen all of the winter. Plant the seed next spring as soon as the ground is in a workable condition. Plant the nuts four inches apart. The nuts should be very sensitive to dry, parched conditions, it is necessary to give the trees good cultivation, and carefully conserve the moisture.

SAYINGS OF PROF. HEDRICK

Careful Account Kept of Cost of Growing Apples and of Profits Under Intelligent Management.

Professor Hedrick of the New York State experiment station at Geneva has kept careful account of the cost of growing apples and of the profits under intelligent management. The net income from the orchard averaged during the ten year test period $27.4 an acre, or about 18% per cent on a $150 investment. He reports that the fruit has been better during the next twenty years.

The question of tillage versus no-till in orchards has been often and heatedly discussed. Professor Hedrick states that for every dollar he has taken out of the soil he has put in just as much more. The tillage has been the best.

QUESTION OF SHELL COLOR. New York City is Ready to Pay Premium for White Eggs—Flavor is Controlled by Feeding. There is a prejudice in the market regarding the color of the egg shell. It is a prejudice of long standing, and will, without doubt, persist with the buying public. The average American market prefers a brown color, while New York City is ready to pay a premium for white-shelled eggs. The brown egg buyers in particular claim that the eggs are of a richer flavor. All this is imaginary, when we come to understand that it is food and not color of shell that affects the egg. It is reasonable to suppose the brown egg of the Brahma and other breeds could be as sweet as the white egg of the Leghorn fed on clover.

STORY OF "THE SQUAW MAN"

Well Known Play in Which Ugin Parman Stars for Merit.

James Wynnegate, a blundering, dashing young English-arms officer is made the guardian of a trust fund raised by the members of his regiment for the relief of the widows of those who die in battle. The Earl of Kerhill, in love with and favored by the girl Wynnegate, is a member of Wynnegate's regiment. By means of a forged check, Kerhill betrays the fund.

Much to be made over the 1916 season.

To save the honor of the family, Wynnegate agrees with the Earl's mother to discontinue and let it be understood that he is the benefactor. Her eyes, however, land in a trading scheme. The schooner in mid-ocean catches fire and burns to the water's edge. Among those saved is Wynnegate. The fire boat containing Wynnegate is rescued by a steamer bound for America, and in the cabin of an English tourist and under the name of Jim Carston, he is next seen on the Great White Way. Carston is instrumental in saving a Western from a confidence man and he and the Westerner become warm friends. At the latter's suggestion, Carston accompanies him West, where the former is appointed an officer, buys a ranch and settles down to the mode of life of the frontier.

The story now reverts to England and the Earl of Kerhill's mother is advised to seek a warmer climate. She locates in the vicinity of Carston's ranch and they meet after two years. By reason of his marriage to St. Rich, Carston is now known as the "Squaw Man" and is a successful ranchero. During a polo game in London, when told that he has no chance to recover, confesses that heembezzled the fund and expatriated Wynnegate. Carston's friends and relatives then endeavor to prevail upon him to return to England. The decision within him, to make life his own real life in the set to which he rightfully belongs, is strong, but realizing that his "squire" will not continue in English society he decides to remain on his ranch at Green River. He consents, however, to let his little boy return to be educated for his situation in life.

GOOD FARM-BUTTER-MAKING

Greater Attention Should Be Given to Details Concerning Factors Affecting the Quality.

(By J. KEITHLEY.)
The following few brief instructions will prove of great assistance to farm butter makers:

Churn at a temperature that will give a firm, flaky granule in the butter. This temperature varies slightly with the season, but ranges from 52 degrees to 62 degrees F. The use of a thermometer and intelligent observation, as result of a few churnings, will enable the butter maker to determine the proper temperature at which to churn. Churning should be stopped when butter granules are large as corn kernels or peas. Time required for churning should be 25 to 30 minutes.

Use clear, pure water for washing the butter. It should not be more than three degrees colder or warmer than the buttermilk. Use amount of water equal to that of the buttermilk. In a barrel churn, reverse 12 to 10 times in washing.

Weigh the granular washed butter and salt at the rate of three-fourths ounce to one ounce per pound. Be sure the salt is well pulverized and sift it evenly over the granular butter before any of the moisture is worked out.

Work the butter sufficiently to distribute salt without injuring the grain or texture. Determine working by 1, appearance; 2, texture; 3, grittiness. Butter, when sufficiently worked, should present a firm, glossy appearance. The texture should resemble the broken end of a steel rod. There should be no grittiness due to the unevenly distributed or undissolved salt. This can be determined by taking a small piece of butter between the thumb and finger and rubbing it rapidly; any grittiness will soon be observed. Insufficient working is generally shown by a mottled appearance in color on the cut surface. This is largely due to an uneven distribution of salt. This results in a salty condition and injures the keeping quality. The aim of butter makers should be to produce a high-grade article that is uniform, sweet and free in flavor and composition. This can be done by careful methods in ripening, salting and working.

Working the Butter.

KEEP SALT HANDY FOR COWS

Maintains Health of Animals and Encourages Heavy Milk Flow by Promoting Digestion.

Experiments have proved the average milk cow requires about an ounce of salt per day. Heavy milkers should have more. Keeping salt where the dairy cows can reach it at all times maintains their good health and encourages a heavy milk yield by promoting thorough digestion and assimilation and having a cooling effect on the whole system of the animal, at the same time making it easier to bring butter of a superior flavor and color at churning time.

SOME GRAIN IS NECESSARY

Cow Will Get Through Winter in Excellent Condition, If Given Few Cans of Corn Each Day.

The cow that is to become a mother should not be allowed to get poor and weak during the winter months. It is practically impossible to get such a cow through the winter in good condition without a grain feed. She may not need a great amount of grain, if she has plenty of forage that is nutritious, but she will need four or five ears of corn two or three times a day. Thus she will get through the winter in fine shape and have good flesh and plenty of strength at calving time.

ROAD BUILDING

HEAVY, SHORT ROAD ROLLER

Useful Improvement May Be Constructed by Using Worn-Out Mowing Machine and Concrete.

Perhaps you have a grader of some sort and road drags, but you need a heavy short roller. They cost too much to buy, so make one this way. Procure an old worn-out mowing machine, any make, writes W. A. Dillon in Farmers' Mail and Breeds. Take off or break off all the parts that stick out past the wheels. Smash off a bit of hard ground, now fit a small sole just large enough for the hub. Set the machine up on one end, put a jacket of galvanized sheet iron around the wheels, secure it at short intervals with small stove bolts and make it fit neat and straight. Now fill the jacket with the best fine concrete. Tamp it well and allow it to stand until the concrete is well set. Remove the jacket; keep the roller shaded and spray it for eight or ten days.

Have the blacksmith put an iron frame on this roller. Heavy tire iron will do, using the hubs for spindles. When a strong tongue is added you will have a good roller as anybody who will haul a life time and will cost but little. Save the jacket to make more rollers with.

When your road is graded run the roller down the center, instead of on the sides, as now. Take two disk harrows the same number of disks, and if possible the same kind. Turn the disk on the harrows so they will throw the dirt toward each other, instead of away from each other. Place the harrows side by side, then close together side by side in the middle of the road to be worked. Take a light log chain and fasten the harrows together. Put a team on each harrow and drive down the road to be worked. Turn around; let out the chain a couple of feet; go back. Repeat the operation a number of times. You would be surprised how much dirt the disk harrow will cut up and throw toward the center of the road. Finish with drag or grader. Then roll the center and you will have a good road at small cost.

We have organized a country club here and given each member a piece of road to drag near his home. We elected a drag boss so when it is just right to drag the boss calls all the members and in about two hours we have all the roads in the district dragged. We have had very little weather ever since grading, but the plan appears to work well.

This is an example of ingenious planning carried into successful execution. It will be noted that the granary forms the roof for the root cellar, and that together they make a very substantial structure. Naturally, good-serviceable material is essential if the careful planning is to result in permanent satisfaction.

BUICK SATISFACTION

WHAT YOU DESIRE AND DEMAND IN A MOTOR CAR, YOU WILL FIND IN A BUICK.

Here is one of the many sworn affidavits we have, telling of Buick satisfaction.

State of Idaho, County of Twin Falls, DR. O. F. HENNING, Twain Falls, Idaho, Oct. 1st, 1914.

This is to certify that I, Dr. O. F. Henning, of Jerome-Idaho, depose and say that I arrived in Twin Falls, Idaho, today from Monterey, California, in a 1914 Model B-25 Buick touring car. Said car being purchased last April and driven over 2300 miles before starting on this trip. That my speedometer registered 1006 miles from Monterey, California, to Twin Falls, Idaho, and during said distance said car consumed 45 1/2 gallons of common gasoline, by accurate measurement. Making a mileage of better than twenty-two miles per gallon of gasoline for the entire trip.

The condition of the roads being in places extremely poor, and from Contact, Nevada, in here, very muddy. Said car being weighed today over the Twin Falls City scales and weighed 2020 lbs. This load being fully 100 lbs. lighter than over most of the trip. I had no mechanical troubles of any kind during the entire trip. I wish to further state that I found along the entire way a sort of Buick fraternity and received every possible courtesy and assistance at the Buick garages at which I stopped that was possible to give and at no place was I charged for storage over night.

Subscribed in my presence and sworn to before me by Dr. O. F. Henning this 2nd day of October, A. D., 1914.

DR. O. F. HENNING
Notary Public

J. E. WHITE, Notary Public. Has it ever occurred to you that you never saw a sworn statement regarding the mileage of those other cars. There is a reason. When they do tell of their mileage they do not do it in black and white over a sworn statement and before a notary public. We have several of those affidavits in our possession, and if you are going to buy a car, you had better look into this matter pretty closely. It makes a big difference at the end of the season if you have been only getting from 8 to 10 miles per gallon or from 20 to 24.

Come down and let us show you the reason of Buick's economy.

Also kindly remember, under the trees that bear the most fruit you will find the most.

The school board met Monday night and transacted routine business. They have elected Fred E. Brown, who is teaching at Hollister, for next year and will meet again on the 30th at which time they may hire the grade teachers.

One of the few new affairs a book for over held in this section was the T. D. Connor sale on Tuesday. Everything sold well. Mrs. Connor will visit with friends and relatives in the north and Dan will probably go along for a little visit himself.

Next Monday will be a blizzard Monday that will cause him to walk on crutches for a time. While out in his pasture horseback his horse slipped and fell on the ice that happened to be covered with straw and he failed to notice the ice. His horse fell on his ankle and broke some of the small bones in his foot.

The dance given by the I. O. O. F. last Friday evening was one of the successfuil parties of the season. There were about 500 people present and the evening was passed in the most enjoyable and profitable manner. The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion and all that could be desired—and the punch, invigorating, and the social features all that could be desired. The evening was closed with a raffle and looked forward to with ever increasing interest.

As a window dresser Mr. Vandamant of the Window Store, is certainly an expert. So many compliments were passed upon the window last week that the store is now the center of attraction by calling to the attention of the public. A traveling man who makes nearly every town in Idaho, informed the Journal Tuesday that the windows in this store were the best dressed of any windows in the state. This is certainly some compliment and one that should be a matter of pride to every citizen in T. Falls, as it is a big ad for the town.

Last Sunday, after church, as Mrs. L. F. Hostetter and sister were leaving town in their car, they discovered that the bride was off of one of the horses. As the horses started to run, the bride fell from the horse. The hostetter told onto the lines while the team tore down the street toward the elevators, when they turned back toward the farm. He rode to a safe place and then he and Hammerquist, Jim, jumping out the sister sustained a few bruises while Mrs. Hostetter was uninjured. Her horse was taken to the shop for repairs.

PROPER TIME FOR TRIMMING

Grower of Raspberries and Blackberries Must Go Over His Patch Yearly and Remove Dead.

Raspberry and blackberry growers have a task that comes in no other kind of fruit growing, says the Fruitman and Gardener. To be sure there are thinning and trimming in all fruit, but raspberries and blackberries must be given special attention. The fruit man must go over their patches once a year and remove the canes which but lately were fruit land.

Where a few days ago you picked times and dollars daily, there are now food stalks to be discarded. The proper time to remove this useless wastage is a much-discussed matter. The correct theory is this, the sooner the better. That means the months following the harvest, say August 15th to September 15th. This is the best time because the quicker all insects and disease germs are removed the better. The brush-heap incineration at the earliest possible date is good sense.

But practice is usually very different from theory. Perhaps in most cases our fruitmen are too busy in the summer season to do this work. It is done in the comparative leisure of winter. As this season is all right provided you are not troubled with rust and bugs. If you are troubled, strain a polt and clean out the berry patches early—do it even if you must pay high wages for labor.

VENTURE OF WESTERN FRANCE

The 1914 vintage in western France according to preliminary reports, is most satisfactory. It is said to compare favorably in quality with the 1913 product and is considered superior to the 1912 and 1915 vintages. The fine weather during August, September and early October contributed largely to the success of the vintage, harvested despite the withdrawal of a large proportion of the main population for war purposes.

Many "Kings of Jerusalem." The proposals to revive the kingdom of Jerusalem are a reminder that no man has the European monarchs claim to be monarch of the holy city. The most valid claim at present is that of the sultan of Turkey, but "King of Jerusalem" figures among the titles of the king of Spain; the king of Abyssinia; the king of Italy and the emperor of Austria.

How Aeroplanes Alights Signal.

This has been tried in France in an apparatus for signaling from aeroplanes used in the war, consisting of a reservoir of lamplamp, which is connected with a supply of compressed air.

The aviator, by means of a valve within reach of his hand, can blow out a cloud of lamplamp, which is also varying according to the length of pressure of his hand upon the valve. These small clouds, because they are at a distance of six miles, and the movement of the aeroplanes spaces them sufficiently to prevent them returning together.

By the use of the Morse code it is an easy matter to set signals in this way from an aeroplane, and in addition it saves the necessity of a wireless-receiving station, which is often difficult to operate during a campaign.

Rules for Diet Are Individual.

The best rule for diet for human beings yet devised, says Dr. H. W. Hill of the Minnesota Public Health association, are necessarily very elementary in general, safe rule is to eat plenty of what is good, as long as you have no trouble in digesting it, and to avoid those things that experience shows disagree with you. One should never select or neglect any particular article of food, because, because it disagrees, does not agree with someone else. Eating is certainly one thing in which one individual is wholly entitled to be a law unto himself.

LIME FOR THE FRUIT TREES

Gives Favorable Root Growth and Improves Quality and Quantity of Fruit—Grapes Are Sweeter.

To get the best crop of any fruit or grain there must be the best growth of tree or plant, and this is what lime provides. Dr. E. E. Hilgard, director of the California station, a high authority, says that limestone soils produce a stocky growth of trees so noticeable that one can see the limestone section by that character of tree growth.

Observation has shown that lime gives a very favorable root growth—a well-balanced plant, top with roots of about equal masses, perfect in its governing and fruitful. A large quantity and a better quality are both distinctly noticeable in lime fertilization. Hilgard says also that lime improves the quality of the fruit; grapes grow with a sweeter, sweeter. The sugar beet industry, which is regulated by scientific tests of quality, is most successful on limestone soils.

As lime is not very expensive, the right time to use it is to get it down into it to make some comparative tests with it, bearing in mind that a true carbonate form can be applied at any season and will not injure either plants or organic matter by direct contact. Lime may be applied in conjunction with manure or commercial fertilizer, enhances the value without any waste of fertilizer elements.—American Horticulturalist.
