In the San Francisco fire, says Bulletin 324 of the U. S. Geological Survey, "It is estimated that over 80 per cent of the so-called 'fire-proof' safes failed."

FARM STOCK

CHEAPEST FEED FOR WINTER

Hay, Straw and Fodder Cut and Mixed With Bran, Crushed Corn and Cob-meals Relished by Stock.

Cutting or grinding hay, straw and fodder add nothing to their nutritive value. But with proper arrangements it is more convenient to feed, and when mixed with wheat bran and crushed corn and cob-meal, horses, cows and sheep will eat cut fodder and wheat straw as greedily as the best of hay. Where there is an abundance of fodder and straw there is a very economical method of wintering stock—the hay may be sold and the money used for buying the bran and oil meal. One bushel of fine-cut fodder—say about eight pounds—eight quarts of corn chop and one quart of wheat bran and one pint of oil meal mixed with warm water during the cold weather three times a day, is a good allowance for a cow not giving milk. The same feed—say a bushel of coarse giving milk should be allowed more bran and corn chop. The usual allowance is three pints of corn chop, two quarts of wheat bran and one pint of oil meal mixed with a half bushel of equal parts of mixed hay fodder and straw, given three times a day. Coarse fodder should be split and cut fine; some of our milk farmers are using a machine that grinds the fodder. Practical feeders estimate that fodder straw and second quality hay cut fine and mixed with meal, is worth $8.50 $10 per ton, as there is no waste.

Horses should be fed according to their work. One bushel of fodder, two quarts of corn chop may be regarded as equivalent to good mixed hay.

If the horses are doing but little work they will do well on this mixture, being given all they will eat up clean. If at steady work give two or three quarts of oats or six to eight ears of corn three times a day in addition.

Sheep should be given a little grain once a day. Have roomy shed and hard, dry earth floor. Wheat straw, mixed hay and corn fodder, fed in moderate amounts will keep them in thrifty condition.

FAILURE OF TARIFF REFORM

Results of Democratic Measure Not Satisfactory.

Washington, June 14.—More imports and less revenue. Less work for American workmen, more competition for the American farmer, and less money for the American treasury. These are the results of the Underwood "competitive" tariff. Neither war embargo nor a decrease in ocean freights sufficient to save the American products which a low tariff is allowing into the American market. At the rate of increase shown during the last three months, the "competitive" revival of certain industries due to the influx of war orders soon will not offset the effect of the lower duties in the Underwood law.

The figures for April, 1916, made public by the department of commerce, show that the total value of imports for the month in round numbers $169,576,000, compared with $159,677,000 in July, 1914, the highest month in operation, and the Underwood tariff, in operation, and with $146,194,000 for April, 1913, under a Republican tariff. Imports for March, 1915, total $154,000,000, compared with $155,445,000 in March, 1913. Imports under Democratic law for March and April, 1914, were $125,355,000 and $123,752,000, respectively.

In October 1913, the first month of the Underwood law, imports amounted to $139,949,000, or $27,525,800 less than in April, 1913. Imports for that month amounted to $21,851,000, and for April, 1916, to $29,476,000, an increase of $25,000,000.

The jump in the export trade in September and October, 1913, indicates that our exporters were speeding up and making all the goods they could before the effects of the Underwood law began to be felt. Thus, October 1913, gave us a favorable trade balance of $13,812,000.

Secretary Redfield boasts of April last as the greatest trade month in the history of the country, and the balance in favor of the country that month was $50,000,000 less than it was in October 1913, which would seem to indicate that the Underwood law is not generating in spite of the abnormal conditions which are giving it so much assistance.

The enormous aid to our export trade attributable to war orders is indicated by the government figures comparing April, 1914, with April, 1915, which show an increase in our exports of breadstuffs, meats and dairy products, etc., of from 160 to 800 per cent and manufacturers of munitions of war will double their sales under the present conditions.

In some instances manufacturers in this country have gone so far as to remodel their plants to meet the demand from abroad for war materials, and in order to keep their laboring forces employed.

Another noteworthy fact is that the revenues are not keeping up proportionately with the importations. Up to March, 1916, the average net importation duty on imports under the Democratic tariff was about 13.2 per cent, and in April last passed 10 per cent, as low as 8 per cent. A reduction of 25 per cent below the prevailing ad valorem rate. This would indicate that foreign producers are taking advantage of the duty-free provisions of the Underwood law to get into our market to an ever increasing extent.

POTATO SEED IN IDAHO

Potato King of California Says Care Must be Used

Potatoes are just like horses—new blood must be infused into the stock from time to time. So says George Shima, the "potato king" of California and president of the Japanese Association of America, in an interview given in Salt Lake.

Mr. Shima was at the Newhouse hotel yesterday, being in Utah to secure the best potato seed with which to improve the quality of the spuds he raises on his 700-acre "farm" near Stockton, California.

Except to express the hope that the United States will not become involved in the unfortunate war in Europe, Mr. Shima has nothing to say about world affairs. He came here as the exponent and trader of the potato and the truck to the subject. He declared to be far ahead of the times.

"I must improve the quality of my potatoes, keeping at it all the time," said the tuber magnate. "The breeding of potatoes must be as carefully watched if a person would have both quality and quantity, as in the breeding of horses." He said he had fully on the lookout for new and excellent seed to mix with his own.

"Formerly I got most of my seed from Oregon, but many of the potatoes from that state are subject to potato diseases known as scab and mosaic. Last year I tried some Idaho seed. The quality was not exactly what I was looking for, but it was better than the Oregon seed. This year I am going to try some Utah seed and will look for some seed in Idaho."

Mr. Shima will give Utah potatoes a chance on an exhibition of E. D. Hasimoto, the well known Japanese merchant of Salt Lake. Mr. Hasimoto informed the California expert that Utah raises some good tubers, and the visitor accordingly will visit the farmers of the northern part of the state and go on to Idaho.

Two other Japanese accompanied Mr. Shima from California. They are B. Kashiwa, head of a Japanese importing house in Denver, and S. Shirata, a Japanese exporter, who is traveling in the United States.

Under the direction of Mr. Hasimoto, the visitors went to Salt Lake yesterday for a dip in the exhilarating waters of Great Salt Lake. Mr. Shima was accompanied by Mr. Hasimoto, the well known Japanese merchant of Salt Lake.

TOWN DOCTOR, NELS DARLING

OF OKLAHOMA CITY

During the next twelve months The Times has arranged for the exclusive use of a series of articles upon Civic Betterment from the trenchant pen of Nels Darling, the best known exponent of home-town loyalty in the United States. These articles will be pertinent talks on "The Home Town" "Talks with the Business Men" and "Talks on Advertising."

They are interesting, terse and to-the-point. Darling never wastes any ammunition. The Times believes that these articles will do much to awaken Twin Falls citizens to their responsibility for the success of the home town. Some of the talks to the merchants will probably stir up some argument and opposition, but will nevertheless set them to thinking.
