JARBIDGE ACTIVITIES

Several Small Stamp Mills Now Working in Camp

PICK AND SHOVEL LEASE, PUTTING IN STAMP MILL.

Prospect For Big Puller Shipping Camp Brighter Than Ever Before in the History of the Camp.

Mining camps are like any other industry, they have their occasional ups and downs, and the mining camp of Jarbidge has been active for some time, but it now shows signs of an activity that is destined to make it one of the most prominent of the camps which Nevada has become famous, says the Elko Free Press.

The property of the North Star Mining and Milling company, limited, covering a group of twelve claims, known as the Bourne group, was the original discovery at Jarbidge. This property has been tied up by litigation for the last two years, but arrangements have been made between the litigants whereby the property will be worked again. The mill will be repaired and made suitable for the particular class of ores of the claims, thus affording a large saving of the value. This will probably include the addition of a cyanide plant and will be an additional number of working claims.

The Elko Jarbidge Gold Mining company, which has two claims, is installing a small milling plant and will soon put on more men. The Butler, E. K. Clark, who are now in operation by San Francisco parties, give every indication of proving to be the properties. This property reports a good showing of gold in the second tunnel where a ledge was found. Manager Margurason, who is in charge of the works, says that the prospects are fine.

There was also a big strike on the last chance ground. This mine is principally owned by Joe Taber of Elko and a number of others. They have found a ledge which is showing good values. The Butler mill (see stamp) is now working in fine shape. They are now employing a big force of men and are shipping bullion already.

PEACE FOR MEXICO

Steps Will Be Taken by President Wilson Toward Restoration.

Washington—Definite steps toward restoration of peace in Mexico will be taken immediately upon President Wilson's return to Washington next week. Mr. Wilson's return to the United States will be decided upon as soon as he has been notified that the executive departments of the government were prepared to carry out promptly the program determined upon. Only an unexpected move in Mexico itself could alter the date, it is said, would prevent affirmative action by the United States to restore constitutional government in the war-torn republic.

Armed intervention is not believed to be contemplated in the president's program. Many officials believe no forceful measures will be required. Persistent rumors are current that the faction leaders are inclined to yield to the demands of this government for a peace conference. A message will be sent to the opposing leaders, giving them a final chance to cease hostilities within a limited time to attend a conference to settle their differences. Possibilities of another failure to do so, in view of the huge return of General Carranza to Mexico, is being considered by the president, it is declared in formulating a plan of action.

Whether that event a general embargo on arms shipments will be imposed or American troops employed to assure transportation of food to the starving country, the country, cannot be predicted. It is known, however, that the army and navy have been preparing and are now ready for any eventuality.

Secretary Lansing said Friday that the representations sent to General Carranza by Zapata Thursday night, urging that Zapata's army be opened to provide train transportation, were foretold. The message to Carranza, who controls the railroad north of Mexico City, would be sent to Mexico City within a few days under special arrangements. Carranza's army is reported to have driven off a Villa column under General Pizarro, and returned to Villa Guzman, just outside Mexico City, and is reported to be occupying the capital. Moving bands of Zapata soldiers, which have been harassing the railroad, are being driven off by Carranza's army.

GERMANS NEAR WARSAW

Russians Will Leave City Stripped of All Supplies and Ammunition.

London, July 31.—(A) A general agreement of the Polish capital, but previous announcements have indicated the continuation of another masterly strategic retreat by the Grand Duke Nicholas. Warsaw has been stripped of supplies, of food, of munitions of guns, metal and soldiers. Only a small force, which Russia will sacrifice as prisoners, remains to guard the German hosts and cover the retreat engineered by the Slavs.

Three of the four strategic defensive positions of the famous Polish gunners will be abandoned to the German possession—Warsaw, Novo Grorodsk and Inowroclaw. The Russians are now retreating at the fourth pillar of the quadrilateral, Grodno, 110 miles east of Warsaw.

The Russian retreat is a masterpiece of strategy, and it is a pity that the British government failed to see it. The British government failed to see it, and it is a pity that the British government failed to see it.

If I spend my Dollars out of Twin Falls and you spend your Dollars out of Twin Falls, and all the people spend their Dollars out of Twin Falls, WHAT IN THE THUNDER WILL BECOME OF TWIN FALLS?

THINK ABOUT IT

Twin Falls Commercial Club.

The sentiment favoring a rim-to-rim bridge is steadily gaining in this county and should the matter ever be put squarely to the people would result overwhelmingly in getting bonds voted. The people of the North Side, now that they have learned how badly they have been deceived regarding the expense of such bridge, are turning solidly toward the rim-to-rim structure as the most feasible and the least expensive in the long run.

A great many auto drivers in this city think it is extremely funny to cut out the muffler and shoot by some team at thirty miles an hour. Yet it is funny all right. Funny that the fool killer has let some of the say drivers live so long. The joke is on the human race, which must bear the stigma of such productions. Instead of an automobile on crowded streets the speed demon should be given a dynamic stick and a hammer in some secluded spot. The result would be more satisfactory and less costly to the public.

The claim made by the National Peace party that President Wilson failed to make use of a chance to obtain peace among the warring nations does not seem plausible. President Wilson's inclination toward peace are too well known for anyone to credit any claim that he refused a chance to end the war. The Times does not agree with all of President Wilson's foreign policies, but does give him credit for being absolutely sincere in his desire to prevent war at any cost. It is preposterous to think that any man in public office would fail to take use of such an opportunity to get his name or name down into history as the big man of the age.

The retreat of the Grand Duke Nicholas' forces from Warsaw without the loss of arms and ammunition and only a few men, constitutes one of the most masterly feats of arms in history of nations. The lack of resistance of the Russians after their first great fighting in the early part of the war was hard to understand, but there seems to be no doubt but that every victory of the Austro-German forces is minimized in importance by the fact that they are not engaged with the territory of Russia, according to authentic reports, has twenty millions of men ready to put into the field as soon as arms and munitions can be procured. Thus Germany can in the next sixty days accomplish the defeat of Russia and her subjugation, there must come a time when the Muscovite forces will again be on the offensive, pressing her toes back to their own territory.

The great Democratic demagogue of the county who by reason of the will of the people holds the county position, says he does not like the Times because it plays politics. That is surely some compliment to the Times, coming from a man who plays politics the year around, who never makes a move except for the purpose of playing politics. Playing politics on the part of a Republican is a crime, according to this Henry Waterson of Twin Falls county. It is merely a daily pastime for a Democratic office holder. Democratic newspapers and near Democratic contemporaries can howl against the Republicans and call them thieves and robbers, according to this Democratic Phrasion, it is good dope and the business to be rewarded with public funds. Playing politics is a crime surely for all Republicans. They should remain silent in admiration of the cleverest politics ever played in the county and how down to Democratic rule.

ENGLAND FEARS INVASION.
"Invasion" is the word coined by a writer in the Berliner Tageblatt to describe the disease from which he asserts the English are suffering. He says that the pessimists and alarmists in the United Kingdom have laid on the Indians so deep that the whole nation is suffering from nervous depression. The fear of invasion, he alleges, is one of the forms that this nervousness takes and he continues:

"The London papers to some extent bear out this contention, and even the once sober and staid Times features an article by a 'Neutral Observer' in which he prophesies the fall of 'Caisa' and subsequent invasion. 'Caisa' in the hands of Germany is a key to world-power, is a main article of the German creed. International law holds that Caisa must be secured if a lasting peace is to be attained. It is part of their program to include in the territory to be annexed not only Belgium, not merely Caisa and Boulogne, but to extend the western boundary of the Empire as far west as Brest, and Old Plymouth (i. e., Germany) fishing villages and seaside resorts some fifteen miles southwest of Boulogne. The Germans believe that by using Caisa as a base they can, with their new guns, bring a force of over twenty-five miles, sweep the Channel clear of hostile ships, and not merely destroy Dover, but cover a landing of their troops. This is to be carried out in small aluminum boats held in readiness for the purpose—which could easily be transported overland. Such a feat would give the British no chance if needed. Germans are confident that the contention resulting from an air raid, carried out on a stupendous scale by all available German aircraft, will permit the rapid advance of the landing force on London.

In view of the nature of present military operations and the greater difficulties that have been overcome by the fighting forces in other theaters of war, the German plan can not be dismissed as outside the realm of possibility or even probability. 'Caisa' is the key to German world-power, and it is reasonable to suppose that the Germans, believing this, will, when the occasion presents itself, endeavor to wrest this key from England.

The more emotional London Daily Mail seems to share in the edification. It calls loudly for the return of Lord Fisher to the Admiralty as the only hope of England against the threatened peril, and wanders whether adequate preparations have been made to withstand an attack. 'We wonder, because now that the war is in its twelfth month we find that, according to statements made in the House of Commons, all sorts of things are very insufficient—the supply of rifles and machine guns, for example. The Daily Mail frankly distrusts the authorities who have not yet provided the soldiers with rifles. 'Rifles could have been obtained over and over again from the United States had they been ordered. Orders of machine guns were made last autumn and were refused. The people who muddled the equipment of the men are marching about without weapons may be muddling the invasion question.

'Invasion is dependent upon one mistake, and one mistake only, of our fleet. That is exactly what it depends upon, neither more nor less. The same brains that muddled the Dardanelles operations may interfere with the operations of the fleet. Lord Fisher left the Admiralty as a protest against a phase of the barbed-wire plan. He declines to return to it so long as 'army muddlers are in any way connected with the government. They are all the most active members of the Coalition.

'It is announced today that Admiral Fisher has been appointed chairman of the new Board of Inventions. No doubt he can do very useful work in that capacity, and we are glad to know that he will be at hand in case of an emergency; but the nation should insist upon his return to the Admiralty. Unfortunately, the nation knows exactly nothing. It is being told a little more by the new government, but as yet not much.'—Literary Digest.

TALKS ON THRIFT

No. 28.—NATIONAL ECONOMY.
Perhaps there never was a time in the history of the United States when the utmost possible stimulation of the saving habit meant so much to individuals and to the country as it does now.—Eugene J. Youngman, Editor of The Bankers Magazine.

If our people all work harder and save more money, the United States could soon become the world's banker. That is the opinion of the Bankers' Magazine and other authorities on finance. Even if the European war speedily closes it will leave in its train a vast burden of debt to be provided for, whether London, Paris, Berlin will have on their hands all they can handle for a good while to come. The United States should be in a position to take its place as international purveyor of capital.

It must not be forgotten that we shall require a large amount of money to finance our own enterprises which hitherto have been accustomed to go abroad for loans. To meet this demand, to take back our securities from Europe and to provide for the international financing already coming to us as a result of the war, and which is bound to come in an ever-increasing volume, we must bring in a prompt and integral addition to the saving capacity of our population. The idea that prevailed in Europe previous to the disastrous war was to use everything available and to throw nothing away that could be used to great or small advantage. On account of the scarcity of land in the producing sections, intensive farming had been brought down to an exact science, with the result that in these times of stress there can be enough produced upon a limited acreage to keep the world from starvation. In this habit of saving, were practiced here in this country, our people would be in a far better condition to take care of themselves should some dangerous emergency arise in the future. We repeat, there never was a time when so much of our national benefit, of national welfare, and of public profit could be derived from the general adoption of the saving habit by the people of the United States.

Do It Now.

CHILDREN DROWN NEAR GOODING

Party of Five Wading in Big Wood River Meet With Disaster.

Gooding, Idaho.—Vera and Robert Miller, age 13 and 12 years, the children of Charles Miller, a fireman in the employ of the Oregon Short Line railroad, here were drowned in Big Wood river, near here, Saturday afternoon, and two others had narrow escapes from the same fate. There were five children in the party, all about the same age. Four of them were Miller children and the other the daughter of an Englishman named Richards. The survivors are now confined by the accident to give an exact account of what happened. The children had been playing in the shallow water about half a mile from Gooding, where the main road to the Gooding irrigation tract crosses the river. There is a rock ledge just below the bridge which breaks off abruptly into a deep pool and it is supposed that one of the children fell off this ledge and that, one after another, the other three were drawn in while trying to effect a rescue. Received by Passerby. Though traffic on this section of the road is ordinarily heavy, none saw the children in the water until Clarence Carpenter, a farmer on the North Gooding tract, came by. He succeeded in getting the children to shore, but when he returned to look for the others they had disappeared under the water.

One Goes for Help. The child which had not been in the water managed to get to town, half a mile away, and summon aid, while Carpenter searched for the missing one. A number of automobiles packed with people rushed to the scene of the tragedy, but it was not until half an hour had been spent in searching that the body of Robert Miller was found by Claude H. Thomsen minutes later. Haskin Thomsen brought up the body of Vera Miller, a six-year-old girl.

He entered the United States government service, the commissary department, which was engaged in turning supplies and building houses for the soldiers and in trying to teach them farming. He was stationed at Fort Snelling. These were the days when the crime of a white man in the Fort or its neighborhood for many miles around was an event. Everyone knew every-

PIONEER IN CEREALS

Brother of D. B. Pettijohn a Well Known Manufacturer.

The passing of Eli Pettijohn, of Minneapolis, one of the well known figures in the early life of the North Star state, is worthy of note, not only because of the prominence of the deceased but for the fact that Eli Pettijohn has a brother in this county, living near Kimberly, D. B. Pettijohn, an old soldier and one of the prominent farmers of that section. D. B. Pettijohn received word last week of the death of his brother in Minneapolis, the two not having seen each other for a great many years.

Eli Pettijohn, as the following article will indicate, was not only a pioneer in the manufacture of breakfast foods, but was one of the very first white men to settle about the old Fort Snelling, when the Indians were the major population of that state.

Eli Pettijohn, one of the earliest of the Minnesota territorial pioneers, met yesterday at his home in Minnetonka Mills. He was in his ninety-seventh year. As one of the earliest of the territorial pioneers of Minnesota he had seen the state grow from infancy. He came to Minnesota in 1841. Up to a month ago Mr. Pettijohn had been in excellent health, erect, bearing and active as a man many years younger. His last sickness was the result of a visit to the old swimming hole in Minnetonka creek, near his home. He went only to view it, but got too close and slipped in. The chill brought on a severe cold which led to his death.

Eli Pettijohn was born in Brown county, Ohio, Jan. 28, 1813. He came to Fort Snelling when 22 years old, eight years before the organization of Minnesota territory and seventeen years before its admission to the Union. There were two houses in St. Paul when he came, and a few hundred white people resident in what is now Minnesota.

He entered the United States government service, the commissary department, which was engaged in turning supplies and building houses for the soldiers and in trying to teach them farming. He was stationed at Fort Snelling. These were the days when the crime of a white man in the Fort or its neighborhood for many miles around was an event. Everyone knew everyone else, and Mr. Pettijohn knew all the early comers. His kind of stories and reminiscences of the pioneer days probably surpassed that of any other of the survivors.—Minneapolis Tribune.

"Home Sweet Home"

HOW dear to our hearts is that old motto: "Home Sweet Home," which hangs on the wall "down to grandma's." It recalls childhood days to many of us and especially those who have not saved their pennies and are still enriching the landlord. If you have an ambition to own your own home, to feel that independence that naturally comes to all home owners, then I am in position to be of incalculable service to you through

This Association is under (Washington) State supervision and control, and all securities are deposited with the State Auditor, and the State Treasurer is a director in the association. Its subscribed capital is $7,500,000.00, assuring ample funds for all requirements. You can apply for a loan on improved real estate after having been a member four months, or you can open a savings account for any length of time you may desire. The following is an illustration of what a monthly investment of five dollars, at compound interest, will do for you:

If at any time during the life of your contract you cannot meet your payments, you can suspend payments for one month to a year without fines or forfeitures, by notifying the home office in writing, and resume at any time without making up back payments, if so desired.

HILLIS AN IDAHO BOOSTER

Will Bring Party of Friends Back to Twin Falls

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis left Idaho heading to beat the band for the Twin Falls section of Idaho, according to the North Side News of Jerome, which says: Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, the noted lecturer who addressed the Centaurean at Coeur d'Alene last week was shown over the North Side tract by I. D. Perrine and was very enthusiastic over what he saw. A visit was paid to Shoshone Falls and Blue Lakes and other points in the Twin Falls country as well as the trip among the farms. Mr. Hillis went away almost persuaded to own one of those farms himself. Later in the season, with a party of gentlemen prominent in the nation, he expects to visit Yellowstone Park and declared that the whole party would visit the North and South States in Southern Idaho on the trip. He will use some of the information gained on the trip in his future lectures.

Big Hill Pulling Demonstration Sunday, August 8th, at 3 p. m.

On the New Bank Hill due south of the Twin Fall Bull Park, on the opposite bank of Rock Creek.

We have been sold out of cars for the past three months, and during this time some of our competitors have been making what we consider some pretty strong claims for the pulling qualities of their cars. Now we propose to give them a chance to show the public just what their cars will do, and herewith cordially invite them all to attend. It is free for everybody. Bring your car, put it on the hill and see what it will do.

We believe when a man spends as much money as he does when he buys a motor car he is entitled to know just what the car will do.

Sunday we are going to show the public what the Buick and Dodge cars can do.

RULES

All cars to be classified according to price F. O. B. factory.

Gas tanks of all contesting cars to be drained and refilled out of the same tank of gasoline at the Continental Oil Co.'s storage tank (located on the road to the hill) immediately before the contest.

Nothing but strictly stock cars to be used and cars not to be altered or changed in any respect. All cars entered must be just as they come from factory.

- Class 1. All cars listing under $1,500.00, F. O. B. Factory.
- Class 2. All cars listing under $1,500.00, F. O. B. Factory.
- Class 3. All cars listing under $2,000.00, F. O. B. Factory.
- Class 4. All cars listing above $2,000.00, F. O. B. Factory.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

It's free. Put your car on the hill and find out what it can do. If you have a good pulling team, bring it along, as we contend that the Buick and Dodge cars will pull a hill with a load where a team can't pull an empty wagon.

ROOSEVELT DAY AT FAIR

News Letter From San Francisco by Judge J. L. Fleener.

San Francisco, July 23, 1916. "Roosevelt Day" at the exposition passed off with great eclat. There was an unusually large crowd present and all seemed delighted to hear the great apostle of progressiveness. Roosevelt is very popular in California. He was introduced by Governor Hiram Johnson as the greatest living American. In contrast to the "peace" any peace speech of William Jennings Bryan, the doughty champion of San Juan, he was quite emphatic in his expression of opinion that the United States should have a larger standing army, a more efficient navy and a general military policy somewhat resembling that of Germany in which every young man should be made a compulsory soldier and receive military training and experience. He hit Mr. Bryan and David Starr Jordan body blows. The Colonel was strenuously applauded all along the line and the San Francisco papers published a very full report of his address.

The International Purly Congress "Roosevelt Day" many associations now adjourned. The session of last Thursday was unusually interesting because for the first time in the history of the movement the survey of the police women's movement was made. Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, the president of the International Association of Police Women of Los Angeles, presented some very interesting statistics and facts with reference to the work of women in police affairs. Some six different states now have laws permitting city authorities to put women on the police force. Over one hundred women are now thus engaged in different cities in the United States and the movement is growing. Mrs. Wells expressed her conviction that in a few years "police" women would be as common as are now police men. In Los Angeles the police department is aided by a "militia" commission—essentially a "militia" of influential ladies who give their time gratis to the city paying special attention to the aid of young girls and deserted women. This body is responsible for some of the great reforms now going on in that city. Under their auspices a municipal hall is given "water" work. The attention to which the young people are invited and where they can enjoy the dance free from the temptations of the modern dance hall. Mrs. Mabel Love of Bolso, was honored by a place on the program at this meeting.

One of the distinguished guests at the Idaho testing last week was Mr. R. W. Childs, secretary of the Bolso Commercial club. Mr. Childs spent several days visiting the important buildings of the exposition and paying special attention to the Idaho exhibits. He was entertained at tea in the Idaho building by Mrs. W. H. Ridenbaugh, and the wife of executive commissioner Cizek. Mr. Childs expressed himself in most enthusiastic terms concerning the beauty of the location of the Idaho building and the building itself. He also appointed for social gatherings and entertainment and also of the excellent exhibits our state has put up. Executive Commissioner Cizek on his part is much pleased with the efficient work rendered by the Idaho commission in his official capacity as secretary of the Bolso Commercial club.

Mr. Tom Lewiston was assisting Mrs. Ridenbaugh last week as hostess of the Idaho building; her wide acquaintance with Idaho people and her genial personality were much appreciated.

Miss Marie Cudy and Margaret Danahy were recent visitors at the Idaho building. Leo Falk and his sister, Mrs. Mannheim, took tea with the hostess last week. Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Aurelia Henry Rhinehardt, formerly of the faculty of the University of Idaho, were recent visitors at the Idaho building. Also the Captain George Stuenkel and Lieutenant Fouks, commandant of the cadet corps of the University of Idaho.

The Idaho building was honored recently by the presence of Edward M. Holman, who occupies the chair of English in the Idaho State University. Mr. Holman has been connected with the University for ten years. He is a distinguished writer and author. His book, "The Renaissance of Italy," is recognized as authority on art by the leading artists of the country, being in many of the leading educational institutions of the United States. Mrs. Ridenbaugh had the pleasure of entertaining him at tea and he expressed himself as enjoying the Idaho building and Idaho exhibits. J. D. FLEENER.

State Board of Health Works for the Individual.

The first public health laboratory in the United States was opened by the New York City Department of Health in 1887. Since that time, public health science has been more significant than the development of the work of such laboratories during the past twenty years. Yet it has not been studied the matter perhaps realize what such laboratories are today doing for the people of this and other states.

Suppose a school child has a sore throat. It may light attack of tonsillitis requiring no very special care. But the doctor—and it may be the best—of diphtheria. If so, it is vitally important for all the other children that the child should be at once taken out of school and isolated, so that it may not spread infection to others. It is just as important for the child itself if it has diphtheria that it should receive a dose of antitoxin promptly, since each day's delay makes the danger more serious. The physician can not always tell at first whether it is diphtheria or not, and when the doctor would foot a bill, wait until such an outbreak has been taken care of in serious danger. Today he takes a culture from the throat of any suspicious case, sends it to the laboratory and in a few hours may receive by telephone or telegraph a

Find "YOURS"

Get all the smoke-pleasure you pay for. Find the right cigarette—a SENSIBLE one that fits your own likes and dislikes.

It may or may not be Fatima

—but this will help you find it.

Tastes differ—in fashions, foods and pretty girls. Also in cigarettes.

A cigarette that started out to please every man's taste would end up by pleasing none.

Most of us like our cigarette smoke deliciously cool and refreshing. The Mexican likes his hot and dry, with a nice little peppery sting in it.

Some men like a cigarette—wholesomely, fragrantly mild. Others of us hunt for a cigarette almost as heavy as a black cigar.

Most of us want an "easy" cigarette—a SENSIBLE one, so that no matter how steadily or how many we smoke, we'll feel as fit as a fiddle. Other men, though, don't care about that. They smoke only a few—so they want a kick like a mule's in each puff.

All of us want our smoke "full-bodied"—it must satisfy that smoke-hunger. But the cigarette that just fills the bill for you may not do at all for your next-door neighbor.

flavor. But if you smoke quite often—if you would like to smoke whenever you feel like it and without any effect on the tongue or throat or any fear of a heavy or "heady" feeling afterwards—then you should choose some cigarette such as Fatima, a cigarette composed of all-pure tobaccos of considerable aroma, mellowed by being aged and carefully blended to produce a fragrant and wholesomely mild, yet "full-bodied," smoke. And the smoke must be noticeably COOL. For otherwise your tongue or your throat will soon signal you to stop smoking so often.

If you will ask any Fatima smoker, he will tell you that Fatimas never make him "feel mean"—no matter how many he smokes.

That is why Fatimas are considered the most sensible cigarette by such a large majority of smokers. And that is probably the main reason why hardly any Fatima smokers ever switch. They like a sensible cigarette—and one with a good, pure taste to it.

Somewhere among all the brands on the market—is the one just-right cigarette for YOU!

Maybe it's the very one you have now in your pocket—but are you SURE? Maybe it's some entirely "different" cigarette—it may or may not be Fatima.

But "find it!" Until you do, you're cheating yourself out of a whole lot of smoke-pleasure. Also you're wasting some money.

But the Taste is up to You

All cigarettes are pure, but when it comes to the taste, nobody can help you choose. You simply have to decide for yourself.

Of course, Fatima's taste may not appeal to you. But most men who try Fatimas like the taste so well that they seek no further—otherwise Fatimas could never have won and held their enormous and growing leadership amounting to over one and a half BILLION cigarettes a year.

How to Find "yours"

To avoid blindly trying too many different cigarettes, ask yourself, first of all, this question: "Just what do I like in a cigarette?"

If you smoke only a few every day, you may prefer a cigarette which is rather rich or heavy and "oily." Or you may like one which has a rather strong "oriental" taste with a pungency almost like perfume. Or you may want a cigarette with that noticeably "sweetish" Egyptian

The one purpose of this advertisement is to ask you in a fair and square way to give Fatimas (80 for 15c) a good trial. If they don't happen to suit your taste, you'll quit smoking them of course. But if you like Fatimas as well as MOST men do, you'll be mighty glad you read this advertisement—and ACTED ON IT!

Below are two simple tests which you can easily make and which may help you find your sensible cigarette.

It may or may not be Fatima. But be fair to yourself and find "yours."

Two Tests for ANY CIGARETTE

The tests of the cigarette—according to a leading tobacco journal—is up to the smoker. But there are other qualities that you should look for in the cigarette that you are going to smoke. Here are a couple of tests that may help the average smoker to choose more wisely between different kinds of cigarettes.

The first test is for coolness, which means more comfort to the throat and lungs. Light any cigarette and hold it in your mouth for a few seconds. If it "smokes" around your tongue and throat. Now blow out the smoke. If the cigarette contains a high grade and moist tobacco leaves, it will always feel right proportionally to your throat and cool and moist. On the other hand, if the proportions are not right and if the cigarette contains inferior grades of tobacco or hidden strands of sawdust at the tip of your tongue or throat—and paper debris in your throat—how do you feel?

Next number—how do you feel after smoking it?

If the tobacco in the cigarette (including correct proportion of mild grades—and if all of the various grades have been evenly mixed by age—and if they have been so blended as to neutralize any unpleasant qualities in each of the different types of tobacco, you will be able to smoke practically whenever you feel like it throughout the day without feeling any effect which the tobacco is less skillful, even though the tobacco are of the highest grade, you will find and along towards the end of the day that you are likely to have that feeling of having "smoked too much."

definite report as to whether diphtheria germs are present or not. If it is a case he at once obtains the antitoxin, which will cure the patient and protect other persons in the family who may have been exposed to the danger of an attack of the disease. Again, a man on a dairy farm shows signs of suspicious illness or suspicion may point to a dairy farm as the source of a typhoid epidemic, although no one on the farm seems to be sick at all. Whether there are any signs of illness or not, samples of blood and of discharges may be taken from all the people on the farm, and the laboratory examination will determine whether any of them is indeed a carrier of typhoid germs. Not only diphtheria and typhoid fever, but malaria and tuberculosis and many other diseases, may be diagnosed most quickly and certainly by the Public Health Laboratory. It is the laboratory which makes regular chemical and bacteriological examinations of water and milk and food supplies so that their purity may be insured. The work of the laboratories of the Idaho State Board of Health at Bolso has been completely reorganized during the past year. Improved outlets for the diagnosis of disease have been more widely distributed than ever before and special arrangements made for getting reports back to physicians as promptly as possible, while provision has been made for diagnosing many diseases for which no provision was made before. Typhoid vaccine has been distributed for the second time. There is now no person in any community in the state who cannot by calling on the State Board of Health through his physician or through the local health officer—obtain the advantages of the latest and best scientific methods of the laboratory in the diagnosis and control of communicable disease.

Profit-Sharing with Retail Buyers

On August 1, 1914 we made the announcement that if we could make and sell at retail 300,000 Ford cars between August 1, 1914 and August 1, 1915 we would share profits with the retail purchasers, to the extent of from $40 to $60 on each car. We have sold over 300,000 Ford cars in the time specified, and profit-sharing checks of $50 each will be distributed as rapidly as possible after August 15, 1915. Retail purchasers who have not yet mailed us their profit-sharing coupons, properly endorsed, should do so without delay.

Our plan to profit-share with retail purchasers of Ford cars during 1914-15 has been most successful. We thoroughly believe in it, but, realizing the uncertainty of conditions generally makes it advisable to defer any announcement of future profit sharing until a later date.

We are, however, confident of our inability to reduce costs for several months, and therefore can offer no profit-sharing for cars delivered during August, September and October, 1915.
