PROSPERITY AT JARBIDGE

Bluster Mill Turning Out $12,000 In Bullion Per Month

REPORTS FROM CAMP LINDAUCHE HEALTHY CONDITION

Bluster Mine Planning to Erect Cyanide Plant to Save Gold Lost in Tailings

The outlook for Jarbidge is most cheerful and cheerful in the true sense of the word, for it has the prospect of being permanently glorified on the highway to a good and steady life. The early history of Jarbidge does not show a period of wildcatting, in fact it has been otherwise. Its growth has been extended and slow. It has been held back by a chain of circumstances that would discourage an ordinary prospect, but Jarbidge could not be depressed. It has a human being with merit cannot forever be kept in the background.

The Jarbidge is coming to the front. It had its start in about 1909, but its early development was slow, though those that are interested are glad that it was there for a moment, has made its future absolutely sure. The Bluster company now has its mill built and is turning out about $12,000 in bullion per month. What a matter of pride this must be to the owners who started without a dollar, and in the world that they had a real find, but getting no encouragement, working from sunrise to sunset, with their own hands, and their own money. These men are not paid, and now the general manager of the Jarbidge company, Mr. Hansen, of Salt Lake, has been ordered to consult with him in regard to building a power plant and cyanide plant to add to their mill. This is well thought of, because heads are running about $15. Of that they are saving $12,000, the rest going into the tailings. This shows a percentage of 80 per cent. The purpose of the cyanide plant is to catch the rest. This mill is located on the Jarbidge river, and the ore is sent down on a aerial track 3,400 feet long, having a vertical drop of 1,700 feet between the terminal and the parcel, and is now being run now about $6,000 per month, which, however, will be reduced when the extra work is completed, such as road building, etc. It is well thought of, but it is production that interests the layman and Jarbidge is delivering the goods as a steady producer.

The Jarbidge has a quarter of a million dollars worth of ore above the tunnel level, which is blocked out of three sides and is 800 feet wide with an average dip of 30 per cent. This company has been trying to raise $40,000 during the past year to build a mill, but owing to the present depressed financial conditions, this effort has proved a failure. But not dismayed, with the services of James Johns, the superintendent of the property, fitted up a two-horse power gasoline engine, using a laboratory crusher and a assay table, grinder, which he bought for $475. With this crude arrangement, and working on high grade ore, he found the tunnel level, he took out 60 ounces of gold in 5 days, which netted the company $470. The laboratory grinder then was worn out, which had to be discarded, as they are merely built for grinding assay samples. Encouraged by this showing, the Jarbidge company has now a three-stamp mill and the machinery is scheduled to arrive there on the 15th of August, when J. P. O'Brien will take charge of the mill, and he reasonably see that the maximum of recovery is obtained by straight small-gambling. Mr. O'Brien returned from his trip to Salt Lake, Idaho, after cleaning up his work in Elko, preparing to moving to Jarbidge, where he is expected to stay at least a year. Elko Free Press.

All Men Respect The Hudson

Has that fact impressed you? There are no HUDSON critics. Many buy other cars because they are cheaper. Or because they are higher—high enough to be unique. Or because they are novel in some respect.

But all of these men respect HUDSONS. They respect the judgment of men who buy them. That's evident everywhere.

Note Its Buyers

About 95 per cent are experienced motorists. About 28 per cent have owned higher-priced cars.

They are motor-wise and fastidious. As a class they are men accustomed to the best. They are quality buyers who demand value. They don't care to pay for mere excess or show. They want no passing fad. They are buying, in most part, for keeps.

There are multitudes of such men now. And since June 15—when this new model appeared—they have bought over 5000 HUDSONS.

They Are Right

These men are right. The six-cylinder engine, with its continuous power, is the ultimate in motors. The HUDSON type—high speed, small bore, long stroke—has become the universal standard in a Six.

Excess weight is crudity. There never was a stancher car than the HUDSON, despite its lightness, which is unmatched in any 7-passenger Six.

No car carries more passengers. None has more needed room. None has more comfort, luxury, quality or class.

And none more beauty than this new model. It brings out the Yacht-Line body, the lustrous finish, enameled leather upholstery, and many other final touches.

If you buy a car in this class this season you are bound to want the HUDSON. You will not find a rival in sight of it. But you can't get a HUDSON, in all probability, unless you order soon. The demand for this car is exceeding all expectations.

Silo—A MONEY MAKER

Will it pay me to erect a silo, is the question that a great many farmers are asking themselves and this question is being asked every day for three years. I shall now try and tell you how I came to build one, and what success I had. In the winter of 1909-10 I had 12 acres of corn fodder all stacked up and in good condition on the north side of my yard; but, as you will all know, it was hard to get corn dry in the fall of 1909 so I had to stack a little damp. I had two hogs, four horses, and all milk cows and taken all together, it began to look like small-odds which to winter 20 head of cattle and five horses. I also had seven acres of corn to cut, but with that my feed supply seemed insufficient for 34 head of stock, when the winter before I had 20 head with 12 acres of corn and 1000 lbs. of hay. I began to think that I was no agronomist, so on the first of September I built the silo. I knew what I wanted and I had some looking at different makes of silos for over 1200 dollars; so I ordered a silo 18x20 and a good cutter. On the 20th of September I cut my corn and put it in the silo and, just about some sweet corn, from which the ears had been taken, on top of the other corn for a blanket, as the silo was not quite full. The corn was a little ripe, but I added no water, wanting it to cure with its own juice if possible. I watched it very carefully and tramped it every few days and was particular to see that there were no voids in the side of the silo, to permit air to reach the corn.

On December 1st I opened the silo to commence feeding; it had settled about 14 inches, and to my surprise a crust of about four inches of spoiled corn was on top. I fed it to the milch cows at the rate of a bushel basket full to three cows; and later increased it to five cows. The cows were full for the first three or four months when cows could not be turned outside and $17 worth of brass-rod December and as near as I can judge, about value of a quarter-acre of ensilage to the of the 24 head. During this time I received $104.51 for butterfat and milk and had remaining 8,000 pounds of skim milk to feed the hogs, calves and chickens. At that time I can get 25¢ milk cows in paying me $80 an acre. I have fed no hay as yet and have ensilage to run me until June and perhaps longer.

I could talk for a week on this subject, for I have never done a thing in all my life that has given me so much satisfaction as the building of my new silo and barn; to see the cows coming in at night with their milk running freely in the winter and their sleekness and good condition looks good to me. The above silo will hold 200 acres of common corn or 15 acres of heavy, or enough to feed 40 head of mixed stock. But remember, you must do your part when you feed silage; good feeding and care go hand in hand in getting the best results.

I will give $5 to anybody donating any part of this article if he will visit me and, after looking over the results, can say that I have well represented it in any way. It cost me $43 exclusive of my own work with loan, to cut and place the corn in the silo, and at that I do not believe it is any more expensive than handling the corn in the old way, when it is ordered that the work only consumed a day and a half, and also the same price which the stock is fed in the silo. The stock relishes it so highly that the results are such that I have no hesitations. My silo was the best section, but everyone is now and where there is a silo, there is a better one.

NORTH AND SOUTH ROAD

Senator Borah Says Governor Should Be Given Every Encouragement.
Governor Alexander should be given every encouragement and instead of attempting to discourage him in his efforts in the proposed construction of the north and south railroad, he should be encouraged in every practical and reasonable way in an effort to forward his plans. This is the opinion of United States Senator W. E. Borah, as expressed in an interview given out at Lewiston. The issue in the building of the north-south link is, in the opinion of the senator, one that should be given every encouragement. In the same interview Senator Borah reiterated his stand in regard to conditions confronting the state over state house developments. He will return to Boise Saturday morning.

Wants Clean Government.
Regarding his Parma address in which he championed the direct primary as a cure for conditions in this state politically and in the management of state affairs, Senator Borah said:

"Does anybody in the state feel that what I said was without foundation? If so, as to them I cried, but if there was just cause for concern, and if so, but a moral coward would remain silent. I have no regrets nor do I regret to offer, nor do I regret to offer in view of the program in view."

"The Republican party of this state is sound at the core, the great body of voters are loyal and devoted to the best interests of the state and the man or man who impeach its integrity of disloyalty to its voters deserve all the condemnation it is possible in an orderly and lawful way to give. Our state funds, our great school funds are being used to make money through favoritism, or from a political standpoint to a cowardly and contemptible betrayal of the trust."

"Should Back Governor"
Regarding Governor Alexander's plans for construction of the north and south railroad Senator Borah said:

"Now let me say a word as to the north and south railroad. I am not an expert railroad builder and I do not know what it will cost to build the road nor whether there is sufficient damage in right of way to justify building. But I do know that if it is at all feasible or practicable as a business proposition then by all means support it. It is a question of the wheel regardless of politics and help it along. We ought to give Governor Alexander every assistance, and instead of discouraging, ought to encourage him in every practical and reasonable way in his efforts to forward the proposed north-south link. The Governor is a shrewd business man and I take it will soon submit his plan and when he submits a feasible and practical business proposition we will all certainly be glad to most heartily support it. Of course it is essential to know before we can hope to go far, what the road will probably cost per mile, what probable tonnage there will be to feed the road when completed. The state would not under any circumstances take hold of it until it was known what it would cost and what there was to sustain the proposed plan. It is not a matter of private capital over take hold of it without the most accurate information. So in my view what we want is a practical plan with information. As I say I assume the governor will submit that proposition. He should have every encouragement and every support. We should not worry as partisans about the governor setting too much credit; if he submits a feasible plan, we should support it as citizens."—Capital News.

ODGEN GATEWAY CLOSED

Interstate Commerce Commission So Decides.

Washington, Aug. 11.—In the second case of this kind, the interstate commerce commission today held the proposed cancellation by the Union Pacific of passenger and freight traffic in connection with the Denver & Rio Grande through the Odgen gateway was fully justified, but suggested continuance of traffic through accommodations for travelers desiring to pass over that route at the lawful fares available.

The commission held that the proposition that the commission has no power to prevent the cancellation of through routes and joint rates voluntarily established by the railroads when the circumstances and conditions are such as would warrant an order by the commission to cancel such arrangements if not already in effect.

The Union Pacific system may close the Odgen gateway to Denver & Rio Grande passenger traffic some as a surprise to those men who protested before the commission in Denver last November against the proposed action by the Union Pacific.

RAILROAD SIDE OF CASE

Union Pacific Makes Statement on Closing of Odgen Gateway.

"In 1914, the Union Pacific announced its intention to discontinue the interchange with the D. & R. G. of passenger business to or from points on the Oregon Short-Line—a part of the Union Pacific System—between the Odgen gateway and points east. The D. & R. G. contended that as these rates had been in effect about 18 years they should not be cancelled. The Union Pacific stood upon what it regarded as its legal right to retire from an arrangement which short-haul carriers opposed, and contended that it was entitled to the long haul on passenger traffic and to from territory served by the Oregon Short-Line. The principal reason assigned being the large expenditures made by the Union Pacific in the construction of branch lines—particularly to Yellowstone Park and in Oregon Short-Line territory."

The situation before us is a very practical one. The Denver and Rio Grande route as hereinbefore pointed out is longer by nearly 400 miles and is 19 hours longer in point of time. Under such circumstances, if no through rates were now open, an order being given to prevent such requiring the Union Pacific System to short haul itself by establishing the present parity of fares over the Denver and Rio Grande would be illegal and arbitrary in the highest degree. It would be no less so should

A VITAL QUESTION
There is a lot being said about folks in this part of the country sending away for all kinds of merchandise. There are lots of complaints on the part of those who send away, that the prices in this part of the country are as high as they could be. The money used for these purchases might as well remain at home, and could, if the merchants put their prices on the goods they have to sell.

Store News
The articles on either side are taken from recent issues of Twin Falls news papers. To those who have not read them they are worth while reading carefully and for those who may have read them again. I am trying all the time to get just the things you folks want and at the same time sell them to you at right prices. Come and see us.

CORRESPONDENCE
In talking with one of our business men here in Twin Falls, he says that he wants everyone to feel that his store is not only for Twin Falls City and County, but for all the towns and counties in this section. Not only in this state but in other states, he wants all you folks to feel that his store is for you, where you can come, yourself and send your children to trade, and they will be given the same careful attention that you would receive and if at any time you send them and what they buy is not just what you want, please feel that the goods can be returned and exchanged or you can have your money back, and you will not be made to feel uncomfortable.

DODGE BROTHERS ROADSTER

A roadster designed to be all that a roadster should be. A car capable of carrying two people in continuous comfort. You can see better than we can tell, how beautiful it is. Modeled in clay, when it was first conceived, it was re-modeled, again and again, till the last harsh line was eliminated. The body is built of steel; with the usual useless framework entirely eliminated. As a result there is extraordinary storage space at the rear—more than sufficient for all the luggage two might take on a long tour. A light car, with all the advantage which lightness adds to the powerful motor—but a stout, staunch, strong car, and a steady one as well.

WATER FOR MINIDOKA PROJECT
Difficulty With Canal Companies in Upper Snake Valley Settled.
The water supply of every section of the irrigated Northwest is being given more care than the summer months in the upper Snake river valley recently resulted in an injunction being filed to prevent the reclamation service from bringing the water over Jackson Lake reservoir past the head-gates of the old rights on the river near Idaho Falls. Fortunately, Lake Minidoka, just above the Minidoka dam contained sufficient water to supply this project for several days, and the head-gates at Jackson Lake were promptly shut down to prevent the canal companies up the river from illegally taking the water. Meantime the injunction was satisfied and the water turned loose again, and the farmers on the Minidoka project never even heard of the trouble.

ROAD BUILDING IN OKLAHOMA

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Takes Steps to Teach Boys Art of Construction

"Not to be outdone by Missouri and Kansas, the state of Oklahoma is to take up educational work in road-building," said R. S. House of Muskogee, while in Washington recently. Governor Major of Missouri and Governor Hodges of Kansas, stirred the imagination and ambition of the boys of Oklahoma by getting out on the roads and having pick and shovel in the making of roads. Oklahoma is going to begin at the beginning and teach the boy in the school how to build good roads. The state highway commissioner is cooperating with the state superintendent of public instruction, and the latter has taken up the matter with the county superintendents.

"When the federal government had spent thousands of dollars to encourage scientific farming and when a few farmers adopted the methods advanced, the officials changed their plans and went after the boys in the schools. They sought to teach the new methods to the older persons through the boys in the schools, and they succeeded.

"If the farmers were made to realize the advantages of better farming methods through their boys in the schools, it seems to me there is little doubt they can be brought to appreciate the great advantages that will result from improved roads. For that matter, however, the farmer ordinarily understands that good roads are

FORESTS TAKING IN $2,500,000

Receipts for Fiscal Year Show Gain of More Than $400,000

The national forests turned into the U. S. treasury during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1916, nearly $2,500,000, an increase of more than $400,000 over the receipts of the previous year, according to a statement just issued by the forest service. The timber sales, which amounted to $1,164,000, yielded an account of the depressed condition of the lumber industry about $75,000 less than those of the previous fiscal year, but the gain was made possible by larger revenues from other sources. The grazing receipts, which totaled $1,125,000, increased $127,000 over last year, and the water power receipts, which amounted to not quite $300,000, showed an increase of nearly $42,000.

The demoralization of the turpentine industry on account of the war, curtailment of naval stores markets caused the receipts from the sale of turpentine privileges on the national forests to drop about $8,000, as against nearly $15,000 last year. The sale of special use permits, under which all sorts of enterprises, from private to Nevada, and from Arizona, the receipts, amounting to $432,254, are 107 per cent greater than last year. Receipts from timber, $300,000, are 107 per cent greater than last year. Receipts from grazing, $338,800, 9 per cent greater, than for the year ended June 30, 1914.

In grazing receipts, the local district, as usual, and in total receipts was third, being exceeded by the Montana, Montana and Denver, yet running the latter district a close race for second place.

CANNING OF SOUPS

Economical Use of Products Which Might Otherwise Be Wasted.

At times it is a great convenience to the housewife to be able to reach to a shelf for a can of soup, open it, heat it, and serve it within a few minutes time. The Department of Agriculture's special club members are the club instruction point out that the next logical step for the club members after learning to can fruits and vegetables is to can soups. The following are the directions for canning soups.

Directions for Making Soup Stock.
Soak 25 pounds of beef hocks, joints, and bones containing marrow and strip off the fat and meat, cracking the bones with a hatchet or cleaver. Place the bones in a large stock pot and put them into a large kettle containing 5 gallons of cold water. Simmer, but do not boil, for 6 or 7 hours, then skim off all fat from the liquid. Do not salt while simmering. This should make about 5 gallons of soup stock. Pack the stock in glass jars, or bottles, or unenameled or lacquered tin cans, and naturally seal the jars. If the cans are used, they should be sealed with a rubber bath outfit, sterilize for 40 minutes, or 25 minutes if using pressure cooker outfit.

Vegetable Soup.
A good vegetable soup may be made, according to the department's experts, as follows: Soak one pound of a pound of lima beans and 1 pound of rice in water for 12 hours. Cook one-half pound of barley for 3 hours. Blanch 1 pound of carrots, 1 pound of onions, 1 medium-sized potato, and 1 red pepper for 3 minutes in boiling hot water, and then pack into jars. After this is done, the carrots, onions, potato and pepper should be cut into small cubes and mixed thoroughly with the stock. The rice and pepper have been cooked as described above. Fill the glass jars or lacquered or enameled tin cans three-fourths full of the mixture of soup, vegetables, and cereals. The next step is to prepare a smooth paste from one-half pound of wheat flour blended with 1 gallon of soup stock. Boil this mixture for 3 minutes and add 4 ounces of salt. Pour this mixture over the soup, and seal the jars. Sterilize for 30 minutes if using a hot water bath outfit, or 15 minutes if using pressure cooker outfit.

Cream of Pea Soup.
Soak in water overnight a pound of dried peas. Soak the peas until they are soft, and then mash them fine. Add to the mashed peas 5 1/2 gallons of soup stock and bring the mixture to a boil; then pass the boiling liquid

SESSION BY PURE FOOD OFFICIALS

Make Inspection of Berley's Interest in Leg-Meeting at Falls.

The listing of the manufacturers of drugs and foods so that those who manufacture and dispense the better goods can be segregated from those manufacturers who put inferior articles on the market, is one of the most important steps taken by the pure food and drug commissioners of many states in the nation including Commissioner J. K. White, of Idaho, who attended the National Assembly of American Food and Drug Officials in annual session last week at the Hotel California at Berkeley, California.

White returned to Boise last night. When interviewed he stated that the meeting was successful in every way and a great help to the commissioners of the various states and other officials who attended. He saw very little of the Panama-Pacifc exposition, having had but a half day to visit it. He said, however, that it looked so good that he hoped to be able to take the next summer vacation visiting it later.

The co-operative plan as outlined by J. C. Abbott, chairman of the United States department of agriculture of which you published a very full account when Mr. Abbott was here, is the strongest kind of an endorsement at the meeting," said Commissioner White. "The conference developed into a get-together conference on the part of federal and state officials. Under the co-operative plan federal and state pure food and drug officials will keep in close touch with one another, each reporting to the other matters in close relation to their work as they come up in their respective territories. In this way the public will be served better and superior goods will be placed on the market for the consumption of the people."

One of the most important actions taken was the decision to list all manufacturers in the foods and drugs as classified them that federal and state officials can learn on a moment's notice the class of goods these manufacturers are placing on the market and the able to tell whether or not the goods come from manufacturers of the better class. This will be an incentive for manufacturers to be placed in the class where they are known as turning out only the best kind of manufactured goods.

Dr. Carl Albert, chief of the bureau of chemistry and entomology to Dr. Wiley, was one of the speakers at the meeting. Many of the papers that were read were of only interesting, but very interesting.

AN IMPROVED SOUTHERN ROAD

Advantageous. Education in the benefits of good roads perhaps would be more profitably undertaken in the public schools of the big cities. It is the state legislatures and the federal government that have failed to appreciate the great advantages that will result from improved roads.

It is far better to spend money on good roads than on great armies and navies; and it would seem that the highways had better be made passable before the government undertakes to make the rivers navigable for there is more traffic over the country roads than on the rivers.

KEEP IDLE HORSES HEALTHY

Best Thing for Astoria is Prevention, Says Doctor Reynolds—Water and Exercise Essential.

The symptoms of astoria are easily recognizable. A horse comes out of the stable apparently in the best of condition. He is driven but a short distance before he shows signs of lameness or stiffness in his hind legs. He staggers and may fall before he can be unhitched. He perspires freely. The muscles over the loins and hips become rigid and frequently tender, often trembling and twitching.

According to Dr. M. H. Reynolds, the best thing for astoria is prevention. When a horse must remain idle for a few days the grain ration should be reduced. If a horse is very hot should be fed no grain. Every horse should be given plenty of water and turned out for exercise daily. If the grain ration has not been reduced during a period of idleness in any case, the horse should have a cathartic before being put into harness again. A quart of raw linseed oil, being by comparison a safe dose. Work should be light for the first day after idleness, as violent exercise is likely to invite an attack.

Gov. of State Eggs.
You cannot mistake the odor of state or bad eggs. To a certain extent eggs like butter are susceptible to bad odors. Some believe that eggs absorb odor after being laid by a hen, but it is not so. The odor of a bad egg is due to the bacteria which are known as turning out only the best kind of manufactured goods.

INVADE WORLD'S MARKETS

Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce... Washington, Aug. 9—A young agent of government commercial agents will... invade the world's markets... dominated by Europe. Under plans perfected by Dr. J. M. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, agents will be sent to South America, Africa, Australia and the far east, covering practically the whole world, except the European war area, their reports to be submitted to American manufacturers.

John Homs and Frank H. Von Mota will make the world-wide investigation... progress for the agricultural implements, Homs starting in South Africa and covering Australia and probably the far east. Von Mota will cover the market for agricultural implements. This investigation will take nearly a year. Special agents also will be sent to study the furniture and wearing apparel markets in Latin America, emphasizing work now in progress in the far east.

Speech Agent Edwin M. Boughner already has begun an exhaustive investigation of the commercial laws of South America and will draft a working manual of the legal conditions of business in every country on the southern continent. Special Agent Walter Fischer, investigating the fruit market in Brazil, America, now is touring Argentina of the United States to determine the possibilities of export trade. Special Agent R. M. Dool is in China studying the cotton goods market with particular reference to Japanese competition. E. H. Smith is preparing a review of the lumber industry. Will visit United States.

To supplement this work Commercial Agents also will visit all parts of the United States and confer with commercial organizations, manufacturers and merchants, telling of the department work in progress. Later a traveling agent will follow him, who will devote his time to pointing out the possibilities of the South American market.

In the last fiscal year the commerce bureau has handled nearly 6,000 trade permits in Latin America, and exports of about $125,000,000.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Twin Falls Times:

The case of the State of Idaho vs. William C. Janks, charged with the grand larceny of 13 head of sheep belonging to me, has been much discussed by the public, and I desire to make public through the columns of your paper the information which I have as to why Gov. Alexander refused to request the return of Janks from the State of Utah.

The preliminary examination was had on this charge some time ago, and the committing magistrate held that the evidence was not sufficient to justify holding Janks to the District Court. Shortly after this decision was reached, additional evidence was obtained of a very important nature.

One of Janks' own witnesses, Chas. Dunn, who testified in his behalf at the preliminary examination, turned State's evidence and made an affidavit that my sheep were driven from my field into the Janks packing house yards and slaughtered, under the direction of William C. Janks. Janks told Dunn to say nothing about it as they must stick together. This affidavit is amply corroborated by the affidavit of another witness. These affidavits are now public records and were used as such. As soon as this evidence was obtained, upon the advice of Prosecuting Attorney Davlin, I appeared before Justice of the Peace Smith and swore out another complaint, and the warrant of arrest was issued and placed in the hands of Sheriff Kendall.

In the meantime Janks had left the country, and when the warrant was received by the Sheriff his whereabouts was unknown. Sheriff Kendall and his deputies began to comb the country for Janks. They sent out hundreds of inquiries all over the west to apprehend him, and after weeks of diligent work, Janks was located in Ogden, Utah, and was placed under arrest. Sheriff Kendall went to Ogden and took charge of Janks.

Prosecuting Attorney Davlin and Attorney C. M. Booth, who had been employed by me personally in this matter, prepared the necessary requisition papers, to be signed by Gov. Alexander requesting the Governor of Utah to return Janks to this state for prosecution.

Upon the face of the record and the showing of facts as prepared by Mr. Booth, there appeared no question but that Gov. Alexander would ask for Janks' return.

Alexander Refuses to Act. Gov. Alexander was in Twin Falls at this time, and the matter was presented to him in the public parlor of the Rogerson hotel, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. I was not present, but am in a position to state what occurred. The governor finally refused to ask for Janks' return to this state. He stated "It is no crime to steal sheep anyway, and if the Republicans told the truth in the last campaign there is 13 head of sheep were only worth $13.00 and therefore it is only petit larceny." He further said "I don't believe you could convict Janks, but if you could the Board of Pardons would turn him loose."

Gov. Alexander is chairman of this board, and evidently held a brief for Janks from first to last. Judge Davlin, representing the State in this case, called the attention to the affidavits above referred to, and I am informed that the governor did not read the affidavits, nor did he read the other papers in connection with the case. He refused to ask for Janks' return, and as his word is law in matters of requisition, nothing further could be done. No appeal can be taken from this action.

Janks Offered to Settle. Shortly after the second warrant of arrest was issued by Judge Smith, agents of Janks came to me and offered to settle the case by paying me $200.00 for the sheep that had been stolen. These sheep were worth about $100.00. This offer I refused, and in refusing it I acted upon the advice of Judge Davlin and Mr. Booth. I do not regret by this that I would otherwise have accepted the offer but my refusing to accept was entirely in accord with the advice of my attorneys.

There has been considerable talk about this case, and some people have hinted that "there is a nigger in the woodpile." Nobody has laid down on this case at any stage of the game and nobody has compromised any feature of it.

Gov. Alexander has the secret of the matter locked in his own breast. What influenced his action, I do not know. But I do know that the evidence was presented to him for the return of Janks and he refused to take the necessary action. I stated repeatedly during all of this time that I would do everything in my power to put Janks in the penitentiary if he was guilty, and I am still willing to do so. Judge Davlin and Attorney Booth, representing me personally, were with me in the matter and if anybody can guess the middle of the governor's action, it would be of interest to the general public for them to do so.

Respectfully,
W. C. THOMAS,
Twin Falls, Idaho, August 16, 1916.

DEMOCRAT CARELESSNESS

Portion of Tariff Bill Taken Into the Courts.

Washington, D. C., August 9.—Democratic carelessness has raised a doubt as to the integrity of the law taxing sales of cotton and has thrown the statute into the courts.

A suit has been brought in the federal courts to test the constitutionality of the act, on the ground that it is a revenue measure originating in the senate.

The title declares that it is "an act to tax the privilege of dealing in exchanges, boards of trade and similar places in contracts on the sale of cotton for future delivery."

It was introduced by Senator Smith of South Carolina, and was first passed by the senate, the house afterwards approving the senate bill with amendments. Section 3 of the act provides that "upon any contract of sale of any cotton for future delivery made on any exchange, etc. there is hereby levied a tax of two cents for each pound of cotton included in such contract."

The administration of the law is delegated to the commissioner of internal revenue.

Section 7, article 1 of the constitution provides that bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives.

It is on this section of the constitution that the plaintiffs in the suit rely, together with the claim that the Smith bill was in the class referred to in the constitution and that it is a fact that the law was first passed by the senate.

The courts may or may not decide the case in favor of the government. The fact remains that by the exercise of ordinary care and foresight, the Democrats could have prevented all doubt and litigation on this point by the simple expedient of first passing the measure in the house.

Their failure to exercise such care still further contributes to the increasing evidence of Democratic slovenliness and inefficiency.
