The Times promised some time ago to give to its readers some of the inside political activity of the present county commissioners, Carlson and his colleagues with regard to the expenditure of county funds. Some time ago The Times showed where the county commissioners whose term ended last January spent three hundred dollars unnecessarily, with additional Democratic papers. Carlson is the only member of that board who remains in office. Although the statement of the Times was the subject of defensive editorials on the part of the editor of the Chronicle, yet not a single one can deny the truth of the Times' statement in that case.

This week The Times will show another phase of political activity of some of the Democratic officials in which county funds were wasted for saving Democratic newspapers.

During the administration of Commissioners Stronk, Zuck and Taylor, the county printing was given without bids in the Twin Falls Chronicle. The two years that followed were not satisfactory to the commissioners, who were compelled to carefully audit every item turned in by the Chronicle in that time, employing some disinterested printer to fix charges for printing. As a result, the three Democratic commissioners elected the next two years, Taylor, Zuck and Carlson, each individually stated to the editor of the Times, that they would not consider Dovsky in the printing contract for their term of office. The contract was therefore made (again without bids) in the Pilot Journal, which was supposed to make a sub-contract with some Twin Falls paper, and chose the Times. However, when any job work was done where formerly it was given to the Chronicle without any question of price, because it must be done by Republican papers, bids were demanded by some by all work.

Here is where the Democratic waste of county funds was for the time being stopped, while the commissioners worked out their punishment on Dovsky of the Chronicle. The job of printing the official ballots for the primary was let by bid and was awarded to the Twin Falls News, the lowest bidder at a price approximately ten dollars per thousand.

But between the primary and the general election to promote Democratic harmony and help their own campaigns and that of the party, it was evidently decided to cast off the embargo on the Chronicle. For at any time the printing of the official ballots for the general election was let to the Chronicle, again without recurrent bids and when the bill went up for over double what the News bid in practically the same job for the primary ballots, the commissioners allowed the bill. In other words more than two hundred dollars of excess cost was stacked up against the county for the sake of saving a Democratic sheet. For there is no question but what if let to the lowest bidder, the two jobs would not have been thirty dollars apart.

What do you think of it, Mr. Taxpayer? Does it look as though your interests had been safeguarded by the Democratic commissioners? The same condition is taking place in the matter of public printing under the present county commissioners composed of two Democratic members and one slightly damaged Republican county divisionist elected by Democratic votes.

A COMMUNICATION

Editor Twin Falls Times,
Twin Falls, Idaho.

Dear Sir:

Having been chosen by the socialist local of this city as a candidate for school director, I kindly ask permission to set forth through your columns one of the reasons why Socialists everywhere are insistent on gaining representation on school boards.

It is because they are uncompromisingly opposed to anything of a military nature entering the school in any form. We find that some very influential men are advocating the injection of militarism into our schools. Various schemes for such action have been suggested. One is to have schools and colleges be induced or, if necessary, compelled to include military training for all male students. Another suggestion is the inauguration of a nation-wide Boy Scout movement in connection with our public schools to be used later as a stepping stone to a system similar to the present military system of Switzerland. There may be danger of this one catching favor with the public, for they can see its lamb-like appearance but fail to hear the voice of the dragon back of it. The war dogs of the country have heard the roar of the cannon across the ocean and are barking, barking, barking, and will be quick to follow any one who is attracted to themselves every man and woman of their kind.

Delays Are Dangerous.

Arouse ye lovers of peace! There is work to be done! First it is work that must be done now or suffer an indefinite postponement of the day of peace and good will among men. The dawn of a new day is breaking wherein old things are being done away and all things become new. Man has at last begun to open his eyes to the fact that the human family is one great mass of brothers, and injury to one is the concern of all. In this new day the spirit of brotherhood must supplant the spirit that creates militarism. To get ready for that day we must concern ourselves with the children, for among them is to be found the best material from which the new world is to be made. In preparation there must be held before them the ideals of a Christ-like, national patriotism based on the brotherhood of man and as broad as the equinox of his habitation. They should be stimulated with a realization that their sacred duty is to do good, their minds and hearts should be saturated with a concern for the welfare of all men. Such patriotism can NEVER know the spirit that creates militarism.

As to Militarism.

Just a word of explanation of militarism and the spirit that breeds it. Militarism is a system of industrial system which places individuals at the mercy of the law of the survival of the fittest. In capitalism today (private ownership of industry) as in feudalism of old this law predominates. Our system of private ownership of industry, creates fierce competition between individuals, between classes and between nations. Competition in industry invites the concentration of vast amounts of physical energies of man into the accumulation of the material things of life. It fosters greed, creates strife, stifles brotherhood, it creates a moral senescence, permitting the shrewd and strong to fill their coffers with wealth created by the weak and unfortunate. Private ownership of industry has led men to change the ethics of Christ to conform with the conventional action of gathering avarice inherent to the time of millions, and deceived them into the belief that they are His disciples, while with Him there was nothing more fundamental than the strong living at the expense of the weak. It places money above life for where the treasure is, there is the heart also. The patriotism based on property rights and incites men to commit murder in its name. Our system of private ownership of industry, makes the world money mad and drives nations to the remote parts of the earth in search of markets. It creates envy between competing nations. We wish to build and maintain large armies and navies at great expense to protect these markets.

A Bone of Contention.

A bone of contention between the U. S. and Japan, is the markets of South America. The encroachment of Japan on our markets has made of the Japanese the "Yellow Peril" and the time will come when Uncle Sam will be asked "in the name of humanity" drive the "Yellow Peril" from the American continent. We are now getting ready for that drive. The wild shrieks of the Jingo are becoming more fierce every day. The contention for preparedness is spreading and thousands are flocking to the recruiting offices. Preparedness consists not only of a large army and navy, but the spirit of envy is also essential to military equipment. To stir up this spirit the capitalist press for years past has been busy in America, fear and suspicion of Japan. Hate always follows in the trail of fear. Hate and fear are two of the chief assets of militarism. The nations of Europe realizing the importance of these spiritual assets have for years been busy with press and platform creating a large supply in the hearts of the common people. Thus militarism grew so strong that the folk act of a fanatic boy was the means of breaking the peace of all Europe as she labored under her great burden of "preparedness for peace."

To Follow Europe's Lead.

We are getting ready to follow in the footsteps of Europe. The people of this nation do not realize the great significance of this attitude of preparedness. "Whence comes war? From the lust of the flesh." These are the words of the apostle Paul. James, Are we going to allow our young men, the hope of the future, to be sacrificed on the altar of wars that the greed of the money lords may be gratified? Such is the inevitable result if we allow capitalism to stand. Capitalism must have foreign markets for without foreign markets there is no place to dispose of the toll taken from labor—toll which represents the surplus after the laborer has been paid scarcely enough to feed, shelter and clothe him. This is the hire of the laborer that Jesus, the half-brother of Jesus, said was kept back by fraud.

Under capitalism it is gathered through three channels, viz: rent, interest and profit.

Capitalism has grown so rapidly by virtue of modern machinery that this surplus (that is greater than foreign markets can buy. Because of this we have high expectations for several years a world-wide "panic." So great is this panic that, notwithstanding the increased productivity of man, countless numbers are fed by charity, and for the European war many of our industries that are running today would be closed, causing hundreds of thousands that are now working to be counted among the unemployed. Yes, "capitalism" must have foreign markets or die. And capitalism, rather than die, will go to war for markets. So long as we have capitalism we will also have wars. Wars and rumors of wars are inevitable under private ownership of industry. We may cry peace until we are back in the race, but there will be no lasting peace until capitalism is overthrown.

The Panacea.

There is but one thing that will establish permanent peace among the nations, and that one thing is an industrial system which is based on the principle of the brotherhood of man, a system that is in harmony with the feelings of every worker. The full public ownership of industry, democratically managed for the benefit of all. It will deal justice to all men, giving to every worker the full social value of his toil, keeping back just enough toll to replace worn out machinery, and for the maintenance of the genius of man will from time to time devote, build and maintain schools, sanitariums, parks, highways, etc., etc. Public ownership of industry will cause the welfare of one to be the concern of all for their interests will be mutual. It will take from man the right of avarice, and will give to his fellow man, for service will be recognized as of greater value and therefore become the coveted thing for the man of the day. It will be the "root of all evil," will die a natural and speedy death, and in the process of the vacancy created man will be enabled to hear the voice of Jehovah speaking to his innermost soul. His moral senses will respond to that voice as does the grass that withers in the sunshine and rain. Latent powers that now lie dormant will reemerge and man will grow into the fullness of nature. His will be the perfection even as God is perfect. Generosity will take the place of greed for there will be plenty for all and to spare. No one will need to look anxiously to the morrow concerning what he shall eat or what he shall wear.

The Power of Truth.

Why should man worry about the future? It is a truth that the force which brings a thing into existence also provides the means for the perpetuation of that thing. If a man dies and does and becomes extinct. The power that brings the grass into existence also provides nourishment for the perpetuation. Likewise the birds, if then God cares for the grasses, they will also care for the birds, and birds, how much more will he care for man seeing he is greater than all other creatures. He has given us the power wherewith to control the elements of the earth, the air, the fire, the water, and the earth. He has given us the power wherewith to control the elements of the earth, the air, the fire, the water, and the earth.

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Golden Rule Sunday school, was held in Mr. Griffith's beautiful tourist grove, on Wednesday, August 25, 1915. It was an old-fashioned all day picnic and proved to be a very enjoyable affair to about one hundred and thirty men, women and children. Most of the crowd arrived before noon and after spreading table cloths on the grass under the shade of the trees, the ladies soon set before our eyes such a tempting array of toothsome dainties as can only be imagined and need no special description. Suffice it to say that it was topped off by twelve gallons of ice cream and that every one present did ample justice to the sumptuous repast. After dinner the children played various games and enjoyed the swings which had been erected for their special pleasure, while the older folk gathered in little groups under the trees and chatted an only happy, neighborly country folk can. Later in the afternoon several Kodak views were taken of the merry party. An evening drive near the grove began to break up and after the usual scramble to get our belongings properly stowed away again, we wended our way homeward declaring it had been a lovely picnic and hoping to enjoy many more such pleasant times together.

INDIANS RAID A GROCERY

Band of Indians on the Warpath at Idaho Falls.

Sounds like a tale of the days of '49 but it is an actual twentied century in the year 1915 occurrence right in the suburbs of the modern city of Idaho Falls, on Saturday at that.

The Indians were genuine all right enough and so is the grocery which is the East Side, located at the corner of First street and Lee avenue, but the raid resulted in nothing more serious than attracting a crowd of onlookers who saw the "movie" people in action, and the raid was undertaken by the camera man as part of the film which goes to make up the photoplay story or "The Cowpuncher" which is being put on by that company here for that purpose. The building of the East Side Grocery was selected for the reason that it is a large or big-angled section, so far as the business center is concerned, and the building stands far away from others, which, were they included, would make the picture too modern, and is probably the only business in the city with the old-time hitch-racks in front. The consent of Mr. Jensen, the manager was secured and the building

"Smoke pots" were used to represent the building in flames set on fire by the Indians, who circled the building on horseback. Dressed in full war regalia, in many instances with their bodies stripped to the waist and smeared with paint, it was easy to conceive the "wild west" occurrence in the early days. In the discovery of the Indians, a man costumed for the part rushed from the building and opened fire on the marauders, but he soon fell at the murderous fire of the Indians.

Quite a crowd was attracted by the novel sight, as they have been by all of the pictures staged.—Idaho Falls Register.

FOR AN IDEA FOR A SEQUEL TO "THE DIAMOND FROM THE SKY"

The American Film Manufacturing Company's Picturized Romantic Novel in Chapters.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

A feud line existed between Colonel Arthur Stanley and his cousin, Judge Lincoln Stanley, ever an intimate. The diamond from the sky, found in a failed meteor by an ancestor, also the success to the Stanley family, was given to the latter by an American. When a daughter is born to the colonel and the mother dies, the diamond is given to her and she marries the Stanley young man. Father is grown a beautiful young girl, Hazel, now twenty-one years old in the picture. She is the girl being treated in this picture, and her father is understood as the father. The girl has obtained possession of the diamond from the sky, and is now in the Stanley keep. When Father is grown a beautiful young girl, Hazel, now twenty-one years old in the picture. She is the girl being treated in this picture, and her father is understood as the father. The girl has obtained possession of the diamond from the sky, and is now in the Stanley keep.

great girl that had obsessed her since the day when she had met her. "It is not worth it," she said, "but I will do it for you. I will do it for you. I will do it for you."

There had been no use to further discuss the diamond with her. He would not give it up. He would not give it up. He would not give it up.

"It is not worth it," she said, "but I will do it for you. I will do it for you. I will do it for you."

After Blake and he had sent Mrs. Handolph and the young man home, Blake had sought a telephone and notified Abe Bloom that the diamond from the sky was on the neck of the Chinese girl.

"It is not worth it," she said, "but I will do it for you. I will do it for you. I will do it for you."

Arriving beside the Randolph mansion long after midnight, he saw the light gleaming from Vivian's window, toward which a wistful glimmered.

Vivian Marston and Blair Stanley. He drew himself up the gauzed and tenebrous vine. Vivian came to the window at the first warning of the vine. Blair showed her the diamond.

John Gray, noted in conservative Richmond as "the marrying minister."

Blair Stanley, driven out by the names, or which the Chinese den was now a seething mass. Detective Blake, with the Bloom, got their taxied and hurried away to avoid embarrassing questions from the police and from the crowd.

He Drew Himself Dip to Vivian's Window. The Stanley title and estates in Warwickshire. Their minds were all upon the heirloom of the American Stanleys, the diamond from the sky.

"Possession is nine points of the law," said Blair. "I will do it for you. I will do it for you. I will do it for you."

"I didn't your fire, you should worry," sneered his brother, the cynical gambling housekeeper.

"As you say there is $5,000 in it for me if I get the diamond for you, I will tell you my theory," said the detective.

Blair Stanley, the detective and gambler hurried away leaving Mrs. Randolph inwardly reproaching herself that she had "taken up" an adventurous and bad her at a guest on the strength of a faint beach intimacy. Suppose this came out in the papers?

CHAPTER XVIII A Runaway Marriage

William Mrs. Handolph was in a state of mind to submit to a nervous collapse at this crowding contempt of the detective and gambler were on their way to the railroad station to head off the fugitives. Blair, with a view of the front tree on the track, blew out with a loud explosion.

Tom Blake looked at his watch. "Blair Stanley and the lady and the diamond can't get a train out of here before ten o'clock," said the detective.

"I have a hunch that they know this and I bet two to one they have improved the plating hour by waking up Marion Gray. The marrying minister and getting suited." It was a wedding present, a pair of diamonds for the groom.

Mr. Abe Bloom did not ask any questions. He realized there might be several reasons that such a view of a runative jewelry could be expected about the wife of Blair Stanley.

At the preacher's house, which was near by, neither Blake nor Bloom were surprised to see a waiter in black and white running for the door and mounting the steps of the paragon. The front door was unfastened and he and Bloom slipped silently into the lighted hallway.

They could hear the voices of the Dr. John Gray himself. "I now pronounce you man and wife," Blair Stanley and Vivian—Vivian Marston no more—were facing the minister and Blair was examining by his acute eye the diamond which he had won her, the diamond from the sky.

Blake stepped forward and with a deftness acquired by long practice, snatched his hands on the wrist of Blair, exclaiming: "We want the diamond, and I arrest you for the murder of Dr. Lee."

MINING ENGINEER KILLED

Professor C. E. Hayden, Well Known Known at Twin Falls.

Bellingham, Wash. — Professor C. E. Hayden of this city, a mining engineer, was killed last Sunday afternoon 20 miles north of Harrison Lake, B. C., when a shotgun carried by J. D. Ellinger, another member of the party, accidentally discharged the loads of both barrels entering Hayden's side. Death was instantaneous. Ellinger in telephoning here said that Professor Hayden was killed in a slide. News of the accident was reported by Provincial Constable Hupner at Mission.

The scene of the accident is about 12 or 20 miles from the head of Harrison lake. In all there were four members in the party and the trip to the Lillooet district had been made for the purpose of inspecting certain mining properties. The party was returning on horseback and it was when Professor Hayden attempted to pass Mr. Ellinger on the rather narrow trail that the members of the party were hurriedly carried to safety. Mr. Ellinger was carrying his saddle caught in the horns of the saddle, discharging both barrels.

When two of the party remained to guard the body, Mr. Ellinger rode the 20 miles to Harrison lake and thence by boat about another 20 miles to Pritchett, arriving at the latter place Monday morning. Acting upon instructions given by Chief of Provincial Constable Smith, Provincial Constable Barber left for the scene of the tragedy with coroner Elliott. It is intended to hold an inquest on the spot if a jury can be secured. The body will be brought here for interment.

Edward Robinson

was located a number of miles from the Cripple Creek, Colo. district among them the Independence. He came here six months ago from Twin Falls, and had made a survey of the Mount Baker district in this country.

The deceased is survived by the widow, the children and three step-children.—Statesman.

CHECK-ARTIST IN RUPERT

Passed Several Bad Checks Drawn on Local Bank.

Local merchants are mourning the visit of a gentleman calling himself Rose Franklin, who floated several worthless checks around town and then got away with the proceeds. Franklin started work here a couple of weeks ago buying Chas. Akin's motor cycle for $50.00 and giving two checks on the First National Bank of Twin Falls. The Golden Rule was caught for $50.00 and giving two checks on the First National Bank of Twin Falls. The sheriff is looking for Mr. Franklin. Another case came to light this week, but as it involves a lady who has suffered enough, we forebear the details.—Rupert Democrat.

BUCKEYES ATTENTION

Annuit Please at Waters' Grove, Saturday—Afternoon, Sept. 11th.

Every person on the Twin Falls tract, who was born in Ohio, or who lived there as much as five years, or who is married to one who was born together with their children and friends are urged to come with well filled baskets, to Waters' Grove, ten mile north of Twin Falls, Saturday afternoon, September 11. The Hon. Addison T. Smith, a native Buckeye, will speak at 4:30. Dinner promptly at 5:30. All are invited to come and get acquainted and have a good time.

Handling the bull on the ranch is a matter of much importance to the dairy man and stock grower in general, especially to those handling the dairy breeds which have a tendency to be more vicious than the beef type. Some keep a young bull until he shows signs of viciousness, then dispose of him, replacing him with another young animal, with detrimental effect on the herd.

As a means of restraint it is advisable to dehorn the bull and put a good ring in his nose. At the first signs of viciousness, hobble him with a strap pair of horse hobbles, between the gambles and fetlock joints, on the hind end. Restrained in this way, his viciousness is not impaired, and a child can keep out of his way. Above all, bear in mind that a bull is never really trustworthy.
