BULL DECLINES TO HELP COUNTY FAIR

Business Men's Organization on West End Says It Will Win County Division—Pledges Patronage.

Recently Earl Walker was sent to Bull to take up the proposition of no holding the fair at the county division place, says the Fair Journal. This business men informed him that they would take the fair up at their next business meeting and act as a unit. This they did, and the following communication from their secretary is the result of their deliberations:

Bull, Idaho, Feb. 28, 1916.
Mr. A. E. Anderson, Fair, Idaho.
Dear Sir: Answering your inquiry regarding the advisability of proceeding further in the matter of fair subdivisions here, I do not believe it advisable at the present time. As you know the county division fight is on again, and this time we will win. We are preparing to spend a great deal of money on road work and a great deal will be subscribed privately to the road fund. Our board of directors request me to say that at the present time they can offer no encouragement. You may depend on Bull though for a liberal patronage of the fair. Very truly yours,

JOHN M. BRADLEY.

Secretary.
We are extremely sorry that Bull takes the above position. Filer is neutral ground on the county division proposition, and furthermore, looks upon the county fair as an enterprise that means everything to this section. We hear by grumbling wireless that certain Republican politicians of Twin Falls have promised that county division if in turn they will support the Republican nominees. If true, this is a silly proposition and one not founded on either sound judgment or one capable of being delivered. The people of Twin Falls are not fools. If a proposition were put up by a fine titled politician they have done it with a view of giving Bull the double cross. Let's get down to brass tacks. Filer has no disposition to fight county division provided the line is located three or three and one-half miles west. But if Filer is to be shown no consideration whatever, the chances are that they will not look with favor upon dividing the county. This little village has certainly not $75,000 for the fair, and certainly not presuming when they call upon other towns to help. It is not a Filer enterprise alone, but a community enterprise. We hope our neighbor on the west may reconsider the stand taken and join with this section in putting across a proposition which means everything to this whole section.

EXPLAINS METHODS OF CLOVER SEED PRODUCTION
J. A. Thonnes, speaking at a recent meeting of the Pioneer Seed Producers at a recent meeting in Bull, according to the Pioneer stated that he had found that the early sowing of the preferable time to sow clover seed, and he did not particularly favor sowing it with a nurse crop, stating that the usual result is that the clover is neglected. He discussed methods of keeping the clover seed clean and touched upon the irritating feature of clover seed culture. Mr. Beck took up the subject of irrigating and gave the results of experiments in different parts of the tract. He was of the opinion that the best time to make a made in not keeping sufficient water on the plants to retain vitality at all times. Mr. Harvey heartily endorsed Mr. Beck's opinion, and it seemed to be the general opinion of all who had made a study of the subject.

REGULATIONS FOR LENT PUBLISHED

Services At Catholic Church Twice a Week During Time—Rules For Observance of Fasts Are Given.

Tomorrow is Ash Wednesday and will be celebrated in the morning at the Catholic church by blessing and distribution of ashes, which will be followed at 7:45 a. m. by the mass of the day. In the evening there will be services including a sermon by a visiting priest. During Lent, which commences until April 22, there will be services held every Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. Sunday services will be held at 8 o'clock and 10:30 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

The following are the regulations for the observance of Lent, which includes Fast Fairs:
All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year, are, unless exempt, or legitimately dispensed, bound to observe the fast of Lent.

By the observance of fast, meat is allowed at the principal meal on all days of Lent, except Wednesdays, Fridays, the Ember Saturdays, March 18, and Holy Saturday, April 22.

The use of fish and flesh meat is forbidden at the same meal, even on Sundays, in Lent.
Custom sanctions the taking of a cup of coffee, tea or hot chocolate in the morning, and in the evening a collation which may consist of the fourth part of an ordinary meal. At this collation meat only is forbidden, the use of butter, cheese, milk and eggs are also exempt. The use of a Special Indult of the Holy See.

The use of lard and drippings is permitted in the preparation of abstinent food. When the principal meal cannot be taken at mid-day, it may be taken in the evening, and the collation in the morning.

All persons under twenty-one years, or over sixty years of age, those who are engaged in hard labor, the sick and convalescent, and those who cannot fast without injury to their health, are exempt from the obligation of fasting. Those who are not bound to fast may use flesh meat more than once each day on which its use is permitted.

The time for fulfilling the precept of fast commences, in the year 1916, from the first Sunday in Lent, March 12, to Trinity Sunday, June 18.

In virtue of a special indult granted to the Bishops of the United States, we permit workmen and their families the use of flesh meat once a day, with the exception of all Fridays. On Wednesday, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week, and the eve of Ascension, these indulgent allowances of this dispensation are not allowed to eat flesh and fish at the same meal, and they are exhorted to perform some other act of mortification.

Soldiers and sailors in the service of the United States are exempted from the obligation of fasting all during the year, except on Ash Wednesday, Friday and Saturday in Holy Week, and on the vigils of the Assumption of Mary, All Saints and All Souls.

That there may be more abundant opportunities to win the Races of the Season, the Bishops of all dioceses have granted the indulgence of the Sunday devotion, Lenten exercises be held by the faithful on at least two Sundays or even on all Sundays of the season, and the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament be given after an appropriate instruction or the Stations of the Cross.

KILLS MAN WHO MARRIED HIS DIVORCED WIFE

Shoots Husband and Then Attempts to Take the Life of Former Wife and Sister.
NANPA.—Sam Richardson, a farmer living nine miles southwest of Nanpa, was shot and instantly killed about 7:30 on Wednesday evening by Ernest D. Harburg, whose divorced wife, Harburg married about a year ago. Harburg took several shots at Mrs. Richardson and her sister, Miss Harburg, but the latter gave him battle and escaped with a severe beating. Harburg made his escape and is being pursued with bloodhounds.
Harburg had been feeding sheep near Meridian. He drove to the Richardson home in a lively rig and proceeded to be settling down. When Richardson admitted him to the kitchen he addressed Mrs. Richardson in a familiar manner, which Richardson resented. A quarrel followed in which Harburg drew a revolver and shot Richardson, killing him instantly.
Mrs. Richardson fled to the front of the house when Harburg opened fire on her, but her sister, Miss Brooks, grasped the shooter and succeeded in deflecting his aim until the cylinder of his revolver was empty. Harburg then beat her over the head with the weapon and fled.

REPUTATION OF BRANDIES EXCELLENT SALES WITNESS
WASHINGTON.—Edward F. McClellan of Boston, member of Louis D. Brandeis' law firm, testified again today before the senate committee investigating the fitness of Mr. Brandeis to be a member of the supreme court.
Today the witness confirmed his statement regarding the United Shoe Machinery company matters which he began last Wednesday afternoon.
Stephen A. Croft of Chicago, former president of the American Bar association, testified that Mr. Brandeis was as far as he knew "excellent" both as to ability and character. He said he was speaking of his reputation outside of Boston in the "had" only talked with one or two Boston lawyers about him.

SURVEY CHANGES LINES ON NORTH SIDE

Area Affected Not Large and Farmers Take Action to Have Old Lines Prevail.

Government surveys have made a re-survey of township 3 south which crosses the north side of the North Tract south of Jerome. This township is of Snake River canyon, the line between townships 3 and 4 south, and the line between townships 3 and 4 south, and the line between townships 3 and 4 south. The re-survey does not effect established lines, north of this line, it is the north and south section lines that are affected. These corners correspond on the township line between townships 3 and 4 south, but from this point southward diverse eastward of the established lines about fifteen feet to the mile, making a discrepancy between the two surveys at the mouth of the canyon. Now, for some reason, the government has made a survey, and the lines this survey has established do not coincide with the company lines in the particular above stated. In some instances valuable improvements, even the buildings and well, are thus placed on the adjoining entry.

The matter has been taken up with Surveyor General Stephen D. Utter, of Boise, under whose supervision the work has been done, and R. E. Shepherd, representing the company, has had conferences with him. Some of the corners are also visible to the situation and are looking out for their interests. As a result of this it has been decided to secure protests from the entrymen interested to be forwarded to Washington and some method adopted by which the boundaries of the subdivisions as shown on the legal title will be legally disturbed. This might be done by re-description, calling each quarter section a lot under a specified number. In carrying out this method the entrymen will be asked by circular letter to file protest accompanied by a small plat showing the location of the cultivated lands and buildings upon the entries, those protests to be directed to the surveyor general's department, but filed at the company office in Jerome. This is the method the company engineer may draw a complete plat of the township showing just what the effect of the re-survey is as to effecting the entries. This plat, with the protests to go to Washington.

A similar situation arose on the South Side project, and on the Salmon River project, and resulted in some litigation and in all instances the matter has not yet been fully settled. These facts, if the entrymen affected in township 3 south will act promptly upon receipt of the circular letter from the company and co-operate with the local entrymen, those who have already been at work on the proposition, it is believed that trouble and confusion may be avoided and that all may be allowed to retain the status as originally filed upon. It is important that the matter be attended to promptly.

WOOL CROP WILL SHOW INCREASE FOR SEASON
SALT LAKE.—Preparations for the 1916 wool crop of Utah is being made by the shearing pens along the lines of the Salt Lake and the Denver & Rio Grande railroads. At Blackrock, Checo and Mantle the pens and yards are being put in condition. Wool-growers expect the 1916 crop of Utah to exceed the 1915 crop by about 10 per cent. A part of the clip already has been exported from the southern part of the state.

In this state shearing is had before the lambing season, while in Idaho and Montana the lambing season comes before the shearing of the ewes. This is due to Utah having a milder climate. Owing to the early clip, the season in Utah many of the ewes suffer if cold rains come during the shearing season.

BURLEY WILL VOTE ON SCHOOL BOND THIRD TIME
BURLEY.—Upon the petition of the business men of Burley and others the school board has called another election to pass upon the question of bonding the district for $10,000 to complete the high school building and pay off present indebtedness. The election will take place on Tuesday, March 21.

It is to be hoped that a full representation of the voters of the district will be out at this election. The question should be settled this time, and in the manner desired by a majority of the people. Other plans are being made by the school board to build schoolhouses. Twin Falls cast voting $40,000 for a new one, and if the people of this district are ready to build the school come out and say so. Burley Bulletin.

THE NORTH AND SOUTH RAILROAD

Senator Day Returns From Chicago Where He Went to Interview Capitalists on Proposition.

Actual construction of the north and south railroad is becoming nearer a possibility every day. This is clearly indicated by an interview with Governor Alexander, following the return of State Senator Jerome J. Day from Chicago where he held a conference with financiers interested in the road building. Handicapped by the last legislature in failing to make an appropriation for the north and south railroad commission to perform its work, Senator Day, chairman of the commission, has been forced to meet most of the expenses out of his own pocket. Governor Alexander has tendered what assistance he could financially. It is pointed out that the conference at Chicago is favorable to the action of a partisan press which has displayed venom and sarcasm which has done the project any good and may seriously handicap it unless it ceases.

When interviewed regarding the prospects of the north and south road, the outcome of the interview with Senator Day had with financiers in Chicago, Governor Alexander said: "The north and south railroad seems to be a very lively thing. Senator Day has just returned from Chicago, where he had a conference with big financial interests and his report is very gratifying. He met people with whom I have had conference in person, by letter and by telegram for the past several months, and Senator Day reports that the parties seem to be in earnest and have the money and backing to undertake the enterprise, finance it and complete it.

"The tendency seems from the conference that there is a bigger project in view than simply connecting the north and south ends of Idaho. The parties themselves have been pretty well over Idaho and Senator Day reports that they know all the ins and outs in a surprising degree of exactness and their capabilities. I know of every man of influence and importance in the state of Idaho as well as every business man and they are thoroughly alive to the importance of the issue presented to them.

"They asked Mr. Day very many questions, especially to the political feeling in Idaho relative to public ownership of railroads in order that their investment would be safeguarded, all of which Mr. Day answered very satisfactorily.

"There has been a conference arranged within the next 30 or 40 days when the north and south commission and the governor will meet the interested parties at a point and date which is not open for publication as yet.

"The expense of the trip, which has been many hundreds of dollars, was to be borne by Senator Day and the governor, but Mr. Day would not accept any money from the governor per such agreement, claiming that he felt it a public duty to do so. He said that he would not accept any money from the governor to further this project and he preferred to pay all his expenses out of his own exchequer and he certainly is to be congratulated and praised for his public spirit and generosity.

"You ask why such secrecy about our movements on this project.

"I am sorry to say the reason for secrecy is that the political press of the state feel such strong resentment at what I have done at my own expense and the expense of Senator Day that they would prefer to neutralize my efforts and have no road built than have my office and the commission I appointed appear to receive any honor or glory for performing this simple public service for the state of Idaho that will be of lasting benefit to the inhabitants yet to come. If the people I am dealing with would come in contact with the sarcasm and venom displayed by the political press over a great enterprise of the highest importance to the state they might misinterpret the true feelings of the people of the state of Idaho on this enterprise. All of which would not be true, as the people of Idaho want this north and south road built, to honor the better. The people as a whole are in favor of it and the politicians and political press are in favor of it, but are opposed to the present government to farther it.

"The railroad will go on just the same and whatever I can do will be done.

"The University of Idaho has asked the public utilities commission about rates and profits of same, and I have requested Mr. Hunsdett to communicate with the university and very other state commission, and they can assist in our project by turning in data to us, to have them do so.

"I will probably send the state engineer over the line this spring to get us more information on the matter and I have no doubt Senator Day will join with me in furnishing the money to do it with.

"I know the people want the north and south railroad and I am also cognizant of the fact that they ought to be made acquainted with what I am doing, and I regret that this is as far as I can go now. They will have to trust to the integrity of Senator Day, Hon. A. F. Parker, Dr. Paddock and myself to carry the work forward to the best of our ability.

"Appropriation? No, there is no appropriation. The legislature appropriated money for everything in the world that anyone wanted money for, but not a cent for the north and south railroad.

"There will be no tax passed around, and no collection made, which is usually done in the communities through which the proposed road is to be built. Such contributions are usually squandered and no road built. The money we will need will come from private sources and be donated to the people of the state of Idaho for the pure motive of patriotism and public benefit.

"No, this is not all I know about the north and south railroad, but it is all I will say for publication at present. I will make a statement later on in relation to the north and south road? I think I will, always keeping the parties interested to myself for the present, but you can state to the people of Idaho that their interests are being well looked after."

BUIH NEWS

(From the Buhl Herald)

The plans for the big Oregonian Day Celebration, March 11, are complete, and all web footers are invited to be at the basket dinner at the Buhl Opera house, at noon. The program following the meal will lend variety to the occasion. All those who can are urged to bring a basket of good things to eat, and the farmers are asked, especially, to bring butter and eggs. Registration is being done at the Peoples Drug store, and already a large number have left their names. Those who have not registered, are asked to add their names to the list.

A new business concern for Buhl is that recently formed by the Constant Brothers of this city. A. G. Constant,

REPORT REPEATS TWIN FALLS.

About fifty students of the Twin Falls high school took a special train to Rupert last Friday night to attend the basket ball game between the Rupert and Twin Falls high school teams.

The game was intensely exciting throughout. The Rupert team had defeated the local boys by the close margin of two points two weeks before, and the local team was determined to get revenge. The first half ended with the score 20 to 15 in favor of Twin Falls, but the change of baskets gave Rupert the advantage and enabled them to win with a score of 44 to 32.

After the game the victors enjoyed a merry scramble for rooms. Every vacant room in the town was taken and a large number were forced to sleep in private houses for lodging for the night. The party returned at four the next day, having had "the time of their lives."

Jack Patterson of Buhl, returned to his home Monday, having recovered from a recent operation. His brother, Joseph Patterson of Riddle, was here this week visiting him and went with him to Buhl.

NOTICE: DISCONTINUANCE. Many subscribers prefer not to have their subscriptions interrupted in case they fail to remit before expiration. A TWIN FALLS DAILY.

Many people who are vitally interested in the progress of this city have approached us on the proposition of publishing a daily newspaper, expressing their belief that the time either had arrived or would shortly arrive, when the local field would be sufficiently remunerative to warrant the publication of a good, live daily.

We are not at all certain that such a time has not already arrived, and to determine whether the people of Twin Falls really want and can afford a daily of the character it would require—for we are certain Twin Falls would be satisfied with nothing but the best—we have placed a man in the field whose business it will be to reduce the optimism of those wanting to see the community served by a daily newspaper to an advertising contract.

The general public is prone to lose sight of the fact that a newspaper generally is not, and certainly should not be an endowed institution. It would often like to give the community its services, better representation than it is able; not because of financial inability of its publishers, but because expenses must always be made to bear a proper relation to returns, just as in any other business. Newspapers, as a rule, go farther, often much farther than they are warranted, in the portion of their income that they return to the community, than any other business institution.

THE TIMES is ready, is able, to give this community the sort of daily it wants. Such a daily must be sound in its state. It must cover the field exhaustively. It must extend its territory to include all of the towns in this section. It must secure the best telegraphic service obtainable. It must maintain a staff of trained correspondents and reporters. It must be equipped mechanically as well. All of this is thoroughly appreciated by THE TIMES; and the management will continue its efforts to produce a more and more efficient newspaper, unless and until it can cover the daily field on such a basis as outlined. Our friends may be assured of this.

It should be plainly understood that THE TIMES is not asking the community to finance the daily proposition for it. THE TIMES is in a position to undertake the publication of such a daily as the community may well be proud of, and will do so just as soon as it can be convinced that there is sufficient business in the city to warrant the step.

It is now the business of the business men which is now being made, is complete. THE TIMES will make an announcement that will be of interest to all interested in this matter.

The Twin Falls country, conceded on every hand to be verging upon a season of growth and prosperity unprecedented in its history, certainly would be served advantageously by a daily of the character outlined, and nothing would please THE TIMES more than the opportunity of rendering this service.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM.

The receipt of several contributions from TIMES-readers discussing different matters of public interest from many points of view has led to the establishment of a department known as the "Public Forum" for the accommodation of subscribers who have views on questions of general interest which they desire to present to the public. While assuming no responsibility and while desiring to permit the greatest freedom of expression, it is deemed necessary to retain the right to reject any communication, where there seems sufficient reason for so doing, and in order to enable anyone desiring to contribute to these columns to so shape contributions that they may avoid the painful experience of having them rejected, the following suggestions are made:

Articles must be of reasonable length. It is frequently necessary to cut down important articles written by the staff on account of lack of space, and to leave out from time to time items of trivial importance for the same reason. Articles of contributors must be of more consideration than is accorded to those from the staff of the paper. It is possible that on some occasions four articles of no unusual merit may be accepted when regular copy is scarce, but this should not be considered a precedent, giving the right to another contributor to demand that another article of equal length be accepted under different circumstances.

All matter must be free from personalities and declamatory denunciation, and must be purely expository and argumentative. The idea is to permit discussion of issues of vital public interest and not to grant space for the venting of personal spite or mere denunciation of any individual, party or institution. Of course, this does not mean that men or parties may not be mentioned for the purpose of criticizing their attitude, but such mention should be incidental to the main purpose of discussing a principle.

The article published must be free from any advertising of a direct or indirect character. The department must not be used for a propaganda. The systematic monopolization of such department for the furthering of any cause would destroy its usefulness.

The aim of THE TIMES is to make the department what its name implies, a place for the free discussion of vital issues in a purely impersonal, argumentative way, and this cannot be done if it is monopolized by any particular party, faction or organization.

IN PLAIN ENGLISH.

(Salt Lake Telegram)

"She was as much to blame as I," is the plea of Will Orpet, who is accused of the murder of the unfortunate Marian Lambert. Whether the girl, who was found dead in the woods at Lake Forest, near Chicago, a few weeks ago, committed suicide or was murdered, has caused hardly less discussion than this remark of her former sweetheart.

"She was as much to blame as I," is the modern substitute for Adam's defense. And the new form has two advantages over the ancient, it comes nearer the truth, and it has the backing of science.

Much sentimentality is ordinarily wasted on any two persons who make an excursion away from conventional paths. In the present moralizing on the Lambert-Orpet case, there are the usual warnings to girls, with explanations of why it happened.

Idleness, which permits flirtations to develop among the causes by loss an authority on sex problems than Gertrude Atherton, the novelist. Mrs. Atherton blames modern life for an abnormal amount of flirting.

But science says all flirting is normal—even the birds flirt. Ignorance of things her mother should have taught her is frequent among comments on cases of this kind.

But every girl who is old enough to think herself in love knows very well that she has a natural instinct which works for her own protection.

And she knows that she is as much to blame as the man when she lets her propensity to flirt overcome her instinctive prudence.

There is undoubtedly an increasing amount of familiarity in the conduct of boys and girls today. In the mixing of many people in the national melting pot, a great deal of scum must rise and a great deal of sediment has got to sink.

TWICE-A-WEEK TWIN FALLS TIMES, TUESDAY, MAR. 7, 1916

In this purifying process, if a high standard of morals and manners is to survive, we must have done with hypocrisy and prudishness, and pretense in the education of boys and girls.

We must stop deceiving ourselves about the ways of nature. Each sex must assume its own responsibility for its own weaknesses.

POSSIBILITIES IN STATE POLITICS.

(Boise New Freedom)

In the field of state politics it is beginning to be evident that the Democrats will renounce Governor Alexander without opposition, and will probably name T. A. Walters of Caldwell for Attorney General, and J. K. Tanner of Ellettsville for Lieutenant Governor; those gentlemen having made extra good runs as candidates two years ago. Sentiment is also crystallizing in favor of James H. Forney as northern Idaho's candidate for Congressman, while A. C. Hindman of Boise, H. D. Heid of Shoshone, Chase A. Clark of Mackay and Bert H. Miller of St. Anthony are most prominently mentioned for south Idaho's candidate. Clarence Van Dusen is in the field for State Auditor. This comprises the list of prospective Democratic candidates up to date.

Among the Republicans, the usual disagreement among northern Idaho Republicans is evident as to the gubernatorial candidate, and one is driven to the conclusion that this condition is fostered by certain toxic politicians of the south—O. L. Causey. If the north cannot unite the south can then forward in the interest of harmony and peace.

By long odds D. W. Davis of American Falls is in the lead among south-Idaho aspirants. Mr. Davis has ideas that make the basis of a campaign and furthermore is displaying political sagacity of no mean order. Unless complications arise he will doubtless capture the nomination with ease, but his desire to lead a forlorn hope shows more zeal than judgment.

BUHL A HUSTLING CITY.

It is up to everybody to doff the hat to Buhl as a live, energetic city which is destined to grow and earn "a place on the sun." The auto owners are, behind a movement, noted recently in THE TIMES, to place a man and team constantly on the roads around town to keep the bridges in repair and to mend the bad places, and if the south can then forward in the interest of harmony and peace assistance during times of special stress. While this will add much to the pleasure of the auto owners it will also add much to the trade of Buhl, which will draw people from a greater distance than would otherwise be the case, on account of the fine condition of the highways. The movement is one which Twin Falls might well emulate. Good roads always constitute an asset to a city and the better the roads, the greater the asset.

A MIGHTY NOBLE DEED.

(Parma Herald)

County Attorney H. A. Griffiths has ordered the use of all slot machines and punch boards in the county discontinued. It was high time that something was done along this line. Those monsters of iniquity were snuffing the lifeblood of our citizens, debasing the fathers and driving the mothers to suicide, debauching the sons, ruining the daughters and sending the soul of the unborn child to perdition. We're glad they're gone never to return under the same name. We never could win on the darn things anyhow.

The negative then had an inning, their being opposed by E. J. Grandner, who decried that the protest resulted from a conflict of interests. He said that if the switch were granted, the Ostrander Lumber company extended, but he had never had the nerve to ask that he be given the right to build a warehouse on the other side and that in justice to those who had bought this the tracks should not be extended. He asserted that it would prove an inconvenience to those coming from the country over the Rock Creek bridge, and would cause a great deal of danger. He said that he understood that three people had been hit at different times crossing the single switch across the Perrine road. He said that the people were talking at points in an extensive bridge and railway across the river, and that the bridge will be built at this point. He said that the bridge would be built across the Perrine road, and that the bridge would be built across the Perrine road.

present at the time that the city was in a state of confusion. The original plan provided for a switch crossing Shoshone at the point named. The council objected and after hearing their case the engineer said they were right and recommended that the switch not be put in. He said that said Lake City had had troubles of the kind named. He said the extension would be to his interest. He argued that the difference between this crossing and the one over the main tracks was that the people had ample opportunity to see a train from either direction as they approached the track, but would not in case a switch were erected and warehouse buildings constructed, saying that the accident on Main recently was due to a building preventing the people in the car from seeing the approaching train. The council then laid the matter over until the next meeting.

Like Stand of Commercial Club.
With great pleasure and satisfaction
do we settlers on the Salmon River project appreciate the fact that the Twin Falls Commercial club does not hesitate to express in THE TIMES its sincerest sympathy for us and last, but not least to point out to the State Land board its duty in the Salmon River matter.

We have been looking for such a statement for a long time, as it seems only natural to us that the surrounding country should look upon Twin Falls as interested in its welfare as well as in its own. We are very pleased with the expression of the Commercial club, and feel certain that it will interest itself in our behalf. The officials of this state will pay more attention to what ought to be done for our relief.

AMSTERDAM, IDAHO.

MILLERISM AND THE BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT.

What does the future hold in store for America? Can it be that she is doomed to follow in the footsteps of Europe? These questions are nagging the minds of millions today, for the spirit of millerism seems to have come to us as it were from some unknown world, filling the unimagined regions of our minds and hearts and dictating our policies. This spirit is spreading neither age nor sex. It speaks to the old man tottering under the heavy burden of many winters, and they shout: "Prepare ye to slaughter!"
It hovers over the babe in its mother's arms and causes a lullaby to be sung in the name of "patriotism" and lar-dely supplies it with "tin-soldiers" and air-guns to play with. Then, before the little victim awakens his knee pants, this spirit gives him into the keeping of a scout master who administers the finishing touches to the first stages of military preparation.
Is this the anti-Christ that is working in our midst? Can you imagine Jesus as a scout master?

Liston! With apologies, I ask you to think of Jesus, whose every expression had the universal ring, gathering the little boys of his community around him and teaching them patriotism, and holding before them an ideal patriot after which they should take pattern the Knights of the Round Ta-office of men and principle for property instead of the sacrifice of property for men and principle and that boys, with baby voices, are lured into church basements, and there drilled in the rudiments of militarism, that they may be prepared to protect this mammoth commercialized god—

"American interests."

Without fear of INTELLIGENT criticism, I wish to say to those who are interested in the propaganda of Christ's gospel, that Christianity is compromised in its very essence.
Therefore, barnyard patriotism is a barrier which must be destroyed before your prayer for God's kingdom to come and His will be done on earth as it is in heaven can be answered.

Yours sincerely,

SAM GILLELAND.

Eastern Buyers Want Wool.

As usual buyers were awaiting any kind of sheep with considerable anticipation, Tuesday's sale of the Port-market.

Wednesday a few broader ewes with lamb were unloaded.
No sheep for today's market. Demand continues as formerly with nothing in the way of receipts.

The excellent demand should accelerate shipments. Nothing has sold over $2.25 but the reason is chiefly because there hasn't been any to try out the market.

the land is decreasing in fertility and resort must be had to com-the hazard of floods and drought. Have you friends in any part of ble-straitling, in gorgeous dress, before the king, with a dagger, red with blood, hanging by their sides, and with apologies, I ask you to think of Him telling these boys that they should so learn to discipline and control themselves that they will obey the orders of "all duly authorized authority" without any thought on their part concerning those orders, and then leading these same boys into the woods, with bills and then directing them in "war games" that they may be prepared to "serve their country in the hour of their need."

The above mentioned mental and physical drilling for boy scouts is deduced from the program of scoutmaster outlined in the "Hand Book for Boys" and the scout master PLEDGES himself to carry out this program.

The fact that many preachers, and Sunday school teachers are acting as scoutmasters, presents to my mind the questionable idea of Jesus as a scout master. Again I say it is with apologies I ask people to think of Him sacred in such work. This kind of teaching is the work of the anti-Christ.

The D. D. who teaches this is a Doctor of Divinity instead of a Doctor of Divinity. He is sowing seed that will germinate and grow into the tree of death instead of the tree of life. And is due to this tree of death will bring forth fruit. Past experience teaches us that its fruit is exceedingly bitter, nevertheless must be eaten when it ripens. The people of Europe are eating of this fruit now. They are eating it because they enjoy it.
The eating of this fruit is causing them innumerable pain, but they have to eat it, eat it, eat it. Even though they are full to the point of bursting they must eat it all, for there is no other way which compels one to eat it which he does.

I am not a prophet, but common sense tells me that if we, the citizens of the United States, whose government has even some "patriotic" administration, are based on commercialism with the dollar-mark as the symbol of its god, continue to sow the seeds of millerism and barnyard patriotism in the rich soil of here, we will, some day, reap a harvest of death that will make the present European conflict appear small in comparison with it.

One of the great tragedies of today is the fact that in our homes, our schools and our churches the minds of little children are fed on the psychological rot of material patriotism—patriotism for land and instead of men, patriotism that is nourished on the swill of greed instead of the milk of love, patriotism that calls for the sac-

FILER HAPPENINGS

(From The Filer Journal.)

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Connor of Twin Falls, were Filer visitors Monday. T. D. was from official business from the sheriff's office and Mrs. Connor to visit friends.

Lyman Stewart was designated as carrier on route 1 to take effect on the 2nd in order to devote all his time to the creamery business. His substitute, Glenn Showers, has also resigned.

Mrs. E. H. Martin of Cusick, Idaho, desires information about her son Orville. When she last heard from him he was near Filer, working in a ranch. His last letter was dated Dec. 1, 1914. He is 17 years old, 5-ft. 4 in. high. I have information concerning him at this office.

Complimentary to Mrs. Clouck of Twin Falls, and Mrs. Ingling of Pocatello, district president of the Women's club, the following ladies took luncheon with them at the drug store Wednesday noon: Mesdames Trull, Shearer, Fitzgerald, Childs and Turner.

On Monday evening Mrs. E. B. Ripley, entertained a number of the young friends of her daughter Dorothy. The little folks were taken to the Gen theatre to enjoy the beautiful film, "Seven Sisters," and later to the drug store, where ice cream and cake were served. They reported a most delightful evening.

The box social at Washington school was not very well attended, and there were no boxes for sale, but the net sum of $20.20 was netted from a cake which was given to the girl receiving the biggest number of votes. Bernice Deklotz proved to be the most popular girl, with Mary Musser a close second. The program given by the scholars was a credit to them and their teachers, and the track meet was enjoyed by all.

Filer is to be congratulated on the fact that she will soon have an up-to-date bakery. N. A. Jackson of Twin Falls, who recently sold the Hoyal bakery up there, has moved to Filer and fixed up the room formerly used by J. E. Hinkley as a restaurant. He has put in large plate windows and built one of the best ovens on the tract. Mr. Jackson thoroughly understands the bakery business and will give Filer the best service she has ever had.

On Tuesday Mrs. Beem entertained the ladies of the Birthday club with a turkey dinner. Covers were laid for twelve, consisting of the following ladies: Mesdames Showers, Colarholm, Loran, Young, Spencer, T. D. Smith, Schildman, Daqueno, Grandma Fisher, Telford, Shinn and Tanner. The guests found their place at the table by means of a souvenir "Washington" hatchets. The dinner was all that could be desired, and the afternoon was pleasantly passed in social converse.

The Filer Woman's club met yesterday afternoon at the club rooms. An average attendance was present and enjoyed the resources of the club. The singing of Pocatello, the district president, was present and gave a talk up on the line of improvements the club of the district have made. She complimented the Filer club very highly on the work they are doing. Mrs. H. Clouck of Twin Falls, was another guest of the day and gave a splendid talk upon the resources of Idaho which was enjoyed very much.

The club with a piano duet. Mrs. Margaret Showers gave two readings in a very pleasing manner and Mrs. Jones' solos were very good. The next meeting will be held March 17. The following program is to be given: Domestic Science Ray-Roll call, Favorite Dish reading, Mrs. Eriand; lecture and demonstration, Miss Roof; music—piano duet, Mesdames Tanner and Trull; hostesses, Mesdames Fisher, Fitzgerald and Fisher. The committee in charge of "baby work" wish to announce that a display will be given of baby clothes and a chart of foods for baby in the majority of the stores week after next. Also papers will be given at the next meeting about babies which will be very instructive.

SENATOR BURTON WANTS HIS NAME WITHDRAWN

LINCOLN, NEBR.—Former United States Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio, in a letter to Secretary of State Poole, received today, asks that his name be withdrawn as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination. His request will be granted. In his letter Mr. Burton says the position asking that his name be placed on the ballot to be voted on as a presidential preference: was filed without his knowledge and consent and he had no intention of entering the primary in Nebraska.

JAPAN'S RULER A WRESTLER

Featured in the Art, So Popular in His Empire, by the Son of a Poor Farmer.

The mikado of Japan, whose subjects have been doing so much to help the allies in the present war, is a thorough soldier, and has a wonderful knowledge of military tactics and strategy. When he was quite a boy, he was induced by his father, the late emperor, to take a keen interest in the principles of national defense. He was taught wrestling and was made to try his prowess with young men in the imperial palace.

On one occasion, he was present with his father at a big wrestling tournament and took part in many of the matches. He threw all of his opponents until he stepped into the ring of a young farmer's son, who was a very big and strong man. The future mikado would have a very rough time of it. However, he went manfully to work, but was heavily beaten, and had to confess that the farmer's son was a victor.

After the match, the late emperor sent for the umpire, and, pointing to the farmer's son—who was feeling rather uncomfortable at having beaten his future sovereign, he said: "I wish to speak with that young man."

When the lad appeared before him, the mikado remarked: "My son, henceforth you will become one of the companions of my own son, and will be brought up with him while he remains at school for later on, when he becomes emperor, he will need many a man like you."

The heir to the imperial throne of Japan and the common farmer's boy became the best of friends, and the present mikado possibly owes a great deal of his democratic spirit to that memorable wrestling bout.

JAPANESE AN ABLE ORATOR

Young Student Has Carried Off Two Prizes Within a Remarkably Short Time.

One of the most interesting features of the international students' reunion held at San Francisco, Cal., last August was the oratorical contest for a prize of $50, offered by Director General John Barrett of the Pan-American union, for the best oration on the subject of Pan-American relations.

The winner of the prize, Mr. Ren Hirao, is a senior in the economic department of Stanford university.

He was born in Higo prefecture, Japan, February 3, 1891. After finishing his secondary education in Japan, he came to the United States in 1907, and entered the San Jose high school at San Jose, Cal.

In 1912 he entered the College of the Pacific, and the following year transferred to Stanford university.

In May, 1915, Mr. Hirao won the first prize of $50 in an oratorical contest on Japanese-American relations, held under the auspices of the Japanese Association of American College Graduates. The winning of two prizes within a period of three months stamps the brilliant young Japanese as an orator and thinker of marked ability.

Soldier Dies by Schedule.

News of the death of the British trenches of Liou, John W. Barnett, graduate of the University of California and a leader in athletics, has been recalled here by John Stroud, graduate manager, and showed that the young officer was killed within a few days of the time limit he had put on his life.

In a recent letter Lieutenant Barnett said he had been promoted to be a range finder.

"The average life of a range finder is 30 days," his letter said. "I have been on the job 17 days. You will know soon whether or not I shall outlast the average."

Fighting within a few miles of where Lieutenant Barnett died are his two brothers, one of whom was his classmate at Berkeley. All are under twenty-five.—Berkeley (Cal.) Dispatch to New York World.

Texas Has Third Party Fly.

He was a Texas cattlemen from the Gulf coast, and he stood on the fire escape at the top of the stock yards exchange viewing the cattle pens, the packing houses and the Kaw, relates the Kansas City Star.

"In all my recollections," he said, "we never had such a terrible year for flies. Cattle are almost skinned alive by the third party fly." (Only he said "nasty.")

"Third party fly."

"Yesah—third party fly."

He explained that the "third party fly" was a fly a little smaller than a housefly, but with a terrible sting, and that it made its first appearance in Texas the same year the first "third party" did. Hence the name.

Names Is Names.

Cheobshatoumuck has scored two Harvard records which will fair to stand for generations. Is complete "Cheese" is the only pure-blooded Indian who can boast a Harvard degree, and he has the longest surname of the 7,987 living Harvard alumni.

Ash of Sam, a recent graduate, has a handle to his name, and consequently he is first choice for the shortest name.

Swiss yodlers would hail with delight a chance to harmonize to such names as Ho, Hu, Li, Lo and Ma, the names of Japanese graduates.

Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer are catalogued, as are South, West, North and Easton.—Cambridge Correspondent New York World.

THIS NEGRO HAS MANY WIVES

Large Delegation of Them Visited Malachi Jenkins in Prison at Thomasville, Ga.

Thomasville, Ga.—Malachi Jenkins is a Thomas county negro who confesses to having entered the matrimonial state just 22 times. Malachi's latest mate lives in Lowndes county and, being anxious to see her again and weary of the separation, he broke jail here and made his way to her home.

Suspecting him of having returned to his family, the police went on a still hunt for Jenkins. He is now in his old cell, where he probably will have to remain for some time longer.

Ten of Jenkins' wives attempted to visit him at the county jail in one day.

FIND GRAVE OF '76 SOLDIER

Man Who Served Five Years in Revolution Buried in Cemetery in Indiana.

Franklin, Ind.—In a secluded spot in the Glen Park cemetery, four miles east of Greenwood, lies the body of John Parr, who, as far as known, is the only revolutionary soldier buried in Johnson county. The white stone slab, almost covered with weeds and underbrush, was photographed by visitors at the cemetery, and the headstone revealed the following inscription:

JOHN PARR.
Aged 35 years 2 months and 23 days.
He served five years in the Army of the Revolution and was in the battle of Monmouth, Brandywine, etc.

Mr. Parr was a relative of the 'arrs of Johnson county and Newcastle, Ind.

Spray Keeps Off Enemies.

Many of the tropical species of a sluggish mollusk (conchidium), found on the rocks between tide marks, have the back studded with eyes, and are at the same time provided with a very efficient spraying apparatus which is used with effect to repel the attacks of that very remarkable creature, the walking daisy (porrothaphum).

With bulging eyes, this creature, for several hours daily, leaves its native element and hunts along the strand for insects and "beachcombs." If the latter see him coming they ward off his attack by means of the acid spray.

LOST RIVER CONTRACT FAVORS THE PROMOTERS

Governor Alexander Explains Reasons for Opposing Acceptance—Does Not Protect Settlers.

HOISE—"I believe in a contract that binds both parties without any equivocation, and none of these Carey Act contracts, in my opinion are as binding as they ought to be, as I think they give the company entirely too much of the foot of the deal. The all this and this one does about the same thing I could not reconcile myself to the terms of this contract, so I was compelled to vote 'no.'"

This is the explanation given by Governor Alexander for his negative vote on the contract with the Utah Construction company for the completion of the Big Lost River project, which has been dormant since the original promoters failed. In an interview given a Capital Times reporter, the governor discussed the contract length.

"My duty was to make a contract, as I viewed it. In the line of the Carey Act projects that have already been made some we have on hand now. The Utah Construction company has the state land board have been flitting with one another for many years. Mr. Watts, the president of the company, was in my office nearly a year ago and time and again since then we have discussed this question.

"At our first meeting we discussed a few cardinal principles:

"First: Two acre feet of water.

"Second: Fifteen annual payments with 6 per cent on deferred payments.

"Third: To allow old settlers and owners on the Lost River project to have the opportunity to make new contracts.

"Fourth: Not to bond the works for more than $500,000. The balance of the contract, the detailed part of it, was to be worked out.

"This contract has been before the land board probably over six months. Sometime near the end of last year, the contract submitted for consideration was rejected by unanimous vote of the board. The company again made overtures to the board and presented another contract through the attorney, Edwin Snow, of this city.

The contract was taken section by section, discussed and debated pro and con to the fullest.

"Then this contract does not set forth specifically what water fillings and what water rights the Big Lost River company has. It places too much power in the hands of the state engineer."

"On the same page of the contract it says: 'The plan of the project details for the construction of the dam, reservoirs, canals, headgates, weirs, etc., shall be submitted to the state engineer of the state of Idaho for his approval prior to the further construction of any of said works, with the right of appeal by the said second party from his decision to the state board of land commissioners, and the works when completed shall be in accordance with the specifications as finally determined upon.'

"That gives one party the right to appeal to the state land board, but allows the state engineer to decide independently of the state land board upon other matters without right of appeal by the settlers."

"It says: 'No compensation shall be paid to the land owner for any right-of-way herein provided for.' I have always contended in this contract that the land owner or settler should not pay for the land occupied by the main canal, nor should he be compelled to pay for water charges on lands so occupied or any maintenance fee. The maintenance fee is 50 cents per acre eternally and counts up considerably, besides the $40 per acre for the water right."

"On page 8 of the contract it says: 'All of the said appropriated water in which the second party may be entitled to the extent of two acre feet per acre, or a pro rata part thereof, for the lands of said shareholders during the irrigation season.' This is the crux of the whole contract in my opinion. If the Utah Construction company agreed to furnish two acre-feet of water per acre, and by the way, that is the second-highest duty water is put in the state of Idaho, then the company should deliver two acre-feet. If they do not deliver two acre-feet at any one season, then they should not be able to collect for two acre-feet, and if they delivered, as the contract says, a pro rata part, they should be able to collect only a pro rata part of what is due them for that year. This is my idea of looking at a contract, although all the irrigation settlers say that I am wrong, but at any rate, I cannot get my mind to consent to a man paying for two acre-feet of water whether he gets it or not. This is a new way of making a contract and as I would not make a contract of this kind for myself, I do not want to make it for the people of the state of Idaho."

"On the same page, chapter 4, it says: 'Said water to be measured at a point not farther distant than one-half mile from each quarter section.' I wanted to add to this, and being capable of being conveyed to the bottom of the river, the water in the tunnels or flumes would have to be bused by the company."

"The maintenance charges of 50 cents per acre appear to me to be too high."

"On page 16, at the bottom of the page, it says: 'If such initial payments are not made within 30 days after such notices are sent, then the contract, whether on Eran flat or Aro tract lands, or lands located elsewhere, upon which such initial payments are not so made within said period shall be deemed cancelled.' I do not think this is time enough for the poor entryman to dig up that amount of money as quick as all that."

"On page 18 occurs another objection which we probably debated as long as any: 'The state land board shall, upon the application of the second party, at once select one member of the Utah Construction company shall at once select one member; and the two so selected shall appoint a third member, or in the case of their inability to agree upon a third member, then the judge of the United States district court for the district of Idaho shall appoint as a third member some experienced irrigation engineer."

"This tripartite commission is to determine whether there is water sufficient to irrigate the Powell tract after the first and second units are completed. This is a new departure in Carey Act segregation. The engineer appointed by the Utah Construction company and the one appointed by the United States district court and a majority of the commission of three must agree upon their decision with the state land board on the water supply without a right of their own opinion and leaves the Carey Act settlers at the mercy of two disinterested parties to the controversy and whose deductions the entryman's failure on Carey Act projects in Idaho may be attributed."

"I insisted that the state land board should not delegate its rights to any commission but shall be the sole judge upon this question and before whom the entryman and company can be heard if any injustice should be done."

"I do not think politics played any part in this contract. It is simply the honest difference of opinion between men. I had a way of looking at a contract different from other. I voted against the adoption of this contract because the only member of the board who voted 'no.'"

"THE SONG OF THE WAGE SLAVE AT THE ISIN."

Ned Lane, a worker in a great paper mill and a man of unusual strength and nobility of character, loves Mildred, a poor girl, whose father is employed in the same mill. His love is not returned, however; for Mildred has already lost her heart to Frank Dawson, the leading young son of the mill owner, who owns the mill. Through the machinations of Frank's father the match is broken off, and Ned, in a spirit of generosity and because of his great love for her, offers to marry her to save her from ruin.

Soon after the marriage, Frank's father is killed in an accident. Ned becomes his own master and, knowing nothing of Mildred's marriage to Ned, returns to fulfill his duty by giving her his name. When Ned learns of this, realizing that Mildred can never love him and that Frank Dawson should be her lawful husband, he decides to disappear in order that she may be free to wed again.

The author and arranger of it so that he is believed to be dead.

After roughing it in various parts of the world, ceaselessly working and creating wealth for others, Ned finally becomes a leader of an association of mill hands. The organization is strongest in a large paper mill, controlled by the paper trust, the inviolable head of which is Frank Dawson, a fact which Ned does not know.

Labor difficulties become acute, chiefly engineered by Ned, who seeks to serve the cause of labor, to which he has devoted his life. After a series of intense situations, Frank, Mildred and Ned are brought face to face. Mildred is driven to desperation and others to despair. Finally to save Mildred's life, Ned sacrifices his own.

This wonderful five-act play is to be shown at the late theatre Wednesday and Thursday evenings. An E-LKO comedy picture is included in the program.
