

TWICE-A-WEEK THE TWIN FALLS TRIBUNE

VOL. XI. NO. 58. ELEVENTH YEAR. TWIN FALLS, TWIN FALLS COUNTY, IDAHO, THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1916. SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

ALL MEASURES ARE ENDORSED BY CLUB

Referendum Held On Questions From Chamber of Commerce.

PRICE MAINTENANCE, PREPAREDNESS AND EDUCATION FAVORED.

Dues For Tradesmen, Professional Men and Men on Salaries Cut—Celebration Endorsed.

The Twin Falls Commercial club at its meeting Tuesday night, voted in favor of legislation for the maintenance of resale prices, in favor of federal aid for vocational training in schools and for all the pro-education propositions recommended by the National Chamber of Commerce in the referendum submitted, endorsed the May day school festival and parade, recommended to the board of directors vigorous action in the preparation of a program for the Fourth of July celebration and cut in two the annual dues for members belonging to the professional classes and the trades. All motions were carried unanimously.

The amendment to the by-laws consisted of a provision inserted in section 8, after the clause declaring that the dues shall be $24.00 a year payable annually. The declaration that for professional men, tradesmen and those on salaries, the rate shall be $12 a year payable quarterly in advance.

On the referendum question of resale prices, President F. W. McComb of the Merchants Association, was present and reported that that organization had voted in favor of petitioning congress to recommend the pending Stephens bill for passage, but had decided that it would be better for the commercial club to take the lead in taking such action as it deemed proper with the referendum questions submitted to it.

The arguments pro and con were outlined by J. D. Whelan, who explained the position of the majority of the committee, the minority of the same and the two members who, while endorsing the majority report, filed special findings recommending conservative legislation. The majority was headed by Samuel Hart and William H. Eldridge, who suggested the possibility of the regulation taking the wrong course and interfering with the legitimate development of trade, but who considered that the evils of predatory price cutting, where done for the purpose of clearing out competitors and subsequently raising the prices of inferior goods to reimburse the sellers.

PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Sunday School Convention to Convene at Kimberly Sunday—Work to Be Planned for Evening Year.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. the Twin Falls Sunday School convention will meet at Kimberly. A second session will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. L. M. Ormsby of Boise, state secretary of the Sunday School association, will speak both afternoon and evening. Mrs. Ormsby has a particularly pleasing program of questions her address in connection with Sunday school work and her pleasing personality make her a most interesting talker.

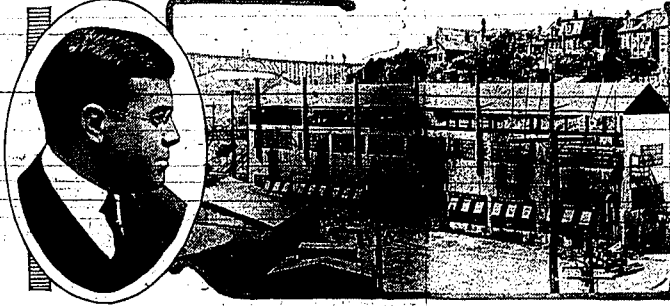

In addition to the addresses by Mrs. Ormsby, some of the best local talent has been selected to speak at these meetings and special music will be featured of the program. The election of officers will be held in the afternoon. A large number of people from the towns on the tract are planning to attend.

BY-LAW BREAKFAST TO BE SERVED IN NEW PARISH HOUSE

The last meeting of the Twentieth Century club was held Tuesday afternoon, the object of which was to organize the medical department for the coming year. A large number of local musicians were present, among them Mrs. D. E. Regan, chairman of the state musical convention. Mrs. Regan was unanimously chosen chairman of the department, with Mrs. A. Gilbert as leader. The club anticipates splendid results from this department during the next year.

The sale of tickets for the "annual potato breakfast" to be held April 25 in the new parish house, indicates an exceptionally large attendance. The hour for the breakfast is 7 o'clock p. m. The remainder of the evening event of the year will be the "Butterflies" to be presented May 8th under the auspices of the club. The plan is under the direction of Mr. Wilfred McKay Olsen.

GASOLINE USERS PIN FAITH TO RITTMAN PROCESS

Representative Randall of California proposes, in a bill before the house, that the government buy by condemnation all the oil-producing area of the country. He asks the secretary of the interior to report on the advisability of having the bureau of mines establish oil-pumping plants and make gasoline by the process discovered by Dr. Walter F. Rittman. The picture shows the plant in Pittsburgh, where Doctor Rittman's process for obtaining a greater yield of gasoline from crude oil was perfected. This experimental plant was erected at a cost of $250,000. Doctor Rittman, shown at the left, has resigned his position as chemical engineer of the bureau of mines to become head of the Pittsburgh corporation.

IMPORTANT ROAD MEETING CALLED

Commissioners and Engineers of Two States to Gather

JARBIDGE ROAD TO BE PLANNED ON MAY 17.

Governor Issues Call—Many Good Reports Coming in Daily From the Gold Camp.

A meeting of the commissioners of Twin Falls and Owyhee counties with the commissioners of Elko county, Nevada, and the state engineers of both states has been arranged by the governors of the respective commonwealth and will be held on May 17. The commissioners and engineers will meet at Three Creek on the morning of the day in question and will endeavor to come to some understanding relative to the construction of the Jarbridge road. The plan is to build a road that, making camp which will avoid all the bad grades, including Crispin hill, and will have nothing more than a grade of 2 per cent at any point as far as Hot Hole.

The progress of Jarbridge, as reported from day to day, indicates a steady and rapid development. Word was received yesterday by Commissioner Carlson that the Sundowner group, west of the Bluster and Success mines, has been opened. A party of capitalists, including Louis Simon, F. R. Short and W. N. Fairbanks, who are interested in the famous Long Hike, came Tuesday evening, and dinner in the city and then left for their homes in San Francisco. They made only general statements, but those were extremely optimistic and indicative of a determination to push development. One of them said that they wanted to "buy the whole hill." Letters are coming in daily to people in this city telling of the splendid activities and urging the completion of better roads from Twin Falls to Jarbridge.

Engineers say that this is entirely practicable and that when the new road is completed, as it will be this summer, if the interested counties can get together on its construction, it will be possible to have breakfast in Twin Falls and get to Jarbridge in time for the midday meal.

PRESBYTERIANS TO BUILD NEW CHURCH

Referendum Vote of Congregation is Favorable—Details of Plans Being Worked Out.

The referendum vote taken by the Presbyterian church on the question of building was practically unanimous in its affirmative and at the meeting last night it was decided to take immediate steps toward the carrying out of the wishes of the congregation. The details of the plans, including the site and location of the new structure have not been determined. A committee on building consisting of L. L. Brockmeyer, James McKillan and A. R. Osterander was appointed. The trustees of the church will constitute the finance committee. By a rising vote the action of the referendum was ratified by the congregation.

MAY FESTIVAL PLANNED FOR NEXT WEEK

Children of City Schools Will Participate in Second Annual Event—Excellent Program Arranged.

The second annual May festival to be given by the children of the Twin Falls public schools will be held in the city park Friday morning, May 27. If the weather will not permit holding the festival, it will be given the following week, or if the day is cold, rainy or windy, it is definitely settled that the festival will be postponed.

The exercises to be given in the city park will be participated in by approximately 1600 boys and girls. These exercises will be similar to those given last year. However, this year's program will be more spectacular than the last. There will be May-pole games and folk games, as well as a great variety of drills and plays.

Proceeds from the exercises in the park, there will be a parade through the city. This parade will include practically all of the 1900 children enrolled in the city schools, ranging from the first primary grades up to the senior class in the high school. The parade will form on Shoshone street, near the depot and will march down Shoshone street through the city to the park. The children participating in the festival exercises will wear their costumes in the parade. Each of the four classes in the high school will march in a body and will contribute something to make the parade interesting. The high school band will play.

The program will begin promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning. Mayor Sweeley has very kindly consented to close that section of Shoshone street between the high school and the city park. It will be necessary to rope off a good part of the park in order to have plenty of room.

POWERFUL LIFTING ENGINE ARRIVES FOR FACTORY

Will Raise Forty Tons to Height of Seventy-Five Feet—High Steel Soon to Go Up.

A lifting engine capable of hoisting 40 tons to a height of 75 feet arrived in this city Tuesday for the new building in which John Drew and Mand Construction company, which has arrived the sugar factory. The engine came all the way from Toledo, Ohio, and was in charge of Y. L. Hounds. It got off the track in Michigan and piled up traffic for several hours. There are now 130 men at work on the factory. The placing of the engine will begin in a few days. A vast quantity of brick is expected soon. The lifting engine is for the purpose of raising the heavy steel frames to the places where needed.

Superintendent Cowman went to Burley Tuesday with the sugar factory men to show him through the sugar factory there.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB TO PRESENT "THE BUTTERFLIES"

On Monday, May 8th, the Twentieth Century club, under the direction of Wilfred McKay Olsen, will present their annual club play, "The Butterflies," in which John Drew and Mand Adams starred for some time, is entitled. "The Butterflies." It is the biggest amateur undertaking ever attempted in this city and the club is putting forth every effort to make it a success, since the proceeds are to be used in the entertainment of the State Federation of Women's clubs, which meets here in the near future.

The ladies wish to avoid soliciting personal donations and feel that if proper support is given it will not be necessary.

NEW MUZZLE ORDER ISSUED BY BOARD

Many Halters Now in Use Are Held Insufficient

NO EXCUSE WILL HEREAFTER BE TAKEN FOR UNMUZZLED DOG.

Black Canine Seizes People Near Foundry Today—Thrilling Incident at Washington School.

The county board of health at a meeting this morning declaring that some of the muzzles or halters now in use are insufficient, passed a resolution that thereafter no muzzle shall be deemed sufficient unless it is either of wire of approved formation or of leather so formed as to strap around the dog's nose in position to absolutely prevent him from biting man or animal. It was also ordered that any dog exposed to hydrophobia, either by fighting with coyotes suspected of being mad, or by other means, should be killed, and making it a duty for any owner having such a dog to report the same. Cards will be printed warning people of these conditions. It was also decided that no person allowing a dog to go unmuzzled should hereafter have any fine remitted for any reason whatsoever.

While the board was still in session a telephone message was received by Dr. Parrott from his wife, saying that the people near the foundry on the Kimberly tract were up in arms as a result of the antics of a big black dog that was running from porch to porch frothing at the mouth and making peculiar noises. One of Police Taylor went out to kill him, but the dog escaped. Mayor Sweeley requests that every citizen act as a deputy and report all unmuzzled dogs to his office, telephone No. 91.

The invasion of the school grounds of the Washington district by a mad dog Friday afternoon, followed by the authoritative information that the dog that attacked the little Wilson girl in this city was mad, has tended to arouse popular interest and official gravity of the rabies situation, and radical steps are promised at once. The story of the Washington district mad dog was told to the children who were playing at the afternoon recess Friday a large mad dog, foaming at the mouth, came charging on the school grounds and made for the children, who ran as fast as they could. He started after a little boy, but before he reached him, the boy's mother, Gracie drew a gun and shot him dead. Deputy H. G. Jackson was in the city yesterday and received a letter from Deputy Thomas Urie, who reported the killing of a mad horse on Lost Creek this week. The animal in its frenzy had bitten the flesh from its own side and was in charge of Y. L. Hounds at the shoeless race. The letter went on to say that Cog Hill had killed three mad coyotes in his front yard within the last month.

Deputy Jackson said that his great trouble during the past week had been with dead animals, while the case of a dog named "Buck" had been a relief. He had been compelled to bury several which should have been disposed of by their owners, and would have to take steps to invoke the law to compel owners to bury dead animals.

STOCK JUDGING FOR AGRICULTURAL CLASS

The stock judging contest of the agricultural department of the high school this week was held at the school barn. Five classes of animals, from sheep to horses, were judged.

Fifty points each were allowed for reasons placed before the judges. The results were as follows: Robert Simpson, 270 points; Steve Pittman, 270; Robert Bidwell, 260; Thomas Irwin, 255; Waldemar Rude, 250; Paul Carlson, 245; Robert Bidwell, 240; Paul Carlson, 235; Leonard Shultz, 230; Stanley Hodges, 220; Dewey Snyder, 210.

The Women's Missionary society of the Twin Falls Presbyterian church will hold a social, Monday, May 3, morning, afternoon and evening. Mrs. Aldrich, president of the society, will entertain the social and will address the meetings.

OPTION ON HOT ROLE

It is understood that an option on the famous Hot Hole springs on the Jarbridge road has been taken by a company that will build a hotel and turn it into a summer resort.

MAJOR SWEELY CALLS ON ALL TOWN ENFORCE DOG MUZZLING ORDER

All persons in this city are considered responsible for the safety of the public for the purpose of notifying the authorities in regard to the enforcement of unmuzzled dogs. It is not only the health made today, according to an announcement of Mayor E. M. Sweeley. Anyone noting a dog unmuzzled as required by law is required to call up the office of the mayor over telephone No. 91, and an auto will be promptly dispatched to the animal. Mayor Sweeley says that it is only by the co-operation of all the people that the law can be enforced.

CITIZEN PERTURBED BY SUPPOSED BOOTLEGGERS

Several Hilarious Individuals Disturb Peace of Community—Another Case Recently.

S. H. Leucy tells of having had several experiences with bootleggers recently. Mr. Leucy was about to return late Tuesday night in his room on Second avenue North, when he was attracted by the boisterous conduct of some men on the nearby corner. He went to investigate. When he got on the street he saw three individuals carrying a ten-gallon keg, apparently full of something, down the street, and grabbing him by the arm, Mr. Leucy followed the men, who were quite noisy, until they arrived at a business establishment in town, behind which they were with the keg. One of the small men came back and engaged Mr. Leucy in conversation, asking him if he did not want a drink. Mr. Leucy replied that he wanted to warn them not to make so much noise as they were disturbing the people. The big man came up to Mr. Leucy and grabbing him by the arm, wanted to fight and denounced him in a loud tone of voice. The small man intervened, however, and Mr. Leucy went to his room. Mr. Leucy returned to his rooming place and telephoned to Police Officer Ham, who promised to come to his assistance.

The first incident happened about a month ago, when two men with two suit cases and a gunny bag appeared at Mr. Leucy's rooming place. One of the men stood guard while the other was drumming up custom. Mr. Leucy and another man followed them for some distance, when Mr. Leucy went and telephoned to the police. When the latter arrived the booze vendors had escaped. Mr. Leucy says that he is not sure whether the men were until that part of town is closed up.

BIRDMAN FEATURE OF THE CELEBRATION JULY 4

Hair Raising Act Which Illustrates Modern Warfare in the Clouds Expected.

Real war will be simulated on the Fourth of July in this city if the plans which Secretary McMillan has in contemplation are carried into effect. A hair raising act, which will be a plan by which he floats a mimic battleship several thousand feet above the earth and then sails high above it, in a monoplane, carrying bombs and runs the risk of not getting her parachute open before she gets all the way down. When the parachute opens, if it does, the birdman circles around her as she descends. The idea is to illustrate the perfection to which modern aircraft has been brought. If it does, the birdman circuit will entertain the people when worked out.

FRAUD IMPOSSIBLE SAY THE DEFENDANTS

Motion to Dismiss Water Case Is Filed Yesterday

DEFENDANTS ASSERT THAT MAN-SEN HAD NO CASE.

Claim That Complaint Shows He Relied on State Findings in Purchasing Land and Water.

Holding that no misrepresentation could have been made by them to the state in purchasing the land, the defendants in the case of the Twin Falls-Salmon River Land and Water company, the Twin Falls Investment company, I. B. Perrine, R. M. McCollum and George F. Sprague, defendants in the damage case of I. C. Hansen against the Twin Falls-Salmon River Land and Water company, last evening, filed a motion asking that the case be dismissed and that they be granted their costs and expenditures.

The above named defendants also filed denials on the ground that the statements set forth in the complaint of the plaintiff did not constitute a cause of action, that they were indefinite and that the parties were improperly joined. In the pleadings for the motion for dismissal it is stated that the pleadings of the plaintiff in this action, to-wit: the complaint, shows on its face that the defendant is entitled to judgment of dismissal and his costs and disbursements.

"(A) Because the complaint sets up the contract between the Twin Falls-Salmon River Land and Water company and the plaintiff, and the last named and the state and shows upon its face that the plaintiff contracted for water and land under said contracts and under the laws of the state of Idaho and the United States with reference to the segregation of land under the Carey act, and with reference to the carrying out of the provisions of the grant of lands from the United States to the state of Idaho, under the Carey act, and act of the legislature, and the carrying out of the said Carey act making provision of said lands, all of which show that the plaintiff was acting upon the reports and facts of the officers of the state of Idaho in purchasing said water and not upon the representations of said defendant, and any other of the defendants in said action."

"(B) That the law of the state of Idaho, which became a part of said complaint provides that before any contract for the segregation of the same shall be made by the state and lands, as required by the Carey act, to be reclaimed can be sold to the settler, that the state engineer and other officers of the state shall make certain investigations in regard to the sufficiency of the water supply and all facts with reference thereto. That such investigation was made with regard to the land being reclaimed, and that the title was good, and that the title was good, and such finding was absolute and conclusive upon the plaintiff and no representations made by the defendants can be fraudulent under the statements set forth in said complaint."

TWIN FALLS TEAM READY FOR SEASON

A. E. Kelly Hired Manager—Several Outside Teams Agree to Join the New League.

Twin Falls is now ready to begin its baseball season and expects to go forth to conquer. A. E. Kelly, who has been hired as manager, expects to have the team ready to start in the new league. Several outside teams have agreed to join the new league, and the team is expected to be one of the best in the league.

BULL DAIRY CATTLE TO NORTHERN IDAHO

A. F. Tage of Salmon City Sends Out Fifty-two Head of Jersey and Holstein Cows.

A. F. Tage of Salmon City, Idaho, has begun shipping dairy cattle from the bull country to the neighborhood of Salmon City, the first shipment of 52 head of choice Jersey and Holstein cows being sent last Friday.

Mr. Tage, who is considered an expert cowman, says that they are the best he has been able to find. The success of the dairymen in the bull country has attracted widespread attention from other parts of Idaho, and during the coming year there will be many new dairy herds founded, and the Salmon City country is already taking active steps in that direction.

The bull herds, first founded during the last seven years, have for foundation stock some of the best blooded lines in the country, and the dairymen have spent much time and money in developing their stock. Nineteen head of the shipment were from the herd of C. H. Kreigh, who were in the Pioneer Cow Testing association, and brought Mr. Kreigh $1500 in cash. The entire shipment of 52 cows and two calves bringing to the farmers who sold them $4500 in cash.

CLARK NEWS.

Times' Special Correspondence.

Edward Walshaw, the little 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Walshaw of this place, was host to a number of small friends last Friday evening from 5 to 8, on the occasion of his birthday. The little folks enjoyed many little games until they were called upon to partake of a generous dinner, a special feature of which was the birthday cake, surrounded by eight tiny candies. Those present were: Ruth Lusterford, Howard, Margaret and Robert Cavender, Isabelle and Frankie Clark and Charley Valentin.

Dr. F. Clark and Hattie Brown are convalescing rapidly after their recent illness.

Mrs. H. E. Nease of Kimberly, was the victim of a runaway last week. While returning to her home from Twin Falls, her horse became frightened and bolted, upsetting the wagon and throwing its driver out and down the grade. When found she was unconscious and was hurried to Twin Falls to a physician, who discovered that her back and hips were badly injured. At present she is getting along nicely.

Mr. Stearns and family have as guests their brother from Pocatello.

Here are Suits at $19.75

Possessing an Unusual Amount of Style and Value

This is going to be a rather unusual season—several reasons will make it so. The manufacturers are making serious complaint that they cannot get cloths to make up the garments and the scarcity of dyes has increased the cost of fabrics as well, making it difficult to secure fabrics of certain colors. In view of these conditions—these suits at $19.75 ought to be very interesting to any woman who has set a price of $19.75 to $30.00 for her spring suit.

One model made of blue tulle silk, has the new belted coat semi-fitted, correct length, edged with blue serge; the skirt is made along the new lines—hangs gracefully.

Other suits at $19.75 are made of serge, gabardine, shepherd checks—in fact, checks of various sizes—and every one of them in a striking, stunning style.

Other suits at $15.00 to $39.75.

A Dressy Silk Dress at $15.00

Quite a number of women feel they would like to have at least one of their spring dresses made in a style that will be dressy as well as adaptable for use for street wear. So these dresses, made of chiffon tulle, trimmed with effective organdies, georgettes, etc., make the best styles of the season and will surely appeal to you. Other dresses of silks and other fabrics, $15.00 to $39.50.

For Cool Evenings—A Spring Coat

—This is the time of the year when one must be prepared for sudden changes in weather, so a light-weight coat is really necessary. When you can buy a spring coat of the kind we're selling for $12.50, and which is made along the new lines for this season, of a material that will give excellent service, we believe you ought to see these coats real early and make selection while so good a value can be had.

The New Spring Draperies in Profusion

Our new COLONIAL DRAPERIES are here, showing the latest in Cretonnes and Chintz. These old Colonial effects are as pretty today as in the days of Washington and lend a homelike air of comfort and a touch of artistic beauty to the home. In the latest patterns, priced 15c, 25c, 35c up to 75c per yd.

Fillet Curtain Nets, the Big Item

Never were they so popular and never at the prices now shown. These are the best wearing nets made and the best washing nets known and we have them in the late small patterns and they are so very pretty with the cretonne side drapes. Priced at 35c yd. to $1.25.

Other nets at 19c yd. and up.

Serims and Etamines are shown very reasonable. The very last things in house furnishings are here, bought before the raise and not raised by us.

COMMUNICATION LINE SHORTENED

American Force Surrounded by 20,000 Mexicans

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS ARE STILL CONCENTRATING.

Interest Centers on Situation in Northern Mexico, Where Clash May Occur at Any Time.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—Receipt of news that more Mexican troops are being concentrated in northern Mexico, increased the interest at Gen. Funston's headquarters in the coming conference between Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff and Gen. Alvaro Obregon, minister of war for the de facto government of Mexico. It was realized that Gen. Obregon, as minister of war, has so disposed his forces that, by the time he meets Gen. Scott in a diplomatic engagement, he will have behind him within easy reach no fewer than 40,000 men.

Gen. Scott probably will remain here until he knows that Gen. Obregon is nearing the meeting place at the border, which, it is believed, will not be before the end of the week.

The concentration of Gen. Pershing's men has continued, and today the punitive force are back in the United States, a much shortened line, with the main points of concentration at Casas Grandes and Nampiqua. Scouts reported movements of the de facto government troops continuing. Official information placed the number of those in and about Torreon at about 20,000. Military estimates of those in Sonora that could be used against the Americans are approximately 15,000, while another 5,000 are in the state of Chihuahua.

Failure by Gen. Obregon to convince Gen. Scott of the soundness of his diplomatic arguments could be followed, any men here asserted, by a very practical use of this combined force. It was indicated Gen. Scott and Funston would remain here two or three days, in order not to arrive at the border too much in advance of Gen. Obregon. They expect instructions tomorrow.

Gen. Funston's participation in the border negotiations was ordered by the war department and is in line with the wishes of the chief of staff, who believes that the purpose of the conference will be better served if he has with him one who is more intimately acquainted with the details of the situation.

ROOSEVELT SECOND IN IOWA.

DES MOINES, Iowa.—Col. Roosevelt, whose name was not on the ticket, ran second in the caucus in the Iowa presidential preference primary, according to incomplete figures disclosed by the state executive council canvass. Hughes ran third.

GERMAN FLEET RAIDS COAST OF ENGLAND

Two Men, Woman and a Child Killed in Raid on Lowestoft, England.

LONDON.—German battle cruisers appeared at Lowestoft, Tuesday. Announcement of the appearance of the German warships was made in an official statement. Local naval forces engaged the raiders and also British light cruisers. The German warships retreated in 20 minutes.

The German warships opened fire on the coast before departing. Two men, one woman and a child were killed. The material damage appearing on the coast, appeared off Lowestoft. The local naval forces engaged it and in about 20 minutes it returned to Germany, chased by our light cruisers and destroyers.

"On shore two men, one woman and a child were killed. The material damage seems to have been significant, so far as is known at present. Two British light cruisers and a destroyer were hit, but none was sunk."

The following official announcement was made: "About 4:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the German battle cruiser squadron, accompanied by light cruisers and destroyers, appeared off Lowestoft. The local naval forces engaged it and in about 20 minutes it returned to Germany, chased by our light cruisers and destroyers."

WOMAN DROWNED WHEN TEAM BACKS OFF CANAL BANK

BOISE, Ida.—Mrs. Jenn Aldecoa was drowned in the New York canal near the city limits on Monday night when the horses, which she and her off-bank driver, drove to the Archibald Cleveland ranch was backed off the bridge on the Mountathome road by the horses, which took flight at an automobile. Aldecoa got into an exhausted condition and could scarcely tell what happened. Wires are being strung across the canal to catch the body of Mrs. Aldecoa. One of the horses was drowned. The other scrambled ashore.

According to the statement of Aldecoa, an automobile approached as he was driving across the bridge. The horses took fright and backed up, striking the wagon and forcing it off the bridge. What became of the automobile he did not know.

COL. ROOSEVELT WONT SUPPORT ELLHU ROOT

OSTERV BAY, N. Y.—Reports that Col. Theodore Roosevelt might support ex-Senator Ellhu Root if Mr. Root obtained the Republican nomination for president were declared without foundation in a statement made today by Judge Albert D. Norton of the Missouri court of appeals, after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

"I know that Col. Roosevelt will not support Senator Root for the Republican ticket," was his statement. "I know that no such support has been promised by Col. Roosevelt, either directly or indirectly."

"If Mr. Root is nominated it will simply mean a straight out third party fight right down the line, just as in 1912."

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

And they know that nothing else ever enters the "Bull" Durham factory.

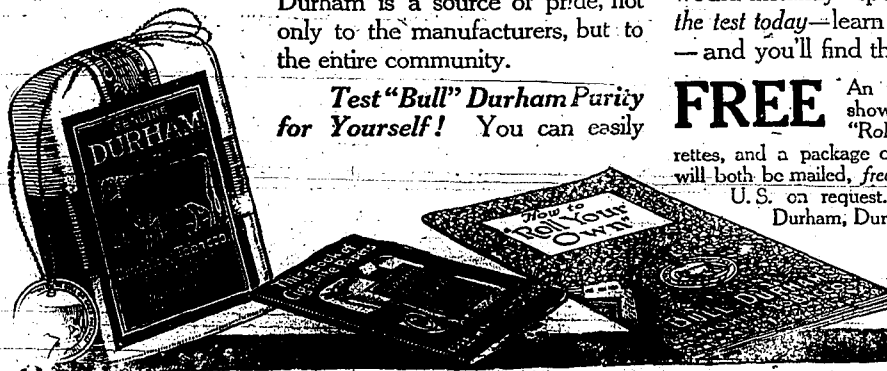

These men who live with tobacco, know that for three generations the same farms in the same counties have been producing their best for "Bull" Durham. They know that the quality of "Bull" Durham has made the city of Durham famous—and the honor of "Bull" Durham is a source of pride, not only to the manufacturers, but to the entire community.

Test "Bull" Durham Purity for Yourself! You can easily prove to your entire satisfaction the absolute purity of this famous old tobacco.

Simply take a bag of "Bull" Durham and empty the tobacco on a piece of white paper. Then separate the grains with your finger and examine them closely. You will find only tiny flakes of pure tobacco—nothing else looks like the golden Carolina-Virginia leaf used in "Bull" Durham. Your eye would instantly "spot" anything of a different nature. Make the test today—learn to "roll your own" with "Bull" Durham—and you'll find the greatest smoke-enjoyment of your life.

COMMUNICATION LINE SHORTENED

American Force Surrounded by 20,000 Mexicans

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS ARE STILL CONCENTRATING.

Interest Centers On Situation In Northern Mexico, Where Clash May Occur at Any Time.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—Receipt of news that more Mexican troops are being concentrated in northern Mexico increased the interest at Gen. Funston's headquarters in the coming conference between Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff and Gen. Alvaro Obregón, minister of war for the Mexican government of Mexico. It was realized that Gen. Obregón, an minister of war, has so disposed his forces that, by the time he meets Gen. Scott in a diplomatic engagement, he will have behind him within easy reach no fewer than 40,000 men.

Gen. Scott probably will remain here until he knows that Gen. Obregón is nearing the meeting place at the border, which, it is believed, will not be before the end of the month. The concentration of Gen. Pershing's army has continued and today the punitive forces are backed together in a much shortened line with the main points of concentration at Casas Grandes and Nampulqui. Scouts reported movements of de facto government troops continuing in advance of the formation placed the number of those in and about Torreon at about 20,000. Military estimates of those in Sonora that could be used against the Americans are approximately 15,000, while another 5,000 are in the state of Chihuahua.

Fallacy by Gen. Obregón to convince Gen. Scott of the soundness of his diplomatic arguments could be followed, army men here asserted, by a very practical use of this combined force. It was indicated Gen. Scott and Funston would remain here two or three days, in order not to arrive at the border too much in advance of Gen. Obregón. They expect instructions tomorrow.

Gen. Funston's participation in the border negotiations was ordered by the war department and is in line with the wishes of the chief of staff, who believes that the purpose of the conference will be better served if he has with him one who is more intimately acquainted with the details of the situation.

GERMAN FLEET RAIDS COAST OF ENGLAND

Two Men, Woman And a Child Killed In Raid On Lowestoft, England.

LONDON.—German battle cruisers appeared at Lowestoft, Tuesday. An announcement of the appearance of the German warships was made in an official statement. Local naval forces engaged the raiders and also British light cruisers. The German warships retreated in 20 minutes.

The German warships opened fire on the coast before departing. Two men, one woman and a child were killed. The material damage apparently was small. In the engagement two British light cruisers and a destroyer were hit, but none of them was sunk.

The following official announcement was made: "About 4:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the German battle cruiser squadron, accompanied by light cruisers and destroyers, appeared off Lowestoft. The local naval forces engaged it and in about 20 minutes it returned to Germany, chased by our light cruisers and destroyers."

On shore two men, one woman and a child were killed. The material damage seemed to have been significant, so far as is known at present. Two British light cruisers and a destroyer were hit, but none of them was sunk.

WOMAN DROWNED WHEN TEAM BACKS OFF CANYON BANK. BOISE, Idaho.—Mrs. Jean Alcega was drowned in the New York canal near the city limits on Monday night when the wagon in which she and her husband were driving to the Araceli Cleveland ranch was backed off the bridge on the Mountainhome road by the horses, which took fright at an automobile. Alcega got out before the exhausted condition and could scarcely tell what happened. Wires are being stretched across the canal to catch the body of Mrs. Alcega. One of the horses was drowned. The other scrambled ashore.

According to the statement of Alcega, the automobile approached as he was driving across the bridge. The horses took fright and backed up, cramping the wagon and forcing it off the bridge. Mrs. Alcega, who was alone in the automobile, fell into the water.

BULL DAIRY CATTLE TO NORTHERN IDAHO

A. F. Tague of Salmon City Sends Out Fifty-two Head of Jersey and Holstein Cows.

A. F. Tague of Salmon City, Idaho, has begun shipping dairy cattle from the Bull country to the neighborhood of Salmon City, the first shipment of 22 head of choice Jersey and Holstein cows being sent last Friday.

Mr. Tague, who is considered an expert cowman, says that they are the best he has been able to find. The success of the dairymen in the Bull country has attracted widespread attention from other parts of Idaho, and during the coming year there will be many new dairy herds founded, and the Salmon City country is already taking active steps in that direction. The Bull herds, all founded during the last seven years, have for foundation stock some of the best blooded lines in the country, and the dairymen have spent much time and money in developing their cows. Nineteen head of the shipment were from the herd of C. H. Kuehl, all were in the Pioneer Cow-Tending association—and through Mr. Kuehl, $1500 in cash, the entire shipment of 22 cows and two calves bringing to the farmers who sold them $5500 in cash.

Fred Johnson and family and Herbert Cavender and family, spent Sunday in Twin Falls picnicking.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson of Rose Lawn, entertained a number of friends at dinner Easter Sunday.

Mrs. H. E. Near of Kimberly, was the victim of a runaway last week. While returning to her home from Twin Falls, her horse became frightened and bolted, upsetting the buggy and throwing its driver out and down the grade. When found she was unconscious and was hurried to Twin Falls to a physician, who discovered that her back and hips were badly injured. At present she is getting along nicely.

Mr. Sterns and family have as guests their mother from Pocatello.

Here are Suits at $19.75 Possessing an Unusual Amount of Style and Value

This is going to be a rather unusual season—several reasons will make it so. The manufacturers are making serious complaint that they cannot get cloth to make up the garments and the scarcity of dyes has increased the cost of fabrics as well, making it difficult to secure fabrics of certain colors. In view of these conditions—these suits at $19.75 ought to be very interesting to any woman who has set a price of $19.75 to $30.00 for her spring suit.

One model made of blue taffeta silk, has the new belted coat semi-fitted, correct length, edged with blue serge; the skirt is made along the new lines—hangs gracefully.

Other suits at $19.75 are made of serge, gabardines, shepherd checks—in fact, checks of various sizes—and every one of them in a striking, stunning style.

Other suits at $15.00 to $39.75.

A Dressy Silk Dress at $15.00

Quite a number of women feel they would like to have at least one of their spring dresses made in a style that will be dressy as well as adaptable for use for street wear. So they dress, made of chiffon taffeta, trimmed with five organdies, georgettes, etc., make the best styles of the season and will surely appeal to you. Other dresses of silks and other fabrics, $15.00 to $39.80.

For Cool Evenings—A Spring Coat

This is the time of the year when one must be prepared for sudden changes in weather, so a light weight coat is really necessary. When you can buy a spring coat of the kind we're selling for $12.50, and which is made along the new lines for this season, of material that will give excellent service, we believe you ought to see these coats early and make selection while so good a value can be had.

Dainty Undermuslins Underpriced

And when we say underpriced we mean every word of it. GOWNS, SKIRTS, CORSET COVERS, CHEMISES, and children's garments. We think we never saw such pretty and such good garments, so reasonable in price. Just the pretty, dainty, good kind you are looking for, with lace and embroidery trimmings. Gowns from 50c to French hand embroidered, at $1.50 to $2.50. Envelope chemise, $1.25 in fine cambric to silk crepe and silk jersey at $2.50 to $5.00. Corset covers at 45c and up. A truly wonderful display at remarkable prices.

The New Spring Draperies in Profusion

Our new COLONIAL DRAPERIES are here, showing the latest in Cretonnes and Chintz. These old Colonial effects are as pretty today as in the days of Washington and lend a homelike air of comfort and a touch of artistic beauty to the home. In the latest patterns, priced 15c, 25c, 35c up to 75c per yd.

Fillet Curtain Nets, the Big Item

Never were they so popular and never at the prices now shown. These are the best wearing nets made and the best washing nets known and we have them in the late small patterns and in every variety with the cretonne side drapes. Priced at 35c yd. to $1.25.

Other nets at 15c yd. and up. Serims and Blinds are shown very reasonable. The very last things in house furnishings are here, bought before the raise and not raised by us.

A CRIME.

The man who died Tuesday of last week in a local hospital, having been brought in the same day from his farm on the Salmon tract broken in health, discouraged, despondent and impoverished, died as the result of the failure of the state board of land commissioners to perform its obvious duty towards the particular irrigation project on which this man, lured by worthless promises of the state of Idaho, deceived by the assurance of state officials, attempted to reclaim a small piece of the sage brush desert and to convert it into a farm as prosperous as any of those on the wonderful Twin Falls tract, only two miles north of the scene of this latest tragedy.

This failure to perform a duty, which in at least this instance has resulted in the death of a man, cannot be explained away as an oversight; for in a hundred different ways, has the seriousness of the matter been brought home to the members of the state land board. The members of this board, themselves, and with their own eyes, only a few months ago, assured the settlers on the Salmon river project that they realized how critical their position was; and they promised that something would be done. Neither this failure to perform a duty be attributed to the difficulties of the situation itself, as the members of the board would have the people believe.

It is because the land board has willfully and deliberately refrained from taking such action as would force a speedy adjustment of the distressing problems of the Salmon project, that, in at least one instance, a man has perished.

Because we know this to be the case; because the land board has repeatedly refused to do the only thing that will effect an adjustment of the Salmon situation, we call the death of this settler what it is—A CRIME. The parties responsible for this crime are the members of the state board of land commissioners.

They knew how critical the situation was. They had been warned, and have no doubt fully appreciated right along, what the outcome would be. They persist in doing nothing. They are entitled to full credit for the awful results.

Let us examine the situation just briefly:

The state board of land commissioners contracted with a promotion company for the reclamation of the lands embraced in the Salmon river segregation. This land board sold lands, and permitted the sale of water rights (which it had authority to supervise) in excess of the supply of water. The federal government early realized the mistake that had been made, and the Secretary of the Interior advised the Idaho land board nearly four years ago that the situation should be corrected immediately, while there was time to prevent the hardship and suffering that would inevitably follow if prompt attention was not given it. The Secretary's letter was pigeon-holed; so was the report of an engineer of the reclamation service, advising that there was water for only 32,000 acres (approximately 80,000 acres had been sold); so was the report of State Engineer Robinson, advising that the tract was confronted with a tremendous shortage; so was the report of the Irrigation Commission, appointed by the last legislature to investigate this and other projects, recommending that "the land board should pass an order requiring the Salmon river company to reduce the area in the segregation to the acreage which can be irrigated as determined by the foregoing computation, which the commission agrees should be in excess of 25,000 acres;" so were the findings of Judge Dietrich, the federal court, who has refused to let the company enforce any further collections from the settlers until the company can show that it is in shape to fulfill the contracts. All disregarded! and the do-nothing policy steadfastly maintained!

J. B. Beauregard came to the Salmon tract in its early days, like the majority of pioneers, with only a moderate supply of money. He built a little one-room shanty, in which he barely escaped dying five years later. He worked hard and succeeded in putting a portion of his farm in cultivation, only to lose the crop on account of conditions. This experience was repeated in successive years, until 1915, when there was a slight, but no less favorable variation. In 1915 he was able, on account of diminishing prices, to put only 20 acres in crop. Then, with practically no water in the reservoir, the water company refused to deliver to him even his scanty share, because he was unable to pay the 65c per acre maintenance charge. This was the last straw. In the meantime, on account of hard work and privation, his health steadily failed; he was unusually conscientious about meeting his obligations, and made it a rule to do without rather than to run in debt. The result was he often died without.

At last, without health, without money, but one hope remained: a hope that could not be realized. All Mr. Beauregard had left in the world was his farm, and if that could be disposed of, even at a sacrifice, it would provide him with the means necessary to go to California, rest and recuperate. For a year Mr. Beauregard had but one small chance for life: the hope that the land board might force an adjustment of the situation and establish some value, however slight, for the farm Mr. Beauregard had tried to develop.

We have already seen what the Land Board was doing in the meantime. Nothing!

Sickness, discouragement, no prospects for better days ahead, dread of poverty, fearful of becoming a burden on his neighbors, reluctant to become a county charge—what remained?

The situation of a majority of farmers on the Salmon tract today is the same as that of Mr. Beauregard, with but one striking exception. They have their health left, and while health remains hope lingers. Let declining health stalk into many of the homes on the Salmon tract today, and there would be many sad stories to relate instead of a few.

Here is what the irrigation commission, which investigated the situation carefully, said:

"Many received one-half bushel of clover seed per acre, while on similar soil on the South Side Twin Falls tract, there were yields of from 6 to 16 bushels per acre. Wheat yielded 10 to 12 bushels as compared with 50 to 75, and other crops in relative proportion. Pastures were entirely burnt up early in August and orchards suffering severely. With no water to raise crops, or crops to sell to pay obligations, we find them upon this tract without crops, without money, without credit, and property that would not be security to get any relief. Many of them are leaving to avoid destitution, and that condition is sure to follow if relief does not soon come."

At the hospital Mr. Beauregard whispered to those attending him his wish that he be permitted to die—a desire that God, in His infinite wisdom, saw fit to grant.

Last summer a member of the Irrigation Commission, a resident of this city, expressed the opinion publicly that the Land Board was CRIMINALLY NEGLIGENT in its lack of attention to the Salmon river project. This charge was intended to apply to the Land Boards, past and present, as a whole, and not to any particular member.

The Governor rushed in where the more discrete would have kept out, and undertook the defense of himself and associates.

Among other things a sharp letter was dispatched by the Govern-nor to the prosecuting attorney of Twin Falls county, defying him to prefer charges against the Land Board.

The question ended in a legal quibble—whether or not the Land Board was LEGALLY criminally negligent.

While the Governor remains satisfied as to the security of his position—THESE FACTS REMAIN:

NEGLIGENCE, and NEGLIGENCE ALONE, on the part of Idaho's State Land Boards, past and present, is responsible for the condition that exists on the Salmon tract today.

The resulting situation has been the cause of widespread poverty on the tract, discouragement, and finally in at least one instance, death.

THE GOVERNOR CAN CALL THIS SORT OF NEGLIGENCE WHAT HE CHOOSES.

THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTY WILL CALL IT WHAT IT IS.

MAKING THE NAVY EFFICIENT.

But one fact seems to have been established by the testimony before the congressional committee which is investigating naval conditions and that is that there are not enough men to man the ships now in commission.

Whether the navy is "fit as a fiddle," as two admirals testified in effect, or whether, as others seemed to imply, it would make mince-meat for Bud Fisher's imaginary Irish navy, all seemed to agree that more men were needed to fully man the ships. How many more nobody can tell, for the truth of the statement of Congressman Baile, the ranking Republican member of the naval committee, that the experts agree on nothing, is brought home by all the testimony.

The conditions of the navy, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department, testified that when the fleet went around the world during the administration of his distinguished cousin, it was short of men and the ships that did not go to be stripped of their crews in order to man those that did. He added that when the great array of ships was reviewed by President Taft in 1912, many of them had to be towed to their places in line because they had no crews. He added that conditions had since been improved but were not yet anything like satisfactory. A machine like a battleship is a fine thing, but it never sets itself going nor runs by itself. The combined fleets of the world without crews would be easy picking for a band of naked savages with canoes and armed with bows and arrows. While the talk has been going on for years about needing more men, why hasn't some statesman suggested that the way to get men both for the army and the navy would be to pay them enough to induce them to join?

We have long since passed the age of the press gang. Men nowadays do not go out in disguise with a bottle of doped whiskey to render likely youths unconscious and get them on shipboard. We still have a volunteer service and will have for some time to come. Suppose that we immediately want an increase of 200,000 for the army and navy. The only way to get them is to convince 200,000 qualified young men, the flower of the physical manhood of this nation, that it pays to join some branch of the service. It is true that a laboring man, one year with another, taking the year as a whole, will be enabled to save more in the army than working around. But while this is true of the average, there are so many exceptions that many, even of those who are not saving as much on the outside as they would inside, hesitate to join. Suppose that the pay were raised $10 a month. This for a full force of say 250,000 men would mean an increased appropriation of $2,500,000 a year. And that, after all, is a small amount. An increase of $10 a month would get the desired results. In case of war it would take very few lost battleships to make up that sum. Instead of calling for only more ships, why not call also for more men in the only effective manner? The navy probably is not in as bad condition as the more lugubrious of the predictions made by the most pessimistic of the naval officers would indicate. Naval officers are only men and the more ships that we have, the more chances there are, for promotion. Also they may unconsciously lean toward the armor trust in some instances. But whatever men are required to man the ships should be hired. More wages for men would serve quite as well to increase the efficiency of the navy as more appropriations for the builders of battleships, which cannot be manned after they are finished.

Another thing. Before the European war broke out, the naval appropriations of this country were greater than those of any other country save England. This was true under several administrations. If the navy is in as bad condition as some of the admirals would have it, what has become of the money? And what assurance have the people that future appropriations will not evaporate without any tangible evidence remaining of their having once been made?

THE TIMES believes in a substantial and efficient army and navy, but believes that the first step is to fill the regiments and the ships by offering satisfactory inducements to men to enlist.

HOG CONDITIONS GOOD

ON MINIDOKA PROJECT

Dr. W. A. Sullivan and Dr. L. C. Henderson of the bureau of animal industry, returned Tuesday from a visit to the 103 farms on the Minidoka project where cholera at one time existed and report that conditions are good. There is no cholera there and 95 per cent of the places visited had already disinfected the premises again as a precaution while the rest promised to do so. On their return Dr. Henderson was called to Gooding where a case of cholera was found in a herd, and promptly treated.

Baby Wants Her Picture Taken

Probably she has always worn the soft little baby caps, or the frilly little cloth brims, but now she is quite a big girl and she must have her first straw hat, daintily to be sure, but "a really and truly hat." It's such an event, too; we know just how much pleasure she takes in it for we photograph many little girls on such occasions.

SOCIETY NOTES

Society items for this column will be gladly received by the Times. Phone 125-W. The Society Editor.

Complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Holt of Caldwell, Mrs. L. L. Breckinridge entertained very informally last Friday afternoon. The ladies served and later tea was served.

A very important event of the near future will be the Junior Prom, given by the Junior class of the high school to the senior class. This event will take place May 4 in the high school.

The Alcega club, which has not met for some time, had a pleasant session at the home of Mrs. Brice on Wednesday last week. Mrs. Thompson read an entertaining paper on the "Baking of the Northwest" and Mr. Patterson one on "American Club Women." Mrs. Brice served a delicious luncheon, suggestive of the Easter colors, yellow and white, and the Easter symbols.

Master Charles Mull and Miss Flo Mull were the hosts at an enjoyable children's party given last Thursday afternoon. Thirty-seven boys and girls were confirmed. The usual Easter games were played and then the refreshments were served in the dining room. Two rabbits occupied the nest in the center of the table. Vases of apple blossoms were used here and there.

Master Bobby Nixon entertained a large party of his little friends Saturday afternoon. The occasion was his sixth birthday. An Easter egg hunt and various Easter games made the time pass enjoyably. About 5 o'clock the guests were served light refreshments in the dining room. In the center was a basket containing presents for each boy and girl. Easter eggs and spring flowers were also used to decorate the table. The table also was Master Bobby's birthday cake, bearing six candles. Twenty-seven children were present.

The engagement of Miss Thelma Senior to Earl Reek was announced at a sewing party given Sunday morning by Mrs. A. P. Senior at her suburban home. The guests spent the afternoon in sewing, after which a delicious two-course luncheon was served in the dining room. The table was centered with a basket of colored Easter eggs surrounded with sprays of apple blossoms. The place cards were decorated in the Easter symbols. The favors were tiny rabbits, each holding a card bearing the announcement. The wedding will take place in the summer. The guests were: Misses Spafford, Jenkins, Ruyter, Oden, Field, Sanger, Russell, McDaniel, Hanks, Martin, McDaniel, Lairel, White, Coughlin, Burton, Greenwell, Dulles, Morse, Shurt, Spafford, Wood, Baker and Reed.

The Theatres

1818 TO PRESENT "THE SPORTING DUCHES"

"The Sporting Dukes," with popular Russ Cochran in the title role, is unquestionably the most fascinating play of the season. The story is a picture which will be shown at the Isis theatre Friday and Saturday.

Briefly, the story is this: Lord Desborough, an English nobleman, both officers in an English regiment, are officers for the land of Muriel. Desborough wins, and marries her, thereby securing the identity of his unassuming rival. The regiment is ordered to India, and while here Desborough falls under the spell of an adventurous woman, Vivian Darvelle. She reports this flirtation to Muriel, and further complicates the affair by drawing into it, Rupert Lee, another officer, who has been rejected by Vivian Darvelle, and drowns his sorrow in drink. The scene of the play shifts from India to England and centers around the raco track where Desborough and Muriel are again rivals. Each enters a horse in the famous derby. Desborough's patron is "The Sporting Dukes," a woman of untold wealth, whose chief hobby is her racing stable, and who is attracted to Desborough through mutual confidence in the ability to win of Desborough's horse, "Giltedone."

Each is a different character. Mary Atmeyer, daughter of Desborough's stable trainer, to still further complicate matters. Mary has been betrayed by Muriel under promises of marriage. Mary discloses her condition to Muriel and Muriel tells Desborough. Desborough writes her a letter stating that he will provide for her future, but that she must leave his home. He also writes to Vivian Darvelle stating that their former relations must be forgotten and that she should no longer remain in his house.

A villainous interchange of these letters brought out by a clever tearing away of the name and replacing the paper, gives Muriel an opportunity to induce Muriel to come to his apartment secretly, where she is found by her husband, who then enters. Rupert Lee who becomes jealous of Vivian Darvelle's infatuation for Muriel, enters the scene, and through the letter mystery, and does unravel it, and makes atonement. "The Sporting Dukes" in the meantime is also playing detective and through her efforts the sinner is brought to justice and right is made to prevail.

LILLIAN GISH IN GREAT SCENES FROM EARLY AMERICAN DAYS

Historically correct is the story of "Daphne and the Pirate," the newest Triangle-Pixie Arts play which presents the favorite Griffith player, Lillian Gish, as its star, to be shown at the Orpheum theatre next Monday evening only. The happy end of the picture occurs on the soil of Louisiana back in the 17th century, when that territory was still a French colony and wives for the pioneers were recruited by the government and shipped across the sea to be sold to the highest bidder.

Francis Le Tour is game keeper in the Green Forest and Daphne is his obnoxious daughter. Phillip rides through the forest and meets the lovely girl with whose charms he is at once smitten. When she snubs him he has her kidnapped and taken to Paris, where she is kept prisoner in a resort where he is known. Later Phillip gets into a quarrel with the young prince and is forced to flee. He falls in with a pirate band and is carried aboard their ship. Almost at the same time the resort where Daphne is a prisoner is raided by the authorities and the girls placed on a ship to be sent to Louisiana.

The two vessels meet on the high seas. The pirates attack and for a time seem to be successful. Daphne, however, takes command of a gun which is of no use because of lack of men to handle it and with her aid the pirates are themselves made captives. The king's officer makes them walk the plank after promising Daphne anything in his power except her liberty. When Phillip appears, he demands his life as her reward. He thinks that her act is inspired by her infatuation for him, but she is not easily swayed. Finally she is offered to the highest bidder among the Louisiana colonists, but delays her sale by numerous attempts to escape.

Finally she is purchased by Jamie d'Arcy and taken to his cabin to await the arrival of the priest. Phillip, who has been barred from bidding for Daphne because of the fact that he is not a property owner, traces the pair and interrupts Jamie in his intended

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I--Sheridan's attempt to make a business man of his son Bibbs by starting him in the machine shop ends in Bibbs' adding to a machine shop a nervous work.

CHAPTER II--On his return Bibbs is met at the station by his sister Edith.

CHAPTER III--He finds himself an independent and successful business man in the "New House" of the Sheridan. He sees Mary Verne looking at him from a summer house next door.

CHAPTER IV--The Vernees, old town family and unimpaired, and Bibbs, the Sheridan, newly-rich, and afterward discuss them. Bibbs puts into words the parent's unspoken wish that also marry
one of the Sheridan boys.

CHAPTER V--At the Sheridan housewarming, Bibbs' attention is attracted by Mary Verne. Bibbs' mother, Mrs. Verne, is taking of him as a matrimonial possibility.

CHAPTER VI--Jim tells Mary Bibbs is not a "funtastic" but a "real" one. He proposes to Mary, who half accepts him.

CHAPTER VIII.

Through the open country Bibbs was borne flying between brown fields and sun-drenched groves of gray trees, to break the rushing, clean air beneath a glorious sky. Upon Bibbs' cheeks there was a hint of actual color, but undoubtedly his phantom. This apparition may have been partly the result of a lady's loving to him upon no more formal introduction than the circumstance of his having caught her looking into his window a month before.
It seemed to Bibbs that she must have meant to convey her forgiveness. Nor did he lack the impression that he had just seen her; her cell tumultuously blowing back her face glowing in the wind--and that look of gay friendliness tossed to him like a fresh rose in carnival.

By and by, upon a rising ground, the driver halted the car, then backed and tacked, and went forward again with the nose to the south--and the smoke.
They passed from the farm lands, and came, in the amber light of November late afternoon, to the farthest outskirts of the city. The sky had become only a dimly gleaming of the solid air; and a roar and clatter of metal beat defiantly on Bibbs' ears. Now the car passed two great blocks of long brick buildings, hideous in all ways possible to make them hideous. And big as those shops were, they were growing bigger, spreading over a third block, where two new structures were nearly completed to completion in some hasty cement process of a stability not over-reassuring. Bibbs lifted the eye clear about him, and not even the phantom of color was left upon his cheeks as he passed this place, for he knew it too well. Across the face of one of the buildings there was an enormous sign: "Sheridan Automobile Company, engine, 1st floor."

Thence they went through streets of wooden houses, all grimed, and adding their own grim from many a sooty chimney; slimy wooden houses of a thousand flimsy whinies in the factoring; built on narrow lots and ending one another corner. Along these streets there were skinned shade trees,
and here and there a forest elm or walnut had been left; but these were dying. Some people said it was this state; some said it was the smoke; and some were sure that against and "improving" the streets did it; but Bibbs was in too big a hurry, to bother much about trees.

Onward--the car bore Bibbs through the older parts of the town where the few solid old houses not already dismolded were in transition; some were being made into apartment buildings;
others had gone upstartiously into trade; one or two peeped humorously out from the tops of office buildings of one story in the front yards. Altogether, the town here was like a bonching-
house; the old ingredients were discomfible.

This was the fringe of Bibbs' own sanctuary, and now Bibbs reached the rouling holy of holies itself. Magnificent new buildings, already dingy,
loomed hundreds of feet above him;
newer ones, more magnificent, were rising behind them, rising higher; the streets were laid open to their extrusion and men worked underground between pallades, and overhead in metal colwebs like spiders in the sky. Trolley cars clanked and shrieked their way round swarming corners; and cars
of every kind and shape known to man tabbled frightful warnings and frantic

"Sit Down," said Sheridan.

demands: hospital ambulances clamored wildly for passage; steam whistles signaled the swinging of Titanic tentacle and claw; rivers rattled like machine guns; the ground shook to the thunder of gleaming trucks; and the conglomerate sound of it all was the sound of earthquake playing accompaniments for battle and sudden death.

And in the hurrying crowds, swirling and shifting through the brooding camp of iron and steel, one saw the mass of gleaming trucks and the women--there would be work today
and dancing tonight. For the Puritan's day voice is but the clacking of a leaf underfoot in the rush and roar of the coming of the new Egypt.

Bibbs, who on the way knew it must be "a minute" or his father would consider it an outrage; and the big, chronometer in Sheridan's office marked four precisely when Bibbs walked in. Coincidentally with his entrance five people who had been at work in the office, under Sheridan's direction, walked out. They departed upon no visible or audible suggestion, and with a promptness that seemed ominous to the newcomer. As the massive door clicked softly behind him, Bibbs stood alone, the last of the procession. Bibbs had a feeling that they all understood that he was a failure as a great man's son, a disappointment, the "quiver one" of the family, and that he had been summoned to listen to well-founded impressions, for that was exactly what they understood.

"Sit down," said Sheridan.

It is frequently an advantage for deans, schoolmasters and worried fathers to place delinquents in the sitting posture. Bibbs sat.

Sheridan, standing, gazed emphatically upon his son for a period of silence, then walked slowly to a window and stood looking out of it; his big hands, loosely hooked together by the thumbs, behind his back. The sawed, as were all other hands down town, except such as might be still damp from a basin.

"Well, Bibbs," he said at last, not altering his attitude, "do you know what I'm going to do with you?"

Bibbs, leaning back in his chair, fixed his eyes contemplatively upon the celling. "I heard you tell Jim," he began,
in his slow way. "You said you'd send him to the machine shop with me, if he didn't propose to Miss Verne. So I suppose that must be four plan for me, But--"

"But what?" said Sheridan, irritably,
as the son paused.

"Isn't there somebody you'd let me propose to?"

That brought his father sharply round to face him. "You beat the devil! Bibbs, what is the matter with you? Why can't you be like anybody else?"

big there must be in the world. That isn't the kind of a son you want. Bibbs Bibbs; it's the kind that borrows at-teen cents from his wife's uncle's brother-in-law to get ten cents' worth of plug tobacco and a nickel's worth of quinine."

He put the finishing touch to this etching with a snort and turned again to the window.

"Look out there!" he bade his son.
"Look out of that window! Look at the life and energy down there. Look at the big things young men are doing in this town! Go around about coming to the mahogany desk in the middle of the room. Look at what your own brothers are doing! Look at Roscoe. Yes, and look at Jim! I made Jim president of the Sheridan Realty company last year, and it's an example to any young man--or old man, either--the way he took about it.
Last July we found out we wanted a big place for the pump works--wanted ten acres. Roscoe said it couldn't be done--said it would take ten months at the soonest; couldn't do it any other way. What'd Jim do?
Took the contract himself; found a flow with a new cement and concrete process; kept men on the job night and day, and stayed on it night and day himself--and by George we began to use them warehouses next week! Four months and a half, and every last proof! I tell you Jim's one of these fellows that make miracles happen! I tell you, these young business men watch just do my heart good! They don't set around on the back fence--no, sir! They're puttin' their life-blood into it, I tell you, and that's why we're gettin' bigger every minute, and why they're gettin' bigger, and why it's all goin' to keep on gettin' bigger!"

He slapped the desk resolutely with his open palm, and then, observing that Bibbs remained in the same impassive attitude, with his eyes still fixed upon the ceiling in a complacent somewhat plaintive, Sheridan was impelled to groan: "Oh, Lord!" he said. "This is the way you always were. I don't believe you understand a darn word I been sayin'! You don't look up at all. By George! It's discouragin'!"

"I don't understand about gettin'-
about gettin' bigger," said Bibbs, bringing his gaze down to look at his father placidly. "I don't see just why--"

"What?" Sheridan leaned forward, resting his hands upon the desk and staring across it incredulously at his son.

"I don't understand--exactly--what you want it all bigger for?"

"Great God!" shouted Sheridan, and struck the desk a blow with his clenched fist. "A son of mine asks me that! You go out and ask the poorest tin-indebtor you can find--ask him
that question!"

"I did once," Bibbs interrupted.
"When I was in the machine shop, I--"

"What'd he say?"

"He said, 'Oh, hell!' answered Bibbs, mildly.

"Yes, I reckon he would!" Sheridan
swung away from the desk, reckon
he certainly would! And I got plenty
sympathy with him right now, myself!"

"It's the same answer, then?" Bibbs voice was serious, almost tremulous.

"Damnation!" Sheridan roared.
"Did you ever hear the word prosperity, prosperity? Did you ever hear the word ambition? Did you ever hear the word progress?"

He flung himself into a chair after the outburst, his big chest surging, his throat tumultuous with guttural incoherences. "Now then," he said, husk-ily, "I reckon he would!" Sheridan

swung away from the desk, reckon
he certainly would! And I got plenty
sympathy with him right now, myself!"

"Write what?"

"Nothing important--just poems and poems, perhaps. At--"

"I see," said his father, breathing quickly with the restraint he was putting upon himself. "That is, you want to write, but you don't want to write anything of any account."

"Of course I'm right! And if it isn't just like to take up to take up with the most out-of-date kind of writin', then, is it? Poems and essays? My Lord, Bibbs, that's women's work!"

Why, look at Edith! I expect that water mark for you, young man, and it's the only one she's ever managed to write in her whole life! And Edith's a smart girl; she's got more energy
her little finger than you ever give me
a chance to use in your whole body.

Bibbs. "I'm not sayin' a word against poetry. I wouldn't take ten thousand dollars right now for that poem of Edith's; and poetry's all right enough in its place. But you leave it to the girls. A man's got to do a man's work in this world."

He seated himself in a chair at his son's side and, leaning over, tapped Bibbs' confidentially on the knee.
"Write what you like, the greatest future
in America, and if your sons behave right
by me and by themselves they're goin'
to have a mighty fair share of it--a mighty fair share. I love this town. I love it like I do my own business, and I'll fight for it as long as I live and for my family. It's a beautiful town.
Look at our whole district; look at any district you want to; look at the park system we're puttin' through, and the boulevards and the public station. And ask yourself, God how she grows!"

He had become intensely grave; he spoke with solemnity. "Now, Bibbs, I can't take any of it--nor any gold or silver nor buildings nor bonds--away with me--my 'shround when I have to go. But I want to leave my money to my boys. I've worked for it; I've been a builder and a maker; and two blades of grass have grown where one grew before, whenever I laid my hand
on the ground and willed 'em to grow.
I've built big, and I want the buildin'
to go on. And when my last hour comes, I want to know that my boys are ready to take charge. Bibbs, when I'm up above I want to know that the big share I've made mine, here below,
is growin' bigger, and bigger in the charge of my boys."

it's all mental attitude. Well, you're

PREPARING MAY DAY PROGRAM

Great Parade and Other Features on Friday, May 5.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL HAVE FLOATS OF APPROPRIATE CHARACTER.

Believed That Foundation Is Being Laid For Annual Event of Magnitude.

That the May day festival in this city will become to Twin Falls in the course of time what the Rose festival is to Portland, Ore., is the hope expressed by the promoters of the annual parade for the Twin Falls
schools, which, weather permitting,
take place on Friday, May 5, this year.
The parade with other exercises, was held last year and proved such an unqualified success that it was decided to make it an annual affair. The day selected this year falls, strangely enough, on the great holiday of the Mexican nation, De Obrero de Mayo, the anniversary of the celebrated victory

of the Mexicans under Porfirio Diaz
over the French at the Puebla in 1852.
There will be a "march of the bands" consisting of the members of the several classes. The high school intends to have a number of floats in the procession. It is believed that in the future the merchants and people generally will co-operate in the celebration
which will become an event of state importance.

was a greater evil than could result from conservative legislation. An interesting addition to the present conditions was the fact that manufacturers have at present forced prices up on certain articles so high that there is no profit made by the retailer in their sale. This is the case where the prices of the articles are standardized by custom so that the purchaser demands a certain product at a certain price and will not trade at a place where he cannot get it under these conditions.
The meeting voted in favor of the recommendations of the committee that some steps be taken to correct the evil of predatory price cutting through the agency of the federal trade commission.

The next subject submitted was the question of federal aid for vocational education. This was strongly opposed by Superintendent Hal G. Blue of the Twin Falls schools, who pointed out that aid had successfully been given to home economics and agricultural development by the national government without any evidence of the danger of obstacles economic, political or commercial with the up-ponents of the proposal feared. He dwelt upon the fact that less than 40 per cent of the pupils of schools in the United States pass through the eighth grade and less than 14 per cent graduate from the high school and because of the lack of proper training these boys and girls go out into the world entirely unfitted to cope with modern conditions or to do their part in the industrial development of the country. "We cannot be commercially great unless we are industrially efficient," declared Professor Blue. He said that up to the present vocational training had not proven successful in this country, because of the fact that the German system had been transplanted bodily here, without making allowance for different conditions and environment. The problem of applying it to conditions in this country was being rapidly solved, however, and his opinion the legislation suggested should be enacted. The club voted affirmatively.

The last referendum was on preparedness. There were in questions submitted, including several having to do with them after organization of a general army and naval staff and the rest with the increase in service recommended by the national committee. The recommendations included universal compulsory military training; the creation of a navy on the Atlantic, second largest in the world and on the Pacific a naval staff commissioned enough to protect our coasts, trade lines and possessions; and the recommendation under governmental regulation of our industrial system so that it can be utilized to co-operate effectively in any possible foreign war.
Lieutenant C. H. Krengel, of Company D, I. N. G., made a speech on our present state of military unpreparedness, quoting extensively from the testimony of officers before investigating committees to show that our battle ships are too slow, our artillery inefficient and our army insufficient.
The club voted in the affirmative on all 10 propositions.

Superintendent Blue reported that a May day parade would be held Friday, May 5. This was heartily announced. The club then voted to proceed with the preparations for Fourth of July, thanked the speakers who had discussed the questions submitted on referendum and went home.

Early trading in hogs today started off rather slowly, buyers not being inclined to buy quickly on the 10-cent advance apparent at the opening of the day's market, says the Portland Live Stock Reporter of Monday.

After the market got fairly under-

rather a good clearance was made on the advance.

er feeling all around the market circle.

Taking the market on a whole there was a rather spotted feeling both today and at the close of last week.
While on such occasion there were sales made above the general market, Friday a sale was made at $2.30 and today as high as $2.15, yet the general market is quotable at $2.10.

Today's cattle market started off rather slow after a decided dull feeling this morning after a very uneven
market for the end of last week.

Some salesmen last week quoted top steers down to a twenty-five-cent lower level. There was, however, nothing to indicate that best steers would not sell at $2.00. The weakness was apparent, however, in the medium grades.
Cow stuff showed no change. Today's market was anything but a lively affair. The feeling looks to be only temporary and shows a much better
state than any other coast point.

Local receipts of steers were small for Monday. Quality of steers was very good in the main. Trade opened very slow and early sales would indicate rather a lower basis than last Monday. A bunch of heavies went early at $2.25, however, which would indicate a pretty good price basis for this class of stuff. No early sales before 10:30 went over the $2.75 spot.

Sheep trade was at the lowest minimum today with a crop that was so scanty that there was no basis to indicate any changes in prices.

Eastern markets have for several weeks been receiving "shorn" lambs.
Shearing, however, in this section is late this year and none of this class has been received at North Portland.

Power

DON'T overlook this matter of power. It is important. You want an automobile that will carry you through mud, sand and snow, and do it easily. You want a car that will climb hills, that will get away quickly without laboring and straining its every part.

Not all cars can do these things,
but you know that the Maxwell can
because you have the proof.

When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a few weeks ago, it encountered all sorts of unfavorable conditions—rain, mud and hills, over country and city roads—yet it covered 500 miles per day, day after day, for more than six weeks.

Power, plenty of power, unflinching power, is absolutely essential to such a wonderful performance as this.

Let us give you a booklet telling all the details of this record breaking Maxwell car. And let us take you for a ride anywhere. We have the very car you want and we will prove it to your satisfaction. Don't put it off. We have a few Maxwells now, but we may not be able to supply you later.

Dodge Performance

The DODGE performance on our DODGE HILL on Saturday, April 8th, seems to have left a very bad taste with some of our competitors. Do they want another hill pulling demonstration? If so, we are ready for the same at any time.

We wish to state here that the DODGE BROTHERS' car will outpull any other stock car from a standing start. We care not how many cylinders they may have or how much their car cost. To be able to pull a certain hill with seven passengers and stop and then start again without unloading, speaks more for the car than if it pulled it without stopping. The DODGE car can pull it either way.

Some of our competitors seem satisfied to be able to go down and look at our hill without pulling the same. Others again will not put their cars on this hill unless somebody agrees to buy their car right then and there. Of course they know their car best. The fact remains, many cars cannot get up this hill empty, to say nothing about a load of seven passengers.

REMEMBER we are ALWAYS willing to show what OUR CARS will do, whether you buy or not.
