

WESTERN PACIFIC SURE TO BUILD

Boston Financier In Charge of Reorganization

MAY COME TO TWIN FALLS VIA RAFT RIVER ROUTE.

Financiers Say They Propose to Make
Western Pacific One of the Best
Roads in West.

Statements attributed to E. W. Rollins, head of the financial house of E. H. Rollins & Co. of Boston, in an interview in Salt Lake, are interpreted to mean the construction of an Idaho feeder for the Western Pacific, either from Winnemucca to Boise or from Salt Lake to Boise.

E. H. Rollins & Co. have the reorganization of the Western Pacific under their supervision, and Mr. Rollins was on his way east after attending a meeting of the bondholders' committee and receivers of the road, held in San Francisco last Wednesday, when he was interviewed in Salt Lake.

The tenor of his interview indicates that the Western Pacific is now disposed to take another look over the route from Salt Lake to Boise, which it planned when the road was projected about 10 years ago. At that time the development along the proposed route was in the prediction stage. It is now a promise fulfilled, such a rider near the Nevada line Friday afternoon.

The accident occurred about an hour before noon on the head end of the train, which struck him. A short time afterwards a California car came along and picked him up as he was lying helpless on the road and carried him to a hospital.

He was brought to this city the following day on the train and placed in the hospital where he is recovering. He has a bad cut on the head and is badly bruised on the body, but was able to get up today yesterday.

The road has to be built from the Pacific from the California fields to the east to get the business, and while the operating department is in charge of the movement of trains, the financial interests behind the new organization intend to take charge of the operating and also see that trains are delivered to connections in Salt Lake half a day ahead of competitive roads, which will mean a day or two days ahead of these roads at delivery.

Managers From Repealing Fire
Limit Law.

The village board of Filer will be in town tomorrow in a case before Judge Babcock, wherein a number of property owners have enjoined them from repealing a fire limit ordinance, which action, if permitted, they assert would increase the risk on their property. The council of Filer started to repeal the ordinance in order to allow certain extensions of the Gem State Lumber company improvements and adjoining owners objected and took it to court.

MEXICAN CROWD THREATENS AMERICAN AEROPLANE

A curious and threatening crowd of Mexicans gathered about the aeroplane piloted by Lieutenant D'Argue of the United States aero squadron. The aircraft was attacked by the crowd on its arrival at Chihuahua, where this photograph was made. The Mexican in the foreground is a Carrancista lieutenant colonel, commander of the guard which was placed over the plane by order of General Gutierrez.

WORKMAN BADLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Driver Runs Over Thomas Cacer
Near Nevada Line and Injures Him Severely.

Thomas Cacer, who says that he is a North American citizen, is in the county hospital recovering from the results of being run over by a joy rider near the Nevada line Friday afternoon. Cacer, who is a laborer, was coming toward this city from Wells, Nevada, carrying a bundle of bedding, when suddenly an auto appeared in the dust behind him and before he could dodge, struck him and rendered him unconscious. When he recovered later there was no sign of the auto, which struck him. A short time afterwards a California car came along and picked him up as he was lying helpless on the road and carried him to a hospital.

He was brought to this city the following day on the train and placed in the hospital where he is recovering. He has a bad cut on the head and is badly bruised on the body, but was able to get up today yesterday.

FRUIT CROP THOUGHT TO BE TOTAL LOSS

Mercury Fell to Nine Below Freezing
Tuesday Night—Grass Crops Hurt.

The fruit crop of the entire Twin Falls tract seems to have been terribly injured if not totally destroyed by the killing frosts of Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The official government thermometer at the James A. Waters farm registered nine below zero Tuesday night and seven below last night, and the general belief is that this will destroy practically the entire crop of all kinds of fruit. A few who investigated said that from the condition of the blossoms this morning they thought it possible that 50 per cent or even 60 per cent had escaped among some kinds of hardy apples in orchards favorably located, but this idea is not generally held. E. A. W. of Buhl, who was in Twin Falls this morning, said that the opinion in the west end city was that the fruit crop there would be a total loss.

Grass crops are somewhat injured and the growth of everything retarded by the cold spell and heavy frosts.

THOMAS COPIED MUSIC FOR MAY DAY DANCE

Band Leader Does Splendid Work
Under Tremendous Difficulties In Preparing Program.

The thousands who listened to the delightful music furnished by the big high school band at the May day exercises last Friday, had no idea of the great pains which were necessarily taken by Bandmaster C. D. Thomas in getting the music and making the necessary preparations for the occasion. There was no music to be had for the folk tunes to which the children danced and Mr. Thomas was the spirit of the whole, as it was not only fitted and well arranged but was well played, and all concerned deserve great credit for the manner of their participation.

ALUMNI TO HAVE A GRAND REUNION

Nothing Formal, But Just Good
Mix-up—Program of Notables In Promised.

Responding to an appeal to be present at the mixer meeting next Friday members of the Twin Falls high school alumni from all parts of the tract are sending word that they will be present at the gathering, and will not wear their store clothes, or fall evening attire and it is anticipated that the festivities of royal receptions will not be observed, while it is hoped to make the reception a royal one.

Speakers of the program, the chairman of the committee on arrangements said:

"The committee on entertainment has secured a pair of palm trees, a most talented available for the evening amusement. A stellar attraction of the evening will be the Hawaiian troupe, who come from a part of the orient. The members of this troupe are all artists of real merit and have met with great favor in all the capitals of Asia and Africa. They were presented with swords, a mark of favor, by the military of Japan and the president of China conferred upon their leader, Emmerio Benaville, the cross of the Yellow Serpent, an honor rarely given to anyone but Chinamen. Miss Carson who for the past three years has traveled with the Rhythm bureau, has been secured to give the delightful interpretation of Lee Mihalovich. This sketch has been approved by the national board of censorship."

"New York's leading vaudeville and cabaret favorite, William Bushel, who made 'Swimming Down the Old Green River' so popular in the passing show of 1916, is one of the leading entertainers of the evening. Many other celebrities will be given a chance to make the time fly before the elder and younger sets. The evening will be a most enjoyable one, and the best thing about it is, it does not cost a cent. Of course, if anyone insists on getting two seats in the last row, they will not be stopped. This is going to be a mixer and not a financial meeting. All who come will be prepared for a good time."

FAMOUS WATER COLORS SHOWN IN TWIN FALLS

Works by Famous Artists On Display
At the Vincent Furniture Company Store.

One of the finest exhibits of water colors in America is being displayed this week at the Vincent Furniture company headquarters by E. J. Reider, a collector who has been in the business for the past quarter of a century. The display consists of the productions of the greatest masters of water painting, which, and includes scenes from foreign countries and of American beauty spots, painted by master hands. There are marine scenes, depicting faithfully the ocean and the sky, a picture of snow in a French village and the wild invader fields of the land of the Gaul, German and Dutch pastures and productions from England. Mr. Reider says that he is neutral and his paintings indicate that he is at least an amateur in the art of painting with foreign productions, but he is evidently a partisan of good paintings of all nationalities.

No effort is made to sell the visitors the paintings, which, however, are purchasable, the object being to get an idea of whether the artistic spirit prevails in the city, or not, and the knowledge obtained is taken into consideration in determining whether future visits of a commercial nature will be made. Everybody is invited, and any one who goes, whether critic or grade pupil, will be entertained and benefitted.

The collection will be on display all the week and may be seen at any time during the day.

WILCOX GARAGE AT BURLEY DESTROYED

Fire Starts From Match Thrown On
Floor. Spreads Rapidly—25
Cars Burned.

The Wilcox auto garage at Burley was destroyed by fire Saturday night, 25 autos burned. In addition to the building and its contents, the fire started about 11:30 o'clock p. m. as a result of the throwing of a match on the floor under a machine, where it caught in oil and gasoline on the floor. All efforts to extinguish the flames proved worthless. Some of the autos were insured. Mr. Sellman from this city, had a Ford car, which was insured, just outside the building, but it was uninjured.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN VOCATIONAL DISPLAY

Exhibit of Work of Different
Departments of High School Shown
Wednesday.

The annual vocational display of the high school, shown in the high school building yesterday afternoon and evening, and consisting of specimens of the work done by the cooking, sewing, horticulture, commercial, woodwork and mechanical drawing departments, as well as those of the Latin, English and social science departments, was by far the best exhibit of its kind ever held in this city. The display, which consisted of the work of the different departments, was largely attended and the baseball spirit of the kind over held in this city.

The work of the pupils was shown to advantage in the several rooms according to their departments. That of the sewing class and domestic science department was displayed in a beautiful room, which was beautifully arranged about the spacious room. Many of the pretty creations were made by the girls of the high school and were placed according to their classification. On the side were hung the tailored aprons, another were placed on the dainty lingerie, while many of the pretty dresses, hats and evening caps were displayed on wax figures. Numerous aprons were shown among the finer street and party dresses.

All of these showed considerable skill and painstaking work as well as the cooking, which was displayed in still another part of the room. The daintily prepared dishes were most invitingly exhibited on the long tables in the center of the room, where they might be purchased. Everything from the home-made bread to the daintiest dishes were for sale in this display.

Passing on into the agricultural display were the exhibits of farm products and a special feature of the display was the very interesting exhibit of beehive culture, where in a large square screen box were innumerable bees at their task of making honey. In still another room were exhibits on tree and plant culture and some very unique models were used to show the possibilities in the improvement of farms.

In the manual training department, in the east basement, excellent exhibits were displayed in the form of well finished tables, chairs, and many smaller articles, too numerous to mention. The wood working department is deserving of a special mention, as it was well represented. Next specimens of penmanship and stenography were in evidence in the commercial department at the west end of the building.

During the course of his remarks, which were given by the high school orchestra and an unusually large crowd of parents and patrons visited the exhibit at different times.

Jack Davis, Arrested For Assault on
A. N. Sprague of This City
With Pistol.

Jack Davis, a sheep herder of McMillan creek, entered a plea of not guilty before Justice of the Peace Smith to a charge of having committed a felonious assault on the person of A. N. Sprague of this city with a pistol, with the intent of inflicting great bodily harm on Mr. Sprague. His bond was fixed at $2,000 and his preliminary set for Friday. According to current report, Mr. Sprague, accompanied by his wife and R. C. Morse and wife, went to McMillan creek Sunday to spend the day, and during the course of his remarks, which were given by the high school orchestra and an unusually large crowd of parents and patrons visited the exhibit at different times.

It is said that several men in different parts of the county, who were out fishing have been abused and threatened, while the law gives them 10 feet on each side of a fishing stream. Mr. Sprague is much interested in stock raising and has been in the business for many years.

CLOSED BASEBALL BONDS.

TYLER CHRISTIN HEADS THE TEAM

Oakland Man Engaged by the Twin Falls Club

REGULAR SCHEDULE ARRANGED FOR BASEBALL SEASON.

Plenty of Interest Shown By People; Merchants Pledge $400 a Month.

Tyler Christin was elected manager for the Twin Falls team for the season at a meeting of a joint committee of the baseball club and Merchants' association held in the rooms of the commercial club yesterday afternoon and is now busily engaged in whipping the team into shape for the Kimberly game Sunday. The Kimberly boys are already hard at work and the opening of the contest promises to be a highly interesting one. Manager Christin says that he believes it will be for the home team.

The merchants have pledged $400 a month for two months, and salary of $670 will be paid to Mr. Christin for the entire season. The meeting of the association, Tuesday night, was largely attended and the baseball spirit it has been working under the surface for some time at last blazed out and everybody has now plenty of vim and enthusiasm. The committee appointed for the association consisted of Luke L. Wright, George Wiley and Bert Gledhill. The baseball committee consists of L. C. Faulkner, T. B. Hart and G. C. Roberts.

This is the first time that this city has been identified with a regular league, and the fact that a regular schedule has been worked out, which assures the playing of games at certain periods has done much to arouse interest in anything else. Heretofore, games have been spasmodic and people lost interest between times. All this has changed, and the large attendance is certain from the start. The following is the schedule of the Southern Idaho league for the season:

Report—At Burley, May 14 and Aug. 13; at Kimberly, July 3, Sept. 4 and Oct. 1; at Twin Falls, May 23 and July 16; at Jerome, June 4, Aug. 20 and Sept. 17; at Shoshone, June 18 and July 30.

PRESIDENT CALLS OUT MILITIA

Organization of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico Responding

MOBILE TROOPS RUSHED TO THE SOUTHERN FRONT.

8,000 Additional Men Will Be Used For Reinforcements. Close Patrol To Be Maintained.

WASHINGTON—National guardsmen of three states, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, were called out by President Wilson today to aid in protecting the border against Mexican raiders.

In addition practically all remaining mobile troops of the regular army were ordered to join the border forces. By these orders approximately 8,000 additional troops were placed under Maj. Gen. Funston's command. It is plain that the border guard must be materially increased.

Secretary Baker has not been advised whether a new expedition has been ordered in pursuit of the raiders, but orders have not been changed and Gen. Funston is free to follow any hot trail across the line.

Secretary Baker today issued the following statement regarding the use of the militia:

The outbreak in the Big Bend district of the Rio Grande has so far further emphasized the danger of similar occurrences along our long border that President Wilson has called out the militia of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas and directed them to report to Gen. Funston who will assign them to stations along the border for patrol duty.

In addition to the two additional regiments of regular infantry have been directed to proceed to the border and such further arrangements will be made as are necessary for the complete security of the people of the United States against raids of this character.

Secretary Baker said the militia of the three border states would make available about 4,000 men.

In addition three regiments of regular

WAR TALK ALONG THE RIO GRANDE

Gravity of Situation Is Admitted Steps Taken to Avoid Split

MEXICAN CONFERENCE ASK ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

Gen. Obregon Thinks Negotiations May Detain Him at Border Two or Three Days Longer.

EL PASO, Tex.—A critical stage apparently has developed in the conference between Gen. Obregon for Mexico and Gen. Scott and Funston for the United States, over troop co-operation in Mexico.

That the point has not been reached and, in fact, may not be reached, where the negotiations will end in a disagreement, was indicated early today from an authoritative source.

It was said that the Mexican conference has asked for another conference with the American representatives following yesterday's brief meeting in the private car of Gen. Scott and Funston.

From Juárez came the information that Gen. Obregon thought the negotiations might keep him here another two or three days.

While the gravity of the situation is admitted, it is thought that in the next meeting to be held steps to avoid a split will be taken.

War talk is prevalent along the border, but the more conservative pointed out that even if hostilities should ensue they would come after some delay. It was pointed out that if the conference ended without any agreement being signed it would be necessary for the conference to notify their respective governments that such action was being taken at a time when the Washington officials and Gen. Carranza necessarily would follow.

This opinion of course was predicated upon the supposition that the Mexicans should commit no overt act against the American expeditionary force. It is asserted that any such action, taken at a time when the tentative agreement drawn up by Gen. Scott and Obregon had not been signed, would result in a decision by the United States military men here expressed the belief that Gen. Obregon does not desire to precipitate a clash.

UNITED STATES CAVALRY KILLS 42 VILLISTAS

Large Force of Bandits Is Routed by Brilliant Cavalry Charge Without American Casualties.

COLUMBUS—A full squadron of 230 men of the Eleventh Cavalry surprised and routed a much larger force of Villistas at Ojo Arules, seventeen miles south of Cuernavaca, early Friday.

By actual count, forty-two Mexicans were killed and a number wounded; but there were no American casualties.

The American command, under Maj. Robert L. Howze, had been pursuing the Villistas under General Cruz Domínguez and Julio Acosta for several days when they encountered them Friday, encamped in the huddled adobe huts of Ojo Arules. The Mexicans were utterly surprised and sprang from their pallets half clothed. After firing a few wild shots they began a flight, each man shifting for his own safety. Some of them were able to seize their horses, already jaded from a hard day's ride previously, but others made their way into the hills afoot.

In Major Howze's report he said the rout had been absolute and that he was still pursuing the scattered remnants of the band. The band engaged in the largest remaining under the Villa standard and Friday's decisive victory gave much satisfaction to military men here.

While the dispatches do not state, military men on the border believe that the band the same as that defeated at Tenochtitlan April 23 by Col. George A. Dodd's command.

IDAHO STEERS BRING THE HIGHEST PRICES

Carload Crops the Portland Market—Hogs Go Up a Notch—Sheep Are Steady.

The highest price for an entire car of steers on the open market at North Portland was paid this morning for a carload of pulp-fed Harford's marketed by the Portland Feeder Co. from their Idaho feed lot, says the Portland Live Stock Reporter of Monday.

The carload of steers consisted of 22 head yearlings averaging 900 pounds at $21.50, or $33 per head. M. J. Gill & Co. were the buyers.

Hogs are lately coming in pretty fair number for this season of the year and there is nothing to indicate that the Portland territory will market a pretty fair supply all season. Hogs do not seem to be nearly as scarce as some hog prognosticators have predicted they would be. Those who are in a position to know say that the new pig crop is large and for the most part very healthy.

Receipts today were fairly large, totaling about $600 head, about one-third less than was in the yards last Monday. Buyers were not early inclined to raise their bids over last week's close and the first sales indicated a steady market.

Later bidding put hogs well over the opening and a high spot of $22.50 was reached, with another bump at $23.00. The bulk showed excellent strength.

Arrivals of sheep and lambs according to the market bulletins, were very light. Most of the offerings were from Oregon points.

OBITUARY OF GEORGE A. KING.

George A. King, who moved to southern Idaho late last fall and who took up a claim out in the Grassy Hill country, twenty miles west of the Salmon river, forty odd miles beyond Rogerson, became ill of a gripe in November and though seriously ill from the first, he hesitantly attended by his wife, but in early March he showed signs of complicated conditions that caused her and his wife to move into Rogerson so that he might have the immediate services of a physician. Dr. R. D. Joldersma. Despite the care he received thereby, he died on the 15th of March, having suffered with dropsy, and he lingered and suffered until Friday, May 6, when he passed away. The funeral service was held Saturday, May 6, at the residence in Rogerson, being conducted by Rev. John D. Keith of the Presbyterian church at 10:10 a. m., and the interment being made in the Rogerson cemetery. He came to this part of the country from the northwest portion of Washington. He leaves a wife and some children who reside in a distant part of the country, who were not found by wire in time for the commitment of the body.

ANIMAL LOSSES HEAVY IN WESTERN STATES

The monthly crop report of the United States department of agriculture, dated April 15, makes number of interesting statements in regard to the loss from disease and exposure in sheep and cattle in the western states. The loss from disease in horses and mules in Nevada was 25 per 1000 head, the heaviest percentage of loss from any of the western states. Arizona had the smallest loss with only 12 animals per 1000, while Idaho ranked next to Nevada with a loss of 22 head per 1000. This record shows about three per cent increase loss during the last ten years.

In the loss of cattle, Nevada ranks highest of any of the western states in the matter of disease, while Oregon had the greatest amount of losses in sheep.

The car load of caskets for the Buhl Hardware company has arrived, and they will be prepared to open an undertaking business as soon as their new hearse arrives.

Messrs. Evans and Johnson have purchased a fine new eight column hearse which is expected to arrive some time next week.

Ewan Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brennan, and student in the eighth grade, had the misfortune of breaking his leg last Sunday morning while he was playing on the swings at the Frank H. Buhl school building.

The breakage occurred in the left ankle and he was taken to Twin Falls Monday morning where an X-ray examination showed that both bones were fractured.

At the meeting of the Buhl Business Men's Association last Tuesday evening a vote was taken whether or not Buhl should plan an extensive Festival of July celebration. Practically seventy were present and most of them expressed themselves as favorable to the plan.

The plans are being worked out to put on such a celebration as has never been held in Buhl before.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kliss moved to Twin Falls Monday, where he has purchased town property. Mr. Kliss has several farms in the Buhl country.

Mr. Kliss is said to be somewhat better known here. It is hoped that Mr. Kliss will return to Buhl again.

Decorations day will be observed in Buhl Tuesday, May 16. If the proposed plans are carried out as they are being proposed now. The local company of national guards will take the matter.

THE TROUBLE OF DESERVING DEMOCRATS.

James M. Sullivan, erstwhile minister from the United States to Santo Domingo, and protégé of William J. Bryan, has been arrested in Dublin on the charge of complicity with the attempted Irish revolution. Sullivan was appointed through the activity of former Secretary of State Bryan, who about that time wrote to Receiver General Vick, American collector of customs in the Dominican republic, asking if there were any places for deserving Democrats at his disposal. General Vick was collector of customs by reason of our practical domination of the Dominican republic whereby the revenues from the tariff levied on imports were to be divided between European creditors and the recognized government of that country.

The circumstances of the case, considering the fact that the Irish nation is really a ward of the United States, made the phrase sound badly and in its practical working out, the appointment justified the misgivings of the prudent. Sullivan proved to be incompetent. When the charge of incompetency, which was later proven, and other charges which are not supported by evidence on investigation, were first made, Bryan defended his position and his appointee. Later, Senator James D. Phelan, a Democrat, was sent to investigate and found enough evidence of incompetency to induce Sullivan to resign.

The truth of the matter seems to have been that Sullivan was a veritable "Bull in a China Shop" and quite unfitted to look after the interests of the United States in any country, and particularly so in a nation in which relations were in such delicate condition as ours were there, and where by example as well as by precept we seemed to be going wrong. The administering of the affairs of the republic was paid for by this country, and when an incompetent was sent as minister and a letter was made public, which even the charitable must construe as implying that the same sort of men, if useful for partisan purposes might be placed in positions where the highest degree of competency was required to prevent mismanagement and loss, the people there were justified in assuming that instead of controlling their affairs to benefit them, we were handing them to pay partisan political debts.

There is nothing wrong in appointing Democrats to the places provided that they are deserving in the sense that they are competent and conscientious. While as a general proposition, those with diplomatic experience are to be preferred for places in the diplomatic service, there is a danger in applying civil service rules to the positions of ambassador, minister or secretary of state, as this might lead to the establishment of a bureaucracy and add still more tape to the already tangled skein. Elihu Root was a great secretary of state, yet was without diplomatic experience when appointed. Henry Morgenthau was not a trained diplomat when appointed ambassador to Turkey and yet is spoken of today as the most successful minister sent out by any nation in recent years. For Republicans who are deserving in the sense that Elihu Root was, or Democrats who are deserving in the sense that Henry Morgenthau is, there should always be places.

Unfortunately, this was not the sense in which the term was used by Mr. Bryan. It was not so much a reflection on his intention as on his reasoning powers and his tendency to occasionally confuse things which are essentially unlike. Nevertheless, Bryan's letter constituted the greatest blot on his reputation as a statesman, and showed that he had limitations which prevented his rising to great heights.

Sullivan seems to have been innocent of intentional wrong doing in Santo Domingo. He was probably innocent of intentional wrong doing in Ireland. His penchant for unconsciously doing the wrong thing and the incompetent thing has probably led his feet unintentionally into traps and snares set by more sophisticated men. He is likely harmless and if the minister to the king can give him a serious talking to which will keep him out of mischief and will then allow him to remain quietly in Ireland where he can be forgotten, they will receive the thanks of the American people in general and William Jennings Bryan in particular.

After a thorough investigation postal officials have directed the authorities at San Francisco to stamp "fraudulent" and return all mail addressed to Chandler & Company whose advertisements of a sure cure for cancer have induced the susceptible in many sections of the country to part with their money. Readers of THE TIMES may recall a statement in these columns several weeks ago, in which we mentioned our policy of rejecting advertising of objectionable character, our endeavor to protect subscribers, and that an advertising contract sent us by the Chandler company had been returned.

The Theatres

EDITH STOREY IN "THE TWO-EDGED SWORD"

At the late theater Friday and Saturday will be shown the five-act picture "The Two-Edged Sword," featuring Edith Storey and other well-known Vitaphone players. In addition to the five-act picture will be shown an excellent comedy in which Frank Daniels stars.

In "The Two-Edged Sword," the heroine succeeds in her purpose when she brings sorrow to the heart of the woman who, by evil flirtations, caused her brother to end his life. This little girl of the home by constant study, fits herself to fill the position of secretary to the husband of the vain, frivolous woman. She does not mean to harm him, for he is the kind of man who women love. Blinded by his own desire to accomplish, she does not realize her plans have miscarried until, in the presence of his wife, he confessed his love for her. Heartbroken she is compelled to give him up, and return to her home in the mountains, where her only comfort is found at the side of her brother's grave.

ANOTHER TRIANGLE KEY-BEE

FEATURE AT THE ORPHEUM

When a play sets forth an argument in a forward, we watch the development of the theme with close attention for the least flaw in its logic. "The Moral Fabric," a Triangle Key-Bee picture at the Orpheum next Monday evening, at its outset, challenges definitely the so-called advanced thinkers who declare that one may with perfect right define his law, and tear aside "the moral fabric" when love calls and that one who defies laws and conventions proves himself greater than they. And the play is a masterly argument, carrying every point with keen logic to its meretricious conclusion.

The answer which this play gives clearly is that the best way to disprove these individualistic theories is to really follow them, that the worst punishment to be given the people who plead for freedom of this sort is to grant them the freedom. Suddenly given the liberty they wish, the "radicals" in this story use it to wreck their lives; then the tables are turned, and their own arguments, word for word, are used against them. The thing is exactly done.

The story, in short, is of the woman who, tired of her husband, listens to the theorizing of the leader of the "freedom club" regarding the soul's freedom to follow its destiny, etc., and in a short time is willing to clove with him. Her husband not only gives his wife her freedom, which he learns how matters stand, but forces the two to live up to their idea of "freedom of the law" by publishing the whole affair.

A few years later, when the couples, now married, are living abroad, the ex-husband comes into their lives again. This time he, as "a friend of the family" in the one who wins the wife, and although the two had made a clean break of the second marriage, the present husband is unwilling to free his wife. Word for word, the former radical is answered by his own arguments, until he is thoroughly shown up in all his meanness. Then when that is accomplished, Winthrop turns away Amy, whom he had once loved, telling her he despises both her and her husband, and merely wanted to see whether their "higher ideals" would bear investigation. Brutal, but even at this point sympathy is with Winthrop.

The subtleties in the play are very important. There are not too many, and they are used most effectively to drive home the point in each tense situation. There are many pretty scenes in the play, which is unusually interesting as a story. The fanciful devices of the building and crumbling of air-castles and interpretative designs used with the subtleties are very effective.

INVASION OF NEW YORK CITY

SHOWN IN MOTION PICTURES

Written and designed chiefly to aid the propaganda in favor of national preparedness, "The Battle Cry of Peace," an eleven part motion picture spectacle, will be shown at the late theatre four nights and at three matinees commencing next Monday, May 15th. The first matinee on Tuesday. "The Battle Cry of Peace" is a well called principally after Hudson Maxm's book, "Defenseless America," but there is a substantial vein of romance and a strong human interest story running through it. Its author is J. Stuart Blackton, who received many suggestions as to the scenario from a number of army and navy officers and officials of the federal government who were glad to co-operate in its making. A special orchestra is engaged for the accompaniment of this picture.

In the same category with "The Birth of a Nation," "The Battle Cry of Peace" is a spectacular offering bringing home to the general public some astounding facts concerning the unpreparedness of this country in time of war.

Some idea of the size of the offering is gained when it is said that in support of the company there are introduced 16,000 national guardsmen, 800 G. A. R. members, 5,000 horses and seventeen aeroplanes, with Zeppelin gas balloons, submarines, dreadnaughts, battleships, torpedo boats and armored motor cars.

It stands to show how New York city and the entire United States in a period of a few short weeks could be made subject to an invasion. There is a series of thrilling pictures of the siege of New York, the bombardments from the coast, and by the Wall Street of the flames, a conquering army marching through the streets and the dynamiting of public buildings, to say nothing of a score of other scenes and happenings.

The many factors which make this picture a popular appeal to the public popularity for it is well worth seeing. With Mr. Blackton in the lead, the picture is a masterpiece of the art of the motion picture.

lices caught in the maelstrom of invasion, were Joseph Kilgour, Thale Lawton, Lester Graham, L. Roger Lytton, Traft Johnson, Mary Maurice, Belle Bruce, Lucille Hammit and other players.

What Is Wrong With The World Explained

Famous Lecturer Will Give Free Talk at Lavering, May 16—All Invited.

"What's Wrong With the World," will be the subject of the lecture under the auspices of Twin Falls Council of the Knights of Columbus at Lavering theatre, Tuesday, May 16, by Peter Collins of Massachusetts. Mr. Collins is well qualified to discuss in a broad, comprehensive manner the great problems of our day, and to set forth constructive remedies that aid in the advancement and progress of civilization.

During the past five years alone Mr. Collins has spoken to over 1,000,000 people in the United States and Canada, and has traveled nearly 100,000 miles.

Peter Collins needs no introduction to the men and women of America interested in the great constructive movements of Christian democracy and social reform. His experience and activity in the cause of social legislation, well qualified him for his platform work, having served for many years as international secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and as a member of the Illinois Industrial commission, one of the first commissions in the U. S. that made possible a great code of laws for the health, safety and comfort of the workers in that state. This code of laws has been copied by many states and has received the approval of sociologists and statesmen the world over.—Adv.

JORDAN HAD A HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL ON BOOTLESS ERRAND

Jack Jordan, the new fireman, got the third degree good and plenty last night, when he went bootless through the cold zone to the small room for at the White Cross hospital. The regulations are that when a fireman changes one foot of footgear for another, he must have the one that he intends to put on ready, before removing the other. Jordan forgot this rule and had taken off his shoes and laid them away when the firebell rang. He had no time to put on the others and went barefooted to the blaze, which did not amount to anything when he got there. This morning he is said to have applied for a sovereign remedy for chilblains at a local pharmacy.

A Call to Arms Against War

That deals with America's unpreparedness in such a way that it touches the heart strings of your emotion, awakens patriotism within your bosom.

It is more than a picture. It is a great national propaganda which deals with the most important problem that has confronted this nation since the Civil War—the problem of unpreparedness.

WHAT MAYOR THOMPSON OF CHICAGO SAYS:

"I do not think there is now in existence a stronger or plan to the patriotic feelings of our men and women than 'THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE.' Commodore Blackton has written a lesson that no true American can fail to heed. He has written himself into the list of America's truly patriotic citizens. I would urge every man, woman and child who can do so, to see 'THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE.'"

BISHOP SAMUEL FALLOWS WRITES:

"A great patriotic lesson taught by a true American patriot, a lesson in preparedness that cannot be improved upon. Every American should see it. No true American will miss it. It is the greatest argument for preparedness ever conceived."

Some of the Things You Will See

The most beautiful sky line in the world in flames.

Store News

Have you good folks been wondering why I have not been talking to you through the papers lately? It is not because I have not thought of you, nor because I have not wanted to, or because my good friend Read of the News or Sims of the Times have not reminded me that they had space for my advertisements, but to tell you the "honest injun" truth, I have not seemed to find the time when I had any ideas worth mentioning, at just the same moment.

We really have been very busy for the past few weeks, doing almost as much business as last fall when we were selling heavy goods, that count up much faster in sales, than the goods we sell at this time of the year.

The good part of it is that you have been coming in just the same and bringing in your friends, or sending them here, and buying more than ever, and everybody seems pleased to find the same good qualities, and plenty of goods at the same low prices. You see I bought plenty last year, when prices were low, and I am not only willing, but glad to share those benefits with you.

You folks in the other towns, or out in the country who have not tried sending your mail orders to me can save money by doing so, and take no risk, as every purchase must be satisfactory. Just try and see how easy, pleasant and profitable it will be for you.

WESTERN PACIFIC
SURE TO BUILD

points. We are going to make the Western Pacific a road which will pay its own way, and at the same time give service.

"The Boise line will be built, but whether it will go through the Twin Falls country or from Wainwampus is to be determined."

About 11 years ago, when the Western Pacific was started, E. J. Yard, chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, which was back of the Western Pacific, conferred with R. W. Faris of the Paria-Real-Construction company, which company was then completing the Twin Falls Land & Water company's dam at Millner. Mr. Yard was looking into the feasibility of starting a line from Salt Lake to the coast via Boise, which would be the company's main line to the Orient.

At the request of Mr. Yard, Mr. Faris placed a reconnaissance party in the field to run a line from Twin Falls to Boise. The plan of the Western Pacific was to start from the west side of Great Salt Lake, pass over the Keltan divide to Raft river; down Raft river through the south side of the Snake river; across the Snake river and over the North Side tract, by way of Gooding; up to Camas prairie; down the Boise watershed to Boise; over to Ontario or Nysa, and through to the Oregon coast.

It was found that by skirting the foothills from Camas prairie and striking the Boise river near the mouth of the canyon above Barber, a feasible route with comfortable grades could be obtained. This line, it was discovered, would be superior to a water grade by way of the south fork of the Boise.

At that time the Twin Falls country was in neglect. It had not been demonstrated. Nor had the North Side Twin Falls project been launched. The Raft river country had not been developed, nor were there any dry farmers along the route. Conditions have improved wonderfully along the proposed line within the past 10 years, and the extension now has something substantial behind it.

Those who are familiar with the route suggested when the Western Pacific was started, draw attention to the fact that since it was first proposed, the Oregon Short Line has been built from Burley to Marshfield and is extending to Raft river in the direction of Keltan, Utah. It has also built from Richfield across Camas prairie to Hill City, likewise up the Malheur river to Juniper, which would indicate that it appreciated at least portions of the route selected by the Western Pacific.

The reorganization of the Western Pacific is now in process of consummation in San Francisco, and those in touch with the situation are confident that it will be effected and that an Idaho feeder will be built with the funds made available for the purpose.

apropos of the reorganization of the Western Pacific, the Tribune of Casper, Wyo., says:

"Eastern papers are commenting to some extent on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad assuming control of the defunct Western Pacific road from Salt Lake to the Pacific coast, and now in the hands of receivers. It is assumed that in the event the Northwestern successfully bids for the Western Pacific, its road to Casper would be extended through the South pass district to Salt Lake, thereby forming a junction and linking the gap for a through line. Local officials of the road say the plan is not in the least improbable, but are not committed in advancing further information."

"Should the Northwestern acquire the Western Pacific it would have a continuous line from Chicago to the coast with the exception of the gap between Lander and Salt Lake, a distance of about 300 miles, which, it is said, would not be a difficult matter to build, with the exception of about 40 miles of precipitous grade. A fair agricultural and livestock country would eventually be tributary to such a line."—Statesman.

PRaises Twin Falls Spirit. W. G. Shotts state director of farm markets gave out an interview Monday to the Capital News on his return from Southern Idaho, in which he made special mention of receiving courtesy from the Buhl Commercial club, adding:

"At Twin Falls and throughout Iowa in that district, the commercial clubs and farmers were fully as willing to extend all possible courtesies to me as my work, but I didn't happen to have the pleasure of being in the district on the morning night of any of the other communities. The Twin Falls spirit of hospitality is plainly in evidence, however, in all parts of the Twin Falls country."
