HIKERS HERE ON
WAY TO NEW YORKThree Portland Boys Walking Across NationARE PITCHING GOSPEL OF GOOD ROADS ON THE ROUTE.Hearing the Fame of Twin Falls, They Made a Side Trip to See the Magic City.

Hearing of the activities of Twin Falls and its commercial club in the good-roads movement, F. K. Hollister, William Simonson and Ray Moyer of Portland, Ore., who are on a hike to New York, took advantage of the courtesy offered by the Shoshone, Hillyer and Twin Falls auto line to take a side trip to this city, where they arrived Tuesday afternoon. They spent the rest of the day in this city as the guests of the Twin Falls Commercial club and on Wednesday morning started on their way.

They go from here to Ogden where they attend the intermountain good roads convention, thence back to the main line on which they travel to Cheyenne, Wyo., from which place they go to Omaha, and from there over the Lincoln highway to Chicago. From Chicago they go to Washington where they will present letters to the senators from several states. Letters from prominent men in Portland to Senators Lane and Chamberlain, and a letter from Secretary of State Barker of Idaho to Senators Dornah and Brimly is in their possession now.

From the national capital they go to New York, which is their destination. On reaching the metropolis they will take up the study of roads. The boys have agreed not to ride on any railway train or river or lake, but will take a ride on an auto or other vehicle traveling on regular highways. They say that they wish to arouse interest in the good roads movement by their course. Each had $250 when they left Portland a month ago and they are paying out very little by appearing in theatres as they go along and preaching the gospel of good-roads. They expressed themselves as grateful for the free auto trip and for their entertainment here.

The boys are graduates of the Portland high schools, one from each of the three schools in that city.

G. A. R. THANKS ALL WHO CO-OPERATED

Issues Statement in Appreciation of Assistance Given Them on Memorial Day.

The Dan McCook Post, G. A. R., has given to the press a statement in which thanks are warmly extended to all who assisted in the exercises on Memorial day, either by directly participating or by refraining from the conduct of their ordinary business on the day on which the graves of our fallen heroes were being decorated. The following is a copy of the statement:

At a regular meeting of Dan McCook Post, Idaho G. A. R., the following motion was unanimously carried: That a vote of thanks be extended to all organizations and people who so kindly assisted the G. A. R. Post in decorating the graves of our dead comrades. We would especially mention the Twin Falls band, L. O. O. F. lodge and boy scouts and last, but not least, Co. D, Idaho National Guard. We gratefully thank them for their fine soldierly appearance. We would not forget to thank the press and business men of our city; the former for the cordial support given us; the latter for so kindly closing their places of business during the day. We also extend thanks to the patriotic citizens who so generously furnished autos to take us to and from the cemetery. We will not forget the loyalty and efficient manner in which their ministrations of the day Mr. S. P. Atherton, handled the parade.

W. W. HUMPHREY,
Commander.

SUFFRAGE PARADE DRESS

"Get your marching clothes on!" is the new slogan of the National American Woman Suffrage association. The marching clothes in question will be worn at the Chicago suffrage parade during the national convention and will consist of white skirts and blouses and the new "parade hat," which have just made their appearance. "Guaranteed becoming" is this white attire with its band of suffrage yellow, which was selected after many styles, shapes, sizes, and shades were considered by the committee who sat on the weighty matter.

MILITARY REORGANIZATION TO EFFECT THIS STATE

Will Mean Large Increase in the Military Forces of the State of Idaho.

Reorganization of the army will have a more far-reaching effect upon the national guards than is generally understood by the average citizen, according to militia officers, says the Statesman. In the first place Idaho is to receive a very great increase in the number of her guardsmen, which will affect every town in the state.

The present strength of the Idaho regiment is a little short of 800 enlisted men. The quota of the state under the army reorganization bill will be 2000 men. This will mean that Idaho must raise within five years the term allotted each state for mustering up to the required strength, a total of 2400 men. When it is understood that men are to come from the rank and file of commercial and industrial life, the effect upon the state is anything but trivial, the officials add.

The plan for mustering as laid down by the bill is that a minimum of 800 men must be accounted for at the end of the first year. As Idaho already has this number the first year's recruiting will not bother the officers at headquarters in the least. However, 400 for the second year will mean that three companies must be added to the strength of the militia. The third year calls for 600 men, and the fourth for 800. During the fifth and last year, the number drops down to 500, which will bring the enlistment up to 3200. As each enlisted man will receive from the federal government $15 per month while attending encampments, rifle practice, or other weekly service, aside from the regular weekly drills, and additional pay from the state, it is pointed out that no small sum of money is to be distributed among the various towns of the state as a result of the bill.

At state militia headquarters it is understood that the act becomes effective July 1, as the bill carries an appropriation with it, and such acts are operative from the first of the fiscal year. The question of recruiting in the state is already being given considerable attention, as this increase will call for a large number of men from all walks of life who must take it up as a patriotic, rather than an expedient move.

Several towns have asked for companies, but owing to the fact that Idaho has its full quota up to date, these petitions have been denied. Now, however, every man is allowed to have his company. Those who even supply two companies, it is necessary.

The new bill provides for a more efficient national guard, and gives it an added national character, which will greatly tend toward efficiency, says the Statesman. Captains are to receive $200 per annum, first lieutenants $150, and second lieutenants $100. Reorganization will begin July 1, 1916, with the detaching of the 822 non-commissioned officers from the regular army to assist in national guard instruction.

JARBIDGE MERCHANT
IS ENTHUSIASTICTells Story of Wonderful Growth in SentenceDEVELOPMENT SEEN IN ALL THE CAMP PROPERTIES

Will Give Grand Celebration of Glorious Fourth and Invite Everybody.

"Yes, Jarbidge is prospering, business has improved 100 per cent over what it was quite recently; there is $2,000,000 in sight in one prospect. The McIntosh of Jarbidge, has arrived to take charge of the North Star property and put it on a paying basis; its mill is now being overhauled and new machinery added. The legitimate mine has a contract for 600 feet of tunnel; the Starlight has been bonded for $100,000 for development purposes; the Engineer J. O. Greenan has been called hastily to San Francisco to confer with George Wingfield, whom he represents; the Buckeye is promising big things and showing ore that yields $1,000 a ton; the Long Hike will double its working force June 15; preliminary work for the operation of the Alpha is under way and the tramway is being extended to the O. K.; the sawmill is ready to resume operations under the management of Stanley & Sons; of Kimberly; we are going to have a movie theatre in operation soon, and are getting ready for a good, old-fashioned celebration of the Fourth of July," was the succinct manner in which W. H. Hudson of Jarbidge, proprietor of the Jarbidge Supply Store, of a happy and feet stable and one of the owners of a transportation line, summed up progress in the noted camp yesterday.

Mr. Hudson, who is in town as a witness in the case of the State of Idaho against James McRoy, said that the development in all lines was wonderful and that the period of speculation and doubt had already passed. He predicted great things in the way of development on the completion of the contemplated change in the road which will avoid the bad grades. He regards this improvement as a foregone conclusion. Several meetings have been held in regard to it since the recent visit of the county commissioners and others and the Jarbidge Commercial club is confident that it will go through. The including of an appropriation of $10,000 for this road, with other appropriations in the new bill will do much toward making the road first class for the mountain country, and the co-operation of the counties interested is expected. The deal for the picture show was not closed when Mr. Hudson left but will go through without a doubt.

In regard to the big celebration, Mr. Hudson says that Jarbidge will make a special effort to show everyone a good time and that all are welcome in the great gold camp.

CONDENSED MILK
FACTORY CONSIDERED

Representative of Borden Company
Makes Visit—Gem People Are Interested.

That Gall-Borden condensed milk such as the fathers used may be made at Twin Falls is the inference drawn from a visit last week to this city, to Buhl, and to several places on the North Side by E. J. Owen of Salt Lake City, a representative of the company in the intermountain states. Mr. Owen was favorably impressed and declared that he would endeavor to get the head of the company to make a visit here. Personally, he could give no assurance in the matter. The Borden people have a factory in Logan, Utah. It is learned that the Gem evaporated milk manufacturers are also casting longing eyes in this direction. During the last year several reports have been made to large companies in regard to the availability of the Twin Falls tract, as a place in which to make condensed milk of different brands and all are said to have been favorable.

Proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners of Twin Falls County, Idaho

1915-1916
Regular April Session
The Board of County Commissioners met at this time, pursuant to recess.

Present: O. B. Moore, D. P. Albee, and E. J. Finch, Clerk.

Whereupon the following proceeded:

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

At this time a delegation of filer clients appeared before the Board and verbally informed the Board that all the money for the purchase of the county fair site had been tendered.

It was then stated that the Idaho State Co. had decided to H. G. Munyon et al. as trustees, the NW 36-10-16, and that they were preparing to sell the same property to Twin Falls county, accompanied by an abstract for the same.

They further stated that it was the wish of the people of Filtr that steps be taken immediately by the Board toward making permanent improvements, that this definite assurance that the county fair would be held in the fall of 1916.

The Board upon consideration being given to the matter, and deeming such action for the public good, accepted the deed to the Northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 19, T. 10 N., R. 20 E., B. M. for county fair purposes, providing the prosecuting attorney, passing favorably on the abstract. Motion was then made by P. B. Moore, seconded by D. P. Albee and unanimously carried, that the Board in its regular quarterly meeting appoint a committee of one-half mill for county fair purposes.

In the matter of the request of the Auditor to make compromise settlements of delinquencies, where an action has been brought for foreclosure by the County:

In this matter the Board being fully advised in the matter and deeming such action for the public good, authorized the Auditor, wherefore proceedings had been brought on delinquency tax certificates by the County, to accept the same and issue such certificate less $25 attorney's fees where judgment has not been entered and to cancel said certificate.

The Board then proceeded to the examination of the claims against the current expense fund, and not having completed such examination recess was taken until 10 A. M. May 2nd, 1916.

KITCHENER LOST WARSHIP SUNK

England's War Minister and Staff
Go to Death as Torpedo Hits

FOUR BOATS PUT OFF BUT LITTLE HOPE THEY SURVIVED.

British Cruiser Hampshire, En Route to Russia, Goes Down to West of the Orkneys.

LONDON.—Admiral Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet, has reported to the admiralty that the

How do you buy coffee?

SOME women buy coffee by price,
some by looks, some by taste.

Of course, taste is the only right way to judge coffee. Looks may mean little, even to an expert. Price is no true guide.

Taste—flavor in your cup—is supreme because that's why you drink coffee.

Most women know that good coffee
tastes better than indifferent coffee.
But too few women know that fine coffee is not only good—but also economical.

For instance, a pound of Schilling's Best goes further than a pound of any other coffee we know of. You can prove this for yourself.
It is good coffee plus—
plus extra care in selection, handling and packing. This

British cruiser Hampshire, with Earl Kitchener, British minister of war, and his staff aboard, has been lost off
the West Orkneys.

Four boats were seen to leave the Hampshire, but a heavy sea was running. Only a capsized boat and some bodies have been found.

Kitchener was on his way to Russia.
Admiral Jellicoe reports there is little hope that there were any survivors.

The names of the members of Kitchener's staff have not yet been learned. Sir William Robertson, chief of the imperial staff, is in London.
Accompanying Kitchener as his staff were Hugh James O'Donnell, former councillor of the British embassy at Petrograd and former minister at Sofia; O. A. Fitzgerald, Earl Kitchener's private military secretary;
Brigadier General Ellershaw and Sir
Frederick Donaldson.

The Hampshire has been in use as a school boat and for carrying officials on various missions. She was too old to take a place on the fighting line.
When the war started she was in the far East and was reported to have been wrecked in a fight with German mines in the South China sea. She was one of the British squadron which was sent to this country for the Jamestown exposition in 1907.

Earl Kitchener was appointed secretary of state for war on August 8, 1914, a few days after Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany. He was regarded as England's greatest soldier and the decision of the government to entrust him with supreme direction of the war was received with unanimous approval.

As the war progressed and Great Britain's deficiencies in certain directions, particularly in regard to the shortage of artillery ammunition became apparent, Earl Kitchener was subjected to severe criticism, led by Lord Northcliffe. The secretary was charged with responsibility for failure to foresee the extraordinary demand for heavy shells and as a result the ministry of munitions was formed with David Lloyd-George at its head.

Earl Kitchener's responsibilities were further lessened by the appointment of General Sir William Robertson as chief of the imperial staff in December of last year. It was reported at that time that friction had arisen between Earl Kitchener and Field Marshal French, then in command of the British forces in France.
Shortly after the appointment of General Robertson, Field Marshal French relinquished his command.

Notwithstanding the criticism directed against Earl Kitchener, his great accomplishments during the war are recognized universally. Foremost of his achievements is the creation from England's scattered masses of a huge army. At the beginning of the war Great Britain had only a few hundred thousand trained men. Today more than five million men are enrolled for the various branches of the service.

There have been no recent reports of Earl Kitchener's movements. He was last mentioned in the cable dispatches of Friday when he went to Westminster palace to be questioned by members of the house of commons who were not satisfied with the consent to this country for the Jamestown given that he intended to leave England.

PROF. SKOUGAARD WILL APPEAR
AT CONSERVATORY RECITALS

Professor Ivar Skougard, formerly instructor of voice in the Twin Falls Conservatory of Music, will return to this city this week, according to word received by friends in this city, and will spend the summer here.

During the past year Professor Skougard has held the position of instructor in voice culture in the Arizona school of music in Phoenix, where he became well known not only as an instructor and soloist, but also as a composer. The conservatory in Phoenix is recognized as one of the largest music conservatories and one of the music centers of the southwest.

Professor Skougard will appear as soloist in the recitals to be given on Monday and Tuesday nights of next week by the Twin Falls Conservatory of Music.

DISTRICT OFFICERS ELECTED FOR W. C. T. U.

W. C. T. U. Declares Itself Against Name Implying Use of Alcohol—Is Against War

The list of officers elected at the district meeting of the W. C. T. U. in this city has been announced and the official copy of the resolutions given to the press. The resolutions in addition to favoring national prohibition, the enforcement of laws against the manufacture and sale of liquor, and against the selling of cigarettes and tobacco to minors; the abolishment of anything suggestive or immoral in picture shows, take a stand for peace, agitation and the education of the young against war, and in favor of substituting the name fruit for punch in referring to fruit drinks. The resolutions read as follows:

Whereas, the temperance cause of Idaho having received strength and encouragement, because of the splendid victory won, and because of the increase of public sentiment for temperance, with an increase of membership, we the Women's Christian Temperance Union of South Idaho in this our first convention of the district assembly held at Twin Falls, resolve:

First, That we thank our heavenly Father for guidance and blessings on the work of temperance, and renew our allegiance to the cause, and devotion to its principles;

2nd, That we make a strenuous effort to reach as many voters as possible and encourage them to be loyal to their privilege of the ballot, to register and vote this fall for state constitutional prohibition, and to elect men to office who will uphold the law;

3rd, That we strive to elect men to congress who will work and vote for national constitutional prohibition;

4th, That we will continue to stand back of our officers in their effort to enforce the law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicants, and the selling of tobacco and cigarettes to minors. We also urge that the law against gambling be enforced;

5th, That we encourage the use of the name fruit, for all fruit drinks instead of punch;

6th, That we use our influence to suppress anything indecent, or suggestive, in the picture shows;

7th, That we as an organization, standing for peace and arbitration, should endeavor to educate the young people against war and continue to work and pray for universal peace;

8th, That we extend our thanks to all who assisted in any way to the success of this convention, especially the girls and boys, of the local schools, for their contributions to the fine, educational play essay contest; and to the nineteen young girls who represented the nineteen dry states in their beautiful song drill;

9th, We also express our appreciation of the splendid addresses and talks by Mrs. Greene, national organizer and chair talker, and Mrs. Chipp, our state president, for contributing so largely to the success of the convention;

It has been rumored that that plant will be taken to Malad City. It is thought that the other newspaper in that section can take care of all matter for publication.

AMERICAN-BARITONE'S "HOBBY" IS GOLF AND HUNTING

Burt McKinnis of International Operatic Company Holder of Many Cups and Trophies

In a recent interview Burt McKinnis, the American baritone, said: "They say that every artist must have temperament to succeed, but I do not think I have any. Mine is mostly 'hobby.' I love to fish and hunt, and most of all, I like to play golf. I have played in a number of tournaments throughout the United States, and I enjoy myself as much as though I am on the platform singing. About golf, singing is my 'hobby,' and I don't think I show any temperament in my appearance anywhere."

Mr. McKinnis is singing this year with the International Operatic Company, which gives two concerts at Chautauque. He is the holder of about fifteen cups and trophies taken at golf tournaments and is one of the champions of the southern part of the United States.

CATTLE AND SHEEP

STEADY HOGS LOW

The Wool Market, Taken As a Whole, Is Promising For The Coming Year.

Trade in the cattle division had rather a slow wind-up for the end of the week, says the Portland Live Stock Reporter. Saturday trade was rather disappointing. A shipment of ten cars of California arrived late for the Saturday market and were held over for today.

Today's receipts were fairly large and were made up very largely of California. There were 10 cars of Mexicans and 21 natives in the bunch. Only one straight car of Oregon was in the yards. A few scattering heads were among the arrivals of mixed lots.

Arrivals of sheep and lambs according to the early morning count were less than 700 head. Trading was not active. Lambs sold steady, as was also the tone in the butcher sheep situation. Receipts were all Oregon stuff.

Late this afternoon tops were advanced on two drafts of choice porkers to $5.50.

The morning count-out of hogs showed 4500 and a little better. This is the heaviest receipts for hogs for a considerable time. Reports of last month's receipts at practically all American markets show a decided increase in the marketing of swine as was the case at North Platte for the month of May. It is to be inferred from these heavy receipts that all the markets have a pretty fair supply in sight and there is no indication at present that there will be any shortage in the marketing of hogs. Receipts today were a little too heavy for a good market and together with a dull feeling that was in evidence at the end of last week.

Buyers, shippers and speculators hold back during the morning and bought only a few loads early at 10c to 15c lower price. Packers started out building considerably lower, but were unable to buy much until later and some trading was done at mostly 15c lower price. On the close the market was dull without any real gain in price. Best hogs of all kinds were the best sellers. Pigs were slack.

A local wool warehouse company has the following to say concerning the Portland wool situation:

"We consider wool in a very strong position. London in particular is extremely strong, making advances of best merinos 3 to 4c, Cape 2c, and fine crossbreds 1c. Applications for wool licenses are refused wholesale. Permits steadily denied both Japan and France for several weeks. Cables from Australia states that embargo imposed on all wools. We call your special attention to the fact that representative staple fine and fine medium look to us to be the best property. Long staple wools are scarce all over the world. Short, or French combing are in better supply, and we believe in keeping these moving when we can, but even French cape wools are in strong position because of the general shortage of wools. Defective wools will have to be sold at low prices as long as the war lasts."

Times' Special Correspondence.

A band of Gypsies made considerable disturbance in Hansen Monday night of last week. It seems they were compelled to leave town in a hurry and claimed they had lost a child and $500. Sheriff Kendall was called and after a little investigation the child was found in another wagon which had left somewhat earlier than the rest. The five hundred dollars was evidently found also for they seemed satisfied to leave.

A FLAGRANT ABUSE OF BUHL.

As a general rule THE TIMES will not comment on articles appearing in the news columns of contemporaries. We feel impelled, however, to violate this rule in the instance of the purported news article appearing on the front page of one of Twin Falls' weeklies this week; the story, disguised as a piece of news relating to the road election in the west and last week, being nothing less than an editorial effort to cast reflection upon the motives of the citizens of Buhl in supporting the bond issue, and making other uncomplimentary references entirely unwarranted for either facts, in this instance, or the actions of Buhl people in the past.

Great as the provocation is, in this instance, this alone would not serve as sufficient reason for making an exception to the policy we endeavor to follow, were it not that a situation of misunderstanding already exists that continually threatens the harmony of the community. A deliberate effort to inject more trouble by this most flagrant misrepresentation into a situation already irritated by misunderstanding and lack of appreciation of the other's motives, deserves the most emphatic condemnation that we can give it, and general disapproval by the inhabitants of both ends of the county.

The county division squabble had no more to do with the bond election in Buhl the other day than it has to do with the Republican convention now in session at Chicago. To attempt to drag it in by the heels for the sole purpose of creating more trouble, is a reprehensible effort.

The imputation that the city of Buhl, more than intimated in the article referred to, was attempting to unload a burden upon the farming community adjoining, solely for Buhl's individual gain, is an assumption that we can not understand how anyone can arrive at in good faith. Not one cent of the $300,000 that would have become available had the bond issue carried, could have been spent to improve a single foot of highway inside the limits of the city of Buhl. Every dollar of it must necessarily be put into improvements on roads outside Buhl, on the country roads. To be sure the highways leading into Buhl would be improved, and traffic to that point encouraged, but who gets the more direct benefit, the people who use the improved highways, or those who profit by an increase of patronage?

Instead of the city of Buhl being taxed in the ratio of one to ten, as suggested in our contemporary's news-editorial, Buhl would have come nearer to paying one dollar out of every four that was expended on the country roads. We repeat our opinion, expressed Tuesday, that the people of Buhl are to be commended for their willingness to thus impose a tax upon themselves. A $300,000 bond issue for highways may look like a big amount of money to many people, and it is possible that it did look too large to the people that voted against it; and yet, we are informed, this would only have meant that every forty acres in the highway district would have had to bear but six dollars a year for this purpose.

The assertion that "Buhl is strong for everything that don't cost them much," will not be echoed by the people of Twin Falls. It is not true in this instance, and we find nothing in the past that justifies any such derogatory remark.

The people of Twin Falls do not approve of such sentiments as those referred to and are becoming impatient with the persons in this section that seek to brew strife and discord at every opportunity. The inhabitants of the west-end should realize this, and not condemn the people of Twin Falls on account of the misdirected efforts of a very few. Buhl, no doubt, entertains a similar few, and likewise, has a right to expect that judgment not be passed against the entire west-end on their account.

THE BUSINESS MAN'S FALLACY.

That THE TIMES is not alone in its opinion that it is unwise to nominate a business man for president unless he has other qualifications for the office than is evidenced by mere success in accumulating a fortune in one particular line of industrial effort, is evidenced by the following editorial from the Boston Transcript which under the above heading discusses the subject at some length and asks some pertinent questions. It says:

A number of well meaning gentlemen have undertaken to organize a campaign for the nomination of a "business man," as the Republican candidate for the presidency, and are widely advertising in the public press for recruits for their cause. In this we give them full credit for sincerity and disinterestedness. But we must regard them as misled and their course as quite mistaken.

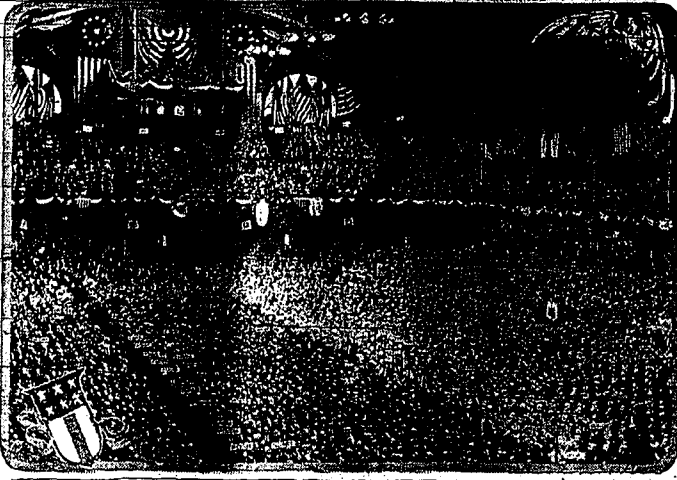

Business men are of many kinds. Which particular kind would they choose for the leader of the state? Should he be a financier, a banker or a successful stock broker? Is the head of a great department store their ideal? Or would they prefer the president of some railroad corporation or shipping line? Would a manufacturer best fill the bill? And if so, should he be a manufacturer of automobiles, of boots and shoes, of cotton cloths or of glass ware? These and others are all important businesses. Which of them in the opinion of these gentlemen best fits a man to be President of the United States? We could scarcely expect to find a man who was engaged in and was an expert in them all.

We should like, too, to have it explained in its in what respect a business training fits a man to be President. We have had bankers who have made good Secretaries of the Treasury. We had a dry goods and department store Postmaster General. Of course we have had lawyers who acceptably filled the office of Attorney General. But would a lifetime at the head of a cotton mill enable a man more efficiently to deal with the Mexican troubles? Would an expert coal mine operator have any special fitness for negotiating a settlement of the submarine warfare controversy? Or would any specific business experience give a man special aptitude for solving any of the great problems of international, foreign or domestic, which confront the President of the United States?

We think not. On the contrary, it is not improbable that such a training would prove a handicap. The President has a number of constitutional advisers and assistants at the head of the various executive departments. They may properly be experts in the special work of their respective departments. They and their subordinates may look after the practical business details of the administration. That is what the members of the cabinet and the bureau chiefs are for. But the President, like the law, "do minima non curat." It is for him to take a broad oversight of all the departments and of all the executive activities of the government. For this he needs, not technical training in some specific business or profession, not even that of a college professor, but rather proficiency in what is more coming to be recognized as the science of statesmanship.

This fact is abundantly proved upon us by the example of the past. Our Presidents have not been business men, and the greatest and best of them have been farthest removed from successful business careers. Washington and Jefferson were country gentlemen, who were interested in agriculture, but had nothing to do with business in the present sense. The Adamses and Jacksons were not business men. If ever there was a man who was conspicuously not a business man, save in the pettiest and least successful way, it was Lincoln. McKinley, Cleveland and Roosevelt were certainly not business men. Yet all these are held to have been pretty creditable Presidents. Instead of clamoring for a "business man" for President, it would be more profitable to demand a statesman; to recognize that there is such a thing as statesmanship, quite apart from manufactures, or commerce or pedagogy and to understand that the affairs of a great nation in its domestic economy and in its relations with the other sovereign powers of the world are not to be directed exactly as are the activities of a cotton mill, the transactions of a department store or the studies and lectures of a university.

INTERIOR OF COLISEUM DURING A CONVENTION SESSION

By special arrangement they have secured the exclusive rights in this section to Paramount pictures, the big $100,000 corporation which handles the output of the Famous Players Film Co., the Jewell L. Lasky Feature Play Co., Morasco and several other leading producers. All of these companies produce reliable plays or adaptations from famous novels and magazine stories with famous stars in the leading roles.

Indicative of the high entertainment standard scheduled under the new order of things such stars as Mary Pickford, Margaret Clark, Hazel Dawn, Gab Douglas, Elsie Janis, Pauline Frederick, Sam Bernart, Fritz Schell and many others included on the roster each appearing in the play he or she made famous.

PLATFORM REPORTED TO THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION BY SENATOR H. CARPENTIER

claimed Wednesday night that he already has more than 300 votes pledged to the justice.

It will require 496 to nominate him. The House manager, obviously, is certain of the doubt of success in securing that number. The managers of the opposition concede to the justice 215 votes, they assert with apparently sincere conviction that they will be able to hold to the other 676 against him.

It is one of the ironical developments in the contest that these same houses would be utterly helpless to prevent the nomination of Justice Hughes without the help of Colonel Roosevelt and his followers. The progressives are solidly against Hughes. The leaders of that party, trying to negotiate a truce with the managers of the regular convention, with fair prospects of success, have made it extremely clear that the justice would not prove acceptable to the progressive party, even with the approval of Colonel Roosevelt.

The representatives of the colonel on the ground are having trouble enough in keeping the majority of their followers from nominating the colonel out of hand. The progressive convention literally "went wild" over the colonel.

National preparedness "in spirit, arms and industry" is the dominant theme of the Progressive party's platform which a tentative draft was completed Wednesday night by the resolutions committee appointed at Wednesday's session of the convention. It broke party convention platform records for brevity, and consists of a broad statement of conditions facing and remedies needed by the nation rather than the usual formidable array of separate planks.

As to preparedness the platform declares for a navy second in the world's armament, a standing army of 250,000 men and "universal opportunity for military training under federal supervision."

"Social and economic reforms" and "social justice" features of the 1912 platform are reaffirmed. "Full political suffrage" is declared; a permanent expert tariff commission, high protective tariff, regulation of industries, conservation and development of national resources are urged.

The platform declares that the present situation makes an issue of men rather than words and stresses with declaration that the Progressives "will meet any party which sees the nation's needs and puts forward a leader fit to meet them."

LEGALIZING THE WORD "KICK"

Eminent Lawyer Has Made the Expression Proper by His Use of It in Courtrooms.

Because Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme court of the United States had the expression "the defendant kicked against this," a great add has been made of slang receiving recognition from high judicial authority. Mr. Justice Holmes, the distinguished soldier son of Oliver Wendell Holmes, is recognized as a purist in the use of the English language and any expression emanating from him will be accepted in "Boston town" as a standard.

The word kick has long been used as one of the expressive and picturesque four-lettered words of the language. All the standard dictionaries define it: "To give a blow with the foot." It is frequently heard in ordinary expressions: To kick up one's heels; to kick up a row, or a fuss, or a pampus; kick the bucket. An internal combustion engine kicks a gun on its recoil kicks; so does the wheel or the rudder of a boat. Shakespeare employs it in Hamlet: "That his heels may kick at heaven." Tennyson employs it in "The Princess," and to poet exercised greater precision in the selection of words: "Make all women kick against their lords," George Eliot finds use for it in "Silas Marner": "If Godfrey kicked."

Literature overlooks with the use of the word "kick" under sentence. Eight years left for Mr. Associate Justice Holmes to establish it as the highest court of the United States.

REPORT DECREASE OF CRIME

British Prison Commissioners Have Recently Made Report That Will Be Read With Interest.

The prison commissioners of Great Britain have just published their annual report for the year ending March, 1915. The decrease of persons who were received under sentence during the year of 1914-15 is another proof that employment is the great cure for crime. The total number of persons convicted amounted to only 114,283, including children and those committed by courts-martial, a decrease of 37,320 as compared with the year of 1913-14, and the lowest number of convictions on record. This greater part of this decrease is attributed to circumstances connected with the war. Enrollment has given employment to many of the habitual petty offenders, the restricted hours for the sale of intoxicants has undoubtedly decreased the amount of crime. The great demand for unpaid labor has given employment to the many.

A short time after the outbreak of the war orders were issued whereby many of the prisoners who had previously served of the army were allowed remission of sentence on recommendation of the military authorities, with a view to rejoining their companies. There have been over 340 inmates released for this purpose. The report also states that drunkenness among women has decreased 7 per cent.

SHORT LINE BEGINS ERECTING SECTION HOUSE

Will Be For Hollister Branch—Bankhouse Will Also Be Constructed.

Work began yesterday on the new section house for the section for man of the new section on the Hollister branch. E. B. Banes and a construction crew of seven men are now at work. The new building will be speedily completed after which a large bunk house for the section men will be erected. It is expected that both buildings will be finished in about a month.

The buildings are going up near the coal chute.

Our Schooling Inexpensive.

Twenty-two million persons were enrolled in educational institutions in the United States last year. And they required 700,000 teachers, of whom 566,000 were in public schools, to guide them in the paths of learning. About $24 a piece was what it cost a give them a year of schooling. Compared with some of our other expenses as a nation, public schools seem to be a decidedly inexpensive hobby. They cost less than basketball, the national expenditure for alcoholic liquors, and their expense is $300,000,000 less than that of running the federal government. Even for admission to the "movies" we spend a third of what the schools require.

Measured in terms of products of the soil, the United States spent a little more for education than the value of its wheat crop, and less than half the value of the annual harvest of corn. What the ultimate value of the educational harvest will be is another question.—New York Independent.

Coin Shower Deluges Workmen.

Workmen employed on the ditch of the Rogo River Canal company set off a charge of dynamite under a stump and then the air was filled with dollars and half dollars. The blast uncovered a money cache that had apparently been buried there since the early sixties. Most of the coins were of the mintage of the fifties, and when the fall of coin began there was a wild scramble for it. Two weeks ago, about $500, according to some; others placed the amount as high as $2,500. Some Spanish coins were found among the United States coins. How the money came to be beneath the stump, or why it was there, is a mystery.—Ashland (Ore.) Dispatch to Los Angeles Times.

ROBINSONS

Store Talk

THIS is not a department store, with all the attendant expenses. There are no department heads, with all the added expense. There is no credit department here, with its extra cost and its losses. There are no officers who are not active, drawing salaries. There are no partners to divide with, or stockholders drawing dividends. This is just a plain "everyday" store for the entire family, where any one or a whole family can come and trade, feeling sure of right prices and satisfaction.

It is an established fact that the cost of doing business by department stores and mail order houses has increased enormously during the past few years, and that it has been necessary for them to raise their prices to such an extent that about double the amount is now added to the cost of their goods to meet these conditions, and the end is not yet in sight. I can sell goods at the same margin of gross profit that it costs them to do business, and have a satisfactory net profit left, or in other words, my entire or gross profit is no greater than their cost of doing business. You will understand from this why I can, and do, sell goods at lower prices than they do.

The condition under which I buy goods, and by buying in liberal quantities, puts me in a position to offer you goods at right prices all the time. I have no bargain sales of out-of-style or shop-worn goods. We have no basement salesroom where low grade, poorly made goods are offered at seemingly low prices, but that really are not cheap. But we have a nice, clean stock of goods, carefully selected, as regards quality, make, fit, and all that goes for satisfaction.

I buy large lots of staple goods that do not change in style, and small lots of goods where style, colors, and patterns count so much, and in this way keep a clean, fresh stock at all times, so do not need to mark my goods at a big profit to start with to cover "mark down" sales later on.

The Best

Many times when our show windows are filled with pictures of beautiful young ladies, people have said to us "You make a specialty of portraits of women—don't you?" And during one month when we had only pictures of men in our windows, a number of men remarked "This is a man's studio, all right."

And when we displayed our Mother's Day pictures last year, ever so many ladies, with the softness of age in their voices and the touch of white upon their hair, said to us "I see you give special attention to pictures of old people. Can you make me a picture as good as those in the window?"

The fact is we have no specialty. We try to give every one value received for his money. We try to take equally good care of all classes of people. But, though we make a great many more pictures of grown people than we make of children, we have known for several years that our studio is generally conceded to be the children's studio. Nearly every week proof comes to us of this from fifty miles away. And it is this statement we hear most often: "I understand you make a specialty of babies' pictures."

Now we never intended this condition to arise, yet—

When we take our studio records and count the number of children who have come to us every year of their lives—

When we make a list of the number of children whose baby books are filled with our pictures of them—

When scores of mothers say to us "You have made every picture my children have ever had"—

Well, maybe baby portraiture is our specialty; a great many people say it is though we hardly agree; we do know, however, that you will be delighted with the pictures we can make of your baby.

LILLIAN GISH

Starring in a Five-Part Triangle Fine Arts Feature, Entitled

SOLD FOR MARRIAGE

The story of a Russian peasant girl, whose rare beauty lends her unscrupulous uncle to bring her to the United States to be sold into marriage to a rich old man she has never seen. This presents American immigrants in a rarely sympathetic light; and, if for no other reason, should carry home a valuable lesson to all who witness it—that of friendship for the helpless peasant with his queer costume and heavy carpet-bag. It also conveys a truth too often lost sight of in constant airing of corrupt politics, that the American police are not the poor man's oppressors, but his friends.

Wonderful scenes in a cloudburst, with frightened horses, fleeing people, and terrific lightning displays, stamp the film as a rare piece of photography. Lots of heart interest, lots of thrills and tears, scenes in winter, scenes in summer, scenes in Russia, scenes in America, on land and on the sea. A remarkable feature release on a remarkable program.

LILLIAN GISH

Will be remembered as playing the part of Elsie Stoneman, in "The Birth of a Nation." Other choice subjects shown in connection with this feature Monday: CHARLIE IN INDIA—A cartoon comedy; DREAMY DUD COMEDY, and a beautiful scenic, entitled A HINT WORTH REMEMBERING.

PAINTS WAR HORROR

"Death Stalks Everywhere," Writes Bernhard Kellermann.

Men Only Parts in Great Machine—
All the Time Their Thoughts Are of Home, but They Do Not Shrink Duty.

Berlin.—Bernhard Kellermann, well known German novelist and correspondent of the Berliner Tagblatt, who became seriously ill while in the trenches in France in December, now has recovered and is back on the western front. His first contribution since his illness is a graphic word picture of war conditions now existing on the western front:

"Along the whole front of hundreds of kilometers extending from the North sea to Switzerland the faithful are in their trenches," he writes. "They are there day and night and at this very moment.

"Up in Flanders the water reaches to the knees. The pumps are working, but the water does not subside. Pumps, concrete, beams and sandbags, the trenches daily collapse and the sandbags have to be replaced again and again with much labor. If they leave the trenches the soldiers have to wade in water. In the Champagne region the mud is ankle deep, also in the Argonne. Here, too, the pumps are working to free the country of the water.

"In mud and water, behind the sandbags, the soldier stands with his gun in the narrow labyrinth of trenches. Thousands of men are doing this, from the coast where the wintry sea rolls on the beach to Switzerland, where the Alps rise to the sky. Day and night they stand, a few feet apart, and day and night the machine guns spout and send out their deadly fire. In damp inclosures are the reserves, ready at a moment's notice to spring to their guns and charge if need be. The water keeps trickling from the walls of the trenches. There is deep silence among the men; they are thinking of home. As long as they stand at their guns, in muddy uniform and boots, they do not think but as soon as a few hours' rest comes then they think of home and family.

"Remnants of burst shells, rain water, barbed wire and bodies that have lain out there for weeks, and over there the enemy's trenches, that is all the men see. That is their entire world. It is always the same—a monotony to drive men mad. Thousands of fine, healthy men who could be doing good work are thus engaged.

"Death is doing a fine business here. The rats, too, from wrecked French villages near by, are adding to the troubles of the men in the trenches. Added to this is the horrible shriels and cry of the ravens. The war is without mercy.

"And here death stalks everywhere. The rifle bullets, the shells and the hand grenades—all do their deadly work. Officers and men all feel the hand of death upon them. Even in the tired soldiers seek a rest, in the woods, in the air or under the earth, everywhere is death. There is no safe place here.

"This circle of death extends through France, Belgium and Alsace, and there are particular spots where hell breaks loose. Now it is at Ypres, then at Soissons and then in the Champagne region of the Argonne. Often for days there is a bombardment, when thousands of shells come crashing into our lines with the regular movements of a sledgehammer. It is then that the French are smashed to dust. We are driven from our trenches, but the reserves are ordered forward; they charge in the deadly fire, and the trenches are again ours.

"This is not a war of man against man. The telephone, the automobile, the railway, the big guns—all have changed the method of warfare. It is now a war of science and chemistry, of brains against brains. The soldier of today is a skilled mechanic who simply aids in operating the gigantic machine of modern warfare.

"A trench is captured, lost and won again. That is all that happens here, and the struggle continues, then in the constant. Even when lying on his bed of straw the soldier hears them, and then the picture of his home, his wife and family quickly fade before him.

"The sleeplessness and the soldier is at his post, keen, alert, faithful and true."

TIED SLED TO TROLLEY CAR

Three Indiana Youths With Bobbed Oxide Peer Oyst's Sensational Ride on a Deer.

Elkhart, Ind.—Peer Oyst's sensational ride on a mountain deer was a Pullman coach trip compared with the ride of three Elkhart lads on a bobbed sleigh which they attached to a southbound interurban car the other evening. The rope caught and they could not unfasten it. The car gained speed and the boys continued to cling as they passed Third street and Indiana avenue and some other things they could not describe. Near station No. 19, and after a wild ride of 1 mile, the sled upset and the boys were skidded over the ice-covered ground. Marion Schooley, son of J. V. Schooley, of No. 223 Hickory street, was injured, the ligaments of his right shoulder being badly torn. His companions escaped serious injury.

HOUSE IS SOLD

Baker Rooms Built Eight Years Ago, Sold This Week to Man From Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Baker this week sold the Baker rooms on South Main street to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee, of Ellensburg, Wash., who took possession at once and will continue the business at the same old stand. Mr. and Mrs. Baker built the house eight years ago when the town was small and have won an enviable reputation for the high character of service given during the time when the city was building and up to the present. Mr. Baker is now in Port Worth, Texas. Mrs. Baker will leave the city in about a week and spend a month in Montana, the guest of a daughter there. She will then go east and meet her husband in Iowa, where he will be on business, and together they will go to Chicago to visit another daughter, after which they will take a trip before returning to Twin Falls. They will probably locate here permanently, as they have a ranch near town and also city property.

The new proprietors have had experience in the business and expect to conduct the house along the same line as heretofore.

We Believe the Maxwell is Greatest Motor Car Value on the Market

BUT our opinion would not be of any particular importance to you if it did not coincide with the facts. We only want you to look the market over carefully. Then we absolutely know that you will agree with us.

In the first place there is the remarkable Maxwell engine. No four cylinder motor of its size has more "pep" or go to it regardless of the price of the car it drives. It will climb hills on high gear in a manner that will astonish you. It is quiet and works day in and day out with a sound, business-like hum that is good to hear.

Any engineer will compliment the design of the chassis. And those who are not engineers cannot fail to note its simplicity and staunch construction. As for what it is made of, we can truthfully say that better material cannot be bought.

The operation of the car is simplicity itself—the brakes are powerful—the springs are long and flexible—the axles are strong and the steering apparatus, like the rest of the chassis, is built to stand the most severe service the car may ever have to face, wherever or however it is used.

Then if you consider looks important, and most people do, you will not find a more attractive car than the Maxwell at anywhere near the price.

And it comes to you fully equipped with all the attachments you will ever want or need; electric starter and lights, demountable rims, one man top, self-ventilating, rain-vision windshield, etc. All for $655 (five passenger touring car) or $635 (two passenger roadster).

We know you can't beat it.

Touring Car $655

Roadster $635

SWELEY ORATOR AT MEMORIAL SERVICES

Twin Falls Lawyer Speaks at Buhl Decoration Day—Other Life West End Notes.

Senator M. J. Sweley of Twin Falls gave the address of the day, says the Buhl Herald. It was a masterpiece, a beautiful tribute to the veterans of the Blue and the Gray, both of which were represented on the platform. Mr. Sweley discussed the custom of observing the day from origin, and in the course of his address expressed the belief that, while the country would do all in its power to keep away from hostilities with any country, it would always be willing to take a stand for what was just and good, and should war come, hosts of young men would answer the call as they did in those trying days of the civil war.

Following the speaking on the lawn of the Frank H. Buhl school, the procession formed and marched to the cemetery where services over the dead were conducted by Rev. Van Patton. The national guard company first of the county, and "tap" was sounded by Musician Sles.

Mary Slocumb, who with her parents moved from the Lacorne school northwest of Buhl, to Flor, made a high average in the eighth grade examination for county diploma, a few weeks ago. She averaged 85 and 60 for her scores, placed from the Flor schools, and ranked high in the county. Mary was out of school last fall until Thanksgiving time, and had it not been that she took a part of the examination soon after entering, her teacher believes she would have been the first high school in September.

Five valuable collie dogs belonging to E. R. Brooks, manager of the big service ranch and to his killed last Friday because of having rabies. There were three puppies and two old ones. The dogs were bitten about two weeks ago by a dog which was affected with rabies, and which attacked the puppies at first, and then turned upon the older ones. Mr. Brooks kept the dogs chained, thinking it possible that they would not become affected, but they showed signs of rabies the latter part of the last week.

The Buhl Grain & Produce company began this week to add another story to their concrete warehouse and to put up a new 30-foot concrete grain elevator. The grain elevator will be about twenty-five feet square and fifty feet high, built from the basement up through the present warehouse. It will be divided into bins for the different kinds of grain. A set of scales are being put in front of the side door of the warehouse, so that grain may be weighed from the wagons at the warehouse.

J. Brennan, who has been employed as janitor at the Buhl high school since the building was erected, has invented and is now manufacturing a dustless sweeping compound which he is putting on the local market at such a figure that the outside concerns cannot compete with his product. Mr. Brennan discovered the compound about a month ago, and since that time he has made several varieties. He has supplied the local market, furnishing most of the business houses with sweeping compound since then.

J. M. Selber, who lives in the Castelford country, had his left ear bitten off by a horse last week. Mr. Selber was sitting in the barn yard, and on a stand just in front of the horse, when the animal suddenly reared forward and took a piece from his ear. The gash was painful, though Mr. Selber said that it might have been worse, and he is thankful that the animal left part of his ear.

One of the prettiest and most palatable banquets which have ever been given in Buhl, was planned, prepared and served by the Junior class of the high school last Thursday evening, in the high school gymnasium. It was the first of a series of banquets which it was the first social school function which was prepared by the students, without the aid of a teacher.

The Annual association of the Buhl high school gave the second annual reception to the graduating class with a formal dance at the Buhl opera house, Monday evening. There are about 45 boys and girls who have graduated from the Buhl high school since the high school was organized, and most of them were present Monday evening.

L. J. Dayley, who has been with the Elbert Drug company for the past eighteen months, purchased an interest in the store. The transaction took place about the first of the year, though there had been no public announcement of it until recently.

The Internum Concrete company, of Ogden, Utah, will put a factory in Buhl about the first of June for the manufacture of concrete blocks for building sites. A plant is expected to be in operation soon after June 1, according to information received the first of the week.

A. R. Anderson, who has been manager of the New York store, here in Buhl, resigned from that capacity and disposed of his interests Monday. David Bernator, of Boise, arrived and took charge of the store the first of the week.

S. C. Kearley, who arrived ten days ago from Tennessee, will open an office for the practice of law in Buhl within a few days. Mr. Kearley is a son of W. G. Kearley. He has secured an office in the Citizens State Bank building.

Hosiery, meat, and rubber have been the most important imports received here from the far east.

PROFITABLE MARKET FOR RABBIT SKINS

BERLIN—The Prussian ministry for agriculture, domains and forests, has issued an appeal to all the agricultural associations and organizations in Sigmaringen urging special attention be paid in the coming months to the breeding of tame rabbits in order that as many skins as possible may be obtained for leather purposes, and that the fat of the little animals may be available.

Already there has been established a "Company for Making Use of Skins, Inc." To which anyone may send his bunny-skins. The desirability of raising the numbers is enhanced by the fact that they require little or no food that human beings need, and yet can in part be fed with waste. The appeal says that oils and fats obtained from rabbits are already very scarce, probably will become more so, and will probably be short for a period long after the war.

ONE HALF OF RUBBER BEING USED FOR TIRES

The census bureau has issued a preliminary statement of the general results of the 1914 census of manufacturers with reference to the rubber tree industry. It shows among other things that the production of rubber tires for 1914 was valued at $146,411,692 and formed almost half, 48.8 per cent, of the total value of all kinds of rubber goods manufactured during the year.

There was reported the manufacture of 51,825 tires, of which 27,000, valued at $105,671,238; of 9,006,896 inner tubes, valued at $20,098,936; of solid tires for motor and auto vehicles to the value of $13,756,831; and 3,728,138 motorcycle, bicycle and airplane tires valued at $5,595,552.

Sylvester A. Long

One of the foremost figures to command public recognition of the chautauque platform as the people's forum, is Sylvester A. Long, noted scholar, author, orator and educator. He is president of the National League of Association, of which great body he is a chief support and armament. Mr. Long has done much to impress upon the public mind the importance of candid discussion of the epochal problems which confront us at the present time. He will deliver at the chautauque his most famous lecture, excerpts from which have been widely quoted in the press and leading periodicals of the country. It is a major address, packed with the pivotal significance of the contemporary spirit of events. This speech is a gem of analysis which takes into account the relations of the nation, at the same time pointing out the counter forces at work. He sounds the note of the universal hunger for peace and understanding. His lecture shows whereby this very sincerity of desire is slowly but surely moulding events to this end.

Mr. Long is a thinker and an orator of democratic power and appeal. Vivid, determined, incisive, forceful, he talks with, not at an audience. His eloquence is the spontaneous glow of his thought, the rhetorical flights of unbridled fancy but rather plus his aptitude of example to each illustration as it will fit like a steel cut engraving. His humor is distinctive, and lends a sauce like flavor to the meat of his discussion. Mr. Long fills the stage with confidence and holds it. He possesses a charm of voice and manner, wholly refreshing, and he brings a message that will accompany your thoughts long after he has gone. Mr. Long lectured in every state in the Union, appearing in more than 250 towns for from two to twelve times in each place. Every city, town and chalet that he has heard him has demanded his return.

CHECK ARTIST—MAKES ESCAPE

running up and with Miss Huff went directly to the depot anticipating that the man would try to leave on the evening train. "When we arrived at the depot," said Mr. Zollman, describing the incident, "we saw a man sitting alone in the men's waiting room. Miss Huff thought he was the same man and said, 'good afternoon, Mr. Huff?' to which he replied, 'good afternoon.' Then I told him that we were having trouble with the check and he said that the check was all right. I told him that Mr. Senior had not signed the check and he asked to which Senior we referred. We said that it was the man who lived on Sixth. He said that it was not that Senior but was a man who lived on a mile and a half in the country, who signed the check. Miss Huff said, 'why you said it was Mr. Senior, who lived on Sixth.' Then he told me that rather than have any trouble he would take back the check and pay me. He handed out $15 for the check. Then I told him that he had given other checks and would have to wait until he had settled for those. I called to Miss Hargrave to telephone for the police. When he heard this he made a dash for the door and I jumped on his back. He rushed out and stumbled over a railroad I caught him around the legs as he went down. I called for help and a number of men outside the depot ran up to assist. Attorney Asher R. Wilson, who was there, said, 'let him go. We will take care of him. He will not try to get away.' The others stood aside and I searched him and found a small pistol in his pocket. He told me that he would make it but for me and I told him to go ahead. He insisted that he had done nothing wrong. The police waited in the ladies' waiting room and out again and around to the east end of the depot. I kept after him and he finally told me to stop following him and I said that I would not. Then he drove his hand into his hip pocket and told me that I had better stop. Seeing that I would not be waiting as fast as he could toward the freight depot, an east and I followed. I was pretty badly winded by that time, while he, being a young man of 30 years or less, was fresh. I pursued him until I was behind the Harder which was a stationer, when I called out, 'Harder, looking that someone would be about. When the man heard me call he rushed toward the hall park and around it turning north and I was unable to keep track of him further.

GETTING CONVENTION TICKETS, CHICAGO

The police and sheriff's office had been notified a short time before the anti-up at the depot. A street artist was at work and were given to understand that he was still busy. Being on the lookout about town, the officers missed the call from the depot at first. They intended going to the depot just before train time if their search in town proved fruitless. When they arrived there the man had taken flight.

Mr. Zollman describes the man as being about five feet ten inches in height, and weighing about 200 pounds. He had a round full face and black hair. He was dressed in a dark suit, with white or light shirt and wore a new, flowing tie. Mr. Zollman adds, however, that others who saw him describe him differently and that one man said he wore a khaki suit.

TALKS ON BANKING.

WHEN YOU BORROW MONEY.

In the course of human events it becomes necessary for most people to borrow money. Business men who can make ten per cent, or more out of trading find it profitable to borrow in order to carry on business on a larger scale. Discount their bills and carry complete stocks. Others find it desirable at times to borrow for various purposes, and some find it necessary to borrow because they have either failed to save, or have been unable to save and are confronted with an exigency that requires money.

Should you at any time find yourself in such a condition, do not borrow from your friends, go to your bank. That is what banks are for. They live by their loans, and no banker will refuse a loan that meets certain requirements and is in his estimation good. It is proposed in the next two or three talks on banking to tell you what the banker wants to know when you offer him your note. Whether the loan is large or small the same rules apply.

In the first place the banker will expect you to be a depositor. Most banks make it a rule to lend to only those who are customers, and customers means depositors. If you favor the banker with your account, giving him profit from the use of your money, he will be glad to reciprocate and let you use his money when you need it and offer the proper security. The rule is well established to lend in the proportion of not over five to one; that is, if you keep a balance of $100, the banker would lend you $500, if he thought well of your credit standing. The greatest mistake business men make is to keep little or no balance in the bank and then expect the bank to accommodate them with loans.

Take an actual case that happened recently within the experience of the writer of these talks. A business man wanted a note of $100 discounted to meet his payroll. The banker knew him. His moral standing was good. In looking up the account his balance was but fifty cents. Now what did that indicate? Just this: That the man would be harassed and tried every body until his capital was on his books, here, there and everywhere, and he was not collecting his bills. He had no "free money" to carry on his business. He had no working capital. He was "strapped." The banker was perfectly justified in asking the borrower either to make better collections, or get his affairs in such shape that when pay day came he would not have to depend upon borrowed money to pay his men.

Nothing so hurts an application for a loan in a well managed bank as a low average balance, and all good bankers give heed to this factor. Therefore, as a starting point, do your business through a bank, depositing your receipts and making your payments by check, and keep a balance large enough to gain the banker's good will when he looks at his ledgers to see how much of your own money you have available when the needs of business require. Don't do all your business on borrowed money, for if the banker finds it out, he won't discount your note.

Special Announcement

A TALK WITH OUR PATRONS REGARDING THE NEW CHAPLIN COMEDIES PRODUCED BY THE LONE STAR FILM CORPORATION.

The big demand and high quality of these new comedies makes Chaplin more popular than ever. Unprecedented in the annals of motion picture history are the bookings throughout the United States and Canada for the new Chaplin features. One hundred and thirty prints of "The Floor Walker" are being shown throughout greater New York. It can be stated, that with a few exceptions, every representative theatre throughout this country and Canada, has secured bookings on these new features. Up to this time, a total of $1,300,000.00 in bookings on these comedies alone, has been reached, establishing a new record for similar operations. In addition to this $175,000.00 in royalties for the year's releases were paid by Henry J. Brock, a film exporter. This did not include the royalties received from the Australian market, which figures were not made public by the corporation.

When John R. Freuler, president of the Mutual Film Corporation, paid the versatile Chaplin, $670,000 for one year's services, he opened a lead which looks very much like a $2,000,000 profit before it is worked out. Next to the war in Europe, Chaplin is the most expensive item in present day history. As Mr. Chaplin was twenty-seven years old, April 16th, he is doing reasonably well for his age.

There is something peculiar about this Chaplin craze. A prominent minister of Boston based a sermon on the question. He said in part—If Chaplin had lived in the Puritan times, he would have been burned as a witch. But he is doing good, because he is provoking laughter and bringing sunshine into souls. A personal friend of mine—a jolly, jovial sort, one whom I would gamble on would like Chaplin's work immensely, says he don't want to see Chaplin at all. Another friend of mine, whom I judge as serious and therefore would not like Chaplin's style—thinks he's "simply great"; which only shows how a person's likes and dislikes vary.

Occasionally we hear the expression that a certain picture, vaudeville act or song, is "rotten." Usually this is wrong and very unjust, as the one making the remarks bases his criticism on his own personal tastes. Such remarks, however, are quickly going out of style, as they are a reflection on the other fellow, who enjoys the same numbers, immensely, and considers them mighty good; and it is only a case of a person's likes and dislikes, anyway.

While I showed Mr. Chaplin in Keystone comedies for nearly two years, I personally like Roscoe Arbuckle far better of the two. They both received their first schooling in picture work through the great Triangle Keystone Comedy Director, Mack Sennett.

The first Chaplin comedy to be shown here is named "The Floor Walker." In this picture, Chaplin has much opportunity to be funny; he accepts a job as floor walker in a department store, using all the available material for comedy business a department store boasts, and adding a few of his own strokes. Chaplin succeeded in producing a comedy that will make his admirers yell with delight. Just what the floor walker is all about, does not make any difference. Its two parts are filled with laughs and quality to suit the fans.

"The Floor Walker" Comedy will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday next week, June thirteenth and fourteenth.

The franchise for showing these comedies costs us a stiff price—far more than it should be. A new Chaplin comedy in two parts will follow every four weeks, and same will be shown as part of our regular program at our usual schedule of admission. Therefore, if you are a lover of Chaplin's work, rejoice, and bring all your friends. On the other hand, if you don't like him—well, then—close your eyes and wait for the next number.

The dominant notes of our policy has always been that you may at all times derive full value in personal pleasure and satisfaction for the amount of admission paid. We have been building with the point in view of always giving a program of pleasing variety—every program not a feature program, but a "constant quality" of good variety attractions, motion pictures of clean, bright plays, the best to be obtained from literature, art, science, travel scenes and comedy, which are enjoyed by the entire family, young and old.

Monday nights only, we specialize exclusively on "choice picture" subjects; Saturdays, we usually show all comedy. The Triangle plays we feature because they have set the standard for upward progress in picture plays, with clean stories, superb photography and perfect direction, which means you are rarely disappointed, and we all get full value quality entertainment.

Very cordially,

A. R. ANDERSON, Mgr., Orpheum Theatre.
