PROGRESSIVES NOT PLEASED SAYS SWIM

Well Known Leader Says Party Is In Danger

WITH ROOSEVELT OUT MAJORITY WILL SUPPORT HUGHES

Handpicked Delegates Nominated Judge—Error About Tabling of Telegram

"We Progressives are not very happy over the way that things turned out," said Arthur L. Swim yesterday on his return from Chicago, where he attended the national Progressive convention as a delegate. "There is one matter which seems to have been misunderstood with reference to the telegram from Colonel Roosevelt recommending the nomination of Senator Lodge," continued Mr. Swim, "and that was the fact that, contrary to general report, and to the understanding of the Republican convention, we did not table the telegram. The Republicans understood that we had laid the recommendations of Colonel Roosevelt on the table and they at once proceeded to nominate Hughes, thinking that they could not get together with us because they supposed that we had repudiated their terms. Of course, I do not know that they would have done differently in any event, but that misunderstanding was a serious one. The handpicked delegates were handpicked to nominate Hughes. I do not believe that Hughes was the first choice of the bosses, if they could have nominated someone that better suited them, they would have done so. He was more satisfactory to them than Roosevelt and therefore they backed him. There were more Roosevelt sentiments even among the handpicked delegates to the Republican convention than was evidenced by the 81 votes received by Roosevelt in the second ballot. The party was managed so that this sentiment could not be used for our candidate. I believe that had Roosevelt been nominated he could have been elected without a doubt. As it is I do not know, and do not know even what the party will do. We nominated Roosevelt and expected to lose, and we supposed that he did not want to do that when it could increase the chances of electing Wilson. I cannot say what the other delegates thought of his declaration, as it occurred long before we adjourned.

"The leaders are now consulting with Colonel Roosevelt, and should support Hughes in the event of his nomination, in my opinion, will do the same. They will not support him as enthusiastically as they would have supported Roosevelt. They will, speaking generally, not support him as warmly as they would have supported Senator Lodge, although Lodge is a much closer thing to them than they know where Lodge stood on pre-conditions and that was the big issue with them. Some of them seem to feel that Hughes is a little better than that issue than Wilson is and, as I said, in the event that Roosevelt does not run, I think that the majority of the party will support Hughes. I notice that Henry Allen is already out for Hughes. On the other hand, Victor Murdock takes the result with him as a bitter loss. I understand that he is going abroad to be away during a great part of the campaign.

"We had lots of enthusiasm in our convention. Senator Borah visited us one day and we called on him for a speech. He said that he had come over to get a little enthusiasm. There was much enthusiasm among the handpicked delegates at the Republican convention. We were enthusiastic for we were the sort of people that believe in the things that Colonel Roosevelt represents. We regret the way that things turned out and none of us feel very good about it. Some of the biggest and brainiest men in the country were in our convention, and if the Republicans had voted on our plan, I am certain that we would have won a great victory.

"Do you not think that it would have resulted more favorably for you had your convention nominated Roosevelt at once?" Mr. Swim was asked. "Yes, but you see what happened to your olive branch," was suggested. "Well, yes, I see that, but we acted as we thought best. I cannot say what would have been best, or what would have happened had we done as you suggest," said Mr. Swim in conclusion.

CHAUTAUQUA ON HERE NEXT WEEK

Advance Man Arrived From Portland Yesterday

FINDS SALE OF TICKETS HAS BEEN SATISFACTORY

Many First Class Attractions in the Way of Education and Entertainment

Wild Indians with flaming feathers on their bonnets, railed every part of the city yesterday with the story of the Chautauqua, following the arrival in town of the big sachem, S. H. Schuler, who came from the Portland reservation. The Chautauqua is a group of places, and the Chautauqua council three flags and banners bearing legends appropriate for the season were distributed and floated from the autos as they drove around the streets and every effort was made to crystallize the sentiment for the coming festival of reason and fun and music into hard cash, through the instrumentality of tickets and reserved seats. The tickets are on sale at the commercial club, the Booth Mercantile company store, the Idaho Department store, Jenkins & Co., Bannell Hart, Twin Falls Bank & Trust, First National bank, Idaho State bank, Fisher Drug Co., Maestri Drug Co., City Pharmacy, Glos Book store, Model Shoe store, Alco Clothes, Mr. Schuler said that he was pleased with the sale of tickets made before his arrival considering the fact that no special effort had been to sell tickets by means of a canvass. He said that the Chautauqua was a very big thing on the circuit and would show up well this year. He laid special stress on the fact that the quality of the New York Marine band, the Maestri band, the expedition pictures and the Kaffir Boy choir. Along oratorical, educational lines he spoke particularly of the address by R. M. Wainmaker of the Ohio supreme court, Lou Beauchamp and Sylvester L. Leitch. He mentioned the other features as being "at the highest class." The program will open Monday evening with scenes from Shakespeare and the production of "Comus" of the North Woodville. Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock will be given "King Arthur's Court" in the Junior High school, followed by a lecture by J. L. Schuler. On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 there will be a concert by the International Operatic company, followed at 8 o'clock by the lecture by J. L. Schuler. In the evening a grand concert will be given by the same operatic company. In addition to the thorough speaker and his numerous lectures, the management of the course lay special stress on the address of Dr. Charles Zerkow, who takes on municipal affairs. Where desired, he speaks to the local commercial club. The bar association expects to receive Judge Wainmaker on Wednesday. Mr. Schuler will remain in the city until Saturday.

RUSSIAN TROOPS LANDING AT MARSILLES

Several large bodies of Russian troops have landed at Marsilles in recent weeks and moved north to the fighting line. At the French port they have given a joyous welcome. They are said to be all picked men.

COMMITTEE AT WORK ON FAIR

Geo. Smith is Selected as Fair Secretary

SCHOOL DAY HELD SEPTEMBER 20, TO BE IMPORTANT

Fast Horses Expected on Track Which Will Be Among the Best in the Country

Every effort is being made to arouse interest in the county fair by the committee and the responses so far received are reported to be altogether satisfactory. George Smith has been engaged as field secretary to work up the exhibits, and there promises to be a splendid showing of all kinds of live stock and of products of the field and farm when the gates are opened on Tuesday, September 12. Mr. Smith put on a successful fair here some years ago. W. E. Sanger of the committee, says that the intention is to have the affair over before the state fair which opens in Boise a week later, so that people can take their best exhibits there from Filer. Special attention will be paid to the school exhibits, and the second day, September 20, will be given over entirely to the schools. County Superintendent Bertha Noel has agreed to supervise the school exhibit and there will be a holiday in the schools all over the county for the occasion. A stock judging contest by school pupils will be a feature. Pupils will be admitted free to the grounds on school day. It is expected that there will be some fast stock on the race track during the week, especially on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and all sorts of clean amusement will be furnished to the people. The race track will be one of the best in the mountain states.

CALIFORNIANS ARE PLEASED WITH TRACT

Come From Pomona in Search of Land—Illinois Man Is De-lighted

"We came here to see this country on account of the very flattering recommendations that we received and we are going away willing to testify that the reports received were not exaggerated," said John F. Evans, head of the board of education of Pomona, California, who with C. T. Blinn, also of Pomona, and Thomas Baldwin of Illinois, were in the city yesterday. Mr. Evans is a cousin of Mrs. H. W. Wilson. All the visitors expressed interest in the land in the city. They said that they were looking for investments and that they were pleased with the land in this part of the country. For many reasons they were interested on account of their children as lands around Pomona did not offer the opportunities that seemed to be afforded here.

ELKS FLAG DAY SERVICE SUCCESS

Patriotic Program is Observed at Lavering

SEVERAL ADDRESSES DELIVERED BY NOTED ORATORS

Appropriate Musical Program Part of Exercises—Day Generally Observed

The annual flag day service held in the Lavering theatre Wednesday night under the auspices of the B. P. O. E. of this city, was attended by a large and more appreciative audience. The stage was fittingly draped with flags for the occasion. The officers of the Elks and the orchestra occupied the stage, while the remaining members of the lodge marched in a body and took their places in the front of the theatre.

The program opened with the audience singing "America," accompanied by the orchestra, which was directed by J. T. Bainbridge. This was followed by the regular introductory exercises by the exalted ruler and officers. Prayer was read by Chaplain Frank Kendall. The overture, "Stradella," by the orchestra, preceded a well prepared paper by C. D. Thomas on "The History of Our Flag." This was followed by a medley of our national songs by the orchestra and included all the old-time patriotic tunes. Then came the altar service by the exalted ruler and officers, and the presentation by the three exalted knights, J. E. Johnston, Carl B. Hoag and J. G. Thorp, of an appropriate tribute in the form of a large bell made in sections by the regular introductory exercises. The bell was in front of court house and park. By permission of the mayor and city council these two blocks will be roped off for the day. Events: 1:30 p. m. to 3:00 p. m.—Races on Shoshone street between court house and park. PROGRAM FOR 4TH ANNOUNCED

Grand Parade to Be Given in Morning

AFTERNOON DEVOTED TO AMUSEMENTS OF ALL SORTS

Stores Will Remain Open Until Noon to Accommodate Visitors To the City

"Booming of cannon Rocks Red Flag High in the Air"

Nothing will be lacking to arouse the good old fashioned manifestation of patriotism on July 4. The people will all turn out, early to either participate in the parade or to witness it. Then there will be daylight fireworks, with ice cream free to the kiddies, and in the afternoon there will be a splendid program ending with the ball game at 3:00 o'clock. The whole will wind up with a grand carnival and display of fireworks. There will be dancing, too, and a good time in general. The Twin Falls band will again cover itself with glory and give inspiration to the multitude. The Merchant's association has voted that stores be kept open until noon to accommodate the people.

MCCOY FOUND GUILTY

OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Jury Finds That An Agent of Ira Brackett Had Converted Money—Case Unique Here.

After several hours deliberation, the jury in the case of the state of Idaho against James McCoy on the charge of embezzlement, brought in a verdict of guilty late Saturday night. This is the first conviction on the charge of embezzlement ever secured in the court here, and one of the comparatively few ever secured in Idaho, as it is necessary to prove to the satisfaction of a jury in such a case that the person convicted obtained money for a lawful purpose and with lawful intent as agent of another and afterwards converted such money to his own use. If the defendant is merely in custody of the money or property and then converts it, it constitutes larceny, but not embezzlement, under the Idaho statutes.

The state claimed in this case that McCoy on April 22, 1914, obtained from Ira Brackett, $1500 on a promissory note given to Judge Lawrence H. Hunt, and April 27, 1914, $2000 more on another promissory note given to the Idaho State bank. That this money so obtained was given defendant by Brackett for the purpose of going to New York and securing a controlling interest in the Jarbidge Altitude mine from a man named Van Vleck; that after he had received the money and had gone to New York in company with J. J. Diess, a former resident here and secured an option on 400,000 shares of the stock, for $1000 for which the first payment of $300 was to be paid later on, and the balance at a still more remote time, McCoy, without consulting Brackett, went to Norfolk, Va., from which place he notified Brackett of what he had done in the case of Van Vleck, and that from this time on Brackett heard nothing from him until he was brought here a prisoner from Seward, Alaska. That he had converted the money in his possession to his own use and that this money was the property of Ira Brackett.

The defendant claimed that he was a partner with Brackett and two others in the ownership of the mine and that he could not, therefore, be guilty of embezzlement under the law. He also claimed that he did not improperly convert any money to his own use; that it was understood that he was to go to Alaska to sell his own stock and to put money into the mine for further development. The defendant produced a letter which he claimed he had received at Winston-Salem, N. C., from Brackett in which the latter purported to treat him as a partner and to confirm his mission to sell stock. He also claimed that on his return to Salt Lake City he had discovered that there were certain unpaid claims against the mine, and that he had paid the balance of the money which was left after the trip in the satisfaction of such claims. Evidence that he had made certain payments for the labor and supplies was introduced by the defense. He claimed that he made no undue haste in going to Alaska and made no effort to cover his tracks.

Mr. Brackett denied that he had ever sent the letter produced by McCoy and which the latter claimed he had received in North Carolina. He said that he had never written or signed such letter and that the signature which appeared on it was not his, but was a forgery. Expert testimony was not introduced in the case to substantiate the statement of either.

The case was one of the most fiercely contested criminal cases ever tried in the court here. The prosecution was conducted by County Attorney John E. Taylor, who was connected with C. J. Van Pelt, of Seward, Alaska, a personal friend of the defendant.

REWARD TO BE OFFERED

FOR ARREST OF BOOTLEGGERS

BOISE.—Prosecution of those engaged in the illicit traffic of bringing into Idaho intoxicating liquor in violation of the prohibition law is to follow swiftly on the heels of reports placed in the hands of Governor Alexander that such a traffic is going on in Ada, Canyon, Twin Falls, Bonanza, Bear Lake and other counties in this state. The governor is in receipt of an opinion from Attorney General Joseph H. Peterson to the effect there are available $2500 state funds that can be used for offering rewards for the apprehension of those engaged in the traffic and the state's chief executive announced that he proposes to make use of the money and to start in on a campaign of running down the law violators.

"It has come to my knowledge that in Twin Falls, Canyon, Ada, Blaine, Bear Lake and other counties in this state a certain amount of liquor is being handled and sold in a process known as bootlegging," said Governor Alexander. "It is high time to stop this. The people of the state of Idaho, according to my opinion, demand that the traffic shall cease and I am determined it shall. I am giving public notice to those engaged in that traffic to obey the terms of the prohibition law forthwith, otherwise I will offer rewards for the apprehension of those so engaged for which there is no existing appropriation. I mean business."

MORE VICTIMS OF EXCESSIVE SPEED

Terrible Accident on State Highway Near Richfield, Caused by the Speed Mania—One Dead, One Badly Hurt.

Another automobile accident, the result of sheer reckless driving, occurred on the public highway about a mile and a half from Richfield, last Friday evening, says the Jerome News. One person was killed outright and another very seriously injured—so seriously that his recovery has been a matter of doubt and may still be so.

Robert Brown, driving a new high power car, with Mrs. George Brown, his brother's wife, and three young girls as his passengers, undertook to turn a corner in the road at high speed, when one front wheel broke off at the axle. Mrs. Brown fell under the car with the fender across her, breaking her neck. Brown was generally smashed up, the report being that he was broken and a leg broken, his shoulder sprained and perhaps internal injuries. He was in a precarious condition at last reports. The three girls in the rear seat of the car escaped without serious injury.

It is reported that Mr. Brown was driving at a rate of sixty miles an hour and did the reckless speed, all on account of the turn of the road. Both Robert and George Brown formerly resided in Shoshone and both have paid damages in the recent past to others on account of having run their victims down with their cars. Robert nearly caused the death of a young man in Shoshone and was driving at the end of a court fight, and his brother ran down Station Agent Whitehead of Shoshone, on the street and also paid damages for personal injuries.

The deplorable wreck of Friday appears to be charged to nothing but the speed craze.

He has the diplomas, testimonials and reputation of being a man whom all people appreciate as a dentist of skill, giving satisfaction universally to his clients who need service in his line of profession.

Recent reports as to the condition of the mother of Messrs. Goramie and W. E. Halsey, are that she is seriously, perhaps fatally ill in Oregon. This is a very disappointing news to the children and grandchildren here who had heard that there were hopes for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hilstead, formerly of Salt Lake, arrived here on the first. Mr. Hilstead becoming assistant to the acting, Dean of the Oregon Short, office here, by the way, transferred from the Salt Lake general office. The work of the Rogerson office serving such a vast territory compels the service of the men.

Mrs. Howard Gibbs and little son are spending several days with relatives and friends in Twin Falls.

Our Peterson, who has been engaged in the carpenter trade here for a year, has moved to Twin Falls.

R. E. Warner, who has been the guest of Mrs. L. L. Hise for a month, left on the 10th to take a position as traveling salesman for a Salt Lake candy firm.

Children's day services were held Sunday morning and the whole service was an unusually interesting one. The church building was appropriately decorated, an orchestra of four places assisted in the music, the audience overtaxed the seating capacity of the church, the Sunday school committee program was carried out, and a goodly offering for Sunday school missions was given.

C. R. Detweiler and children of Hollister, were the guests last evening of Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Keith at the McMillan hotel.

Kimberly News

(From Kimberly Call)

Mrs. J. Warren White and little daughter, Evelyn, of Buhl, visited here a few days with Mrs. White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edson. Mrs. White left Tuesday morning for a few days' visit at Boise and Evelyn will visit with her grand parents during her mother's absence.

Mrs. W. F. Brecken left Tuesday to spend the summer at Newport, Oregon, in the hope of regaining her health, which has not been good of late, and will stop for a few days at Portland and attend the rose festival. She will be accompanied on the trip by Mrs. William VanHouten, who will remain only a short time.

The teachers of the public schools have most all left on their summer vacations. Misses Nelson, Elynn and Wright will visit at their homes in Michigan. Miss Ovelly will spend the summer at her home in South Dakota and visiting friends in Iowa. Professor Downing has gone to Corvallis, Oregon, and will spend part of his vacation there and on the coast.

G. W. Frenschel arrived Monday from Lenoir, N. C., and will visit here during the summer with his son, W. R. Frenschel, and his daughter, Mrs. R. A. Bean. Mr. Frenschel has visited this section before and expresses surprise at the rapid development he finds since his former visit.

W. T. Rice has sold his Electric Cafe and confectionery store to W. L. Downing. The name has been changed to "The Grill Cafe." Mr. Rice is looking for a new location and is considering taking over a confectionery store at Caldwell.

The Gem State Lumber Co. has the contract for furnishing the lumber for the new school building. H. F. Allen of Seattle, is the building contractor. This company is also furnishing the material for the new residence being built for T. M. Atkins on his property near Rock Creek. The building will be of brick, steel, with six rooms on the ground floor with modern conveniences. It will be one of the finest country homes in the county. A mass meeting held Monday night at the opera house, called for the purpose of changing the organization of the base ball team. It was decided to hire a coach and otherwise strengthen the team and a board of directors was elected, composed of A. J. Wilson, B. H. Atkinson and C. H. Upton. It was also decided to hire three men to strengthen the team. The boys have not up with a little hard luck so far this season and it is thought that with a little additional strength the team will make a showing before the season is over.

The three churches of Kimberly, the Christian, M. E. and L. D. S. have organized what is known as the "Kimberly Welfare League," which is composed of five men from each church. The object of the organization is to keep down vice of all kinds, including bootlegging, etc. It is the league's duty to report to the authorities any irregularities of the kind that come to their notice.

COST OF MATERIAL IN AUTOMOBILES SOAR

An interesting comparison of the prices of material before the great European war and at present has been announced by the engineering department of the Maxwell Motor company. In one instance a metal used in the construction of Maxwell cars has fallen on the enormous jump of 718 per cent, and no metal on the list shows less than a 47 per cent increase.

Iron and steel have also jumped in proportion, the lowest increase being 31 per cent, while the high figure, for plates, shows a rise of 104 per cent. The increase in the price of pig iron ranges from 31 to 46 per cent.

"If the Maxwell company had not contracted for materials in large quantities, due to its enormous production of more than 106,000 cars for the current year, it would be forced to follow the lead of other motor car manufacturers," said T. J. Foster, Pacific coast manager of Maxwell interests. "Even as it is overhead expenses must be carefully watched, because the policy of the company is naturally bent on keeping up its high standard as to product."

Recent advices from Pittsburgh show that prices are still on the upward trend. A carload of ferro-manganese, a steel alloy, was sold on the basis of $1,000 a ton, which is a record price. Forging billets were sold on the same occasion for $485 a ton, which was a jump of $4.25 a ton over the price previously reported.

The Reward of Careful Attention

There's no accident about successful cattle raising.
Good buildings are a first essential.

A well-planned cattle barn soon pays for itself. You can almost see the difference in the condition of your stock. It is one more safe-guard against loss from disease.

In planning your cattle barn, you naturally have problems of your own to take into consideration. The size, location, and interior arrangement must be adapted to your needs.

Instead of putting up a separate building you might find it better to build an addition to your present barn equipment. In any event you will consider the convenience to yourself and your hired help of having a building of ample size.

Talk it over with us. We want to help you decide upon the one best building for your purpose.

Finest Special Commemorative

A number of our residents attended the picnic held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd last Sunday. The picnic was given as a surprise to Mrs. Frank Boyd's mother, who is out from Nebraska on a visit with her daughter and relatives living near Kimberly. Those attending being once residents of Nebraska, and nearly all of the picnicers old neighbors of Mrs. Boyd's mother. The pleasure seekers gathered early with bountiful baskets, at the home of a neighborhood by their proceeding up to the Boyd home in a bunch, surprising the unsuspecting lady. The picnic dinner was spread on the lawn, and the afternoon spent in visiting and telling of the good points of Nebraska, while those living here saying Idaho just beats that state a little in everything from sunshine to bountiful crops. A number of pictures were taken during the afternoon to be sent to relatives not lucky enough to see Idaho for themselves. Those present were: H. H. Kilburn and family, Floyd Jones and family, W. Kilburn and father, C. Jones, and Targuino and family, S. S. Jones and family, R. Griffith and wife, and Mrs. Gertrude Valentine, with her two sons, Lefroy and Charles.

Miss Annie Smith invited a number of friends to her home last week, the occasion being the young lady's sixteenth birthday. Pinch, authors and other games passed a pleasant afternoon, at the end of which Miss Annie served refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake and ice cream to her guests on the lawn. Those present were: Dorothy Ray, Nora Jones, Marion Berthold, Isabelle Clark and Annie's sisters, Henrietta, Edith and Lunetta Smith.

Mrs. Benjamin Holland and her little daughter, Nora, of the Oaks Corner district, were shopping in Twin Falls last week.

Will Gibson, wife and little son Wayne, were guests at the F. T. Brown home last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nicholson and daughter were business callers in Twin Falls Saturday.

Mrs. Percy Washburn was looking after business in Twin Falls on Monday.

Mrs. Charles Hunt was shopping in Twin Falls last Saturday.

Miss Dorothy Roy was a guest at the Nesbitt home last week from Twin Falls.

Mrs. John Ault, formerly of this place, was operated on last week in Twin Falls. She is rapidly recovering.

Emil Falk returned home last week after an absence of several days over on the North Side near Eden, where Mr. Falk owns a farm.

An auto of young folks drove up to Artesian City on Monday on a picnic and pleasure trip. They took well filled baskets along and picnicked in true picnic style. Those driving up were: Leon Martyn, Lefroy Valentine, Annie Smith and Marion Berthold, the young folks being chaperoned by Mrs. Amos Martyn.

Frank Wilson of this place, has been on the sick list for the past week, but is getting better.

S. K. Nesbitt, wife and girls, Edith, Nettie, Annie and Henrietta, were guests at the D. F. Clark home last Friday evening.

A slight frost visited some parts of the neighborhood Friday night, but no effects of Jack Frost's visit have been reported.

Charley Shoop, wife and baby, were in Twin Falls last Saturday.

Joe Wilson was a Twin Falls business man Saturday.

Conserving Lost Motion.

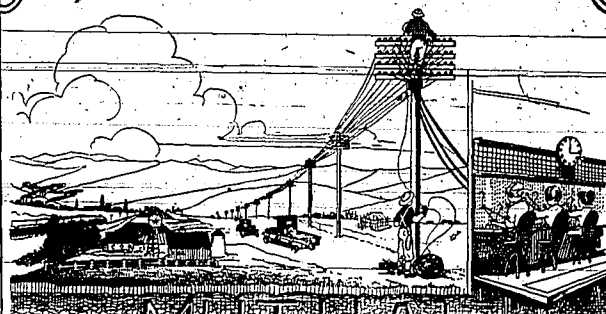

Just a word concerning numerous inquiries relative to the operation of a great chautauqua circuit—how, and why—a program of maximum merit can be presented at a minimum price to patrons.

In a day of short cuts in business, swift service, compactness of organization, dispatch of detail, the chautauqua comes to us a premier example of the universal watch-word "efficiency." In operation, a big chautauqua circuit is so closely knit, that seven programs are running at the same time instead of one. "Talent" is hired by the year. Railroad fare per capita is reduced to a minimum. Round trip tickets are performed with stop over privileges. The material of three big tents are packed in one car. In the old days of the independent chautauqua, this shortening of expense, taking up the slack, was impossible. It was a startling illustration of lost motion. "Talent" was brought across the continent at enormous expense, for one engagement and then turned loose, whereas now, on the same ticket, they cover a season, with only slight additional expense in transportation, the cost of a tent for one assembly was the same now paid for a tent that his ten or more towns in a season. The same comparison obtains throughout. Programs were necessarily limited, both with respect to quality and variety. Notwithstanding, heavy deficits were the invariable rule. Promoters staggered under the financial obligation heaped upon them. The chautauqua could not go. There was no substitute for this all-American canvas college, concert hall and forum of the people. A few men of foresight set themselves to the stupendous task of building the labyrinthine net work of the great chautauqua circuits of this country. Chautauqua ensigns float from the mast heads of tent and auditorium assemblies, at one time or other during the summer season in the majority of towns and cities throughout the United States.

Of these circuits, the Ellison-White Chautauqua system represents the "western half."—Advertisement.

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE

Telephone service enters more intimately into the lives of the public than does any other utility, for it affects, in a greater or lesser degree, practically every form of human activity.

We cannot afford to pursue any course, which, upon analysis, would prove to be contrary to the best interests of the public and a consequent betrayal of public confidence.

This condition imposes upon us grave responsibilities, which we cheerfully recognize and which we undertake at all times to discharge in a manner that will merit public favor.

Therefore, we shape our policies and build our rates to conform to the best thought developed in the telephone business up to the present day.

By pursuing such a course we believe we will always merit the confidence of the people we serve.

Our entire PLANT, which affords facilities for intercommunication in the cities, towns and rural districts of seven states, is built upon confidence. Confidence in the industrial and commercial future of the territory which our system covers; confidence in the fairness of the people we serve and confidence in our ability to serve the public well.

Our entire BUSINESS is built upon confidence. Confidence which the public has in our corporate character; confidence in the integrity of our policies and confidence in our ability to render efficient service.

A NON-PARTISAN INSTITUTION.

The Pork Barrel is not a respecter of parties. The Chicago convention overlooked this fact when it condemned the Democratic administration on the grounds of "wasteful appropriations" and "shameless raids on the treasury." It speaks of the Democratic party's "opposition to and rejection of President Taft's oft-repeated proposals and earnest efforts to secure economy and efficiency through the establishment of a simple business-like budget system"—entirely unmindful evidently of a simple little fact, it should have remembered—that the Republican congress to which President Taft made his recommendations, rejected the suggestions.

We do not apologize for the Pork Barrel system. It is a bad one. We do not say it is impossible to eliminate it, or at least to reduce it to comparatively harmless proportions. It can, and should, and will be done; if not now—then eventually. And the sooner, the better.

But the party has a corner on the mystery of human nature. The people of Twin Falls, for instance, want all they can get in the way of a postoffice. So do the people of all cities throughout the United States. These people—all good people at heart; all opposed to the Pork Barrel in principle—all feel very indifferently towards the congressman who fails to deliver to them at least the substance of their requests. Just human nature, and their congressmen, also quite human, supports other congressmen in getting a "big slice" for their constituents, in return for support for their home appropriations. And thus it goes.

Taft wanted to eliminate it and establish a budget system, putting all appropriations on a business basis. Congress, Republican at that time, did not see it that way. Congress, Democratic now, has not seen it that way.

We concede to the Convention the right to point with pride to what a Republican president urged; and we concede to that Convention the privilege of keeping mum with reference to what the Republican Congress did—but the inconsistency of charging the Democratic party with all the faults of that historic and non-partisan institution known as the Pork Barrel, is too glowing to be passed over in silence.

By all means the Pork Barrel should be eliminated. Such an effort, if made in Congress today, would have the support of both Republicans and Democrats—some of them; it would have the opposition of both Republicans and Democrats—most of them.

The job of eliminating the Pork Barrel is one for the people to undertake. They must watch their congressmen, and moderate their own demands. Their congressmen, for the simple reason, will tell them the Pork Barrel must go. The people must see that that same congressman stays in the same frame of mind after he is elected. The Pork Barrel enjoys a continued existence because congressmen change their minds.

EUROPEAN WAR PICTURES AT THE LAYERS SATURDAY

A birdseye view of the great struggle of nations in the war that is being waged at an enormous cost in men and money, is what residents of this city will have the good fortune of witnessing in "The European War Pictures" soon to be shown here by the Williams Feature Film company, through whose exclusive agency this famous motion picture is to be released in Idaho. This film or series of films was taken in Europe on the battlefields where the German armies were invading Belgium and triumphantly stamping some of the bloodiest fortresses in the world.

While soldiers were armed with rifles bent on death dealing missions, brave men in the war that is being waged were running their cameras in the case of shells and bullet, running every known risk to accurately record the battles and war incidents that followed one another in rapid succession. These are what will be seen in "The European War Pictures." They are history recorded only as the movie eye can record it, for the camera never lies.

The dramatic effect of "The European War Pictures" is startling and spell-binding. Thousands of miles away from the seat of the war the people of the United States are able to see past before their eyes the early stages of the struggle. So clear are many of the scenes that returning to them one who had witnessed the pictures could identify them. From a historical standpoint the pictures have a value difficult to estimate. Even a child can see them with profit. For two hours and one-half the war pictures are unfolded before the audience, narrating history as it actually took place. Spectators are carried away by the startling effects produced by the camera, which captures the camera saw—mighty armies battling, bombarding and driving forward in their efforts to bring about victory; women and children struggling to save their own lives and others dear to them, together with some of their manager household effects; sons rushing to the colors of their country, eager to engage in the terrible conflict in which millions have been murdered.

If only from an educational and historical standpoint, no one can afford to fail to see "The European War Pictures." When they are shown in this city it may be the only opportunity given to the citizens of this city to afford to make it by. The pictures are actually worth a paid admission as high as $2, but the Williams Feature Film company, through which these pictures will be released in this city, is able to announce the admission will be put within the reach of everyone, or fifty cents. The program is arranged with special music. An entire evening is occupied in giving the program.

Not New Recruit—Guy C. Wade, recently from Oregon, is enlisting at the United States army at the local recruiting station here this week. Lieutenant Bell, who was in the city this week from Salt Lake City, says he is recruiting is going on satisfactorily.

ROBINSONS

Talk

There are some men who have the courage to say OUT LOUD so they can be heard two feet away, that we are to have warm weather. Once in a while a real brave man says "it will be hot soon." I hardly dare venture an opinion. However, we are ready for the courageous, the brave, in fact any or all of you men who may be, or will be, wanting warm weather or hot weather things, such as Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery, Ties, Suspenders, Belts and the many other things needed when the mercury begins to "Rise Up."

By the way of reminder, I would just mention Men's Soft Collar Shirts at 45 and 69 cents, better ones at a dollar and a dollar fifty.

Men's band shirts with soft cuffs, a big line of new and stylish ones at a dollar and one fifty.

Men's band shirts, with starched cuffs, in the better grade of percale, at $1.00, or three for $2.75. A better grade than are usually sold at the price.

A man's ecru color union suit, tailor made, with military shoulder, elastic neck band, long cuffs on sleeves and legs, at 75 cents, 2 for $1.45. Those who have bought this number think it is a remarkably good one for the money.

A man's bleached, fine yarn union suit, made with closed crotch on Cooper machines, making it very comfortable and elastic. These are splendid value at 95c a suit, or 2 for $1.85. The men's nainsook union suit we are selling is made athletic style. No sleeves, knee length, with elastic set in piece at back, giving added comfort. We have them in regular, slouch and stub cut. Wash like a pocket handkerchief and wear splendidly. The price is but 90 cents.

RAHES STORIES IMAGINATIVE.

If we must have more mad dog stories, don't you think it is about time we had a few facts regarding such things, for the stories you and both the other Twin Falls papers have been printing for the last five months are the worst lot of fabrications and workings of a scared imagination, I think, that ever got into print. I notice that you always say "reported" in telling mad dog stories and not that you saw it yourselves. For if you had seen it, the explanation of the scars that comes along afterward would not look very well; as for instance, that poor crippled, wounded coyote that scared the Houserton folks into fits; then the dogs that went mad north of Hollister. The doctor that you quoted didn't seem to agree with the hog owner. Then the Chamberlain wolf found that bit (?) the stranger that was trying to put a chain on him. That dog was a regular man-eater and he nearly got owned him. A wolf found of mine that winter from an over-dose of porcupine quills and if any stranger had ever tried to chain him up or man-handle him (which they were doing with that dog) I could guarantee that they would have got bitten enough so they could tell if it was a bite or a scratch. I notice also that the explanations of such of the mad dog bunnies that gets into the papers is never printed with big black headlines (that looks like a Kansas cyclone coming) as the original story was.

I won't claim to know what was the matter with the hound that was killed in Hollister last week for as soon as you can get a dog dead and buried

MARTIN H. GLYNN

Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, is temporary chairman of the Democratic convention.

You can call it anything, for the reason that it is a safe proposition to shander the dead. But as I have had four dogs killed with strychnine and about forty or fifty cases of poisoning besides, a dog with a purple tongue and staggering, also frothing, is a rather common sight to me. As one of my hounds showed up about a week ago with a soiled strychnine tag and as a neighbor's colic disappeared about the same time, I have a hunch that there is a dog poisoner that needs shooting, or else the dogs got popper poison accidentally.

I don't suppose any of the hounds around here are muzzled, and why should they be for none of the other dogs around here are muzzled? The sheepmen seem to want more mad dogs and mad coyotes than any one else in the state, and while they were driving 15 or 20 bands of sheep past here this spring (that is to me) cutting up my pasture) I never saw a single one of their dogs muzzled. I keep six hounds and I can assure you that a dog won't go to the expense of muzzling or keeping that many dogs unless he has use for them (unless he is an idiot) and though none of them have been killed for mad dogs so far, still the idea of people wanting to kill them on such a pretext as they have had for dog killing here of late is a proposition that don't go very well. If anyone has any positive proof of such a disease as rabies I want to know where you get it.

Before I owned any hounds I got the best medical works on dogs I could get and not being satisfied fully, I got the U. S. government works on Rabies and Hydrophobia and from all I could learn from them I have decided that anyone that says a dog positively or undoubtedly has rabies is showing his own ignorance, or else he is exactly what Mark Twain said, "A lur of the first magnitude." Of course my books may be clear out of date and superseded by later discoveries for I got the government work nearly two months ago.

I am not claiming that a dog bite will not cause death by blood-poisoning and would no doubt cause different effects than other wounds—that were infected with a different germ. I don't think for a minute that the party in the case of the Hollister dog misrepresented anything purposely about that wound, but I would like to know what mad (?) dog for I believe I have had about as much experience with dogs as any one around here, and though I have lived through five mad dog scares in the last 26 years and they were killed all around me, still I never got to see a mad dog, and I have missed the one right here, too, for I never even saw a ghost nor a witch nor a hoop snake, but I know lots of other folks that did see them.

Yours respectfully,
A. DOUBTER.

A LETTER FROM FLORIDA.

"As we promised to write and let our friends hear how we like the sunny south, I will try and do my best. Our motto has always been, "Stand up for the state we live in, and boost," so I think we had better keep still in regard to this part of Florida. We say Fort Myers is a pretty town, although no place for a poor man. There is nothing to do in any way for a white man. Colored men and women do the work; everything is very dear here, except cows. They can be bought for from $35 to $50. Hay, and poor hay at that, is 2 1/2 cents a pound; the water is very poor. People use rain water to drink, and milk is forty cents a gallon wholesale, and fifty cents retail, so poor people cannot drink milk. There are some lovely winter homes here. Henry Ford bought a place last week and Thomas Edison has his home here. The people are the very best and do all they can to make a stranger feel at home. We have met one Twin Falls man, Leo Rexford. We want to say to the people of Twin Falls, that they had better not sell their homes and leave, thinking to find something better, for there is nothing better and few cities as good. I was visiting in Wisconsin and Illinois and saw nothing to compare with the Twin Falls tract.

We are not homesick or sorry we came, as health first is what we are in search of.

TALES ON THRIFT

THE THRIFT HABIT.

The trouble with a great many people is they expect to acquire good habits in old age, while they spend most of their youth in cultivating bad ones. It is so easy to postpone doing the things that are hard until tomorrow, and so easy to drift along today. Not only is it paved with good intentions, but the pathway of the average man is strewn with the wrecks of good intentions. The whole scheme of right living contemplates that man should not put off until tomorrow the things he should do today.

— the beverage that suggests long drives and pleasant summer pastimes. Sparkling with life and zest, Becco represents the highest attainment in the production of a satisfying, non-intoxicating beverage.

One of the habits we hope to acquire some time is the habit of thrift. This habit often comes late in life—not always from choice but often from necessity. Having satisfied habits that are destructive, when the passions are burned out of a decaying mind and body, men find themselves more or less free from temptations, and mistake a flickering flame for a rippling virtue. Any habit which is forced to itself in an unhealthy environment, and becomes meaningless in its practice.

Before you can practice a virtue, you must desire the results which that virtue brings, and understand the process through which it comes. Many a man has gone to his doom because he hoped to stop drinking or spending, or gambling, some day, but his hope never got to the point of action. Frequently you will find a man alone, or in groups, on a wind-swept plain, trees with no branches on what the sailor would call the "windward side" and leaning sharply in the direction in which the wind blows. This has been no sudden process. For years the north wind has blown gently or fiercely against the tree, so that little by little it has become its habit to grow lopsided.

No bad habit is acquired in an instant—it is a subtle process, little by little becoming so fixed that the nature becomes distorted, like the tree, battling in vain against an adverse wind.

If this habit of "thrift" is to be a wholesome, sweet, and fruitful one, it must be acquired while the body is healthy, and the mind vigorous. It must not be a dying reformation. Its best work can be done when the earning power is greatest, the resisting power strongest, and the future, it may be, afar off.

No man ever becomes a spendthrift at a single leap. The wasteful habits which he allows to grow become so fixed that it is acquired little by little, as a steady pressure (in the right direction) until it becomes second nature to save and thrift becomes a habit.

ing more to waste, but the sad commentary on human life is to find at the close nothing stored up of energy, money, or property, for which the best years of life have been given.

Thrift is a composite virtue. It includes the desirable attributes of economy, self-denial and saving; but it is no relative to stinginess or meanness. The man who would let his grandmaster starve is not a thrifty man, but a brute. Any virtue carried to extremes becomes undesirable and no longer a virtue. The thrifty that does not make a man charitable is sure to invite. Thrift means better homes, better citizens, more comfort, more enjoyment, little waste, little anxiety, peace. Out of it grows aggressive energy, steady courage, opportunity, independence, self-respect, firmness in life, manhood. It is the one material habit that has no shady side. It is acquired little by little—a steady pressure (in the right direction) until it becomes second nature to save and thrift becomes a habit.

What the lady said

A LADY said she had tried other good coffees — and had found them satisfactory. But, she had come back to her favorite, Schilling's Best, because it was a little smoother, a little richer—and she was always sure of results.

Any 40 or 45 cent coffee, packed evenly ground, in vacuum-sealed tins, is pretty sure to be good. But Schilling's Best is not only good—it is economical. It goes further.

This is partly due to its even grinding—every ounce yields the utmost flavor—and to the vacuum-sealed, airtight tins which protect all its fresh-roasted strength for your use.

Sold only through grocers.

BURGLARY CHARGE FILED AGAINST R. E. GREGG

Claimed That He Broke Into the Residence of R. H. Lee and Cleaned Up the Whole House.

R. E. Gregg of Hollister, was arrested last night on the charge of having entered the residence of R. H. Lee in Shoshone Basin about June 1, by breaking the lock and having stolen therefrom everything that it contained in the way of wearing apparel and groceries. The technical charge is burglary. Lee, who spent the winter near Buhl, moved on his claim in May and put in a full stock of groceries for the summer, after which he went back to Buhl to get his stock and close up his business there. Returning on June 7 he found that the door had been broken open and that everything he had brought to the claim had been stolen. He suspected Gregg, who recently moved from the Shoshone Basin to a place near Hollister, and on his suspicions being strengthened, he took steps to search the premises of the latter, where he found numerous articles of clothing for both sexes which he identified. Gregg denies the charge. A full feature of the case is that he has been born in the Great Smoky Mountains and that the mother is still unable to be around. There are two other children in the family.

BAPTISTS END WORK AT THE CONVENTION

Will Meet At Jerome Next Year—Resolutions Thank the Twin Falls Church.

Having carried out the program outlined in the Tuesday issue of this paper, elected officers, selected to come as the next place of meeting and adopted resolutions, the annual meeting of the Idaho Baptist Central association closed last night with a song service, addresses and sermon.

The following committees were appointed Tuesday and went to work at once:

Nominations—J. R. Wraga, Miss Ethel Sletwell; H. E. Holloway.

Place and Preacher—Mrs. J. M. Rogers, Mrs. Robert McMahon, Mrs. H. E. Scott.

Obituary—Rev. F. H. Harris, Mrs. L. M. Holloway, Mrs. W. S. Hyde.

Entertainment—Miss E. Williams, Lickey, Miss Alice Gibbs, Mrs. J. Pringle.

Resolutions—Rev. W. L. Kyles, Miss Marie Goodman, Miss Elveta Davis.

The committee on resolutions recommended the election of Rev. H. L. Caldwell, of Knall, for moderator; Rev. W. L. Kyles, of Buhl, for clerk.

The resolutions committee reported in favor of the five-year program for the church in which an effort will be made to increase the membership by 1,000,000 baptisms, to build a missionary home and foreign workers by 5000 and greatly increase the number of students in institutions of higher learning in science and agriculture.

besides securing an endowment of $5,000.00 in endowments for educational institutions and an annual income of $5,000.00 for missions and benevolent causes. The resolutions also thanked the Twin Falls church membership for their hospitality and thanked Dr. A. M. Petty and Dr. J. D. Sprague for their presence and work. Prohibition was endorsed and Governor Alexander urged to request to assist with all his power in its enforcement.

ANOTHER AMUSING TRIANGLE KEYSTONE, ENTITLED THE OTHER MAN

Fatty Plays Two Roles in this Comedy. One as a Tramp and the Other as the Polished Sultor For the Hand of the Rich Girl.

On the Evening of April 21, THE RIALTO THEATRE of New York City, opened its doors. This Picture Palace cost TWO MILLION DOLLARS, and is considered the finest Picture Theatre in the world. The comedy feature on their opening program was ROSCOE ARBUCKLE in the two-part TRIANGLE KEYSTONE, entitled "THE OTHER MAN."

This does not mean that this particular comedy was better than the last Arbuckle feature we showed, but it proves that the New Yorkers think very highly of Roscoe Arbuckle.

THE RIALTO FEATURES TRIANGLE PROGRAMS.

S. L. Rothapel, manager of the Rialto, is considered the best authority on the picture business in the United States. He says in part: "While there are other good pictures made, we are convinced after due comparison, that the Triangle Plays maintain such a high standard of picture-art that they are not excelled."

ISIS INSTALLS A PURE AIR SYSTEM

The Isis Theatre is installing a modern system for the supplying of pure, cool air, which will be in operation during the latter part of the week. The new system insures a complete change of air every three minutes. An immense blower is put into operation having a capacity of 500 cubic feet of air per minute. There are 15 openings in the floor for the admission of the air under a proper system of distribution, while the surplus is sucked up through the ceiling. A generator for a direct current is also being installed and this will be ready for use inside of two weeks. In addition to the above improvements, a new screen is being installed.
