MEXICANS SLEW WOUNDED TROOPERS

So Declare Men of Tenth Cavalry
Freed By Carranza

CAPTAIN BOYD BLAMED IN STORY
FROM GUIDE.

Spillsbury Says Commander Was
"Bull-headed," But Soldiers Declare Mexicans Tried Circling Move.

EL PASO, Tex.—The 23 negro troops of the Tenth cavalry who at Carrizal, Villa Ahumada, Chihuahua City and Juarez have been central figures in the most striking and potential chapters of the Mexican situation, are once more safely out of Mexico.

Survivors of a bloody battle with a vastly superior force; victims of a mob that stoned them; more than once gripped with the fear of execution for their part in the Boyd expedition; and, lastly, objects of intense suspicion by the president of the United States, they were brought to the border from Chihuahua City on a special train Thursday and turned over to General George Bell, Jr., commander of the El Paso base.

Two stories, widely diverging, were brought back from their captivity by the prisoners.

One, told by Spillsbury, upholds statements he was credited with making at Chihuahua City, charging Captain Boyd with "bull-headedness" in advancing in the face of a certain Mexican attack.

The other, narrated by fighting men of the Tenth, declares the Mexicans to have been the aggressors and blames them for the ensuing slaughter.

The latter account is embellished with charges that have hitherto been brought to light.

Private William D. Gibson, declared he was certain that after the Americans had left the field of the Carrizal battle, the Mexicans went over and killed several Americans who were wounded but still alive.

Gibson's assertion was corroborated by Privates Arthur Jones and Luther Alexander.

Numerous others of the troopers claimed they had been robbed of money and valuables following their capture.

LIBERTY MUST BE VINDICATED

Cost of Translating "America First" Should Not Be Considered

PEOPLE SHOULD GUIDE POLICIES OF COUNTRY.

Puts Forward Golden Rule and Asserts He Is Ready to Fight For It Regardless of Cost to Himself.

PHILADELPHIA—President Wilson describing himself as "in a fighting mood," came to Philadelphia Thursday to a large crowd in Independence square his conception of some of the cardinal American ideals.

He declared that America, in dealing with other nations, must "vindicate at whatever cost" its principles of liberty, justice and humanity; that "America's first duty is to be translated into action exalting it above all selfish interest; and that the nation's policy and development must be ruled by the whole people, and not by any small group.

Applause repeatedly interrupted the address. The crowd liked particularly the president's declaration that American principles must be vindicated in the country's foreign relations, which apparently was interpreted as referring to the Mexican situation. At no time, however, did Mr. Wilson mention Mexico or any other foreign nation directly.

"I believe," the president said, "that America, the country we put first in our thoughts, should be ready in every point of policy and of action to vindicate at whatever cost the principles of liberty, of justice and of humanity to which we have been devoted from the first."

"I believe that at whatever cost America should be just to other people and treat other people as she demands that they should treat her. She has a right to demand that they treat her with justice and respect, and she has a right to insist that they treat her in that fashion, but she cannot insist upon that unless she is willing to act in that same fashion toward them."

"That I am ready to fight for at any cost to myself."

Urging that the whole people should shape the national policies, the president said that some pretended to believe in the average man, but when they acted they showed they did not.

"America first," means nothing until you translate it into what you do," was a statement that brought prolonged applause. Cheers also greeted the president's declaration, that, while he was not interested in fighting for himself, he was "immensely interested in fighting for the things that I believe in and so far as they are concerned, I am a challenger to all comers."

Officially, the president addressed delegates to the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, but a mixed crowd heard him. He spoke in the open air, under the shadow of Independence hall. He left for Washington immediately after the address.

MAKE BIG REDUCTIONS
ON THEIR 1917 PRICES

Maxwell Motor Company Brings Cost of Touring Car Down to $585; Roadster to $550.

A most interesting announcement for 1917, with regard to automobiles in the lower priced field, comes from the Maxwell Motor company, Inc., of Detroit. This announcement is that the price on their touring car and roadster is materially lowered. The touring car is reduced from $650 to $585; the roadster from $585 to $550.

In this definite announcement of a substantial reduction in price, the Maxwell company also announces that there will be no changes in the car. This confirms all previous announcements that the Maxwell car is now a standardized product. Walter E. Flinders, president and general manager of the Maxwell company, and the able corps of engineering and manufacturing experts he has gathered around him are convinced that their product has attained such a uniform degree of excellence that the necessity for radical changes in design and construction has been eliminated.

The change in Maxwell prices became effective July 1.

In explaining the reason for the big reduction in the price of Maxwell automobiles, the manufacturer declares that increased production made it possible.

"The manufacturing cost per car has been greatly reduced by our increased production," said Mr. Flinders. "Our plants at Detroit, Dayton and Newcastles have been taxed to their capacity to supply the orders of dealers. We have made arrangements for the manufacture of 100,000 cars for this year and we know from the enthusiasm with which the 1917 announcement was received that this number will be disposed of easily."

"Certainly no other car in this field can point to the consistent performance behind the 1916 Maxwell. This car has given such excellent satisfaction under all conditions that we were not just justified to change it in any particular."

The same manufacturing policy will obtain in the Maxwell plants, the standard Maxwell chassis being used for five different body designs. These designs include a streamline five-passenger touring car, a two-passenger roadster, a two-passenger cabriolet, a six-passenger town car and a six-passenger sedan.

The sedan is the newest Maxwell model, having been added to the line

DEAN PERKINS
TAKES DAY'S PLACE

Boise Real Estate Man Will Take Up
Land Commissioner's Work August 1st, Board Rules Unanimously.

BOISE—At a meeting of the state land board on Thursday afternoon, Dean Perkins, a Boise real estate dealer, was appointed to take the place of State Land Commissioner George A. Day, resigned. Perkins is now assuming office on August 1.

Commissioner Day resigned following trouble with the land board that grew, indirectly, out of the Hutton land loan cases.

Perkins was for a while an appointee of the land board in the state treasurer's office, taking the place of L. L. Folson, who was peremptorily dismissed by the board. He gave up the position when State Treasurer Engelson appointed another man to the same place and when it began to look as if there would be a contest between the state treasurer and the land board for authority to fill the position.

The board took no action in the matter, it being understood that Heber Hale is to hold the place for the time being.

The vote on Perkins was unanimous, although at first the governor was expected from voting.

SUNDAY MOVIES
WIN IN BOISE

Decision of District Court Is Reviewed by the State Supreme Court.

BOISE—In future Boise citizens may enjoy Sunday movies, the supreme court of the state having reversed the decision of the district court in the case of Joseph Perrault, appellant, vs. Former Mayor Robinson and the members of the city council, on the appeal from judgment sustaining the demurrer to and dismissing the application for a writ of prohibition.

The action was begun by the appellant to prevent the mayor and council from submitting to a referendum vote the ordinance permitting fictitious shows to remain open on Sunday, which was passed after a petition containing the required number of names, in accordance with the statute governing this question, was presented to the council. The ordinance was held to cover the question without need of a referendum vote.

MEXICANS BEING MOVED

Development of Perching's Army Becoming Pronounced—Expeditionary Commander Prepares for Emergency

If these reports are true the enveloping movement of the Mexicans around General Pershing's army is becoming more and more pronounced.

Entered at the Twin Falls postoffice as second class matter as a twice-a-week publication, October 18, 1910.

Tomorrow is the Fourth.

It is the day on which men and women become boys and girls again in a spirit of youthful enthusiasm, in honor of the birthday of our glorious union.

We cannot help it. The spirit of joy and youth and buoyancy is in the air.

It is a sentiment. Something that springs naturally and spontaneously from the circumstances of our national birth.

It is right and proper that the natal day of our Liberty should arouse this impulse within those who enjoy the privilege of living under the American flag, whether native or adopted.

They would be ungrateful sons and daughters did they feel otherwise.

Then, why not manifest that feeling?

Why not show the sentiments that we actually feel?

We all want a "sane" Fourth. No sensible person, whether seven years old or seventy, cares anything about being burned up, or getting intimately connected with an explosion of powder. But why not explode a little within ourselves?

Why buy powder to express our feelings?

Let's all cheer when the band plays Yankee Doodle and Dixie, and applaud when the Star Spangled Banner is sung.

Let's march down the street as though we were celebrating the perennial renewal of Liberty instead of its funeral.

Wave your flags.

Cheer the band.

Applaud the singers.

"Cut loose" is expressive if not beautiful advice.

But it does not mean that we are a revival of "Peck's Bad Boy," multiplied a few thousand times.

It does mean that Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia and Brother Jonathan and the Goddess of Liberty and You and We are just healthy patriotic youngsters that never grow old or become feeble or luke-warm in our patriotism.

The spirit of '76 is still with us, ever will be.

Let Old Glory, who marches always in the interests of all humanity, march down the street tomorrow amid resounding cheers from the throats of all, young and old alike.

THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA.

Never since that glorious fourth eighteen years ago when the news of the great naval victory of the American fleet over the ships of Spain at Santiago stirred the people to the utmost enthusiasm, has there been such a conscious feeling of patriotism among the people of the United States as their country's natal day as there is this year, when in every state hundreds of the best and bravest young men are under arms, ready to fight for the cause of humanity, as the boys fought for the cause of humanity in 1898. It is well that occasionally the depths may be stirred that the loyalty of our citizenship may be made manifest in a tangible way, though there has never been a doubt of its latent ad imperishable existence among those who know the heart of America.

There is a feature of this manifestation that may escape the notice of the superficial and that is that in this country it is stirred only by an appeal to the humanitarian impulses of the people and does not respond to the spirit of conquest. It is this that makes America what it is. The cause of humanity finally led American armies into Cuba, after many years of patient waiting. For more than seven years of his administration the great soldier, President Grant, with deep concern, saw a struggle take place for liberty on "the Gem of the Antilles," but with the abhorrence of war which always characterizes the truly great, he saw that intervention then would not result in the uplifting of humanity and in a message that is quoted as a classic by authors on international law, he explained to the impulsive that the time and occasion for intervention had not arrived. Two great presidents of different political faiths saw another strife lengthen into years on Cuban soil. They struggled valiantly to preserve humanity without the shedding of human blood. Even when the Maine was blown up there was no undue haste, but when the time came when the cause of humanity permitted action that would be effective, William McKinley called to the American people and regardless of party they responded; and the age of frightfulness in Cuba was no more. Had Spain yielded to the ultimatum delivered to her then, war would have been averted. She did not and found the American boys ready to vindicate human rights which she failed to grant. If those in authority in Mexico now meet the conditions justly required, the war cloud will be dissipated. If they do not the spirit of '76 and the spirit of '28 will lead the soldiers of the republic to another grand victory for the cause of liberty and of mankind.

In every city and village and hamlet in the land today flags are floating as never before, and around and under them men of all classes are rallying to show that "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives," and that behind it, in its capacity as representative of all the people, stands America embattled, ready to shed the last drop of blood that the flag may continue to represent what it has always represented—the cause of the whole human race.

THE ROOSEVELT DECLARATION.

In declaring himself for Charles E. Hughes for president and thus eliminating from practical consideration the Progressive party as a political organization, Theodore Roosevelt adopts a course which compels many of his most ardent admirers to differ from him. Bestowing praise on the Progressive platform of 1915 he adds:

"Events have shown that the Progressive party in 1912 offered the only alternative to the triumph of the Democratic party. Moreover, these events have shown that the application of the principles which we then advocated is even more necessary to this nation than we at the time supposed."

Yet he does not presume to say that the party and the candidate whom he endorses have espoused these great principles which he avers are even more necessary now than they were when he left the Republican party in 1912 to form a new organization. He does indeed give a degree of credit to the Democratic party for so doing, when he says: "Our strongest party antagonists have accepted and enacted into law, or embodied in their party platform, very many of our most important principles."

It is, therefore, fair to assume that Colonel Roosevelt thoroughly understands that on the issues of 1912, President Wilson and the Democratic party are nearer to his position and to the Progressive position than are Charles E. Hughes and the Republican party.

Passing to the foreign policy of the present administration, it is difficult to see the validity of the arguments by which Colonel Roosevelt attempts to prove that the position of Mr. Hughes is preferable to that of President Wilson. He fails to define the general terms which Mr. Hughes left undefined. Mr. Hughes has denounced our Mexican policy and implied that he would have done something else, but until he tells what that something else would have been, the voters must be left to judge for themselves whether that something would have been better or worse.

On the subject of the professional German agitators, Colonel Roosevelt seems even more lame. He says:

"It is urged against Mr. Hughes that he was supported by the various so-called German-American alliances. I believe that the attitude of these professional German-Americans was due, not in the least, to any liking for Mr. Hughes, but solely to their antagonism to me. They were bound to defeat me for the nomination. The only way by which they could achieve this object was by supporting Mr. Hughes and they supported him accordingly, without any regard to other considerations. These men have nothing in common with the great body of Americans who are in the line of our party, and who are precisely as good Americans as those of any other ancestry."

Now, if the professional agitators supported Hughes against Roosevelt because they preferred the former to the latter, it is sound logic to assume that they are supporting Hughes against Wilson for the same reason. Every inference which Colonel Roosevelt could draw in favor of himself from this circumstance, would apply just as forcibly in favor of President Wilson, whether the colonel is unbiased enough to realize it or not.

A platform and a candidate satisfactory to the pro-lyphenates, as indicated by utterances quoted in these columns recently, and at the same time satisfactory on that issue to Theodore Roosevelt, must indeed be very much misunderstood, and while the position of the Chicago platform and its candidate may be correctly understood by the lyphenates or by the colonel, the average voter will await further elucidation from Mr. Hughes in regard to his construction of what the platform says and what he has said before deciding which interpretation is the correct one.

COMPANY M. DESERVED THE TRIBUTE.

The enthusiasm which greeted Company M. on its arrival in Boise from Idaho Falls and neighboring towns was as unbounded as it was merited. Idaho Falls had no company when the call of President Wilson was issued. But the young men of eastern Idaho lined up at once to volunteer. Nearly 100 men from that city and from Rigby and the country round about, flocked to the banner ready to die if necessary in defense of the country and its rights. The spirit manifested deserves all praise and whether peace or war shall be the outcome, their willingness to serve will not be forgotten.

CATTLE RUN IS

CHECKED IN MARKET

Prices Still Good—Hogs Are Commanding Steady Prices—Sheep Week Wool Prospects Good.

The cattle run of the last month seems to have been checked, says the Portland Live Stock Reporter of last Saturday. Tuesday and Wednesday head 700 head to date against 1800 head last week. Tuesday found several hundred head on the market of the fair variety and found good sale. Most stock and feeding cattle were in good demand. Wednesday's market consisted of only a few loads of thin cows and steers, which went at steady prices.

Tuesday showed another light run of hogs going at steady prices. Tops sold at $3.25. With only a small run yesterday it was a repetition of the previous day's market.

The sheep trade continues to meet reverse. Prices on most all sales another quarter lower. Receipts continue liberal each day. Demand continues very light.

In the opinion of some, the Mexican situation which has recently developed will tend to boom the market, and it is thought that even though the trouble lasts only a short time it will be necessary to prepare for it and that medium wools will be in great demand. It is well known that the days are hot in Mexico and on the other hand, the nights are cold and blankets and uniforms made of wool will be needed. The cotton khaki, moreover, is not so durable as the woolen khaki. Steer quotations are: Choice rams, $15.00; fair to good, $14.75; common and poor, $14.50. Cow quotations are: Choice, $12.50; medium to good, $12.25; ordinary and fair, $12.00; canners, $11.00.

Wool quotations are: Choice, $1.50; fair to good, $1.45; common and poor, $1.40. Other varieties, $1.40 to $1.50. Bulk quotations are: Choice, $1.50; good, $1.45; medium, $1.40; poor, $1.35.

Milker quotations are: Jersey heifers, $8.00 and up; good grade Durhams, $7.00 and up; Good Jerseys, $6.00.

Hog quotations are: Prime light, $12.00; good, $11.50; medium, $11.00; rough heavy packing, $10.50; pigs and skips, $10.00.

Sheep quotations are: Choice lambs, $10.00; fair to good, $9.50; common and poor, $9.00.

$8.00; choice yearlings, $8.25; good, $8.00; choice wethers, $7.75; common wethers, $7.50; choice ewes, $7.00; heavy ewes, $6.75; common ewes, $6.50.

REV. A. STEWART IS APPOINTED CHAPLIN

People of Kimberly Gather to Bid Goodbye to Pastor

CORPORATION FORMED TO START
A NEW NEWSPAPER

Depot Reports Great Growth in Railroad Business For Year—Seed Crop Is Promising.

Rev. A. Stewart was informed Friday that he had been appointed chaplin of the Second Idaho Infantry and Saturday morning left with his family for Boise to join the regiment. A parting reception was given him at the school auditorium by 100 Kimberly people Friday night, and at which a number of speeches were made and patriotic songs sung. Senator O. G.
Zuck presided at the meeting and in behalf of the community spoke of the kindly feelings felt for the Stewart's,
and also of the duty of all to respond to the call of country. —M. D. Dunton

The people of the people of Twin Falls, joined with the Kimberly residents in expressing appreciation for the course pursued by Rev. Stewart during his residence in Twin Falls county, and of his promptness in volunteering when the call for troops was issued by President Wilson. Rev. Stewart replied briefly and appropriately, closing by expressing the opinion that the Mexicans should be "cleaned up"
should be declared. Rev. Stewart has occupied the pulpit of the Kimberly Methodist church since last summer, and during his pastorate there has been a substantial increase in membership. A $3000 addition has been commenced on the church building and other improvements have been made. The people generally express regret at his leaving. The Methodist pulpit was filled yesterday by previous arrangements. It will be vacant for two weeks, after which a pastor will be supplied until the return of the Rev. Stewart or appointment of a successor.

The Kimberly Leader is the name planned for a newspaper which it is expected will be issued here in about two weeks, taking the place of the one founded between two and three years ago by the late Edward Nelson Buck, and later owned and edited by John Warren and then Bull Plonker. The new paper will be owned by a stock company and edited by L. J. Walker, of South Dakota, who recently came to Kimberly to manage the Call. Mr. Walker is also a practical printer. A new old style Gordon, 13 by 10 jobber has been ordered and will be used for job work and for the printing of the paper, which will be five columns, eight page publication with four pages of patent and four of some print. The politics of the new publication has not been announced.

That Kimberly is prosperous is indicated by the large and growing traffic at the depot. At the depot, Oregon Short Line agent, said Saturday that the total business transacted
at the Kimberly depot for the month of June, 1916, except by more than $2000 the total business for June, 1916.
A. H. Vogeler, of the Vogeler Seed
& Produce company, was in Kimberly Friday looking over the progress of the new, large warehouse which the company is building in connection with the Idaho Seed & Produce company of which H. W. Mund is manager. A large seed crop is looked for this year.

W. R. Summers said Saturday that the alfalfa mill would open in about a month and grind until the season's crop would be disposed of. The products from the Kimberly mill are known throughout the eastern states.
M. E. Eden was on the North Side all last week. He says that everybody is prosperous there and that conditions are better than ever before.

William Waggoner was over from Jerome on business Friday.

BUILT TEACHERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Twenty-one instructors Chosen For Western City Schools—New Courses
Being Prepared.

Twenty-one teachers have been selected for the built public schools for the school year 1916-17, and according to the statement of Superintendent C.
G. Manning, that will complete the list unless extra instructors must be added after the opening of school in September, says the Daily Herald.
Nine teachers will compose the personnel of the high school faculty, outside of Superintendent Manning, who will probably devote his entire time to supervision.

New courses have been made up,
and will be ready for publication in their complete form in a few weeks.
A four-year course will be offered with the opening of school, and a new dining room will be added to the domestic science department of the high school. Miss Florence Tillson will have charge of that department.
The agriculture department will be enlarged and a more extensive course offered. A cream separator and tester have been ordered and will be added to the laboratory equipment.

Typewriters have been ordered to be used in connection with the commercial course. Shortland, bookkeeping, and all other with the commercial course will be offered, so that there will be a four-year list of the commercial subjects.

A normal training course has been outlined for those who want to prepare for teaching, and it will also be offered to high school graduates who want to take up that line of work.

Manning is desirous to have all those who are graduates of the high school and want to take one of the special or advanced courses, call and see him as soon as possible. Several of those who graduated with the class
in June have enrolled for the normal course next year.

Assaulted the Sheriff—An insane
man, by name of Lash, Pennington, was brought in by the sheriff from the sage brush around Minidoka and lodged in the jail. He thought he was in Kansas City and was violent. Monday morning Sheriff Gregory visited him in the jail. The man was hiding behind the door and when the sheriff appeared brought down a chair with all his force upon the place where Mr.
Gregory's head was a second earlier.
The sheriff looked him up, again and he was brought before Judge Bond,
who consigned him to Blackfoot.—Rup-

Grace Girl Takes Strayhine—Cloe
Green, a beautiful girl nineteen years old, is thought to have committed suicide, last week at Grace, by taking strychnine. Dependency brought on by trouble with her sweetheart is assumed to have been the cause of the girl taking her life, and her death was most tragic, as she suffered fearful convulsions before she died.

It is stated the young woman had been very despondent of late as she and a young man with whom she had been living together for some time
had a little trouble and had been unable to patch up their quarrel.—Pocatello Tribune.

Drops County Seat Fight—Desiring
a continuation of pleasant relations and not caring to molest the business interests of Challis by warring for some more satisfactory means of administering public business, the Mackey, Idaho, commercial club voted to drop the fight for the removal of the county seat from Challis to Mackay,
and informed Challis in the friendliest
and most kindly spirit possible that it was the hope of the club that in the not distant future, a county could be created in the Lost-river country that would provide more adequate and convenient business situations and at the same time, not impair or retard the growth and prosperity of another section of the country.—Mackay Miner.

Run Down By Street Car—Deciding
to remain in Boise last Sunday evening, probably the on being that saved the lives of Miss Marion Sarnes and Miss Margaret Hatfield of this city, for the automobile in which they were, to make the trip to Nampa was run down by an interurban car, which struck the rear part of the machine
where they would have been riding.
Mrs. J. F. Barnes, who was driving, received various injuries in the accident. Her left arm was broken between the wrist and the elbow, and her back broken, and her back wrenched.
The attending physicians have not yet determined whether there are serious internal injuries. The only other occupant of the car, her son Royd, escaped with a few scratches and bruises.

The car was practically demolished.
A wrecking ball hit the rear and the body battered and twisted out of shape.—Nampa Herald.

CHALMERS MOTOR CO. OPENS BIG WAREHOUSE AT SALT LAKE

Another convert has been added to the number believing the inter-mountain country to be one of the large and most profitable commercial centers. It is the Chalmers Motor Company of Detroit, Mich., which has an immense interest in the particular interest
to make this week.

A wholesale warehouse and parts distributing establishment has been opened by the Detroit concern at 303
W. 2nd St., Salt Lake City, which will carry a complete line of 3400 r. p. m.
Chalmers cars for distribution and also a large stock of parts from which it will be possible to build any design of a Chalmers automobile. The distributing equipment will be patterned after the four other distributing centers of the company and will be able to fill the needs of inter-mountain Chalmers owners and dealers as expediently as the railroads can handle
the orders.

A corps of factory expert mechanics
will be maintained in the service department, which will be under the supervision of a technical expert.

This warehouse is the fifth district
warehouse the company and is accommodated by the ever-growing business in the inter-mountain country,
which has awakened the Chalmers
company to the great business opportunities of the west.

CHALMERS RECOGNIZES COMMERCIAL IMPORTANCE OF UTAH, IDAHO AND NEVADA BY ESTABLISHING WAREHOUSE IN SALT LAKE CITY.

The big Chalmers factory has moved to Salt Lake City.

That's what the Warehouse in Salt Lake City really means as far as Utah, Idaho and Nevada are concerned.

The great progress of these three wonderful States and their increasing demand for Chalmers Cars are responsible for this move.

To Automobile Merchants, this means that they will now be dealing direct with the Chalmers factory. It means closer co-operation, better teamwork.

It means closer contact with the Chalmers Better Business Department, with the Sales, Advertising, and Service Departments.

To automobile buyers it means better service and quicker deliveries.

A large stock of parts will be maintained at the Salt Lake warehouse—enough to build 1,000 new cars, in fact.

A technical expert from the factory is in charge of the Service Department.

This means that the man in Saint Anthony, Idaho, or in Saint George, Utah, will get as prompt delivery on repair parts from Salt Lake City as the man in Toledo, Ohio, 100 miles away, now gets from the Chalmers factory in Detroit.

This is in line with the Chalmers policy of co-operation and service.

It is this policy which has increased Chalmers sales by 917 per cent in Utah, Idaho and Nevada during the past six months.

Within the next few months, we intend to appoint dealers in all communities where we are not now represented, in these states.

The fact that Chalmers dealers all over the country have sold $22,000,000 worth of 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers Cars to owners within the past six months is proof sufficient that the Chalmers is a line which will bring profit to any dealer.

We are looking for more automobile merchants, not order takers.

We are prepared to back up these merchants to the limit, just as we are backing up the 1293 merchants who now sell Chalmers Cars.

Get in touch with our Salt Lake manager, J. W. Hawk. He is a live wire salesman and a man who knows Utah, Idaho and Nevada conditions thoroughly.

You'll like to meet him.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TESTS STANDARD

Hose Holder Designed by Chief
Carlson Proves Success

ONE MAN CAN HANDLE PRESSURE
ONCE MADE FOR FOUR

Now Contrivance Will Increase Efficiency of Department and Assure Greater Safety.

What many people at first believed to be a call for the fire department Thursday afternoon proved to be a most interesting test with a new nozzle designed by Chief Carlson, under the supervision of Fire Chief Fred A. Carlson. The test was held at the corner of Shoshone and Second avenue last night. Three numbers of interested onlookers.

The local department has long felt the need of some nozzle holding device which would make it possible for one man to handle the hose under the pressure applied by the use of the fire engine. Up to this time it has been necessary for four men to handle the nozzle at a pressure far below that possible of being maintained by the engine. Even at this pressure it has been dangerous for the men at the hose because of its liability to become unmanageable.

At the suggestion of several interested people about town Chief Carlson has been at work perfecting a standard which would overcome the difficulty and this test was the third and most successful of his experiments along this line, the first two tests proving that changes in the standard were necessary before a successful holder would result.

The standard is made of one-half inch steel and consists of a rod one foot long attached by a universal joint to a four-legged base, each leg being eighteen inches long and having sharp-pointed prongs, one and one-half inches in length which rest in the ground. To the arm of the holder are attached two straps with which to operate the nozzle accurately to the standard. Two hands on the nozzle make it possible for one man to manipulate the stream in any direction. The advantage of this standard over those in use in the east lies in the greater leverage possible. On the eastern type of holder the nozzle is attached to a lever on top of the standard, making possible a more limited play of stream.

The permanent attachment on this standard will consist of an eight-foot hose screwed to the regulation nozzle which will be strapped to the holder. A great saving in time will be another result of the use of this standard for only one connection will be necessary under the new condition whereas three connections were required heretofore before the pressure could be applied. This connection will be the one between the new appliance and the hose coming from the fire engine.

The first of Thursday's test was the use of the appliance under pressure coming from ordinary pump pressure, which is 60 pounds to the square inch, to that of 190 pounds. The changes in pressure were made at ten second intervals upon signal at the fire station with one man handling the hose. The second test was that of a steadily increasing pressure, from 60 to between 140 and 155 pounds. Under this pressure there was no trouble encountered in the use of the standard and a stream was turned in all directions from vertical to horizontal. Under no pressure it was estimated that the stream was thrown over 250 feet. With 190 pounds pressure it would have been impossible for four men to handle the nozzle for it fit with difficulty and danger that four men handle the pressure at 110 pounds. With the new standard, however, one man had no difficulty in playing the stream in any direction.

Chief Carlson was greatly pleased with the result of the tests and feels that no further change will be necessary to make the standard more effective. The use of Mr. Carlson's nozzle-holder will greatly increase the usefulness and efficiency of the local force and assure a greater control of fire under more difficult conditions. So far as Mr. Carlson knows, this is the only standard of this type in use.

SECRETS OF STAGE LIFE REVEALED IN "THE BALLET GIRL"

The lights and shadows of modern stage life are vividly shown in the latest World Film Corporation production starring the always charming and captivating beauty, Alice Brady, which from the alluring title of "The Ballet Girl," New York City and the spirit of Broadway are infused throughout "The Ballet Girl," leading to its dramatic moments of stirring suspense and so the scenes played in lighter vein a sparkling vivacity that enchants. "The Ballet Girl" tells the enthralling story of a young girl who starts on the stage and how she successfully evades the

Grade Jerseys Win in Cow
Testing Association

HOLSTEINS HEAD ALL IN INDIVIDUAL PRODUCTION.

Fourteen Cows Yield Fifty or More Pounds Butterfat in June and 50 Yield 40 or more Pounds.

A. Carlson's herd of grade Jerseys, consisting of 29 cows, made the best record for the month of June, in the July Contest in individual testing, according to the figures furnished by O. T. Koster, the official tester. There are 29 cows in the herd and the average butterfat production per cow was more than 39 pounds. The second place was won by C. E. Long's herd of 12 registered and grade Jerseys, with a yield of 34.4 pounds for each cow. The A. A. Stauffer herd of 17 registered and grade Holsteins, and the C. E. Inglish herd of eight Holsteins, were for third place with a butterfat production of 34.7 pounds.

On the other hand the Holsteins won first place in the individual tests. The registered Holstein Belle Hengerveld by Quoque DeKof 104302, of the M. P. Dan herd easily won first place, the production of 52.4 pounds; while No. eleven, a grade Holstein of the W. S. Samuel herd won second place with 50.2 pounds. Five herd from the A. Carlson herd of 29 cows with 42.3 to 50.9. Then came two of the A. A. Stauffer herd of Holsteins, with records of 43.4 and 42.5, respectively. Koster's No. twelve with 62 pounds; a registered Jersey from the herd of M. P. Dan, with 51.6 pounds; a Jersey from the Carlson herd with 50.3; a registered Jersey from the C. E. Long herd with 50.7 pounds; and a Jersey from the Carlson herd with 49 pounds. The registered cows yielding 50 or more pounds of butterfat during the month.

There were 455 cows producing milk during the month; 56 of this number being on the honor roll, producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat for the month. This is a slight decrease from the previous month, this being due partly to the fact that quite a number of the cows are about to go dry.

One Holstein-Friesian cow was on test for admission to the advanced registry, she being from the herd of A. A. Stauffer. The test was under the supervision of Carl A. Harder.

Mechanical milkers have been installed by C. E. Carlson, who is milking 35 cows at the present time, and 15 sherman who is milking 30 cows. Both are giving entire satisfaction. Several other members of the association are also contemplating the installation of "milkers."

Several members report sales of both young and mature stock at good prices.

Mr. Koster says that this is the time for all dairymen to figure on their next year's supply of hay and grain and to decide the price of life, even with "bousy."

The following herds averaged thirty or more pounds of butterfat during the month of June:

A. Carlson, Jerseys	29 39.1
C. E. Long, Jerseys	12 34.4
A. A. Stauffer, Holsteins	17 34.7
C. E. Inglish, Holsteins	8 34.7

H. Payne, Holsteins	11 32.4
C. E. Inglish, Holsteins	8 32.3

snarcs and pitfalls of New York's night life that constantly beset her. It unfolds the story of a struggle to the topmost rung of the stage ladder with the critics and the public at the feet of the famous dancer, the butterfly into which the girl has become a little country girl develops. The real stages and dressing rooms of famous theatres were seen in making the scenes of "The Ballet Girl," the result that it far exceeds in absorbing realism most photodramas dealing with stage life, the producers of which would be the first to admit that which invariably fail of their effect.

Mrs. Brady's character in "The Ballet Girl" is one in which her genius perfectly adapts itself. She is in turn coquettish, pathetic and dramatic, rising to great heights of passion and power in the scenes in which the soul of "The Ballet Girl" is tried on the anvil of stage life. Besides the theatrical side of the life portrayed in "The Ballet Girl," however, the production also mirrors forth smart society and its foibles and the machinations of the rich and powerful.

WHOLE SUITES OF ROOMS

ON GLASS STAGES AS SETS Since the completion of the four great glass stages at Culver City for the making of Triangle-Ince photo-plays a devoted picture innovation long and justly desired by directors has been made possible. That is the building of interior sets in continuity; in the actual relation they are supposed to bear to the other in the story. Thus, one often sees a suite of four rooms exactly as they would be in some home of the wealthy. They open into each other and the camera comes from each other. The camera can sometimes catch something of all four at once.

This has led to another innovation. The director often stations two or more cameras on his set, and photographs continuous action actually as it would be in life. Thus, from one side of a wall, an actress is photographed as she exits through a doorway. On the other side a second camera records the identical passage. A third picks her up as, without stopping, she goes up a stairway, stops, turns, and comes down and through the doorway again. Not a motion of the entire action is lost; and if this was a higher expression of the emotional one, carefully worked up to, the added intimate relationship of scenes might be invaluable.

Under the old system of small sets the exit through the doorway and the entrance into the other room might be divided by weeks, and the player has an entirely different mood. This has also resulted in many ludicrous mistakes in make-up, even with the most painstaking direction, so that "making-up" the several hundred scenes of a play is sometimes a most difficult task.

What, for instance, can be done when a player leaves a room with a flower in his coat and hands bare, to appear in the hall a fraction of a second and later glowed and without the flower, returning immediately to the room, but without the gloves? It is not always that the worried film editor can fix this sort of thing with the ancient, life-saving time "Several Days Later."

"BIG JIM GARRITY" WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY AT THE IDAHO

"Big Jim Garrity," the five-part "Big Gold Rooster" release for April 18th, shows for the first time Robert Edson in a Pathe picture. Mr. Edson finds in the title role a part well suited to him and as the big hearted, big bodied foreman of a southern mine is always convincing and forceful. He is ably supported by Eleanor Woodruff, who for some time starred in Pathe productions; Carl Harbaugh and Lester Morrison. Lyster who remembered for his splendid work in Pathe's "At Bay," and Mr. Harbaugh used to be in the Pathe Stock company in Jersey City.

George Fitzmaurice, who is winning golden opinions as a maker of Gold Rooster plays, directed the picture which is adapted from the story of H. Woods' success of the same name.

(Splendid for wear. Lots of dainty patterns)

I do not buy for "spot cash" as I seem to enjoy the confidence of those with whom I do business, and they are always willing to ship goods and allow me to receive and examine them to see if they are all right before paying the bills. I do buy goods under advantageous conditions, and conduct my business under small expense and can and do sell lower than those who are handicapped by heavy expenses. The good people of Twin Falls and the surrounding country seem to appreciate these facts more and more and have helped me to build up a fine business that is growing fast.

These are not special prices or sale prices, but the same "right prices" that we have sold for all the time.
