

NUMBER DECREASED QUALITY IMPROVED

Fewer Cows Tested During July Than June, But Number on Honor Roll Are Greater.

Although there was a considerable decrease in the number of cows tested during the month of July by O. T. Koster, official tester of the Buhl Pioneer Cow Testing association, there was an increase in the number on the honor roll of the association. In regard to this and other matters connected with the association, the report says:

There were 422 cows milking in the association during the month. This is a decrease of thirty-three over the previous month. The honor roll, however, contains sixty-two names, this being an increase of six over the previous month.

The average production for the 422 cows for the month was 29.66 pounds of butterfat.

The herd honor roll has thirteen herds this month as against eleven for the month of June.

Two new members have been added to the association this month, they being David Rees and Carl D. Irwin. They fill in the vacancies caused by the disposal of the herd of C. H. Krich and C. V. Higgs. This again brings the total number of herds up to twenty-eight.

As an example of persistency mention should be made of "Ebony," a grade Jersey owned by A. Carlson. She freshened on October 6, 1915, produced 43.7 pounds of butterfat for October, and has produced over 40 pounds of butterfat every month since, ten months, including the month of July, during which she produced 46.9 pounds.

Gustav Kunze has installed a five single unit mechanical milker which is giving entire satisfaction.

Assistance has also been given several dairymen in the care of milk and cream during the hot summer weather. Assistance has been given in the organization of a retail dairymen's association at Twin Falls.

The following herds averaged 30 or more pounds for the month of June. The first column of figures being the number of cows in the herd; the last column the number of pounds of butterfat:

A. Carlson, Jersey	30	37.3
C. E. Long, Jersey	14	36.2
C. E. Inglishy, Holstein	9	35.5
V. J. Stearns, Holstein, Jr.	14	33.3
Stearns and Stearns	15	33.3
H. B. Sherman, Holstein, Jr.	15	33.3
Stearns and Guernseys	15	33.3
Geo. A. Childs, Jersey	5	32.5
H. H. Payne, Holstein	11	32.3
C. F. Smalley, Jersey	10	32.0
A. A. Stauffer, Holstein	15	31.8
W. S. Samuel, Holstein	31	31.2
Gustav Kunze, Holstein	52	31.1
C. H. Wilson, Jersey	7	31.1
J. H. Gott, Jersey and Holstein	32	30.0

SPLENDID SCORES IN KIMBERLY FIRE GAME

Team Divided Into Factions Over Strife in Diamond Dust—Return Match Is Assured.

The people of Kimberly are divided against one another as never before, father against son, brother against brother, sister against sister and daughter against mother, and the end is not yet. For the two fire companies have met in baseball array on the diamond and after an intolerable sacrifice of baseball, the final result remains in doubt and the partisans on both factions utter "death" and other dreadful things and a few have been seen in the neighborhood of the Missouri settlement learning to bliss "Caramba," with proper effect.

The first game was played (?) some time ago and resulted in a score of fourteen to twelve for Company No. 2. Company No. 1 swore to have "revenge," and challenged the winners for a return match which was pulled off last week. It was a terrific strife. Team No. 1 had borrowed the clothes of the regular team and struck forth primed for victory. Team No. 2 borrowed Manager Atkinson of the regular organization, which was a lucky loan, as this near professional manager, two home runs, one three-bagger, a double, two single and six scores in six times at the bat.

Hardly for the No. 1 team, has been catching with a speed since the visit of the Zulus to the Twin Falls Chautauque last year and did some effective work with the point of his bat. The score outside of Atkin's record, tied at 22 to 22, but since Atkinson's runs counted, the score stood at 28 to 22 in favor of team No. 1. Atkinson hasn't a friend in town and the men folk since the game, the losers being and the winners jealous. A return match is promised soon.

The line-up was as follows:
Team No. 1—J. W. Hardin, B. H. Atkinson, H. Bubank, E. Newcomb, C. W. Peck, G. Hertz, A. J. Wilson, W. Downing, L. Raymond.
Team No. 2—Carl Ridgeway, R. H. Denton, C. L. Smith, R. C. Wilson, W. B. Silvers, W. F. Swearingen, S. D. Meritt, G. O. Bremer, E. W. Tilly, H. D. Bussett.

At the close of the game team No. 1 wanted the umpire to decide the game on the number of players, which would have given it to them by a score of eleven to nine, but that obstinate person refused to yield.

KIMBERLY TO HAVE NEW PANTITORIUM

Business Causes "Star Enuf" to Seek New Quarters—After Interview Interests Need Men.

The Sure Enuf Pantitorium is to have a new home in the rear of the barber shop of the same name, construction on the new building having begun Saturday. The business has grown so rapidly that it was impossible to care for it properly in the old home.

The Kimberly school board has placed an order for six new school wagons with the Kimberly Hardware & Implement company, to replace the same number of old ones that are no longer in condition to serve their purpose. The vehicles are now on the way.

The letter interview in Thursday's TIMES with reference to the effect of apple on clover was the subject of much discussion on the streets Friday and Saturday. The general opinion expressed was that it was worthy of consideration, and the advice worthy of trial.

The question of the relative merits of deep wells and cisterns is a live one in this town now, as the residents are figuring on preparing for the shutting off of the use of the water from the canal eventually.

RAFT RIVER ROAD WORK IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Seven Miles Regraded to Date and 115 Miles of Track Is Ordered for This Work.

Seven miles of regrading beyond Marshfield on the Hurley-Salt Lake line through the Raft river country, has been accomplished to date and the work continuing rapidly, says the Burley Southern Idaho Advocate. One hundred cars of ties are enroute or on the ground and 115 miles of track is ordered for this work. It is known that the extension will be built as far as Idaho, and strong indications point to its going farther.

Monday J. E. Schilling, engineer for the O. S. L., with headquarters at Pocatello, and A. F. Hemming of the construction department, were in Burley on official business connected with the new road.

Short Line officials are strangely silent regarding the amount to be building on this branch to be done this summer and fall. They will neither deny nor affirm an intention of proceeding farther than Idaho. Some of the local people who are particularly interested in seeing the line extended are inclined to take this attitude as favorable. The great amount of material ordered and being shipped would indicate that provision is being made for more track building than was first intended. Developments in the affairs of the Western Pacific have been such that some move from that road in this territory may be expected almost any time, and it is thought the Short Line people may be preparing for emergencies.

IDAHO SOUTHERN DEAL IS CLOSED

Oregon Short Line Acquires Terminal of Idaho Southern at Jerome and Will Build Spur.

For some time negotiations have been pending between D. C. MacWaters, receiver of the Idaho Southern railroad, and the officers of the Oregon Short Line railroad, whereby the latter road would take over the terminal of the Idaho Southern at Jerome, thereby giving it up-town yardage and trackage for the handling of both out-going and incoming freight, says the Jerome North Side News. Much has depended on the consummation of this arrangement, one of the important matters being the building of a grade elevator and the increasing of the plant of the Jerome Milling and Elevator company whose property is adjacent to the terminal of the Idaho Southern railroad.

Mr. MacWaters has been in conference with the Oregon Short Line officials since last week, and on last Friday negotiations were so far closed that he notified the milling and elevator company that nothing remained except the adjustment of some of the details and technicalities and on this advice the milling and elevator company proceeded with its plans. The deal includes the ground and terminal of the Idaho Southern and involves the building of a spur from the southwest portion of the Idaho Southern property in a westerly direction, connecting with the Oregon Short Line's yards about a mile west. For the present it is likely that only the freight traffic in and out of Jerome will be handled over this spur, but this will be a great help and means much to the town.

COMMENT BY EXCHANGES

THE WILSON ADMINISTRATION AND THE FARMER.

DEMOCRATIC DEEDS in the interest of the American farmer are strikingly analyzed by the St. Louis Republican in the following survey of what the Wilson administration has done:

"The country's greatest business is that of farming. More money is invested in farms than in railroads or factories. Yet near to 50 years of Republican domination in the field of federal government went by without any attempt on the part of the government to take any account of the farmer's business problems, except to try to persuade him that he was benefited by a tariff on wheat, potatoes, etc., which never operated at all—on account of our great surplus of those products—except when our crops failed and it became necessary for the farmer to buy seed abroad, in which case he paid the tariff himself."

Today the Democracy has been in power for three years. It has formulated a program of agricultural legislation consisting of eight items. It began with the intention of giving the farmers of the United States:

- The opportunity to borrow money for short terms on nonperishable agricultural products. This is theirs through the federal reserve act.
- A system of farm agents to develop agriculture. This was accomplished through the Smith-Lever act, which is in harmonious operation in 48 states, state and federal authorities co-operating perfectly.
- A department of markets in the department of agriculture. This is today a reality. For the first time in history of the nation, machinery is at work in organizing the distributing channels through which 100,000,000 people get their food supply.
- A rural credit act. This has now

THE COLONEL'S THREE BEST BETS

WHEN Judge Hughes starts out on his swing around the circle by which the old guard hopes to win the independent and ex-Bull Moose voters of Kansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas, he will fire his opening gun in Kansas City.

The New York Times has run with the Kansas Journal which seems to trust a bit feebly to Judge Hughes alone, and which suggests that—"It would be a master stroke if Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Taft could be brought to Kansas City at the same time and these three leaders speak from the same platform."

"A lovely picture," says the Times. "You see the colonel taking command. He is in the center of course. To Mr. Hughes he graciously gives the right. To Mr. Taft, a thought less graciously, the left."

"That 'harmony' trio would be a comforting sight, but not enough. Mr. Taft, Mr. Penrose and Mr. Snoot should be the colonel's bodyguard. They, too, should speak—Mr. Crane might be left off with a whisper— from the same platform with the colonel. Hiram Johnson, William Flinn and George W. Perkins should be Mr. Taft's ushers and attendants and speak from the same platform."

"Ah, sweet white fluttering of ascension robes! Ah, gamboling and bleating of reformed millennial wolves and ecstatic howls of the progressive flock of 1912! Why did Victor Mordock run away to China and miss this vision?"

But seriously, why should not the colonel present Judge Hughes and Judge Taft?

Aside from himself they are the only living specimens of the mature Rooseveltian judgment in the way of presidential candidates.

Such a display on the part of the colonel to the voters of the middle west would be interesting. The colonel's two specimen candidates might be worked up into a living picture for the citizens to contemplate.

The picture might well be entitled "The Colonel's Advice: Before and After Takings."—Salt Lake Telegram.

After the program a social hour was spent and a dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Dryden, Togan and Hollingshead. Adjourned to meet in two weeks at the school house, Mesdames Manley, Clifton and Horan as hostesses.

The ladies of the Baptist Mission will give a lawn social at the home of Mrs. J. W. Williamson about five miles north of town; next Wednesday, August 23rd. All are cordially invited. Ice-cream and cake will be served.

A party composed of the following Filer people, were camping last week: Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ripley, Miss and Mrs. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Erhardt and the Misses Birch of Minneapolis, who were here guests of Mrs. Erhardt.

In honor of the Misses Birch, of Minneapolis, who were here guests for several days, Mrs. Erhardt gave a dancing party to the hall Monday night. The invited guests had a most enjoyable time and not until a late hour did any one show any disposition to go. The young ladies from Minneapolis certainly enjoyed the evening and will carry back to their homes delightful memories of the pleasant outing in Idaho.

Guy H. Shearer, G. H. Trull, A. A. Timm and the writer, made a trip to Guyer Hot Springs last week in the Shearer car. They took along rifles, shot guns and fishing tackle—but it was no use. Trull shot a sage hen but that was all. Even the fish refused to come out and take the bait from Timm, and when Timm can't get them to bite what's the use? We were Shoshone and Halley, carrouse, but it was so cold at Guyer that the bunch longed for the "Bermuda Hot" in the valley below. The Halley country is alive with Twin-Falls people who are camping along every fish hole in that justly celebrated trout country. Some of the best roads ever travelled in our lives was found leading out of Halley. They are world beaters and the way Guy set them on fire was a caution. But it was a great trip, and all had a splendid time. It is a trip that we can recommend to anyone looking for a short vacation.

TO THE CREDIT OF MR. BRYAN.

ONE of the best and most important services rendered by the American people by Mr. William J. Bryan during his term as U. S. secretary of state was in putting through many states of the United States and other nations, prohibiting either to come to war with the other until a year has passed from the time the dispute arose. In this achievement there may not have been anything that partakes of the nature of high triumph in diplomacy; but it was none the less a meritorious endeavor and accomplishment in the interest of world-peace, arbitration and human brotherhood, and with it Mr. Bryan's name deserves to be favorably and permanently linked.

In all, some 30 nations have signed treaties with the United States allowing time for discussion before hostilities. By exchange of ratifications, such agreements have been made with Argentina, Uruguay, Guatemala, Great Britain, Costa Rica, Norway, Portugal, Paraguay, Spain, Peru, Bolivia, Sweden, Denmark, France, Russia of Uruguay and Italy. Exchange of ratifications with other nations not above named was not completed before the outbreak of the European war, hence the treaties with these powers, although signed, have not yet become operative. Since the cataclysm of two years ago the state department of this government and the foreign departments of others have been too busily occupied with new problems to bestow upon this subject the favor it would otherwise have

SIGN PACT FOR SALE OF DANISH INDIES

Agreement Provides for Purchase of Islands and Will be Submitted to Senate.

WASHINGTON.—Purchase by the United States of the islands of St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John, lying in the east of Porto Rico and comprising an archipelago known as the Danish West Indies, is provided for in a treaty signed Friday by the United States and Denmark. It will be submitted at once to the United States senate and the Danish parliament, whose ratification are necessary to complete the purchase agreement.

A serious opposition is expected in the senate. Since the negotiations began several months ago the foreign relations committee has been in close touch with developments, and its members are understood virtually to be unanimous in their approval. The only objection is expected to come from senators who believe the purchase price of $25,000,000 too great.

Details of the pact will not be made public until it is transmitted to the senate. It is understood to provide, however, for complete acquisition of the islands, but to stipulate that Danish business interests there shall be guaranteed protection.

A clause also is included calling for Denmark to relinquish all claims of discovery in Greenland, a Danish possession.

Senator Lodge emphasized in his statement Friday night the possibility that the islands, if not acquired by the United States, might fall into the hands of some European power. He involved this government in difficulties under the Monroe Doctrine "which might easily lead to war"—a consideration which, it is understood, has been prominently before the eyes of officials here in their negotiations for the purchase.

SENATOR LEWIS SCORES REPUBLICAN INTERFERENCE

Declares Their Attacks on the President's Policy in Mexico Are "Treasonable."

WASHINGTON.—Sen. Lewis, Democratic whip, speaking in the senate Saturday in reply to an attack on the administration by Charles E. Hughes in his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination, declared Republican strictures on the administration's Mexican policy were "treasonable."

He charged that the clause in the Republican platform repudiating interference in internal affairs of Mexico was responsible for the massacre of American troops at Carrizal.

"Not until the captain of the Republican party shot at the president of the United States did Mexican 'outlets' begin to emerge," he said. "Senator Lewis characterized the platform declaration as a 'summons to Carranza and Villa to avenge the entrance of American soldiers into Mexico and American interference in Mexico's affairs.'"

Harsh against the government at Washington as to Mexico, that is the issue," Senator Lewis declared. "Do temptible your own country before the nounce President Wilson as to Mexi-world wherever you can—for that is co—for that is the issue. Make con-the issue."

Entered at the Twin Falls postoffice, as second class matter, a twice-a-week publication, October 18, 1910.

A MATTER NOT TO BE REGARDED LIGHTLY.

In Tuesday's edition of THE TIMES, under the caption COUNTY DIVISION UP AGAIN! we directed attention to the candidacies of four Buhl gentlemen who seek the nomination of their respective parties for senators and representatives. The candidates in question are: J. W. Faris, for senator on the Democratic ticket; J. H. Barker, for senator on the Republican ticket; William Ringert, for representative at the Democratic primary; and Fred Nihart, representative at the Republican primary.

Mr. Faris, we reminded our readers, as one of the county's representatives in the last legislature introduced and vigorously promoted a measure, which had the county's other legislators been unsuccessful in defeating, would have divided Twin Falls county on a north and south line one mile west of Filer. Mr. Nihart, we also pointed out, has been prominently identified with the county division movement. Respecting Mr. Nihart we should have added that while representing Twin Falls county in the legislature four years ago, without warning and to the amusement of everybody in the county except the few friends whom he had taken into confidence, attempted to secure the consent of the legislature of which he was a member, to the division of this county. To be fair with Mr. Faris, however, we would repeat a fact that is probably well known to everybody in the county, that he conducted his candidacy for the state legislature two years ago squarely upon the county division issue, and was successful, although the vote in this county on the county division issue was overwhelmingly against division.

The voters of the county are now presented with the names of J. W. Faris for the senate and Fred Nihart for the house of representatives; one Democrat and one Republican; a team of divisionists who, if elected, would surely bring to fruition their cherished dream of a Buhl county, if anybody could. Both of these men are able, competent and experienced in the ways of legislatures, as well as being acquainted with most of the men who gather at Boise every two years to pass laws for the state. THE VOTERS OF THIS COUNTY MUST STOP TREATING THIS SUBJECT LIGHTLY. "Three times and out," as the saying goes.

The candidacy of J. H. Barker, of Buhl, also reputed to be a divisionist, for senator on the Republican ticket, appears to THE TIMES at this time to be blind to cover the concentration on Mr. Faris, the Democratic candidate for the senate. The divisionists of the west-end know no politics when it comes to casting their votes for a new county to be named Buhl. The divisionists appreciate Mr. Faris' ability as a vote-puller. They do not plan for the present at least to scatter any of their votes on Mr. Barker, and Mr. Barker probably realizes this as well as anyone.

How many voters in the two Buhl precincts called for Republican ballots at the primaries two years ago?

Let us glance at the vote in these two precincts for governor. The totals were: Republican, 387; Democratic, 279. For U. S. senator: Republican 37; Democratic, 32. For senator from Twin Falls county, a total vote in these two precincts for Guthrie and DeLong, Republican candidates, of 32; Democratic vote for senator for Twin Falls county, 431. BUT NOTE—MR. FARIS RECEIVED 580 VOTES IN THE TWO BULH PRECINCTS, INDICATING THAT OVER 200 REPUBLICANS CALLED FOR DEMOCRATIC BALLOTS AT PRIMARIES. CAST ONE VOTE, THAT FOR MR. FARIS, AND TURNED THEIR BALLOTS BACK.

How far would the Buhl Republican candidate for senator get on the forty or fifty Republican votes cast in these two precincts two years ago? To be sure S. P. Atherton and A. L. Swin, Republican candidates for the senatorial nomination, both avowedly against county division, will divide the anti-division vote, but not, as matters rest at present, to such an extent as to make even remotely possible the nomination of Buhl's candidate, J. H. Barker. If the Republican go into the Democratic primaries again Fred Nihart, of course, has no chance at the Republican primary.

It is possible, however, whether probable or not we are not prepared to say at this time, that an attempt will be made to vote the Democratic vote at the Republican primary this year, in an attempt to secure for Nihart the Republican nomination for representative, and Barker, the nomination for senator.

With the figures of the last primary as a guide, how would this work out?

Granting Mr. Barker around 600 votes from these two precincts in the primaries, placing the Republican primary vote of the balance of the county at the same figures of the primary two years ago, approximately 1000, it can be readily seen that with Mr. Barker getting a scattering of these and the remainder divided between Swin and Atherton, Mr. Barker's nomination would be assured.

Nihart's chances, under those conditions, would be even more favorable, for the 1000 voters in the other sections of the county are confronted with seven candidates with a scattered vote practically assured.

Republicans throughout the county who do not favor county division should realize the full possibilities of such a situation. With a three-man contest for the senate and a seven-man contest for the house, the divisionist vote swinging to the Republican primaries in the two Buhl precincts, could secure the nomination of both of Buhl's divisionist candidates.

The Republicans can forestall any possibility of this by inducing one of the anti-division candidates for the senate to withdraw, and by inducing three of the anti-division candidates for the house to do likewise.

The situation within the Democratic party as regards the division of the county is not so alarming, and will be discussed in Tuesday's issue.

MR. HUGHES VIEWS WITH ALARM.

Charles Evan Hughes' address of acceptance is in the final analysis a masterpiece of fault-finding. The role of the critic is not a reprehensible one in itself, provided that the critic judges fairly. To make no mention of the good that has been accomplished in the way of numerous important measures of progressive legislation is a political expedient that accords with popular custom, for which Mr. Hughes must not be judged too harshly. His failing, and a failing that cannot help but dismay even his most ardent admirers, lies in his inability to offer constructive suggestions. As a group of distinguished American printers pointed out to Mr. Hughes in an open letter:

"Generalities are without value, blanket criticism is worthless. What we desire to know, what it is fair that the electorate should know, are the exact details of your disagreement with President Wilson—what he has done that you would not have done, or what he has failed to do that you would have done or propose to do."

That is the point, exactly. And that is exactly the point that Mr. Hughes refuses to dwell upon in any satisfactory degree of detail. Even blessed with the privilege of sitting back and contemplating happenings after the events, and with the making of suggestions, the value of which cannot be determined because they have not been tried and cannot be tried, Mr. Hughes still fails to present any definite idea as to just what he would have done under the identical circumstances which confronted President Wilson.

With reference to the replacement of experienced diplomats by "Deserving Democrats" Mr. Hughes indeed made a valid criticism, insofar as partisanship governed appointments to diplomatic offices at the expense of efficiency, but in assuming that the dominant policy of the administration has been to fill diplomatic offices with partisan incompetents, Mr. Hughes is guilty either of a deliberate misrepresentation of facts or of an inexcusable lack of information. The majority of diplomatic positions in this country at the time that President Wilson took charge, were filled with men trained in the school of "Dollar Diplomacy," which had properly become odious to the people. The ability and personal honesty of the majority of these men is not questioned; neither is it questioned that they were thoroughly out of true with the administration and with the sentiment of the American people. In filling the places of these men, whose very abilities would have been a stumbling block to his policies, President Wilson was necessarily compelled to select men of less experience, and it must be admitted that in the main the new selections were Democrats. Too much partisanship was shown on some occasions, but the main purpose was not of a partisan character. The failure to make due allowance for the actuating motive in this case and the assumption that the men displaced should have been retained indicates that "Dollar Diplomacy" is far from a crime in the eyes of Mr. Hughes.

Keeping this point of view in mind, the utterances of the candidate leave the impression that the sort of interference which he deprecates in Mexico is that based on altruistic motives. Roosevelt interfered in the Dominican republic and said who should not fill the presidency. Taft interfered in Nicaragua and refused to allow the people to select a man for president who was unsatisfactory to him. Henry Lane Wilson, Taft's ambassador, an accomplished "Dollar Diplomat," interfered notoriously in Mexico and strove to accomplish the overthrow of President Madero after he had been recognized by the Taft administration. If Mr. Hughes desires to repudiate the entire system of interference in the internal affairs of Latin America, his program will be definite; but his declarations, while giving that impression on the surface, are capable of being construed to mean that he favors only the disinterested kind of interference which has characterized the present administration.

His criticism of the European policies of the administration show a similar lack of appreciation of the president's position and difficulties. Nor do his statements with reference to his opponent's position on the tariff indicate a better grasp of the Democratic point of view. While it is true that the Democratic party in 1912 repeated the declaration of the Democratic party of 1892 that a protective tariff was unconstitutional, it is also true that Democrats have recognized the patent fact that all tariffs for revenue afford incidental protection, and that in getting away from a tariff for favoritism to one of revenue only, a practical consideration of existing business conditions are necessary. A new condition has arisen out of the preparedness movement. Men say that certain industries should be fostered, not because of the benefit that they could be to the industrial world in times of peace but to furnish necessities in times of war. In this event such industries might be constitutionally fostered for this purpose by means of a tariff, even if a tariff for protection alone should be declared unconstitutional by the courts. And if certain industries are to be selected for this purpose an export commission is necessary. Looked at in this light Mr. Hughes' question in regard to constitutionality is not necessarily the "crusher" that he seems to think it to be.

With reference to foreign conditions, Mr. Hughes seems to have fallen into the same error as less able protectionists. He seems to assume that the more losses the countries at war suffer, the more of their workmen that are killed and disabled and the more of their machinery of peaceful industry that is destroyed, the more dangerous the conditions they become. The more he has highly efficient indeed in the arts of destruction and in the production of certain supplies that are unused in peaceful times; but they are not more proficient in the industries which they have been compelled to abandon during the times of war. An anti-dumping law which prevents on the part of importers the same sort of unfair competition that it is proposed to prevent by law among competitors at home is indeed desirable, but the assumption that a weakened competitor is more dangerous than a strong one would be too preposterous for serious discussion, if it were put forth by a less eminent person than a candidate for the presidency.

Nor is Mr. Hughes more happy in his censures of the presidential position on preparedness. He sneers at Mr. Wilson's recent conversion on that issue, and says that the latter followed instead of leading. Passing over the interesting query as to why Mr. Hughes himself became a big army man, it is not hard to infer the following statement: "I am in the house, when announcing his own conversion to the preparedness idea."

"It is well known in the house that I have never been a believer in a large standing army; and I suppose that I have probably been classed in what is sometimes referred to as the 'little navy men.'"

This speech was made weeks after President Wilson had begun his campaign for preparedness. Now according to his own statement, the Republicans of the lower house had selected for their leader and had tried to elevate to the speaker's man known to them as an opponent of a large army and as a "little navy man."

Mr. Hughes chides the president for favoring a national force and later yielding to those who favored a mixed force of regulars and militia. This criticism is notoriously unfair. In all his speeches in favor of the national force, President Wilson spoke in the highest terms of the national guard, but declared that constitutional objections to its efficient organization had been raised which might prove valid. Congress by an overwhelming majority of both parties in both houses declared in favor of organizing the militia nationally. The president was compelled to either accept the congressional program and try out the experiment of strengthening the militia, about which force he had never spoken except in praise, or abandon all hope of national preparedness. Senator Brady and both congressmen from this state were among those who favored the policy of strengthening the guard along the lines denounced by Mr. Hughes. Had the president insisted on the national force and fallen down, it is to be feared that Mr. Hughes would have been denouncing him for so doing. Perhaps not, but among the many other explanations which Mr. Hughes might make that would be of interest, he might tell what he would have done, had congress insisted on a certain policy of preparedness and given him the alternative of taking that or nothing at all. He implies that he would have refused to strengthen the national guard. Will he have the courage to say that he would have done so?

"PASQUALE" TO BE SHOWN AT THE IDAHO THEATRE
Human interest is the supreme keynote to the very remarkable story "Pasquale." George Beban has achieved a triumph in artistic production by his marvelous interpretation of the character of "Pasquale," the proprietor of a small town grocery store, who after years of the most abject devotion to his business, finally saves an amount sufficient to pay his friend, Martineil, the local banker, the loan which enabled him to become a merchant.
Pasquale's airforce Italian devotion is divided between Margarita, an orphan girl whom he has adopted, and with whom he falls in love, and Cal-ombo, his horse.

Hardly has Pasquale cleared the mortgage when he and Martineil are called to Italy and the others. They return to America, crippled and but the scared, each to find their home and affections in danger.
The story is a sad one, but Pasquale, who is a man of great heart, and the wonderful revelation of his strong principles of right and wrong is a thing that will bring tears to the eyes of the woman and child hear and encounter in their own circles.

COMMUNICATIONS

THE WATER QUESTION.

As one of the many Twin Falls citizens who occasionally use water, and who prefer to have the fish course and the water course (no present reference to Rock Creek) served separately, I beg to congratulate THE TIMES on its instigation, the city council as instigated and the city people as irrigated, upon the very recently and (as alleged) very greatly improved quality of the irrigant!

We note the testimony of two high officials, namely, the "Chief of the Fire Department" and the "Water Commissioner" that the reservoir has been cleaned "for the first time since it was erected," and without pausing to glibly about whether in the first place it was "erected" or "just dug," we confess inability to decide which in the more wonderful—that it should have been recently begun for a better source of supply.

From the same source we learn that all the pipe lines, hydrants, etc., throughout the city have been thoroughly flushed and cleaned and that the water now delivered is "clear and appears good." Fine! Let no inquisitive cuss test for germs or microbes, or do anything to shake the faith that is in us! On the water question, let's be "Scientists!"

As already said, we congratulate the city council upon what it has achieved, and also upon the investigation said to have been recently begun for a better source of supply.

We can but think that such investigation is not remarkably sudden for a council that was elected fifteen months ago upon a positive pledge to move at once for the improvement of the water situation, and to guarantee a supply of pure water within six months! In the light of those pledges, the "record" that shows one councilman three weeks ago to have moved that "the water committee get busy" appears rather tardy for much self-gratulation.

County Agent Birch Says Aphis
An Enemy Of Clover

GOVERNMENT AND STATE EX-PERTS AGREE WITH BIRCH.

County-Agriculturist Says Lady Bug and Syrphus Fly Are Going After the Pest.

"I believe that the aphis is doing considerable damage to the red clover fields, and that in many cases it would pay the farmers to cut their hay, where the pest is bad, as they would have a sure thing in the hay, crop and might miss out the seed crop," said County Agriculturalist W. N. Birch, when interviewed yesterday in regard to the latest aphis honeydew. "Just on the other hand, while I hate to advise, I believe that in some instances it would be better for farmers where the aphis is not very bad, to let the clover go to seed. The aphis has two enemies which in some fields are reducing the damage which he is doing. One of these is the lady bug, and the other is the syrphus fly, both of which feed on the pest. On one square foot of clover I counted twenty larvae of the lady bug, and as they are hard to locate, I suppose that there were several times that number. They and the larvae of the syrphus fly eat the aphis in large numbers and I am sure that by next year, they will have increased enough in number to make a difference."

"There is one thing that I would like to have impressed on the farmers and that is the fact that where they cut clover fields infested with grass hoppers, they should spread the preparation for poisoning them around the edges of their alfalfa fields before cutting the clover, or place it around the edges of the clover field, so that the hoppers will go after it instead of going into the alfalfa. I know one man who neglected this precaution and now he will have to spriggle his alfalfa field with some formula. The Paris green formula given by Mr. Hays and published in THE TIMES last week, certainly did the business in his field, but in that case, the hay had grown up and was not as attractive to the hoppers as younger feed might have been, so in greener fields it might not have proven quite as effective, though I will not say that it would not have done so. The loss is practically no damage done to the white clover or alfalfa by the aphis, George I. Reeves, entomologist of the United States department of agriculture, was here last week, and while he regards the aphis as a pest, he says that as yet the department has no remedy to offer, but believes that by studying its habits and learning where it spends its winters, they will find a remedy by next year."

Mr. Birch said that in some cases it was possible that a seed increase might actually take place as a result of the activities of the aphis by causing seed to develop in plants that otherwise might not flower, but as a whole, he believed it injurious. Professor E. F. Fjeldsted of the university department was inclined to agree with Mr. Birch that the aphis was as a whole undesirable. He said that he knew of no scientific reason for the supposition that the honeydew would prove beneficial.

J. A. Steele, of the Albert Dickinson Seed company, said that he regarded the aphis as injurious and that he thought that the seed-crop would be lighter in consequence of its activities. On the other hand, the greater damage on the track would be in a measure offset by its work. Alike was lighter, in his opinion, because of the small number of bumble bees that appeared to fertilize the plant. "It is just as they say in the east, 'no cats no clover,'" said Mr. Steele, "cats catch mice, which would otherwise rob the bumble bees' nests and prevent them from fertilizing the clover. The aphis crop, however, is not hurt by the aphid, nor is the white clover."

BULL WILL EXHIBIT — AT OMAHA FARM SHOW

T. H. Miller, Jr., Gathers Products For Union Pacific Display—Hotel Annex
Going Up.

T. H. Miller, Jr., has been requested by the Union Pacific Railroad company to select the best samples of grain as a permanent display for the farming exhibit room of the Union Pacific, at Omaha, Nebraska, says the Omaha Journal. Mr. Miller has been assigned the Bull county, and he will select a good bunch of each red clover, white clover, alfalfa, corn, wheat, barley, oats, and such other of the farm products as are grown in the Bull county.

Construction has been started on a new 25-foot building on the lot adjoining the ladies' rest room on the west, by Mr. Koppelman, proprietor of the Bull hotel, and will be used by him as an annex to the hotel. The building will be built with a long hall in the center with rooms opening from this hallway. Additional rooms have been lately needed by Mr. Koppelman to accommodate his increased patronage.

was set in the clover field, and by E. A. Milner. No serious damage was done.

ter that time, and two hundred visitors were counted. Twenty-five boys and girls under fourteen years of age were in the pool at one time.

The hotel, is having the upstairs rooms of the hotel replastered this week. There are ten rooms on the second floor of the rooming house, and Mr. Washburn expects to add to his present quarters in the near future. He recently purchased the two lots adjoining his present quarters and facing on Main street.

P. A. Seers and wife, father-in-law of J. M. Gibbs, spent the first of the week visiting at the J. M. Gibbs home. Mr. Gibbs is proprietor of the new cigar store, and Mr. Seers is a carpenter living at Ogden, Utah. Mr. Seers said that this is the best country he has ever seen, and though he has lived in Idaho and Utah since 1880, this tract has the best land in Idaho.

Mr. Seers was so favorably impressed that he will endeavor to dispose of his property and locate here.

The fire alarm was turned in Thursday the second time during the week, and to put out a fire which started from the same cause each time.

The morning freight engine belched some live sparks that set the clover field across the track from the depot. The local fire company responded with all the equipment, and the flames were put out with one of the chemical engines. This was the second fire that caught fire and was threatening to burn the clover field belonging to E. A. Milner. The equipment of the department was not put in use, the fire being broken out with wet weeds and amount to anything resulted from the fire.

McMillan News

Times' Special Correspondence.

F. T. Brown returned from Montana after a week's absence up in that country. His brother Irwin, from Minnesota, returned with him.

Miss Gibson of Twin Falls, was a guest at the A. S. Martyn home last week.

David Clark and wife were guests at the Dick Negie home in Twin Falls last Sunday.

Mrs. A. C. Rutherford is on the sick list this week, with erysipelas in her arm.

Will Gibson, Tom Gibson, Mr. Hills and two boys from east of Kimberly, were guests in McMillan last Sunday.

Several more wells have been added to the already long list of finished ones, the latest being those of Messrs. Heron, Jones, Head, Nesbitt, Rutherford and Baker, the well drilling machine now being at the home of Charley Nowbury.

Jack Jensen, once a resident of McMillan, drove out to our little town one day last week.

Mr. Vancloft of the Oaks corner district, and his wife, were shopping in Twin Falls last week.

Joe Wilson has purchased a small herd of lambs, the same delivered from the Hailley country last week.

Mrs. James Heron was shopping in Twin Falls last Saturday.

Harry McCauley and wife, formerly Miss Virginia Overfield, were visiting with relatives in our neighborhood. They live near Churchill and Mrs. McCauley is a sister of Charles Overfield, here.

Guy Ball and wife were Twin Falls shoppers last week.

Edna Margaret Cavender has been on the sick list but is better again.

W. Shroll and wife were out from Twin Falls Sunday, visiting with numerous relatives here, which was once their home.

Mrs. Charles Overfield was looking after business in Twin Falls last week.

John Ault and wife were calling on friends here last Sunday.

The blackcap season is on hand, but the berry crop will be short one, due to the late frost and busy grasshoppers.

Hay is in full blast. The alfalfa crop is reported good, but the crops of red clover almost a failure as grasshoppers have taken the seed, and also honeydew. The farmers are busily spraying the clover, but despite this fact, a large percentage is gone.

A report comes that the different crops on the Salmon have been completely destroyed by the destructive pests.

Charley Shroll and wife, Harley Shroll and wife, and W. Shroll and wife, were guests at the Skittman home Sunday.

Mrs. Nelson and Deane with their children, were callers on sick friends in the number of the eighteen last Thursday to a peanut hunt.

The little folks hunted for an hour, at the close of which it was found that Harold S. and his friends had found most peanuts, being awarded the prize. After the hunt came the game of ping-pong in the donkey's tail; then other games followed, concluding with the reciting of recitations. Light refreshments brought the happy time to a close.

Those present were: Edith, Harold and Ruby Winger, Lester, Orville and Margaret Cavender, Betty Burgess, Henrietta Nesbitt, Heather Hargis, Ruth, and Alfred Heron, Charley Valentine, Sonny and Isabella Clark and Bernard Martyn.

Mr. Busard, wife and daughters, were in Twin Falls last Sunday.

Mrs. D. F. Clark and two children were in Twin Falls last Monday.

Tom Clark and family, who were in Twin Falls last Sunday, have returned to their home on the North Side.

Ed Montgomery, wife and two children, returned out from Twin Falls Friday.

Franklin Brown met with quite a serious accident last Monday, which could easily have proven much more serious in a very short time. While leading a bull out to water, the bull broke loose and knocked Mr. Brown down, and he was injured for some time. The extent of the injuries was a broken collar bone, a fractured rib, a sprained shoulder, an injured foot and a generally bruised body. The man was taken to Twin Falls and medical attention called. At present he is resting easy and better, thankful that the injuries were of no worse extent.

Marion Berthel has been sick with tonsillitis but is well again.

Several runaways occurred here last week, the most serious being the one happening to the team driven by Mr. Walters of the electric light company of Twin Falls.

The horses became frightened at some Mexicans working in a beet field and took to flight, the reins getting tangled under the horses and putting off a bride. Mr. Walters jumped from the buggy, and the horses ran on, until getting tangled up in a fence, where they stopped. The buggy was smashed, and the horses quite badly cut.

Al Nelson met with quite a painful accident last week. While working with a mower, his thumb got caught on the blades, and the end almost severed. He was taken to town where Dr. Coughlin sewed the parts together, which are uniting nicely.

S. K. Nesbitt and wife were shopping in Twin Falls last week.

Charles Baker and wife were Twin Falls callers last Friday.

Announcement

I am a candidate for assessor on the Republican ticket at the primaries September 5th. With my past experience in assessing and equating property values throughout the county I feel myself competent and qualified for the position, and if nominated and elected, I will perform the duties of assessor to the best of my knowledge and ability.

I earnestly solicit your support.

Very respectfully,

Candidate for State Senator Makes Statement.

To the Voters of Twin Falls County:

In my canvass for the office of State Senator, I am very often asked my opinion on the question of "County Division" and desiring this to be proper question, it is with pleasure I make the following statement: I believe in Twin Falls county as now constituted, and that any division of it would be a detriment to the part ceding as well as the portion remaining. I am therefore opposed to any division of the county, and if elected will do all that is within my power to prevent the same.

SAMUEL P. ATHERTON.

CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

To Buy a Farm on Ten Yearly Payments, Like Rent

PAYMENTS EXTENDED ONE YEAR IN CASE OF DEATH OF PURCHASER TO PROTECT FAMILY.

1-150 acres nine miles northwest Buhl, 256 high land and 15 adjoining free can be watered, 135 acres water, all in cultivation, some clover, you only pay for the 135. This last buy on tract for a family unit, at $100.00 per acre.

2-80 acres, all clover and alfalfa, seven miles northwest Buhl. Ten-year terms, $110.00 per acre. Barren.

3-50 acres, all clover and alfalfa, good stand; now in oats and barley, good crop, little late. 1 1/2 miles from Buhl; no waste, good land, lay fine. Crop goes with land if bought now. Small payment, ten years' contract.

4-50 acres about 2 1/2 miles northwest of Buhl, main road, 40 acres alfalfa, balance plowed land. $560.00, same terms; a bargain.

5-254 acres six miles northeast of Buhl, early warm soil, all fenced, woven wire, nice new house and barn, looks fine, 180 acres alfalfa and clover, fine seed, grain, or stock farm, $125.00 per acre. Will pay for itself. Ten year contract.

6-150 acres, deep seed soil, fine location, 1 1/2 miles northwest Curry, 32 miles northwest Twin Falls, land around it selling for cash at higher price. No better purchase on tract; it sells very high before your contract expires. Ten-year contract, $155.00 per acre.

7-Remember, you never put any money in the land from what it will make if you work! except the first two payments. You get the far more in value. Don't wait, this ad. won't appear again. Box 85, Twin Falls, Idaho. M. W. Johnson.

FAMOUS WRITERS DEMAND HUGHES GIVE DEFINITE POLICY

would you be in favor of intervening in Mexico?

Seventh—Does your attack upon the Wilson shipping bill mean that you are in favor of ship subsidies?

Eighth—You speak enthusiastically of the rights of the workers. Does this imply that you endorse the Clayton anti-trust law and the seamen's bill or will you urge their repeal?

Ninth—What are your specific complaints against the federal reserve law?

Income Tax Question Put Up To Hughes.

Tenth—As governor of New York you opposed the income tax amendment. Does this antagonism persist? Do you or do you not believe in paying for preparations out of a tax on incomes, inheritances and donations?

We agree with you that it is a critical question for our country, and for candidates to talk in terms of office-seeking rather than in the simple, earnest language of definite American policy.
