LEVY FOR HOSPITAL PROMISED MONDAY

Ruling by Court Makes New Call for Bids Necessary

JUDGE BABCOCK HOLDS STATUTE WAS NOT COMPLIED WITH.

Court Says Hospital Such As That Planned Is Needed For The County For Present and Future.

Following a ruling by Judge W. A. Babcock Wednesday to the effect that the contract with the W. G. Reed company for the construction of a county hospital was void because the commissioners did not previously make sufficient provision to pay for it, the county board determined to meet September 11 for the purpose of making the required levy and returned ordered the bids for plumbing and heating works to have been considered yesterday.

In reversing the order of the board on legal grounds Judge Babcock said in effect that in his opinion the institution of the kind and character proposed was required in this county and that this opinion was based on the testimony elicited on the stand and his own observations as to conditions prevailing here. While testimony had indeed shown that the number of indigent sick actually cared for by the county or operated on at the expense of the county was small, there was in fact a large element of people who in times of sickness could not in practice secure the attention needed under present conditions. To a man of small means sickness is a calamity. Should such a man die his family must in many instances be cared for at public expense, and as a matter no less of humanity than of economy it would be advisable to provide means for preserving men in such condition in good health.

The decision was rendered after something over an hour had been consumed yesterday morning in the testimony of the county commissioners, witnesses for the defense, and in discussing legal points. The attorneys for the county raised a question as to the validity of the contract on the ground that such appeal should have been made twenty days from the time that the first steps were taken and made, and that for this reason the contract was too late. Another point raised was that the appeal did not specify as that Dr. Boyd was a taxpayer in Twin Falls county, and that the appeal was filed. Three points were not passed upon by the court as the matter of the legality of a levy made too late was held to be immaterial.

Dr. J. N. Davis of Kimberly, was the first witness put on the stand by Dr. Boyd. He testified that in his opinion from twelve to fifteen beds would meet all present requirements for sick indigents and inmates of the poor house. Dr. Boyd was recalled and said that during the time which he had the contract for the caring for the patients Dr. Boyd. He testified that in his opinion from twelve to fifteen beds would meet all present requirements for sick indigents and inmates of the poor house. Dr. Boyd was recalled and said that during the time which he had the contract for the caring for the patients Dr. Boyd. He testified that in his opinion from twelve to fifteen beds would meet all present requirements for sick indigents and inmates of the poor house.

Attorney C. M. Booth for Dr. Boyd offered to present testimony to the effect that the board of commissioners intended to construct a hospital not only for the paupers and indigent sick, but also for the care of patients, that they had repeatedly so stated and that they had this in mind at the time

FALLING CUPBOARD BREAKS

LITTLE TADY WIXON'S HIP

Three-Year-Old Girl Is Placed In Health Heavy Furniture In Circus Day Accident.

While climbing upon an old cupboard in her home at 214 Second street east last circus day, little Tady Wixon, three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Nina Wixon, caused the cupboard to overbalance and fall upon her. The little girl was placed beneath the heavy furniture and when the mother removed the cupboard it was found that the baby's hip was broken. Immediate surgical attention was given the girl and though the break is a serious one, the physician in charge is confident that the little girl, because of her age, will fully recover, and that no permanent injury will result from the accident. The hip is in suspension and will remain so for the next four weeks.

that they let the contract for a building which was not intended exclusively for the needs of the indigent sick and paupers in the care of the county. Judge Babcock overruled the motion to admit such testimony on the ground that it was immaterial what the commissioners had announced as their intentions, saying that if the purpose for offering this testimony was to impeach the testimony of the commissioners, he would admit it, but otherwise not.

Attorney C. O. Longley, who assisted County Attorney J. E. Davies during the trial of the case said that in his mind only one issue was presented and that was in regard to the finances. The constitution he said in effect contained a provision for a bond issue which the legislature had enacted a statute providing for the expenditure of money for necessary institutions, which the supreme court had sustained. The county attorney said that the legislature had enacted a statute providing for the expenditure of money for necessary institutions, which the supreme court had sustained. FILER SCHOOLS BEGAN

MONDAY MORNING

Enrollment today for Dismissal For the Day-School Day Shorter Than Last Year.

School opened Monday morning at 9 o'clock, says the Filer Journal. In the grades, pupils were enrolled, textbooks distributed, and then school was dismissed until the following morning at the same time. High school students began enrolling at nine o'clock on Monday. They were excused for the day after having enrolled, secured assignments, and made arrangements for their textbooks.

The school day is slightly shorter than that of last year. The grades will be in session from 9:00 to 10:00 and from 1:00 to 1:30. The sessions in the high school will be the same with the exception of the closing hour. A highly efficient corps of teachers has been employed for the coming year. Plans for the year include far more community work than was attempted during the past year. School festivals, exhibition days, a parent-teachers association and several other activities are under consideration. The co-operation of every one in the community is desired and a banner school year is confidently expected.

TICKET SALES WERE HEAVY LAST WEEK

Threatened Strike Drove Tourists and Visitors Off Tract in Large Numbers.

All trains were more or less delayed for several days on account of the heavy travel.

We demand the initiative, referendum, and recall of all public officials. Our candidates when elected shall always and everywhere, until the private ownership of things privately used—the abolition of interest, rent and all things collectively owned. We demand the initiative, referendum, and recall of all public officials.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Barger and came with her parents to Twin Falls in 1907. She graduated from the Twin Falls high school with the class of 1912 and has since been one of the popular girls of the younger social set. The groom has lived in Twin Falls for a number of years and also received his education in the city schools, graduating with the class of 1912. He is now engaged in the abstract business, and gives promise of being one of the rising young men of the town.

SAY OREGON TRAIL AND STATE HIGHWAY ARE IN BAD SHAPE. D. R. Rowland and W. F. Brecken returned to Kimberly Friday from a trip over a great part of the state. They say that the road to Burley is taking for auto travelers unless they take the route by Artesian city, which they declare to be passable. The Oregon Trail and state highway are bad. They say that a visit to Weiser, Nampa, Boise and other points in the center of the state, convinces them that the Twin Falls trail is still ahead of all others.

W. R. Priebe Finds Conditions Unusually Prosperous

PEOPLE NOT TALKING POLITICS OR GUESSING ABOUT FUTURE.

Relief General That Strike Is Not Permanent Settled But Adamson Bill Is Popular.

That times are better in New York, Chicago, Boston and other cities than ever before, that the people are too busy to talk politics and do not stop to discuss the possible effect of the close of the war on their business, that they do not regard the strike as settled, but do think that the Adamson bill was justified as preventing an immediate break, are among things that W. R. Priebe observed while east on business and as a delegate to the National City but not on carrying the east is wonderful. Prices are going up in all lines of manufactured goods. He kept track of the strike situation in order that he might be able to get home in case is should be called. He was at Minneapolis attending the association meeting when the strike was called and was prepared to get out when word came that it had been called only on freight traffic so he did not hurry.

Mr. Priebe says that he went alone because of intangible paralysis in New York City. A child could be brought into the city but not on carrying children in autos was forbidden and he saw but two babies on the trains in the state. He returned to this city yesterday, having been absent a month.

DOG CAUSED AUTO TO TURN TURTLE

W. S. Harrison and Two Sons Hurt in Accident in This City This Morning.

W. S. Harrison lies in a local hospital, his legs and arms injured as a result of a dog running in front of his auto and making it turn turtle at this city at 4:45 o'clock this morning. Two of his sons, who were in the car, were slightly bruised, while a nephew, who was with them, escaped unharmed. The car was damaged but was not disabled and the dog was able to get away.

Mr. Harrison accompanied by his mother, fractured his leg and arm while Mr. Harrison and the boys followed in another. The party was on way to Shoshone from the Harrison farm near this city, after crossing the railroad track the dog suddenly rushed in front of the car and before anything could be done was caught under the wheels. The car turned over suddenly, but was not going fast when it overturned, but the car of the occupants. A report spread over town that Mr. Harrison was dead and caused considerable excitement.

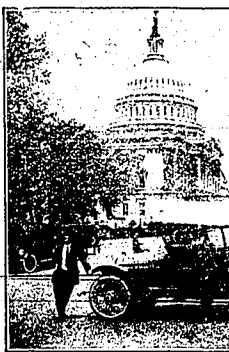

E. F. McNEW HURT IN ACCIDENT STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

E. F. McNew of this city is in a local hospital in a semi-conscious and precarious condition as a result of the explosion of an auto tire which was trying to put in last Friday. The party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. McNew and two children, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Patton and Mrs. E. A. Abbott, a sister of Mr. Patton, were returning from a trip to the Ketchum country, and on their return, about seven miles beyond Shoshone, the tire exploded, causing the tire. They removed the broken tire and were putting on the new one when the blow up, the tire striking McNew on the head, fracturing his skull. A passing car took the party to Jerome, from which place Patton returned with a driver and brought it to this city, while the injured man was hurried to a hospital in this city.

KIMBERLY SCHOOLS

The Kimberly schools opened Wednesday. Professor Downing arrived last week and after attending the institute was at once to Kimberly and Jerome, where he was getting ready for the opening. Negotiations are in progress with the trustees of the Methodist church to secure the basement again this year. A school building until the new high school is complete. Will not be until the fall of 1917. It is hoped that the Kimberly schools were terribly crowded last year, and the matter of accommodations is a serious problem. It is hoped that the school quarters can be secured that will amply.

EZRA MEEKER BEGINS TRIP TO PACIFIC

"When I crossed the plains with my wife on the old Oregon Trail sixty-four years ago I did not stop to look at the Twin Falls. At the Great Shoshone Falls, it was a matter of life and death to get over the country as quickly as possible, and we had little time to devote to the great scenes of nature as we pushed along," said Ezra Meeker, now eighty-six years young, as he described himself, when interviewed before he left the city Saturday morning on his tour across the continent from Washington, arousing interest in the revival of the Oregon Trail as a national highway. Mr. Meeker's lack of snow white hair, age, but his step is firm and his eye bright and he looks good for twenty summers more.

"I hope that you will do what you can to arouse interest in this subject of legislation for the Oregon Trail," he said, "for it takes active work to arouse action on these part congress. The members of that body all favor the legislation that we want, but they have only a general interest in the subject, and their attention is pinned down to it by the people they will devote their time and energies to other things that are pressing them."

The Oregon Trail is the one which should be followed and made into a national transcontinental highway. It is the logical route. The so-called Lincoln highway is not as available and has not the same historic significance. The victory of Marne was won by France and Paris saved because of the fine military roads of France. A great transcontinental military road in this country is a necessity and without it there can be no complete preparedness."

Ten years ago Mr. Meeker traveled across the country with an ox team erecting monuments along the famous route from the Missouri river to the Pacific. His trip attracted national wide attention and was the subject of descriptive articles of permanent value. Today he travels in a modern auto selling literature and maps, with the endorsement of the great national highway organizations, and advocating legislation that would result in the making of this trail through Twin Falls and to the coast one of the world's great thoroughfares.

Mr. Meeker says that the danger from Indians when he crossed the plains in '52 with his wife, was of relatively little importance, but that the danger from desperate white men was real.

His lecture on the trip has become a classic and the following part relating to his journey through Idaho and eastern Oregon is well worth reproducing and preserving:

"We struck Snake river, then down the left bank past American Falls, Twin Falls, Shoshone Falls (well named the Niagara of the West), on down past the two Salmon Falls, upper and lower, and near by, where we follow the track of the decimated throng across the river to the north bank, ever to and down the river, then back again across the Snake, soon to be left until its waters are enlarged mingled with the waters of the Columbia. We are still on the trail that leads us up the Burat river, the roughest piece of road yet encountered. We are on the Grand Rapids Valley of pleasant memories, and up the seemingly impossible face of the Blue Mountain and into the welcome arms of our old headquarters of rest, and then another stretch of dust and thirst to the broad Columbia, more than a mile wide, but suddenly lost in its grandeur of width and rising in its greater grandeur of power through that chasm known as The Dalles, with a breadth of channel less than two hundred feet, and a depth of unknown depth, a river turned on edge."

The old pioneer proposes to call the modern route, "the Pioneer way" and this plan has been endorsed by all organizations that have been formed to secure legislation for its permanent establishment. In regard to this phase of the subject, Mr. Meeker says:

"One hundred and fifty enduring memorial monuments now line the Oregon Trail as a result of nine years' efforts to rescue it from impending oblivion and to honor the memory of the pioneers who made it."

"All the while the promoters of this work had in mind the greater monument; a memorial road to be known as 'Pioneer Way.'"

"In continuance of this work to retrace the Cumberland road and Oregon Trail, and to report to the congressional committee on the probability of building a national transcontinental military highway is the object of this across continent trip in a Pathfinder 12-cylinder car, with the old-time prairie schooner top of pioneer days, thus combining the old and the new."

As a measure of preparedness for war or defense of vital importance for developing the resources of the nation; to honor the pioneers who opened the way, first to the middle west, followed by conquest of the entire west, 'Pioneer Way' will stand unique in history."

First traversed by hardy men on foot and mule; followed later by the ox team and the stage coach, now destined to be thronged by automobiles, history records this as the greatest world thoroughfare of record. "You can aid in reviving this ancient way by casting your influence to congress to pass the bill now pending, providing for insuring the work for a great national highway as a measure of preparedness, of defense and of duty to perpetuate the memory and to honor the pioneers who first opened the way."

In the Tuesday Times—See the Business Directory.

Why not come in and talk this over with us? We carry a full line of building materials and will be glad to give you the benefit of our experience.

TEACHERS PRAISE CITY AND INSTITUTE

Strongly Commendatory Resolutions Adopted at the Close of Successful Educational Gathering.

The Southern Idaho Teachers' association adjourned Friday at the completion of their regular program, after adopting resolutions strongly commending Twin Falls people, the several superintendents and the Twin Falls board of education. The sentiments expressed personally by the teachers from other counties coincided with those expressed in the resolutions which read as follows:

"We, the teachers of Cassia, Minidoka, Twin Falls, Latah and Shoshone counties in joint institute assembled, hereby express our profound appreciation to those people whose efforts have made possible this teachers' convention."

We feel that the success of this institute has been largely due to the wise provision of our several county superintendents in providing a conductor and a corps of instructors whose loyalty to the cause of education and whose efficiency in its advocacy have been so amply demonstrated during the past week.

Our thanks are also due to the Twin Falls board of education for permitting us the use of this splendid building, and we are heartily grateful to the citizens of Twin Falls who have so hospitably opened their homes to the members of this assemblage.

POTATO EXCURSION
PROVES OF INTEREST

Difference Shown in Same Field Between Products of Treated and Those of Untreated Seed.

The potato excursion to the Flier and Bull country Friday under the direction of County Agent W. N. Birch was attended by the extension workers named last week, a dozen farmers, and George Dewey, of the experiment station at Jerome. The examination of fields where the seed potatoes had been treated before planting showed the value of the treatment. In some instances the line between those treated and those not treated, being plainly visible. The same difference was noted between fields planted in seed of seed and those where the seed were not selected.

F. E. DeSellen, who was here from Washington looking for seed for his state, declared that some of the fields of spuds were wholly satisfactory to him and that he believed that many potatoes would be shipped from here to Washington next year.

One of the liveliest contests in the history of school elections in this city, developed Tuesday and what proved to be a real contest became a desperate battle of ballots. G. E. Bryant and V. H. Decker were mentioned generally for several days. Before the voting began the friends of J. H. Van Tassel and H. H. Freedholm decided that they would make a last-minute change on the board. The minor contest developed between the friends of Bryant and Van Tassel, who ran neck and neck, the former losing by a majority of forty-five. The vote stood: Decker, 559; Bryant, 358; Van Tassel, 313; Freedholm, 32; Herman Schuriger, 6.

THE CITIZENS ELECTRIC CO. IS A REGULAR PLACE, AND THEY HANDLE EVERYTHING FROM A REGULAR ELECTRIC FLAT IRON TO AN AJAX AUTO TIRE, AND SO MANY THINGS IN BETWEEN THAT I WOULD NOT ENUMERATE THE ALL.

TOO MUCH IS PLENTY.

MR. MILLER ALSO HANDLES A LOT OF ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES, AND DOES CONTRACT ELECTRICAL WORK, ALTHOUGH JUST AT PRESENT HE AND HIS HELP ARE KEPT BUSY DISHING OUT STROMBERG SPARK PLUGS, REMY MAGNETOS, AND THE LIKE OF THAT.

IF YOU WANT ANYTHING FOR ELECTRICITY OR THE AUTOMOBILE, AS THEY PUT IT, BEWARE OF NOT SEEING THEM. THEY WILL HAVE IT OR SOMETHING MAYBE JUST A LITTLE BETTER; ANYWAY, THAT IS WHAT THEY TOLD ME, AND ADDING INSULT TO INJURY, MADE ME BELIEVE IT.

—From Exchanges—

Brakeman Loses Leg—In some manner unknown at the present time, H. J. Byrne, a freight brakeman, last week fell under a car in such a manner as to lose a leg. The accident happened at Inkom, about 6:30, where the train stopped to set out a car.—Pocatello Tribune.

Chief of Police Resigns—George Sheppard resigned this last Friday as chief of police of Kellogg. His resignation came as a result of his arrest late Thursday evening, with Dr. H. B. Brooks, William Schaefer and August Loch, all of Kellogg, while in a car carrying 100 bottles of beer and seven quarts of whiskey from Saltese to Kellogg.—Wallace Press-Times.

Trial Ends in Row—The hearing of the case of Leslie Hunsaker of Moscow, charged with white slavery, was suddenly brought to a stop Saturday during the course of the trial, when the father of one of the girls, rising suddenly from his place in the court room, hurled a heavy chair across the room, striking the defendant, Hunsaker, on the head and fracturing his skull, necessitating that the man be taken to the hospital. The hearing, which was before the United States commissioner, was postponed pending the recovery of the man on trial.—Idaho Falls Register.

Buy Nampa Business—Harry L. Finley of this city, has sold his electrical supply and contracting business here to F. E. Bigger and son, Raymond L. Bigger, who come from Twin Falls. The new firm will be known as the Nampa Electrical Supply company, and it is said, will retain the same location Mr. Finley has had in the Sherman paint store next to the Lenderson office on Twelfth avenue. The business will change hands on September 10 and Mr. Bigger, it is understood, will move from Twin Falls as soon as arrangements can be made for a suitable residence here.—Nampa Leader-Herald.

Lightning Hits in Burley—The Advocate office was struck by lightning last Tuesday afternoon during one of the most severe electrical storms in the history of Burley. The bolt passed down through the roof, making a clean cut hole. Several people in the building were knocked down, and one man was thought to be seriously injured, but he recovered in a short time. The fire company was called out, but no fire had been started by the bolt. One of the electrical carts was overturned and badly broken up in the run. The lightning ran into the substation and threw the main switches out, causing a report which led many to believe the station had been hit.—Burley Bulletin.

Youth Shot by Playmate—Earl Whitestone, the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Geneva Goer, was accidentally shot and killed by David Williams, six years old, at the Stoyer ranch near Rogers last Thursday afternoon. The children were "playing Indian," using a gun which had been handed the older boy a few minutes before for the purpose of shooting a hawk. The gun was supposed to be unloaded, when the younger boy in the course of capturing the "Indian" playmate, raised the weapon to his shoulder, pointed it at young Whitestone and pulled the trigger. The bullet lodged in the base of the boy's brain and he died about two hours later.—Nampa Leader-Herald.

Man Is Fatally Injured—Enid Danielson was severely injured last Thursday while driving a team down a steep hill east of Ozone on a wagon heavily loaded with lumber. The rope holding the wagon brakes broke, and there being no way to hold the wagon in check, it came jumping from the way on, falling on his head. The team became frightened and ran away, down the hill, demolishing the wagon. The man was found in an unconscious condition and a call was sent here for an automobile to bring him in to the hospital, which was done, arriving here about 6 o'clock last night. An operation was performed this morning. It is stated that there is no chance for the man to live. He has a wife and four children.—Idaho Register.

Mr. Hunsaker's thrashing outfit has been working in the valley the past two weeks and has most of the threshing this vicinity finished.

Charles L. Pope was a Twin Falls visitor last week. He took in the Sells-Plato circus and says he believes Jess Willard can beat any man in the country.

Clifford Eaton has returned home from Kimberly, where he was mail carrier on route one while Mr. LeSelle was a vacation.

The new residence of Ernest McIntire is well under way of construction and will be a large and spacious dwelling.

Mrs. William McCarty returned Saturday from a two months' visit at the home of her mother at Zanesville, Ohio. She also visited at several places in Colorado on the way home.

T. M. Atkin's new residence is nearly completed and is one of the neatest homes in the valley.

Ernest McIntire visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pope, Sunday.

Chet Allen, who lives three miles northeast of Buhl, threshed the largest yield of white clover seed which has been reported this year. He had a field of just a little less than five acres that made 4,600 pounds of clean seed, says the Buhl Herald.

The seed is choice grade, and he has sold some of it to the farmers at about five cents per pound. At that rate, Mr. Allen will get $2,300 for his seed crop from five acres, or $460 per acre. The market on white clover seed has not opened yet, though the local shippers are paying 30 cents per pound. The field was sown to white clover a year ago last spring, and this is the first seed crop.

Joe Abbi who lives seven miles southwest of Buhl, also has a fine field of white clover threshed last week, and the crop averaged 11 1/3 bushels to the acre. At the present market price, the seed will realize $170 per acre. Besides the seed crop, the straw is said to be good winter feed, and the clover will get high enough for hay. The same field yielded 13 bushels to the acre last year, and the gross returns of the seed was over $200 per acre. Choice white clover seed, which is in demand during the last fall and winter, and if the prices get that high this year, Mr. Abbi will recover better than $250 per acre for this year's crop. He has not sold the seed, but is holding it for an anticipated advance in price. White clover seed is $15 per bushel now. Robert

ST. LOUIS WEATHER SPOILED THERE AIN
Mayer Sweeley Tells of Bitterness Conditions at National Shoot in St. Louis.
That conditions in St. Louis were too humid and hot to admit of straight shooting by the marksmen competing in the great American handicap from the mountain states is the story told by Mayor E. M. Sweeley who returned Friday from that city. Mr. Sweeley says that things were so warm and moist that the skin of the boys from the higher altitudes was blistered through their shirts until they donned wool underwear, which while hot, absorbed the moisture. Mr. Sweeley's name was mentioned several times in the press dispatches, but he asserts that his scores were poor compared with what they should have been. To add insult to injury, the weather got cool on the evening on which the shoot terminated.

THE WILSON ACCEPTANCE.

That the civil policy of his administration has been to extend governmental activities along lines consistent with sound economies and to at the same time remove the privileges on which the few fattened at the expense of the many; and that his foreign policy has been to secure American rights through diplomacy rather than through war and to practice to foreign nations a degree of intelligent patience such as a sane allowance for their situation and state mind would recommend; may be said in brief to comprise the address of acceptance of President Wilson. That he has made mistakes of the head but not of the heart in dealing with the manifold perplexing problems with which he has been confronted he does not deny, but he does point to the fact that in a large way the things which he started to accomplish have been done to an extraordinary degree. An able but friendly critic of his opponent summed up the objections universally felt toward the Hughes acceptance speech by saying that it gave the impression of being devoted to picking flaws such as, "I am opposed to this policy and that policy and the other policy of the administration" without condensing into a single brief statement the general attitude which one might expect a Hughes administration to pursue as distinguished from the general policy actually pursued by President Wilson and that the validity of the criticism of Judge Hughes did not so much lie in his failure to furnish a detailed bill of particulars of what he would have done in a particular situation, as in the failure to indicate a rule of conduct by which people might measure his probable general course if elected. This criticism cannot be against the address of the president. A statesman from anywhere, reading his statement of intentions, and of the achievements of his present administration would be able to judge the general character of his next administration. Inconsistent in small details and in matters of application of principle rather than of principle itself, his general course has been marked by a consistency and definite purpose foreign to any other administration since Lincoln died.

A DUBIOUS INVESTIGATION.

"Representative Mann seems to have gotten the Trust Bug in his ear again," says the American Economist, the organ of the American Protective Tariff league. "Once more he wants to hunt the Paper Trust to its lair." In the house, July 18, Mr. Mann introduced a resolution providing for the investigation of the high price of paper, and said he would urge early action thereon.

"A select committee, of which Mr. Mann was chairman, went out to find a paper trust prior to the drafting of the Payne-Aldrich tariff of 1909. It was the unscrupulous of a monopolistic combine of domestic producers to control output and put up prices that apparently was the main purpose of that committee. Nothing in the nature of a trust or combine was discovered, for the very good reason that nothing of the kind existed. We predict that exactly this will be the result of the investigation which Mr. Mann now proposes."

The depth and intensity with which Mr. Mann carried on his previous investigation may be gathered from the fact that he favored the same policy with reference to paper and other manufactured commodities that the American Economist does, namely, that a tariff high enough to prevent a reduction in war prices be placed on them; so that the people may still have the privilege of digging up to the manufacturers after the abnormal conditions abroad are ended. Perhaps the Economist's statement that no "trust or combine was discovered" for the very good reason that nothing of the kind existed, would have been more in accordance with facts had the words, "where the committee looked," been added to the words quoted above. Anyhow, congress can hardly be blamed for not placing the minority leader at the head of another committee to investigate the paper situation.

A BALLAD OF THE BORDER

The following "poem of passion" was contributed to THE TIMES by one of the members of Company B, who for the present desires that his name be as he has signed it:

A non-sufficient officer came dragging home from drill. His steps were slow and slower as he tried to climb the hill; "O hang this army life," said he, "I'm thinner every day, I'm losing all my morals and my hair is turning gray. I'm going to write to Washington and tell the bosses there I'm going to write to them and tell them to save my hair. It surely won't do any harm to write a line or two. And tell my friends in Washington to see what they can do:

"Dear President and Cabinet and all who are concerned, I'm just a common soldier boy, so etiquette be damned. I don't know how to ask it in a real official way. But I wish you'd get me out of here, if possible, please. I read the latest Order and they say that married men can only get discharges if their wives depend on them. But how about us married men accustomed all our lives to be so everlastingly dependent on our wives?

"Why, honestly, I never knew in all my married life how utterly dependent I was upon my wife. I let her do the ordering, I let her pay the bills, I let her nurse and doctor me through all my little ills—I even let her shave me once because she asked me to—in fact there wasn't anything I didn't let her do. And when it comes to cooking—say, I'm telling you, old man, The things that army cooks can't cook are just the things she can.

"And then there's little Johnny. Why, President, old scout, You'd ought to see him, when I'm home, a-ordining me about. Of course he's always 'General' and I'm his 'Orderly.' And we act out the famous march of Sherman to the sea, With me a-playin' on the fife, him beatin' on the drum. And mother singin' 'Quibble' and 'The Year of Kingdom Come.' And now I'm gone his mother says he often sits alone. And wonders where in all the world his orderly has gone.

"Now, President, I've said a lot I didn't mean to say. But can't you change that Order so it reads the other way And says that every married man, including Johnny Lee, Who finds himself dependent on his wife and family, Can be discharged from service? Why listen here old man, I'll vote for you my whole life long, as often as I can. And if you ever have to fight a long and bloody war, I'll pay my way to Mexico to fill one coffin more!"

CAKE DEFIED THE FEMINIST MOVEMENT

Crushed Under Feet of Multitude of Women It Arose As If Nothing Had Happened.

Stark's cake, baked in a majestic range, is like truth in that "crushed to the earth it will rise again," as was demonstrated yesterday afternoon before hundreds of people at the corner of Main avenue and Shoshone street, when it arose majestically after it had been squeezed down by nineteen women. The cake, measuring eighteen by nineteen inches, was placed on a plank and another plank laid over it. Nineteen women stepped on the upper plank and the cake sank down until it was only two inches high. Then they stepped off and the plank was removed. In eight minutes it had arisen to its original altitude of twelve inches, when it was cut up and passed around among the people, who praised it highly. The majestic range demonstration have been given every day this week, at 4:30 at the Twin Falls Hardware company by Professor Stark. Today recipes for making cake will be given. Tomorrow yeast making and bread making will be discussed. Meat and meat work will be the theme for Saturday's lecture and subject for the accompanying demonstration.

SOCIETY NOTES

Items for this department may be mailed, phoned or left at The Times office. Phone 88.

Mrs. House entertained at cards Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Husted won the prize for high score.

The P. E. O. society, with their families, enjoyed a picnic supper on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Warner last Monday evening. A pleasant evening was passed with various games and amusements.

The Wednesday Bridge club was entertained at the home of Mrs. G. F. Baker this week. Mrs. A. P. Senior captured the prize for the afternoon, and Mrs. Carl Carey, a guest of the club, received a beautiful souvenir spoon.

The Shamrock club met with Mrs. Dean last Thursday. A delightful social afternoon was spent, at the close of which the hostess served ice cream and cake and the club adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Davis on September 14.

Tuesday evening about twenty young people surprised Jasper McEwen at his home at 1014 Main avenue. The light of numerous Japanese lanterns hung about the lawn, immediately began an evening of unalloyed enjoyment. Late in the evening refreshments were served, after which the young guests departed for their homes.

Mrs. Willet Hance was the honored guest at a birthday party given by Mrs. J. H. Wise on Wednesday. Sewing and conversation made up the enjoyable afternoon. The flowers used in decorating were yellow and the same color prevailed in the refreshments. Those attending were Messrs. Siffer, Gates, Sizor, Bybee, DeLong, Perrine, Harriet, Son, Kenely, Dinkenscher, Meade and Mrs. Shannon of Utah.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Good Dean, 1014 Main avenue east, on Sunday, August 27th, there assembled a number of people formerly of Des Moines, Neb., for the purpose of enjoying a picnic dinner together, which was given for the benefit of Mrs. Wm. Murphy, who, since a severe affliction last fall and winter, has been confined very closely to her home. A long table, extending full length of living and dining rooms, was arranged on which was spread the bountiful supply of good things brought in to satisfy the inner man. It is needless to say that all did justice to this part of the day's program. During the afternoon a number of musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, were given by different members of the party. At five o'clock delicious ice cream and cake were served. Besides the host and hostess and their family, those present to enjoy this very pleasant occasion were: Messrs. Wm. Murphy and Beth Bowen, of Twin Falls; D. R. Churchill and wife, of Burley; Henry and Edna Meyer, of Rupert; A. N. Long, Wilson Rile, John Wile and F. W. Bartsch, Davenport, Neb.

WITH EVERY MAJESTIC RANGE ORDERED THIS WEEK

The Majestic Range is known, for many reasons, as "The Range With a Reputation." The Majestic Range, unlike other ranges, bakes quickly. The Majestic always bakes good and keeps a hot oven. The Majestic, although it is a large stove, takes less coal than most small stoves. When mother gets up in the morning, she has hot water from the reservoir, hot enough to wash with. The Majestic is noted for its durability. For example, my grandmother has a Majestic over fourteen years old. When she bought it for sixty dollars, she thought it entirely too high priced. But now it is as good as new and she is as proud of it as we are of the new one we bought seven months ago if that may possibly be expressed in words.

COLE EVANS.

The Majestic has established a world wide reputation by using so little fuel and doing lots of work.

Because all who have seen it tried have been found wanting.

RUSSELL HUSTED.

Because those who have used one will have no other and are glad to tell their friends about it.

VERNAARD MARTIN.

The Majestic has the reputation of being a fuel saving, best baker and cooker. Lasts longer, built stronger, has an airtight oven and is easy to clean.

Bisbee Portraits Are Superior

Reason Number 2

The Bisbee Studio is the only studio in Southern Idaho able to produce the delicate and exquisite carbon portraits on ivory, on celluloid, on parchment, and on a number of other very difficult mediums. A very small percentage of the photographers of the United States can make genuine carbons; only two in Idaho are doing it; Mr. Bisbee is one of them.

This is the second child lost to Mr. Vilning in two weeks, his four-year-old son, Howard Vilning, having died on August 21st of tonsillitis, of only a few days' duration.

Will Put Up Sign—The big fourteen-foot sign received by the Macaulay brothers has been responsible for an amendment to the sign ordinance of the city of Twin Falls. After the sign arrived it was found that, if placed, it would extend above the limit established by law, and upon consideration by the council it was determined to amend the ordinance which says that a sign shall not extend from a building more than ten feet, making the curb line the limit for extension signs. After the amendment has been passed the Macaulay sign will be installed.

DOROTHY GISH REHEARSED

AS REAL SCHOOL TEACHER

Before beginning her latest Triangle photoplay, "The Little Schoolma'am," Dorothy Gish, who plays the name part, spent several afternoons as a teacher in the Triangle school maintained at the Fine Arts studio for the drama and odd card players employed there. She wanted to be absolutely correct as to schoolroom detail, and incidentally, she says she had a wonderfully good time and found the name responsive and interested group of pupils she had ever seen. As the same group of children played with her in the picture, she continued to continue some of the actual lessons, and her directors, the Franklin brothers, say that this was a marked contribution to the effectiveness and realism of the school house scenes.

Which is an interesting example of the care that is taken to secure atmospheric detail in the making of Triangle pictures.

TOURIST REGISTERS—BECOMING POPULAR

The registers are conveniently placed in mounted, weatherproof boxes, over which a notice is found offering the assistance and co-operation of the local forest service organization to those who, upon entering the forest, register their name, address and destination. It has made very Extensive use of the registers during the summer, extra books having become necessary on several of the more heavily traveled national forest roads. An incident occurring on the Cache forest, in northern Utah, illustrates the beneficial use to which these registers are put. On August 13 an emergency telephone call for people from Tremonton, known to be spending an outing in the mountains, was received at the Tony Grove ranger station. These people had made use of the tourist register and it was thus possible for the ranger to quickly determine the location of their camp. Ranger Henderson was at the time unable to travel, but fortunately Mrs. Henderson's father, Mr. Chandler, was visiting at the station, and rode up the canyon seven miles to deliver the urgent message.

The extensive system of service telephone lines and its wide-appeal to close-knit organization make it possible to render many services of this kind, which not only are of considerable benefit to the traveler and camper, but also bring home more forcibly the advantages of the national forests as recreation and vacation grounds.

HAGERMAN BEE MAN WILL SHIP CARLOAD OF HONEY THIS YEAR

Earl Hagerman of Hagerman, manager of the Hagerman Valley Bee and Honey company, received the attention of a number of interested on-lookers on Broadway, in Buhl last week, when he shipped his Ford auto truck containing thirty-five cases of honey, says the Buhl Herald. Honey bees, warned about the cases of honey, until it looked as though a whole colony had come out. However, it was only those which had been attracted by the honey. The supers were taken from some of the 250 stands of bees the Hagerman Bee and Honey company have around Buhl.

Mr. Hagerman said that the company
