WILSON UPHOLDS TARIFF POLICY

Defends Reserve Act and Shipping Bill in Baltimore

OUTLOOK FOR UNITED STATES NEVER BRIGHTER.

Wants to See This Nation Seek Not To Exclude But To Excel Its Competitors.

BALTIMORE — President Wilson, speaking before the Grain Dealers' convention here, upheld his tariff policy, defended the federal reserve act and the shipping bill and declared that it is business as usual in America. He said that the future of the country is bright.

"What I have come to say," he said, "is that we are in a position of calmness."

"I want to speak to you of the business of the world from the standpoint of America."

He said that the export of grain from the United States was decreasing in volume, adding that the agricultural acreage of the United States could produce at least twice as much grain as at present.

"I want to see America seek not to exclude, but to excel," said the president in discussing American trade.

He spoke in support of the tariff commission created by the last congress.

Tariff Commission.

On the tariff the president said he did not fear to say that previously tariff laws had been founded on error. He did not fear the investigation of the facts by the tariff commission. "It will look for the facts, no matter whom it hurts," he said.

The president said he did not care whose opinion was contradicted, he wanted the tariff commission to thoroughly investigate foreign trade.

"The president said he did not care whose opinion was contradicted, he wanted the tariff commission to thoroughly investigate foreign trade."

A Business Era.

"We have swung out into a business era in America," continued the president. "Now our business has extended to the whole world. We have burst its jacket. We have realized that American business men did not have enough ships to carry their goods."

The president speaking widely turned to a discussion of the banking system of the United States.

"In the very recent years," he said, "have we ever studied the question. Not until the present federal reserve act was passed did American bankers have facilities for carrying on foreign business."

"Not only with this war's over but now America must take her stand in business on a scale she has never known before."

"A few years ago American business men took up their morning papers with a degree of nervousness to see what the government was doing to them," he continued. "Now they have no nervousness. There is no contest between proper business and the government."

"We are creating instrumentalities through which a thorough investigation can be made of every phase of American business," the president declared. "We have interrupted frequently by hand-cuffing." "Business must be founded on cooperation between all." As a step in this direction he advocated a law to allow American exporters to utilize common selling agencies abroad.

Dispel Monopoly.

"I despise monopoly and have an enthusiasm of co-operation," he declared. "The trend of laws in the United States, according to the president, will be to remove all tedious obstructions, from the activities of the people of the nation."

"Speaking of the need of more ships for America," he said, "we cannot lose any time in getting the means of delivering our goods to foreign markets."

He explained the shipping bill by saying that under it the government will seek to build up trade routes, but will step aside when private capital wants to keep the business of the world. "The health of foreign relationships," he said, "is the wealth of the nation."

CHEAP GAS NOT DUE TO HUGHES

Man Who Brought Suit in Case Interviewed by Times

CANDIDATE NEVER IN CASE DECIDED AGAINST COMPANY.

Action Was Brought Through Activity of Hearst-Hughes Was Paid As Counsel In Investigation.

"I was one of the two gas users in the city of New York who brought suit to test the validity of the gas law in New York, prior to the employment of Charles E. Hughes as special counsel for the state to investigate conditions, and am surprised that he is trying to take credit for his connection with eighty-cent gas," said George L. West of Boise, who was in the city yesterday, in a TIMES representative.

"The gas law under which action was in many ways similar to the Admonition law just passed by congress," continued Mr. West, "and the line of argument which the gas company put up was in many ways similar to the plea of the railroads in the present instance. The legislature of the state of New York had enacted a law preventing public utility corporations from collecting above a certain percent on their investments. The gas company paid no attention to this law but continued to sell dollar gas. The Hearst publications took up the matter and made an exhaustive investigation which indicated that seventy-five cent gas would have returned the percentage allowed by law. The Hearst papers were arguing people not to pay and finally went to them and asked them what would happen in the event that I refused. They told me to come back later, which I did, and was informed that I should enjoin the company from charging more than eighty cents. Another man who was in business with the gas company took the stand and, with the backing of Hearst, the Hearst papers then advised everyone to get out of the city. I was ordered to stand and to bring injunctions, and hundreds followed their advice with the result that the courts were swamped with litigation. I was ordered to stand and to bring injunctions, and hundreds followed their advice with the result that the courts were swamped with litigation. I was ordered to stand and to bring injunctions, and hundreds followed their advice with the result that the courts were swamped with litigation."

"The principle on which President Wilson's stand with reference to the Hughes case is the same as the principle on which the legislature acted when it passed the law which Hughes is enforcing. I believe that Hughes and his managers are making a mistake and setting a trap to catch themselves in opposing the eight hour law. The gas matter tells in favor of Wilson and this law instead of in favor of Hughes."

"Clarence Shearn was the attorney representing the Hearst papers, who fought and won our case. At the same time he was attorney in the case against the coal trust, in which he was also fighting the Hearst papers. At this time Hearst is paying in every issue of his papers, as an examination of the files will prove, the highest price for advertising space for securing eighty-cent gas. Now because of his Mexican investments and other financial matters, he is unable to give credit to Hughes for securing eighty-cent gas, when he knows that no such credit is due. Hearst himself is really opposed to the Hughes law, and was never opposed to the big interests, and has earned the criticism which Tom Lawson made on him, that he was the biggest hypocrite in the country."

TWENTY LETTERS ABOUT KELSEY REFERENCES

"I have sent twenty letters to different cities and persons to whom Engineer Kelsey referred the case Monday," said City Attorney George Horner yesterday. "We and we expect to have replies from most of them by the Monday night meeting. As soon as a qualified expert has been secured the work of locating and securing a satisfactory water supply will be pushed by the city."

NINETY FROM SUGAR FACTORY REGISTER FOR THE ELECTION

Although ninety voters employed in construction work at the sugar factory registered with E. N. Day Tuesday, registration officers say that a large number of voters have not yet registered and add that many whose names are not on the registration list do not seem to realize that unless they get on the list by the evening of October 7, they will not be permitted to register, but must get witnesses to testify to the fact that they are residents and thus inconvenience them and the election officers. Although the campaign is beginning to get warm, many are not paying close attention to it yet, while others are paying special attention to the issues and candidates and none to the details of registration. Those who registered for the primaries do not have to register again but those who did not will have to do so.

American Exports Make World Beating Record

Department of Commerce Statistics Show In August Goods Valued at $510,000,000 Were Sent Abroad.

WASHINGTON — American exports finally have passed the half billion dollar-a-month mark. Statistics issued today by the department of commerce show that goods sent abroad in August were valued at $510,000,000, a record not only for this country, but for the world. The total is $35,000,000 above the previous high record, established in May, and $45,000,000 higher than the June figure.

Imports decreased in August, the total of $199,247,291, being $47,000,000 below that of June, the record month. It was greater, however, than the total for any previous August. Exports for the year ended with August aggregated $4,759,000,000 and the imports $2,300,000,000, both totals being far in advance of those for any similar period. Of the August imports, 65.5 percent entered free of duty, compared with 67.5 percent in August a year ago.

The favorable trade balance for August was $231,000,000 compared with $119,000,000 in August a year ago, and a balance of $12,000,000 in the preceding year and $274,000,000 two years ago.

The net inward gold movement for August was $20,000,000 and the second year's $410,000,000, a record breaker. Last year the net inward gold movement was $140,000,000 and two years ago there was a net outward movement of $95,000,000. Gold imports in August were $41,238,718 against $61,641,191 in August, 1915, and $3,945,219 in August, 1914.

NEW SCHOOL IS FINISHED

Building A Credit to the City of Twin Falls

LATEST TYPE OF STRUCTURE LIKE THAT BUILT IN EAST.

School Has Been In Progress In Building Since Beginning of Term But Work Was Not Completed.

Contract work on the new Washington school building was completed yesterday and George Mitty, who had charge of the construction work on the building, will leave tomorrow for Pocatello. P. K. Mitty, auditor and assistant manager of the North Pacific Construction company, which built the edifice, was here several days this week looking over the completion of the work. Speaking of the school he said:

"I have seen almost half the schools of Idaho, but Twin Falls leads all the other towns in its magnificent and up-to-date school buildings. The Washington school is the nearest in design and one of the most complete grade schools in the state of Idaho."

The structure is a one-story building of the latest type which is popular in the eastern states and California and is one of the first buildings of this type in this section of the state.

It is 155 by 155 feet in "L" shape and located at the corner of Adams and Blue Lakes boulevard. It has one main entrance, two on the end elevations and two on the back elevation. One big basement for the heating plant, one big assembly room for forty-eight by forty-eight feet, and stage of sixteen by thirty feet.

In the middle of each member of the school on the right and left side of the main entrance. There are also three story rooms and two toilet rooms. It contains everything to make complete and modern in every detail.

It was designed and plans drawn by E. E. Morse, architect, of this city.

The school was in service since the beginning of the school year, although the work was not completed. It was necessary early this week to dismiss school for a day on account of the fact that the furnace has been connected up.

CHILD LABOR BILL A GOOD MEASURE

National Child Labor Committee Denounces Misrepresentation

SAYS MEASURE WAS APPROVED BY BEST CONSTITUTIONAL LAWYERS

All Parties Supported It In Congress—Effort to Misrepresent It For Partisan Purposes Unfair.

That the efforts to discredit the child labor law for partisan purposes is unfair and that the measure, which was enacted by an overwhelming majority, in the present of the state of the best constitutional lawyers is the statement contained in a circular received by THE TIMES from the National Child Labor committee of New York City, with the request that it be published in the interest of fair play. A number of partisan newspapers opposed to the present Wilson have been declaring the law to be worthless. The circular follows:

"The National Child Labor committee has issued today a protest against current statements to the effect that the recently passed federal child labor law is a 'fraud' and a 'joke.' We hope no one will be misled by these rumors. The bill was carefully drawn and thoroughly considered. It was not jammed through congress but has been pending three years. It is significant that both Democrats and Republicans were well represented on the senate committee that passed on the final form of the bill, that both Democrats and Republicans stood solidly for it in this form, and that when the roll-call was taken only two Republicans—Oliver and Penrose—and ten Democrats—all southerners—voted against it. If the law is a gold brick, both parties would have been able to attempt to use it as campaign material. It is absurd. The law is as air-tight as a law can be. The thirty-day clause which has been attacked by the law does not relate to shipment in interstate commerce but to removal from the factory, and was intended, chiefly, to prevent the removal of the storage of child-made goods in a warehouse. It was necessary furthermore, because without it a manufacturer might be able to evade the law by finding his goods debarked from interstate commerce, even though his child employees were discharged. It has been shown that such a manufacturer may try to run the government blockade with shipments of goods in thirty day lots, hiring and firing his children so as to evade the law, but we believe that such a manufacturer would be an abnormally determined employer of children—far more than the law itself would permit for many years that they do not want to employ children but are forced to do so by competition with other child laborers. It is the duty of the public to the attention of a public that has already clearly signified its objection to the existence of child labor. The federal child labor law was framed by the best constitutional lawyers in this country; it was passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress and it was enforced in accordance with the will of the American people."

Bisbee Portraits Are Superior

Reason Number 5

Mr. Bisbee began work in Twin Falls in a tent with one lone twenty-dollar gold piece for capital. Within nine years The Bisbee Studio had the most expensive photographic equipment in the Rocky Mountain country and was generally acknowledged as one of the finest studios in the Pacific Northwest. Every dollar of the investment, the full measure of the success, was made by the sale of photographic prints. Surely such a studio can justly claim superiority of service.

Mrs. Ann Montgomery returned to Marquette after visiting with her son here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Emory and D. K. Westcott, of Caldwell, and Turner Walters, of Vada, Ia., visited this J. O. Gates family last week.

C. C. Wilburn of the Twin Falls-Oakley Land and Water Co., and B. P. Howells of Oakley, were business visitors in Albion last week.—Albion Nugget.

LOCAL BREVITIES

—Phone 82—
Married by Justice—Charlie Cassidy and Hilwatha Gardner, both of Artesian City, were married Monday by Justice W. J. Smith.

Marriage License—On Tuesday a license to marry was issued to Wallace L. Knott of Chicago, and Mabel Carter Truesdale, of Edin.

Married—Wednesday, September 20, at 8:00 p. m., at the Methodist parsonage, John S. Gilmore and Joliette A. Johnson, both of Twin Falls, were married by the Rev. C. L. Bent.

Excavation Nearly Completed—Excavation for the new Dr. Baugh building at the corner of Main and Shoshone, is nearly completed and work on the foundation will soon start.

Shoe Expert Here—G. C. Vaughn, an expert shoe fitter, of Denver, Colorado, who for some time has been connected with the May Shoe company in that city, has entered the employ of Sinclair, the local shoe man.

Will Visit in California—William Wagner, of the Skeels-Wiley Drug company, leaves tomorrow for a two weeks' visit at Long Beach, California. He will return with Mrs. Wagner, who has been visiting with relatives for the past two months.

Farewell Reception Today—A farewell reception is being held at the Methodist church parlors this afternoon for Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Parker, who leave for Nampa, where Rev. Parker will assume the pastorate. He has been district superintendent here for several years.

Contractor Injured—A. W. Fraser, the contractor, is suffering from a crushed ankle received yesterday on the Rice building as a result of a large plate glass dropping against it. The support under the glass, which was being installed, gave away while Mr. Fraser was examining it.

Frost Missed a Few—While the frost just spring cleaned out the peach crop of the tract in quite thorough manner, there are a few places it seems to have missed wiping out the crop completely. In the family orchard of Mrs. Lizzie Kunkles, just east of the city, some of the trees are yielding as high as a bushel to the tree. While this is only a quarter of the crop that might have been expected were it not for the frost, it is nevertheless a very good record for this year, when most peach orchards are yielding practically nothing.

Owing to her early departure for California, Mrs. H. B. Johnson will entertain the Monday Evening club on Friday afternoon of this week.

The M. C. B. club was entertained at the home of Mrs. P. H. Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Shout was awarded a beautiful hand-painted plate. Miss Pauline Evans was a guest.

The Winodaus club met with Mrs. Beauchamp Wednesday afternoon. A social meeting was enjoyed and a dainty luncheon was served, the hostess being assisted by Miss McMaster. The house was tastefully decorated with nativity and roses.

The Oak Corner club met Thursday, September 21, with Mrs. A. Nelson. Only five members were present; the county fair attracting many of the others. Mrs. Carter and daughter were rendering, and an excellent vocal solo, and all enjoyed Mrs. Nelson's playing at the piano. The hostess served a dainty luncheon. The club will meet October 17, with Mrs. Bruce Requa.

Chapters of the Eastern Star from Buhl, Filer and Hollister were entertained by the local chapter of Eastern Star Tuesday evening in Masonic hall. The early part of the evening was devoted to a floral ceremony, with the grand worthy matron, Mrs. Van Riper, of Buhl, as the candidate. Dancing followed, after which refreshments were served. The hall was ably decorated for the occasion, with cut flowers and ferns.

Fairhall hall was filled on Tuesday afternoon at the opening reception of the Twentieth Century club. The work of the decorating committee was very much in evidence, and the result was very pleasing. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were suspended from the ceiling, and ferns, palms and golden glow were scattered through the room. A trio, composed of Mrs. Guilbert at the piano, Mrs. Smock, violin, and Mrs. Sprague, cello, gave a number of musical selections that were

Twin Falls musical circles are to be congratulated on the addition to their numbers of Miss Edith Holcomb, who possesses a wonderfully sweet, rich voice. It is hoped that she will often favor the club. Her first song, "A May Morning," was heartily enjoyed, and she responded with "Ishtar," a Syrian love song. Dainty refreshments were served, in which the club color, green and white, were carried out. The next meeting, October 3, is to be a business meeting and a luncheon combined. Mrs. Schroeder, who has charge of the afternoon, asks that the ladies be sure to bring their fancy work. 2000 Feet of Motion Picture Film
Showing the Unbelievable in Western Motoring

SHOWS a common, regular DODGE BROTHERS STUCK OAR driven on its own power across the most dreaded region in America—Death Valley—a place which has been the cause of more deaths by thirst and starvation than any other equal area on the earth's surface.

This film provided by the Dodge Brothers for the benefit of their dealers, patrons and the public in general, leaves no opportunity for imagination. Nothing more could be dreamed of a car. It crosses an expanse of desert area on which many an explorer has gone to death and over which no other car has ever traveled—Sand, rocks and rivers form no barrier; mountains are negotiated as if they were mere mole hills.

The scenery throughout is in turn awe-inspiring and magnificent. Critics have termed it one of the most remarkable pictures yet produced. The fact that all these obstacles were surmounted by an ordinary stock car, selected at random from the salesroom of the Los Angeles dealer, speaks the quality of Dodge Brothers' cars.

We have always contended that the Dodge Brothers' car was unequalled for pulling and if you will go and see this picture we believe you will admit we are right. This two-reel picture will be shown at

PENALIZING THE SUCCESSFUL FARMER

Farmers are penalized for improving their homesteads.

Perhaps this condition of affairs is more apparent in agricultural sections which are being newly settled, because the contrasts are more sharp, but the principle works out in every community, now or old, town or country.

For instance, Mr. Brown of Kansas, buys a farm, paying $15 per acre, and with the intention of making it a permanent home, as most good farmers do, he does a lot of work on the place.

At the same time that Mr. Brown buys his land, Mr. Smith, of Smithville, Illinois, buys a quarter next to him, also paying $15 per acre.

In ten years, owing to the vast amount of improvement accomplished by Brown and his neighbors, the value of land increases to $75 per acre. The children of trees, schools, a town, and the prosperous appearance brought about by Brown and his neighbors has caused Smith's land to advance $60 an acre, although it is still unimproved.

Smith sells his land and gets a big profit.

In the meantime, during the ten years, Smith has paid smaller taxes than Brown, because his land is unimproved. The tax statements of Brown and his neighbors get bigger every year.

On their lands. The man who improves his property is therefore penalized. The man who sits still and lets his property increase in value is the gainer. He invests nothing and his taxes are smaller than the taxes of those who do the improving.

In England they have a system whereby they tax the unearned increment. If a well settled country like England sees the justice of the unearned increment tax, surely a developing realm like Kansas should have it.

A tax should be placed on the rise in the value of property which is lying idle. That would work a benefit two ways. It would stimulate the improving of property and it would place the burden of taxes where it justly belongs. Homes should not be taxed, for they bring in no income. The American home is the foundation of our national life, and home-owning should be encouraged in every way instead of being penalized as is done under our antiquated tax laws.

The people of Kansas, especially the farmers, should insist that the tax laws be revised so as to tax the unearned increment.

ELMER T. PETERSON.

NEW HOG CHOLERA INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN

Methods of Prevention, Treatment and Disinfection Set Forth in Circular Just Issued.

New and more elaborate instructions than heretofore given have been received from the bureau of animal industry at Washington, by the local bureau in this city. Methods of prevention, of treatment, and of disinfection are set forth succinctly but clearly in the circular, which covers a great deal of ground in relatively little space.

The circular follows:

Farmers themselves can do much toward preventing the spread of hog cholera, and placing swine raising and feeding on a safe and more profitable basis.

To keep hog cholera from reaching your herd, locate your hog lots and pastures away from streams and public highways, and do not allow your hogs to run on free range or highways, nor do not allow them to have access to canals or irrigation ditches.

Do not visit your neighbor or allow him to visit you, if either of you have hog cholera on your premises.

Do not drive into hog lots when turning from market, or after driving on public highways.

Do not use any lot for yarding swine and other implements.

Do not place newly purchased stock, stock secured or loaned for breeding purposes, or stock exhibited at county fairs, immediately with your herd. Keep such stock quarantined by keeping them in separate pens for at least two weeks, and use care to prevent carrying infection from those to other pens in feeding and attending stock.

Burn to feed and cover with quicklime and bury under four feet of earth all dead animals and the viscera removed from animals at butchering time, because they attract the attention of buzzards, dogs, etc., which are liable to carry hog cholera infection.

If hog cholera appears in the neighborhood confine your dog and encourage your neighbor to do the same.

Mange, lice, and worms lower the vitality of hogs and render them more susceptible to disease.

After the premises are in your herd have them treated immediately with anti-hog-cholera serum, after which they should be kept on a light diet, with pure drinking water, and confined to limited quarters that may be cleaned and sprayed three times a week with "One part of compound cresol solution to thirty parts of water," until the disease has abated in the herd.

To obtain the best results the serum must be administered as soon as the disease is detected in the herd. See that the temperature is taken of all hogs, and that a sufficient dose of serum is given.

After the premises are thoroughly cleaned, spray walls, floors and other surfaces with a disinfectant (one part compound cresol solution to thirty parts water). Where hog houses are small turn them over, exposing interior to sunlight. Clean premises, properly exposed to sunlight, will not retain infection any great length of time.

Wallow holes and cesspools should be filled in, drained, or fenced off. All runs underneath buildings should be cleaned and disinfected and boarded up to keep hogs out.

Destroy hogs that do not fully recover, as they may be carriers of cholera infection.

The Permanent Hog House

No Other Building on the Farm Pays For Itself So Quickly

A Government expert says that "Good hog men average about seven pigs raised to the litter. Many do better. But the general average raised on the farm does not exceed four pigs to the litter."

This big difference is largely in the housing. The question is not so much a matter of cost as the proper design of a hog house. Many hog houses cost enough to be good, but are entirely unfit because the sun cannot shine into the pens. Sunshine and ventilation are absolutely necessary.

On the other hand, inexpensive houses often give better results than more costly ones—because of the better design.

The design is what counts. Here's where we can help you.

ALEXANDER POSTERS ARE PUT ON BOARDS

Voters Attention Called to Filled Pledges

PROHIBITION POSTERS ARE ALSO ON HAND

Attention Called to the Need of Vigilance on the Part of Friends of Constitutional Amendments.

With the falling leaves, evidence of the approach of the election is shown in the mellow autumn glow of the candidates and by the posters and cards that appear in the windows and on bill boards. Yesterday a number of posters calling attention to the fact that Governor Moses Alexander had delivered the goods in the way of smaller state expenditures; lower state tax levies and the securing of statutory prohibition were placed in conspicuous places. The signs contained an excellent picture of the governor.

The attention of the voters is also being attracted in the same way by announcements of the fact that a constitutional amendment providing for prohibition is to be voted on this fall. The friends of this measure say that the liquor forces have quietly organized in all the wet counties and that unless the prohibition voters are on the alert and cast their ballots, they will lose out, while if all those favoring the amendment vote, they will easily triumph.
