SALT LAKE CITY.—J. Rueben Clark, of the Washington Railway & Electric Light Co., president of the national law, wired his partner in this city, F. D. Itchenaid, as follows, in a letter dated Jan. 10, 1918: "The probable outcome of the German proposals for peace: "There is no doubtless is primarily dependent on state of allied exhaustion. However, unless present proposals are merely preliminary to a more substantial offer, the peace here peace improbable on Germany's present basis, which would leave unaltered the material objects of the war, including adjustment of Prussian, and military predominance heretofore dominant. The German government indisputably is the controlling factor in the present peace negotiations. The prevailing view in financial circles apparently considers a proposal for peace, which would leave intact the financial system created by the German peace party. FOR DISTRICT BONDS

Senator Chamberlain and Representative Smith introduced Resolution for Irrigation Districts.

WASHINGTON—Senator Chamberlain of Oregon introduced Wednesday and Representative Smith of Idaho will introduce Thursday a bill which proposes a new plan under which the principal and interest on bonds issued by reclamation districts and thus provide funds for the construction not only of irrigation but drainage projects in several states.

Under the bill, when a project is approved by the secretary of the interior, a reclamation district organized under state law may issue bonds to cover the cost of construction and these bonds will be deposited in the treasury. The secretary of the treasury will then issue certificates of indebtedness equal to the amount of the district bonds filed with him, and from the sale of these certificates money will be raised to irrigate or drain lands in the approved districts. The work of reclamation is to be done under the United States reclamation service.

The bill contains numerous safeguards to protect the United States against loss, and authorizes the forfeiture of lands on which payments are not made, such lands to be sold. Public lands embraced in any such district are to be appraised and sold at public auction after the work of reclamation is completed.

PLEASANT VIEW WILL HOLD REVIVAL SERVICE

Evangelist E. H. Osborn Will Begin Series of Lectures There on December Thirtieth.

Rev. A. J. Kammann, pastor of the Pleasant View Presbyterian church, together with the members of the session of that church, Miss W. Neal, J. P. McMillan, V. E. Morgan and Victor is perfecting plans for a two-weeks evangelistic campaign which will start on December 30th in this city. A large chorus choir is in process of organization and they will use the famous Miss Christ King revival song book. The attention is directed toward a bright and helpful song service. The choir will be under the direction of Mr. Fred Horiz. The church of Pleasant View of Los Angeles has been secured to lead the campaign. Mr. Osborn was formerly associated with Dr. H. H. Wolf, Dr. French Oliver and Dr. R. B. A. and the world-famous evangelist, and has conducted a number of successful campaigns in the west. He is at present planning a winter's work in Idaho.

The Pleasant View Presbyterian church is located three miles west and three miles south from Twin Falls. This church is only one year old but has a very remarkable history. During the past year it has been growing very rapidly so that its present membership is almost 100. While a little over a year ago the church and property and its property is worth over $5,000. Rev. Kammann was called by the church last spring to be the duty of the church. During his short stay there twenty persons have asked for admission to the church.

The Pleasant View church will have the honor of entertaining the Twin Falls Presbytery during their session in April. This will be a new experience for them but they announce that they are keeping every effort to make the winter in order to give the preachers a royal entertainment next spring.

Revival services will begin with the morning service Sunday, December 31st and continue each evening except Sunday evening, January 1st. The service will begin each evening at 7:30 sharp.

FRENCH PREMIER CHARGED WITH DILATORINESS

PARIS—Henry Berenger, senator of Guadalupe, Tuesday in the senate accused the cabinet of weakness and dilatoriness. The senator said the new ministry had brought about only a change in personnel. This was not shown in the way in which the war was being directed—the French had been unable to drive the Germans beyond the frontier. The speaker then reproached the ministry with defects in the organization of economic life, and charged that there had been a lack of organization in the production of war material. He then attacked French diplomacy, to which he imputed as a result the recent events in Albania.

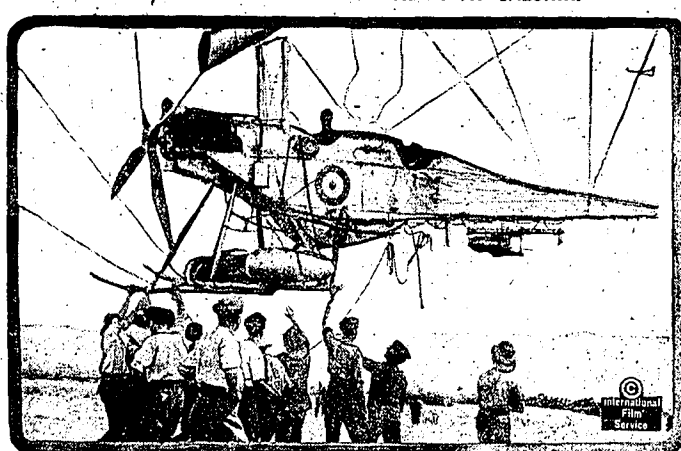

"Do not think that your past war record," said M. Berenger, addressing Premier Briand, "gives you sufficient assurance for the future."

M. Briand, in reply, deprecated reproaches against the government at this grave period, "because the men in power must be able to work with the necessary freedom of mind, have an interrupted confidence at home and for their actions abroad, and our allies must not be allowed to think that our government is under suspicion and menace of interpolation."

THREE AND ONE HALF MILLIONS ARE ASKED

Large Appropriations Will Be Requested of Legislature This Winter For State Departments.

BOISE—Appropriations totalling more than $7,000,000 are asked for in budgets filed by different departments of the state governing Friday and Saturday with the state board of examiners. A dozen or more departments and institutions are yet to file estimates of money needed by them for the next two years, but those now in, with other appropriations wanted, bring the total sums of money to be asked for in the legislature up to $7,500,000.

The state highway commission will ask $1,000,000 for road building purposes. The six state educational institutions want approximately $1,370,000 for building and maintenance during the next two years and the penitentiary has asked for $31,000.

Governor Alexander in his report says the executive department will need $25,000 during the next two years. The department was given $20,320 by the last legislature and spent $20,411.69, according to the governor's statement. The chief executive recommends an increase of $500 for his private secretary for the next biennium.

The secretary of state's office wants $23,450. The last legislature gave that office $22,440.

State Treasurer Englewood asks for $1,000. An appropriation of $75,000 is asked for the public utilities commission, two years ago the commission was given only $25,150, but it had asked for more money.

The state board of health has asked for $2,120, an increase of almost $500 over the appropriation given it two years ago.

An appropriation of $59,000 for improvements and $102,000 for maintenance is requested by the Northern Idaho sanitarium at Orofino.

Only one department has thus far requested a larger appropriation than it got two years ago. That is the state horticultural department, of which Guy Graham is head. Two years ago the legislature appropriated $28,000 for the department. Graham says he can get along with but $30,000.

Stopped the Recitation

A Story of the Elder Sothern.

MY father never could or would recite. He had a sort of constitutional aversion to doing so. Perhaps he fancied people looked funny when reciting. He certainly took a fendish pleasure in disconcerting reciters.

I remember once attending a benefit performance with him and Edwin Adams when John McCullough was to recite. He was billed to declaim a favorite poem of his, "Flyn of Virginia." They say he was quite wonderful at it. On this occasion my father and Adams selected seats in the middle of the front row of the orchestra and quite upset the proceedings. The recitation begins with the words, "Yn knew Flyn, Flyn of Virginia?"

Mr. McCullough came on and was greeted with great applause. He made an impressive pause and began, "Yn knew Flyn, Flyn of Virginia?"

Ned Adams and my father stood up and, looking steadily at McCullough, solemnly shook their heads as he should say, "No; we never heard of him." Then they solemnly sat down again.

McCullough was disconcerted, but went to it again. "Yn knew Flyn, Flyn of Virginia?" said he. Again the two solemn figures arose, shook their heads sadly and resented themselves. This occurred three or four times, each time McCullough finding it more impossible to control his laughter until at last he could do so no longer and went off the stage hysterical.—"My Remembrances," by E. H. Sothern in Scribner's.

head of a coyote. The animal had fought with dogs in the yard at the Halsey home until killed, but it bit no people.

PRIMARY LAW WINS BY A BIG VOTE

Commissioners of State Refuse to Enforce Old Convention Plan of Nominating.

BOISE—Following a spirited discussion on a resolution urging the legislature to repeal the present primary law and to enact a new law patterned after the old convention system, the county commissioners' association at its session last week, by a vote of twenty to twelve rejected the resolution. It was introduced by A. W. Hart, prosecuting attorney of Franklin county, and read:

"Resolved, that we urge the legislature to repeal the present primary election law and to enact a new law, patterned after the old convention system, making such changes and additions therein as may be necessary to safeguard good government, and at the same time avoiding the expenses of the present primary."

Six of the twelve votes cast in favor of the resolution were by commissioners who will retire with the coming of the new administration.

The following voted no: Smith, Carson and Boone, Ada; Richardson, Adams, Schorr, Blaine, Hagman, Bonner, Clark, Bonnell, Ross, Canyon, Larsen, Casada, Critchfield, Casala, Hammond, Fremont, Knox and Wilson, Gen. Miller, Thomas, and Marsh, Gooding, Egan, Kootenai, Elsiehart and Nettleton, Owyhee, and Albion, Twin Falls.

At the afternoon session the fight on the primary law was renewed by a resolution introduced by E. B. Edson of Teton county, providing that it be the sense of the legislature to eliminate the features that have proven objectionable, including the holding of two elections.

An amendment was offered to the resolution which left it as originally introduced but by leaving off the words "including the holding of two elections." At this point Edward of Ada county, prefaced a motion made to table the whole matter, by saying he believed it was outside the jurisdiction of the organization. The motion to table carried by a vote of 13 to 11.

WHERE DID YOU GET JAG WATER?

Boise Justice of the Peace Will Endeavor to Make Liquor Toters Answer "Personal" Question.

BOISE—Who sold you that booze? That is a question you are likely to have to answer if you are found with liquor in your possession, even though you may have thought yourself safe under the recent ruling that mere possession is not a violation of the Idaho liquor law.

Subpoenas have been issued from Justice Miller's court for several persons who are known to have liquor in their possession, to appear and testify against "parties unknown." Failure to testify will be in contempt of court and merit such punishment as the court may properly inflict in such cases.

The presumption is that someone is selling liquor in Boise for beverage purposes, and this means has been adopted to discover who the guilty persons are. It is said that the person testifying is in no danger of incriminating himself.

CLAIMS GERMANY WILL —YIELD MANY POINTS

Writer Says She Will Concede Many Things Defended By the Entente Allies to Secure Peace.

WASHINGTON—"Peace in Europe cannot be reached if the entente is not willing to forget the past. Germany is now concerned with the future. She is ready to make peace on equitable terms and meet her rivals more than half way."

The above statement was made yesterday by a well-known journalist, who claims to have inside information. According to this writer, there is a growing belief here that while the end of the war probably still is a long way off, there will be continued negotiations from time to time between the belligerents, undoubtedly participated in by leading neutrals, including the United States.

Entente diplomatic officials here, while rigidly refraining from statements for publication, insisted that if Germany shall define the concessions she is ready to make to end the war, her position will have careful consideration.

The next step will be Germany's, so soon as the formal reply of the allies, which will be along the lines covered by Lloyd George in his speech recently, reaches Berlin. Diplomatic circles which enjoy the confidence of the Entente representatives were positive today that the central powers will try to get the British position. Germany, these diplomats say, is willing to go far to restore peace. She is willing, it is believed:

1. To guarantee the future of her enemies will do so. This guarantee undoubtedly would take the form of partial disarmament and the creation of a league of nations to compel peace through an international court.
2. Indemnity Belgium and Luxembourg and very likely consent to the restoration of Serbia and Montenegro if a peace conference should decide such action wise.
3. Use her influence to permit Italy to retain the territory captured by it during the present war from Austria.

Agree to a withdrawal from Egypt and Belgium if absolutely guaranteed that the entente will itself agree to a peace conference which will be given complete authority to end the war.

It can be stated on authority that Germany does not believe that the territorial status of 1914 furnishes a real basis for peace. The contrary is the case. The Balkans must be recognized, the Germans believe, so that their position as "treachery of Europe" will be eliminated.

To the entente demand for indemnity for France and other nations except Belgium and Luxembourg—Germany is expected to interpose demands for indemnity for the overrunning of east Prussia, as well as the indemnity will ask recompense for invasion by Russia. It admittedly is the German belief that if a peace conference can be arranged, that the question of indemnity eventually will be dropped by both sides excepting that for Belgium.

Kenington Gardens.
Kenington gardens, London, England, were at first only 20 acres in extent, but have been several times enlarged, and now have an area of 246 acres. The gardens are traversed by walks and ornamented with rows and clumps of noble trees. Near the western border of the gardens, or park, for each they are surrounded by a wall of red brick, and the seat of Herbage Finch, earl of Nottingham and lord chancellor of England. The palace was afterwards bought by King William II, who enlarged it under the supervision of Christopher Wren, the architect of St. Paul's cathedral. William and his consort, Mary, died in Kenington palace and there died Queen Anne and King George II. It was the birthplace of Queen Victoria. It has not been a royal residence since 1790.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT OF CANAL COMPANY

determining whether it would be advisable to have such a district formed and this canal system turned over to it.

A portion of said committee recommends as follows: That the board of directors be instructed to devise and put into operation a plan which will, within proper limits, call for the payment of canal charges by the several stockholders, based on the amount of water actually received by each land owner.

In making these recommendations the committee has:

Some months ago the chairman of the committee by written communications addressed to the several members, submitted a number of matters for informal discussion, and invited ideas from all, and since this meeting of the committee, and of the different members thereof, have been held at which the subjects mentioned, and others, have been considered.

Upon some of the matters taken up there has been unanimous agreement. Others, probably because of their great importance and on account of the uncertainty involved, have been referred to the full endorsement of the entire committee, but they are mentioned herein for the benefit of all of us that they have been taken up for the careful consideration of the stockholders of the corporation, either at this meeting, or at an early date.

The size of these meetings and the fact that at them many matters of importance cannot be fully discussed, or given the necessary deliberation for intelligent action, is a condition for which relief has been sought, and at times heretofore suggestions have been made looking toward the adoption of a method of electing directors. To that end a committee was appointed some two years ago, but it was found upon investigation that a much desired plan of electing the directors by districts could not be legally adopted for the reason that under the constitution of the state each stockholder has the right to cumulate his votes so as to cast his entire voting strength for a single candidate, or for a group of candidates all or a portion of the candidates.

Unfortunately nothing was done at the last session of our legislature looking to an amendment of the state constitution so as to take from its provisions the operation of corporations organized pursuant to the Carey Act. Your committee now most earnestly recommends that the proper effort be made at the ensuing session of the legislature to have the necessary resolution passed for the amendment of the constitution in this regard. At best it will take two years in which to do this, but the sooner steps are taken to that end the quicker we will be put in shape so as to get what we want, or else find out that it cannot be had.

In the belief of your committee, if the constitution is changed so as to permit it, a plan can be formulated that will permit the dividing of the tract into a number of districts corresponding to the number of directors, wherein meetings of the land owners of the several districts can be held and a director for the district nominated or chosen therefrom.

Pending the proceedings above mentioned there are, in the opinion of your committee, several matters that can and should be worked out immediately. One of these is the adoption of an amendment to articles of incorporation of the company permitting the board of directors to choose as secretary one who is not necessarily of their number. Under the articles of incorporation the secretary must be a stockholder.

Your committee is of the opinion that it will be very much better to have the board free to select for this position the most satisfactory person that can be had, whether a member of the board or not.

Under the law as it now stands, the articles of incorporation cannot be amended without a majority and possibly a two-thirds vote of all of the stockholders, and this requires, also, the calling of a meeting with notice that the change is to be made. In connection herewith it is well to mention the fact that the by-laws of the corporation can be changed only by a two-thirds vote of all of the stockholders, and the large vote required to change the articles and by-laws makes it practically impossible to have any changes made.

Four years ago, following individual effort on the part of certain stockholders of this company, the legislature amended the law of the state so as to give a corporation organized pursuant to the Carey act, the right to elect a majority of its directors, and such other business as may properly come before it at its regular meeting, regardless of whether there was at this meeting a majority of the stockholders or not. Your committee strongly recommends that this law be further amended so as to permit the stockholders who are present in person or by proxy, at a regular meeting, to make such amendments of their articles of incorporation, or of their by-laws, as they may determine by a majority vote of those in attendance. It is thought that the needed change in the law can be brought about in the present session of the legislature. If this can be done then your committee unanimously recommends that the articles of incorporation be amended so that only in the particular above referred to, but also by providing that only a part of the board of directors be elected at each annual meeting. Your committee believes it to be a mistake to have the presence on the board at all times of persons familiar with the affairs of the company and the canal system. We believe it to be a mistake to have it possible to elect a full new board at every meeting, for it is likely to result in electing each year, and from the six or nine to be chosen an executive board consisting of three members who have no experience with the business of the company, the full board to be called together only when matters of great importance are to be considered.

Until the law is changed in the manner suggested, the election must proceed as heretofore, and five directors must be chosen. Your committee however, urges that there be no election at this date, but that an adjournment of this meeting be had for thirty days to give time for the securing of the legislation required.

A suggestion has been made that some and perhaps all of the difficulties of the canal system be referred to a committee of stockholders and election of directors could be removed and the canal system be better managed through the action of the legislature. The advisability of this has been discussed by the committee, but we make no report thereon other than to advise that it be given thorough consideration.

One of the members of this committee is in favor of a plan being devised and put into execution which will call for the payment of canal charges for each year in regard to the actual amount of water received by each stockholder, maximum and minimum limits to be fixed. This is suggested for several reasons among them being that certain crops and certain lands require more water than do others, and that a system of this kind would tend to the practicing of economy in the use of water, and would probably result in more water being delivered to the end of the tract.

One feature of the canal system has been discussed by the committee, being the proposition to sell other water rights under this canal system. In order that there may be a full understanding of the situation, your committee reports that there was originally an appropriation of 3,000 cubic feet of water per second at Millerton for the reclamation of 240,000 acres of land on the south side of the river, making 1 cubic foot of water for every 80 acres. Only about 200,000 acres of water rights have been sold. These rights belonged in the first instance, the Twin Falls and Water company. In 1910 an agreement was made between that company and the Twin Falls Canal Company to use effect that the stock representing the water rights which were then unsold, aggregating some 42,000 shares, was turned over to the canal company, with the further agreement that in the event it was found that there was sufficient water to justify the sale of further rights, these rights should be sold and the proceeds divided equally between the two companies. Rights for several pieces of school lands have been sold since under order of the court, leaving practically 40,000 shares unsold.

Pursuant to the state contract, water rights for Carey act lands under this system must be sold at $25.00 per acre, and for school lands at $15.00 per acre. There are some 3,000 acres of school lands on the tract for which water contracts have not yet been issued. It is thought if these water rights were put on the market that a large number of them could be sold to become appurtenant to lands within this segregation, or others lying immediately adjacent, and that they would bring at least $25.00 per share and possibly considerably more, although they cannot be sold at a higher price without the consent of the state land board.

The demand for the selling of these water rights has been caused partly by the claim of parent financially interested, and partly because of the large indebtedness which has accumulated against this corporation, and the increasing cost of maintaining the system, it being argued that this indebtedness and these expenses could be largely taken care of by the money to be had in this way.

It is well known that much water is lost in our main and highline canals, and it is certain that this waste must be stopped sooner or later. If the water that is now going to waste could be saved and applied to these lands, the amount received from these additional water rights could be used in putting the canal system in proper condition, or to discharge interest bearing debts.

Sweet Grass. We never know how much sweetness there is in grass till it is cut. Served from the root, it gives out a perfume which the garden itself can hardly rival. Misfortune instead of making us bitter, should bring out the sweetness of the spirit, like the fragrance of the mown grass.

Under the law as it now stands, the articles of incorporation cannot be amended without a majority and possibly a two-thirds vote of all of the stockholders, and this requires, also, the calling of a meeting with notice that the change is to be made. In connection herewith it is well to mention the fact that the by-laws of the corporation can be changed only by a two-thirds vote of all of the stockholders, and the large vote required to

ELECTRICITY FOR THE FARM

DELCO LIGHT

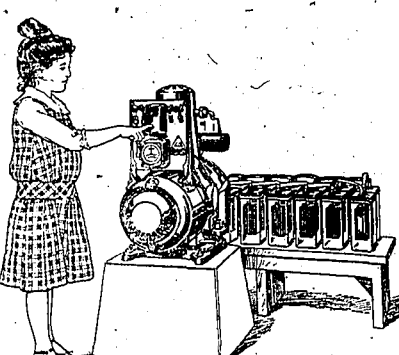

SO SIMPLE A CHILD CAN OPERATE IT

This combined compact unit consists of a gasoline engine, a dynamo and a switch board. It weighs about 325 pounds, exclusive of the storage batteries, which are furnished as a part of the outfit. It is the most compact plant we know of that will deliver 750 Watts.

It is a low voltage system—32 volts—as this saves battery expense; at the same time it is of sufficient voltage to operate light machinery efficiently. It is now possible to purchase almost any where standard motors and lighting fixtures for this voltage. There is not the slightest danger in handling this low voltage.

The gasoline engine is of the air-cooled type, so there is no danger of freezing, no matter where the outfit may be located. It is self-starting. All that is required is to close the switch, which starts the engine, and automatically cuts off when the batteries are charged.

The batteries are of the sealed glass jar type, especially built for use with the Delco-Light and come fully charged.

Price complete with standard battery $330. With large size battery $370, f. o. b. Butte, Montana.

They will not freeze at 20 degrees below zero, even when completely discharged. Extra large price is provided for electrolyte or liquid and they are long-lived.

Any number of lights may be installed up to 50 or 60. The average place, however burns only a few of those at any one time. When the engine is running it will carry thirty-two 20-watt lights continuously. The storage battery alone will carry fifteen 20-watt lights for eight hours. Of course increased storage capacity can be provided.

The batteries constitute a reserve source of energy, providing current that may be used when a light is turned on or if some light machinery be operated, such as the churn, washing machine, cross separator or vacuum cleaner. The engine need only be run at intervals of perhaps once or twice a week, depending upon the amount of current used.

The average farm can be lighted for less than five cents per day. This is less than half the rate in most cities.

TWIN FALLS

BUHL EDITOR IN DOUBT ABOUT BUTTE

Believes That Proposition to Water Hansen Butte Important But Opposed to Hasty Action.

In last week's issue we published an article, written by the Twin Falls Commercial club and submitted to the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company, in which they urged that immediate steps be taken by the directors to irrigate the Hansen Butte, says the Buhl Herald. The club points out that there is a constant loss of approximately 700 feet of water, due to seepage, which water they advocate using to put the Hansen Butte under irrigation. It is also said that power could be developed from the fall in the low line to pump the water upon the tract, thus economizing in electric power.

It is no doubt true that the fall mentioned is sufficient to develop the water power, and that something must be done with that part of the canal to keep it from tearing out a deep gorge. It is also true that there is a danger of water going to waste, and that the water is going to be up to the Twin Falls Canal company to cement a part of the canal system, first to do so.

The second piece more water will be needed when every acre of the land under the Twin Falls project, including the waterless school sections, are intensively farmed.

The proposition advanced by the Twin Falls Commercial club is a big one. It is one that we cannot afford to pass over too lightly.

However, if the 700 feet of water, which is said to be going to waste, is said to be going to the Hansen Butte, their priority right to the water of Snake river will be equal to any farmer on the Twin Falls tract.

We know that we have the best water right in Idaho, and as good as any in the United States. But it is questionable if that would remain so, were a part of our right sold. Let us be convinced that we are going to have plenty of water for the land under our project, then we dispose of any.

But the watering of the Hansen Butte is too important an undertaking to cast aside without consideration. It is a question of the price of the water butte are signing for water from an independent company at $55.00 per acre. This company could furnish nothing but water from a new filling (unless the settlers of the Twin Falls tract chose to sell a part of their right), and the Twin Falls Canal would not be able to do a new water right for that purpose as well as an outside company.

If 40,000 acres of watered land were sold on the Hansen Butte at $55.00 per acre, the returns from such sale would amount to $2,200,000. It is said that the proposition could be carried out so that a profit of three quarters of a million would be realized. The Twin Falls Canal company might just as well get that as any one. The money would come out of the canal, a greater part of its length. That would solve the seepage and the shortage question.

The demand for water on more land will consume a part of that 700 feet now going to waste and eventually a part of the system will have to be re-opened to conserve that water. There are practically 35,000 acres of treasury stock in the Twin Falls Canal Company. The stock was bought by the State of Idaho against the Twin Falls Canal company, in November, 1910, the court decided that the canal board must sell water for the school lands. Furthermore, a Twin Falls attorney tendered the canal board $5,000.00 as first payment on water for 40,000 acres in what is known as the Castleford Butte.

At the last meeting of the board of the Twin Falls Canal company last week Attorney C. O. Eddinger of Twin Falls, representing parties who desired to purchase water for the land on what is known as the Castleford Butte north of Castleford, tendered the board $2,500 as first payment on 1040 acres of what is known as the treasury stock. The offer was turned down by the board.

The Castleford Butte is mostly high land, though under the Twin Falls tract, and this payment was tendered on what is known as the unpaid treasury stock. The offer was turned down by the canal board, though it is believed that the application for more water by the Twin Falls attorney is only the initial steps to carry the question into the courts, to secure a court decision requiring water to be sold from the treasury stock.

The question of watering the Hansen Butte is a big one. To make that an irrigated section would be a valuable asset to Twin Falls county and the entire tract. The proposition is too big to turn down flatly, and the stockholders in the Twin Falls Canal company cannot afford to jeopardize their present water rights by parceling it out, until we are assured that we have more than the necessary water for the present project.

BUHL SEED WILL YIELD A MILLION

Immense Returns Obtained From West End Farms During the Present Season.

Buhl is heretofore to be known as the land of the million dollar seed crop, says the Buhl Herald. This is the conclusion arrived at in totaling up the number of bushels of seed purchased by the local seed buyers, and the multiplying that number of bushels by the average price of $9 per bushel. This seed was sold by the farmers since the first of the year, 1916. In addition to this, 38,000 bushels of grain were sold during the past eleven and one-half months.

The seed crop, as obtained from the three seed buyers in this city of about 121,000 bushels. This figure includes alfalfa, white clover, red clover and alsike seeds. Allowing that the average estimate of the price ranges from 15 cents per pound, or $9 per bushel, the total crop will have sold for $1,089,000. (This is said to be a conservative estimate of the price range.)

The figures obtained from the four grain buyers give a total of 388,004 bushels purchased since January 1, 1916. The figures were not obtained for each of the three grains separately.

ly, namely, wheat, oats and barley, except from two of the buyers. However, the ratio was about five bushels of wheat, to two bushels of oats and barley taken together. Estimating that the grain sold at an average of $1.25 per bushel, the total will amount to about $487,000.
