LUCILLE: I do wish Auntie we could have the lower part of our house remodeled and more modern. When you go into the beautiful homes that are going up around here it makes one feel that their house looks so old and shabby. AUNTIE: But our house is good, dear. LUCILLE: Yes, I know it is, but I am sure we could have it made more up-to-date. Now look at the Martha place, it positively looks like a new home and you know it is quite a new house with that big colonial porch put on in front. AUNTIE: But who could we get to do that kind of work, Lucille? LUCILLE: Mr. C. Moon, whose shop is on Third and Main Avenue West did the Martha's. They say he is just fine and he makes all the mill work right in his own shop. Supposing we go down and see what he would estimate remodeling the lower floor of our house and putting a big new porch on the front and side porch. AUNTIE: Very well, dear, we will. I know Mr. Moon would do it as reasonably as any one. I have known him personally for many years. And if it doesn't cost too much we will have it done. MORAL: DON'T LIVE IN AN OLD UNSIGHTLY HOUSE. RESERVATION TRAINING CAMPS FOR TROOPS (United Press) NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—A national system of "reservation training camps" for use in the mobilization of troops in case of war, was recommended in a report today by the National Civic Federation by Dr. Thomas Darlington, former Health Commissioner of New York, on the investigation of conditions surrounding the national guardmen and regulars at the Mexican border.

millia, a plea for universal military service, sharp criticism on account of unpreparedness, red tape and other evils, and suggestions for further improvement in the training, transportation, subsistence and care of soldiers, based on the experience of the recent mobilization, are prominent features of the report. Dr. Darlington said boys in schools and colleges have enough to do with their military training, savings being added, but he favors their attendance at a "pre-war camp" after graduation.

For the third time in the history of the association, the butterfat percentage in all cows was over thirty pounds, it being 30.30 pounds per cow with a total of 348 cows in test.

Sixty-seven cows produced more than thirty pounds of butterfat, twenty-six of these were above the fifty pound mark and six more than 60 pounds.

The average butterfat test of the standard for the month was 25.5 of one per cent.

The included milkers have been mentioned during the month in the following: A. A. Staufferland, J. H. Payne.

Mr. S. Orr has displayed a number of 100 cows during the month of December at the department of the association.

Very interesting program has been arranged for the Idaho State Dairy and Health show, to be held at the University of Idaho, Pullman, Idaho, on the 23rd, 24th and 25th of January.

TWIN FALLS BUNCH IN

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL. WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 - Twin Falls was well represented in Con. Smith's office a few days ago when there was present Carl O. Anderson, his secretary. Thomas M. Robertson, Thomas R. Potter, W. Galton McMaster and William Quigley. The two latter young men are on their way to South America to look over the possibilities with reference to engaging in the cattle industry. Mr. Potter is attending the army and navy academy preparing for an examination to West Point which will be held on the 20th of March. Mr. Robertson, who has been visiting his relatives in Virginia, stopped over in Washington for a few days. Congressman and Mrs. Smith entertained the young men.

TOM POTTER PREPARES FOR WEST POINT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 - Thomas H. Potter of Twin Falls, who has been with the Idaho regiment on the border, has been designated by Senator Borah as an alternate to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and is preparing for the examination before a board of army officers which will assemble on March 20. Mr. Potter's father is connected with the agricultural section work with headquarters at Boise.

More Snow and Ice Than in Years - Club Elects Officers - Water System Planned.

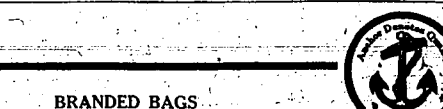

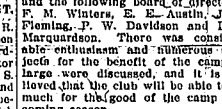

JARBIDGE, Nov. 22 - This section has experienced an extra cold spell, with more snow and ice than in any year but there has been no wind, therefore the snow is not as badly drifted and there are few bare spots, making the sleighing very good.

The clubs are working along with hearty a full force and are looking exceptionally good; there is every prospect that they will be great activity here this summer.

The Jarbidge Commercial club has held its semi-annual meeting for the election of officers. O. J. Van Pelt was elected president; A. F. Perry, vice president; George Strobel, treasurer; Whitton W. Park, secretary; and the following board of directors: F. M. Winters, E. E. Austin, J. S. Fleming, P. W. Davidson and Dave Marquardson. There was considerable enthusiasm and numerous subjects for the benefit of the camp, at large were discussed, and it is believed that the club will be able to do much for the good of the camp this coming season.

A committee of three was appointed to prepare a plan for installing the water system in the streets of the town. The town has a permit from the state to appropriate one-half second foot of the water of Bear creek above one-half mile up from the main street which will give a pressure of 200 pounds in the main pipe and will be ample for fire protection as well as domestic uses.

The funeral of our little friend "Buddy" Leonard Logan Kensingor, took place at 11 o'clock on Saturday, January 20, and about all who were not on the bill at work attended. A white casket had been obtained from Twin Falls and was decorated with flowers. Little Buddy looked very natural and peaceful. Leonard was born in Emma, Canyon county, Idaho, on July 21, 1906, and was five years, five months and eight days old when he died December 30, 1916, by accident. The whole camp deeply sympathized with his father, William Kensingor, in his sudden loss. His oldest sister, Mrs. A. M. Smith came on from Boise, Idaho, to help in the funeral. Mrs. Kensingor, who was at home to the funeral, was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. J. J. Kensingor, who came from school at Pocatello, Idaho, and William Kensingor and Al. ### THE ELECTORATE OF AN IRRIGATION DISTRICT

Several correspondents on the Salmon tract have called our attention to the section of the irrigation district law which provides that the same qualifications governing electors at the general election shall obtain at any election of officers for the district. Fear is expressed that this provision will be taken advantage of by interested parties, or to speak more plainly, by the promotion company, to attempt to control election of directors. This might be done of course by having a larger number of men into the district who are qualified electors under the laws of the state, and keeping them employed in the district for a period of thirty days prior to an election. Under the present law governing irrigation districts such situation is within the range of possibilities though not at all probable. It should be remembered that, on the other hand, there is nothing to prevent the settlers from doing the same thing. This, however, does not constitute the real test, and when the matter is calmly considered the danger is more apparent than real.

The ones who control the purse strings are always the ones really in control. The purse strings of an irrigation district are in the hands of the actual settlers. And this means actual settlers, not tenants, hired help or anyone else. When it comes to voting on assessments or bond issues or creating any indebtedness, only land owners, residents of the district, who are qualified electors, that is residents of the state for more than six months and of the district for not less than thirty days, can vote. Hence, by reason of the control of purse strings of the district, we say that we can hardly conceive the situation to be dangerous.

Nor should the method of electing the directors of the district be overlooked. The county commissioners divide the district into three sections, and one director must come from each section. But this does not mean that the voters of one section vote for one director only; as a matter of fact they vote for three directors, each of which must have his residence in one of the respective districts.

The suggestion is offered by all correspondents who have written us that the law be amended so that only land-owners can vote for district directors. This very likely has been attempted, without success. Such an amendment was enacted by the legislature. It was later held to be unconstitutional.

It should be remembered that an irrigation district is a public institution, just as much as is a county, municipality, a highway district or an independent school district. It is because of its quasi-public nature that it possesses the broad powers under the law that it does. But it is also because of this public character that no one can be deprived of voting for officials by reason of failure to own land.

NEW IRRIGATION LEGISLATION

The bill introduced by Representative Sims, of Twin Falls County, creating a property right in irrigation water, apart from the land, is published in full in another column. As will at once appear, this is a very important legislation, and has already attracted the fire of all the attorneys, engineers and managers of all irrigation and holding companies. This fact does not in itself prove that the proposed law is either good or a bad one. Neither does the further fact that it follows suggestions contained in the Governor's recent message. It must stand before the people of the state, upon its merits concerning which the author of the bill comments as follows:

"Under the terms of this bill the holder of a water right is not entitled to assign, sell, transfer or rent, any larger amount of water than he is entitled to under the established quantity of beneficial use. That is, a man has the right upon 100 inches of water but can apply to beneficial use only 80 inches of water; his right to sell, transfer or rent such water right, would extend only to the 80 inches to which he had established a right under that rate. In other words, if this man sold his 80 inches of water, he would have nothing left in the way of a water right. Neither can a man transfer his water if it can be shown that such transfer will be detrimental or injurious to other users of water from the same source. With these and other restrictions it is reasonably contended that there is no cause for alarm on the part of those who might be afraid that the bill would create a 'vast pool' of value on water rights. Under the terms of the bill there can be no improper monopoly of water rights and no speculation to a dangerous degree.

"The bill, on the other hand, would give to the owner of a water right the privilege of making the fullest use of such water, providing that it injures no one else. The author contends that when a man has improved a claim and reclaimed land by the application of water, and has established a water right by such beneficial application of water, he is entitled to something for his labors. If, for any reason, he desires to dispose of his right to water separate and apart from his land, the friends of the bill believe he has a right to do so, without retaining a lawyer and spending the value of the right in effecting its transfer."

Not a Hot Air Fable

Verily many years ago a great country fought, struggled and bled for liberty and freedom, which after terrible hardship and agony, was finally gained, and behold, shortly thereafter came forth a Mr. Fossil, who with a few followers, congregated and reasoned together. After many wise sayings had been said old Fossil declared we must have a censor of the press and all periodicals and printed matter, for verily the common people are ignorant and there are many things they should not read. Indeed and forsooth, they should not be taught to read at all. He talked very loud and verily thought they must be heard throughout this great land, but the Spirit of 'seventy-six' still was deep in the memory of the common people and they still remembered strongly the principles wherefore they had spilled their blood—the price they had so dearly paid—and alas, the big noise of the old Fossil, was not heard; and shortly thereafter it came to pass that through the lack of nourishment old Fossil became very weak and died and he was buried very deep and there were no flowers placed on his grave for there was no one who mourned. Alas, not even his followers, nor were any of the common people sorry, for they were exceedingly glad that there was no old Fossil to censor and curb every spirit of Progress that thereafter entered their mind and verily the people continued to prosper in freedom, peace and welfare.

Now years rolled on, years after years dropped into the bottomless abyss of time, and behold the common people grew and advanced in experience and wisdom and from thence came the advancement and improvement of this Gutenberg invention of printing which was called the "Moving Picture". Verily, verily this was a great invention, as scenes of many lands and sayings of many wise men and historical events were faithfully reproduced and printed on a transparent celluloid ribbon instead of on paper, and this was many times magnified and displayed very clearly and also in many colors on a large screen; and it came to pass that the common people were exceedingly pleased over this new invention and they rejoiced for they could take their friends and families and enjoy many pleasant moments seeing many strange things, and some became very popular so that there were many places where these scenes and historical events and sayings of wise men could be seen, and each and every one went where his conscience and good taste thought best for them and their families to go.

And behold then suddenly came forth a distant relative of old Fossil, a Mr. Mossback, who with a few followers, reasoned together and after many wise sayings had been said about the common people seeing so many strange things and many other things in what he called the "moving picture", even portraying Adam and Eve, nude, scenes from the Bible and of angels and also of Cain, who slew his brother Abel, could not be shown. He, therefore, declared there must be a censor for this new printing invention, for verily the common people are very ignorant and there are so many things they should not see; although stories from the Bible were thereby pictured. This would enable the censor to look after their welfare and to keep their morals under proper protection, so that old Mossback could more completely regulate and guide them politically and otherwise into channels of his own thinking, as naturally, if the many things printed on this celluloid ribbon should displease him, such as scenes from many lands and scenes from the pens of many wise men and also scenes of religious and historical events, perhaps, also scenes of mighty reform not exactly suited to old Mossback's tastes could immediately be cut out and the common people should not have any opinion or saying as to what they thought best for themselves and their children to see, as they were ignorant and constituted not able to judge for themselves wisely and would persist in going where they should not go. Verily, old Mossback spoke very wisely and loud for he was a distant relative of old Fossil who had been dead a long time and had been buried very deep.

But alas, old Mossback's talk was very loud, and it came to pass that the liquor interests were also and likewise interested, for verily this new invention had taken many—shelbels—from their till and many politicians gained thereby; and also the spirit of "seventy-six" in many places was not so well remembered. Therefore, old Mossback and his censors in some places did prosper but verily did they become so important and tyrannical, and they did also disgrace themselves by quarrelling and in many other ways. And in some places did old Mossback and his business pine and shrivel up, and in those places did old Mossback, for lack of nourishment, turn up his toes and die, and they always place him very close to his ancestor, old Fossil, and bury him very deep so that the stench and political smell could not be noticed; and, behold, there was no mourning and no flowers placed on the grave, for old Mossback was always recognized as a relative of old Fossil. And wherever old Mossback's tyrannical censor spoke was overthrown the common people were exceedingly glad that there was no censor to judge what they should see or read, and as they never were as ignorant as old Mossback and his followers claimed them to be, therefore, verily they continued to prosper in freedom, brotherly love and welfare forever after in this great land.

TO THOSE WHO KNOW,
TO THOSE WHO DO NOT KNOW,
TO THOSE WHO DO NOT WANT TO KNOW,
The above fable is respectfully dedicated.

The same refers to a disgraceful condition existing in the United States of today. In the next issue I will prove that this censor propaganda was and is also supported by the liquor interests.

Men and women who are the common people, you and I, and everyone else who believes that God gave him the divine right to do his own thinking to judge for himself what is good for him, or for his family, the entertainment and literature he wants them to read, we are protected against all indecent entertainment by Federal laws, the local police and the National Board of Review. We do not need a censor patron to look after our welfare. What is not good for our common people to see surely cannot be good for the saintly censor to see.

Think it over friends.
Respectfully,
A. E. ANDERSON

The Theatres

WILL SHOWN EXCLUSIVE PARAMOUNT AND FOX FILMS
Promoting the present re-arrangement in his film contracts, Manager Alford of the Idaho theatre will show exclusively Paramount and Fox feature programs. Mr. Alford announced a particularly interesting series of picture features beginning sometime in February. These features will consist of eight titles. The special attraction will be William Farnum special. Farnum's first film will be entitled "The King of Kings". Other titles include "Mr. X's Mystery", "Abbie", "The Fox Comedy".

CHRIS FORMS BACKGROUND FOR "RAINBOW PRINCESS"
The circus, with all the background of following canvas, the freaks, the menagerie, the lion tamer and the acrobatic drop—all those and much more that is fascinating—form the setting for "The Rainbow Princess" at the Idaho theatre. The picture is being staged by the Famous Players-Lasker Paramount Program at the Idaho theatre this evening. Miss Pennington, the leading actress, performs several tricks, even her celebrated "Hula dance" and to her captivate self throughout the entire picture.

TAYLOR STILL WONDERING WHAT BECAME OF MISTAKE
Forrest Taylor, who is to appear at the Idaho theatre, January 29 and 30 in St. Anthony, says he has the greatest plays, "Prisoner of Zenda" and his sequel, "Rupert of Hentzau" but rather a disappointing experience when he made his first appearance before the foot lights. It was at a school entertainment, and Taylor was playing the "tramp". In making up the young thespian the teacher placed a small "Charlie Chaplin" moustache with a bit of glue on his upper lip. During the scene in which Taylor appeared he was supposed to have a "hair sandwich" or merely had a "hair sandwich" escape.

GEORGE WALSH STARS IN "THE MEDIATOR"
He loves Pease so much that he flirts for him.
That is the character of Liah Honey, the part taken by George Walsh in his new William Fox photoplay, "The Mediator" at the Idaho theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The story tells a western story that is different, and it tells it in an original manner. Liah Honey is the favorite of millions of movie fans, plays opposite Mr. Walsh.
Liah starts his adventures by shooting the Mediator, the only one of the gang where he lives. Then he is so sorry for him that he sends flowers to the hospital. Later, Liah hears of a man, called Benedict Hill, and he knows it is the place for him. On his journey to the low hills, he meets with a bunch of strikers.
These men are a series of unromantic fellows, and the leader is one of which the Mediator's prying motive is to keep the peace. When he has flicked everybody in the neighborhood, he finds the Mediator he is sought. He finds something else, too.
It is Maggie, the waitress, who had helped him in his splendor.

Old Newspapers, in packages, can be obtained on inquiry at the Times counting room.

Fined for Flouting—Finn J. Buckley, was fined $100 by Judge Probst on Friday for flouting a sun in the presence of others.

Taylor Cummins at Head—Taylor Cummins has been appointed chairman of the committee to select a time and place for holding the annual waterworks banquet.

Horses and Mules—One of the very largest sales of these animals ever put out in this county will be on Friday and Saturday of this week at Farmers' Corral. See advertisement on second page of this issue.

Debate—No small interest is being taken in the debate this week Friday evening at the high school between F. H. Flowers, of Burley, and Mr. Sam Gilliland of this city, upon the desirability of having socialism as a national program.

Mrs. Fowler Gone—Miss J. Pay Fowler has gone to other fields in connection with the revision work of the state board of education. While here she was unable to visit some of the schools of the county but expects to return later in the year.

Interesting—All users of irrigation water will find it interesting to know that the new legislation relative to selling or renting water rights, as published herewith, from the Times editorial correspondence. Mr. Tolson also furnishes pertinent editorial on the same subject.

Athletic Endorsement Bill—In an interview published in the Statesman yesterday, Senator S. P. Atherton placed himself squarely on record as favoring the Sims bill for the purpose of the Salmon eaters, and in doing so took occasion to pay a tribute to the character of the Salmon eaters and to refer feelingly to their sufferings.

Pike Declines Office—Dr. W. F. Pike Saturday received a telegram from Governor Alexander offering him the superintendency of the Blackfoot game farm. Dr. Pike at once telegraphed back his declination. He asserted that he had no knowledge of the intentions of the governor, and that with his superintendency he was not in a position to accept.

Soon Send Sixth—Recruiting Officer Steele reports that he has already sent five men to join the army from Twin Falls since January 1 and will probably send the sixth man within a few days. Captain Hanson is in charge of recruiting in this district, with headquarters at Salt Lake City. Lieutenant Holt was in charge in the district, soon to the Philippine islands.

Fined For Speeding—Harriet Knox was fined five dollars and costs by Police Judge Smith for speeding an auto last week. Knox had taken a physician out to see a patient and in the machine while the doctor went into the house. The boy sat cold and after leaving his charge at the office broke the limit going to warm place. The smallest possible fine was imposed.

How About It?—The writer informs there is no ordinance in the city of Twin Falls regarding property owners to clean the sidewalks along their respective buildings. At present there has been both difficult and dangerous pedestrianizing along our streets during the late protracted period of snow and ice, and if such an ordinance exists, enforcement would be a blessing. If it is not in existence, its enactment seems called for.

Manikin Reported Flee—Perched on the top of a telephone pole R. L. Johnson sent in an S. O. S. call to the fire department Saturday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock which resulted in a record run on the aliphany pavement to the home of L. A. Moore at No. 217 Eighth avenue east and the saving of the house and its contents with a loss of only $50. Mr. Johnson, who is a member of the Commercial company was on a tour of inspection when Mr. Moore's little girl ran out and cried to him that the house was on fire. He flew up the next moment and attaching his telephone post in word. The fire started from an electric stove. The bed room furniture and bedding club was searched but no further damage done.

THE TIMES sports a new head with this issue. It is only a makeshift, but we are sure you will like it. Upon the spider-tracks lately in evidence.

Open Later—On and after February 1, 1917, the money order register will be open at the post office from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. instead of 8:00 a. m. as per instruction from the post office department.

Canadian Lawyer Here—G. L. MacVicar, of Winnipeg, Canada, came in last week, accompanied by his mother, to visit his brother, E. L. MacVicar, who is here on a business trip. The week was pleasant, not to say sultry, and that G. L. gets rather cool up in Canada, when reaching forty degrees below zero.

The Army Way—Twin Falls has given a pretty good waiting for her soldier boys, and even now the latest "dope" is to the effect that, while Company "D" may leave Boise Thursday, it also "may" start a day or two later. This uncertainty is characteristic of military regime. The "boys" are probably ordered to leave on Tuesday or Wednesday, and then having to wait in line until four p. m. and later, if they are to be sent to the front, they will not have been so impatient as the "home folks." But they are coming, and soon, when all will be happy together.

King's Hen, a Queen—Harry Kingsburg, the owner of a Rhode Island White Leghorn, which he had bred for Twin Falls in the neighboring state of Washington, where she came out second best in a national contest, which there were 100 entries. The hen laid twenty-six eggs in December, one for each week day, which shows that the seasons of Sunday observance, instituted by her owners were taken to heart. The eggs sold for $1.17 and took sixteen cents to produce for her upkeep, which she had to do to the Rhode Island White Leghorns across between Cochran, Leichner and Wyandotte varieties and not related to the Rhode Island Red.

An Important Project—The story of the forthcoming development of Hansen butler, as stated in the issue of THE TIMES by Charles E. Churchill, New York representative of the Daniel Haysa company, of Rock Island, Iowa, contained in the editorial of the same issue, has interested the people of Twin Falls, as the leading city of the tract, and the fact that Hansen capitalists have become active with the project to the extent of underwriting it, will give the people confidence in it. Twin Falls will not alone be interested. A citizen of this place has written today to a TIMES representative that Marlaugh, Hansen and Miller would become elated as a result of the Hansen Co. would become a noted health resort in consequence.

Old Resident Departs—L. A. Barber, an old city resident, died yesterday at 11:45 o'clock a. m. at his home at 252 Fifth street, in the city of Chicago, Ill. He was born in the District of Ontario, Canada, in December, 1849. When a young man he moved to a farm near Junction City, Mo., where he remained about thirty years, retiring to the city a few years before coming here. He leaves a wife and five sons; J. A. Barber, retired mail inspector, Moscow, Idaho; R. C. Barber, a farmer near Junction City; Dr. L. B. Barber of the Biological Laboratory at Wichita, Kansas; H. E. Barber, president of the Model Store company of this city, and L. A. Barber, Jr., a Castleford farmer. Mr. Barber was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge here, and will be laid to rest tomorrow afternoon, and will be conducted by the Christian Science church. The funeral will take place in the Twin Falls cemetery.

Would Amend Constitution—Another proposal for the amendment of the constitution of the state was started this week by E. E. Salladay—the idea being to change the organic law so that could be made to include a bonus for railroad construction. The constitution specifically forbids the state, county or municipality to lend its money, credit or property for any purpose. Mr. Salladay called attention to the action of Pierce county, Washington, which voted to issue bonds for the purchase of 10,000 acres of land on which to erect a fort for the accommodation of 35,000 troops. He suggested that this had been done without a bonus, and that a bonus might be offered which would be lost without it. At his suggestion, Secretary McManis of the Commercial club has written for a copy of the Washington law.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Large Audience Is Pleased With the Comedy Presented at High School Auditorium Thursday Night.

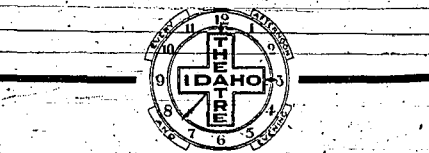

The Junior class play, "Christopher Junior," given by the high school auditorium last Thursday night, was a most successful and attractive play. It was probably the best Junior play ever given here.

The large audience was well pleased and proved by frequent and hearty laughs and applause. The comedy was made particularly pleasing by unusual situations of the plot, and the unusual solutions for the situations. Michael Thomez, who played the part of Christopher, Jr., brought either laughter or applause at every appearance. His interpretation of two part was undoubtedly clever, and his natural conversation, mixed with a very natural manner, made him a favorite with the audience.

Genovetia Riley, as Miss Hodway, in a number of scenes, showed excellent care of Christopher's health and happiness. Her talent was displayed on several occasions.

TWIN FALLS PEOPLE GET INSTANT ACTION

Those who have used it in Twin Falls are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., as medicine for hemorrhoids. Because it acts BOTH lower and upper bowel, ONE SPOONFUL AGERIKA relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising food matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment here checks the trouble. The Bedford-Fisher Drug Co. - Adv.

BEET GROWERS HOLD ANOTHER ROUSING MEETING

Throughout the entire mountain region work is necessary in order to secure a better improvement.

The session gave some figures showing that on account of labor troubles and other difficulties his returns were not satisfactory.

President Alworth read a newspaper article to the effect that Michigan growers were nominating C. G. Johnson.

H. D. Walters said that after hearing Mr. Heston talk he had become discouraged, but felt optimistic after the Alworth speech.

H. W. Weller said that he had done well. The company had delivered satisfactory labor when needed and he had had good luck all the time. The company raised the price half a dollar a ton and he made a good profit, though if there had been no raise his profits would have been small. He believed eight dollars a ton reasonable.

G. A. Hall, who had experience with raising sugar beets in Michigan, instated on a flat rate.

G. S. Pomroy said that he believed the labor problem to be of importance. He said that the company had raised the price of beets a quarter and labor again raised it, and yet he doubted whether he got more under the higher price than under the lower. He claimed that the company had raised the price of beets a quarter and labor again raised it, and yet he doubted whether he got more under the higher price than under the lower. He claimed that the company had raised the price of beets a quarter and labor again raised it, and yet he doubted whether he got more under the higher price than under the lower.

a weigher and tester paid by the beet raisers should be agreed upon. He believed that the company employes were honest, but some of them were incompetent. Several averages loads had varied 1000 pounds or more, 500 pounds—which he regarded as proof that they were careless. Asked by Field Manager Johnson if this discrepancy might not have occurred against the company as well as for it, Mr. Alworth said emphatically "Yes." Mr. Hays arose to add that in one instance he felt sure that the company had been beaten by its own employes. He said that one load which he had tested was reported as weighing 1000 pounds more than the average.

The next meeting will be held at the night club on Friday, February 3, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the night club on Friday, February 3, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the night club on Friday, February 3, at 8 o'clock.

The principal grievance of most of the beet raisers, as voiced at the meetings, was that they are not getting enough money for the beets considering the price of other commodities. The majority seemed to take the position that the labor troubles arose largely on account of the fact that the factory was late in opening on account of delay in its completion and that industry went elsewhere. Although there were those who were skeptical about the labor situation improving this year, the majority seemed to hold a practical quantity the speakers took the position that in the matter of labor, the company intended to act with fairness and that the only reason for the appointment of a regular weigher satisfactory all around was to secure uniformity by a competent man. The explanation of Field Manager Johnson that the company was not attempting to hold the three year men to the terms of their contract was well received and that the rest seemed to be taken by all as an evidence of good faith. But the matter of a raise in price appeared to appeal to all alike, and while the other matters will be put up to the Amalgamated it is safe to assert from the members are saying since the meeting that the great drive will be for an eight-dollar flat rate, which the growers aware will mean an increased profit of $10,000 to the Twin Falls tract this year.
