"And the cat came back". The Duhl county bill was slated for introduction in the Senate today.

"Certain sinister German influences" is a new name for it. They used to call it Budweiser!

Fifty thousands, aliens, largely Germans, asked certificates of naturalization in a single day, last week. This rush to get under cover indicates the decadence of the typhoid.

And now the Captain, who disabled the big German liner, Kronprinzessin Cecilie, under libel and in possession of a United States marshal, three days before the break with Germany, now testifies in court that he did so under orders from the German government.

The paragon who protects and enjoys spreading scandal, even when known to be true, is no desirable member of society. But the man or woman who, without personal knowledge, attacks the reputation of others with supposition, innuendo, and insinuation—who stands in the dark alley of "don't say I said so" and uses the character assassin's weapon of, "Oh, I can't tell you, but if you know what I know"—that man or woman is actually below contempt!

Idaho legislators at Boise have been drawing pay for their respective services at the rate of fifty dollars every ten days. It would seem that no one could call this too much remuneration for those of them whose services are worth anything at all, but some Solon has written an article who says not only that they can do more, but that "to be strictly within the law they will all have to return to the state treasurer the amounts they have already drawn". That would be murdering the ox that treadeth out the corn with a vengeance.

A point of order to the effect that the last Duhl county bill, by Lucas, was but a repetition of the last previous one upon which the house had acted adversely, and was not, therefore entitled to a place on the calendar, was sustained by Speaker Alfred and the bill was inconspicuously pitched out through the back door. It would seem, in spite of Representative Lucas' pertinacity—one might almost say gall, that this is the end of the matter so far as the present session of the legislature is concerned. Vala, Duhl county; cheer up, Drer Lucas!

The House appropriations committee has reported favorably the bill setting apart five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, for the purpose of transporting to the Peace Jubilee, to be held at Vicksburg, Miss., next October, all veterans of the Civil War now resident in Idaho who participated in Grant's great Vicksburg campaign, March 29 to July 4, 1863. The amount named will no doubt be more than enough, since comparatively few are left alive, and the passing years have consigned many of those to the chimney corner. But the act is a gracious one, which should certainly be confirmed by the Senate.

The best editorial thought in the country is now criticizing the new Federal Farm Loan Act as being class, or special, legislation and predicting that it will find itself without the pale of constitutional requirement. It is, at all events, an exceedingly complex and ambiguously worded method of loaning the money of the government to individuals—provided they are farmers, and the question is once arisen, if to farmers, why not to other classes of honest laborers? Indeed, the American Federation of Labor has already sent the invitation to United States Treasury pier; and at its Baltimore convention, last November, resolved that, "Inasmuch as the government has already established a rural credits system for the benefit of the farmer, we believe it is an easy matter for the government to take such steps to relieve the working people in industrial centers of the unnecessary losses that are unit for fabrication

We had thought and, in fact, still think, that the proposition to divide the state of Idaho was either a bluff, pure and simple, or a political finesse; but nevertheless and notwithstanding, the House, yesterday afternoon, passed the history resolution by a vote of forty-one to nineteen. The multiplication of governmental organizations and officials is not only intolerable as a matter of political economy, but in this instance and in this county and country, if we mistake not, is decidedly unpopular with a great majority of the people.

CARRANZA ON WORLD PEACE.
Our friend Carranza, president pro tem of certain parts of Mexico, has front page notice again. This gentleman, it seems, has hit upon a plan to stop the war in Europe. In notes to the neutral nations he offers to do the world for what it is worth.

Some people may doubt the claims he makes for his proposal, but no one will attempt to belittle the earnestness with which it is advanced. And no one doubts but that Carranza takes himself very seriously.

The big idea donated to humanity seems to be the shutting off of supplies of munitions, food and clothing from the nations participating in the European scrap.

Carranza is always wonderfully consistent, according to the Mexican interpretation of that word. It will be recalled that on several previous occasions he has mentioned how occasionally he would be able to deal with the "foes of Mexico" if the United States and other neutrals would put a ban on certain articles much needed by his enemies. Of course Carranza has always been a good customer of the world at large in the matter of furnishings for his so-called army, but that seems to be an entirely different matter.

Germany in particular, before the European conflagration, enjoyed quite friendly business relations with Carranza, after he had somewhat strained his credit with American merchants.

In addition to this reason for friendship, Carranza has other causes to be grateful to Germany. It is generally conceded that England's attention was not otherwise engaged at the present time, she would very probably have something to say about internal affairs in Mexico; and that a speedy deterioration of the European affair, unfavorable to Carranza's friends, would necessitate some embarrassing explanations from one Carranza.

In view of a few things like these, and further because Germany is not noticeably availing itself of its opportunity to trade with neutral nations, Carranza's frame of mind can be readily understood, even by those not versed in Mexican mental intricacies.

And with the renewal of raiding and murder on our southern border, and his alleged congratulatory message to the Kaiser—which, we doubt not, sprang from the bottom of his heart—Carranza can thank his lucky stars that the products of our munition plants are going to Europe and not Mexico-wards.

We have a hunch that any sudden cessation of shipments to the allies, spells trouble for Carranza.

BASKET TOSSERS PLAN TOURNAMENT

Effort Being Made to Have Fourteen Towns Represented. In Two Meetings—Play Nineteen Games in All.

E. P. Nafziger, the coach of the local high school basketball team has laid plans for holding a basket ball tournament in this town on Friday and Saturday, March 16-17. Fourteen towns, including Twin Falls, have been asked to take part in this activity. Mr. Nafziger has arranged the schedule by figures, and if all the invited towns participate, nineteen games will be played, and not more than one game and not more than four for any one team, within the designated two days. To best explain the system Mr. Nafziger is quoted: "An effort is being made to interest the high schools of this section of southern Idaho in a basketball tournament to be held in the gymnasium of the Twin Falls high school Friday and Saturday, March 16-17. Letters have been sent to the high schools of Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls, Shoshone, Duhl, Flater, Kimberly, Hollister, Hansen, Burley, Heyburn, Rupert and Oakley, inviting them to participate in this tournament. A number of these schools have already expressed themselves in favor of such a tournament.

The plan for conducting this tournament will be similar to that used in the large tournaments of the Missouri Valley states, where as many as eighty teams compete in the one tourney, and an arbitrary division of teams made in classes A, B, C, depending on the record made in games lost and won during the season. A plan can be outlined for this tournament, which will offer each team the opportunity to display its ability, and have a chance at the championship. Following this plan, each school will be required to send if a record of games played, giving place, opponent and the score of the game. If all the towns mentioned above enter, a division can be made of the comparatively stronger teams and those of lesser strength. Each team of the former will then be paired off with one of the latter, chance deciding by drawings as to the pair, and this will give us the games for the first round. The winners of this first round will form Class A and continue in competition for the championship. The losers of the first round will form Class B and continue in competition for the championship of Class B. This plan will provide two games for each team entering the tourney as a minimum. If all the towns enter, the leading teams in each will play a maximum of four games. The preliminary halcyon would need to be twelve or fifteen minutes to prevent undue exhaustion of the teams, the final to be twenty minute halves in each class. Eligibility rules, which provide that each member of a team be a bona fide student of the school he represents, and must have made three credits the last semester he was in school, are to govern selection of the teams. The receipts of the game will be used to defray expenses connected with the tournament, advertising, traveling and transportation of the teams, expense for transportation to be allowed for seven men and coach, and be pro-rated in proportion to mileage. If any team requires extra transportation has been paid, they will be divided equally among the visiting teams.

The dates will be announced later.

Quiet Home Wedding—Arthur R. Eldred, son of G. H. Aldred, resident near Twin Falls, was married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Taber, at 602 Second avenue north, by Dr. J. F. Shepherd, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. About thirty guests and relatives were present as guests. After a wedding dinner, the young couple left for Salt Lake City for a short trip on which they are spending the home on a ranch owned by the groom on the northside, near Falls City.

According to Mr. Stock, the company is comparatively new, having been established less than two years, but in that time, he said, the product has met with great favor among the medical profession, as a substitute for infant formula. The company's dairy and condenser is located near King City, California, and over 4,000 quart tins are being shipped the supply for the market.

Union Sam Wants Biographers—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that a main objective will be held in this city March 17, 1917. Several vacancies exist at salaries ranging from $1,200 per annum, and will be filled from eligibles resulting from this examination. Application forms 1917 should be executed and sent with the district secretary's cover, where necessary as possible. Application forms and further information may be secured from the local secretary of the board of civil service examiners, postoffice building.

Naturists—By way of a suggestion which like the doctor's head pills, can at least do no harm, examination promoters of this most excellent show by a few acres out near where Soak Lakes Avenue crosses the Perrine Center and turn the stream or so much of it as might be desirable, through a large and properly constructed swimming pool—the latter constructed by the nature of the stream. Such a plan, follows, as we understand, the one made so successful at Butte last season. At any event, seems to offer the greatest results for the least money. And if money is no object, the thing to do would be to build a large, well equipped Y. M. C. A., with a naturist area attached.

Each course of the luncheon was served by different members of the department, the favors were valentine caps, which were worn throughout the luncheon. Gates, Sweet, and Gardner.

WORKING MEN'S COMPENSATION

was another Democratic compensation act before the house, that of Anderson's very similar to the one which was selected by the governor two years ago.

Confronting this situation, the Democratic leaders went to the governor for an expression as to which of the two bills he preferred. The plan then would be to eliminate one of the bills, and concentrate the vote on the other. It is expected that the bill will be passed during the next seven days of the session, as there were other pledges given by the people of the state by the Democratic party, which would have to be broken by the Democratic majority of the house, whether the Republicans liked it or not. He advised them to get out of it.

On roll call the bill passed, the yeas being 46 to 20, as follows: Yes—Anderson, Albrightson of Canyon, Bates, Barron, Barry, Bohman, Cannon, Daughters, Eames, Findley, Giles, Goehry, Geico, Hansen, Hitchcock, Hubbard, Husman, Johnston, Jones, LePort, LeFebvre, Lewis, McGowan of Custer, McGowan of Latah, McInulch, McMillan, McMurray, Miles, Monson of Goodie, Moody, Newport, Peckham, Quinn, Richards, Ross, Shearer, Seymour, Sims, Thatcher, Transmitt, Tyler, Welch, Wickham, Hoeger, Alfred. Total 45.

Mr. Anderson, Anderson of Bonneville, Anderson of Latah, Ballie, Bonart, Collin, Cowles, Driscoll, Hunt, Luster, Taylor, W. L. Lister, H. W. McCame to a vote, and carried by a vote of 33 to 28. McGowan moved to postpone the consideration of the Bates bill until Monday, but lost by a vote of 35 to 31. Moody, saying both parties were pledged to the enactment of a compensation bill, moved that the Bates bill be placed forward on the calendar under the head of bills for third reading and final passage. The motion failed to get the required two-thirds vote. The bill, however, was almost immediately shoved forward through the action of Anderson, who moved that the bill preceding the Bates bill retain their places on the calendar, to carry which required but a majority vote.

The Bates bill was then read the third time and placed upon final passage. Bates explained the operations of his act at considerable length. Driscoll, Republican, took the floor and said he was for a compensation act but refused to vote for the Bates bill because of the attitude assumed by the Democrats, adding that he probably had been elected to the senate if introduced in the senate that morning.

Other Republicans followed, waxing warm in such oratory as the Democrats, adding that they probably had been elected to the senate if introduced in the senate that morning. CAR SHORTAGE THE SUBJECT OF BOOKLET

Oregon Short Line Sends Out Pamphlet Describing Conditions Resulting From War.

Heading the BIG "SOME FACTS ABOUT CAR SHORTAGE" a pamphlet issued by the Union-Pacific system was received in this city yesterday. The booklet says that on October 1, 1916 the car shortage was 61,000, by November 1, this had grown to 114,000 and by December 1 the situation was slightly better. The shortage is contrasted with the surplus of cars before the war and the statement that it was due in the war that the shortage occurred. The statistics are set out in "variable phases." For instance two months before the war broke out, there was a surplus of 241,000 cars, but by October 1, about two months after war started this surplus mentioned, perhaps the greatest in the history of the railroad, had almost entirely disappeared. After the war broke out, on June 1, 1915, when the surplus was 299,928 cars. To what cause the remarkable growth in the number of idle cars from 78,290 on October 1, 1914, to 299,928 on June 1, 1915, all during war times, the booklet does not explain.

The steps taken by the roads to increase the efficiency of the individual car and the small percentage of defective cars on the system are noted and many interesting facts concerning railroad operations under present conditions are described.

Freight congestion, beginning at the Atlantic coast and extending westward is described briefly.

The booklet was written by Ballard Dunn, the well known writer on railroad subjects.

FARMERS AND GRAIN DEALERS ARE AT ODDS

North Dakota Plan of Railroad Terminal House Not Favored With Buyer's League.

(United Press) MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 15.—While North Dakota's farmer legislature yesterday argued for the establishment of a terminal elevator at St. Paul, a rival of that city, the national annual convention of the Farmer's Grain Dealers association, which is not in sympathy with the farmers political movement, met here for a two-day session.

The non-partisan league, the political organization that gained complete control of the North Dakota has not taken official notice of the association to its bosom. Instead, the farmers of the Northwest have been taught by the Equity association, the marketing firm, that the non-partisan league, that the Farmer's Grain Dealers association is controlled by the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, and whose object is the wrath of the Non Partisan league is primarily aimed.

Upon disapproval of the elevator men to the proposed terminal elevator plans at St. Paul, was expressed at the session yesterday afternoon.

VANCOUVER BRIDGE IS OPENED OVER COLUMBIA

Famous Ferry Boat Toots Whistle and The Impassable Structure Is Thrown Open to the People.

(United Press) VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 15.—In a din of steamboat whistles, clanging bells and cheers from thousands of spectators, the new $1,750,000 interstate bridge between Oregon and Washington was opened yesterday. The structure is one of the longest in the world, four miles, including approaches. It spans the Columbia river between Vancouver and Multnomah counties, a few miles from Portland.

When the great central draw was lowered into place today, a street car loaded with officials and invited visitors, slowly crossed. That was the signal for an outburst of noise such as the old Columbia never heard before. A procession of flag bedecked automobiles followed the car and another long line of machines started at the same time from the Washington side. They rumbled in the middle. While the crowd was assembling, an old, weather-beaten ferry boat, the "city of Vancouver," slipped out of its berth on its last trip across the Columbia. The bridge had superseded it.

Bravely adorned with flags and bunting, the boat went chugging slowly under the central span, its funnel dwarfed by the towering steel framework. It whistle tooted a hoarse farewell as it backed the muddy current for the last time.

Yesterday's ceremonies will be repeated more formally in June. At that time Governor Whitcomb of Washington and Governor Whitcomb of Oregon are to participate, delegations will come from the whole northwest, including British Columbia, and if plans materialize, a flotilla of government destroyers will pass in review under the central span.

AN EMIBLE CURRENCY
At Cobham, a rural station in central Virginia, Mr. Bell is the storekeeper. One day a small negro came into his store with a single egg. He went up to Mr. Bell and displayed the new-laid egg.
"Mr. Bell, I hummer say please, give her a needle for dis egg."
"You can get two needles for an egg," answered Mr. Bell.
"No, sir, hummer don't want two needles; she say please, sir, give me change in cheese." The Youth's Companion.

COMPULSORY TRAINING BILL IS REPORTED

General Staff Prepares Measure Which May Be Submitted to Referendum Vote of People.

WASHINGTON—A detailed plan for the establishment of a national policy of universal military training and service was laid before Secretary Baker Wednesday by the army general staff. It differs radically from that now reported Saturday by the senate military committee, in that a full year of training would be required as a minimum. The senate bill is based on six months' training. The staff bill was submitted to each of the 36 members of that body and represents the consensus of their opinion. It is understood to have been worked out in much greater detail than the senate bill, which leaves wide departmental power to prescribe regulations.

Secretary Baker has indicated that the recommendations of the staff would be made public later even in the event that the plan does not receive the administration's approval, so that it can serve as a basis for discussion before the country after the tober, he thought only in the month. To read it all. It was not signed but bore a number which he thought was 27—but which might have been 217, to designate the person, supposed to be a detective, who was keeping track of Dr. Emes in Salt Lake City. At the time he read the report Crosby furnished it to him at his request. On the day before, Crosby took out report from an envelope at his office, where witness was making up books and road sections from it. The day following this incident he requested the privilege of reading it all. There were fifteen or twenty pages in the report, being a daily account of the doings of "the subject" as Emes was called. It told of his going down town on six or eight occasions, it told of his going into saloons, remaining a few minutes, which witness thought would be long enough to get a drink, and then coming out. It also mentioned his being down town with women a few times, one or two or perhaps three women were mentioned. It told about his going to a picture show at night with a woman, and coming home with her to the institute. A few moments after the subject and woman got home to the institute, according to the report, the hall-light was extinguished, shortly thereafter the silhouette of a woman appeared on the curtain of a room on the third floor, apparently getting ready to go to bed, and a little later that a man appeared. Then the light went out. He thought that if this were true it was detrimental to the character of Emes, provided if it was Emes who was seen at the window. The report led to him of a trip to Ogden and mentioned a visit in company with another man to a cabaret; the report said he had had a reputation. They stayed only a few minutes, as if looking for someone and went to another place of similar report, where they also remained but a very short time. One part of the report was much in favor of Emes. The detective appeared to have followed him into a saloon but had no recollection of what he was fully endeavoring to prevent a man from drinking. The man tried to drink but Emes persuaded him to desist and they left together. Witness said that when he read this he said "this is nothing but crank stuff, it does not say that he drank anything." His first impression on reading the report was bad, as he thought that Emes had been guilty of improper conduct if the report were true. Crosby had never expressed any opinion as to its truth or falsity to him. When he had been asked by Emes in the presence of Dr. Emes to tell what he knew, he had done so. Emes had said to his wife with reference to the shadow on the curtain, "That was the snap crook and his wife going to bed on the third floor." On reading the whole report his impression was that Emes, being connected with Dr. Emes of the Keokul institute had visited saloons looking for times taking treatment at the institute and he was satisfied that there was nothing wrong about that. Witness Albert W. Mowbray said Crosby showed him part of the report at the city scales one. Later in the coroner's office he saw the entire report and read part of it. The

CORONOR CROSBY BOUND OVER FOR CRIMINAL LIBEL

YES, THIS IS THE CAR

A 5-passenger beauty, saves you $160, if bought today

Not all people prefer this kind of car. Perhaps only eight out of ten people do. To make sure that it will suit you and yours, come and let an experienced and highly intelligent man show you some of the many things that stand out and make a Chalmers a Chalmers.

Take the Motor, for Example
It is the most famous and most used of all Chalmers motors. It has high power capacity. That, certainly, is a logical and extremely sensible type of motor to own. It is never under a strain.—At 45 and 50 miles an hour it is using only a part of its power.

It Saves Itself
And in so doing, saves many a dollar. Conservation of energy means conservation of fuel. Watch your gasoline bills go down when you drive this Chalmers!
Better, see the motor first. It is the most important thing. But in your enthusiasm, don't miss one other feature—the dimensions of the body. There are four inches more room in the front compartment than you really need, and eight inches surplus leg room in the rear compartment. Note the rear seat cushion. It is three inches wider than it needs to be. Every dimension in the body seems decidedly generous.

These Are Mere Hints, However
It would be quite impossible to describe the 6-30 5-passenger Chalmers, and you have no way of knowing whether this Chalmers suits you without seeing it. That makes necessary a trip to the Chalmers salesroom!
If this Chalmers does suit you, then you won't have to be reminded of the $160 saving—the item is far too important.
The 2-passenger Chalmers roadster, built on the same chassis, advances, in price $180 on March 1.

part first shown him told about it. In a saloon and in a picture show. He formed the impression at first that the idea at first conveyed by the reading of the report was "not keeping company with people of good repute." Later he gained the impression that it was natural that some people who were not of the highest character might naturally be taking treatment and that it would be the duty of Emes to look after them. He thought that if it were Emes who was in the room with the woman, when the silhouette of the couple thrown on the shade it was a suspicious circumstance and if true would indicate improper conduct. A request by the state for the report was refused by the defendant on constitutional grounds.

The court adjourned at noon until 4 o'clock, when Dr. Emes took the stand. Dr. Emes said that he went to Salt Lake City September 5 in order to take charge of the Keokul Institute in the absence of its manager, Dr. R. E. Maupin. He had known the family for years and was on terms of intimate friendship with all the members. He had known Dr. Maupin for twenty-four years. While in Salt Lake he was physician in charge and general manager. He had been called into saloons about ten times looking for patients who had left the institute. He had not taken any liquor while there. He had no recollection of seeing Crosby with another man looking for a patient. He knew nothing of the character of the places. He had some down town several times. Dr. Maupin's wife and sister when they went shopping, had gone to matinees with both together and "show" each separately and had on Crosby when taken Mrs. Maupin to a dinner in the evening. After he and Mrs. Maupin had returned he had turned out the hall-light in performance of his duties as manager of the institute and had retired to his room on the second floor. He had never been on the third floor while the room in front, possibly the one mentioned in the report, was occupied by the Japanese and his wife. The cook was slightly annoyed at the reticence of his wife, who considerably annoyed Mrs. Maupin. He could not say that the detective might not have thought that the "hostesses" on the curtain, who rebuffed him and Mrs. Maupin. He returned to Twin Falls late in September and heard nothing of the report reflecting on his character until about the day before stood by Mr. Denton. Later he heard of it from Mr. Kingsbury and three others. He believed the report to be entirely untrue and knew it to be false.

C. O. Longley, counsel for the defendant moved to dismiss the action. He said that no libel had been proven. With the sole exception of the appearance of the silhouette on the third story window on a certain night, every fact testified to be being contained in the report had been declared true by Dr. Emes on the witness stand. They were all commendable, some of them being of an excellent character. He contended, he asked, that the law of libel made a man responsible for the words he spoke or the actions he might construe a harmless thing to be bad. Continuing, he said in substance: "There was nothing reflecting on the character of Dr. Emes in the chance fact that a man on the street had seen two shadows on a wall occupied by the cook and his wife, shortly after Emes and Mrs. Maupin had returned from the theatre. The report did not say that it was Dr. Emes who was in the room. To a man on the street, the difference in size between Dr. Emes and the Japanese cook, would not be apparent in the shadow on the curtain."

Two witnesses for the state had taken a proper view of the matter. They had declared that if the man and woman in the room were Dr. Emes and his lady who accompanied him to the theatre it looked bad, but they ques-
