LIABILITY LAW
WILL LIKELY BE
BEATEN IN SENATE

DEMOCRATIC DEFEATERS HELP
MINORITY DEFEAT MEASURE
IN UPPER HOUSE

HOUSE DEMOCRATS STILL HOPE
TO CARRY COMPROMISE BILL

Interests Fought Original Bills
Successfully—If Holding Democrats
Stand With Republicans No Liability
Law Will Pass.

(Editorial Correspondence)
BOISE, March 5.—That no employers' liability act will be put on the statutes by the fourth session of the legislature, now nearing the day of adjournment, is the conclusion freely expressed by many of those who have followed closely the progress of the measure since its introduction in the senate, which, with the support of four democratic deserters, is in control of that body.

The bill, introduced by the Democratic and the Republican parties in Idaho stand pledged to the enactment of an effective workmen's compensation
measure, does not alter their convictions.
They point out that the senators constituting the Republican minority and the four recalcitrant Democrats have bound themselves not to accept any amendments the house might adopt to the senate bill. The senate measure, known as the Rockwell bill, passed the senate after they had indefinitely postponed the house bill by dates. The senate bill was knocked out by the Democratic majority of the house Saturday, section by section,
and what was known as the Anderson bill, substituting a new measure for the original house bill, by a vote of 15 to 10. The measure was passed by interests representing capital, while the present bill, introduced in the house for Rockwell's bill, in acceptance, as a compromise measure, to both the people representing organized labor and those representing the lumber and mining industries. In spite of this agreement the house and the senate are at logger-heads, and bid fair to remain so.

It is conceded that the house substitute will be adopted by a substantial majority. This will place the question of whether the senate takes surrender to the employers' liability act squarely up to the senate again, and as Thursday is the sixtieth day of this session, after which the adjournment
will be made, the senate will either reject the act for another two years,
or accept the Anderson bill.

Hope is still entertained, however,
that some of the senate Democrats pledged to the Rockwell bill, will not stand "lidgeroll" when it comes to showing for that measure, but will of exerting sufficient pressure upon those senators to get them back into the party harness.

PATRIOTISM MARKS THE DAY

Vice President Marshall First Takes
the Oath—Imposing Inaugural Parade in Largely Military in Its Nature—Flags and Illumination

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington, March 5. Woodrow Wilson has been inaugurated president of the United States for the second time, and Thomas R. Marshall has come into his own as vice president of the United States for the second time in company with the chief executive.

For several nights prior to this inauguration, Washington was a flood of light. Thousands of American citizens came to the capital of their nation
from all over the United States to witness the ceremonies attending the inauguration. The situation of the country in reference to its foreign relations added more than a touch of seriousness and a distinct flavor of patriotism to the national rejoicing. Washington is a city of flags at all times, but it became ten times as many of flags today before the ceremonies of inauguration.

President Wilson drove from the White House to the capitol with wife and his side. In the carriage with him were two members of the congressional committee which had general charge of the ceremonies, and of which Senator Overman of North Carolina is chairman.

Vice President Marshall, with Mrs.
Marshall in the carriage with him, was escorted in like manner to the capitol.

Big Crowds, Many Flags.

From an early hour the sidewalks were crowded with persons waiting to see the president and "the first lady of the land" pass along the avenue to the place of the oath-taking. All the windows commanding a view of Pen-sylvania avenue also were crowded with onlookers. The red, white and blue was everywhere in evidence. The only foreign flag to be seen in Washington were those flying from the flag-poles of the foreign embassies and legations which, even though they are located in the city of Washington, are recognized as being foreign territory.

Vice President Marshall was sworn into office before the inauguration of the president, and then took place in the senate chamber. The inauguration day of March 3, so far as the senate was concerned, had been continued by recesses until the hour of 12 noon
of the calendar day March 5.

The president pro tempore of the senate presided at the ceremonies preceding the administering of the oath to the vice president-elect. The president of the United States, the members of the cabinet, the foreign ambassadors and other notable guests occupied seats
in the senate chamber.

The House line-up will for the first
time greet the President from Montpelier, who successfully overhauled any
of the incoming congressmen—even
former governor Sander of Louisiana,
Medill McCormick of Chicago and
State Senator Christy D. Sullivan of Tammany Hall.

Because he had removed his residence from "Buhl" Lieutenant Landon's deputy commander resigned his position last week as first lieutenant in Co. K, Second Lieutenant Robert Sims has also left. But only three in his resignation, Glenn
C. Taylor and Roy F. Chamberlain were elected in their places as first and second lieutenants respectively.

SIXTY-FIFTH CONGRESS
MEETS IN CAPITOL

Several Big Men Enter Senate—Lady
From Montana—Overhadows New House Members.

(United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 5.—The sixty-fifth American Congress began its two-year life today.

It opened with its members, the first woman admittance to the halls of Congress: Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana.

Somewhat overshadowed by the brighter lustre of the Presidential inauguration, the upper half of the Congress, the senate, took its respective oath of office, severally, allegorically and attended the taking of the oath by the President on the Capitol steps.

While it lost some of its leading members, the senate today gained several who, having shown leadership in the House, are expected to be strong in Congress, and, as in some former cases, may not.

Hiram Johnson of California, Frank
K. McGowan of Minnesota, Philander
C. Knox of Pennsylvania and Peter Gerry Gentry of Rhode Island attracted much of the interest that attached to the new senate.

Johnson, the center of fire in the California fight in November, succeeds Works, another Republican, whose first days in Congress were marked up by caustic comments from home about his peace speeches. The Progressive nominee for vice president in 1912 and one of the leaders in the Progressive ship when it ran around on Lake Michigan last summer, Johnson's arrival was awaited with interest and some trepidation by congressmen who who, however, he will be as others have been—quiet at first, anyway.

Kellogg is the "Trust Buster" of notorious fame a few years back. He succeeds Clapp of Minnesota, a Republican, and is ranked with John McNary, who also has the title of progressives in the senate.

Knox of Pennsylvania, succeeding Oliver, is remembered in Washington and probably everywhere else as the Republican Secretary of State and a former Senator.

Gerry, who succeeds Lipilt, is also prominent particularly because he comes from Newport, R. I., and is a society leader.

Senators who took the oath of office today besides those named, are Kern of Indiana; Howard Sutherland, who stepped from the House to succeed Chilton of West Virginia; Fred C. Hays, who succeeds Johnson of Maine; Joseph A. Franco, who succeeds Lee of Maryland; Kenneth D.
McKelvey, who also came from the House to succeed Lake Lee of Tennessee; J. O. Wolcott, who succeeds Du Pont of Delaware; J. F. Freligh of New Jersey; Calder, who succeeds O'Grady of New York; and Andrew A.
Jones, assistant secretary of the National Auto. succeeds Crawford of New Mexico.

The House line-up will for the first
time greet the President from Mont-
pelier, who successfully overhauled any
of the incoming congressmen—even
former governor Sander of Louisiana,
Medill McCormick of Chicago and
State Senator Christy D. Sullivan of Tammany Hall.

OBSTRUCTIONISTS KILL
THE DEFENSE BILL

Elson Senators Tawart the Will of Executive, Congress and Nation—
Censured by Wilson.

WASHINGTON.—The little band of obstructionist senators consisting of seven Republicans and Five Democrats succeeded in preventing action to-night on the bill authorizing President Wilson to arm merchant ships and use such other instrumentalities as might be necessary to American shipping. The obstructionists planned to have Senator La Follette talk the measure to death by occupying all the time available until the term of congress expired.
In order to deprive the Wilsoncannons man of the satisfaction and notoriety which he hoped to gain, his friends on the hill arranged to have Senator Hitchcock, leader of the measure, sing the swan song for it.
Hitchcock took up all the time that was available to use in favor of the Wilson's man, and his associates.

Before adjournment seventy-six senators signed a statement placing blame for the failure of the obstructing group. Senator Plence refused to sign this statement, though he announced himself as favoring the bill to wage or initiate a return to the Wilson's man, and his associates.

WILSON AGAIN IS MADE PRESIDENT

Court, the foreign ambassadors and ministers, plenipotentiary, the members of the senate, preceded by the vice president and secretary of the senate, the holder members of the house of representatives, preceded by the officers of the house who have just relinquished office by virtue of the expiration of their terms, and other distinguished guests made their way to the inaugural stand.

Inauguration of the President.

The procession, headed by the president-elect, wound through the east sep-ate door, the main corridors of the senate and through the rotunda of the capitol to the platform for the oath-taking.

On reaching the inaugural stand, Woodrow Wilson took a place directly in front of Edward D. White, the chief justice of the United States, and the chief clerk of the Supreme court, James D. Mahon. The sergeant-at-arms of the senate and the congressional committee on arrangements were immediately on the left of the president.

The vice president, the associate justices of the Supreme Court and the members of the senate sat upon his right.

When all were assembled Chief Justice White, having in his right hand the open Bible upon which the hands of many former presidents have rested, addressed to Woodrow Wilson and administered to him this oath, which is imposed by the Constitution of the United States:

"You do solemnly swear that you will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will to the best of your ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Woodrow Wilson said in a firm voice, "I do," and he became for the second time president of the United States of America.

Then the president delivered his inaugural address and on its conclusion he made his way with Mrs. Wilson to his carriage and was driven slowly to the White House, at the head of the procession formed in honor of the inaugural ceremonies.

Luncheon Deferred for Parade.

In years past the presidential party always has entered the White House for luncheon prior to the review of the parade from the stand in front of the executive mansion. This invariably in the past caused such a delay that it was decided this year to do away with the luncheon feature.

President Wilson with Mrs. Wilson, the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, and two members of his cabinet went immediately to the little enclosed structure on the square, the building which had been built in the middle of the great grandstand in front of the White House and from which the chief executive viewed the parades.

It was the gravity of the situation in connection with the "Hobbes" which gave to the inaugural ceremonies their serious tone and patriotic features. The parade of the day was largely military in its nature, although there were in the procession many bodies which in a sense might be said to represent the spirit of industrial preparedness of the United States for any eventually which might come.

Makeup of the Procession.

At the forefront of the parade as it left the capitol were, of course, the president and the vice president of the United States with their guards of honor. Major General Hugh L. Scott, U. S. army, was the grand marshal of the occasion. George H. Barden was the grand marshal of the organizations which took part in the marching ceremonies.

Immediately preceding the carriages of the presidential and vice presidential parties and of Col. Nathan Hale were escorted by the Black Horse troop of the Culver Military academy, Indiana, the state of which the vice president and his wife are natives.

The West Point cadets and the Annapolis cadets took part in the procession. In addition there were "Hoop" from Maryland; Virginia; and some other states of the Union representing the National Guard.

A patriotic and picturesque feature of the ceremonies attending the inauguration was supplied by the rapidly thinning ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic. In years past the soldiers of the war between the states have made the entire length of the route, but this year the distance was shortened. They added to the picture of the parade as they moved by the presidential reviewing stand with their old flags above them.

At night Washington was aglow with fireworks and with the combined effects of gas and electric light illuminations. In addition searchlights showed the heavens here and there, and one great shaft of light illuminated the apex of the Washington monument while another lighted up and brought into bold relief the dome of the capitol.

Factory For Aberdeen—A beet sugar factory at Aberdeen, the extension of the Aberdeen branch railroad to Fairview and the consideration of the possibilities of the cattle feeding industry on the irrigated land north of Aberdeen Falls, were some of the things considered at a mass meeting attended Tuesday in Aberdeen by not less than 100 farmers—American Falls Press.

Big Strike at Strerell—Reports are coming in from the south end of Raft river valley, in the Clear Creek range, a few miles west of Strerell, to the effect that a big strike of good ore has been opened up there.

It is claimed this new property will be an early shipper, as the body of ore encountered is a large one. As yet we have been unable to secure any details other than the fact that this property recently passed into the hands of Salt Lake capitalists, known as the Western Exploration company, and are now on the ground with a force of men and equipment to begin extensive work at once.—Malta Inland Empire.

STOP, THINK, INVESTIGATE!

The City of Twin Falls is today facing the most important proposition of its existence: one that must have incalculable effect upon its future for good or for ill, according to the manner in which it shall be worked out. Of course, reference is had to the proposal to expend a half million dollars for a new and better water supply and distributing system—bonding the city in payment of the same.

That there is immediate and crying need for such an improvement is the practically unanimous sentiment of our people. Accepting this to be the case, the city authorities have procured a report from an engineer making specific commendations relative to the three prime considered, namely:—

The source of proposed supply, method of purifying and distributing, aggregate cost of entire plant. Herein is great opportunity for investigation and for careful consideration. After this work shall have been completed, or even after its plan and method is definitely decided upon, will be too late. Now is the time for investigation and, if thought necessary, for criticism and for suggestion—all of which we understand to be desired and invited by the city officials having the matter in charge.

How many voters and taxpayers of Twin Falls have present and definite knowledge as to the details of the proposed plan? And, having such knowledge, how many of them will be prepared to judge whether or not it is satisfactory as to the sufficiency and purity of the water supply and the economy of its procurement?

The answer which must be given to the foregoing questions is conclusive as to the responsibility, which, in a case of this kind, must devolve upon the consulting engineer. We may, and should, interest and inform ourselves so far as possible as to the practical points of his proposed plan; but after all, the conclusion must necessarily rest upon confidence, or the lack of it, in his dictum. How far such confidence is justified must, in each individual case, rest upon the character, the professional standing and record of the engineer himself, as established by past efforts and accomplishments.

They succeeded—the more shame to that! This, speaking of the twelve senators—seven Republicans and five Democrats—who filibustered against the vote that would have added Congressional sanction to the president's authority to arm—American—ships against the German submarine menace. Seventy-six senators—thirty Republicans and forty-two Democrats—were willing and anxious to vote for the measure; but under the foolish and outworn rules of senatorial procedure, the recalcitrant handful were able to maintain successful opposition through twenty-six hours of continuous session and until the gavel fell at noon Sunday upon the last moment of the existence of the last Congress. Some satisfaction will be found in the fact that Senator La Follette, the noblest Roman of them all, was prevented from occupying the last hours and minutes in the noisy pose before the country which he had planned.

The United States is not at war, but even if it was, why should it be necessary to guard the bridges and tunnels of our great railway lines to prevent them from being blown up? It is possible that foreign nations or even actual war with a prospective one can bring such risks into the very heart of our own country? If such proves to be the case, drastic reprisals will surely come about.

Saturday ended a week of rain and snow at the National Capitol, previously decorated for the inaugural ceremonies. No one who has never seen the stupor, writer and witness, and appearance of a hazy-covered city after a continued rain can fully appreciate the prosaic statement that "the capital looks like a helle caught in a thunder shower."

An extra session of congress, the president says, will now be necessary in order to authorize him to arm merchant ships and otherwise protect American lives and interests. If this was the real purpose of the filibusters instead of having to a constitutional competence, they can be better understood but not more easily defeated.

The Idaho senate on last Friday passed its bill No. 60, providing for the licensing of architects. This is a matter in which the architects themselves are much interested, and their patrons the dear public, should be. The bill will doubtless meet no opposition in the house.

The lower house of congress on Saturday passed the resolution authorizing a bond issue of an hundred and fifty millions to provide for hastening the progress of naval construction. Some two years ago would have been a good time to have begun "fastening."

Washington's fashionable set knows as the inaugural ball was prevented this year by President Wilson's determined resistance. If never before, certainly at this time this custom is more honored in the breach than in the observance.

If a few senators can prevent a vote in the United States senate upon a matter of vital importance, the United States senate had better amend its rules of order.

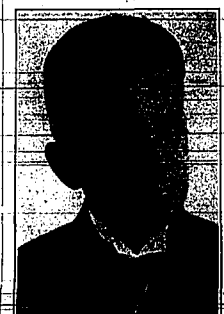

The Idaho legislature seems to have gone aground on the rock ledge of a workmen's compensation law.

IMMENSE COAL FIELDS ARE FOUND IN MINAS GERAES (United Press)—RIO DE JANEIRO, March 6.—On his return from a trip to the interior today the Brazilian minister of industries declared that the state of Minas Geraes (about the size of California) is practically one solid bed of coal. Imported bituminous coal (the only imported kind) is selling in this city for twenty-five dollars a ton.

MR. BUTLER WILL GIVE CONCERT FRIDAY EVENING

Song Recital Held at Parish Hall by Well Known Baritone Assisted by Professors Coburn and Schettler.

Mr. Ches. Butler is going to give a concert in the parish hall on Friday night, March 9. Mr. Butler is a baritone and his singing in the Tubernacle hospital has gained him a host of friends who are anxious to hear him in a song recital such as he is able to give in high class concert work. His voice has a depth of sympathy and pathos that always reaches the heart, and his range is over two octaves with perfect enunciation and marvelous breath control, which enables him to phrase his songs in the most pleasing manner. Those who know Mr. Butler admire him greatly and it is at the earnest request of these friends that he has consented to sing next Friday night. The tickets are on sale at the Skeels-Whitely Drug store, price 50 cents, children 25 cents. A large crowd will be present to enjoy this feast of song. Mr.

If we do but true to ourselves, to ourselves as we have wished to be known in the councils of the world and in the thought of all those who love liberty and justice and the right upheld."
Making no attempt to review the legislative record of the last four years, the president said this was no time for retrospection. "The time was one to speak of thoughts and purposes for an immediate future. To be indifferent to the influence of the war upon America, he said, was inexcusable, and he was firm in the conviction that the part that this country wished to play in the vital turmoil was the part of

These "who went to vindicate and fortify peace."
These were the dominant thoughts of the president as he addressed the cheering multitude. In the assemblage before him American citizens of all nations had mingled "America" with a mighty voice while waiting for his appearance on the inaugural stand. Thomas R. Marshall on being sworn in as vice president delivered a short address the moral note of which was sounded in the statement that the chief duty of a citizen was to be a patriot.

This comes as a result of the announcement this week on the part of five of the Twin Falls eating establishments, that on and after the above date, local restaurants will be forced to raise their prices. New Local Periodical—The Twin Falls County Farm Bureau News is the somewhat lengthy but effectively descriptive title of the latest addition to the periodical literature of this county. It is a monthly publication published as its name indicates by the County Farm Bureau and edited by a committee consisting of Messrs. E. W. White, W. H. Birch and E. H. Munsie. The subscription price is one dollar per year, including membership in the Farm Bureau. This publication will undoubtedly be made of practical value to the farming interests of the county. "This is the first issue of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau News, and will be the only issue which will be sent free to non-members. Through copies are printed so that every farmer in Twin Falls county will have one. Extra copies will be sent to the community chairman, and to any others desiring them. If you do not receive a copy of the News you may do so by inquiring of your community chairman or the editorial committee."

Censorship Invited—The Idaho theatre yesterday requested Mayor E. M. Sweeley to be present himself and to appoint a committee of representative men to accompany him to a "try-out" of the motion picture play "A Daughter of the Gods," starring Miss Kellerman, which is advertised to be shown in this city March 19 and 20 at the Idaho. In making the request Manager Magel told Mayor Sweeley that he had turned down from time to time pictures suggested by agents on the ground that they contained matter which he would not care to have his family see. He said that the picture "A Daughter of the Gods" had come highly recommended as perhaps the greatest ever filmed, and that President Wilson, who accompanied his wife, had seen it, had been quoted as praising it. The manager added that he had heard rumors to the effect that it was being reported here that the show was improper, and so notwithstanding the endorsements received, he did not want to run it. He therefore requested that Mayor Sweeley select a committee of two or

Would you like to go down town with me Saturday evening?

I really need a new pair of shoes.
Well, all right! We will go down then.
But John?
Yes, Martha?
I want to go to a store that is on Main Avenue and you know that is in the opposite end of town from where we live, and it is quite a walk.
All right, Martha! But what store have you in mind?
Why, Robinson's, and do you know Mrs. Smith says he has such a splendid line of shoes and his prices are more reasonable than any place she has traded.
But Martha.
Yes, John?
I need a pair of shoes.
Well, Mrs. Anderson told me that her husband bought all his shoes there, and that she bought all her shoes there, too.
I have been reading Robinson's advertisements and I like the way he talks, so we will go down and look around his store.

WIDOW OF MEMBER MONITOR CREW DIED

Mrs. F. C. Nare of Twin Falls Brings Home Picture of Famous Ship After Death of Her Mother.

Word was received two weeks ago in this city of the death of her mother, Mrs. Wellington Holmes, of Kansas City, Kansas. The Kansas City Star of February 14 contained an interesting account of an important event in the life of Mrs. Nare's father, Wellington Holmes, brought out by the death of his widow. Mr. Holmes was a member of the crew of the famous monitor-when she found the submerged ship a cut of the noted little fighting ship as she steamed under the keel of a coal-burning vessel into the secret bayou of the Potomac where the wood-work which disguised her real character was removed and her hull guns mounted. The Monitor was built complete inside the temporary vessel which carried her to the Potomac. Each member of the crew was presented with a picture of the vessel after the defeat of the Confederate battleship. Mrs. Nare was with her mother at the time of her death and brought the historic picture received by her father back with her.

FIVE MILLIONS IN SUPERANNUATED FUND

Bishop Lawrence of Episcopal Church Makes Successful Appeal to Wall Street—$1,000,000.

(United Press)

NEW YORK, March 1.—Bishop H. Lawrence of Massachusetts, who put himself right down in the midst of Wall street one year ago and started to collect a $5,000,000 pension fund from all over the country for superannuated Episcopal clergymen, completed his task today. He has the five million. The pension fund for old age or disability, and from that up to half of the yearly salary, it will give widows of ministers not less than $300 annually; and orphans $100 annually up to 7 years of age—$200 from 7 to 14 and $300 from 14 to 21.

NEW YORK POLICE BEGIN STUDY

(United Press)

NEW YORK, March 1.—Members of the New York police department today began to study law at Columbia University. Commissioner Woods made a special arrangement with the Columbia Law school whereby the entire course of instruction will cost only $16, with $5 additional for books.

The course will last for sixteen weeks, with one two hour period each week. Some law has heretofore been taught at the police training school, but the idea of an advanced course came from the policemen themselves. The law course will not be required by the department. It will be entirely optional with the man himself and must be pursued in hours when he is off duty.

The courses are given with the idea of training the policeman in the law as it is applied to his own particular duties and to have a better understanding of his job.

SOU' TREATMENT FOR WAR STRICKEN ALL EUROPE

(United Press)

BOSTON, March 1.—On the theory that men's souls will be sick after the European war has finished tearing them across famous religious leaders met here today to consider what spiritual medicine shall be prepared for them. Try prevention of future proper religious teaching also will be considered.

"This convention of the Religious Education association, presided over by Dr. Henry P. Cope of Chicago, today, "is one of preparedness by education—rather than by armament." Among those who spoke were Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Denver, Governor McCall of Massachusetts, Prof. J. E. Keller of Texas, Dr. Daniel Kato of Indiana, William Douglas McKenzie of Hartford, Rabbi Henry Levi and Harrison C. Elliott of the International Y. M. C. A. of New York.

School Notes

Outriggered in teamwork and decorated in basket shooting, Twin Falls high school lost the eighth basketball game of the season to Rupert, by the score of 23 to 24. The local boys played in good form, but they missed McCracken, who was disabled for the season in the last Bull game. Neuman scored for Twin Falls seven times during the game but he was unable to keep up with some of the speedy tripper boys. The score was simply a repetition of the one they played on Twin when they played here a month ago. Local enthusiasts hope to hand it back to them if they enter the tournament to be held here in March.

Ten towns have signified their intention of entering the basketball tournament planned by Coach Nett Alger. Though Rupert and Oakley are as yet undecided, they are still expected to enter. Hansen is unable to enter. The Commercial club has announced they will send for cups to be awarded the winners of both classes, A and B.

A basket ball game with Hollister has been announced for Friday evening, March 9, at the local high school. Hollister has an excellent record this season, and a fast game is anticipated.

The condition of the roads has been such that the meeting of the agricultural club of the high school, has been postponed from time to time, until it was decided by the program committee to hold it Thursday, March 8. An excellent program is to be rendered by various members of the club, and other

BALANCED RATION BEST FOR HENS

Missouri Expert Writes Regarding Poultry Food—Fresh Water, Grit Charcoal and Shells Needed.

This bill products and brains are the best poultry feeds is shown in a table prepared by Director Thomas E. Quinsberry, of the Missouri State Poultry Experiment Station, the largest poultry experiment station in the world, says the Price Current-Reporter. Mr. Quinsberry shows the value of the various feeds in a unique way.

The solids of an egg are made principally of three different kinds of material—Fat, protein and minerals. The yolk is primarily fat; the white protein, and the shell minerals. In order to balance the ration for egg production it is necessary to know how much yolk and white-forming material is in each kind of feed. The following table shows the number of Yolks and whites produced from 100 pounds of the different kinds of food where the hens may eat it at all times.

| Feed | Yolks | Whites |
|--------|-------|--------|
| Corn | 465 | 124 |
| Kafir | 234 | 125 |
| Wheat | 243 | 182 |
| Barley | 195 | 168 |
| Hay | 209 | 145 |

Mr. Quinsberry has figured out a balanced ration which will furnish the maximum amount of yolks and whites.

INTERPRETATIVE LECTURES STILL AT THE ISIS THEATRE

"God's Cartoons" The Sunday Night Subject. The Four Great Beasts of The Book of Daniel.

"God makes the things of this world and uses them to represent the great things he desires to teach us, the same as the accomplished cartoonist today uses his pencil to tell things that he would take whole articles to give to the people." So said Evangelist Bunch at the Idaho theatre Sunday night to an intensely interested audience, while speaking on the subject "God's Cartoons of the Nations of Europe." He used a series of large charts upon which were pictured great beasts designed after the description that is given in the Bible of the ones Daniel the prophet saw. The apocalyptic Paul in his letter to the Corinthians said, speaking of the prophecy, "These things that were written afore time were written for our admonition upon whom the ends of the world are come, so they have a direct bearing on the things going on in the world today.

The four great beasts spoken of in Daniel represent the four Kingdoms that should bear rule over all the earth. These are the same Kingdoms that were fully explained in the discourse a few nights ago. The first spoken of in this prophecy is the Babylonian kingdom, the four wings on its back represents the witnesses with which young Nebuchadnezzar carried his conquests. The bear that raised itself up on one side represents the Media-Persian Kingdom and the three ribs in the mouth of the bear represent the three great provinces that Babylon conquered, Syria, Lydia and Egypt. This gave these people a thirst for conquest and as a result they conquered the then known world.

The leopard with four heads and four wings represents the Grecian Kingdom that attained to the zenith of its power under Alexander the Great. The ten horns represent the Roman Kingdom and describes in detail many of the characteristics of that kingdom and the work it accomplished. The ten horns of the leopard represent the ten divisions of the Roman Kingdom. These are the different Kingdoms of Europe today. Thus the prophecy brings us to our own time and portrays the very condition we are in the world today.

But the record says, "The Kingdom will be given to the Saints of the Most High, whose Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him." So there will never be another unpeaceful, temporary Kingdom here on earth.

The next great event that will take place in the world will be the setting up of the Kingdom of God. It is our privilege to become citizens of this Kingdom that will not be overthrown by a stronger but will continue forever. There can never be any permanent peace in this world until the saints of the Most High take the Kingdom and Christ the Prince of Peace reigns as King of Kings and Lords of Lords.

turned from an extended visit with friends and relatives in Kansas.

Miss Dorothy Hosa, principal of the Berger Public Schools, was the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mathon in Twin Falls, a week ago Sunday.

Miss Ruth Beegley who visited with friends in this neighborhood has returned to her secure command quarters for the family. Mrs. Simpson and children will move to Berger. These worthy people will be welcomed into our home.

Peter Christensen and family are the latest arrivals to the Salmon, coming from Kansas. They have come with the view of locating on some good irrigated tract, and will perhaps locate on the Twin Falls tract.

It seems that the population on the Salmon tract is on the increase lately and another newcomer has arrived to the Salmon, and will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schuler. Says Lewis, "Yah, Yah, it was a boy." The mother and child are doing nicely.

J. P. Wyman who has been visiting friends and relatives in Pennsylvania the past few months, has returned to his home on the Salmon tract.

After four years farming on the Salmon tract with a scanty supply of water with which to raise crops, L. O. Evans has decided to leave the Salmon tract and move to the Twin Falls tract where there is an abundant supply of water with which to raise bountiful crops successfully. Mr. Evans has rented a farm on that tract and moved there this week. Mr. Evans has a fine well improved farm on the Salmon tract. It is situated on a hillside which are surrounded by trees and roses planted four years ago; the residence being heated and lighted by electricity.

C. E. Rudder and family are making preparations to move off the Salmon tract to the Twin Falls tract, having rented a place there.

Frank Holloway contemplates leaving the Salmon tract this spring and move to some other section where conditions are more favorable.

The Tom Thumb wedding by the Berger public school in the school auditorium Wednesday evening was a decided success. It evidently showed a careful and painstaking training by the teachers. Miss Dorothy Hosa and Miss Mary Howe. The affair was a credit to the teachers and the children. At the close of the ceremony ice cream and cake was served.

There was a large attendance at the Hester Family reunion and the program was rendered. Those who participated did credit to themselves and the society. A solo was rendered by Red Linniers which was most and he kindly responded to an encore. The reading by Mrs. R. W. Linniers was greatly appreciated. Instrumental music was furnished by the Berger orchestra. The music was exceedingly good and the orchestra had to respond to several encores.

The gentlemen who furnished the music were: E. L. Motta, banjo; A. J. Joiner, guitar; and Mr. Campbell, violin. The singing by the male quartette was not unimpressive; it was good and greatly appreciated. After the close of the program, all repaired to the auditorium where ice cream, cake, coffee, etc., were served by the ladies of the Hester society. One hundred and fifty or more people were seated at the tables, which had been prepared for the occasion, all enjoying themselves immensely.
