ATHEFTON DISCUSSES RECORD
I feel it my duty to report to my constituents, the voters of Twin Falls county, concerning some of the measures introduced in the state senate by me, as well as those introduced by others, which I supported by work and vote. They are as follows:
First, the important law by which cities can establish adequate supplies of water. A great deal has been said and written to the effect that some thing was put over to the detriment of the city of Twin Falls in the passage of this measure, but a more deliberate consideration of the subject has shown the critics of this measure that there was no foundation for their criticisms; that the measure is sound, and that my work in assisting in its passage and voting for it in the state senate will enable the city of Twin Falls to get her much needed water supply.

Senate Bill 84. This measure provided for the division of legislative districts into units for the election of directors, and limits the number of proxies any one person may hold. It will enable the settlers on the Twin Falls tract to handle their own irrigation business in a manner more satisfactory to themselves than has heretofore been the case.

A bill relating to the powers and duties of the director of farm markets. This is a very important measure for the purpose of making a standard under which to sell farm products, and has the support of farm organizations as well as the farm bureau of the federal government. It will enable the farmer to sell direct to the consumer, whereas now he has to sell to the middleman, who is supposed to grade up to a standard, and then sell to the final consumer.

A bill giving the director of farm markets power to inspect books and accounts of incorporated co-operative farm associations. This measure should enable farmers to get a square deal in the matter of returns on produce, apples, etc., entrusted to agents and managers of such associations for sale.

A bill requiring promoters of cream and cheese factories to take out license from farm market bureau.

A bill relating to contagious diseases and distribution of milk and butter by dairies and creameries. The purpose of this bill is to minimize the spread of typhoid fever and other diseases through the handling of milk by persons already affected.

Authorizing the state land board to forfeit contracts with irrigation companies where they fail to comply with its terms.

Providing for city manager form of government for cities of Idaho. This is a very important measure as it will enable a city upon petition of a given number of citizens to hold an election and decide upon the question of having a form of government run upon strictly business principles. Under this law, the people of a city can establish the manager form of government, and under this system have a regular system for public improvements worked out systematically and in the most economical manner.

A bill appropriating $25,000.00 for bridges across Snake River at Hanson site. The importance and value of this proposition to Twin Falls county is too well known to the people, and need not be further stated by me on this subject.

A bill authorizing seizure of vehicles used in transportation of liquor and other controlled substances as an important temperance measure.

A bill authorizing county commissioners to appropriate funds from the extremely important measure where thoroughly competent men are employed, and such work is highly praised, and has the backing of the government.

A bill to prohibit advertisements of intoxicating liquors. This is an important cause since the enactment of the federal law by congress. The federal law only operates in states having a state law on the subject.

The measure appropriating $1,000,000 for state highways. The county of Twin Falls will participate in this proposition to the extent of having a highly improved national highway through the entire length of the county. The federal government adds a magnificent sum for the purpose.

A bill providing that county commissioners can build hospitals and allow doctors to place patients therein and that such services be available, up on payment for use of same.

A bill allowing the county commissioners of Twin Falls county to build public roads from Rogerson and Bull through Owyhee county, so as to establish a highway to Jarbidge. All residents of Twin Falls county know how important this measure is for the county.

A bill to allow our militia boys to vote by mail while away in the service of our country.

A bill allowing irrigation districts to take advantage of the federal farm loan act.

A bill providing for the extermination of noxious weeds. What is commonly known as the compensation law. This is an extremely important measure for the benefit of employers and their families in the event of injuries to employees working for railroads and about shops, factories, etc. It does away with the shabby lawyer, who made a living by charging a great part of the recovery for crippled employees, or their widows and orphans, whose recovery was had by suit or compromise. It insures the employee or his dependent family a certain amount in the event of injury, or death from accidents while in the line of his employment.

While looking into these laws for the benefit of my constituents I had the satisfaction of standing by my campaign promise, by working conscientiously against all the numerous bills introduced for the purpose of dividing Twin Falls county. I leave it to the farmers of Twin Falls county whether or not I remained true to them and the interests of the county in this respect, in the face of unwarranted attacks, personally directed against me, on this issue, by certain bankers and politicians.

B. P. ATHEFTON.

SENATOR WILLIAMS GAS-TIGATES THE FILIBUSTERERS

Defending the President's "Whirlwind Senators" The Mississippi Statesman Indignantly Skins The Offenders and Blasts in the Sky.

To a letter from a New York German, who bitterly protested the President's criticism of the twelve recalcitrant senators, Senator Williams thoughtfully replied, in part, as follows:

"There is nothing which justifies the executive in impugning the honor and ability of any senator, except a senator who is lacking in honor and probity, and in proper respect to the honor and safety of the nation. I entirely the president is not verily censured merely because he is proscribed, and has as much right to express his disapproval as you or I. I am a man of my word, and I have the disapproval make me dread. Your talk about their obeying their consciences is wide of the mark. Their consciences could have been satisfied by their speeches and by their votes, but there is nothing in the word of conscience requiring them to deprive the balance of us the right to vote.

"Filibustering upon such matters is a harmless and frequently an amusing game, but filibustering to prevent the Senate of the United States from passing its opinion is connected with a matter of public safety and national honor is absolutely intolerable, and the president would have been even more indignant had he had not taken advantage of the occasion to shame the senate and make it do what it purtially has done, to-wit:

"Adopt a rule which enables at least two-thirds to force a vote and assert the fact that the senate is a law-making body. I wanted a majority rule. I don't want much good done by the two-thirds rule, because if the worst comes to the worst, two-thirds can expel a member without any reason."

"I did not know we have been making up our minds to herry the senate, but God knows the senate needs herrying. It was sinking into justified public contempt."

"All this talk about the munition manufacturers and wall street working up war feeling is nonsense. Neither the munition manufacturers nor Wall street, sank the Lusitania, nor the Arabie, nor the Sussex, nor the Lancia, nor published the German note threatening to go further and sink everything."

"I don't say a statement that our country has not been fair from the beginning. Anybody who wants to put upon an equal footing the character of violations of our neutral rights perpetrated by Great Britain and France and the character of violations of our neutral rights perpetrated by Germany can see the difference between a prize court and a tribunal. To insist there is a vast difference between a bale of cotton and a human life."

"If you had no argument to substantiate to the wrongs of the belligerents, or whether it was incumbent upon us to support one side or the other, I fall to see why you write me at all."

"It is true that there have been violations of neutral rights by both sides but nobody with a particle of humanity is to be made up in out the two characters of violation upon the same footing."

"We have just been informed by Germany that they will outfit our ships as well as our citizens upon the ships of other nations, if we dare come within a zone of fire which she has drawn, and she will outfit our ships to Palmetum with our ships painted like a barber pole."

"If you are willing to put up with that sort of thing I am not, and I willing to take William J. Bryan's position. You have kidded me twice and if you kick me again I will deliver you a lecture."

"You may not see the difference between highway robbery and highway assassination, but I do, and although the use of submarines in the manner in which Germany proposes, or says she proposes to use them, may not be highway, it is at least sea assassination."

I would rather be a dog and die without any immortality than to submit not only to injury but to insult. It is not that I am not a man, but that I am a man of honor. I am injured than insult. Germany's position towards us has been purely one of insult."

"The men who carried on the filibuster in the senate knew that the senate had to adjourn at 12 o'clock noon on March 4, in spite of their efforts to keep the senate in continuous body which cannot continue itself must be called in session by somebody else, was the situation which I am talking about when I said he a continuous body at all."

"I don't sit in judgment on the motives of men, but I do know that it is a principle of law and a principle of common sense, that all men, not idiots or lunatics, are to be judged by the natural consequences of their own conduct. These men do not even claim to be lunatics or idiots. They know what they were doing and presumably they intended to do it."

"It does away with the president's wrong in denouncing men who did nothing except to take advantage of their conceded privilege. You forget

"What do you know about that—a MILD cigarette that satisfies!"

Chesterfields have done "the impossible"—they satisfy and yet they are not strong. They are MILD! Chesterfields do for your smoking what bacon and eggs do for your breakfast—they satisfy.

And yet Chesterfields are MILD—that's the point.

No other cigarette can give you this new enjoyment (satisfy yet mild) because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend.

This blend is an entirely new combination of tobaccos and is undoubtedly the most important new thing in cigarette making in 20 years!

that men in this world have not only rights, but duties and that the right sort of man pays more attention to his duties than he does to his rights, and that a man who would take advantage of a conceded privilege—which is not even a right, but merely a privilege—in order to defy the house of representatives of the United States, the people of the United States, neither deservor nor can have any charity in the minds of those who think that duty is as Robert E. Lee pronounced it to be, the noblest word in the English language."

FILER HAS TICKET Seventy-five citizens responded to the call for a caucus at the Gen on Tuesday evening, says the Filer Journal. W. P. Shinn was chosen chairman, and C. W. Case, secretary.

Mr. Shinn, D. H. Davis, Wm. Dunce, Chas. McCleary, J. C. Reiners, L. A. Small, E. H. Ripley, Geo. W. Potter and Leht, Javak. The first ballot resulted as follows: Love 67; Smith 44; Davis 49; Potter 48; Dunce 40. There were 75 voters present.

Mr. Ripley was named for village clerk and Elmer E. Haug, for village treasurer. Since our last issue lumber yards have sprung up in Filer like mushrooms in the night. The Hughes Lumber company bought a location east of the old Grandeur yard, near the depot, and dropped in several cars of lumber right away.

D. A. McKinley, better known as "Dad" had a close call Monday. He was driving his team when the back end of the wagon hit a telephone pole and threw him out. No bones were broken but he was badly stunned and otherwise injured about the head and shoulders.

Last Saturday the proposition of voting $34,000 for the new central high school, to be erected in Filer, with the school districts of Washington, Elmwood, Poplar Hill and Filer was voted on here. The proposition carried by a vote of 252 for and 12 against. Yesterday the board met and hired Lonley & Walters as attorneys at a fee of $20, and engaged Burton E. Morse as architect and decided to locate the site at the south end of Yakima.

SALT LAKE CITY GERMANS STAND FOR AMERICANISM

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED WHICH PLEDGE SUPPORT TO THE UNITED STATES.

AUSTRIANS JOIN IN DEMONSTRATION OF PATRIOTISM

Leading Men From Teutonic Lands Who Were Unable to Attend Aids Pledge Hearty Support to Flag And The Nation.

SALT LAKE CITY—Among the Salt Lake leading German-American citizens is George Mueller, president of the Royal Baking company. Mr. Mueller, in an interview yesterday said that he was thoroughly in sympathy with the resolution adopted at the meeting of the auditorium, at which a vast gathering of men of German and Austrian birth led by Governor Samuel Hanger, pledged support to the United States in its anticipated war with Germany.

Mr. Mueller is just back from a business trip to Los Angeles. He was annoyed and surprised to find that his audience had been made the occasion for some ridiculous stories and he has issued the following statement to the public.

"As a naturalized citizen of the United States—one who loves liberty, free government, freedom of thought and conscience with an unshakable faith in the institutions of this great republic, I am deeply interested in its welfare.

I was born in Germany, but left for America when 17 years old. I swore allegiance to the United States 25 years ago, and have remained true to that pledge ever since.

"When the rupture between Germany and England occurred, I was naturally with the Germans, but when difference arose between Germany and the United States, I unreservedly withdrew all feelings of sympathy for the German government.

"I have always had myself in readiness to render service to my country, the United States of America.

"My statement is made now because of rumors which some people have attempted to spread regarding me personally and about my business. Without even the semblance of truth attached to any of the stories, I feel sure they will utterly fail in their purpose.

"I regret that in the past this community is come to my place on business and make their own investigations.

"Leading German-Americans were unable to be present at the meeting as going on record in the same way. The resolutions adopted at the gathering referred to are as follows:

"As loyal American citizens of German and Austrian birth or extraction, we hereby pledge our support to the United States government in such an emergency. Should war be declared against any foreign power or potentate for the protection of American rights and lives we hereby

"Resolve to do our duty as citizens of the republic whose liberty and opportunities we have enjoyed and whose hospitality has sheltered us when we sought refuge from oppression and injustice in other lands; and we further

"Resolve that we neither owe nor consider any higher national allegiance or obligation than that which we hereby acknowledge to the United States; and we further

"Resolve to oppose and defeat, by every means within our power, any and every effort made, either secretly or openly, by citizens or foreigners to embarrass, hinder, injure or betray this government, its officials, its army or navy, in carrying on war against any foreign foe whatsoever; and we

"Resolve further that we stand ready and willing to do our full duty as citizens in war or in peace, and to fight, if need be, for the defense of Amercan rights and the glory of the American flag; and we at the fact that there had been only fourteen members of the Red Cross Auxiliary. As president of the Company Hanger, he had come to the conclusion that there were about 1400 of them, so active had they been in working for the interest and comfort of the boys at the border. He said that members should not expect badges to go with the dollar. The hope that would count were those which would not show. Too much stress could not be laid on sentiment. Work and loyalty expressed in words were needed.

At this point Mrs. Irwin who had had met the high school to join was introduced and made the speech above outlined.

At this point membership cards were distributed, and, in addition to those who had previously been signed up for Red Cross membership, several joining the $10 class, according to the report of the secretary, Mrs. C. H. Kraegel.

Louettan, C. H. Kraegel was next introduced and pointed out that in comparison with the number of men of military age in the country, the number of enlistments was small. He denounced those men, whom he described as "Americans without a drop of real American blood in their veins," who said that they would not go unless forced and that "it would take three men to bring them." He told of his experience as a recruiting officer at Pocatello last spring when for thirty days he had been busy with the army and navy.

He said that it was necessary for the authorities to call out the fire company to drive away with water the fire and smoke which had attempted to prevent them from going to serve their country. He predicted that the effect of a zepplin would be the same here as in England, and that it would be necessary for the authorities to call out the fire company to drive away with water the fire and smoke which had attempted to prevent them from going to serve their country.

RED CROSS MEETING AT FILER TOMORROW

Several Members From Twin Falls Will Address People—Battery Being Organized at Neighboring Town.

On next Wednesday afternoon, April 4, will occur at the Methodist church a most important meeting to the ladies of Filer and community, says the Filer Journal. This being the regular luncheon day the society has invited the officers of the Red Cross society at Twin Falls to speak on "How We Can Assist if War Occurs." The visitors will be Mrs. E. J. Ostrander, Mrs. McRobert and Mrs. Kraegel, and will describe the work and organization of the Red Cross, they will display samples of the clothing and bandages prepared by the society. As our country is facing most serious war problems, ready not only fighting, but right that we should be prepared to take our part. Let every lady of the community be present.

At the caucus Tuesday night, the editor, upon request of a large number of the guard who belong to Twin Falls and Filer communities was designated that an expression from the business men of Filer be ascertained as to their desires to open a recruiting station for enlistment into a machine gun company. The business men of Filer are a unit in their desire for such a company, and a paper is being circulated ready to respond when the prospect is bright for the success of this venture.

Word was received Tuesday calling for 750 members of the public to proceed to their headquarters either in Filer or Twin Falls and join their companies. Every man, woman and child at the red hall and presented himself for further orders. The most of them returned home that evening or the next morning ready to respond when the order came to move.

Boise Capital News

The Boise Capital News has the only full leased wire day news report published in the state. This gives it the complete market reports, all the war news with the expert comment thereon and all the news of this country as correspondents in every small place, as well as all the regular news centres contribute to this report. In addition to this comprehensive service, special correspondents at Washington and the larger cities of the United States are always on the lookout for important news for the Capital News.

In reporting the happenings of Idaho, special and regular correspondents send all the important news from their communities. The system that has been established to secure the State House news is proving very practical. By its means every public act of the officials of the State House can be reported.

Arrangements have recently been made by which the minutes of the land board meetings will be published. Heretofore the complete publication of these minutes has never appeared. This board does more business than any business house in Idaho and every resident of the state is vitally affected by their every act. It is fortunate that the Capital News is able to publish these reports.

The subscription price is only a few cents per month, seven issues a week—Ad.
