Common Sense

Just how common is "common sense?" Perhaps no commoner to all think we're "above" it. You know dozens of common sense "thrill" sayings—the experience of the ages. Don't they remind you of the Twin Falls Bank & Trust company and the common-sense of an increasing savings account at interest?

ODE TO IDAHO

Great Idaho where all things grow
I'll surely lose my little row
Out in the state of Idaho.
Clear water flows from row to row
Out in the state of Idaho.
The largest spuds and beets do grow
Out in the state of Idaho.
We furnish seeds for other states
And products grow that prices take
Out in the state of Idaho.
The largest yields of fruit and grain
Bring to our state both wealth and fame
Out in the state of Idaho.
No better place for peas to grow
Than in the state of Idaho.
I'll surely have some sheep to graze
For lambs do grow in Idaho.
And elken from the desert springs
Out in the state of Idaho.
Twin Falls the price will take from them
Out in the state of Idaho.
-G. H. MAINTIN.

FOR THE BEST RESULTS Bring Your Kodak Work to the CITY PHARMACY

The fact that anyone is pleased with the bargain price secured on a wedding present does not prove that the price card will not be removed.

The people who are the most active in this country are the boys' play in the streets and back yards are not always the same ones who are agitating for playgrounds for them.

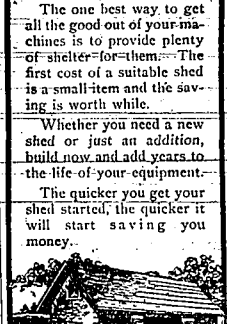

Where Years Mean Money

Farm machinery wears out soon enough even with the best of care. You don't care to replace it any sooner than it is absolutely necessary, for it represents a big outlay of money.

The one best way to get all the good out of your machines is to provide plenty of shelter for them. The first cost of a suitable shed is a small item and the saving is worth while.

Whether you need a new shed or just an addition, build now and add years to the life of your equipment.

The quicker you get your shed started, the quicker it will start saving you money.

OUTLOOK NOT GLOOMY

"The declaration of war is not only going to bring back to us the millions and millions of dollars that were advanced to Europe in the earlier stages of the war, but it is going to set loose additional millions within our own country. In so far as the material property is concerned, the outlook never was bigger and brighter. All we need is sanity in our daily habits and an open business throat, and we will all share in the good times which existing conditions must produce."

ALL AIRE ESSENTIAL

"The closing down of normal purchases to the line of bare necessity is bound to choke the flow of our national trade to the lowest level imaginable. This is a great chain of interlocking enterprises. The Jeweler is just as important a part of this chain as is the grocer, and likewise the merchant—the clothing merchant, the milliner, and every merchant who purveys merchandise which is purchased in normal times.

"The best policy any household can practice is the stoppage of waste and the curbing of the ostentatiousness of the entire family to carry the issue to a point of depriving one's self of the economy with propriety and good sense. The best way we can bring something of disaster into our other field of commerce."

"The declaration of war can have a little harder, earn a little more and no real effect on business. What bad buy in the usual way."

(United Press)
SANTIAGO, Chile, June 14.—"North American visitors here say they can't see that our Sunday anti-prohibition law has brought about any real effect. It has only had an effect however. It has just the effect we intended it to have."

"That law was never intended to keep the upper classes from getting Sunday drinks. The members who keep the peons from getting them, it works pretty satisfactorily."

"According to the law all drinking places have to close five o'clock Saturday afternoon and stay closed until 8 o'clock Monday morning. Of course all the really good bars provide themselves with club licenses. All you have to do is secure a membership in a few saloons, so to speak, and you can get as many drinks as you want on Sunday. The membership is thrown in with the first drink. But the low class bars can't get club licenses. They cost money and the authorities won't let such places have them any more."

"The peons can't afford to go to the good bars and they can't get into the others. They will be forced to drink at home Saturday, but if they do they get drunk in their own houses and when they are drunk enough they will find their way back from there. By the time the cheap saloons open Monday morning the peons are sober and at work again."

"North Americans don't understand the system here. They only go to the expensive establishments, which are running as usual."

"I don't know if the 'peon' would ever be allowed the United States, where, I understand, the peons have a lot of political influence, but it will adapt to Chile."

Corn According to Dun's Review: Distinct signs of revival in distributive trade have accompanied more seasons of favorable weather, but recovery in winter wheat has fortunately continued. Present indications are for a materially larger yield than recently seemed likely, and this means more in a year when requirements are not only at the maximum, but are also especially pressing. While some other crops, and particularly cotton, are backward in growth, the general position of agriculture is more reassuring, and the outlook reacts favorably on business sentiment. With the freer movement of merchandise in sections where the weather has improved, there is a more hopeful feeling among merchants and consumers. The latter are the dominant note in reports from not a few quarters. Best results are not now possible, however, and there is some apprehending of profits through bargain offerings, which is a reflection of the fact that the disposition of inventory has diminished to such an extent that considerable machinery is being sold at a price offering will be taken.

PRINCESS HAIDER WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENTS HERE
Member of Ancient Royal Family of Syria to Hold Lectures-Recital at Methodist Church Sunday and Monday.

It is not often that Twin Falls has the pleasure of entertaining a real Oriental princess. There is one in the city today—Princess Rahme, the youngest daughter of the royal family of Syria, an author, a lecturer and a dramatist.

Princess Haider will give her unique lecture-recital, "Under Syrian Stars," at the First Methodist church, Sunday evening, June 17, at 8:00 o'clock, depicting social and political conditions of her native land. Monday evening at the same auditorium at 8:15 o'clock, Princess Rahme will present the drama, "Noon, the Loper," based on the Old Biblical story. This has been written by the princess herself and is set in an only a native can, making Syria appear as a real place. It tells how the early Syrian people were turned from the worship of Baal to the worship of the God of Israel and the part the Hebrew captive, Marjan, played in thinking about this great religious change. Worn out by her long series of lectures and public appearances, the princess is resting through this week-end. Guest of Just-a-More Club, definitely refusing opportunities to speak Sunday evening, preceding her address, she will tell why she loves and honors the Hebrew captive, Marjan, played in thinking about this great religious change. Knoll Items

(Times' Special Correspondence)

He will preach every Sunday morning and evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all. A light was reported in places last Monday morning, but no damage was done. A very interesting program is being prepared for children's day at the First Baptist church for Sunday night, June 17. All are invited. The Baptist church is having a new coat of paint outside, and the same pattern will run and decorate the inside under the improvement. A number of parties and tournaments a local organization of the Red Cross at this place last Sunday afternoon. They reported very urgent need of such work. All should help with their little mite.

BATTLESHIP IN NEW YORK
PARK HELPS GET RECRUITS
NEW YORK—Vacation time visitors to New York city this summer find a new point of interest on Broadway. At the corner of Fourteenth street in Union Square in one of the busiest sections of all Manhattan there has been placed a perfect replica of a modern dreadnaught. It has been constructed in the center of the park and looks all the world as if it had just arrived in port. The ship which has been built in reality was built through the efforts of Mayor Mitchell's defense committee and the contributions of patriotic citizens. On Memorial Day with appropriate and imposing launching ceremonies it was turned over by Mayor Mitchell to Admiral Buxton for the use of the city's recruits. The ship is manned by 30 seamen from the training station at Newport, R. I., and is in command of officers of the navy. It is here used exclusively for recruiting and events that will stimulate enlisting. All day long speeches are made to the crowd of onlookers who up the main deck. Men are given information, and after qualifying, are passed on to the examining surgeons who have offices aboard. The turrets are mounted with guns of wood that are very formidable looking while the fighting masts and several genuine machine guns add to the realism. The bridge is equipped with searchlights, signals, compasses which are worked every minute. The complete routine of the ship life is put on and throughout the day and night the "Recruit" is in full operation.

FLORENCE LABADE FEATURES
"THE SCARLET LETTER"
"The Scarlet Letter" is probably the most widely read American novel. It is a powerful story of old New England—the Puritans—set in an equally powerful play of today in every way worthy of being released as a "Patriotic Red-Rouser" play. It is a type of which all know a powerful and wonderful character—the severe unforgiving "Christian" woman who dies herself the right duty of God—penning down a quotation from the Bible to strengthen the dictates of her own narrow judgment. There is one like her in every community. The star is Florence LaBade, the story opens in a little village and the action shifts to the underworld of a big city—striking scenes produced with skill and strength. It ranges from the hovels of the poor to the mansions of the rich. The story's wife were someone near to you. She is living a life of atonement. She is a good woman. Yet when her friends—even her husband—turn their backs on her, she takes a leper. Would you? Every one in the audience will ask himself that question. In this world it seems that people can do anything as long as they "get away with it." Should they be caught, hypocrites, sinners or the like, they would draw their skirts aside and hurry past them. This is the big theme of the picture. The "Scarlet Letter" stands against the other woman places her in a special Pillory, more terrible than the one of old which imprisoned the sinner. The picture places her as a target for the jeers of the multitude and even for missiles hurled with the violent rage of intolerance. Showed at the Orpheum theatre two days, Thursday and Friday of this week, two excellent acts of vaudeville makes this program well worth calling.

used during some women in the picture. This doesn't seem to be an astounding statement unless one is familiar with conditions in California where the production was photographed. There is no snow near the studio so director Marshall Nolan dispatched an automobile truck some fifty miles into the mountains to scout snow. The truck was so equipped that the snow could be produced at any time while traveling across the valley. The first truck load was secured and the driver was dashing madly for the studio in the foggy air when the truck was hit by a heavy load which would reach its destination in a mere or less solid form, when he hit a rutter broke an axle and before it could be repaired, his load of snow had vanished into shimmering puddles by the roadside. He turned back, secured another truck, and made the trip at night. Early the next morning the company was called and the scenes requiring the snow were photographed. The snow was some snow on the lot, the venturesome spirits descended upon it and deluged it in a snow until until there was no snow left.

White, secretary W. F. Taylor and County Agent W. N. Birch have been hustling up the work of getting the bureau underway. Have the name of E. Lewis organization.

Smith Questionable Character—Further investigation into the character of Herbert L. Smith, alleged to have been arrested this week in Chicago, indicates that he bore a questionable reputation. Under the name of E. Lewis Smith he is said to have occupied a Presbyterian pulpit in the east for a year and was put out in disgrace by the church authorities. By means of alleged fraudulent representations and forged testimonials he imposed on the Methodists of Idaho sufficiently to obtain a license to preach temporarily in Henshaw. In the meantime suspicious circumstances led to investigation and while this was pending, he is said to have been arrested at an excellent through worthless checks presented here. Until the Times telegram from Chicago was received.

How Little It Costs To Attend Chautauqua On the Season Ticket Plan

You wouldn't buy a ticket at every station if you were going on a long trip would you? Don't attend Chautauqua that way either. Buy a through ticket. It saves you money. Single admissions are more than three times the amount of a season ticket.

Twenty-six Attractions $2.50 Less Than 10c Each

Think of hearing "The Chimes of Normandie" for ten cents, or Hawkins' great Nature Lecture, or "Along the Road to Tokyo," or James Goddard—it would cost you more than the price of a season ticket to hear him alone at Chicago Grand Opera.

TWIN FALLS Chautauqua Week June 20 to 26, Inclusive

It is not necessary for a June wedding present to be useful or tasteful, but if it looks as if it cost a lot of money but didn't, it will go with a rush.

"HELL ORGAN'S GIRL" AT IDAHO ON MONDAY

The San Francisco earthquake and fire has been used by Bluebird as subject for photographing. The result will be shown at the Idaho theatre on Monday only, under the striking title of "Hell Morgan's Girl." Dorothy Phillips will carry the stellar role, with Lon Chaney and William Stowell leading her supporting company. Events immediately preceding the catastrophe are interwoven with a gripping love story and the effectiveness of the sensational production culminates in a graphic scene depicting the President with throngs of refugees gathered from all parts of the stricken city where their needs might be temporarily supplied. It is in this scene that the climax of the love interest is reached and the "happy ending" to an excellent screen-drama is attained.

ENTENTE-LEADERS OF LOWLY SOCIAL ORIGIN

Lloyd-George, former Premier of Great Britain, Australian Premier Hughes and General Smuts were all poor.

LONDON, June 14.—The lowly boyhood of Premier Lloyd-George, suddenly brought into contrast with his achievements of middle life, has caused the English people to scrutinize the early careers of other notable leaders.

Ex-Premier Briand, of France, it was ascertained, was the son of a safe owner at St. Nazaire. His first job was that of a reporter for a labor paper, so poorly paid that he had to decline a lecture invitation because he had no shoes. The promoters wired money enabling Briand to buy a pair in time to deliver the lecture.

General Smuts, ex-rebel and now a participant in the Empire Council because of his victories over the Germans in Africa, spent his boyhood herding his father's sheep in Cape Colony. Later he attended an English university, becoming a lawyer.

Frank "Sir Sam" Hughes, the Australian Premier, also rose from a lowly rank of life and narrowly missed participation in the Empire Council.

COURT NOTES

The verdict for the plaintiff last night in a lecture invitation because he had no shoes. The promoters wired money enabling Briand to buy a pair in time to deliver the lecture.

In the case of Robert Ray et ux against Frank Caudle et ux, ended the jury cases for this term of court. This case involved the possession of a title of land between the properties of the men about which there has been considerable dispute.

In the case of Blanche Galloway against C. F. Carbaugh, an action for unlawful detainer, the plaintiff was given a verdict restoring the land in litigation.

In the case of F. S. Marshall against I. Herron, writs were sent back for retrial by the supreme court; the case came on for trial by stipulation. Judgment was entered for the plaintiff for $1400.

LOTS OF WATER IN SALMON

Water is still going up in the Salmon dam in spite of the fact that a large head is being used for irrigation. A rain of 3 feet yesterday raised the level to 84.5 feet, or 133,500 acre feet. For the past week the average rains has been 2 feet.

W. J. Jenkins of Jarbridge, whose arm was broken in an auto accident as he was returning from Twin Falls last week is recovering in a local hospital.

Mrs. W. A. Minnick left last evening for Los Angeles to spend the summer there as the guest of relatives.
