POULTRY MANURE IN GARDEN

Mixed With Equal Amount of Dry Earth and Spread Broadcast Will Prove Beneficial.

A common way of using hen manure for garden purposes is to mix it with an equal amount of dry earth, crush it and then spread it by hand.

Usually the dust is applied on the dropping boards in the coop, as it helps to keep the coop sanitary, and absorbs the moisture also.

For a complete fertilizer containing hen manure, the following is good: Four hundred pounds of hen manure, 500 pounds of dissolved bone, 100 pounds of muriate of potash, 150 pounds of plaster and 100 pounds of nitrate of soda.

At present you would probably have some difficulty in getting the muriate of potash, as it is scarce.

FIXING VALUE OF SKIM MILK

Result of Gov. of Experiments Made by Dean Henry at Wisconsin Experiment Station.

Dean W. A. Henry, who for many years was in charge of the feeding experiments at the Wisconsin station, concluded after a great many experiments that when corn is worth 60 cents per bushel the value of skim milk is 37 cents per hundred pounds, and when corn is worth 84 cents per bushel, skim milk is worth 49 cents per hundred.

Gov. W. D. Hoard, for many years a leading dairyman in Wisconsin, suggested the following rule for finding the money value of skim milk: "Multiply the market value of live hogs in cents per pound by five when skim milk is fed alone, but when fed with corn or barley, multiply the price by six."

The Gutter rule is that skim milk is worth half as much per hundred pounds as corn is worth per bushel. Dollar corn would therefore mean 50 cents as the price for skim milk.

TREATMENT FOR ACID SOILS

Ground Limestone, Air-Slaked, Water-Slaked or Lump Lime Can Be Used Successfully.

Lime is the one remedy used for acid soils and it is very easily applied. Ground limestone, air-slaked lime, or water-slaked lime, or lump lime can be used. A peck of quicklime will be about 184 lbs. for a square rod or garden, and double the amount of slaked lime or ground limestone will give about the same results.

DUST BLANKET SAVES WATER

Evaporation Can Be Prevented by Cultivation, Fencing and Hoeling. Thus Farming Method.

Saving soil water is better than pouring it on by the barrel after it has been wasted by evaporation. This saving is made by cultivating, hoeling and raking the surface soil till it is fine. A fine dust blanket is spread over the garden in this way and the soil water kept from evaporating.

ANCONA LAYS LARGEST EGGS

Popular Belief That Bulky Poultry Lay Large Eggs is Disproved by Weight Test.

The popular belief that the larger birds lay large eggs has been disproved in tests. Where all eggs were weighed, it was found that the Ancona, which is smaller than the Leghorn, laid the largest egg of all breeds tested.

HELP SMALL FARMERS

Co-Operative Bull Associations Becoming Big Factor.

Especially Adapted to Herds Which Are Too Small to Afford Valuable Animal at Head-Organization Are Now.

There are now more than 80 active co-operative bull associations in the United States, representing a total membership of 630 and owning about 250 pure-bred bulls.

The co-operative bull association is especially adapted to herds which are so small that a valuable bull for each herd would be too heavy an investment to be justified by the extent of the business.

Through co-operation, cattle owners are enabled to obtain the benefits which come from the use of a pure-bred sire at an expense which is no greater, and in many cases is less than the cost of maintaining a scrub.

"Better and fewer bulls" is a phrase which represents the aim of these associations. A typical organization is composed of from 15 to 30 farmers who jointly own five bulls. The territory of the association is divided into five breeding blocks and one bull assigned to each block.

These associations have been known in the United States only since 1908, when the first one was organized in Michigan.

In regard to the returns from grading up cattle through the use of the pure-bred bulls of the co-operative associations, one estimate obtained from farmers in Maryland, Michigan, and Minnesota, places the increased value of the offspring in the first generation at from 80 to 90 per cent, an average of 85 per cent.

TUBERS ON STRAWBERRY BED

Large Yields and High Quality Secured if Suitable Seed Is Used—Ohio Station Plan.

One of the best crops that can be grown on an old strawberry bed is potatoes. They may also be planted after a crop of clover has been cut.

For such planting the potatoes make good growth if sprouted in partial sunlight in the spring. When spread out in shallow trays or on a floor where the sun-dishes part of the day, short-stubby green sprouts grow to one-half to three-fourths of an inch long.

These potatoes may then be cut and planted with the sprouts on the bed of the strawberry bed. At the Ohio Ohio station, such seed planted in June yielded nearly twice as much as the call-stored potatoes planted at the same date.

PERVERTING THE FACTS

The Hearst newspapers, which have been leaning toward pro-Germanism since the war was broken, are now crying out which will give away, "possible within the law" to undermine the confidence of the American people in the administration, are now busy engaged in attacking the embargo. They represent it as being the same sort of thing as the British blockade which Secretary Lansing at one time rightly denounced as "illegal and indefensible." They say that it is our duty to neutral nations to trade with them, and that we have no right to do so, any more than Great Britain had a right to enforce part of her illegal blockade.

The whole argument is either false or misleading. Great Britain illegally enforced a blockade on legitimate trade between neutral nations. The embargo has nothing to do with the trade between two neutral powers as the United States. It consists in forbidding our own people to trade indirectly with the enemy through neutral powers. Clearly, the United States has a legal right to say that goods produced in this country shall not be shipped to Holland or other neutral powers for the purpose of being shipped into Germany. All she demands is the assurance that American made goods shall not be included in this manner. The lawfulness of this procedure cannot be doubted.

The Hearst papers appeal to the "Fathers of the Republic" to sustain their position. That court is a bad one for them, since the United States enforced embargoes on four different occasions during the first quarter of a century of its existence.

Those writers who comment upon the retention of Bethmann-Hollweg by saying, "through the Chancellor changes the German masters from the name of a justifier to a criminalizing the immediate effect in the late political upheaval in Germany. Nevertheless it betokens internal convulsions which may any day result in revolution. The clamor against butchery, starvation and all kinds of misery and repression may be momentary, but nothing is going to end it save sweeping victories or the prospect of a speedy peace."

"How are we to obtain peace," asked a prominent member in the American Reichstag on Saturday, "if we cling to the German side? Must we continue to sacrifice our interest to the expansion of Germany? Must we continue to submit to the German militarism that has drawn us into this war? Put these utterances, for which but a short time ago imprisonment would have been suitably given, together with the ferment in Germany, and it certainly behooves France—perhaps the beginning of the end.

The German war and marine insurance companies have been prohibited from doing any more business in this country by proclamation of the president. Another source for contraband news stopped and another step in the right direction. The embargo on food stuffs and war materiel from Germany has constantly been getting supplies of both will also greatly lighten the blockade of the Teuton empire.

Secretary Daniels' Fourth-of-July announcement relative to our expeditionary force having been twice attacked by U-boats, which were both times driven away by the convoying destroyers after considerable firing, which at least one U-boat was sunk, seems to have been called in question by the British admiralty reports, which say the crossing was without incident.

Referring to the landing of the American troops in France, a French writer says that "ictory, hitherto a 'ner' certainly, is now a 'mathematical' certainty."

And now Maxim, the inventor of the celebrated "dancer" for guns, claims to have invented a torpedo propelling for ships upon somewhat the same principle.

Our troops in France are now in the front line with their full equipment at hand. The latest dispatches indicate the possibility of their going under fire earlier than had been expected. That is what they are there for, but American hearts will tremble at the prospect.

The senate promises to vote on the food control bill next Saturday. At that time it will have been for five weeks under discussion in that body; and if anyone, either in or out of the senate, is wiser than when the torrent of wind was turned on, we should like to see the proof.

China, it appears, will soon be a republic again—on paper.

America Must Take Lead Says Hobson

Wantonness and Cruelty Must be Eliminated—Conservation Not Destruction Wanted.

(By Richard P. Hobson)

In my article last week I pointed out the necessity of America and our allies conducting the war by scientific methods, consisting of three parts: First part, to define and keep in view the objective; second part, to determine and evaluate the means; and third part, to prepare and execute the plans.

In the same article we laid the foundation for determining the objective of the war by establishing the Great Objective of nature, namely, the maximum advance of the human species, as determined by the average standard of character, in intellectual, moral and spiritual attributes.

In this article, I wish to lay the foundation for determining the factors involved in attaining the Great Objective. The human race consists of some fifteen or sixteen hundred millions of individuals. The standard for the race is determined by the integration, or the sum of the qualities of all the individuals, and dividing this total by the number of individuals. The great war must be fought from the standpoint of the whole race. Now that space is annihilated and the whole race is bound together by direct contact, the great living organism, men in general and those directing the affairs of great nations in particular, must think in terms of the whole race within their own borders between the great oceans of Germany and Japan.

The danger in China is greater than the danger to Russia. The present situation in China is a result of the government by the people, in not the Kaiser, but the Mikado. Let us absolutely reverse the policy of the allies in building like a club over the disintegration of the world. The menace of an attack from Japan's armies in the far east, and let us send our armies to Russia to join the Russians in their fight with them and for them.

Let us help to organize the armies of China, and America join hands, hand and soul with Russia and China to fight shoulder to shoulder the menace of autocracy with all its military might, which is the only way to secure peace from the center of Europe or the coast of Asia. In this way, whatever better we shall be advanced in the first public meeting of the world shall declare the blessings of nature and nature's God.

also in the complete annihilation of the enemy. Wantonness, cruelty, inhumanity can never be justified. They bring down upon the perpetrator the curse of the people and the wrath of the scorn and the wrath of outraged civilization.

Recognizing war as a phenomenon in the life of the great organism, the human race, we are in a better position to determine the general factor involved in attaining the great objective of the highest progress the human race by the aid of its environment. The underlying force of development for any faculty is the systematic exercise of that faculty accompanied by proper nutrition.

To secure the highest development of the race, every human being should not only be guaranteed freedom of birth against hereditary taint of degeneracy in the blood, with the care, protection and education that can alone come in the home, but during mature years should be guaranteed the conditions for exercising his higher faculties. Every underdeveloped human being becomes part in all the great work of the world during his day and generation, including the highest affairs of government.

Government for People. Some will object that this principle of universal democracy is liable to entail inefficiency in government. I answer that the government is for the people, not the people for the government, and in seeking the great objective it is better to have an inefficient government than a government which the people are continually exercising their higher faculties and developing and advancing even from the government will be more efficient, than to have a government made to order from above, which would be inefficient from the very start, with the people left out and deprived of the exercise of higher faculties and the development attending the exercise of them.

Thus in seeking the great objective we should, as conduct the war, as to advance to the utmost the progress and development of the human race. In anticipation of more occluded discussion of this great war policy, I will point out that the future of democracy is bound up in the success of Russia and the fate of China which the war may settle. These two young democracies have, more than any other nations, the right to have their own borders between the great oceans of Germany and Japan.

The danger in China is greater than the danger to Russia. The present situation in China is a result of the government by the people, in not the Kaiser, but the Mikado. Let us absolutely reverse the policy of the allies in building like a club over the disintegration of the world. The menace of an attack from Japan's armies in the far east, and let us send our armies to Russia to join the Russians in their fight with them and for them.

Wonderful!

Hell Morgan's Girl—queen of the Barbary Coast—loved life—loved the lights, loved admiration, loved herself—but she lived "on the wrong side of Paradise." Then came the artist and life took on a new meaning—and our story a new turn—we'll let the screen story tell the rest.

The action is laid on FRISCO'S BARBARY COAST before and during the great earthquake. It's a wonderful story, wonderfully told, wonderfully staged—is "HELL MORGAN'S GIRL."

This is the same picture that was advertised several weeks ago but which failed to arrive, because of an error in shipment. It is not the most spectacular picture ever photographed but we claim that for truthness to life and real unusualness it is one of the great dramas ever produced. HELLMORGAN'S GIRL is wonderful!

Connor was dismissed this week when it appeared that Ritting was proceeding in an erroneous theory of the ownership of the grain and that he was willing to settle the matter when he was convinced that he owed for it. The Only Heir—A caller recently found a prominent Twin Falls real estate man not at home and, in inquiry was told he had gone to the hospital to "close a land deal." "Has there any place a man can go to escape you fellows?" asked the caller. "Well, I don't know of any, except the graveyard," was the presumably truthful reply.

Several Business Moves—The Majestic Pharmacy has moved across the street from its old stand at 116 Main avenue to the large room at the corner of Main and Shoshone streets. The new place of business is one of the finest in this city. The fixtures have been put in and the store is a dainty place. The prescription department and the photographic department, occupy also space. The Twin Falls Hardware company is installing fixtures in the new road building on Main avenue next to the Idaho bank and under the Grocery. The move will move into the room vacated by the Majestic Pharmacy and will increase its stock.

Will Return to Twin Falls—The following recent dispatch from Pocatello will be both interesting and gratifying to the Twin Falls people: "In connection with the plans for the reorganization of the Smith Candy company of this city, W. Zena Smith, one of the founders and incorporators, will sever his connection with the business. He will be succeeded by H. A. Wilbur, who has had with him all his experience in the wholesale confectionery business. The Smith Candy company has developed into one of the most successful concerns of the west in the intermountain west, and the success of the concern has been largely due to Mr. Smith, who has been its president and general manager. He has also been prominently identified with the Commercial club and musical societies. He will leave here and return to his former home in Twin Falls."

Will Return to Twin Falls (continued) Try Out Horse Linn—Claiming that he is entitled to possession of the car owned by Deputy Sheriff W. G. Thompson, when Mark Fear was arrested for driving a motor car, J. C. Reichler, of Flor, has sued for the return of same in the district court. He declares that the car was sold to him by the sheriff under the provisions of section 3, chapter 46, of the session laws of 1917, "and not for sale, assessment or fine pursuant to a statute, or in satisfaction of a judgment against the property of the plaintiff." Which may mean that the constitutionality of the state with the question of title and whether Reichler declares that if the car was used to carry liquor, it was against his wishes. Horse Sense Saved Jensen—Because his horse had had some trouble and was used it at the right time, Jens Jensen, the well known showman in the Sinclair store is accommodating his admirers by making a show of his horse, especially for the women pickers and the farm bureau women. Jensen was driving up the Blue Jay Sunday afternoon and when he got near the sea and turn about half way between the corral and the top his horse gave a snort and started to back up. With "H. H. Jensen" tried to calm him, but the horse by his acts said "nothing string in the slowdown line." A cowboy says "a little horse was riding two horses and leading another. The two animals took right at the antics of the Jensen steed and also flew up and down the road. After they had raced up seventy-five yards, they heard a rumble and looked around to see an immense body of dirt in the way between the road, where they would have seen had the Jensen horse not scented danger. It took a dozen men a day to clear the road.

Will Return to Twin Falls (continued) Farm Spud Store Is Proving Success Dugouts Described as Evolution of the Old-time Pit by Extension Investigator. The following information relative to the storage of potatoes is being given by the Extension Agent, E. R. Bennett of the university extension, and given to the press through the medium of the Extension director of farm markets: The Idaho potato crop cannot be

Will Return to Twin Falls (continued) on the market at digging time. A part of the crop must be held for delivery during the winter and spring. Again this question of how to hold potatoes after harvest is a very serious problem. Potatoes are kept over-winter in three ways: in pits covered with straw and earth; in dugouts; and in cellars. The first method is cheaper to begin with but inefficient and in the case of many potatoes are rotted in pits are hard to get at unless left until settled weather in spring; but the greatest difficulty with pits is that some of the grower never knows whether they are heating, keeping well or freezing during the winter. The second method is the most satisfactory, but it is not a new invention. It is the result of most fifty years' experience in storing potatoes in the west, and as now constructed, it is typical of the high cost of labor and materials, many potato growers in Idaho are contemplating and are planning to build dugouts. A careful study of the subject shows that a properly constructed dugout is the most satisfactory method of storing potatoes on the farm, both for winter and summer use and for other things as well as potatoes. Mistakes in construction have been made and are being made hard to remedy, hence it is wise to make a careful working plan before starting to build a dugout. The following suggestions, though brief, are points of vital importance that have been taken from the experience of the most successful potato growers of the west: Locate the cellar on level land or on a knoll, and level the ground to be excavated a well graded location. Excavate to sufficient depth so as

SHERIFF KENDALL SAYS SITUATION IS WELL IN HAND FOR EMERGENCY

American Spirit Will Stand by Law

All Men Who Want to Work Are Welcome but Those Who Want Trouble Must Leave Tract or Take Consequences.

You may say for no that conditions must get a great deal worse than now seems possible before this county will call on Governor Alexander for troops to suppress unruly agitators, said Sheriff Kendall M. Kendall yesterday, "for we are more than ninety-nine per cent American here and the people will see to it that the laws are enforced and popular rights protected. I hold not against any man on account of his political belief any more than I do on account of his religious belief—just—do propose to see, while I am sheriff, and do sort of illegal and unparliamentary agitation that has carried on in some places does not take place here. The committee will sustain me in this attitude. I believe in free speech as long as it is not riotous and against the interests of the nation—"

...the influence of the W. W. members, but they can do a great deal of harm by engaging to work for farmers and others and then sitting up trouble which results in their getting fired. This interferes with honest workers and—poison—their minds, while it is unjust to the farmers who hire them. I was down at the Lily grade crossing yesterday and the manager there told me that I. W. W. members would come out one here and stir up trouble and the name of them would do fifty cents worth of work in a day. The same thing has happened on farms. I wish that every farmer who runs across a character of that sort would report to me at once.

"The people of Twin Falls and of the tract are progressive Americans. They have always invited the stranger to come here and make his home. If he is willing to work and help develop the country, he is still welcome to stay. But if he comes to break the law and make trouble he is not welcome and will not be tolerated at this time, or any other time."

"It is true that it is generally hard to get I. W. W. members to admit their connection with the organization. A few, however, in the great majority of them do not. Most of those with whom I have talked denied it, but their acts show what they are. I have always invited the stranger to come here and make his home. If he is willing to work and help develop the country, he is still welcome to stay. But if he comes to break the law and make trouble he is not welcome and will not be tolerated at this time, or any other time."

INVENTS WAY TO MAKE NEW PAPER FROM OLD

(By International News Service) GREEN BAY, WIS., July 14.—John Welsh, manager of a local paper company, has invented a process whereby he says waste paper can be recycled and made into newspaper print. Mr. Welsh states that by his process all waste paper can be resolved into fresh paper as often as brought back to the mill. The paper is of a bluish-gray color and is said to have a strength greater than ordinary newspaper. Local millers who have used the laundered paper say it gives excellent results.

Krupp Organ Is Afraid of England

Waras Germans That They Have Greatly Underestimated The Power of Great Britain.

(International News Service.) NEW YORK, July 14.—The Rheinische Westfaliahe Zeitung, chief organ of the Krupp, in a series of articles on the war situation, warns the Germans not to be too optimistic regarding the future, and great stress is laid upon the strength of the British Empire in its wide world dominions. The writer takes Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg to task for his frequent references to the war map in talking of the present situation of the belligerents. The paper continues: "England, which at the beginning of the war was so foolishly and dangerously underestimated, has, during his struggle, attained military and political strength which has almost reduced to silence those prattlers who ruled public opinion in the summer of 1914. England, the falling Carriage, the land without conscription, has shown herself as a nation which still rules the world, and to drive back which, in order that we may live, still requires all our strength. "In contemplation of the terrible battles in Europe, and in the eager examination of our European war map, we have forgotten the map of the world, and it is high time that we look at that. While England in our immediate neighborhood remains on the defensive, she is yet strong enough in other parts of the world to develop a remarkable offensive."

The article then goes on to review British imperial history, and in the review Price Bulow, the former German Minister of Foreign Affairs, is severely handled for not having recognized at the time of the Janssen raid how serious the fall of the Boer republics would be for German colonial houses. The writer asks: "What trend would the world war have taken had there still been independent Boer States which with about 80,000 men could have helped our German troops in Southwest and East Africa?"

The writer then traces the determined and sustained action whereby England throughout the years has marched toward the dominion of the empire and an All-Red route across the African continent, and then proceeds to point out the great importance to Germany Southwest Africa. "We must not only," he says, "demand Southwest Africa again, but we must push our territory up to the main ocean of the world. All the colonizing strength of Germany in Africa comes from the Southwest Protectorate, and all plans in Central Africa cannot compensate us for lost Southwest Africa."

Another article of the series deals with Great Britain's enormous empire, and has been divided very important and the writer, recognizing how widely the English language is spoken there, sees it rapidly becoming the language of the world.

FARM BUREAU PRAISED

BY THE U. S. COMMITTEE

President John E. White, Gets Letter of Appreciation From San Francisco Office.

Again Twin Falls county scores in regard to magnificent donations to the Red Cross fund. People here know how well the country districts have been served through the county farm bureau in increasing the fund for the relief of the boys fighting in the trenches, but the efforts of the people of the country are appreciated outside of this part of the nation. It has attracted the attention of the western department headquarters at San Francisco.

Following the letter from national headquarters to Dr. H. W. Wilson, relative to the county as a whole, the following letter shows how widely the efforts of the people here have attracted attention and commendation: San Francisco, June 29, 1917. Dr. J. E. White, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Dear Doctor White: I have heard with the greatest satisfaction of your wonderful work in lining up the country district of Idaho in the Red Cross campaign. When I mentioned it to some members of our committee, they were very anxious that I express to you in behalf of the war council, the thanks of the nation for your tireless and successful work.

We want to congratulate you all in Idaho over the stupendous victory which you have won, and I am sure you can have the greatest satisfaction in knowing that you have served your country well and have responded nobly to your conscription. Yours very sincerely, LYMAN L. PIERCE, Western Executive Secretary.

Long School Year Tempered Greatly

Many Holidays in Argentine Break the Monotony of Student's Life—School Hours Only Forty-eight Minutes.

(International News Service.) BUENOS AIRES, July 14.—A suggestion that Argentine schools be given a holiday in July, has called forth a loud cry of protest from the newspapers. La Nacion, says a foreign educator looking over the Argentine curriculum is filled with surprise. He appears to have found a land where study is longer and harder than anywhere else, and his surprise is tempered with compassion towards the pupils.

Closer investigation, however, reveals the fact that the Argentine school hour has but forty-eight minutes; the school day is of four or five of those abbreviated "hours," the yearly cycle of study but a period of eight months. Thrown in as an extra are the holidays of the May festivities, one week; half a week or so for the celebration of the defeat of the English invasion fifteen religious feast days, without counting Sundays, and various other "days off," the day of the Tree, Animal Day, not forgetting the days when the teacher is merely absent from classes in accordance with established customs.

And the long and the short of it is, says La Nacion, that the day on which work is really done, because more or less of a surprise, one of these fine days it will be suppressed when the programme of study will astonish the distinguished visitor still more.

Hence it is La Nacion concludes that there are scholars in their fifth year in the second grade who can only read by jerks and who are incapable of writing a letter, the teachers who evidently lack the elements of education, teachers who cannot divide by two figures.

BUHL MAYOR TO COME TO TWIN FALLS TO LIVE

Mr. Johnson Gets High Position With State Lumber Company in This City.

After going through one of the hottest campaigns ever waged in the history of Buhl, and coming out victoriously by a substantial margin, Mayor Johnson is to enjoy the honors and emoluments of his office for but a brief period, says the Buhl Pioneer. Mr. Johnson is not quitting his official position as mayor, but the Gem State Lumber company, for whom he works, has called him to another and larger field, and since the new position carries with it a substantial salary increase and an opportunity for larger service for the company, it could, of course, not be declined. Mr. Johnson has been given a very important position in the office of Assistant Manager Lou Pettit, at Twin Falls, and has already taken up his new duties, having left here Wednesday morning for Hazelton on business for the company. Mr. Johnson has been in Buhl three years the first of this month, and his services have been such that the Buhl yard is one of the best the company has in the state, and it was one of the poorest when Mr. Johnson took charge. His promotion is a fitting recognition of his efficient management of the company's business here.

The successor to Mr. Johnson here will be W. M. Snyder, who has been with the company here for the last two years. The change will not take place until the 15th of this month, that being the date of the semi-annual inventory. Mr. Snyder has lived here for more than seven years, and prior to entering the employ of the Gem State Lumber company he followed contracting and building. He has had considerable experience in the lumber business prior to coming to Buhl, however, having been with the Citizens Lumber company in town for four years.

Mr. Johnson has rented a house in Twin Falls and will move his family there in the near future. With the people of Buhl still recognizing such an estimable family as Mr. and Mrs. Johnson they will rejoice at the advance Mr. Johnson received.

Upon Mr. Johnson's resignation as mayor of Buhl president of the council, Ira C. Thompson, will become acting mayor, and it is expected that he will be elected to that position, and some one else selected from the First ward to fill his position on the council.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE SHOWS TO APPEAR HERE JULY 31

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows Combined will visit Twin Falls on Tuesday, July 31.

For more than a quarter of a century the Great Wallace circus was among the largest in the world. Twelve years ago the big circus was consolidated with Carl Hagenbeck's trained wild animal exhibition. Carl Hagenbeck, before his death, was the "animal king," and the combination of the two shows for a single price of admission makes it something unheard of in the amusement world. With few exceptions great arctic acts originate in Europe. They are invariably introduced in America by the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which maintains agencies in Europe and Asia, for the purpose of keeping in touch with the latest achievement.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus has either originated all great attractions in the past few years or have searched them out from distant lands. It has offices in London, Liverpool, Paris, Constantinople, Calcutta, Hong Kong and Buenos Ayres. Its agents are always looking for novelties. Today the circus has reached a size that is giving the railroads much concern. If the three trains were any longer they could not handle them. It enrolls almost 1000 people, who travel along with the show. It has over 200 horses and animals, together with three herds of elephants. All of the equipment throughout this season is new. It cost the owners $5,000,000. The parade alone represents a cash outlay of $1,000,000. The managers' worth half as much. The best circus-artists in the world have been engaged for this season, there are 400 of them.

Doors to the big show will be opened at 1 and 7 p. m. Performance will begin an hour later. The parade leaves the grounds at 10 o'clock.
