one in every way. The tenso runs from November 1st.

"We put in a bid of $2400 for the postoffice," said A. J. Swain, a stockholder of the Federal Building company, "but the addition we could have made would have given considerably more floor space than will be secured from the part of the Herriott building which was leased. However, there is not much profit in the Herriott building at the rate of $1800 a year, except for the incidental advantages which will result in the increasing of the rental value of the rest of the building. I am confident that it would not pay paying rates of interest on the money invested. A sidewalk will be built from Main avenue back to Second avenue west in a short time and this, with the presence of the postoffice, should increase the rental value of the property facing Second avenue. There is not much profit in renting to the government and we were willing to build the addition, back to the alley and enter another lease, at the rate of $2400 a year, we were not especially anxious to do so."

Twin Falls Again Mentioned in Congress

Senator Borah Reads Letter From Commercial Club Urging Further Legislation.

On account of a letter sent June 26 to Senator Borah by the Twin Falls Commercial club, this city was put on the congressional map again last Friday by the senior senator from this state in the course of a debate on a bill introduced by Congressmen Addison T. Smith and Senator George E. Chamberlain to increase the reclamation area of the country. The following passages from the Congressional Record show the connection:

On the 6th of April, 1917, I introduced in the senate a bill known as S. 755. The same bill was introduced in the house by Mr. Smith of Idaho.

It was to increase the productive agricultural area of the United States by the reclamation of arid and swampy lands. This bill has been referred to the secretary of the interior, and has met the approval of the department. It is a contract in its nature. Mr. President, the purposes of the reclamation of arid lands to the benefit of the people of the United States, and if it is enacted into law it will tend greatly to aid to the agricultural area of the south as well as the west. I hope, then, that senators will assist me in bringing that measure to early consideration.

Mr. Borah, Mr. President, the senator from Oregon (Mr. Chamberlain) has just referred to a bill which I introduced in the senate some time ago and which was also introduced in the house by a representative from Idaho, Mr. Smith; and I have prepared this bill in the form of an amendment to the pending bill, which it had been my purpose to offer. I wish to read a telegram here from a section of the country which ten years ago was a barren waste. It was known in our state as the "desert," and it is now a very large, progressive, active community. It has been reclaimed under the arid-land laws. In my judgment, when you consider the time and money which have been devoted and the wonderful state of development it has reached, the Twin Falls county in the mind of all our citizens, growth and development of the west. It shows how well it is to take into consideration not the things merely of a day but the permanent things which have reference to the building of our country and to our food supply. It is dated Twin Falls, Idaho, and is as follows:

Twin Falls, Ida., June 26, 1917.

Hon. W. E. Borah,

United States Senate,

Washington, D. C.

Twin Falls county, with its strictly agricultural population of irrigation farmers, who have reclaimed 77,750 acres from a waste, desert, within ten years, has contributed to the Red Cross work $20,000, which is 32 per cent. of assessment placed upon irrigated lands. Notwithstanding the lack of adequate water upon the Salmon river segregation to the present year, the townspeople and farmers on that segregation have contributed $5000 toward the above fund. With proper new legislation concerning strict irrigation projects partially completed, we offer our hearty cooperation in the west, with their freedom from extremes of storms, droughts, and freshets, can be depended upon to duplicate this effort and assure enormous supplies of food to our common country and its allies during this great crisis.

TWIN FALLS COM. CLUB

This only shows how these things in a very short time come to be included as a substantial part of the country, contributing food, citizenship, soldiers, and all which the country now needs.

In view of the fact that this amendment will in no wise modify or change or alter any provision of the bill and will in no wise delay its passage in any way, I do not see why we should not be making progress in taking care of the reclamation projects in our arid lands.

The Federal Building Company yesterday offered to lease the structure now occupied at the postoffice to the city for five years, the lease to be terminable on sixty days' notice at option of the city. The proposal was signed "Federal Building Co., by Geo. H. Smith," and was filed to be taken up at the council meeting August 6. The company made three propositions. The first was for the use of the room after repairing, painting and tinting at a rate of $125 a month. The second was to add to the above offer, light, stove and fuel at a charge $150 a month. The third was to include all set forth in the second offer and build a modern vault for the safe guarding of the city bonds, at a rental of $175 a month.

Think Further Neutral-

Fact That the United States
Found Neutral Position Untenable Urged as Reason for War
On the Tontoon.

(By John W. White, Jr., International News Service Staff Correspondent)

BUENOS AIRES, July 25.—Newspaper editorials show a growing tendency in this country opposed to neutrality. Although the larger dailies of Buenos Aires have not openly urged the government to take a position with the United States and Brazil in open antagonism to Germany's campaign of horror, they have done so all along to their neutrality at all costs. The present unhappy plight of Spain leads El Diario to comment at length upon neutrality in general and the results to which it leads under such circumstances as have been created by the present war, narrowing its lengthy article later to the specific case of Spain. One reading between the lines, as one must do in reading all South American editorials, leads a lesson drawn between the present plight of Spain and the future position of the Argentine Republic.

"Spain and other countries" which have tried to imitate its policy of strict neutrality, says El Diario, have learned that their policy has pleased no one, though well intentioned to please all. The warring nations on both sides regard its course with disfavor, and not a little suspicious witness as to the genuineness of its protestations of neutrality. It is such a policy gives rise to dissensions within the country itself, hardly less serious than could be the consequences of direct participation in the war.

Ever since the ministry of Romanones resigned declaring that it could not maintain neutrality while the invasion of the country denounced the civil government as too neutral to suit the sporadic military spirit which found its first and most pronounced expression in Barcelona, all that has since occurred, says El Diario, has come and passed as a film in a cinematograph, and affords ample illustrations from experience to be a warning to other nations who have adopted the same policy as Spain.

Commenting on the position of the countries which have kept apart from the great conflict, now that the United States is self-determined from the number, the editorial continues: "We sincerely believe that there is not one which has the ability to maintain its neutrality, however strong may be its spirit of nationalism. When even the United States—the richest country in the world, with a population of a hundred millions, with an industrial development superior to all the others, and possessing all the products of the earth, which are requisite to national existence and industry, has not been able to maintain its attitude of neutrality, how can countries which lack for the most part such essentials as it enjoys, countries which are in a situation of economic and financial inter-dependence, expect to be allowed to isolate themselves—for neutrality is not a figure, among the most important of all the other countries which feel that they have the same right as a civilized nation to participate in the editorial, "my care themselves without calling in medical aid; the remedy is that their case to imitate that victim of neutrality."

Charles Younger Writes From Paris—Germans Shell Roads on Which Ambulances Travel—Weary Men—Sleep Soundly—Despairing Cry For Pic Remains Unanswered.

That the "just human" element predominates at the front is indicated pleasantly and forcibly in a letter received this week by Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Neuman, from Mrs. Neuman's son, Charles Younger, who left here some months ago before the United States declared war, to join the U. M. C. A. ambulance corps in France, and who tells of conditions in the capital of France and of the manner in which the "Boches" at the front shell the roads on which the ambulances have to pass.

Paris, France, May 15, 1917. Dear Folks: After land had been sighted and the "good ship" Chicago had anchored safely at the mouth of the river some fifteen miles from Bordeaux, disappointment over the non-appearance of my summaries was more than made up by the numerous drills and necessary provisions for safety during the trip seemed to have been increased. And among those of us who had changed passage from the Rochambeau to the Chicago in order to be in France at the first opportunity, the expressions were even more pronounced when the information was given out that the Rochambeau had had a most active encounter with a German submarine. There seems to be no doubt expressed as to the outcome of the encounter and we are all happy to know that there is one less submarine in the time necessary to reach port at Bordeaux it was difficult for me to imagine that this peace loving country could be at war. On both sides of the river were peacefully kept used by the use of sugar cards—each person receiving three jumps per day. Gasoline for private cars is practically impossible and then only in small quantities—and the baking of those wonderfully delicious French pastries is to be discontinued as a military necessity this week.

Tomorrow I will receive my "Order of Movement" which permits of my going to the front. I have seen fortunately selected an out of three out of seventy-five men who are to make up two new and comparatively inactive sections to join the oldest and best known American Battalion. The ambulance section at the front, where for the most part the newer sections are composed chiefly of undergraduates from colleges, number VII—is filled with writers, lawyers, arctic expeditioners, professors, and the proverbial interesting soldiers of fortune.

For a while I will be in the ambulance corps for three months and will then be given the honor of becoming an aviator, which I have been assured I can pass with little difficulty. As soon as American troops land in France all the American aviators will be transferred to the American army. The aviators I have met modestly tell of wonderful experiences and they are a splendid bunch of men.

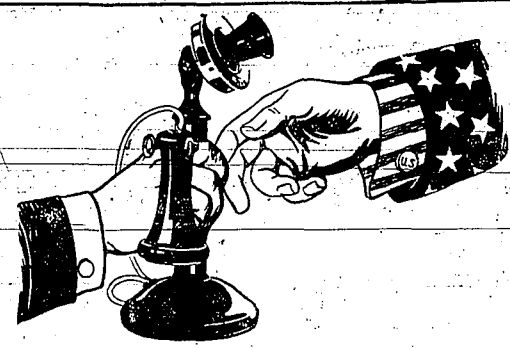

Differences Crop Out on Mobilization Edclibute Says They May Not Come to Boise—Neuman Quoted as Saying They Will.

Following telegraphic orders received by Adjutant General Moody Saturday from western army headquarters, stating that the Second Idaho Infantry would be mobilized before leaving for the cantonment camp at Palo Alto, Cal., Captain Newman, quartermaster today received a telegram from Adjutant Whitney advising that the regiment would be mobilized at Boise barracks on or before August 1.

Still another order showing that the regiment is to be mobilized at Boise barracks came to the adjutant general's office today, and it is believed that the regiment will be mobilized at Boise barracks on or before August 1.

Reserves should be directed to report to the commanding officer of company stationed near where they are located and proceed to mobilization camp with that company. Transportation cannot be furnished by government to place of report but will be furnished from company rendezvous to mobilization camp.

Edclibute took exception to the publication of the fact that the Second Idaho was to be mobilized at Boise barracks. Calling the Capital News this morning he stated that no such orders had been received at headquarters and that, in his opinion, the government had no right to set the government to needless expense to bring the regiment to Boise, as the companies were now in Los Angeles and Utah and transportation of them back to Boise would be a great loss. He said he desired the report

War Orders Rushed

THE magnitude of the great war in which we are now engaged, has necessitated unusual preparation. Mighty forces are marshalling, great stores of food and munitions are being gathered, and the energies of the nation are focused on problems incident to the war.

At the very beginning of the war, the whole Bell System was placed at the disposal of the Government. No nation has entered the war with such a comprehensive and efficient telephone service.

As our military establishment grows, the demands of the Government upon the Bell System are bound to increase and always they must take precedence over all others.

Increased activity in commerce and industry as the result of larger demands for food and munitions from our allies and for our own use, means increased need of telephone service by private business.

But private business must always be subordinated to the Government service. Each individual American will cooperate in this patriotic service, and submit cheerfully to inconvenience or delay in his telephone service, when he understands how vital it is that Government service shall take precedence over all else.

Allred Finds That Farmers Sell Hay

Farmers of the Twin Falls country are following the advice of Harvey Allred, director of farm markets, and selling their alfalfa at the prevailing price of $16 to $17 a ton in the stack, says the Capital News. Director Allred visited that section last week and urged the growers not to hold their hay for higher prices, taking the position that the prices now prevailing are all that conditions justify and that to force higher prices would work an injury to the dairy and beef industries of the state.

What is Your Number in the Selective Draft?

Lottery Decides Who Shall Be First to Be Drafted Into Service of Our Country, and Perchance You May Be Among Those Chosen.

The great lottery to fix the order of liability for military service for each of the ten million men previously registered for the war, was held at Washington on July 20. To secure the number of men desired at present, a total of 1,374,000 men will be called for examination within a few weeks, officials estimating that two registrants must be called for every soldier accepted. These 1,374,000 will be taken from the head of the liability list, every local district furnishing a fixed quota.

The entire nation is vitally interested in the outcome of the first selective draft drawing, hence we are presenting the figures drawn, that our readers may learn who will be called at this time. These figures will apply to every section of the country. The men drafted will be called in the order drawn, and will be enlisted in the service of the nation, unless the exemption board decides that they should be exempted from service.

Following are the draft numbers and order of liability, the first number in each instance being the order of liability.

Table of draft numbers and order of liability, organized in columns with numbers ranging from 1-368 to 593-545.

HOLDS CHARM FOR RED-BLOODED MEN

Navy, With Its High Ideals and Splendid Record, Justifies Nation's Pride.

MEN NEEDED FOR SERVICE

Uncle Sam Pays All Expenses and Monthly Wage is All-Valued

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Sailors of the American navy, many of them young men who only a year ago were on the farm, at the bench, at the counter, or in school, today are in Uncle Sam's employ, calling the waters of the northern seas, where they are engaged in the heroic duty of upholding the world principle of freedom for all peoples.

The American people always have shown a kindly disposition toward the man-of-war and the man-of-warman.

There has been an appeal about the sea which has drawn and held the interest of men whom they never smelt salt water.

Today Uncle Sam needs men for his navy and he wishes to get them from the ranks of those who are charged with the volunteer spirit of service.

Our great fleet is entitled to know where on the coast for possible deadly service with the great fleet of the enemy.

Today, for the navy has allowed the fact to become known, many of our smaller craft, the building of the navy, are hunting the submarine sharks in the waters of Dawn's Rock, close to the coast of Ireland and farther north, where even in summer the elements at times are almost as fierce as "man, the enemy."

Pay is Doubled.

Recently the congress of the United States increased the pay of the sailor men so materially that the recruit's pay is double what it was.

In the navy the young men of the country, both in times of peace and in times of war, receive liberal educations.

Their opportunities for travel and for sight-seeing are greater than those of men employed in almost any other calling in life.

Moreover, the boys just entering manhood who enlist in the navy are given opportunity for instruction which, if they have the ambition and the mental qualifications, will enable them to enter the naval academy at Annapolis on the same terms as midshipmen who are nominated by members of congress, and at that institution to secure an education which fits them for the commissioned rank which the government of the United States will confer upon them.

There are traditions in the American navy which keep high the spirit of endeavor in every man who walks the deck under the colors, from the admiral to the apprentice seaman.

The boy learns all about John Paul Jones, and his deeds on the sea, and the legends all about Decatur, Balthazard, Hull, Porter, Farragut and Dewey.

As the secretary of the navy has said, in what is really an appeal to the youth of the country to enlist under the navy's colors, the standard is high.

Service of High Ideals.

"The navy has been throughout its entire existence a service of high ideals, and its unbroken record of great and worthy achievement of duty well done, has been due to the high standard set for officers and men in the beginning and which has been maintained ever since.

This standard was never higher than it is today; and any young American who thinks of going into the navy may feel sure that, on enlistment, he will enter a service which he may, should, always feel in a justifiable pride and of which the uniform is a badge of honor."

Young men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five, who are not skilled in any naval trade, are enlisted as apprentice seamen.

Immediately upon being sworn in at the recruiting stations they are sent at government expense to a naval training station.

The apprentice seaman, because he is a green man and slightly uneducated, training to be held in the pay $17.00 a month.

From this time on, however, under the recent act of congress his pay throughout the war and until six months after its ending is to be $32.50 a month.

Rate of Pay in Navy.

The law increasing the pay of the men in the navy has just been enacted and the pay tables under the new dispensation have not yet been made out, but it is a simple thing to determine the rate of pay of each seaman of whatever class by reading in the pay given in the accompanying table the amount of increase in each case.

The increased pay allotment has just gone into effect. Below is given the navy wage table, with the pay as it stood prior to the recent act of congress.

In order to know what each man's pay now is, it is only necessary to know that every man now drawing less than $21 a month will receive an increase of $15 a month; that every man drawing $21 to $24 a month will receive $2 a month additional; that every man drawing more than $24 and less than $45, will receive $8 a month additional, and that every man drawing at least $45 or more a month will receive $6 a month additional pay.

It should be borne in mind that the apprentice seaman, the ordinary boy recruit, who ordinarily gets $17.00 a month, will be receiving at the time that this is read $15 additional, making his pay $32.00.

Here is the pay table as it stands today regardless of the increases which congress has ordained:

ADMINISTRATION HOPEFUL. (Continued From Page 1) reports at the German protective position west of the point of attack. Emperor William watched the German republic a Russian attack from the plains of the Soroth, between Tarnopol and Trowbowa. It is officially announced. Front of Prince Leopold, army group of General von Elchhorn, the Russians, impressed by their failure and sacrifice, have not again attacked. Army group of General Boehm-Ermolli: Our advance continues uninterrupted. Divisions tried in battle repulsed under the eyes of the Emperor a strong Russian attack on the ground rising from the plain of the Soroth, between Tarnopol and Trowbowa, and during an assault were the heights on the eastern bank. Russian attacks in deep echelons were repulsed yesterday. Tarnopol has been taken and we are drawing near Buczacz, Stanislaw and Nadworna are in our hands. The enemy rear guards were driven off. Front of Archduke Joseph: The troops of the northern wing are moving in alignment with the forces advancing in the Carpathian hills. South of Tatar pass the enemy still holds his positions. In the southern part of the Carpathians the enemy penetrated our lines
