"The answer," says Sergeant Merrill, "is for two men to call out the first one called. This is the only argument that will penetrate the Hunnish cranium," he adds. "I didn't mean to start a recanting speech, but after nearly two years of front line work over here, enduring the sneers of the ignorant and equally uneducated and ignorant of the education as to what might be expected of an American army in modern warfare, I am naturally rejoiced that the change has come and naturally anxious that my own people should make more than good."

MOONSHINER TURNS; WRECKS ILLICIT STILL

(International News Service) GIBSON, Ark., Aug. 23.—Moonshine whiskey is disappearing from the Ozarks. A man regarded as the pioneer moonshiner of this section has voluntarily destroyed his still, gaining copper metal, which has run according to his estimate, 1,000 gallons of liquor since he started his business after the Civil War. Through all the years the still was not found by the "revenuers." Having been converted to prohibition, the moonshiner called his friends and told them he was through. Then he backed up the still and sold the copper junk. His name is being withheld so that he will not be prosecuted by the government.

The banker-farmer thrift movement advocates modern methods of production and conservation in the operation of every American farm. German were about as five to eight, will stand out in history not only as the most momentous of all world's battles but as the most brilliant victory ever achieved by a land force over a superior force. The one blot upon that factual battle was the failure of one British contingent composed of the bravest soldiers badly directed, to do its allotted part and engage Von Kluck's forces as they advanced south of the Marne. The elements of our true war policy are plain. The armies in reserve in England, Italy and Japan should take the responsibility for the western front, while America takes the responsibility of the eastern front. We should take over the task by submarine operations blocking the U-boats at their bases; we should proceed to gain supremacy in the air; we should proceed to build merchant vessels and war-ships for maritime supremacy; as our armies are formed and prepared, we should send them to Russia; we should send a commission and a host of instructors to help organize and drill the armies of China, bearing the expense of instructors ourselves; we should organize and assemble Chinese, Russian and American armies and fleets to cut Russia's way to the Mediterranean so the three great empires can join hands around the world. America should bring together in solid compact the great, sober democracies of the world, whose peoples only ask for safety and peace, for liberty and justice, for operation of the whole brotherhood of man under the common fatherhood of God. This is the march of destiny, the decree of fate written across the sky.

Yankees to Russia Suggests Hobson

Captain Wm. Hank Thoburn Would Have Americans Join The Muscovites. By Richmond F. Hobson. Americans would do the front and rear of the war, a census of the war elements, personnel and material, methods and results, up to date. Only by looking facts in the face can we make effective use of the full resources of the United States in the fourth year of the war just begun. The enemy powers, not counting subject peoples, comprise over one hundred and fifty millions contiguous population, stretching like an iron band without break across the heart of Europe and well on toward the heart of Asia. This vast population occupies an interior position that cleaves the allied population in twain and enjoys railroads (carefully constructed in advance) for concentrating their forces on one front or the other and for quickly transferring them. The facility with which these transfers have been made constitute one of the marvels of military history. The allied powers whose populations are spread out the front and including Asiatic Russia, subject peoples, count in population in the ratio of eight to five. The physical barriers make it practically impossible to transfer allied troops from one front to the other. The enemy populations have maintained a united front from the start. The birth rate in the enemy Powers is very large. An examination of casualty lists shows that the enemy has actually husbanded his man-power. The young men reaching military age since the war began almost, if not completely, make up for the soldiers killed in battle. From the standpoint of personnel in numbers and morale the enemy armies have not yet reached their maximum of strength. In the matter of material the situation is similar. The enemy lands comprises large bodies of the richest and best cultivated agricultural lands in the world. Since the war the enemy has taken over vast wheat fields in Rumania and western Russia, rich farming land in Belgium and France. Throughout the enemy has assembled and husbanded his supplies, while he has hounded and compelled the admiration of the world. The enemy's territory embraces some of the greatest coal fields and iron deposits in all Europe. Since the war the enemy has taken over the mines and industries of Belgium, about half the mines and industries of France, a goodly part of the mines and industries of Russia, the oil fields of Rumania and copper mines scattered in the Balkans. The rigid blockade of the allies has imposed difficulties upon the enemy industries, but the success of enemy science in devising substitutions is almost incredible. We must admit that the enemy powers have successfully met the war problems of maintaining for population at home and soldiers at the front food, clothing, equipment, machines, motive power, artillery, arms and munitions. The fighting gallant France in this way has set the high water mark for all nations for all time. The batter of the Marne, where the French forces compared to the do not feel any worse than the mothers of the poor boys. Most of them will return, and will be forever heroes. They can do lots of good at the front. They are usually bright, educated fellows who have seen a good deal of life, and they can help straighten out things wonderfully.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE DRAFT

Timorous people have feared a great upheaval on the occasion of the draft. They foresaw crowds parading the streets of the cities waving red flags and yelling—Down with the government. Instead of that such draft disturbances as have occurred would be utterly insignificant were they not.

ON THE IDAHO BILL

THE requirement of equal service by the conscription law is going to put some hard problems up to the exemption boards. As far as young married men are concerned, it is a hard question to be decided harder on the rich than on the poor; a condition different from that existing in previous wars.

Sprinkler Arrives—Speed Signs Are Put Up—Golden Wedding Celebrated—Other Live Kimberly News Notes.

KIMBERLY—Kimberly was wide awake with excitement and also in the full sense of the term Monday night, when a large company of suspicious looking characters loomed up, as it were from no place in particular, and made themselves conspicuous by their very presence. They came from no one knew, nor where they went about two hours later. They disappeared as they came, and no one could possibly have satisfied that they were not welcome even though some thirty odd farmers gathered in the course of the evening to witness the proceeding. The word of their presence in the vicinity was scattered by phone and automobile to the farms about Kimberly, and night riders were certainly on the job of patrolling the sections. Kimberly's new night man took care of the town—Nothing further came of the excitement.

Kimberly is soon to be paved city. Aside from nearly all of main street being adorned with new-paved walks any paving yet done in the city.

Material is on the ground for the installation of the new lighting system. Some of the lights have already been installed, but there is a good deal to be done yet. It is expected that the system will be complete by the first of October.

Signs, signifying the limits of the town and specifying the speed limit for automobile and other vehicles of speed being erected today on the four roads that lead into the town.

The signs are to be three by four feet and printed in black and white so as to be easily seen in the distance.

The speed limit is to be fifteen miles and will be rigidly enforced with a fine of $10.00 for the first offense, and $25.00 for the second. Mr. Wilgott stated today that it was the hope of the board that no arrests for speeding would have to be made.

The Economy Basement Idaho Dept. Store ---at the Battle of the Ancre Official British War Pictures (Presented by War Relief Fund, W. K. Vanderbilt President) ONE HOUR OF WAR'S MARVELS that picture every phase and every vital scene in the complete and overwhelming BATTLE OF THE ANCRE. It shows the giant British "TANKS" the colossal war monsters, huge, almost uncanny "fir" appearance, like giant fire-breathing dragons that plunge their maw way through barbed wire entanglements, leap trenches, battle their way through forests, over swamps and into the trenches of the enemy, spitting out their rain of fire; the mighty vanguards of the advancing armies of the allies. No history, however vividly written, could tell of such scenes as those in this picture with the halving eye of the motion picture camera. The advance of the supply trains and troops; the brave soldiers waiting eagerly in the first line trenches eager for the command to charge; then the command and over they go into the maelstrom of war's fury into the enemy trenches, while behind them the giant bowitzers hurling into their curtain of fire beat down the first three lines of defense—it pictures the capture of whole regiments of German troops—scored by diving tanks and artillery while mingled with the triumphal return of the victorious allies.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

NOTICE is hereby given that on Saturday, the 23rd day of September, 1917, a special election will be held in the King Hill Irrigation District, in the state of Idaho, for the purpose of determining whether or not the said district shall enter into a contract with the United States in terms substantially as follows, to-wit:

The United States agrees to expend for the benefit of the district, in the repair, extension and improvement of the irrigation works already in existence, or in the future, in the said works, including costs of surveys and estimates heretofore or hereafter to be made, and including, over- and above, the right of way, real property, damages to property, if any, in the sum of One Million Dollars, or so much thereof as the secretary of the interior shall find necessary, beginning with that part of said works which shall be found most urgent and continuing until the same are in full and completed, and with the purpose of keeping an available supply of water for the irrigation of the lands under cultivation, and to put said lands under cultivation, until the amount herein provided for has been expended, or so much thereof as shall have been appropriated or allotted by the Congress of the United States for that purpose.

The District agrees on its part to pay the United States the sum of One Million Dollars or so much thereon as may be expended in the performance of the work hereinabove specified, including the other charges mentioned in connection therewith; but should congress fail to make the appropriation after the expenditure of the Two Hundred Thousand Dollars already appropriated, the secretary of the interior is to terminate the contract by notice to the district, with a statement of the amount expended, including costs and expenditures aforesaid. And in such an event the amount to be paid by the district to the United States will be the actual amount expended. The amount found to be paid by the United States on the completion of the contract but will be payable in five equal annual installments, the first to become due on December 1, 1921, and one on December 1 of each year thereafter until the whole thereof has been paid, no interest to be paid on deferred payments unless not paid at maturity, and in that event both interest and penalties will be charged.

The district further agrees that the obligations created by the contract shall be the first lien upon the funds, collections, property and resources of the district, and that the district will not incur any obligations prior to those of the contract nor any obligation requiring payment prior to the completion of the payments to the United States without the express consent of the secretary of the interior, except for the cost and expense of the operation and maintenance of the irrigation works, and the maintenance and operation of the district, including the expense of its organization.

To hasten the reclamation of all the irrigable lands of the district and to assure an increase in the needed food supply of the nation, it is provided that all owners of land in the district who have 20 per centum of their holdings under crop in 1921; 40 per centum in 1922; and 60 per centum in 1923, shall have two years to pay the costs and expenditures of the government without interest, paying 8 per centum on each of the first four years; 4 per centum on each of the next two years, and 6 per centum on each of the following fourteen years.

However, any tract having 20 per centum reclaimed in 1921 but not having 40 per centum reclaimed in 1922, shall be allotted the 2 per centum payment due in 1921, but the balance of the bonds appropriated to such tracts shall become due in the five equal annual payments. Any tract shown to be reclaimed in the required 40 per centum on June 15, 1922, and which shall not have 60 per centum reclaimed on June 15, 1923, shall be allowed the 2 per centum installments in 1921 and in 1922 and the balance in five equal annual payments. And any tract reclaimed to the extent of 60 per centum before the end of the five year installments falls due, or any one of them, shall have ten years to pay the balance. The district further agrees to make and proportion the cost of the works and other expenses hereinbefore mentioned ratably according to the benefits upon each tract or legal subdivision or irrigable land within the district, including the taxing power and the power to withhold delivery of water to delinquents, to collect and pay to the United States each and every one of said installments in full on or before the day the same falls due.

The state of Idaho on its part agrees for the sum of One Dollar to execute and place in escrow a good and sufficient deed conveying to the United States all its right, title and interest in and to the King Hill Project, and the extension thereof, including all water rights, filings and appropriations of water and water contracts, to be delivered to the United States as soon as the operation of said projects shall be turned over to the King Hill Irrigation district and not later than the 31st day of December, 1918. The state of Idaho further agrees to continue to operate the project so long as sufficient funds remain from the appropriation made for that purpose by the last legislature of the state of Idaho and until such appropriation is exhausted, but not later than December 31, 1918.

Said election will be held in the divisions or precincts of the King Hill Irrigation District as established by the Board of county commissioners of the County of Owyhee, Idaho, pursuant to the organization of the district.

THE TANKS at the BATTLE of the ANCRE

See these mighty rolling fortresses like immense land battlehips in attack on enemy trenches crossing fields, cutting their way through barbed wire entanglements and stopping at nothing—belching a torrent of fire and steel—leaving a path of destruction.—NO FICTION WOULD THRILL YOU LIKE THIS VISION OF THE WAR THAT AMERICA IS FACING.

"The main point, that we all as Americans will appreciate, these are official government pictures. Every scene is absolutely authentic, no fake, nothing staged."

All scenes, however, of massacred dead have been eliminated.

WAR AS IT IS

Taken under the auspices of the British army while the Battle of Ancre was raging, and the proceeds therefrom devoted to American and British war relief.

When shown to the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, the British Commission, and 4000 leading citizens of New York at Carnegie Hall, these pictures created a sensation, so REALISTIC, so STARTLING were the scenes that many wondered if it was really true.

A 5-part extraordinary feature—the most vivid startling pictorial record ever made of this Titanic struggle.

any conception appears it may be necessary to make slight changes in the boundaries in order to take care of crowded conditions. The following are the boundary lines as fixed last year:

Washington District.

Beginning at the intersection of Sixth avenue north and Shoshone street and running on Sixth avenue north to the intersection of Addison avenue and Cleveland avenue. Running on Cleveland avenue due north to Snake river. Commencing at the intersection of Sixth avenue east and Shoshone street and running on Sixth avenue east to the intersection of Elizabeth avenue and Blue Laker boulevard. Running east on Elizabeth avenue to the limits of the school district. This marks the boundary limits of the Washington school. People who live east of Cleveland avenue and north of Elizabeth avenue will send their children to the Washington school. People who reside at even numbers on Sixth avenue north and odd numbers on Sixth avenue east will send their children to the Washington school.

Lincoln and Bickel Districts. The remainder of the entire school district will be divided between the Lincoln and Bickel schools by a line running on Shoshone street from the intersection of Sixth avenue north and Shoshone to the northwest corner of section 21 and thence south to the limits of the school district. All territory on the high school side of this line will belong to the Lincoln school. All territory on the City Park side of this line will belong to the Bickel school.

Pupils must enroll at the school in the district in which they live. Pupils appear for enrollment at a school outside the boundary lines of the district in which they live, they will be sent to the school inside the boundary lines of their district. If any parent is in doubt relative to the matter of boundary lines, the superintendent will be very glad to take up the matter by telephone, letter or personal call.

Beginning pupils who will be six years old on or before December 15, 1917, may enter school at the beginning of the year, September 10, 1917.

Beginning pupils who will be six years old after December 15 must wait until the beginning of the second semester in January. Children who have never attended school will be admitted to the First B. grade any time up to Monday, October 1, 1917. After October 1, beginning pupils will not be received and will need to wait until the beginning of the second semester in January. Mothers are kindly advised to go with beginning pupils the first day and help in getting them adjusted. This is always a distinct advantage to little children and helps them to get started readily.

All SA grade pupils will be assigned to the high school building. It is found that the Lincoln and the Bickel schools will have no room for this group of children. In enrolling at the high school building on the opening day of school, all SA girls will go to Room 1 and all SA boys will go to room 3. They will be given every advantage and opportunity offered by the high school faculty and organization.

At the opening of school, the teachers will hand out to the children lists containing all books, materials and supplies needed. The prices of these books and supplies will be stated on the lists. The parents will then be able to check up the needs of the children. The parent is advised not to provide his child with books, supplies or materials other than the ones noted on the list. Do not buy the child any more than the list requires. This will aid a great deal in keeping down the cost of school supplies.

The teachers have begun to write in lists of rooming and boarding places. The superintendent will be very glad to have people who desire to room or board teachers list their names with him. This will not only be a service to people who have rooms to rent but it will be a great aid to those teachers who are strangers in the city and who will have some difficulty in getting a room.

The board of Education passed a ruling last year which makes it necessary for the drivers of school wagons to deliver the children to the building where they attend school. The drivers are, also, required to collect the children at the buildings where they are enrolled. This eliminates the need of some children walking across the city.

On account of the teachers' institute being held in the high school building during the week just prior to the opening of school it is impossible to register high school students before Monday, September 10. Registration will take place on the opening day of school. Immediately upon coming to the high school building, all high school pupils will go at once to the auditorium where registration will be conducted under the guidance of the general high school faculty.

A new requirement relative to the number-of-credits-a-student may carry in high school will be insisted on this year. At the year, 1916-17, ago, the number of credits required for graduation was lowered from thirty-two to thirty. This was not done to make it easier for students to graduate from the high school. At makes it possible for the particularly gifted or diligent pupils to meet the requirements for graduation and enter college or practical life in three and a half years. It is not intended that the average or less than average student will be given every opportunity that those who for any reason are retarded in their high school work must spend the full amount of time to earn thirty credits before graduation. In most cases it requires four years to do this and in many cases four and a half or five years are needed to meet satisfactorily the requirements for graduation. The requirement of a total average of 87 per cent in the work of the previous semester is necessary to insure a high quality of work on the part of all students. This is in keeping with the best modern high school theory.

All high school students must purchase the use of a locker in the high school building. This should be done the day of registration. This is $1.00. This fee is returned when the locker is no longer needed and all locks and keys are handed in.

The following is a list of instructors for the year:

- Supervisors—Elizabeth M. Shotwell, elementary grades; Grace A. Bryant, music; Frankie M. Perkins, art and penmanship.
- Principals—Chauncey H. Downman, high school; Rose M. Murray, Bickel; Thea Hewett, Lincoln; Minnie B. Ridenour, Washington.
