Kerensky Falls Before Extreme Pro-German Maximalists Today

COAL THIEVES OF OHIO WILL BE ARRESTED

OFFICIALS JOIN CITIZENS IN STOPPING TRAINS AND BREAKING CARS

Other States Made to Suffer Want

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Majors and other municipal officials of cities and towns throughout Ohio were charged with "wholesale robbery" of coal by the fuel committee today. Discovery of the "thieves" involving the unlawful confiscation of thousands of tons of coal was announced by Mayor F. J. G. ...

COAL MEETING LAST NIGHT GOT SOME RESULTS

BETTER UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN ADMINISTRATORS AND LOCAL DEALERS

Governor Gooding Explains Difficulties

After present supply of coal, bought before reduction of prices, has been disposed of, prices for coal delivered in this city, including drayage, war taxes and all charges, will be raised to the jump coal and 80¢ per ton for other grades, other kinds in proportion. Screening and sorting will be abolished, prompt delivery of plenty of coal will be assured. Steps will be taken to prevent shrinkage. Coal dealers say that there is no profit in the business at this rate, but are not complaining. Regarding it, though hoping for slight concessions. The whole subject was discussed at a meeting of the State Administrator Gooding and District Administrator Guthrie in this city last night.

National Officials Take Charge and Will Prosecute Those Guilty of Offenses Against Transportation Laws

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Majors and other municipal officials of cities and towns throughout Ohio were charged with "wholesale robbery" of coal by the fuel committee today. Discovery of the "thieves" involving the unlawful confiscation of thousands of tons of coal was announced by Mayor F. J. G. ...

Dry Ohio Indicated by Latest Dispatches

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—Complete official returns compiled by the International News Service from every precinct in Ohio show that the state has made the most resounding victory in its history and adopted prohibition by a majority of 2,104 votes. The vote was: For prohibition 517,934; against 515,850.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—Official returns received up to 12:30 p. m. today at the secretary of state's office from eight counties and covered 62 official returns from the same counties show slight gains for the drys in every instance. Election experts in the war department estimate that the drys will be dry by 2,500 on official returns.

WIRES SEIZED BY REVOLUTIONARY ELEMENT—NEW PARTY WANTS IMMEDIATE PEACE AND DIVISION OF ALL THE PROPERTY IN RUSSIAN TERRITORY—DETAILS NOT KNOWN—MUSCOVITE ARMIES WITHDRAWN FROM EASTERN FRONT—WASHINGTON OFFICIALS ADMIT SITUATION IS SERIOUS BUT SAY FIGHT FOR LIBERTY AND DEMOCRACY MUST BE MADE STRONGER THAN EVER—ITALIAN SITUATION IMPROVES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Officials at the Russian embassy said at noon today that they had received information, which they declared was not as yet "official," that the Kerensky government has been overturned and that the Maximalists now are in complete control of Russian affairs.

Other information which reached Washington just before noon indicated that not alone did the Maximalists intend to force a separate peace at once, if they can do so, but that at certain points at least the soldiers who have been confronting the Germans already have quit the trenches. Whether this was under orders from Petrograd or not, is not yet known. Up to noon the state department still was without any information regarding what was going on in Petrograd. It was admitted that if the reports reaching here are true that very important readjustment must immediately be made to meet the situation and to cope with it so far as the entente allies are concerned.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Premier Kerensky's government has been overthrown according to a dispatch today from Petrograd. The Maximalists are declared to be in full control and it is reported that they will immediately sue for a separate peace with Germany. No word reached London of what had happened to Premier Kerensky. One dispatch stated that several members of the provisional government had been arrested. The Maximalists were enabled to overthrow the provisional government. It was said as the result of several Cosack regiments going over to their side. The Cosacks had been expected to support Kerensky, even in an armed clash.

Leon Trotsky who returned to Russia from Austria following the revolution and abdication of the czar, is the leading spirit in the present activities of the Maximalists. The Bolsheviks are the most extreme radicals of Russia, corresponding in many ways to the I. W. O. of this country. They are a branch of the Maximalists that broke away from the slightly less radical groups after the revolution and began at once a determined drive for a separate peace with Germany. They are extremely susceptible to the wiles of German agents, it is understood.

It is not known definitely whether the Bolsheviks are in control of the military forces controlled by the radicals. The Bolshevik manifesto has been issued calling a constituent assembly at once to administer the government. Dispatches say it is planned to distribute it all of the land, to the peasants.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Russia's collapse, indicated by today's cable advice from London, Stockholm, and other sources, has caused the Maximalists at last have dethroned Kerensky and will sue for an immediate separate peace, will not change the war aims or the attitude of the United States toward Germany. This was emphatically made plain in official circles today. It may, probably it will, find out their mistake long ago than it appeared three months ago. It would have to do to "make the world safe for democracy."

ALL READY FOR THE Y. M. C. A. DRIVE HERE

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED TO TAKE CARE OF THE WORK IN TWIN FALLS

No Trouble Anticipated in Raising Money

Next week the active workers in this city will get forth in the great drive in this country in order to secure $500,000 of the country's share of the money needed for the Y. M. C. A. in alleviating the suffering of the men on the front. No difficulty, beyond the minor one of presenting the needs to the people, is anticipated as the character of the assistance rendered by the organization is well known. Locally, the organization leaders are: County committee, W. R. Prober, speaker; committee, Rev. O. Anderson; manager, Hal G. Blue; publicity, Len C. Chapin. The committee heads are George Early, William Eldredge, L. T. Wright, V. H. Decker, E. J. Ostrander, R. P. Logan, C. D. Thomas, J. H. Van Tassel. Under the leadership of President John E. White the thirty-seven heads of the farm bureaus will work in the country.

A banquet held at the Rogerson on Tuesday evening in the interest of the new Y. M. C. A. drive brought together nearly fifty business and professional men from the neighboring cities to hear the plans for the raising of thirty-five millions of dollars in the United States for moral, social and recreational work in our cantonment with our army in France and to assist in organizing and supporting Y. M. C. A. work among the different armies of our allies. The names reported were: Buhl, Flier, Kimberly, Hansen and Rupert. After dinner to the Battle Line Club, E. A. Krusman, southeastern Idaho; E. L. Macvicar, southern Idaho; J. C. Newman, Payette valley.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov. 8.—"I am not able to speak from an official point of view because I have no official notification relating to the revolution," said Ambassador Boris Baklanoff, here in Memphis, today. He showed the opinion that the Kerensky government in Petrograd had been overthrown, "but personally I will tell the good people of America that they can rely on Russia until the end for we are going to stick in this war to bring about democracy and peace."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—"It is now necessary to gather on pre-established lines all the Italian armies and the Franco-English forces, which are being hurried to our front," said a dispatch received today from Rome. The dispatch further says there is a "great battle after the events of the past twelve days are gradually changing in favor of Italy."

TIGER TAKES NEW YORK AT CITY ELECTION

HYLAN GETS MORE VOTES THAN MITCHELL AND HILL—QUIT IN THE CITY

Socialist Was Third in the Contest

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Democracy's candidate, Judge John P. Hyland today stood elected to the majority of the greater New York by the biggest plurality ever granted to any man in the city's history.

With all election districts in the democratic candidate's plurality over Mayor John P. Mitchell, his nearest opponent was 145,536. Previously the largest plurality ever given a candidate was four years ago when Mitchell carried the city by 121,209.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Political workers from the metropolises (New York) who were at Camp Gordon and watched closely the voting of the city of New York men in that cantonment was as follows: Hyland 700; Hillquit 450; Mitchell 300.

Hun Alarmed Over U. S. in Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Official interest in the United States today is centered on Paris, where on the 15th of the month the most momentous conference in the world will commence. Officials decline to discuss the instructions given to Colonel E. M. House, American plenipotentiary in France, who heads the American delegation.

Patriotism's Triumph Pleased Governor Cox

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—In a telegram to President Wilson, Governor Cox this afternoon said: "In the local campaign in this state which has been so spirited up in many years the only articulate opposition to the adopted policies of the nation came from the socialists. It is more gratifying to advise you that they are hopelessly defeated everywhere and every community has expressed its support of you."

LOWEST T-BOAT TOLL AROUNDMENT YET

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Last week saw the lowest toll in the history of the British ships sunk by German submarines. The admiralty announced that twelve ships, eight or more than 1,000 tons were lost. The lowest toll was the week of September 20, when 13 ships were sunk.

American Roads Want More Money

Railroads Say That The War Costs Have Made It Impossible to Get-Customer-Will-Finance Favors Rate.

(U. S. Sen. Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—American railroads cannot meet the war needs of the nation under existing rates. This is the main declaration today at the eastern trunk line and New England railroads...

Gross earnings for the first nine months of the present year have increased $123,750,000 but expenses have risen 168,434,000, leaving a deficit of $75,281,000. George Suller, Patterson counsel for the railroads, announced that the war has increased costs of coal, materials and labor...

Estimates of the new level of costs, presented by the eastern carriers, show that "any estimates" place the level of cost at $235,000,000 a year, but that the present level is $154,500,000 over the previous year. Not return on property investment for the year fell from 5.52 per cent to 5.71 per cent.

Labor is a serious problem, the carriers contend. They allege that the new cost law adds the carriers' load of $36,000,000 a year, while advances in classes of labor other than that affected by the Adman law have increased the pay rolls $60,000,000.

While Rogerson feels his loss deeply, we are proud of the step he has taken. He was a lucky number in the first selective draft, and to the call was answered "Here" without a murmur.

The Commercial club showed their esteem for him as a man and their appreciation of the stand he is taking to maintain his country's honor, by presenting him a beautiful gold watch. He registered in Juribee so will meet the boys in Elkes on route to Camp Lewis on American Lake, Washington to await further orders.

Denny Hogue Sought by His Brother

Peter Hogue of Hoffland, Nebraska Wants Information Regarding Long Lost Relative.

Hoffland, Neb., October 27, 1917.

The Commercial Club, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Dear Sir:

I have lost track of a brother for about forty years. His name was Denny Hogue. I heard there was a man by that name residing in a hotel in Twin Falls. Please inquire if he is my brother and have him write me. Yours respectfully,

PETER HOGUE, Hoffland, Neb.

The above communication was turned over to the TIMES today by Secretary J. Stubbs of the Twin Falls Commercial club, who says that his search for Mr. Hogue has proven unavailing. If anyone among the readers of the TIMES knows Mr. Hogue, he will doubtless furnish the information required to his brother, if not, the TIMES will be glad to forward anything bearing on the case.

WAR AND THANKSGIVING

There is a curious irony in Thanksgiving festivities while a nation is at war. In almost every home there will be at least one empty chair but it is perhaps just this situation which will draw more closely together the ties of family affection. Commenting on this condition, a writer in the November issue of Good Housekeeping says: "Let us try, first of all, to collect a 'fit' family. Find someone who would otherwise have to sit down to some lonely table. Recognize we must in every way conceivable. It is possible, however, to plan and execute our own menu with such cunning art that the economies will never be suspected." Here is a suggestion: Fried vegetable soup, roast turkey, giblet stuffing, fried apple garnish, Baked squash, creamed turnip, mince-tort and peas, cranberry sauce, Home-made plentilish, canberry sauce, Rings of onion bread, Cold slaw, Russian dressing, crisp General Taylor's pudding, cranberry sauce, Old-fashioned pumpkin pie, apple Tart, cheese Canned orange peel Coffee

Every item in the foregoing may be prepared inexpensively and after the showing how, the author even suggests economical carving. To quote: "When serving, carve slices and serve without the bones. What is left on the platter may be used in soup."

In connection with this article, a message, published in the same issue, from Herbert Hoover, is of genuine interest. "The Thanksgiving dinner this year should be festive, but not ornate. The dinner should be one real Thanksgiving even for the mother who prepares and serves the dinner herself. Thanksgiving would not be Thanksgiving without a chicken or turkey or without cranberries in some form. Potatoes and other vegetables there should be. Corn-meal bread is suggested and a

Food Destruction Conspiracy Charged

Immense Pile of Vegetables Sold to be Left to Rot, Road Said to Keep Food Stuffs on Our Tons Long.

(U. S. S. Lensed Wire) CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Federal and state authorities today are investigating what is believed to be a gigantic conspiracy to destroy food by the railroad and to keep it out of the Chicago market so that prices of certain commodities might not come down. The investigation was started when a huge mound of fruit and vegetables was found in the yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway at West Chicago.

First Deputy Wesley Westbrook of the Chicago police department, today said to investigate reports that food was being dumped in great quantities at Blue Island and Clearing. Westbrook declared he had photos of great piles of onions and potatoes rotting in the provision yards, covered with oil and acids to hurry the decay.

He also is investigating a report that full 300 cars containing food are being hauled back and forth along the railroad tracks without being unloaded.

slate. The wedding day had been set before she "left" and her mother was alive and the latter had the pleasure of attending the ceremony, which was held in Carthage, Mo.—Mrs. Shellenback will visit her mother in this city in a couple of months.

The only cloud to mar the pleasure of the reunion was the fact that Virgil was called away before his mother could meet him, so that they only met in spirit and by letter.

Mrs. Truesdale says that she enjoyed the trip very much, but says she is glad to be back in the Idaho climate after observing the cold weather back in the Mississippi valley. She has lived here eight years and has been accustomed to good weather.

Dream of Sister Led to Their Discovery

Mother Arrived in Time to See Daughter, Grown to Womanhood, Married to a Merchant in Galena, Kansas.

Separated for seventeen years from children whom she supposed were dead, Mrs. A. P. Truesdale of this city was happily reunited to them three months ago and has just returned from a trip on which she witnessed the wedding of her daughter.

began to recover. Under the conditions then existing, the mother felt that it was better to let the people adopt them and write a letter to that effect. A short while later word was received by her that the nursery had been burned and that the matron and her three children had been burned in it. This was followed by further illness and when the stricken woman recovered she felt that she would never be able to go to Springfield again. The facts in the case were that her letter granting privilege of letting the children be adopted had been received by the matron a couple of days before the nursery burned and the children were gone, so that it was other children who had lost their lives in the fire. All records of the institution were burned. The people who had the children, other did not know that they were the ones supposed to be burned, or did not know, or try to ascertain, where their mother was, she suffered for all the intervening years. The oldest boy, Virgil, was seven years old. He was taken by a family residing but four miles from where his brother and sister were living, but did not know it and did not see them for six years, when, as a kid of thirteen, he determined to find them and did so. They had no idea of where their mother was and supposed her dead. They left Springfield long ago and all have secured a good education and made good.

As years went by, Mrs. Truesdale's sister, Mrs. D. E. Deal, of Kansas City, began to doubt the truth of the circumstantial story of their death. The impression grew on her that they were alive. She dreamed about it, and finally instituted a search, which after some effort resulted in finding them. Virgil had joined the national

The Franklin Car
Three Times As Many People Are Now Buying Franklin Cars

"AMERICANS," said a foreign critic, "know the price of everything and the value of nothing."

That was before our entry into the War. Today it is a different story.

The past few months have developed a remarkable understanding of the National duty to curb needless waste and extravagance.

A typical illustration is the change in standards of judging and buying a motor car.

Only a short time back a car had to be everything but practical to attract the average motorist.

He wasn't interested in upkeep because his eye was on ponderous mechanism.

Gasoline didn't worry him because he was comparing wheel-bases.

Tire economy was not in his mind because he was judging freezing mixtures for an unnecessary water-cooling system.

And getting rid of his old car at a fire-sale price for a model of another make he figured was part of the game.

Today economy—both in gasoline and tires—is being forced on the attention of the motorist. By rising costs by Government officials, by newspapers and magazines the problem is before the motorist daily.

What is he to do?

He is looking for a way out—some way to cut his cost in half and maintain his mileage.

He must get down to fact and figures. Know what the car he intends buying will actually do on a gallon of gasoline and a set of tires. Take into consideration the depreciation each year. And turn his back on pleasing phrases and tempting "claims."

There's less mystery than one thinks about this economy problem. A car has thrift or it hasn't. Something "in between" is like the proverbial "something just as good."

An unflinching gauge of the worth of any fine car today is the way it is selling today.

Touring Car	2280 lbs.	$2050.00	Runabout	2160 lbs.	Four-pass. Roadster	2280 lbs.	$2050.00
Carbulet	2485 lbs.	2850.00	Sedan	2610 lbs.	Breakdown	2575 lbs.	2900.00
Twin Car	2610 lbs.	3200.00	Limestone	2620 lbs.

Now what are the sales facts about the Franklin?

The present and next building schedule of Franklin Cars will not catch up with orders on hand. Franklin Cars are being built at a rate of three times as many as a year ago and the public demand still continues to exceed production.

The Franklin Car was bound to become more popular each year, even in normal times. The war, forcing utility and economy before everything else, quickened this movement.

Today, as for fifteen years, the Franklin Car stands as the most practical, efficient and economical fine car in America.

Just consider the significance of the National Efficiency Test of 179 Franklin Cars on July 13th, 1917. Over all sorts of roads, in weather partly fair and partly rainy, these cars recorded at 179 different points in the United States the remarkable average of 40.3 miles to the single gallon of gasoline.

This record shows what the Franklin does under standard efficiency test rules. The practical motorist might ask himself what any other make of car can do along the same lines. Such a comparative test offers a standard which owner operation can modify in the same respect against one car and another.

High gasoline mileage means economy all along the line. It takes no expert to know that if a car is overburdened with heavy weight and undergoing constant wear and tear the gasoline tank will tell it by low mileage.

Take tires. For five years Franklin owners have been reporting their individual tire mileage. The average for this five-year period is 10,203 miles.

Now compare the annual depreciation of the average fine car with the Franklin. Look over the daily used-car advertisements and visit the places selling used-cars. It's a rare case when you find the Franklin. If you do—why is it quoted so high?

There is something here for every motorist to think about—and these are days when a motorist has to think if he wants to ride.

THE BEAR WHIPPERS

No one will be really surprised, however much he may be disgusted and disappointed by today's news that Russia is seeking separate peace with Germany. With it comes the word, not official, that the Kerensky government had been, or was being, overthrown and that fighting in the streets of Petrograd was momentarily expected.

It is useless to speculate on the result of this development. In fact, it is safe even to assume that the present apparent conditions in Russia will have permanent governmental revolutions, throughout all history, have been attended with more or less violence, bloodshed and anarchy. There was never a reason to expect that Russia, in mass most abjectly ignorant and superstitious, would escape. That the end is yet to be the hand of military and peasant anarchists (they miscall themselves socialists) who have succeeded Kerensky, if he is indeed overthrown, will afford the Kaiser any material assistance, is not at all to be expected. Russia has for months been effeminated as a factor in the fighting. All Germany will shout over the news that she seeks a separate peace; but, for the present at least, the opportunity to shout will be about all she gets out of it. The Turkish nation has no longer the right to be called "the sick man of Europe."

FORWARD OR BACKWARD?

Good roads alone may truthfully be said to have saved Paris from all France from going under the heel of Prussian militarism at the Kaiser's first onset. For it was the good roads of France that enabled the army of Paris, with all its artillery and munitions, to get upon the ground soon enough to help win the battle of the Marne—helping itself without cash and every element of strength that helped to win it.

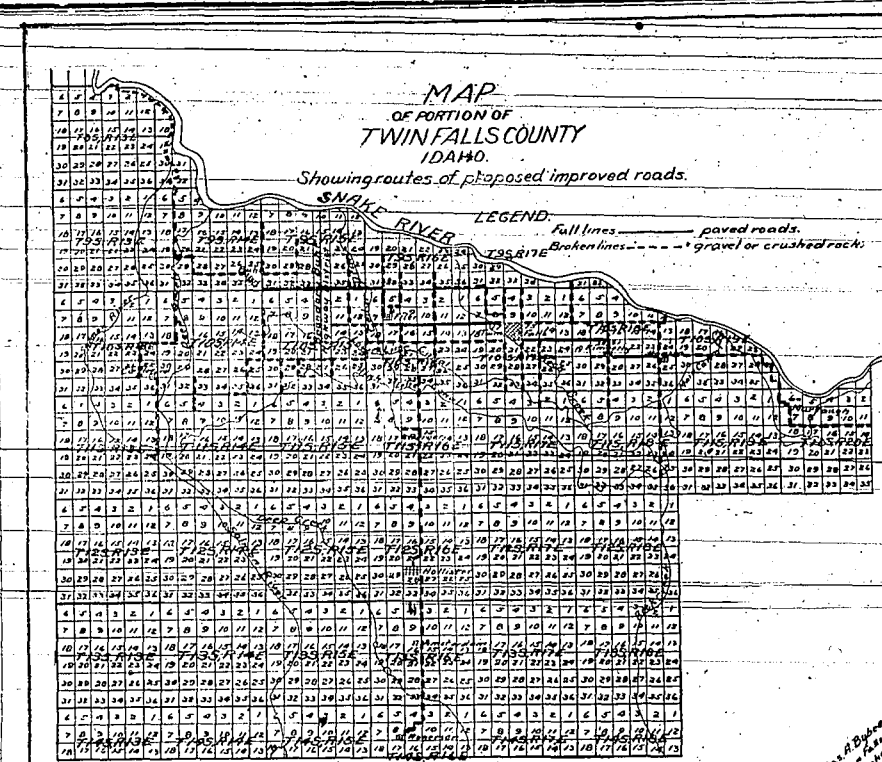

In our Southern Idaho can hardly expect great armies and armaments to be facilitated or delayed by the condition of our public roadways. But we in Southern Idaho constitute an important part of the great American farm from which not only our own, but other armies and other nations must be fed. The labor of at least 100 people at the rear, it is said, is required to maintain one man on the firing line, supplied with food, clothes, arms and munitions. Everything that makes for efficiency here must make both for numbers and efficiency there. But good roads are not only a patriotic need, for the nation's welfare in the present time of stress or at any time; they are also of the greatest importance to ourselves, both for convenience and for economy. The question is before the people of this county, shall we live them now, or shall we continue to suffer from indefinite delay? And this is an important question—the burning question, for us, of the hour.

Every opportunity is being given for the most thorough and full understanding of it as it is proposed to be done, how and where. On the same page of this paper will be found a map, showing in heavy lines just where road improvement is proposed, and of what character. Elsewhere, action of committees, holding the same information—all of which locations will be absolutely binding upon this board or its successors, should the bonds carry.

Whatever happens, this bond election should not be permitted to go either way, by default. It is not opposition so much as apparent lack of interest that appears to the TIMES dangerously to rule the situation. Bring every neighborhood and every family to thinking and talking about the matter; the battle is won. The next of good roads is too great and the proposition too self-evident a wise and economic one for it to be otherwise in an intelligent and progressive community like ours. The only real question for the voter to settle, each for himself, is the one indicated by the caption of this article, "Forward or Backward?"

THE MITCHELL DEFEAT

After-election rages are common as pig tracks, and the man who can tell you some fellow was beaten, or "who struck Billy Patterson," is as omnipresent as he is inoffensive. On the other hand, the fellows who can tell before hand why the candidate on the opposing ticket will be beaten are "thick as hair on a dog's back." But the man who before election can calmly point out the weaknesses of a man whom he is enthusiastically supporting which are likely to lead to his defeat is at least worthy of consideration. The New York Nation supported Mayor Mitchell persistently through his first nomination through his first campaign, through his administration and through the campaign which closed Tuesday, in its issue of October 22, President O. G. Villard, in a two page article, in favor of the re-election of the mayor, proceeded to cation point out the forces at work which rendered such election doubtful, and which had the effect predicted. Villard declared in this article that Mitchell was the best mayor that the city had seen in recent years; that he had advanced the interests of the city immeasurably; that he had brought a statesmanlike vision to the handling of many questions of far-reaching importance; that he had given a marvelous exhibition of moral courage; that he was scrupulously honest; that he made a splendid presiding officer in introducing foreign delegates; that the interests of the plain people had been considered as never before; that the city was better policed, its charities better managed, its schools, tenements, regulations and prisons all successfully conducted under efficient and honest management; and that it would be impossible to exaggerate the misfortune of his defeat.

In summing up the forces for Mitchell the article said: "If he succeeds it will be a victory for the prosperous elements, for the well-to-do property owners, for what are known as the 'cultured classes.' Big business is behind him to a man, the captains of industry, like Judge Gary of the United States Steel Corporation have the profoundest respect for him. He will get every vote in the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' association, and the City and University clubs." Villard adds: "But he will lose many on the teeming east side, where poverty and wealth flourish side by side and where, it is admitted today, he will run far behind the Tammany and Socialist candidates. Throughout the city there is one group after another excited to see the vote solidly against him, because there is this one great defect of his leadership, that he cannot impress upon the city's plain people the fact that he thinks and works for them."

In tracing the sources of this unpopularity, Villard classifies the causes under three heads. He attributes to bad luck, the failure to carry the Republican primary in a fight made under the direction of untrustworthy leaders; the indictment of a trusted friend for alleged frauds regarding city lands; the effect of unspoken attacks on Germany long before war was declared; the beating administered by his police to Jewish women at the city hall during the bread riots at a time when the mayor was ill, and the fact that he was in an auto accident in a Vanderbilt car, which focused attention on his associations with the rich. Under the head of tactlessness Villard cited the undue prominence given to capitalism of industry at public receptions; the allowing of his name to appear so frequently in society notices of Newport and the homes of the Four Hundred, especially when he failed to make visits to the east side to get in personal contact with the people there and learn their wants; his first rapid, an omission that in some cases allowed real grievances to remain unrecruited; the failure to join with Hillquit in a joint statement favoring woman's suffrage, although a supporter of it personally and above all, the adoption of an attitude which permitted Hillquit to play the role of a martyr, by refusing the Socialist candidate the right to speak on the court house steps, although he exercised that right himself. Blunders of a more serious character, due to lack of careful supervision, Villard found to be the adoption without sufficient investigation of the original plan for the Riverside drive and the Eleventh avenue railway; and a similar failure in the case of real estate purchases at Coney Island and Rockaway. These things, Villard urges, happened through no personal dishonesty on the part of the mayor, but because he trusted others too implicitly, but they were capable of being more effectively used by the magnificent organization of Tammany and the credit he gave to the Socialists. The yielding to the more impetuous demands of speech suppression, is another blunder emphasized by Villard who mentions the resentment caused by the mayor's action in breaking up legitimate public meetings held on the street to protest against the misgovernment of Ireland. His police commissioner, Arthur Woods, had laid down the proper policy for handling these and the anti-war meetings, but the mayor yielded to the demand of our extreme militarists and Imperialists, and so we had the spectacle of police cars being driven into crowds and orators arrested for speeches that were unrecruited and were infinitely less hostile to the British government than the mayor used to make before he took office." Lastly, Villard holds that the introduction of the issue of Americanism under the circumstances attending its introduction was a mistake, and the cry that a vote against Mitchell was a pro-German vote, proved a boomerang, that was resented by many who hated the Kaiser and all his works.

The article assumed that it was speaking of things within the common knowledge of all men in New York, and revealed a condition of affairs locally which as the event proved, more than warranted the statement that "the best mayor the city has had in recent times appears at this writing to have only a fighting chance to succeed himself."

NEGATIVE COMFORT IN NEW YORK CITY ELECTION

It is not often that sincere patriots can get a crumb of comfort out of a sweeping Tammany victory, but friends of the American republic breathed more freely Tuesday night when the news was flashed over the wires that all possibility of the election of Morris Hillquit, the anti-American, pro-German candidate, had been eliminated. That all of his opponents considered his election as a serious possibility and that many veteran judges of practical politics believed he would win was a consideration of the gravest importance. Had he been elected, his triumph would have heightened the Kaiser more than anything that occurred since the republic of the Marne stopped his victorious march through France. It is a matter of congratulation that the vote showed that Hillquit was never really in the race and that his claims were based on the attachment of friends and the tears of foes.

It will be remembered that just before the declaration of war a great socialist conference was called to discuss the question of war, and though a state of war virtually existed at the time, this unpatriotic body resolved against the defense of its rights by this country, but submitted the question of war or peace to a referendum vote of the party, or rather of that portion of the party paying regular dues. Morris Hillquit was the leader of this unpatriotic move, which was opposed by Allen Benson, the Socialist nominee for president in 1916, by Charles Edward Russell, by John Spargo and the ablest intellectual and leaders in the organization. The very submission to a vote of the question whether a party within a nation would support it when defending its rights, was itself morally treasonable, and the great majority of even the dues-paying party members took no part in the fight. The pro-German element all voted, and carried the anti-war recommendations by a big majority of the vote cast after war was an actuality. Benson, Russell, Spargo and many other leaders withdrew from the organization. Their only error consisted in their failure to refuse to take part in the voting at all. It was not a case of conscientious objection, for the man who is opposed to participation in war on conscientious grounds does not wait for a referendum vote for a portion of the political party to determine whether he should participate or not. Since that time Hillquit has ever been a sturdy opponent of the United States in its conduct of the war and has dutifully insisted with a certain smoothness and success that La Follette has not been able to imitate that this country was all in the wrong.

As far as Hyman is concerned, he comes in under some suspicion. Of course, the campaign just closed has been distinguished by the slinging of oceans of mud, but it is quite clear that Hyman has always been a Tammany worker under the domination of Murphy. Martin Van Buren, noted only as a tricky politician, when elevated to the presidency made good under circumstances of extraordinary difficulties, so the case of Hyman is not hopeless. He may arise to the occasion, in spite of lugubrious outlook. His patriotism was seriously called in question. Two years ago, sixteen months before the war broke out, as a judicial candidate, he not only appealed to the German voters on account of alleged sympathy for their nationality, and this with the support of the New York Journal and the Examiner furnished Mitchell with his campaign cry of "Heart, Hyman and Helen Lorenz." On the other hand, since the war broke out he has declared himself for the United States and denied, with plausibility at least, that the adver-

Phase B Married—At the court house at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, Robert Cook, a Buhl rancher and Miss Winnie DeBoard, of Buhl. They were accompanied by immediate relatives and friends of both parties. They will reside on a ranch near Buhl. Walter E. Harman was the officiating minister.

L. B. S. A. Lecturer Coming—The people of Twin Falls and vicinity will be favored by another lecture given under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association. W. A. Baker, V. D. M. of Portland, will address the public at the Isis theatre Tuesday evening, November 20.

Brackett Enters School—The war is causing such a tremendous demand for motor car and tractor workmen, that many of our young men and some of the older ones as well, are taking President Wilson's advice and getting an education before it is too late. Mr. J. A. Brackett has just entered Idaho's Auto and Tractor school of Kansas City, Mo., where he will take a thorough technical and mechanical course in automobile and tractor engineering. Mr. Brackett will return to Twin Falls as soon as he graduates and open a garage and repair shop where will be run a strictly scientific basis.

Vote for better roads in Twin Falls county—'God knows the roads 'em. The Great Question before the people of this city and county today is one of progress, or immobility. And in the world of today, when progress is the rule, to stand still means virtually to go backward. On another page will be found a sectional map of Twin Falls county showing plainly, in heavy black lines, the two hundred miles of roadway which will be improved and made the basis of a complete good roads system—provided enough people shall vote "yes" at the Road-Bond Election to be held on Saturday, November 17. It does not really seem possible that this so great an opportunity for so vital an improvement, can be neglected on an immense scale. Great danger, however, lies in possible neglect—in failure, on the part of those who would vote yes, to vote at all. "One vote isn't going to make any difference," says or thinks the person to whom going to the polls means some degree of inconvenience. Don't you believe it! There will be nothing in the ballot box but single votes. Put yours there and do anything within your power to see that your neighbor does the same. To fail to carry this election in favor of good roads will mean indefinite years of bad ones—and roads in Southern Idaho are like the hitch girl with her hair—what they are had they are hard!

Error in Account—An error in the writup of the funeral of W. F. Puckett, stated that Mrs. C. B. Blagoe, of this city was absent from the funeral. It was Mrs. Fisher, of Grassy, Colorado, who was unable to be present.

The Advisory Board of representative citizens have agreed to share with the county commissioners the duties of responsibilities of road construction, in case the bonds carry, pledge themselves especially to see that the county gets one hundred cents for every dollar expended.

Following the requirements of the law, the county commissioners, in their proceedings, published elsewhere herewith, have exactly specified every rod of the almost two hundred miles of county roadway which it is proposed to make into year-round good roads, should the bonds carry. Read, and compare with the map, above shown heron, and you will know all about it.

Twin Falls Young People Merry—On Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. C. E. Booth, Mr. Marshall, of Hobson and Miss Ruby Virginia Booth were united in marriage. The Rev. O. T. Anderson, pastor of the Baptist church of this city, officiated. Only the families of the bride and groom and a few of their friends were present. After the ceremony, a sumptuous dinner was beautifully served by the hostess. The young people left on the evening train for "Pocatello" and other points where they will spend a few days before returning to Twin Falls. The bride is well known in the city among the young people. The groom formerly lived here but recently has been appointed as electrical engineer.

Closing Out Sale—Because he has sold his ranch, George Evans, who lives a mile north and half a mile east of the north end of Shoshone street, will put on a closing sale starting after free lunch on Thursday, November 15, at which time, under the conductors of Colonel H. B. Lue, he will dispose of two horses, ten head of cattle, ten head of hogs and all his farm implements and household furniture, besides a lot of canned fruit.

Come Early for Portraits

You will find in our advertising this autumn very little reference to the splendid suitability of photographs for Christmas gifts. So many thousands of the people of the Twin Falls county are sending more and more photographs each holiday time and we feel it is really superfluous for us to discuss the chrym of the most personal of all gifts—your own photograph. And we shall not talk about the economy of sending photographs either for most every one knows that a truly fine portrait costs no more than anything else equally worth while.

The Most Personal of all Gifts—Your Own Photograph

For we are convinced that our holiday business will be all that we can possibly handle; therefore, we have but this one thing to say concerning Christmas portraits—Come early—Come early.

It has heretofore been embedded in Miss Clark's most popular picture, now comes "Babe's Dairy," picture starring Mary Roberts Rinehart's famous "Sub-Deb" stories, said to be even better. It is a production starring this popular young lady that will get you from the start and hold your attention to the finish, provoking smiles, chuckles and laughs, and gaining your unqualified approval. It commences Thursday at the Idaho and continues throughout the week. Had an Imaginary Sweetheart? Imagine a vivacious young girl at boarding school who has an imaginary sweetheart. She simply had a crush—became a devotee—parents were paying too much attention to the older sister who was about to be married. So Babe invents a sweetheart. You can't blame duty "Bab," but you can appreciate her predicament, after she has succeeded in worrying the life out of her parents, when a prankish friend introduces an actor into the family as "Bab's sweetheart." "He can't be real," exclaims Bab, "because I made him up!" A little thing like that, however, couldn't dampen the dauntless spirit of Bab. But her efforts to exultate herself from the situation are exceedingly funny, and she seems to get in worse with every move. Will Ask President Wilson To Give Him Job—Administration Silent On New York.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Friends of Major John Mitchell of New York City, defeated yesterday for reelection, today were working here to line up in an effort to have the mayor named to federal office without delay.

It was impossible to learn how the administration stood on the proposition. The White House was dumb on the New York election result, and no cabinet members would say anything about it for publication.

(International News Service)
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 8—With the placing of orders for 25,000 pounds of turkey for Thanksgiving dinner for all the soldiers in the Southern Department of the army all records were broken. In fact, dealers claim "it will have the effect of advancing the price of turkeys about three cents a pound."

On a basis of 250,000 men of the army being in camp and barracks in the Southern Department on Thanksgiving it was estimated that 29,000 gobblers would be required to feed them. Every soldier is allowed sixteen ounces of edible turkey, which means bones and gristle are excluded.

American Mission Arrives in Paris

Nothing Involves but a War Conference With a View of Speedy End to Conflict.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The state department late this afternoon announced the arrival of the American mission to Paris conference at a British port. The representatives of the United States are Edward M. House, who is accompanied by...

There will undoubtedly be an effort to avoid any conflict of interests among the participants, and there is every reason to anticipate that the result will be a fuller co-operation and consequently a much higher efficiency and a more vigorous prosecution of the war.

Through the resources of this country are vast and though there is every purpose to devote them all, it is need be, to winning the war, they are not without limit. But even if they were greater they should be used to the highest advantage in attaining the supreme object for which we are fighting.

Official announcement of the arrival in England and France of the American mission—the Russian mission was far from that marks a new milestone in American history. This mission has a most important part to play in the war which will participate in a conference in Paris at which the entire aims of the war will come under scrutiny.

The administration requested that speculation in the objects of the conference be withheld and confined strictly to the official announcements on the subject. It is, however, possible at this time to say nothing concerning the co-operation of the United States conference that might have caused damage if published here.

Germany of Turkey. But it later developed that the allied nations had used the fact that the United States was not represented in a most dangerous way. German agents in various places in the allied countries, especially in the Scandinavian countries, Switzerland and Spain, sent forth propaganda that the United States was not only not represented in the conference but also could profit thereby.

These various rumors were utilized in the most effective manner. In a way that threatened to cause great damage to the allied cause. As an instance, Sinn Fein leaders in Ireland utilized the fact that the United States did not take part in the conference to support stories that the United States was backing the Sinn Fein leaders and would support the establishment of a new Irish republic. The facts were presented to President Wilson and after a series of conferences with

To Any Woman—For 75c This Big Aluminum Cereal Cooker

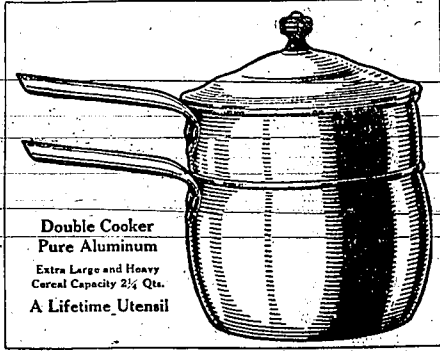

We make this One-Week Offer to Housewives here who have not had this Cooker. The cost of Aluminum has doubled. Cooker prices have enormously advanced. But, in fairness to those who missed it last year, we repeat this Offer.

Cookers Supplied To a Million Homes

We have supplied Quaker Cookers to a million homes at very little prices. But the cost has advanced until our offer is almost impossible.

Our grocers tell us that many housewives missed our former offer. They are using Quaker Oats and Pettijohn's and they want this Aluminum Cooker. In fairness, they should have it.

So we renew this offer for next week only—it applies only to housewives whom we have not supplied already. It applies only to users of Quaker Oats or Pettijohn's, or both. It means twice as much as this Offer meant two years ago. Get this Cooker next week if you are entitled to it. You owe that to yourself.

Double Cooker Pure Aluminum Extra Large and Heavy Cereal Capacity 2 1/2 Qt. A Lifetime Utensil

To Rightly Cook Two Famous Dishes

We want every user of Quaker Oats and Pettijohn's to cook these cereals rightly. Right cooking makes them doubly delightful. It keeps the flavor intact. It makes them easy to digest.

This Aluminum Cooker has been made to order to meet exact requirements. It is extra large, so little or much can be cooked in it. It is extra heavy, made to last a lifetime.

This Cooker will next week cost you only 75c, if you send us the trademarks we ask for. This is a costly offer. And we simply want to know, before sending the Cooker, that you are a Quaker Oats or Pettijohn's user.

This Offer One Week Only

Send us two trademarks (picture of Quaker) cut from the fronts of two packages of Quaker Oats. Or, if you prefer, send one trademark from a Quaker Oats package and one trademark (picture of bear) cut from the front of one package of Pettijohn's. Send us 75c with these trademarks and we will mail the Cooker by parcel post. Trademarks must be mailed next week. This offer applies to the states of Utah, Southern Idaho and Wyoming only. Address

The Quaker Oats Company, 1708 Railway Exchange, Chicago

Quaker Oats

Which Saves You 75%

Measured by food value, Quaker Oats costs one-fourth as much as the average mixed diet. So each dollar you spend for Quaker Oats saves an average of $3. Oats stand supreme among grain foods, in nutrition and in flavor. They form a complete food, supplying every need. As an energy food their fame is proverbial.

Make this the chief breakfast dish. Meat and eggs cost five and six times as much. Also use Quaker Oats in bread and muffins, pancakes and cookies. No other food is so economical.

Use Quaker Oats because of the matchless flavor. It is made of queen grains only—just the big, plump, luscious oats. We get but 10 pounds from a bushel. Yet it costs you no extra price.

Pettijohn's

The Laxative Luxury

Pettijohn's Breakfast Food is soft rolled wheat, hiding 25 per cent bran flakes. It is a savory dainty of which no one ever tires. And it supplies the needed bran. Bran is Nature's laxative. Everybody needs it. Most folks would feel better if they ate it every day.

Fine foods clog the system. Bran supplies the needed roughage. Every doctor, as you know, urges its use, to avoid the need of drugs.

Try it one week. Note the good spirits which result. Never again will you return to a branless diet.

Pettijohn's Flour is another bran dainty. That is 75 per cent white patent flour and 25 per cent bran flakes. Use like Graham flour in any recipe. With these two products every meal can include some bran-made dainty.

NEGATIVE COMFORT IN NEW YORK CITY ELECTION

(Continued From Page 6) tions referred to indicated sympathy for Germany as against the United States. During the campaign he declared himself for the administration, when the issue was raised, but asserted that local issues should be paramount in a municipal contest.

Certainly no traitor, disloyalist, pro-German or other hyphenated enemy of America or American principles can get any comfort out of the following ringing declaration of sound "Americanism" issued by Judge Hyland yesterday in which he pointed out that he was elected on the specific personal pledge that he would stand by President Wilson and the successful prosecution of the war.

"I want to make it plain to the world that there was no issue of Americanism or loyalty involved, no far as was concerned. There could be none for I am as good an American as any man, as loyal to the flag, as loyal to my country, and as firm and determined in support of every act of the government in this war as any man."

Wilson and the United States government are in the slightest way involved.

My first utterance in this campaign to a question put by a reporter was that I stood uncompromisingly behind the president in support of the acts and policies of my country and that the war must be fought to a conclusion which would bring an honorable peace to America."

COAL MEETING LAST NIGHT

(Continued From Page 1) responded, so, as a result, a priority has been declared and cars must now be furnished for the Utah and Wyoming mines. Not only that but the states which have combined are putting up $500 a month to supervise delivery and see that the order is enforced. A traffic bureau under the management of a former traffic manager of the D. & R. G. with a corps of competent assistants has been hired to see that every car will be kept track of so that the coal administration can toll every day just where it is. This machinery will be in operation at once and the situation relieved. Governor Gooding said that he realized that a mistake had been made in allowing a $2 margin on the Twin Falls traffic, which allowed only 75 cents for hauling. This was the rate elsewhere throughout the state, but three draymen charged a dollar here; he did not believe that the coal margin should be compelled to stand the loss out of their own pockets. While the order had already been made, the justice of the plea in this case was so evident and the matter so urgent, he would take it upon himself, with the co-operation of District Manager Guthrie to allow the raise, feeling sure it would be endorsed by Dr. Garfield. The coal minister said that the drayage should be entirely segregated from the coal business, that a flat rate should be put on at the bin and the question of hauling be eliminated. Governor Gooding promised to consider this, although he said that he doubted whether this could be done, or should be done, and that he further questioned whether any further raise for a margin above $2.25, instead of $2 would be possible. Those who have coal on hand, purchased before the order went into effect are allowed to sell it on the original basis. Governor Gooding added that he desired to know just how much coal was on hand, and unless coal men reported, he would be compelled to get the information by sending out bookkeepers at a heavy expense to find out. The coal minister promised co-operation. He said that he had appointed seven others to try to get the data necessary to make the matter up with operators and make them "come through."

ALREADY FOR Y. M. C. A.

(Continued From Page One) tion dollars. He said that Idaho's share was eighty-five thousand dollars. He had no doubt that it could be raised and would be raised, but said that the difficulty would consist in our people feeling that it could be raised without their personal assistance. He stated that the rules laid down by the Y. M. C. A. leaders be followed out to the letter. This is the only way in which there can be absolute assurance that our part can and will be subscribed. Mr. Randall, like Senator Benson, is a splendid speaker, and holds the rapt attention of his hearers from start to finish. He showed how the human vultures of the lowest vice conditions sought to undermine the moral life of smaller towns presented a different problem, and after declaring himself delighted with the better understanding and promising to consider the evidence adduced in all the causes for complaint, he adjourned the meeting. The war tax has gone into effect since the original order so that this is added to the price of coal. The screening and forking of coal will be discontinued. It has not been practiced in other cities of the state for a long time. Heavy losses are anticipated in transporting coal and the dealers have sometimes had to stand a big loss from "shrinkage." Governor Gooding promised to make the roads deliver the coal at 2000 to the ton, or pay for the loss. Where inferior coal is sent the managers will take the matter up with operators and make them "come through."

Local headquarters will be at the Bank and Trust.

NOTICE
