DANIELS BEFORE COMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATION

CHARGES WRITTEN WITH PEDDLING GOSSIP ABOUT NAVY

Denies That Admiral Sims Complained

Says Submarine Chasers Were Temporary Device and Will Give Place to Other Vessels as Soon as Possible.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Representative Britton started the house naval investigations this afternoon by asking Secretary Daniels to tell all the committee about complaints against navy methods made by Admiral Sims, commanding the American naval forces abroad.

"Will you furnish the committee with all the complaints that you have from Admiral Sims regarding the methods of the department in complying with his various requests?" asked Britton.

Secretary Daniels first parried the question and accused Britton of petty gossip. Later he said: "Admiral Sims has made no complaints. He did ask for a particular officer who could not be sent to him. On the contrary his letters have shown a most perfect understanding between him and the department. There is no question but that he has received everything that he has asked for and that the navy could supply."

"We should not deal with petty gossip," said Daniels, first in reply to Britton. "All these things should be discussed in executive session, he added. "If there has been any gossip it should not be handed about."

"You do not think then," said Britton, "that we should know of the navy department's failure to comply with Admiral Sims requests. I hope it is not the policy of the navy or of the committee to show only the favorable side of the navy."

"It has not been asked in open session," he said, "but since it has been I will reply in public. I then declared that any questions involving policy or naval matters should not be asked in public. Chairman Oliver acquiesced in this view and Britton's questioning ceased.

"The chief interest in this service or on the retired list interested in contracts or acting as an agent for contractors?" asked Representative Little.

"No, sir," replied the secretary. "To have any objection?" asked Representative Britton, "to your discussing the affairs of the merchant ships by the navy?"

Both Mr. Daniels and Chairman Oliver thought this should be discussed in executive session.

The secretary refused to be drawn into an admission that the American submarine chaser had been a failure in the war.

He would not admit that the tritole screw was a failure as Mr. Britton declared a French official told him.

"The submarine chasers were necessary as temporary expedients," continued the secretary. "The principal function of the chaser is to locate and destroy the enemy's submarines. They have never been regarded as part of our permanent equipment. They would not have been built if we could have built the larger ships. We do not intend to build any more chasers."

The chasers cost between $42,000 and $50,000, the secretary said.

Mr. Daniels at the outset of the hearing, read a preliminary statement to the committee. In this he reviewed the activity of the extreme right in the appropriation bills since 1915 and explained the building program advocated in these acts. At present 423 capital and other important ships are under construction, he explained.

"Do you not think our censorship has been carried to an extreme?" asked Representative Britton when Mr. Daniels resumed in his statement.

"We have no censorship of the press," Mr. Daniels said. "We make requests of the press but we have no law. With ninety per cent of the press that is as good as law. I have been very careful not to let the headline of the press. A few papers have been on the border line of treason but they have gone very far."

PAN-GERMANISTS PROCLAIM INTENTION OF CONQUEST

"Let Us Resume Traditions of Epoch of Iron When Bismarck Dictated Laws to Universe," Says Organ of Party—Declares Judgment of God Is That Germany Rule the World.

GENEVA, Dec. 20.—Pan-Germans have thrown off their masks and are now boldly admitting that Germany has plotted to rule the entire world and is fighting with that object in view. A dispatch from Berlin today quoted the Deutsche Tages Zeitung as saying: "We are not making all this sacrifice of blood to obtain a transitory peace. What we desire is peace of long duration. We declare with Hindenburg that this happy peace with complete victory is possible. Let us be like strong men who know what they want. Let us resume the traditions of the 'Epoch of Iron' when Bismarck dictated his laws to the universe. This road and no other will lead Germany towards happiness and peace. It is the judgment of God, the voice of destiny that calls Germany to rule, but rule beneficently over all the nations of the universe."

RUSSIAN REVOLT STILL SEETHING OVER THE LAND

REPORTS STILL INDEFINITE REGARDING ONDETTES THERE

Fierce Battle in Italian Snows Austrian Minister Threatens That Country Will Demand Indemnities if Allies Will Not Make Peace Soon.

(I. N. S. Summary) Russia's turbulent domestic affairs and the uncertainty of their outcome was still the first in the world's attention today. Civil war in the north is apparently spreading and steps have been taken by the Bolshevik government at Petrograd to defend the city in case of siege. No news as to the progress of the negotiations between the Bolshevik and German delegates has been reported. There is every indication that Germany is trying to hasten them through with a rush. The fact that strong forces of Ukrainian troops have reinforced the Cossacks is apparently causing the Bolshevik regime considerable concern. So far as known here, there are no anti-Bolshevik troops near Petrograd despite the recent report that Kerensky was approaching Petrograd with several thousand armed men. Nothing more has been heard of the report and it is now considered very doubtful that Kerensky is even in the field. Nothing decisive has occurred on the western front. Furious fighting in the midst of a howling blizzard has marked the activities of the past 48 hours on the Italian front. In the sector of Monte Asolone the Austro-Hungarian began a series of attacks with great masses of troops and were able to advance slightly but the gain was of no strategic importance. The assaults were launched after a terrific bombardment that was carried out during a snowstorm so severe that the guns could not see more than a few yards in front of them.

OIL IN WELL AT THE SUGAR FACTORY

Whether there is oil in paying quantities under Twin Falls or not has become a moot question since the Armstrong Sugar company factory struck a small flow while patting in a deep well this week. The well was being put in for the purpose of securing a deep water flow for use in the factory. At a depth of 819 feet oil began to come up in long strings. It burns readily and gives out the characteristic odor. After going down a few inches further the drainage ceased and since that time nothing has been done. The oil is still coming up steadily, though not in large quantities. What further steps will be taken is unknown. The oil flow is sufficient to spill the water for the uses for which it was intended unless the flow should cease.

TWO-THIRDS OF QUOTA FOR RED CROSS PASSED

ADA AND LINCOLN COUNTIES HAVE ALREADY DOUBLED THEIRS

Women Registration Is Very Large

Sewing Rooms Closed Monday and Tuesday—More Knitting Asked by Headquarters From Women of the County.

Twin Falls county now has more than two-thirds of its quota of membership in the Red Cross but the committees are hustling harder than ever for Ada and Lincoln counties have both doubled their quotas already and this county does not propose to dip at the switch without a struggle. A supreme effort will, therefore, be made during the rest of the week to "cover the top" assigned. The city is beautifully decorated.

The first day registration of women showed 4000 for the county, but others are still coming and the books will be kept open all the week so that those who desire can get their names on the list.

The Red Cross sewing room and surgical dressing room will be closed on Monday and Tuesday of Christmas week, and the week following.

Bulletins have been received at the headquarters requesting the chapters to continue the knitting after January 1st. These instructions are contrary to those sent out several weeks ago, but the army and navy are both in need of the knitted articles. More yarn has been ordered, and all knitters are asked to hasten the work.

The afternoon classes in surgical dressings are still poorly attended. The committees desire that a special effort be made to register for this part of the service.

Carry Plan Meet Grocer's Issue

All Agreed On Cash Principle Now—Construction Of Carry Ruling Expected Today.

Cash is assured and carry is probably as a result of the discussions by the Twin Falls Grocers' association or the cash and carry plans of the food administration. At a meeting Tuesday afternoon, the matters were thoroughly threshed over, all the grocers in the city being represented. All but one voted for the cash plan and this firm agreed to abide by the action of the majority on the commercial committee.

The carry proposition resulted in a prolonged and vigorous debate, in which it was strongly urged by some that a carrying clearing house be established in which a concern not connected with any particular firm carry at the cost of the purchaser. This was opposed by other grocers who wanted such service. Other phases of the carrying at expense of customers were considered. On a vote thirteen carried the cash plan and ten voted for some form of the carrying system.

Following the meeting, Chairman J. H. Burdett sent a telegram to Food Administrator R. F. Dickel, asking an interpretation of the rulings relative to carrying all carriers and ten voted for some form of the carrying system.

The question of taking real estate holdings was also discussed but it was concluded that this was a matter which could not be properly handled by the meeting of the bureau, so nothing was done.

There was a large crowd present. The following are the precinct count: (Continued on page 10)

CHARGE ARMOUR CONCERN WITH PROFITEERING

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION ELIOTS STARTLING DISCLOSURES

Gross Deception Is Alleged

Packers Not Called to Stand for Fear It Would Act as Immunity Bath—Inquiry Began on President's Request.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—An amazing story from Armour & Company, the Chicago packers, is alleged to have deceived the late Richard Olney, the old colony Trust company, Boston, financial bulwark of the country and other eastern financial interests, on a colossal bluff, the result of which was the Armour agreement, now being brought out by the federal trade commission this afternoon.

In its first hearing in President Woodrow Wilson's justice department, the commission shamed how Armour & Company told eastern financial interests that unless inducements were made the big packers on the stand of Chicago and pack in other cities farther west.

In its process of making the financial inducement to stay to the Armours, some of the eastern financiers are alleged to have frozen out small stockholders in Chicago, by making interests, depriving them of profits which gravitated into the pockets of a banking syndicate headed by F. H. Prince, controller of Boston, and J. Ogden Armour and his associates.

At the opening it became apparent that the commission does not intend to put any of the packers on the stand themselves. To place on the stand packers against whom the commission has damning evidence, would give them immunity. The adoption of this course by the commission, was interpreted to mean that the government would not touch the packers, and dealers guilty of exacting extortionate prices for food under the cloak of war conditions.

Even so, President Wilson wrote a letter to the trade commission last summer stating that an inquiry into the rising cost of food products appeared desirable. In Boston, the commission have been quietly conducting a searching investigation of the big packers. The commission, says Mr. Henry this evidence has been correlated and today was in shape to confront representatives of the packers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Officials of Armour & Company announced this afternoon that they had issued a public statement concerning accusations of profiteering brought out by the Federal Trade Commission. The statement said that their associates said the matter of profiteering had been discussed, but no action taken.

Shipping Board Courts Inquiry

Lays Before Congress Facts and Data Before the Same Is Called by the Investigators.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The shipping board, soon to be made the subject of congressional inquiry, today prepared to meet the attack by laying before congress a full history of the board's work since it was created. Officials of the board courted the most searching investigation, apparently feeling secure in the belief that when the complete record of the board's accomplishments are rehearsed the skeptics will be disarmed.

Charts and other data bringing up to date the present day system of yards now working on cargo ships contracted for by the board were ready for submission to the senate committee which will conduct the probe. One of the most important documents which will be submitted by Chairman Edward N. Hurley will be Lloyd's list of the conditions in all American yards which is considered by officials as "most favorable" when compared with previous estimates of the board as to the amount of cargo capacity in American yards which will be able to turn out in 1918.

Chairman Hurley today declared that he could withdraw the Lloyd's report which will be submitted to the senate committee.

Chairman Hurley today abjured fully in favor of the purpose of congress to go to the "bottom of the rows" which from time to time have disrupted the board, but he was ready to defend the present day system of management governing the shipping projects now under way and contemplated. He expressed the belief that the board will be able to turn out now "one better" than there will be no "impediment" to a production of 13,000,000 tons of shipping tonnage in 1918 and 1919. Two thirds of this amount is now building or under contract, he stated.

"Is any officer either in active service or on the retired list interested in contracts or acting as an agent for contractors?" asked Representative Littlepage.

"No, sir," replied the secretary. "Is there any objection?" asked Representative Britton. In reply Daniels was taking over the merchant ships by the navy?"

Both Mr. Daniels and Chairman Oliver thought this could be discussed in executive session.

The secretary refused to be drawn into an admission that the American submarine chaser had been a failure in the war.

He would not admit that the triple screw was a failure as Mr. Britton decried at all if we could have obtained larger ships. We do not intend to build any more chasers."

The chasers cost between $42,000 and $50,000, the secretary said. Mr. Daniels at the outset of the hearing, read a preliminary statement to the committee in which he explained the authority conveyed in the naval appropriation bills since 1915 and explained the building program advanced in these acts. At present 428 capital and other important ships are under construction, he explained.

"Do you not think our consoling has been their consolation?" asked Representative Britton when Mr. Daniels paused in his statement.

"We have no consoling of the present," Mr. Daniels. "We make requests of the press but we have no law. With ninety per cent of the press that is as good as law. I have been on the border-line of treason but they have been very few."

ALWORTH CHOSEN TO HEAD FARM BUREAU TUESDAY

FULL SET OF OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR ELECTED AT MEETING

Membership Fee Raised to $5

Effort to Keep Organization Out of Canal Matters Defeated—Commercial Committee to Now Handle Business Activities.

OFFICERS OF FARM BUREAU

President—W. F. Alworth, Filer Vice Pres.—Frank DeKoltz, Filer Secretary, F. E. McPherson, Filer Treasurer, T. E. Moore, Filer Directors: M. J. Thompson, G. H. Skidmore, C. E. McInnis, Luke Bonner, A. Putsler.

The Twin Falls County Farm Bureau met Saturday afternoon in adjourned session, elected officers, defeated a resolution to keep out of the canal company matters and raised the entrance fee to $5; discussed a number of matters of interest to the organization. The total funds available from all sources, national, state, county and local for work during this coming year was estimated at $4,000. Commercial enterprises will not be conducted by the bureau but will be handled by the commercial committee selected formerly, outside the work of the bureau.

President John E. White called the meeting to order and the bureau secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Holchow, was selected as secretary, pro tem, in the absence of Secretary W. F. Edwards, who has been called to Seattle by the illness of his father.
Dr. John E. White, M. A. Thomez and W. F. Alworth were nominated for president and the first two named withdrew and Alworth was chosen unanimously. Frank DeKoltz and T. H. Irwin were nominated for vice president and the former declined. W. F. Edwards to whom, in his absence, the title of thirty-four to thirty. E. McPherson was elected unanimously after the withdrawal of the name of W. F. Edwards. In his absence, the title of thirty-four to thirty. E. McPherson was elected unanimously after the withdrawal of the name of W. F. Edwards. In his absence, the title of thirty-four to thirty.

The carry proposition resulted in a prolonged and vigorous debate in which it was strongly urged by some that a carrying clearing house be established in which a concern not connected with any particular firm carry all the cost of the purchases who wanted such service. Other phases of the carrying at expense of customers were considered. In reply yesterday, Mr. Bicknell said: "Writing fully today. Glad to know Twin Falls adopted one half of the program. Other half will be ready when you get my letter."

The letter is expected to arrive on the mail this afternoon.

OIL IN WELL AT THE SUGAR FACTORY

Whether there is oil in paying quantities under Twin Falls or not has become a moot question since the Amalgamated Sugar company factory struck a small flow while putting in a deep well this week. The well was being put in for the purpose of securing a deep water flow for use in the factory. At a depth of 810 feet oil began to come up in long strings. It burns readily and gives out the characteristic odor. After going down a few inches it further the drilling ceased and since that time nothing has been done. The oil is still coming up steadily though not in large quantities. What further steps will be taken is unknown. The oil flow is sufficient to spill the water for the uses for which it was intended unless the flow should cease.

TWO-THIRDS OF QUOTA FOR RED CROSS PASSED

ADA AND LINCOLN COUNTIES HAVE ALREADY DOUBLED THEIRS

Women Registration is Very Large

Sewing—Rooms Closed—Monday and Tuesday—More Knitting Asked by Headquarters From Women of the Country.

Twin Falls county now has more than two-thirds of its quota of membership in the Red Cross but the committees are hustling harder than ever, for Ada and Lincoln counties have both doubled their quotas already and this county does not propose to die at the switch without a struggle. A Monday effort will therefore, be made during the rest of the week to "over the top" assigned. The city is beautifully decorated.

The first day's registration of women showed 4000 for the county, but others are still coming and the books will be kept open all the week, so that those who desire can get their names on the list.

The Red Cross sewing room and surgical dressing room will be closed on Monday and Tuesday of Christmas week, and the week following. Buletins have been received at the headquarters requesting the chapters to continue the knitting after January 1st. These instructions are contrary to those sent out several weeks ago, but the army and navy are both in need of the knitted articles. More yarn has been ordered, and all knitters are urged to master the work.

The afternoon classes in surgical dressings are being poorly attended. The committee desire that a special effort be made to register for this part of the service.

Carry Plan Meet Grocer's Issue

All Agreed on Cash Principle—Constructors of Carry Ruling Expected Today.

Cash is assured and carry is probably a result of the discussions by the Twin Falls Grocers' association on the cash and carry plans of the food administration. At a meeting Tuesday afternoon, the matters were thoroughly threshed over, all the grocers in the city being represented. All but one voted for the cash plan and this firm agreed to abide by the action of the meeting.

The carry proposition resulted in a prolonged and vigorous debate in which it was strongly urged by some that a carrying clearing house be established in which a concern not connected with any particular firm carry all the cost of the purchases who wanted such service. CHARGE ARMOUR CONCERN WITH PROFITEERING

Gross Deception Is Alleged

Packers Not Called to Stand for Fear It Would Act as Immunity Bath—Inquiry Began on President's Request.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—An amazing story of low Armour & company, the Chicago packers, is alleged to have revealed the late Richard Eliot, the old colony trust company, Boston, financial bulwark of New England and other eastern financial interests, on a colonial staff which resulted in a netted the Armour's millions, was brought out by the federal trade commission this afternoon.

In his first hearing in President Wilson's food price investigation, the commission showed how Armour & company told eastern financial interests that unless inducements were made the big packers would move out of Chicago and pack in other cities throughout the west.

In the process of making the financial statement to stay in the Armour, some of the eastern financiers are alleged to have frozen out small stockholders in Chicago packing interests, depriving them of profits which gravitated into the pockets of a handful of financiers headed by Edward Prince & company of Boston and J. Ogden Armour and his associates.

At the opening it became apparent that the commission does not intend to put any of the packers on the stand themselves. To place on the stand meat packers against whom the commission has damning evidence would give them immunity. The adoption of this course by the commission was explained by Eliot as an agreement made between the packers and the commission to put any of the packers on the stand themselves. To place on the stand meat packers against whom the commission has damning evidence would give them immunity. The adoption of this course by the commission was explained by Eliot as an agreement made between the packers and the commission to put any of the packers on the stand themselves.

Ever since President Wilson wrote a letter to the trade commission last summer stating that an inquiry into the rising cost of food products appeared desirable, agents of the commission have been quietly conducting an inquiry into the matter. In Chicago, a banker, under direction of Mr. Henry Thibault, has been correlated and today was in shape to confront representatives of the packers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Officials of Armour & company, instead of the statement they had decided to make no public statement concerning sensational charges of deception and profiteering touched out by the Federal Trade commission in Washington. Neither J. Ogden Armour nor Arthur Meeker could be found at their offices for admission to the matter of issuing a statement had been discussed but no action taken.

Shipping Board Courts Inquiry

Lays Before Congress Facts and Data Before Name Is Called by the Investigators.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The shipping board, soon to be made the subject of a congressional inquiry, will prepare to meet the attack by laying before congress the facts and data which it has since it was created. Officials of the board courted the most searching investigation, apparently feeling secure in the belief that the complete record of the board's accomplishments are reposed the staples will be disarmed. The board's record will be laid before congress in a preliminary report to date, the condition in all American yards now working on cargo ships contracted for by the board were ready for submission to the board. The report which will conduct the probe. One of the most important documents which will be submitted by Chairman Edward N. Hurley today declared that the board has not yet received the report until it is submitted to the senate committee.

Chairman Hurley today seemed fully cognizant of the purpose of congress to go to the "bottom of the trough" which from time to time have threatened the board, but was ready to defend the board. He said that the management governing the shipping projects now under way and contemplated, he expressed the belief that the board will be able to meet the situation. "The board has no intention of no 'bottom' in the amount of tonnage that American yards will be able to turn out in 1918. Chairman Hurley today declared that the board has not yet received the report until it is submitted to the senate committee.

No Wheat Ground for Stock Food

Kimberly Farmers Depressed When They Learn of Order that Requires Feeding.

The local elevators have been refusing to grind wheat for stock food. Very much to the surprise of local farmers, when they brought their wheat to the local elevators, to be ground into a food for their stock, local managers turned their orders down completely. Shortage on flour, and the great need that is now being experienced for bread in the great army camps and abroad has obliged the local administration of the state to request that no grains or combinations of grains containing wheat that can be manufactured into flour be utilized for any other purpose than to supply the wants of the people for bread.

As is always natural when extreme measures are taken upon short notice, it was some time before local farmers could fully realize the situation, and many pressed their demands rather strongly upon the local elevators, unable to see any reason for the extreme measure taken. But it was not long until the seriousness of the bread situation appealed to them, and it is now probable that much wheat, stored in private granaries, except what is to be used for seed purposes in the spring, will be sold for flour.

Local elevators are not permitted to hold wheat longer than necessary to secure cars, and all is being shipped to the east. The flour making is being centered in large milling establishments, very much to the detriment of some of the smaller mills, which because they are unable to produce in quantities sufficient to justify the recognition of transportation under present difficulties, are being obliged to close down, as they can not secure wheat.

Transportation facilities are such in the west, except upon the main lines, that it is almost impossible to ship any thing above very small quantities, because of the lack of cars. But it is possible for the railroad company to convey cars to certain special centers, and there receive the wheat and transport it to eastern and middle sections where it is ground, and where it is nearer to the immediate needs of the people.

FARMERS & MERCHANTS BANK. MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

The beautiful new home of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Kimberly, which institution was established last May, and since which time has enjoyed a remarkable growth, has just been completed. The building, located across the street almost from the old headquarters occupied by Swearingen and Wilson's Hardware store, cost approximately seven thousand dollars. It is constructed along modern lines, with all conveniences for banking, and it contains offices, consultation rooms, and a composed of permanent material, concrete and brick.

The new building adds much to the general appearance of the town, and will be a permanent improvement for many years, until the village becomes large enough to demand an extension of its business. The new home will be occupied this week, the furniture and office fixtures having been moved in. It is hoped that all things will be in readiness before the week end.

Word was received recently by V. G. Backman from his sister, Mrs. Fred A. Clarke, who was a visitor in Kimberly last summer, that his mother, Mrs. O. J. Backman of Nampa, will be in Kimberly for the Christmas season, arriving Saturday of this week.

W. P. Swearingen is installing a heating system in his garage, the Kimberly Motor company's establishment. It is a five car heater, composed of the small furnace and five radiators. The system is the Wasco garage system.

A meeting of the officials of the Red Cross met last Monday night at the home of Mrs. V. G. Backman, to discuss plans for the registration of women to occur Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stull Swearingen and Mrs. Toland together with a party of friends attended the show in Twin Falls Wednesday night.

Ernest Tate of Twin Falls is in Kimberly visiting with friends and relatives the last part of last week. William Silvers has accepted the position at the depot, taking Frank Cagle's place. Mr. Cagle will take the place made vacant by Mr. Silvers at the W. B. Silvers Transfer company.

Frank Petcho is another Kimberly man who has joined the colors. He left for California Monday night where he will join the marines.

J. W. Gellatly, Jr., has accepted a position at the L. J. Buck Heating & Plumbing company establishment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swearingen, Mrs. J. W. Gellatly and family spent from Tuesday until Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Hickerson in Wendell.

Kimberly is still growing. A new shoe shop has just been built west of the Farmers and Merchants National bank.

H. A. Stanfield has been bid up with a bad cold for the past week. W. L. Downing was a Twin Falls visitor Friday.

The little Burns boy, who has been very ill for the past two weeks, is not much improved.

The Rich Sheep company shipped several carloads of sheep to Omaha Saturday. Carl Wenzel and his family were the boys who went with the sheep.

Cleland Talmace spent Sunday in Kimberly with friends.

Arthur Fay had the misfortune of running a nail in his foot while at work Saturday. He expects to be at work again in a few days.

Miss Essie Ryckoff and Miss Marie Overby walked to Twin Falls Sunday afternoon and returned on the evening train. Not much wonder they came home on the train after such a hike.

Carl and Clint Ridgeway and Chas. Upton were over on the north side Sunday looking after their farm interests there.

Charles Alexander who has been in Canada for the past year returned home Saturday.

J. H. Creighton and wife left Saturday for Portland, Oregon, to spend Christmas. They will go from Portland to Tennessee where they expect to make their home.

J. Holden of Twin Falls was in Kimberly the first of the week.

Miss Claborn, who has been working in Twin Falls since that August returned home Sunday.

H. E. Edston and Sam Trueax were on the north side Tuesday.

W. S. Downing Jr. He became ill rather suddenly. It is hoped to be not serious.

Those who failed to pass the United States examination in Salt Lake last week were Jesse Steckerath and Walter Engman. They will return here on Sunday. It is just as well perhaps. We need them here.

Ed. Claborn was a Twin Falls caller Monday.

William Grissom of Medford, Oregon, bought sixty-five acres of Gooding land last week. W. W. Venable also bought about eighty acre farm on the same tract.

Church Notes

Church of Christ V. G. Backman, minister.

Last Sunday was a big day for the Christian church of Kimberly. Our Sunday school was well attended. There was interest and enthusiasm in all departments of the work, and most of those who came to Bible school remained for the morning worship, and many more came in.

In the evening about two hundred people gathered at the church to hear Rev. G. H. Backman, who opened the evening hour under the auspices of the Christian Women's board of missions, telling missionary stories. She told stories which revealed the sacrifice and hardship of those consecrated Christians who have given their lives in service to the heathen lands, showing the devotion and loyalty to the cause of the Christ even in the midst of the most distressing circumstances. Other stories revealed the pitiable condition of the inhabitants of foreign heathen lands, and called for more workers, that the world should be won to Christ. One story in particular showed the need of loyal home support upon the part of Christian people here and the home churches.

While Mrs. Backman disappointed many in that she did not spend the evening delivering political, electionary productions, she fulfilled the need of the hour with sincere, sensible pleas for missionary hearts upon the part of those present. Illustrated with touching, vividly painted word pictures, and we venture to say that all went away well pleased that they had spent the hour listening to the cry of missions through her.

Next Sunday will be the twenty-third of December. Only two days more and it will be Christmas. Following the usual procedure the Bible school hour, and the communion services, the pastor will deliver a Christmas sermon. For Nineteen centuries the King of Kings, the Spirit of the Christ in the Progress of Mankind.

Services as follows: "Bible school at 9:30 a. m. Preaching and communion at 11:00 a. m.

At 6:45 p. m. our Christian Endeavor, the young people will hold their services, appropriate to the Christmas season.

At 7:30 p. m. all are invited to assemble for evening worship. The subject of the evening sermon will be "The Morale of the Reconstruction." This will be one among many sermons to follow, discussing some of the great underlying moral and Christian issues that are prevalent and shall be more so in present war conditions and in the stages of reconstruction and progress.

On Christmas eve our Sunday school will present a Christmas program. It will not be conducted along the usual lines of the past, but will have as its object the relief of the suffering war-stricken people of the world. The home will be decorated in green and white appropriate to the Christmas spirit, but running through all will be the national colors, Red, White and Blue, as requested by the Red Cross and the administrators of the government.

Suffering Armenia and Syria will be the object of our good will and abundance upon this night, and a slight admission will be charged, every cent of which will go to the relief of Armenian and Syrian sufferers, who are starving to death by the thousands. This admission will be ten cents for adults, and five cents for children. Larger gifts for this great work will be received individually. No collections will be called for. Remember the service, which preparation is being made for a good program for this evening. On Friday night of this week at the Christian church, the Loyal workers and problems which enter in are different and far more vast and serious than the problems and conditions which any single manufacturing establishment has ever experienced.

The general public has been from the beginning very much in sympathy with Hoover and his work and has tried to co-operate with his plans, and it is likely that they will continue to do so even in the future when conditions must of necessity become more trying than ever.

The Salt Lake Tribune, commenting upon the Speckels attack, says very nicely, and conclusively, "It is quite possible that Mr. Speckels is looking at the whole situation from the narrow viewpoint of his own business and, in his private state of mind, is distorting, if not the facts, the conclusions to be derived from the facts."

NEW MEAT MARKET ADDS TO SEASON'S IMPROVEMENT

This week witnesses the completion of the new home of the Kimberly Meat Market, long the established market for this city. The new building, composed of brick and concrete and representing all of the modern ideas of the permanent and profitable plant, is located next to the Star Theatre.

We are informed that the new building of the Kimberly Meat Market will be occupied before the close of the week. Some painting remains to be done, which will be completed about Wednesday afternoon of this week, and the equipment it is thought will be installed completely by Thursday night.

CO-OPERATIVE STORES

The Farmers' Non-Partisan League has started to establish a chain of fifty co-operative stores across the continent. The object of the stores, as planned by the league and for the benefit of the members will be about as follows: to the country merchant as the big mail order department stores, neither of which advertise in the country paper or contribute to local enterprise.—Pacific Coast Manufacturer.

The TIMES does not share in the pessimism regarding the fate of the country merchant in the event that the stores are established as suggested. Their establishment would, indeed, disturb business conditions for the country merchant to some extent for some time, but, judging the future by the past, the merchant would survive and the stores perish. The danger would be to the league members, more than to anyone else if past history counts for anything.

The Grange a long time ago started stores in most towns in the Mississippi valley states, which flourished for a time and then "went broke;" at least ninety-nine per cent of them did.

Now, the farmer is just as good a business man as the merchant, but his business is farming. He cannot give the attention to his farm, necessary for success there, and at the same time give the attention to the store that is necessary to make that a winner, and as his interests are naturally mainly in the business from which he is making his living, he attends to that and succeeds there.

When the co-operative stores start, many succeed for a time, because they command to the exclusion of others, the patronage of the farmers who are the mainstay. After a time, the farmer begins to look around to see where he can get the best bargain, and finds it is often in other stores. The men selected by the organization to manage affairs are more frequently than not, incompetent, and when the first fervor is over, this incompetency loses business for the co-operative concern. When this state of affairs becomes noticeable, the finish of the concern is not far off. This has been the history of such enterprises in the past, and unless human nature has changed a lot it will be in the future. If the farmers could devote as much time to "securing their hired man, in the store, as they can to sojourning hired men far from their farms, and could supervise his work as continually and effectively, they would succeed in getting satisfactory results; but there is not enough in it to make it pay to lose time from the farm to devote to the store.

The TIMES clearly recognizes the abstract right of farmers or workmen to band themselves together for the purpose of conducting mercantile establishments. The wisdom of their doing so is equally a matter for them to decide. But it ventures to suggest again that in the long run the danger will be found to be to the stockholders, whom the Manufacturer seems to think will be especially benefited. By the way, the country merchant has not found the big mail order houses more fatalistic to its interests than to the interests of those who perpetually buy of such concerns. And in saying this we have in mind solely the interests of the patrons of such mail order houses, as purchasers, without considering the various advantages to the community of keeping the money at home.

THE SLACK IN WAR CONDUCT

The statement of General Crozier that the falling down in the production of rifles in American factories after the declaration of war was due to a scattering of men reeling from that event, which was anticipated by both the manufacturers and the war department, to avert which both were not wholly successful, calls attention to a phase of the situation which has affected every activity, which was inevitable and which has been passed without thought or notice.

When the war broke out two things were imperatively necessary: to, if possible, maintain and increase production in those lines already engaged in the furnishing of war necessities, and to at once engage in other activities, which would be needed to successfully equip the increased army and navy required to win the war.

This prevented a great difficulty. The opening of new activities was certain to draw from those already in operation many men who were competent to work in both. These could not readily be replaced. Hence, while new enterprises started off with a rush, the old ones were bound to lag. Men can perform only a certain amount of work and the number of trained men are limited. This applies not only to war industry but to almost all lines of industry.

The Red Cross and other necessary relief work was even more necessary than the conduct of essential industry and required and received the assistance of the ablest and best men in the field of finance and production. The withdrawal of such men from industrial fields at a great sacrifice to themselves, necessarily tended to retard the progress of the solution of our problems in the lines from which their services were withdrawn. They had chosen the better part and their help was essential, but that did not alter the fact that the withdrawal of energy from the fields in which production, and a slowing up following those fields, less thoroughly cultivated.

Although the selective draft was intended to obviate the necessity of taking men for the army from essential industries, nevertheless thousands of men did enlist from such fields of production, and a slowing up following. It is notorious that a similar condition in England, which long dependent solely on the volunteer system, necessitated the sending back of thousands of tired soldiers from the field to work for the government at home, without which action some essential industries would have broken down completely.

Men noting the phenomenon of certain new industries and lines of necessary preparation developing "with marvellous rapidity," while others, apparently on a settled basis are suddenly seen to be lagging, are tempted to come to the conclusion that the last named fact is due to the inefficiency of those in charge, when it is really due to the withdrawal of part of the forces theretofore employed and their entrance to the service of the new enterprise. Hence, the sum total of progress can never be as great as the more sanguine anticipate. It would be hard to overestimate the effect of the law stated, for it is really a natural law manifesting itself in the concrete matter of war preparation. Hence, we now hear men wondering why President Wilson did not declare the laws of this nature, imperatively.

The American people have done wonderfully well during the past year, and they have made a great showing, largely because they have diverted their energies from things non-essential, though legitimate, to things that are essential. Women who delighted in social activities have devoted much of the time formerly spent in such pleasing lines, to knitting for the boys on the front. So far as this knitting was done without interfering with other essential activities of production, and that in time of the greater part of it, it was a clear gain; a "taking up of the slack." Where it was done at the expense of another sort of activity of essential production, it was often more necessary than the other, but it had a tendency to cut down the production in the other line. So that those who expected the line from which it was withdrawn to show "a great increase" as the knitting would be disappointed.

In changing from the peaceful basis on which industry was based to the war basis, there would have been a tremendous amount of lost motion under any circumstances, even though this might be more than offset by increased energy. In marching across an unexplored field many unforeseen obstacles must arise. Under such circumstances it must seem after a time that more progress should have been made than was made.

This is the real explanation of the state of mind now more or less manifesting itself. Compared with this inevitable condition, the mistakes real and fancied that have been or may be discovered are but dust in the balance. It is a condition which no human foresight could have averted and which men and women of ordinary human intelligence can understand, if they take the trouble.

When it develops that things have not gone on quite supernaturally, and that impossible things have not been performed inquiries begin, legitimate enough when conducted with the sole view of getting facts. We now have such a condition in Washington. Statesmen are conducting investigations, which, we repeat, are all right where made sanely, but which show evidences of demoralization on the part of the investigators, as if they were suddenly controlled by facts, the like of which were never before known. Perhaps similar facts never came to the attention of the solons previously, yet they lie on the surface, as part of the inherent limitations of humanity.

Fined for Misdemeanor-Louis Wardell was fined $100 and Almeda Jones $50 for a misdemeanor by Probate Judge O. P. Duval this week. Royal Neighbors Meet-The Royal Neighbors of America will hold their next regular meeting at the T. O. O. F. hall Friday evening, December 27, at 8 p. m. Pumpkins For Times, Collection-The TIMES acknowledges the receipt of a lot of pumpkins and squash for the vegetable collection to be used by the needy during the winter. Potatoes, apples and all vegetables will be gladly accepted. Free Dinner Christmas-The Twin Falls Cafe announces that it wants all needy families in the city for its guests on Christmas, and requests that anyone knowing any such family notify either the proprietor, Tom Koto, or Mrs. Elizabeth Hibbard, vice president of the associated charities. Mrs. Hibbard's telephone is 536 W. Not Cheap Clips-An addendum to the "Clips that Pass in the Night" article on another page, it should be stated that, prior to filing their appeal, the defendants moved for summary judgment, which was refused by Justice Smith, who assessed against each a fine of $200 and costs.

Address At Murray School-There will be an address at the Murray school Friday evening of this week on "Making The War Safe For Our Soldiers," by Rev. O. T. Anderson, who has been appointed official speaker by the Red Cross headquarters.

To California-Mrs. C. A. Robinson, Mr. Asker B. Wilson, Mrs. Smith, with their respective families, have just started, or about starting, to join the Twin Falls contingent in southern California. Mr. Burton E. Morse has also gone to join his wife at Berkeley. Ralph L. Morse has been stationed at Maro Island, in the marine corps, and his wife and mother went to Berkeley, where they are now located. Mr. B. E. Morse earlier than had been planned on account of an unexpected order transferring the younger Mr. Morse to some other scene of duty.

News and a Message From Army in France

Congressman Johnson, of Washington, will bring to a Twin Falls address Saturday Evening, Dec. 29. The chairman of the county Council of Defense received on Monday the following telegram from the secretary of the state council: Chairman County Council, Twin Falls, Idaho. Representative Albert Johnson, of Washington, just returned from battle front in France, desires big mass meeting December 29, at Twin Falls. Will you arrange it? JOSEPH HANSEN. This matter was taken up at the regular meeting of the Council of Defense on Tuesday evening, the proposition was enthusiastically accepted and all arrangements therefor placed in the hands of a committee consisting of Messrs. E. L. Macvick, R. A. Reed and S. D. Thomas. The place for the meeting has not yet been decided, but the committee will secure the largest and best audience room that is available for a patriotic gathering of this character, as to which full notice will be given later. One thing seems certain-and that is that no auditorium in Twin Falls will be too large to hold the people who will be eager to hear a message of this character. Mr. Johnson will not only have seen the sights and imbibed the spirit of the imminent battle front, but he will also have been with Pershing and his American braves-will know how they are situated and how they feel and can tell us to just what our own boys are going for, or chance, are now on the way. The State Council desires Twin Falls to give Representative Johnson a "Big Meeting." It also desires to do all that, and then some, the TIMES is a poor guesser, that is sure!

Both pastor and congregation will find pleasure in welcoming you.

The "Nautical Knot" Pronounced Success

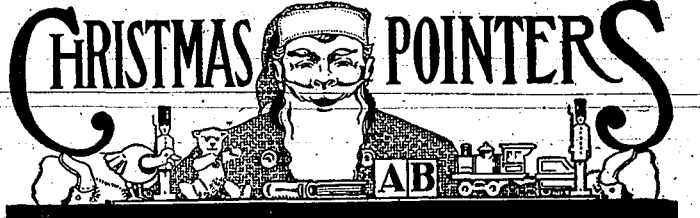

Large Audience Praised Production of The Twin Falls High School Club. The "Nautical Knot," presented by the members of the high school glee club on Thursday evening, was a pronounced success in every way. It is evident that this was one of the most difficult productions of its kind ever attempted by Twin Falls students. Its splendid success is due to the persistent coaching of Miss Simpson and the hard work of the students concerned. Miss Simpson was somewhat handicapped by the small and inconvenient stage, but nevertheless, difficulties were overcome and the play was presented with perfect smoothness. The chorus of nearly a hundred voices, made a very pleasing spectacle as they appeared on the stage at the beginning of the play. The chorus of white skirts and middie, and the boys in white trousers and middie. The chorus was made up of some of the best vocal talent ever found in the high school. The large audience was very appreciative to the efforts of the boys and girls. The play was a part of Julia, the haughty belle of Barnatopolis; and also to Mabel Pettijohn, Julia's friend Nancy. Miss Pettijohn has a clear and rich contralto voice which also was much admired from the audience. William Wolfenden (tenor) as Barabas Lee, a wandering artist; and Paul McKinley (baritone), as Joe Stout, the stalwart mate of the "Bouncing Billow," played their parts well, and delighted their listeners with their impressive vocal utterances. Francis Schenckberger in the part of Bill Salt, an ancient Mariner, and boatwain of the "Bouncing Billow," not only proved himself a clever comedian, but several solos revealed a luxurious bass voice. He furnished the comedy and some of the best vocal work of the evening. Other members who played prominent parts were the Barnatopolis girls, made up of Vera Cook, Edith Henderson and Friedelle Minton. Playing opposite these were three sailors, Gilbert Younger, Dean Mickelwait and Reed Harris, three sailors of the "Bouncing Billow." Too much credit cannot be given Miss Simpson for the hard work she did in the training of this large chorus which was composed of nearly a hundred voices including the Barnatopolis girls, sailors and artists.

The German class is preparing for the beginning of the end, the school board having cut the language out of the list of studies for next year, the present class will be the last.

MARGUERITE CLARK IN ANOTHER "SUB-DEB" STORY--- "BAB'S BURGLAR"

MARGUERITE CLARK IN "BAB'S BURGLAR" A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

IN WHICH THIS FAMOUS STAR MAKES AN AWFUL MESS OF HER SISTER'S LOVE AFFAIR--AT THE IDAHO THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

"BAB'S BURGLAR" is a sure-fire hit. The predicaments that Marguerite Clark gets into as a boarding school girl--a "sub-deb"--as the author, Mary Roberts Rinehart styles her character in the famous Saturday Evening Post stories, will make you laugh until your sides hurt. Then along on top of all the fun, comes Bab's unique diary, setting forth distinctly Bab's way of looking at different angles of the affair.

Bab Has a Record of It All
If you think Bab troubles are minor ones, just look at these samples from her carefully kept diary:

Some Samples
"That day, although unmoved from anxiety, I took the Arab (her new roadster) out alone, having only Jane with me. Except that once I drove into a garage instead of low kee (Bab was not famous for her good spelling) and broke a lamp on a gentleman behind, I had little or no trouble, although having one or two narrow escapes owing to putting my foot on the gas throttle instead of the break.

"Jane had got out to see how much milk we had split--we had struck the milk wagon--and I was getting out my check book, because the man was very nasty--and in

IF YOU CAN'T LAUGH TELL ME--I WANT YOU TO HAVE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Made a Few "Errors"
"It was when being backed off the pavement by two policemen and a man from the milk wagon, after one of the aforesaid mistakes, that I first saw he who was to bring such wretchedness to me.

stated on having my name, when I first saw him. He had stopped and was looking at the gutter which was full of milk."

Children's Matinee With Vaudeville Saturday Afternoon

it of Ireland, not only in the wretched, emphysematous person of the small star, to whom the part is eminently suited, but also in the entire production which abounds in scenes of unusual and fetching beauty.

Mary Thurman, who is appearing in the Paramount-Mack-Sennett comedy "That Night," is wearing some gowns, or one might call them "sweaters," that make this comedy a veritable fashion show. And the studio didn't have to make such a feat in its bank roll to get for the material at all.

The scenes of "The Woman God Forgot," in which Geraldine Farrar is starred, are laid during the Spanish conquest of the Aztecs and Director De Mille had erected an exact reproduction of the famous pyramid of Teocalli, surrounded by an entire Aztec city. This one set covers an area of two square miles and the pyramid is nearly 200 feet in height and of the most substantial construction, owing to the fact that over a thousand men huddle on the staircases and ladders to the temple at the top. The interior of the pyramid is also complete in the most minute detail, the huge sacrificial rooms being reproduced in the exact size of the rooms in which the High Priest of Aztec sacrificed his human victims to the Aztec gods.

In the photodrama the fighting Spaniards and Aztec warriors are seen grappling with each other, and rolling down the long sloping sides of the edifice, or being hurled from the top to the ground below.

With the Film Folk

Constance Talmadge has gone to the coast to work in the Lasky (Paramount) studios, and Charlie Giblyn, who has just finished several snappy comedies with that young lady, has been assigned to make some pictures with Ann Pennington.

Jack Pickford and Louise Huff, the young stars who have appeared together in many of the best known Paramount pictures of recent date, such as "Seventeen," "Great Expectations," "Freckles," and "The Yarns," are soon to be seen in their latest production "Jack and Jill." This is not a child's play, although the kiddies will love it. It is one of the wholesomest, cheeriest little comedy-dramas for grown-ups in which the two have worked--which is saying a great deal.

Robert Thornby, the clever Paramount director, who has been responsible for many attractive photoplays has outdone himself on Virginia Martin's newest picture, "Molly Entangled," which is an Irish story written by Edith Kennedy. He seems to have caught the very spirit

Twin Falls Won in the Stock Judging

Intercollegiate Test Between Our High School Boys and Buhl Boys Last Friday.

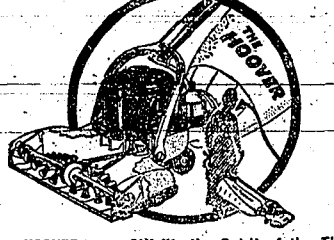

In the first competitive stock judging contest held between schools in this county, the Twin Falls team of five students from the high school defeated a similar team from Buhl last Friday. Two classes of horses, one of aged mares and one of three-year-old stallions, were judged. The contest was held at the home of Mr. Walter Keiser of Buhl. Mr. Walter kept a class of remarkably fine Percheron horses which he very generously displayed and allowed the boys to use in their contest. Seventeen boys from Buhl and eleven boys from Twin Falls under Program Chief, J. E. Donnan, and the county agent took part in the contest. The Twin Falls team composed of Roy King, Walter Lugh, Cecil Boyd, Edwin Wheeler and John Dean averaged 309 points per man while the Buhl team averaged 273 points per man out of a possible 400 points. Roy King was high man in the contest, scoring 356 out of a possible 400 points. These in charge of this work are making every effort to promote and encourage such contests. The boys themselves are interested and anxious for the work while the present live stock shortage in the United States and the world only emphasize its importance and value. Plans are now being laid for a similar and better contest in judging Shorthorn cattle to be held in January.

CHARGES GERMAN CRUCIFIED PRISONERS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Crucifixion of Canadian and Scottish soldiers by German troops in Belgium, and other wholesale outrages are given by members of the Eleventh United States Engineer regiment in letters received here today as the cause of a determination they express to fight to a finish and to give or take no quarter. "If all of America could hear the horrible tales these refugees tell and see the country about us here," says one letter, "there would be five million American soldiers training for war and not being so over-satisfied by blitheness."
One of the officers of the regiment, by a letter to Robert Hildway, of the Public Service commission, wrote: "The devastated country and villages destroyed by shellfire, I suppose must be expected. But the thing that makes one loll is the absolutely unnecessary and wanton destruction wrought by the retiring Hun. His usual wonderful and systematic methods have been applied to this destruction. Whole towns that have hardly been touched by shell fire have been completely destroyed by dynamite. We find patches cut in the few standing walls and marked with the size of the charge to be used. Evidently every building had been systematically prepared for blowing up upon retirement. "So homes, beautiful chateaus, garden walls, little summer houses are all blown up. Shrub trees, flowering shrubs are cut down or the bark cut so the trees will die. Comestibles have been ransacked, graves and vaults opened and the bodies about or in heaps on the ground. I have seen the comestibles, that are awful

Give Her a HOOVER for XMAS!

Spreads Christmas Cheer Throughout the Year

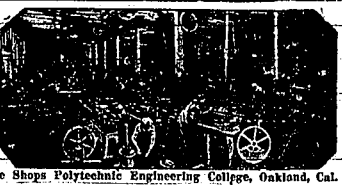

Why the HOOVER as a Gift fits the Spirit of the Times:

1. It doubles the life of rugs and carpets by shaking out and sweeping up the imbedded GRIT which cuts off nap it allowed to remain. Carpets are sooty today. The Hoover saves money by thus increasing their life.
2. It doubles the life of curtains and draperies. Clouds of dust raised by your present method cause them to dirty quickly. Laundering shortens their life. The Hoover raises no dust as it cleans. So curtains and draperies stay clean, need laundering more rarely, and last longer.
3. It doubles the life of wall-paper, kalsomine, etc., which sweep-up dust so quickly darkens and soils. For the Hoover cleans dustlessly.
4. Money spent for having carpets cleaned by the carpet-cleaner, is saved by the Hoover. And floor coverings are always clean and sanitary.
5. House-cleaning bills are lowered. With a Hoover many women prefer to do their own work rather than pay help. Furthermore, good help is almost impossible to find.
6. Must breeds germs and disease, among them, the germs of consumption. By not permitting this filth to collect in carpets, the family health is insured.
7. The Hoover ends the backaches and nervous breakdowns which follow the present hard work of cleaning days.
8. An economy because it conserves house furnishings, saves money and protects health--but above all a work-saver that saves time and thereby enables a woman to answer the call of patriotic organizations to assist in war relief work. Give her a Hoover this Xmas--no gift more aptly fits the times.

DANCE at REYBROCO GARDEN, Filer, Idaho CHRISTMAS NIGHT

THE RED CROSS

Oh, radiant is the white Christ--
The Christmas Christ is He.
His shining cross it is so light
We hear it joyously.
The white Christ comes all India
With gifts for us and me;
He brings us more abundant life
And peace and purity.
But oh, there is a red Christ;
And oh, His cross is red!
All stashed with blood from broken
Hands--
And feet, and wounded head.
What think ye of the red Christ?
He is not fair to see;
There are no gifts in His torn hands;
But how He needs thee!
His loving soul is burdened
With misery untold;
The sorrows of a suffering world
Distress Him, as of old.
His wounds are rending open
And bleeding, and his eyes
Drop tears upon a shell-torn field
Whence piteous moans arise.
The red cross it is heavy,
And on Him it must lie
Till true hearts lift the crushing weight
Oh, ye no emblem white,
But one thing ye should know--
Ye may not kiss the white cross
And let the red cross rot.

Beautiful Homes

Surround This Delightful Residence Park

The view shown here was taken just across the street from BLUE LAKES ADDITION. It is typical of the many handsome dwellings which already make this the most desirable home district in Twin Falls.

will be the rule in this beautiful home place. Many people are securing 75, 100, or even 150 feet of frontage, as they know that homesites here will soon be in big demand.

With the installation of bitulith-pavements, cement sidewalks, cluster lights, sewer and water mains, etc., and the planting of elm trees on every street, there will be no finer residence district anywhere in the country.

TODAY is the time for you to secure your homesite. The price--$1300 to $1500, complete with all improvements paid for--is very reasonable for this class of property. Terms can be arranged on the payments.

All homes built at Blue Lakes Addition will be protected against storms, shocks and undesirable surroundings. Every home must cost at least $4000.

When can you go to see BLUE LAKES ADDITION?

WILSON AND LLOYD-GEORGE THE LEADERS

LONDON OPINION IS THAT THEY ARE THE "ALLIES STRONG MEN"

Five Crucial Points of War

Review of Prospects for Coming Year as Seen by English Leaders—German Full Strength Is Pañ.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The nations involved in the world war stand today upon the threshold of the crucial year of the struggle and the few days intervening before the beginning of 1918 will see a new era of war management unrolled.

The two figures that loom up as the most conspicuous and most dominant for leadership on the entente side during the next year are President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George, the allies two "strong men."

The events of the present year that will exert the most powerful influence upon 1918 campaigns are those:

- 1.—The entry of the United States into the struggle with the American government committed to fight to victory;
- 2.—The collapse of Russia as a fighting unit and the possibility of a separate peace involving Russia and Roumania;
- 3.—The reorganization of the allies method of conducting the war to secure absolute unity and coordination, not only in directing the armies but in supplying them as well;
- 4.—The Austro-German invasion of northern Italy, carrying the fighting into the Venetian plains for the first time since Italy entered the war;
- 5.—The concentration of Britain's efforts against Turkey in the near East with the evident purpose of crushing forever Germany's imperial dream of complete control over the routes from Berlin to the Persian gulf.

There is every indication that there will be continuous fighting on the western and Italian fronts throughout the winter and that spring and early summer will see a tremendous impetus to the allies' blows with great masses of Americans on the firing line.

Although America's original war plans called only for troops on the western front, the declaration of war against Austria indicates that 1918 will see the attack and strike on the Italian battle front.

Germany's submarine war aimed chiefly against British shipping has proved a failure. The ruthless under-water warfare has been in progress almost a year and, despite the claims and boasts made in Berlin, England is as far from being starved as she was before the submarines got active. Germany is to make her greatest effort in 1918 with the hope of delivering a crushing blow on the western and Italian fronts before the American army can get fully into action. She has reached the maximum of her submarine output and a great fight will be operating on and under the high seas while the armies released from the eastern front, will be hurled against the gallant soldiers fighting the allied cause in Belgium, France and Italy.

But the allies are not to be caught napping. The leaders of the entente armies know what to look for from Germany and plans are being made to meet it.

True, France has suffered from her exhausting struggle, but there is still plenty of fighting spirit remaining following the glorious tri-color.

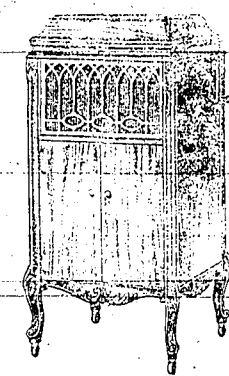

Military critics look for the following to happen in 1918: Germany will deliver her most tremendous stroke. It will fail. The allies will come back with a smashing blow that will send the Teutons reeling. That will be the turning point and the vision of peace, which has been hidden so long behind the black clouds of war, will begin to rise in the splendor of an allied victory.

Kaiser Asks About Fate of Nicholas

German Ruler Reported as Considering Residence of ex-Czar in Berlin.

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 19.—The Kaiser is now taking a hand in the so-called peace negotiations between the Bolshevik regime and Petrograd and the central powers. This was shown today by the report that the German emperor has made inquiries as to what would happen if the former czar and his family is the event peace is concluded. Despite the fact that the German government has formally accused the ex-czar of bringing on the war by mobilizing the Russian army on the Austro-German frontiers the report contains a hint that Nicholas and his family may be invited to make their future home in Germany. If they are allowed to leave Russia, the czar is related to the Kaiser.

Dr. von Kuhlmann, the German foreign minister, and Count Czernin, the Austrian foreign minister are reported to have reached Brest Litovsk where the armistice was signed.

Conflicting reports are again being received as to the internal situation in Russia. The Bolsheviks are still holding on in Petrograd, but fighting between the patriotic Cossacks and the Bolshevik forces continues in the interior and in the southern part of Ukraine. The exact strength of the "White" government cannot be clearly determined at this time so contradictory are the advices from Russia and the chaos ruling there.

REVOLUTIONS BREAK AGAIN IN RUSSIA

UKRAINIAN AND COSSACK TROOPS UNITE TO FIGHT MAXIMALISTS

March on Astrakhan Reported Under Way

Little Fighting on West Front Yesterday While Tatars Fail to Shake the Defense of the Italians.

(I. N. S. Summary)

Following in the wake of the Bolshevik government's claim that the Cossack rebellion in Russia was collapsing, news was received today of forces fighting at Odessa while patriots-Cossacks—are reported to be now marching upon Astrakhan.

Reinforced by Ukrainian troops the Cossacks in southern Russia are waging a determined war against the Red guards, as the Bolshevik forces are known, furious street fighting broke out in Odessa the chief Ukrainian port of the Black sea, with the Bolsheviks contesting for possession of the city.

The Bolshevik government has served an ultimatum upon Ukraine threatening to declare war if the Ukrainian government continues to give aid to the counter revolutionists.

The Bolsheviks have already declared war against the Cossacks.

No news has been received up to early this afternoon of any military events of importance.

The news sees a heavy fall of snow in northern France, hindering troop movements in that quarter while the Austro-German troops in Italy appear to be fighting themselves to exhaustion—without being able to make any gains.

One of the German aeroplanes that engaged in the raid over London and southeastern England last night was shot down into the North sea and another is believed to have fallen into the English channel.

Ten persons were killed and seventy wounded in London and five persons are wounded elsewhere.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The heralded offensive of the Germans on the western front has not commenced as yet, but activity of a minor nature were reported. Summarized, the situation on the various fronts today follows:

Western—Heavy snow has fallen in northern France impeding movements but heavy artillery fire and local attacks by infantry continue.

Italian—Austro-German forces continue pounding the Italian line in the mountains between the Brenta and Piave rivers, but have succeeded only in making slight advances there.

Turkic—The advance of the British under General Allenby continues slowly but actually north of Jerusalem in Palestine.

Macedonian—Artillery duels are reported but no infantry engagements.

Eastern—Grimness prevails.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 19.—Severe fighting between Bolshevik forces and loyal troops was reported from two points in Russia.

Bloody street fighting is in progress between the Bolshevik troops and Ukrainian soldiers at Odessa.

Cossacks are reported to be attacking Astrakhan.

Red guards (the Bolsheviks) hold part of Odessa, but the Ukrainians have fortified the city and other important buildings in the city and have mounted machine guns on the roofs to sweep the streets.

The Ukrainians are using artillery against a section of Odessa held by the Red guards.

At the Odessa railway station a band of Ukrainians was surrounded in a turmoil with people fleeing from the city to avoid the flying bullets. All the telegraphic wires in the city were cut.

A telegram from Petrograd stated that the Bolsheviks have served an ultimatum upon the Ukrainian government that unless it ceases giving aid to the counter revolutionaries they will declare war against Ukraine.

(Ukraine lies in southern Russia and embraces a wide stretch of territory. Odessa is the chief Ukrainian port on the Black sea.)

"Chips That Pass in the Night"

Seven Men Convicted by Women Jury on Gambling Charge File an Appeal.

That the finding of men locked in a room after midnight, with the windows fastened and blankets over them; with marked chips under the bed; with cards and dice in their pockets, and with cards stuck away in unseemly places; with padded tables and chairs on which the occupants of the room were not sitting when the officers entered after hearing voices through the windows using such terms as "I have a pair of jacks," and "like," constituted circumstances of evidence strong enough to warrant a conviction for gambling, was the opinion of a jury of women that tried John H. Sloan, Joe Smith, E. A. Moore, Thomas O'Connell, Leo Austin, H. G. Hinger and G. E. Fink before Justice of the Peace W. J. Smith Tuesday afternoon.

The jury was out two hours and voted, it is understood, five to one in favor of conviction.

Members of the jury were Mesdames C. G. Higgins, C. A. Emsw, Ernest White, J. W. C. Deake, R. P. Logan and J. M. Wall.

The raid was made early Sunday morning on the reputed residence of Fink in the Golden Rule addition, by Policeman W. J. Taylor and Frank Hanz and Deputy Sheriff J. M. Beck.

The police said that as they approached the house a man came out and looked around cautiously and then went back. They were about a block away at the time and assume that they did not see them. They came up quietly and listened outside, where they heard exclamations which they judged were used by men engaged in a poker game. Then they demanded admission. After some scuffling on the inside they were admitted. A few poker chips were found lying on the floor. A search revealed others in different places out of the sight of the casual observer. They said that the men were all standing when they entered and were gazing into nothingness. They were taken into custody and an arrangement entered into that not guilty. There was no cross examination of the witnesses by counsel for the defense, and none of the defendants took the witness stand.

County Attorney F. L. Stephan dwelled on the fact that no Idaho statute forbids the playing of cards, that the finding of the articles that usually accompany a poker game in unseemly places indicated that the prosecution takes indicated that they were doing something which they knew to be illegal and that the circumstances pointed overwhelmingly to a violation of the gambling laws.

"Squads Write" for "Bull" Durham!

Letter from U. S. Engineers in France

The American Tobacco Co. On Service in France August 24, 1917

Gentlemen:

As we are on the Western front where there are no canteens that sell "good old Bull," we are writing to ask you if you can introduce your tobacco into the English canteens where we have to go to get our smokes. This foreign tobacco has no kick in it at all after you have smoked the genuine home article.

Hoping that you will be able to send us some of the real stuff, we are, with thanks in advance,

Yours truly,

Look for the Red Savage Sign

Judge C. R. Bothwell, for the defense, argued that there was not a single necessary ingredient of any offense proven. That there was no evidence to show that the men were gambling and that the whole case of the state was based on surmise. An appeal was taken yesterday to the district court.
