STATEMEN-ASK WILSON TO FURTHER ELUCIDATE OUR IDEAS

Germans Cause of Russia's Ruman Fuss

Factions in Reichstag to Try to Agree on Announcement to be Made by Count Von Hertling Within a Few Days.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—President Wilson was asked today to formulate a definite Russian policy which will counteract German propaganda in Russia and convince the Russian people that the United States is the best friend of the newest of republics.

The request was conveyed to the White House by leading senators and representatives, who included Senators Owen of Oklahoma, Calder of New York, Burah of Kansas, and Missouri, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations; Representative Flood, of Virginia, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee; and Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, ranking Republican member of the house foreign affairs committee.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 17.—Plotting by German agents was responsible for the break between Russia and Rumania, which has brought the two countries nearly to the brink of war, according to advices from Haparanda today.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 17.—The compromise peace terms agreed upon by the militarists in Germany and the political leaders are expected to form the subject of a speech by Chancellor Hertling's forthcoming war aims speech before the reichstag main committee, said a dispatch from Berlin today.

The exact terms of the agreement are not known. It is generally believed that the German government will agree to negotiate with Russia upon the basis of no annexations nor forced indemnities providing the peoples of Poland, Courland, Lithuania, Estonia and Estonia are given a plebiscite to determine what their future form of government shall be.

Ever since the German armies overran Poland the officers and men have been working to create a strong German financial and political institutions were set up and a powerful propaganda carried on to induce the people to believe that they should live under German rule in the future.

The Bolshevik peace envoys at Little Livak have already agreed to a plebiscite in the occupied portions of Russia, but demand that Germany all the war refugees that fled before the approach of the invading armies before a vote is taken.

One telegram from Berlin said that, as a sop to the militarists the Kaiser had agreed to allow Field Marshal Hindenburg to direct the war effort, Germany foreign minister. It indicates also that the Kaiser has withdrawn his support from the junkers, at least for the time being.

The new fatherland party, led by Admiral von Tirpitz, has adopted a resolution demanding the retention of part of the Belgian coast and that part

The excuse of the mutiny was said to be the unrest over the extra long cruises the submarines are compelled to make.

SECRETARY LANSING WISHES WORLD INSIDE OF PLOT TO HURT FRANCE

Former Prime Minister Leagued With Hun

Publication Believed to be Due to Probably Effect on Argentine Where the Intrigue was Carried On.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Further proof that German intrigue was rampant in Argentina as far back as February...

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Two telegrams dealing directly with former Premier Caulliaux and sent by former German Ambassador Count von Bernstorff...

It is likely that the making public of these cables today will have a good effect politically from the standpoint of the United States on the situation now existing in Argentina...

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Two telegrams dealing directly with former Premier Caulliaux and sent by former German Ambassador Count von Bernstorff...

It was as a result of these telegrams, copies of which were furnished to the French government by the Secretary of State Lansing, that the arrest of the French former premier took place a day or so ago.

The two telegrams were sent by Bernstorff to the German foreign office on February 4, 1915. Their tone indicates that Caulliaux was bitterly opposed to the French government...

Bernstorff also assures the German government in this telegram that Caulliaux "sees through the policy of England perfectly."

The statement, as made public by the state department today, is as follows: "The department of state communicates to the press the following telegram by Count Bernstorff to his government on February 4, 1915."

"No. 178. Buenos Aires telegraph the following: No. 11. Caulliaux has been in Buenos Aires for a short stay and is going direct to France, evidently on account of the (group undesirable) scandal which he regards as a personal attack upon himself. He speaks contemptuously of the president and of the rest of the French government with the exception of Briand. He does not anticipate the complete overthrow of France. He sees in the war now a struggle for existence on the part of England. Although he spoke much of the 'indisclosures and clumsy policy of the Wilhelmstrasse and professedly in behalf of German interests, he is, in essentials, hardly changed his potential orientation. Caulliaux welcomes indirect attacks from me but he emphasized the extreme caution which he is obliged to show as the French government has said that he watched even his words in its regard. He is by our papers and especially the Neue Prele Press, and desired on the other hand that Bernstorff and Moroccan agreement should be adversely criticized. Our praise injures his position in France. Caulliaux's reception here was cool. His report about Brazil had nothing new."

"On his return to France he will begin to work with those who reside in his constituency. He fears Paris and the fate of Jaures." (Signed) Bernstorff. "292. Naval attaché to Admiralty staff Lisbon telegraph: 'Tel. No. 2. Janiro, telegraph steamer Arguaya left Buenos Aires January 30. The captain is carrying important papers. Capture very desirable. Caulliaux is on board. In case of capture Caulliaux should, in an unobtrusive way, be treated with courtesy and consideration. Can you inform our cruisers?' (Signed) Bernstorff."

RED CROSS DEPARTMENT

Mrs. John E. White, county campaign manager of the Christmas membership drive, received a letter from Mr. Gypson, state campaign manager, stating that no county in the state had made a better showing than Twin Falls, and congratulated the women who were active in the drive.

The auxiliaries have been asked to supply a number of hospital emergency coats for use at Camp Lewis hospital. This drive has been held for one hundred of these coats, fully equipped at a cost of about fifty dollars each. Filor has already pledged three coats.

The Junior Red Cross has pledged itself to supply one hundred comfort pillows. The pillows are in great demand and may be made at home out of any piece of white material, 14x15 inches, filled with shavings of oak flannel or any soft material. Let the children help you with the snuggling. As soon as the pillows are finished they should be left at the sewing room.

Superintendent H. G. Blue has been appointed county chairman of the Junior Red Cross auxiliary work. He is to organize the work in the schools throughout the county.

Five hundred yards of gauze, making not less than 2,000 dressings, have been ordered for the surgical and dressing classes. The women now at work are doing splendidly but more are needed. Let every woman in Twin Falls devote some time to the work.

A map of Twin Falls county, donated by Mr. Nyhaug, is at headquarters, showing the seventeen auxiliaries and the territory which they will cover. The territory belonging to each. This division of territory has been made under the supervision of Mrs. J. E. White, county chairman of the Junior Red Cross auxiliary work.

An urgent call has been received from Seattle for the women of this division to rush all knitted goods. There is a great need for our boys' over ties for sweaters, socks, belts and winter underwear.

The Pler schools will organize a Junior Red Cross auxiliary this week. A hundred members of the Red Cross club have been received at headquarters and may be had for twenty-five cents each. The collared pins which were to have been here for the Christmas drive have not yet been received.

An electric cutting machine has been ordered for use in the sewing rooms. This will greatly facilitate the work and will allow the sewing committee to supply more work for the local and rural auxiliaries. At present twenty-four members of our sewing club are giving their time exclusively to this work.

Mrs. J. E. White is visiting the different auxiliaries each week to explain points not understood and to stimulate interest in the Red Cross work. She is meeting with splendid success.

Last week there was a meeting with Mrs. Caldwell at Knoll, which covers the Pleasant View and Park Lane districts. Mrs. Coburn was elected vice chairman to succeed Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. McMullan will take charge of the public work. Mrs. Herz was elected chairman of the sewing department.

The children of the Curry school gave an entertainment last week, earning enough money to adopt a French orphan. Baby shirts that are in good condition or old underwear from which these shirts could be cut are needed at the Refugee Rooms. Any warm material suitable for baby garments will be appreciated.

The following knitted goods were shipped during the month of December, 10 scarfs, 34 sweaters, 140 pairs of socks, 10 pairs of wristlets and seven helmets.

Myrtle Selwitz, an eight year old girl in the third grade of the Washington school has made and mounted a full sized comforter and donated it to the Junior Red Cross. The children of the eighth grade at the Washington school will make thirty-five ambulance pads during this week.

Can You Beat It? We Can Repeat It!

Meaning, Of Course, That In The Pending W. S. B. War Drive Twin Falls County Can Repeat Her Glorious Record In Past Drives.

Primarily, this writing is to announce that the drive, or effort to put on its feet the campaign for the sale of war stamps and "baby bonds" in this county will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the 24th, 25th and 26th of this month.

In the second place it is desired to announce that a meeting of all workers in former drive organizations and all others interested has been called at the rooms of the Commercial club on Wednesday evening of this week, beginning at eight o'clock sharp, to perfect the organization and make plans for the campaign indicated.

In the third place, the TIMES offers, entirely unselfishly, a few more or less relevant thoughts of its own upon the proposed drive and the local situation. In view of the former, the latter now offers the supreme test of the energy, the ability and the absorbing and self denying patriotism of the people of our community. The "real drives" have been staged here—two for the Liberty Loan, two Y. M. C. A. and one Red Cross, and in every instance this county far exceeded the quota assigned to her, actually troubling it in one of them. Now that another chance is given needed financial aid to our government is at hand, and with a third Liberty Loan in the near future, does any one think that we have in the past been too liberal—have done too much?

Surely no one will, after consideration, answer that question affirmatively. This is a time when it is not possible for any loyal citizen to do too much. In fact, too much is just enough. The only limit for every man, woman and child is his or her most, and best! The world-struggle between the forces of liberty and progress on the one hand and tyranny and decadence upon the other is now on. The United States has enlisted in the cause for which she has long stood paramount in all the world. She pledges absolutely all to the successful cause and calls upon her sons and daughters to ratify the pledge. Millions of young men are offering and offering the supreme sacrifice, life itself! What, then, are soldiers, few or many?

From the strictly practical point of view, the present is both attractive and advantageous. The child can save its quarters and exchange for the baby bond, receiving five dollars for every dollar paid by holding, and can at any time realize cost with three per cent thereon in cash. Anyone who can dig up a hundred dollars, or any number thereof, can do the same thing—the only possible loss to him being the three or four per cent higher interest derived from an ordinary loan; and the latter is always for a fixed period, while the bond can be converted at any time. Both these sources must contribute, not only once, but again and again. If the ultimate goal is to be reached within the year, "that such will be the spirit of our people leaves little doubt."

Commodions and Up To Date Show Place In Contemplation By Capitalists—Plans Being Prepared. Robert Payson, acting for others, has secured options on several pieces of property on Shoshone street, with a view of ascertaining the very best location for a theatre building. One of the sites is the vacant corner of Shoshone street and Fourth avenue north, which is a very slight corner, over looking the court house and grounds, and may be selected for the theatre site. Plans are already well under way, and it is announced that the very latest and best of architecture will govern. Among the conveniences planned for the comfort of the patrons will be a commodious lobby, so arranged that there will be no discomfort from crowding, either in entering or leaving the theatre. The seating will be planned with the same idea of comfort in view. Ladies' rest room and gentlemen's smoking room will be provided in convenient places. The entire structure will be about 1500. Burton E. Morse is preparing the plans. Negotiations for the lease of this building are about completed and as soon as signed, construction will begin. Building to be completed by May first.

DRAFT BILL INTRODUCED IN THE SENATE

ALL REACHING TWENTY-ONE SINCE JUNE 5, 1917 IN-CLUDED

Further Regulations Provided

Law to Empower Homes to Conserve Food in Homes Pending—President Asked to Declare Holidays in Eastern States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Immediate registration of all young men who have become of age since June 5, 1917, was proposed in a joint resolution submitted to the senate today by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military affairs committee. The bill was one of a series of new measures backed by the war department to strengthen America's fighting forces. It is estimated that it would take half a million men to those available for the draft.

Another bill removes all legal obstacles to the drafting of men according to the class in which they are placed by their answers to the questionnaire. It would also end the levying of quotas upon the basis of population, which has caused so much dissatisfaction in states where the alien population is large. Instead, it would apportion the levy upon the basis of the number of men in Class I.

Senator Chamberlain submitted to the senate a copy of a letter from Secretary Baker endorsing the measure and urging earliest enactment. The secretary of war would be given additional authority in the granting of furloughs in another bill, to permit furloughs to drafted men from farms during harvest time.

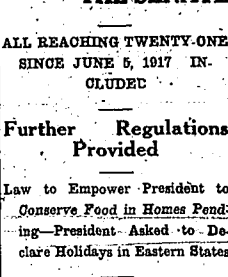

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska proposed a measure authorizing the president to strike from the army desertion lists the names of men who deserted in peace time. Senator McKellar of Tennessee fathered a bill providing severe punishment for merchants and dealers "gouging" officers and enlisted men. Senator Williams of Mississippi offered a bill to issue clothing and equipment to officers on the same plan followed in the issue of clothing to enlisted men.

All of the measures were sent to the senate military affairs committee.

Most of them probably will be reported as lost to the belief of the war department that all calls in immediate prospect can be filled from Class I. Secretary Baker wrote. Since Class I is the class of those most available for military service throughout the entire United States the equity and justice of apportioning quotas to the various states in proportion to the number of men in Class I seems to be no argument. Another bill would exempt government automobiles from the war tax in the recently enacted revenue bill. Another would suspend the tariff on war materials when the duty would have to be paid out of departmental funds. Drastic penalties were provided in another measure for any person buying army or navy goods from officers and enlisted men. Authority would be extended to the secretary of war to issue buttons or badges to men accepted or rejected from military service under the provisions of another bill. WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The food administration's new sweeping measure to carry compulsory conservation into every kitchen in the country was unveiled in both houses today. This afternoon, Senator Pomoreno of Ohio introduced it in the senate and Representative Lever of South Carolina in the house. The Pomoreno-Lever bill gives authority to the president to be exercised through the food administration to impose any regulations necessary to conserve food upon any group of persons or individuals. His powers in this respect would be practically unlimited and the most drastic penalties are provided to carry them into effect. NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—President Wilson will be asked by the fuel administrators of New York state and Massachusetts to declare Monday of each week a legal holiday until further notice in the new England states, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland until the coal problem is solved. It was learned today. This decision was reached here last at a meeting of the fuel administrators of Massachusetts and New York. By this plan it was said, 250,000 tons of coal would be saved weekly. Predatory Animal to Go Says A. N. L. A. Livestock Convention at Salt Lake Wants Hog a Million to Destroy Wild Beasts. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 14.—With many high government officials and delegates from throughout the country, the American National Livestock association opened its annual convention here today with an urgent request to congress for the appropriation of $500,000 for immediate use in exterminating predatory wild animals and to change the federal food administration's ruling to substitute painless days throughout the nation in lieu of meatless days. President I. T. Pryor, in his annual address laid particular stress upon the effect of lifting restrictions upon consumption of beef, veal, mutton and lamb, and encouraging the added consumption of mutton and lamb as a means of conserving the pork supply sufficiently to meet the demand for consumption. That the United States has not yet reached its maximum production of livestock and that prices will be reduced in the near future, the change is made in lifting the ban on beef, mutton and lamb, on the present meatless day plan, were subjects upon which President Pryor enlightened the stockmen. Besides the president's address the morning session was taken up with addresses by the secretary of the association, Simon Bamberger of Utah; Mayor Mort of Salt Lake, and M. K. Parsons, second vice president of the stockmen's organization. This afternoon the delegates listened to addresses upon the following subjects: "Relation of Federal Government to the Producer in the Present Emergency," Frank J. Hagenbarth; "Relation of Live Stock Organizations to Transportation," Sam H. Lewis; presentation of the association; and "What a Fair Enforcement of the Twenty-eight Hour Law Means to Livestock Interests and the Railroad," J. V. De Lanoy, Minneapolis. Joint Meeting at Murtaugh Saturday Murtaugh Settlers' Association and Murtaugh Irrigation District—Plenty of Water and Pumps are Coming. By-laws were adopted at the regular meeting of the Milner Settlers' association held at the Murtaugh school house last Saturday evening and presided over by the President, the Rev. J. H. H. The company is composed of those who have signed contracts with the Milner Canal company. The promoters and finance committee are doing all in their power to complete the first lift in time for spring watering. Auger pumps for the system are ready and are to be shipped at once. Work will be started at once on the pump house. The members say that they have plenty of water and seventeen miles of canal and hope to have the system in operation before long. Arrangements have been made for a meeting with the officers and stockholders of the Murtaugh Irrigation district for 8 o'clock next Saturday when a general discussion of conditions on the project will take place.

Twin Falls Soldier at San Diego, Cal.

A New Soldier Contributor to The Times from a New Locality—Life in Camp And the Y. M. C. A.

Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, Cal. December 28, 1917

Dear Brother: I just received your letter and certainly was glad to hear from you. I have been here two weeks and like the place fine. Everyone says it is the best port in the country. The fort is located on a hill facing east. It overlooks the bay and the city. I have not worn a coat since coming here. Everything is full of oranges all the time, oranges ripe and I saw a banana tree with fruit nearly ripe. There are many companies here, about 7000 men. I understand Camp Kearney near San Diego has 4000 men. In town the streets are yellow with khaki. There are also marine and aviation, arial stations near here too. The flying corps is on an island in the center of the bay. We see from 15 to 40 machines in the air all day.

I have been appointed clerk of the company. It is a good place. I may be promoted to sergeant soon. I mess with the non-coms. The top sergeant and I have a tent together. There are several big barracks but not enough so the new companies take tents. The food is good. Since being clerk I do not drill but have to stand retreat, which is not much fun. The officers seem to be a fine bunch of men.

I went to East San Diego and called on our cousin, Gen. E. L. Huggins and found him quite feeble. He lives with his sister, Jane Holtzclaw. He told me a lot about his life. He had forty years service and in that way became acquainted with nearly all the famous men of his time. He rode horseback along with General Leonard Wood across country on a five days trip.

The Y. M. C. A. here keeps the evenings from being monotonous. This picture shows a photograph, piano etc. I believe the fates were with me when I joined for I had been one day later I would have been sent somewhere else. We have a cousin in San Diego, a judge of the superior court, named Sloan. Very prominent in the affairs of south California. Everything here is kept clean and neat. The barracks have all modern conveniences which we use, shower bath, lavatories etc. I have everything I need, except a watch and don't need that much. My schooling comes in handy. I have quite a bit of typewriting and occasionally some steady hand work. Still there is plenty of leisure. The bay is formed by a peninsula (Point Loma) and the fort is on the inside. There is an old Spanish light house on the point. Here's hoping the war doesn't last more than a year, because I want to go back to my girl. She wears a diamond now. Let me hear from you. Wishing you success, I am, your brother, ROSS E. PETERSON

Congress Busy Mixing Tonics

Wants to Administer Medicine To All Departments Of The National Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The war committee today turned its energies to concocting tonics, as senators claim, to build up and speed up the war management. Scores of members of the war committee backing to remedy alleged defects revealed in the investigations will be presented to congress. Hard fighting is expected with the administration still vigorously contending for a free hand in the conduct of the war.

The senate military affairs committee suspended its investigation to give its attention to the program of army legislation proposed in the Chamberlain bill to establish a department of munitions. Among the most important of the war department measures are the resolutions to make all young men who have attained the age of 21 since registration day—June 5—eligible to the draft and the bill authorizing the use of the draft basis. Under the former measure the nation's fighting strength can be increased by 500,000 men. Under the latter measure the draft is made over unequal quotas apportioned to the various states will be eliminated. It was expected that many of the measures would pass before the senate with a recommendation of early passage within the next few days.

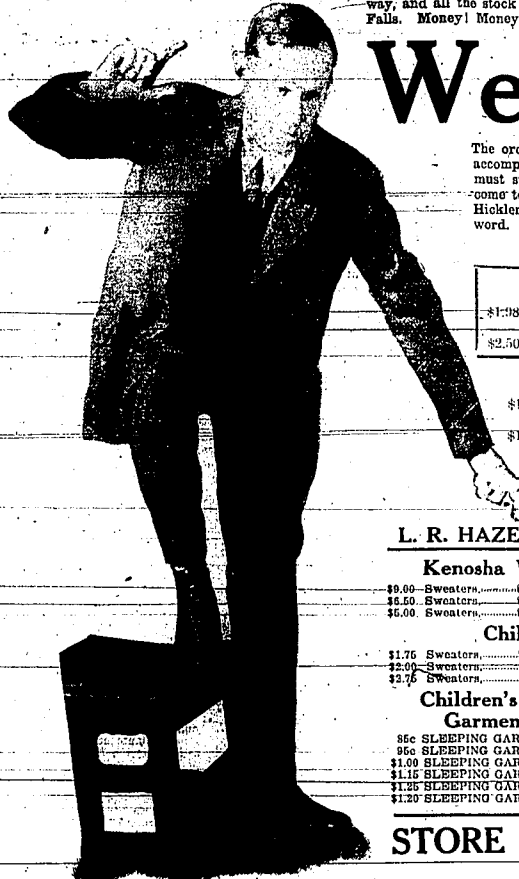

Meanwhile the senate commerce commission, profiting by the information it obtained in its shipping investigation, prepared three important measures to improve the shipping administration. One of the measures would empower the shipping board to take over transportation necessary to carry workmen to shipbuilding centers. Another provides $50,000,000 to meet the expenses of recruiting homes to an extent of 100,000 in such centers. The third authorizes the president to declare military zones about ship yards to prevent their interference with the carrying out of the shipping program.

The administration prepared to throw its whole-hearted support to the food measure ever since it was created by the food administration, to carry compulsory food conservation into every home. Stubborn fighting is expected that over the first food control bill passed last summer, was promised over the measure because of its ultra-revolutionary character. The bill, however, is receding strong backing from the element in congress believing that half way measures will no longer suffice to supply the American adequate food supply.

The period of investigation on the railroad situation also reared an end today and industry is waiting for redrafting of the bill to carry out the ideas of the committees having it in charge. The National Chamber of Commerce has issued a committee report severely criticizing the administration for alleged unfair practices and other activities under one department.

McCumber Gives Sorry Yowl in the Senate

North Dakota Senator Faints Doleful Picture Of Alleged Conditions in Europe. WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—"Stop sending soldiers to Europe and in their place send ships laden with food for our allies," was the appeal made in the senate this afternoon by Senator McCumber of North Dakota. It is the only way to ward off a premature peace, before the United States can bring the full force of its resources to bear against Germany, he said.

"The empty stomach can wait; the empty stomach can't wait," Senator McCumber exclaimed. "Just now our allies need our food a thousand times more than they need our men." Senator McCumber painted a gloomy picture of the entire war situation. The United States has deceived itself, he declared, in underestimating the striking power of the central powers and overestimating the strength and resources of the entente. Today the central empire hold 3 1/2 times as much territory from which to draw their support as the allies have in Europe, he said, and in addition, on the basis of population, they can outnumber the allies in the field by from 5 to 6 million men.

Assuming that Italy and France remain in the fight, which he feared was too optimistic an assumption, Senator McCumber estimated that at this time the United States should have seven million men in the field to put the entente on even terms with their enemies. He believed, however, that if Great Britain were properly supplied with food, she and the United States could continue the war for forty years, if necessary.

WHENCE THE SADNESS

It is right and proper at this time to inquire in regard to the political influence prompting actions and utterances of Senator McCumber in the senate of the United States. There is no evidence to sustain his imputation that the allied nations are starving. They are not asking us to cease sending men in order to send food alone. Strange that neither statesmen nor war staffs have discovered the things which McCumber has discovered. They have not discovered them, because they are not true. McCumber is not a genius as a statesman, but he is a shrewd politician. He has discovered this alleged condition at a time when it is to his interest to discover it, for some sinister purpose and to get the support of some element that is posing as being patriotic. What, that element is, the distance is too great to determine at this time, but it is worth watching.

A NEW RICHMOND

The cause of the critics of the administration will not be greatly strengthened by the accession to their ranks of the National Chamber of Commerce. Unfortunately for itself, the Chamber got on the wrong and unpopular side of almost every act of legislation, on the great program of construction carried through by the Wilson administration before the war broke out. It is owned and controlled by the reactionary element of Big Business, and of no other organization save the American Protective Tariff League; could it be so truthfully said that in popular estimation "every knock is a boost."

This, of course, does not mean that the men behind the chamber are necessarily personally dishonest, or moved by motives which they realize to be unpatriotic. They are educated in a certain obsolete school, and have won personal success while playing the game according to the rules then in vogue. They judge everything by such rules. Not everyone who is doing pro-German work today is a pro-German. The Kansas City Post is wrong in implying that Colonel Roosevelt is a traitor in intent. Colonel Roosevelt and his little coterie of cronies are just in the same position that General Fremont and his little knot of kickers were in 1864. Fremont was a patriot, so were the men behind him patriots. They wanted to save the Union, but they thought that Lincoln was sleeping on the job. Hence every one of the numerous small errors as well as the few big errors of administration grew to vast proportions in their eyes. Horacio Greely, a former and famous at the administration and some people were misled into thinking that Lincoln was a "good old soul," but quite unfit to cope with the situation; that his cabinet was inefficient, and that things were going to the dogs generally. General Fremont was just as brave a man as Colonel Roosevelt, and meant just as well and did about as much, and as little, harm as the colonel is doing now. Greely and a few newspaper hucksters made for as much noise as the frequently less well-tinted, pipers that are now hampering the administration.

Then as now congress wanted to run things. Then as now it found itself mistaken, according to all historical tests. Then as now its few grains of sound advice was diluted with a deluge of the waters of ignorance, from which the germs of malice were not filtered. If congress had only then confined itself to control and disfirming activities and not tried to "run a war with a debating society" as Wellington would put it, it would have left a better impression on posterity. The present congress might read history with profit. Concentration is needed. In this the chamber of commerce is right, but it is needed under the executive branch of the government.

It was fortunate for the Union in 1864, as it is fortunate for the democracy of the world today, that the people then understood, and now understand, that administrations are but human and therefore liable to error; also that critics are human and liable to be mistaken. Today as in 1864, the people stand by the administration in the right.

WAR INDUSTRY EXEMPT

by the responsible officials of the American Federation of Labor. Secretary FRANK MORRISON, secretary of that organization, as he was leaving his home for headquarters today, said: "It looks to me as though it was far better for the workers to lose five days wages than to freeze to death and the latter condition threatens them if the fuel is not conserved."

Reports that many heads of industries throughout the country intended to appeal to the courts to prevent the order being enforced caused no alarm at fuel administration headquarters. There it was stated that the order, when issued, would be entirely complied within the law creating the fuel body and providing for its powers. Violators will be liable to a fine of $5,000 and a year's imprisonment. When it was asked whether this was not a very slight penalty and one that would be defied, an official said: "Men who defy this order will have to answer to the public for their action. President Wilson has approved this plan because he believes that it is necessary to prevent a very serious disaster to the nation. "As a matter of fact, the present issue is above all law. The protection of its citizens and the preservation of their lives and their health is the first requisite of the government." That generally speaking, summed up the opinions of the men who will enforce the new order. They took little stock in the declaration that this order would be accepted in any way as a confession of weakness and would give aid and comfort to the enemy. On the other hand they said that it would show the officials of the nation just how far the United States was able to go in co-ordinating her resources for war purposes.

The reason most war industries was included in the order, officials said, was the first to show that there was no favoritism on the part of the officials and second, because the various plants manufacturing war products have enormous completed supplies on hand which cannot be moved until the railroads are again working full blast. The order is expected to greatly assist in breaking the freight congestion on all of the railroad east of the Mississippi. It is expected the railway Director McAdoo will order the railroads not to move products from the tied up plants until the stuff now in stock reaches the various destinations and is unloaded.

State fuel administrators will be allowed to issue emergency orders moving such portions of the general order, as proved unworkable. It was also emphasized again today that the order will be enforced to the very letter, and that manufacturing establishments which have a large supply of coal on hand will not be allowed to keep open a hot blast. The order, officials say, means just what it says. Industry is suspended as an emergency measure to save fuel and the fact that such fuel is on hand will have no bearing on the case.

While the figures of coal production, consumption and reserve, which were prepared by the agents of Dr. Garfield, and the federal trade commission were not made public, officials said that they indicated a serious shortage of coal in the country was about sixty million tons. This amount already has been reduced by voluntary saving chiefly by households, to about one-half of that amount. Now Dr. Garfield claims that he will save thirty million tons by his shut down policy. If he can do this, the officials of his department declare, he will allow the nation again to start "all square."

It was explained here today that the custodians of all buildings naturally will be allowed to take precautions to prevent warships and power plants from freezing up. But they will be compelled to make such measures as they take entirely emergency. And the order will exempt certain steel mills, blast furnaces and all industries which require several days to get going once they are shut down to complete the operation. One thing which it was very plain today will result from the action of the fuel director, and that is that an impetus will be given the proposition for government ownership and operation of the coal mines. It is argued that there is a very grave shortage of labor in certain mines which would be remedied if they were operated under government conditions. In addition with the railroads already under government control, the next logical step, officials who have been watching the situation say, is to take over the mines.

Holds Two Sales—C. A. McMaster, as sales manager announces two sales. At one of these next Tuesday at the sale pavilion in this city will be offered forty head of registered Short-horn bulls and cows. On the Thursday following eighty head of good horned and mixed will be placed on sale at the pavilion. Both sales begin at 1 o'clock.

Sale at Fairview Ranch—T. J. Ryan will sell at public auction on the Fairview ranch a mile south and three-and-a-half-miles west of the South Park grocery in Twin Falls; two miles south and a quarter of a mile east of Quarry and three quarters of a mile northeast of Knoll siding, on Tuesday, January 29, six head of horses, and many other articles of cattle. Appoints—Deputies—T. A. Rutledge, for Mortaugh, W. P. Erickson, for Kimberly; Robert Stee and A. J. Mills for Buhl; J. B. Paetz, for the Salmon tract, and S. Claude Stewart, for this city and Pflizer, constitute the list of deputy assessors announced by County Assessor George W. Wilcox yesterday. Mr. Wilcox will assess the additions to the county immediately around this city. There is much extra work connected with the office on account of the unusual amount of agriculture in data which it is made imperative on the assessor to collect, but Mr. Wilcox says he hopes to be able to maintain his forces so as to take care of it.

The Measure of Man—The Moscow Star-Mirror has this to say regarding a speech there by Senator Aberdeen of Twin Falls, during his recent visit to the northern part of the state. "There is food for thought in one observation made by Senator S. P. Aberdeen while in Moscow—when a man accepts an office he should qualify for it. It is a tragic thing in the life of any man when he reaches the point where he can no longer learn. It is a fine thing to see a man past his meridian still young and with a mind open to new impressions. No man is old until he has passed the point of learning. It is refreshing too, to see a man in office who is not ready to settle down on the usual amount of agriculture in one of the curses of public place that it tends to deaden men, to convert them into parasites. In this whirlwind of human destiny, officeholders must move rapidly or be left behind as so much junk."

Both Tarkington's story of the "Uptown American boy" which attracted so much attention in one of our leading magazines during the past season, will appear in the TIMES from week to week, beginning with the current number. Mr. MacLeod leaves two brothers, two sisters and a brother in Scotland. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Thought Drowned—Sheriff Kendall, on Tuesday received a letter from a medical agent of the Oregon Short Line stating that a member of the extra gang working on the bridge over the Snake at Hoyburn had been missing since the 28th inst. The missing man gave his name as Ben F. Whalen, and as he got away without calling for his share of the railroad's freight, he might have fallen from the bridge, unobserved, and been drowned, and asked the sheriff to advise should any

At present he is located next to the first station on Second avenue south, but he is making arrangements for a new and more favorable location.

Kenneth MacLeod Passes—Kenneth MacLeod, one of the best known sheepmen in the county and for eight years a partner of Robert Rogerson, died last night in this city at the age of 34 years. He was a native of Scotland and for the past thirteen years a resident of this county. On December 31 he was serving as operator for appointment. Feed the Children Butter

E. V. McCollum, of the Wisconsin Experiment Station, has proven that butterfat not only yields energy and heat as do other fats but supplies an element necessary for growth and life itself. In experiments young rats were fed mixtures composed of chemically pure proteins, vitamins, fat, sugar, various salts. They got along splendidly for the first three months but then lost appetite, fell off in growth and starved. When given milk, or if butterfat was substituted for the fat, the little animals began to grow. It was found that no other fat from the animal or vegetable kingdom would produce the same effect as butterfat. Moral—USE STERILIZED BUTTER.

WHY WE SHOULD SAVE FAT

Glycerine, made from fats, is one of the chief substances used in making explosives. That's why the world's supply of fats is so low.

Save fat drippings for cooking. When you buy meat, tell the butcher you will trim off the fat yourself. Melt this for cooking. If any surplus fat is left from the meal, save them for cooking.

Each of us will use one-third of an ounce less of fats from meats a day, America will have 395,000 tons more of fats in a year.

WILEY EXPLAINS HIGH MEAT AND SUGAR COST

(By Harvey D. Wiley)

Sugar is more extensively used than it should be. One hundred years ago sugar was a luxury; today sugar is necessary. The necessity is capable of being somewhat restricted and with advantage to the family. The cause of sugar is quite different from that of bread; bread is the prime necessity of life. Sugar is a delightful addition to a necessity.

Before the war, half of the sugar used in the world was produced in the warring nations of Europe. Germany leading with a production of more than 2,000,000 tons; following Germany were France, Austria and Russia. Now the production of sugar has been reduced to a minimum. Much of the area devoted to beet root culture in Belgium and France is now in enemy hands, and the industry in this region may be regarded as practically extinct.

Suddenly the task of feeding the whole world with sugar, with the exception of our own production of nearly a million tons, has practically been thrown upon Cuba. It was not possible even for Cuba, with its almost unlimited sources of sugar production, to rise at once to the magnitude of the task.

The increase in the price of sugar follows the natural law of supply and demand. The consumption of sugar was not materially diminished; its production was suddenly cut in two.

Allowing for the alleged extortionate profits of the refiner and the dealer, the housewife should cheerfully double the price for sugar that she did before the war. There should be no grumbling with sugar at ten cents a pound because a few years ago it could be had for five. This is not a conservation article, but I cannot restrain the impulse of saying what, in my opinion, we could diminish the consumption of sugar by one-half with profit to her and utterance, and thus would restore the equilibrium which existed before the war and diminish the price of sugar by several cents per pound. Meanwhile let us be cheerful.

Meat is usually considered, next to bread, as a necessary diet. Vegetarianism is probably growing faster at the present time than in any other part of the world. In fact, in so far as my personal opinion is concerned, I am not a strict vegetarian. But it is not the dietetic question that is considered here, but the economic.

All the statistics of the department of agriculture show an increasing population and decreasing food supply. The number of meat animals and dairy animals is increasing far less rapidly than our population, and in fact in some classes is actually decreasing.

The exigencies of war demand a higher consumption of meat among the soldiers. The demand is not only logical and dietetically correct, or not is not a question here. Our people in civil life, with free access to meat, eat less than six ounces of meat per day, the quantity which is contributed to our soldiers.

The nature of the demand and demand, irrespective of any manipulation on the part of the packers and dealers, justifies a very increased price of meat. There is no prospect in the near future of any amelioration. The cost of production of meat is constantly increasing. Meat, in other words, is becoming a luxury.

When the housewife pays thirty-five cents a pound for steak she should do so cheerfully, realizing that only 25 per cent of the grain fed to the steer is represented in her purchase.

SWEET POTATO BREAD

One of the cheapest wheat brands possible is sweet potato bread.

2 cups cooked and mashed sweet potatoes.

2 cups sifted wheat flour (more if flour is soft).

1/2 cup lukewarm water (this will not be needed if liquid yeast is used).

1 cake dry compressed yeast, or 1/2 cup liquid yeast.

1 tablespoon sugar.

2 tablespoon salt.

2 tablespoon shortening (if desired).

All measurements are level (fill). Wash thoroughly and boil in their skins 2 1/2 hours; cut in small pieces. Cook until they are very tender. Drain, peel and mash them while hot. Add the sugar, salt, yeast and shortening to the mash from lumps. Allow the mashed potato to cool until lukewarm. To this add the salt, the sugar, the yeast and the shortening. Mix thoroughly. Next add the yeast, which has been rubbed in both sides of a cup with four tablespoons of lukewarm water. Cover the top of the bowl out of the way of drafts and at a temperature of 70° F. for 24 hours.

Put in a greased loaf pan and bake at 350° F. for 1 hour.

found to be quite soft, add the melted shortening and the remainder of the flour. Kneading thoroughly until a smooth and elastic dough has been formed. The dough must be very stiff since boiled potato contains a large amount of water, which causes the dough to soften as it rises. Do not add more water to the dough unless it is absolutely necessary in order to incorporate all the flour. Set the dough back to rise again for one hour or until light.

Note—Into loaves and place in warmed and greased pans set in a warm place for about one hour or until the loaves have risen double the size. Bake in a moderate oven for 60 to 65 minutes.

GERMANS EXCUSE ATROCIOUS ACTS

Murder, Pillage and Arson Part of Deliberate Scheme of Warfare.

HIGH OFFICERS GO ON RECORD

No Possible Evasion of Responsibility for Bestial Acts Which for Centuries Have Had No Parallel—Officially Indorsed.

The people of the United States are beginning to learn the truth concerning the conduct of the war by Germany. Proof is offered that German officials deliberately lied in their statements concerning atrocities committed by the Belgians and allies. That their own soldiers were degraded by the cruelties practiced at the order of high officers of the Kaiser is shown. Extracts taken from pamphlets issued follow:

The Vorwaerts of Berlin, October 22, 1914, said:

"We have already been able to establish the falseness of a great number of assertions which have been made with great precision and published everywhere in the press, concerning alleged cruelties committed by the populations of the countries with which Germany is at war, upon German soldiers and civilians. We are now in position to silence two others of these fantastic stories.

"The war correspondents of the Berlin Hochzeit saw a whole sack of cigars and cigarettes filled with powder alleged to have been given out or sold to our soldiers with diabolical intent. He even pretended that he had seen his own soldiers smoking of this kind of cigarettes. We learn from an authentic source that this story of cigars and cigarettes is nothing but a brain invention. Stories of soldiers whose eyes are alleged to have been blinded by fragments of shells are also exaggerated throughout Germany. Not a single case of this kind has been officially established.

"It matters little that reports of this nature bear an appearance of positive evidence, or are even signed by eye-witnesses. The desire for notoriety, the absence of criticism, and personal error play an unfortunate part in the days in which we are living. Every one is apt to simply believe, and every eye is deceived. It is immediately transformed into a nose or eye torn away by the trances-trees. Already the Volkzeitung of Cologne has been able, contrary to the very categorical assertions from six in Cologne, to prove that there was no soldier with his eyes torn out in the field ambulance of this town. It was said, also, that people wounded in this way were under treatment in the neighborhood of Berlin. We have never heard of any such thing. In regard to these reports, their absolute falsity has been demonstrated. At length these reports were concentrated at Gross Lichterfelde. A newspaper published at noon and when a circular in Berlin printed a few days ago in large type the news that at the Lazarett of Lichterfelde alone there were ten German soldiers, only slightly wounded, whose eyes had been wrenched out or simply blown away. For information by Conrad Liebknecht the following written reply was sent by the chief medical officer of the above-mentioned field hospital, dated the eighteenth of the month:

"Sir: Happily there is no truth whatever in these stories. Yours obediently, PROFESSOR HAUTENBERG, German Soldiers Protested.

Thus the tenacity of the German War Book and the German quest for frightfulness, suspicion and hatred, had now begun to bear their natural fruit. But the voices of protest was not entirely silent. A considerable number of letters from German soldiers who were shocked by the German atrocities were sent to Ambassador Gerard, because he was the representative of the United States, the leading neutral nation. The three letters which follow, in translation, were received by the American ambassador from German soldiers.

German soldier on the eastern front: (Russein Palace, December 16, 14. "In the name of Christianity I send you these words. "Wounded Russians are killed with the bayonet according to orders. And Russians who have surrendered are either shot down or thrown according to orders, in spite of their heart-rending prayers. "In the hope that you, as the representative of a Christian state, will protest against this sign myself. "A GERMAN SOLDIER AND CHRISTIAN."

The third letter, from the western front, shows the same horror of the system of which the writer was a witness.

"To the American Government, Washington, U. S. A. "Englishmen, who have surrendered are shot down in small groups. With the French one is more considerate. I ask you to let me know what you will do with the prisoners in order to be able not to shoot them afterwards. It is not a secret among the people; one hears everywhere that few prisoners are kept alive. They say sately: 'We don't want any unnecessary mouths to feed. Where there is no age to enter complaint, there is no judge.' Is there then no mercy for the world which can put an end to these murders and rescue the victims? Where is right? Might is right."

"A SOLDIER AND A MAN WHO IS NO BARBARIAN."

Specialists Oppose System

Many of the Germans, as has been already indicated, do not believe the reports of the atrocities committed by the Belgian civilians and refuse to accept the system of frightfulness. The Vorwaerts, the leading socialist paper, which has a very wide circle of readers, has opposed the system of frightfulness. All honor to its editors who have so courageously opposed the powerful military authority! Its editorial, published in "Our Voice," published August 22, 1914, reads as follows:

"What should one say when even such an organ as the Deutsche Arbeiter-Blatt expresses its sympathy with a demand that the beasts who are taken as franchise-traders should not be killed, but only wounded so that they may then be left to die which makes any help impossible? Or what should we say when the Deutsche Arbeiter-Blatt states that 'a punitive destruction even of whole regions' cannot afford full revenge for the loss of a single murdered Panamanian granader? These are the desires of blood-thirsty fanatics and we are thoroughly ashamed of ourselves because it is possible that there are people among us who are such things."

"Barbarism," Declares Vorwaerts.

"On the following day, August 24, 1914, the Vorwaerts returned to the attack in an editorial 'Against Barbarism.' "One might, in the first place, possibly believe that the slogan of a bloody vengeance (against alleged Belgian outrages) emanates from a single disease-racked brain; but it appears that whole groups among certain classes who represent German Kultur want to indulge in a whole of barbarism and to debase a whole system for the purpose of organizing a law of revenge. "What of law and custom! Such thoughts do not sit a 'great nation.' "The law of the Belgians, the demand is made that all the authorities in Brussels—one, the second burgomaster, is generally excepted—should be immediately put to death by a 'judicial order' in order to expiate the wrongs which, according to fragmentary and highly uncertain reports, were said to have been committed by the people. They demand that the captured city should immediately pay a fine of 100,000,000 marks; that all stores of the conquered territory be requisitioned without paying the inhabitants a single penny for them."

Lord Mayor's Banquet.

What a lord mayor's banquet was like up to the seventeenth century may be guessed from Dekker's description of one in "The Shoemaker's Holiday," where the chief guest was Henry V. After being told that a hundred tables were filled and to be refilled with beef, pork, mutton, minced pie and manchet, the guests that "ventured neither walk up and down piping hot, like sergeants; beef and breweas comes anrching in dry-vais; fritters and panicken comes trowling in the wheelbarrows; 'beans and sausages hopping in porters' baskets, cellops and eggs in scuttles, and tartis and custards comes quaverling in in malt-shovels."

Gained Fame While Dying.

Antoine Watteau, one of France's foremost artists, painted his celebrated decorative panels while dying of the white man's plague. He sprang from humble and poverty-stricken surroundings, and was forced to work on the brink of starvation for the greater part of his thirty-seven years. Just as his fame rose to national proportions his tubercular condition became worse and he worked desperately during his last few years to complete as much work as possible before he died.

To Save the Eyes.

To avoid straining the eyes a person of normal vision should hold the book to be read 15 or 18 inches from the face and on a direct line with the eyes. Never hold a book low while reading. The strain on the eyes is much greater when the book is held in the lap. If you make a practice of reading while lying down you should be careful to hold your book at the proper angle.

Next Largest Island.

The island of Haiti-Santo Domingo is, after Cuba, the largest of the West Indies. The total area of the island is 29,255 square miles, of which 19,200, or approximately 65 per cent, is in the western section, or Haiti; 10,055, or the remaining two-thirds, are in the eastern portion, or the Dominican Republic.

Good Stock, Good Prices.

The Argentine cattlemen pay prices for bonded live stock that only a few farmers in America would consider. But not infrequently sell for $20,000 or $30,000, many farmers offering such sums without arousing any sensation. So well does bonded stock pay that amounts of this sort are not looked upon as speculation.

An Evergreen Shrub.

One always associates heather with Scotland, and it is one of the chief specialties of that land of color; but heather, or ling, is an evergreen shrub which grows all over northern Europe, certain species even being found in Africa, where it reaches the height of large bushes.

Bowen Memorial in Court Monday

Warm Words of Praise for Distinguished Attorney by His Brothers at the Bar.

Warm words of appreciation for the life and work of the late Arthur M. Bowen were spoken Monday afternoon in the district court room by Judge W. A. Babcock, the presiding judge, and W. G. Dinwiddie, of the Gooding county bar; A. Barclay, of the Lincoln county bar; and E. M. Wolfe, M. J. Sweeley, Judge C. R. Bothwell, Judge E. M. Walters, Judge John T. Davies and William G. Guthrie of the Twin Falls county bar. All paid high tribute to the ability and integrity of their departed brother. The following resolutions were introduced and unanimously passed:

Whereas, the mortal career of our brother, Arthur M. Bowen, is at an end;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the members of the bar of Twin Falls county, Idaho:

That while we deeply feel that his family, his friends and our community all had need of him, yet we bow in humble submission to the stern decree which has taken him from us;

That as members of the bar we pay willing tribute to his ability, learning and industry which brought him the success in his profession he enjoyed and which was justly his;

That as intimate friends and associates we join in praise of his personal virtues and in expressing the most sincere regret that he was stricken at a time when there seemed to be assured to him the enjoyment of many years of happiness and prosperity;

That an citizen we give voice to the earnest belief that his death was most untimely and in all ways to be deplored for he was most helpful to the cause of good government and the public has lost much through the ceasing of his activities;

That we extend to his family our genuine and unstinted sympathy in their sorrow;

Be It Further Resolved that these resolutions be presented to the district court at the opening of the next regular term at Twin Falls with the request that they be spread upon the records of the court; and that a copy thereof be presented to the family of our departed brother.

Inquest Reopened in the Miles Case

New Evidence Said to Incriminate Wife of Chicago Head Man Once Pronounced Suicide.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Coroner Peter Hoffman is preparing today to reopen the inquest into the death of Harry M. Miles, who was shot in the home of his estranged wife, Mrs. Horace Miles, while attempting to effect a reconciliation. Mrs. Miles and her sister, Miss Clara Bartsch, who have been ordered held in connection with Miles' death, will attempt today to obtain their release on bail. Although they are in separate jails and have not been allowed to confer, the inquest into the death of Miles, according to police officials, Miss Bartsch declares she entered the room where Miles and his wife were and saw him pointing a revolver at his breast. She left to call a policeman and as she stepped outside the room she heard a shot. When she re-entered the room Miles lay dead on the floor. Coroner Hoffman's decision to reopen the inquest was the result of a statement by the coroner's physician that Miles could not have killed himself. This statement is based on the belief that the nature of the wound is such that it could not have been self-inflicted.

Increased Enrollment for the New Semester

Seniors Buy Class Rings—Question of Class Annual in Doubt—Other High School News.

Last week closed the first semester, and Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday were devoted to the final semester examinations. Monday of this week, the beginning of the second semester, saw considerable increase in the enrollment, many students coming from the eighth grade, many outsiders, or former students who have re-entered. The courses have been so arranged that students may begin in most any course they desire. Beginning classes in French and Latin have been organized. Spanish, which was begun at the first of the year, has been continued. No new classes in German have been organized. Many students have taken advantage of the new course in manual training, which consists of the study of motors, and is intended for students who have previously had two years of manual training.

The Senior class is now making arrangements for the purchase of their class rings and pins. The main point of discussion is whether they should follow the design of the preceding classes and have rings with the high school seal and coyotes on the shank, or whether they should have the seal on a plain shank. It is very probable that this year rings will be of the same pattern as that adopted at the last year, as that adopted at the last year was the result of the decision by the preceding classes. The probability of having a high school annual is still in doubt, owing to the high cost of material and the need of funds for more patriotic causes. It was thought unwise to have an annual, as great many schools at the colleges have eliminated their annual on this account, but the juniors and seniors are making an effort to obtain sufficient funds to publish a small annual for the purpose of recording and preserving the achievements of the school for the year 1917 and 1918. A more thorough investigation is now under way, and it is hoped that it will be found convenient to have some sort of publication at the close of the year. A more definite report in reference to this matter will be made soon.

The basket ball boys are now hard at work preparing for a game with the Oakley Academy next Friday. The game will be played on the home floor, and it is expected to be the best, and will be played here this evening. Although Oakley lost some of their best players of last year, it is reported that they have just as fast a good team as last year's. A large number of boys are practicing every afternoon and evening; except Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The basketball teams have the use of the gymnasium. About fifteen boys make up the varsity squad. This squad is made up of most of the best players of the school and from them Coach Natziger will choose his team to meet the Oakley boys.

A large representation from each class is now practicing for a class tourney to be held in the near future. The Junior team consists of twelve classes—usually have two or more teams on the floor every day, while the seniors have not been able to assemble in a motor and practice. The great many of their players being on the varsity squad. So far in the practice games the seniors have been winning from the juniors and sophomores, while the juniors and sophomores have been alternating their winning nights. The freshman teams are doing very good work, but most of their players have never played before and they are also handicapped by light weight. The boys' basketball team is being assisted by Mr. Natziger in the coaching of this large number of basket ball players.

Hidden Loot Is Found at Funston

Money Taken by Captain Whistler Found in Secret Drawer in His Quarters.

CAMP FUNSTON, KAN., Jan. 16.—The loot taken from the Army bank by Captain Lewis H. Whistler, ex-Governor of Kansas, was found this morning. While there has not been an opportunity to count it, it is believed that the entire amount that a check of the funds of the bank showed missing—$82,852.21—has been recovered. The recovery of the money is due to the refusal of Captain Thomas R. Gowenlock to abandon his theory that Captain Whistler did not have an accomplice. Firm in this belief, he started out early this morning to make an exhaustive search of Captain Whistler's quarters. They already had been searched several times and the walls virtually torn away. But this did not discourage Captain Gowenlock and he began a systematic search of the structure. Finally in a corner of the quarters he discovered that certain spots were not accounted for. An investigation disclosed a hidden shelf and on the shelf was the loot, money in one of the bank's money bags. Under orders from the commanding general, Captain Gowenlock turned the money over to the custodian of the bank, Colonel G. V. Packer, judge advocate of the division, who has had charge of checking up the bank's funds to determine the amount of the loss.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT IDAHO IN "REACHING FOR THE MOON"

"Reaching for the Moon," is one of the most expensive productions released by Artcraft. The scenes are laid in America and Europe. An Italian city was reproduced, with canals and gondolas; and a royal palace, with gorgeous costumes and magnificent settings. Combining comedy with sensational dramatic incidents, a wide range is given Douglas Fairbanks for the display of his athletic skill and the exercise of his great artistic ability. This is considered his best work thus far, either on the stage or screen. One of the most terrific fights ever seen on a screen takes place in the palace, in which Fairbanks battles with a half dozen men seeking his life. Vases and statuary are demolished, beautiful draperies ruined and costly furniture wrecked. "Reaching for the Moon" is an extraordinary production, for while it bristles with melodrama, interspersed with comedy, it tells a logical story and expounds a philosophical theory that success is really the attainment of happiness, which is disclosed in a clear and forceful manner.

of France containing rich coal and ore fields. The constituent assembly is scheduled to convene in Petrograd tomorrow, although it is doubtful if there will be sufficient members in Petrograd for a quorum. Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik foreign minister, had indicated that he would put the whole peace question up to the assembly. The position of the Bolshevik government has been greatly strengthened by the de facto recognition given to it by the allies.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 17.—Several arrests have been made at Petrograd in connection with the attempt to assassinate Nicholas Lomine, the Bolsheviki premier, according to information received here today. The Bolshevik charge that the plot to kill Lomine was hatched by the royalists. The Petrograd garrison is being strengthened.

CLEANING FROM THE PIONEER COW TESTING ASSOCIATION OF IDAHO

The Association began its third year's work Dec. 1, 1917, of promoting the dairy industry in the state. It has at the present time 32 members owning approximately 650 cows and 1000 head of calves. The present territory now consists of portions of four different counties, namely: Twin Falls, Gooding, Blaine and Cassia.

Because of their recent prosperity a number of our previous members owning some of the best herds in Idaho have found it unnecessary to continue in the dairy business longer and have passed their money-making stock to some less fortunate men who have just waked up to the possibilities of the dairy cow and these parties have been paying big prices for their herds ranging from $100 to $300 per head, a number of grade cows selling last fall for over $300. (A number of cows thought from these same herds were sold to the butchers, but this was in the infancy of the herd and shows how these men went about it from the start in order to raise up a future herd which would bring something better than beef prices.) This has made it necessary to extend the work into new fields where the dairymen are gaining a foothold and are anxious to do likewise, or at least are desirous of knowing whether they are keeping a dairy or beef strain, or neither, which is best proven by the milk scale and the Babcock test. Possibly with some it may be the desire to excel, which has made them want to join the movement. This can only be proven with an authentic test of their herds. At any rate a great many dairymen were refused membership because of only one tester in the field. If the farmers continue to place such great importance to this district as a dairy center and the conditions warrant it there will probably be two testers in charge of the work before another year rolls around. Such is the outlook at the present time.

Following is a list of the cows and their respective owners which are representatives of some of the best in the association. Some of the best cows are dry at present or nearly so but these will be heard from in the near future:

It is found by comparing the net returns from the different herds that in the majority of cases the herds returning the greatest average profit are the smallest ones where only select cows are kept. This difference is very noticeable when the cost of producing one pound of butterfat three times as great in some herds as in others. In other words, some of the herds with one-half the number of cows are producing as much butter as other herds with only about one-half the cost of feed, labor and money invested. When it is possible to have a large herd and of just as good quality as the smaller ones, it is often wondered why dairymen persist in milking and feeding twice as many to get the same returns or do not make twice the money in order that they may offset the greater amount due for taxes and interest on the investment.

This is partly explained by the absence of a sufficient number of real high class cows in Idaho but the time is not far distant when more of these mortgage-lifters will be shipped from the east into this natural dairy country.
