Dr. Ellis E. Deeds returned from Boise Thursday of this week after a prolonged stay in that city attending a convention and taking the state examination. Mr. and Mrs. Will Shark and daughter and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of Buhl were visitors in Kimberly Sunday, having spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Ellis E. Deeds and John

Deeds. They returned to Buhl Monday. Herbert Hardin, popular young man of Kimberly and Corporal Carl Emerson, another well known and well thought of young gentlemen of this city were entertained by many friends and at several occasions this week. Jay L. DeWaring was a Twin Falls visitor Saturday.

Mrs. Toland, mother of Grace Toland, and well known in Kimberly is still very ill at the Boyd hospital in Twin Falls, having undergone a second operation. She is reported as doing nicely, as can be expected under the circumstances, but the condition is still serious. Her friends are anxious for her early recovery. Miss Toland has been visiting her constantly for the past week or so, and is in Twin Falls again at this writing.

Sylvester W. Wanzon and Monty Brown returned to Kimberly for a few days from Salt Lake where they are quartered. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hardin have a girl baby born to them Friday morning. Several parties from Twin Falls are coming to Kimberly occasionally.

Friends Gather For Social Evening At Home Of Herbert Hardin - Students Provide Reception.

"Friends of Carl Emerson and Herbert Hardin, home on tonight from their post at San Francisco, California, gathered at the home of Mrs. and Mr. J. W. Hardin for a social evening and a good time with their old friends and comrades. Among those present were Miss Smith, Miss Gouvier, Miss Williams, Miss Dymn, Miss Wall, and Professor Emerson and his wife. In the local high school. Other friends were Marie Pettigrove, Mrs. and Mrs. Roland Hardin, George E. Vance, Carl Emerson and his wife, and Herbert Hardin. Mrs. Wayne Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hardin entertained.

A beautiful six o'clock dinner was served, and the evening was spent in music and much conversation about old times past and the new work and duties of Mr. Emerson and Mr. Hardin, as servants of Uncle Sam. Later the students of the local high school, of which Carl Emerson and Mr. Hardin are graduates, gathered in honor of the boys and provided a banquet, and program with many toasts and much splendid music. One of the features of the evening occurred when Corporal Emerson proposed a toast to George Hillis, also a high school graduate in Kimberly, and friend of all, and one of the three boys to leave the school last year when war broke out. George Hillis is already across.

Church Notes
GO TO CHURCH!
Busiest Men In Country Find Time To Go To Church—Do You!

No man is too busy, no man's time so precious, that he cannot afford to spend a small part of one day in seven in the house of God.

Don't let us be in the Sabbath morning. The church services are held at an early hour. Six days in the week a man will rush for the office to be in time for business. That is all right. He should be prompt in his business duties. He should also be prompt in his business with God. It is true that this is a rush-age. But the biggest men in the country are the men whose services are worth as much in an hour as the ordinary man's are in a day, may be seen for an hour and more every Sabbath in church. These men find time to go to church. They realize the seriousness of their obligations and they are not shrinkers. They do not consider a sign of weakness to be seen in church. They want to be seen there. All honor to them.

When you hear a man say that he is too busy to go to church, reason with him. Recall to him that the busiest men in the country manage to find time for divine worship. They are healthy and prosperous and go to church—and thank God for his blessings. If you are ill and do not want to go to church and pray to God that your condition may be improved. And that reminds you how ready some people are to forget God and his blessings when things are coming their way.

But while God is merciful He is also just. If, when people are prosperous and happy, they do not find time to visit the house of God it is not just that God should pour out his blessings and grace to them when misfortune comes.

Don't make the specious plea that you're too busy to go to church. Go to church next Sunday.

Christian Church
V. G. Backman, Minister.
You are missing a great thing in life if you are not attending our services at the Christian church which are being conducted every evening except Sundays during the months of the Organ-Mall Educational campaign. We have had thirty-two additional and a long night of last week and have had a very successful one.

There probably two more weeks of these services to be attended by you and all enjoyed. Brother Organ is a great preacher and his messages have been sane, logical, and uplifting. You will enjoy hearing him, so by all means try to be present at every service. If you come once you will always come.

Our Sunday services commenced at ten o'clock in the morning with bible school. Preaching by Brother Organ in the morning at eleven o'clock, following communion services. Junior Endeavor in the evening at 7 o'clock and Senior Endeavor at 8:45 p. m., followed by the evening service with a message by Brother Organ and music by Brother Hart and his choir.

You must come early on Sundays if you get a seat. House is crowded to overflowing, and the late ones are the sorry ones. For they find all seats gone. Last Sunday the church was packed. So we warn you to come early.

Sunday afternoon's high school dinner was held in the basement of the church. It was a membership gathering and included all members, new and old, and all friends of the congregation. The ladies brought the dinner in baskets, and it was served in caterer style having been put on a table, and the crowd helped themselves. Following the dinner, the crowd adjourned to the auditorium where the pastor and his wife and girls took place. Brother Organ gave a short talk, and the pastor was called upon to baptize eighteen ladies and girls. It was a happy time. The Organists are holding a great meeting in the Christian church, and what are you doing?

Older Girls Meet
in Conference
Kimberly Organization Following Section of Committees Adjourn to February.

The Older Girls conference of Kimberly held their semi-monthly business meeting on January 13th. Several items of interest were decided upon by the girls of which there was a large and interested group meeting at the home of Mrs. Van Houten.

Although the meetings have been temporarily dismissed because of the Organ meetings, they will be reconvened after the Organ meetings are over. The first and third Tuesdays of each month following.

At the last meeting the new constitution was presented and discussed, though not adopted. And it was decided to hold the business session at the beginning of each meeting and follow it up with an hour of social fun, but always closing at ten o'clock, on the account of the students in attendance.

The following committees were appointed: Advisory committee, Mrs. Van Houten, Mrs. Noah Swearingin; committee on ways and means, Miss E. Blynn, Miss Alice King, Miss Mabel Gager, ex-official; membership committee, Miss Bean, Miss Muzette Butler, Miss Molla Daley; publicity committee, Mrs. Gager, Mrs. Alice Pearl Arnold, Miss Beale Halterby.

The president also asked that each committee should present before the next conference their definite plans for future work.

We are hoping that each girl in Kimberly, over thirty years of age will feel herself a part of this great movement. It isn't a club or social affair for a few girls to participate in, but the girls of Kimberly are urged to make this their affair.

In order to interest other girls, aside from those already members of the conference, it will say that at our next meeting we are to have the Twin Falls girls to be present. Let us make a good showing.

We will also have interesting talks by Mrs. N. Swearingin and Mrs. Van Houten. They will tell of some plans for our future work.

Revival Meetings Continue
Kimberly is still enjoying the revival meetings held in the Christian church and conducted by C. L. Organ, national evangelist for the Christian church, and his helpers, Mrs. C. Organ and Carmen E. Mell, the singer.

According to plans the meetings will continue for two weeks yet.

SOME MUD IN KIMBERLY

While the mud binders have been used the farmers are glad to see it for it is a country that needs moisture in the winter for successful crops in the summer.

WHAT WAS IT FOR?

What appeared to be a very singular and irrelevant incident of the Non-Partisan League meeting at the opera house Thursday afternoon was the introduction of Rev. McKaig, the first speaker, of a fulsome epilogue in Mr. G. Scholtz, who is assumed to have lost his position as State Director of Farm Markets through radical difference of opinion between himself and the Governor of the State. The TIMES is not advised as to the details or actual merits of the case; nor did the speaker attempt to inform the audience thereof—except by asserting, in effect, that Scholtz was all right and the Governor all wrong—a rather violent assumption.
 If the sole purpose of this by-play was to exhibit Mr. Scholtz, it worked; for at the supreme moment McKaig crooked his finger and Scholtz sidled out on the stage, made a bow and declared his readiness to serve the dear people (officially, was the obvious inference) wherever—and whenever they would give him the opportunity. And here ended the first lesson.

PRESIDENT TOWNLEY'S ADDRESS

In commenting upon the address given at the meeting last Thursday afternoon by A. C. Townley in the interest of the Non-Partisan League, of which he is the president, the first impulse is freely to acknowledge the unusual ability of the speaker in a campaign appeal of this character. For two full hours he kept the large audience hanging on his words, which were all the time entertaining, vigorous and effective.

Remembering that Senator LaFollette, even now, and directed in the senate of the United States for words used in an address before the national convention or assembly of the Non-Partisan League at St. Paul some months since and alleged to have been defamatory and seditious, the second thought of every listener to Mr. Townley doubtless went in the direction of patriotism. The TIMES, however, can freely declare, and it does so with pleasure and satisfaction, that so far as we have seen, the speaker "came clean" absolutely, in this regard. No organization of such men as composed his audience last Thursday could be a disloyal one, and he was cheered to the echo when he said, "Let us stick together until we win this war." "We will win this war for liberty and democracy." "We have given our sons and our brothers, and our country has the right to demand them of us—and our money as well."

The next thought with regard to the address compels the admission that, as therein stated, the general aims and purposes of the organization which he is championing, namely, "to accomplish better government," are not only commendable, but are precisely what is the declared purpose of every party or association of men that strives for political recognition. Further than this, the new statutory provisions enacted at such a protection from unfair combine and methods on the part of buyers of grain and other farm products to the detriment of the producers, deserved the favor with which they were received by that intelligent audience.

Upon the other hand, it is a safe general proposition that any propaganda for the purpose of organizing for political activity any single class or the citizenship of our common country is the very essence of a selfishness. It is for the reason that it is undemocratic to do that in free America, class legislation is unconstitutional, class privileges are condemned and class anything, as such, is hateful and offensive. It is true that Mr. Townley always cleverly spoke of "the farmers and others," "the farmers and all the people," "the farmers and all others in the state of Idaho," as possible participants in the proposed movement; and the very serious "class" objection may not be raised. This will depend entirely upon the details and methods of organization and effort as developed in the future.

In an address upon such broad lines and with so gracious purpose to all the people, it was not quite palatable to have the courteous stock phrases of professional political agitators and

"reformers" so liberally stirred into the mixture. Why should a man who is planning to himself direct and dominate a new political party, or force the word "politician" as a collective noun, "reformers" who should expellate courts of the country be allowed to as generally veal and untrustworthy? Why should the inference be raised and emphasized that law-makers of honesty and integrity can not be found among the business and professional men of the country, to each of whom in turn, every other citizen goes with confidence in time of need?

But further, comment is unnecessary—especially since, utilizing its copy as a new carrier, the TIMES is publishing on another page here with the notable address of President Townley as nearly in full as the farthest space limit will permit. Its readers can then judge for themselves—which, after all, is the only satisfactory method.

THE LEAGUE PRINCIPLES

The reader of the address of President Townley, not having been present at the meeting may miss the spirit in which certain statements were made and take as literal certain passages obviously intended to provoke a laugh. This would be understood by those who were there, but superficial readers might assume as literally true what in the speech was clearly meant to indicate merely the fact that the farmers are among primary producers, as distinguished from secondary producers; for instance the statement in effect that the people of the country had been supporting the people of the towns. That the farmers could live without the towns and that the town people could not live without the farmers is true, but nobody would live well without the division of labor which necessarily results in the building of towns and trade centers is also true, and this fact is fully recognized, at least by the inference, in other parts of the address. There is an element of sophistry in the statement that the merchant buys at wholesale and sells at retail, while the farmer buys at retail, sells at wholesale. The merchant buys at wholesale the goods which he distributes but he does not buy goods from other branches of trade at wholesale for his private use. Of course, this does not mean that there should not be improvements in methods of distribution. The platform of the party was but lightly touched on. It includes plans for state owned packing plants, terminals, elevators and flour mills; state owned warehouses and storage plants for fruit, potatoes, etc.; exemption of farm improvements from taxation; rural credit banks operated at cost and state ownership and distribution of water power.

This platform has been discussed at length on several occasions in THE TIMES, as well as the peculiar designation of the organization itself. The state owned warehouses, elevators and similar buildings will probably result from the war as a war measure, league or no league; the state council of defense has endorsed a similar plan. Once adopted, this measure is one which will not be abandoned. Improvements in rural credits are bound to come and the activity of the league will bring their advent more speedily. Farm improvements will eventually be exempt from taxation as they are in much of Canada, but they will not be and should not be until similar exemptions are granted in the cities. The trend of things tend toward the securing of publicly owned railroad terminals before the league has time to do many of its things. Should government operation of roads prove successful, government ownership of roads will follow as a matter of course and carry with it the ownership of the terminals. So far as the water power which will be turned over to the state shortly is concerned, THE TIMES believes that it should be developed by the state and power sold to private business, rather than turned over to such business for use or exploitation. Care should be taken to discriminate between lines of activity which are naturally monopolies, like railroads, and those partly so as a result of their intimate connection with roads, like warehouses and elevators for shippers, and enterprises that are purely industrial and manufacturing in their nature, and which become competitive when the barrier for monopoly is removed. The fact that governments are run by men with human weaknesses and limitations should make us careful not to "bite off more than we can chew" at once. The platform of the league deserves study, which is the reason to give so much space to Mr. Townley's speech. With the personal character of Mr. Townley himself we are not concerned. Whether his apparent anticipation of charges against him was based on previous experiences he may have had with similar charges in the past or not, makes no difference to us. We are conformed with the principles of the league also.

It is frequently said that the Non-Partisan League simply revives things advocated by the Farmers' Alliance and the Patrons of Husbandry. This is largely true and wholly immaterial. The warhouse plan was advocated as part of the sub-treasury scheme. It was not an invention of the Farmers' Alliance, something similar having been in use in colonial days in several of the colonies. The Grange was based on a real grievance, and while the particular remedies for aggressions, due to railroad extortions were often "unscientific," the agitation resulted in a lot of wholesome legislation that modified the worst evils at least.

The camouflage regarding non-partisanship is likewise ancient. The Alliance tickets were nominally non-partisan. Old time Democrats and Republicans and Greenbackers and Union Laborites and United Laborites got together "and laid aside partisanship," that is they laid aside the old time partisanship, and joined the Alliance party, afterwards called the People's party. When they had time they looked up the definition of the word partisan and found that "any adherent of a party or cause was a partisan," so when given the alternative of becoming what they denied being, or giving up their cause, they acknowledged that they were partisans. They also discovered that "anyone engaged in politics," indeed any "one skilled in political science," was classed by lexicographers as politician. As they thought after three or four years discussion in their local meetings that they were well stocked in political science and as they had no constitutional means of repealing the English language, they "acknowledged the corn" in case, too, and said it was the duty of everybody to be a politician and to be a partisan of a good cause. In this they were right and the farmers are right in taking an interest in politics, and are not doing their duty if they fail to do so.

But the politician of the now political organization always denies that he is a politician. The politician of the old party has some other elegant and ignores this one, so you can always tell the old from the new. "By their 'bunk' shall ye know them."

STRIKES AND PEACE RIOTS STRIKE THE AUSTRO-HUNGARIANS

Sign of Terror in Petrograd

Boleheviki Dissolves the Regularly Elected Assembly—Ukrainians and Germans Reach Peace Basis—Turkish Navy Gone.

Austria-Hungary—A general strike and peace riots reported from numerous communities.

Germany—Hungary riots, strikes and violent peace demonstrations.

Russia—Many persons killed and wounded in fighting between political factions in Petrograd and Moscow.

Spain—Seven persons killed or wounded in riots in Alicante.

Portugal—Disorder over food shortage and industrial stagnation.

The peace negotiations at Brest Litovsk have yielded their first definite fruits.

Official announcement was made in Berlin today that the German and Ukrainian envoys have reached an agreement mutually satisfactory as a basis for the negotiations of a peace treaty.

The situation at Petrograd, following the forcible dissolution of the constituent assembly by the Boleheviki government has become one of the gravest perils.

A reign of terror is said to be prevailing in the Russian capital with fresh threats of civil war in the air.

So far the Boleheviki group hold the upper hand by exercising a virtual dictatorship.

There are reports of serious unrest in the central empire, especially in Austria-Hungary, but the amount of evidence to be attached to them is problematical.

It is pointed out by military critics that the Austro-German governments may be counteracting in allowing the alarming reports to reach the outside world, in hope of allaying war preparations by the entente.

The battle fronts yield little news of importance although there is a tremendous increase in aerial activity and the big guns are thundering all along the line.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—So serious has the internal situation become in Austria-Hungary through labor strikes and peace demonstrations that Germany has sent large forces of soldiers into industrial centers with order to shoot down rioting strikers and to force them back into the factories.

According to information received today from the Austrian frontier.

There was an unconfirmed report that martial law had been declared in the communities where the industrial tie up is crippling the output of war supplies.

There was another big peace demonstration in Vienna Sunday when old men and women marched through the streets, accompanied by crippled soldiers disabled in the war.

It is now reported that the closing of the Austrian frontiers was due to "Huns" and not to troop movements, as first believed.

There is an unconfirmed report that the socialists have called a general strike in Russia.

The Austrian press is becoming bolder in its attacks against the militarists and is roundly condemning the government for allowing the pan-Germans to force their peace terms upon it.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 21.—A reign of terror has followed the forcible dissolution of the constituent assembly by Boleheviki troops, said a dispatch from Petrograd today, the Boleheviki having lost control of the assembly took possession by force.

Kokoshkin and M. Shingareff, both members of the cabinet and former members of the cabinet, have been assassinated by a band of Boleheviki sailors and workmen.

Both were members of the anti-Boleviki group. They were arrested for the political activities, but became ill in the fortress of Peter and St. Paul and were removed to a hospital.

During the night a band of armed sailors and workmen broke into the hospital and looted the invalids in their beds.

Leaders of the socialist revolution were control of the constituent assembly threatened "into a flash."

The central committee of the Soviet has appointed a committee to investigate the shootings that marked the opening of a new session.

Lenin denied the Red Guards were responsible, but at the same time declared that the Boleheviki would enforce the socialist principles if it took civil war to do it.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—The envoys of Germany and the Ukrainian government at Brest Litovsk have reached an agreement on peace—it was officially announced today.

According to the announcement the agreement will form the basis for a treaty of peace.

In making the announcement the war office pointed out that this is the first time since the beginning of the war that a basis for peace has been found between any two belligerents.

The Ukrainian envoys went to Brest Litovsk at the same time as the Boleheviki delegates, but they assumed divergent attitudes. Whereas the Germans refused to accept the Russian terms, they agreed to treat with the Ukrainians.

Ukraine is a large district lying in southern Russia between the River Don and the Austro-Hungarian frontier. It borders on the Black sea.

Shortly after the Russian revolution Ukraine declared her independence, establishing a capital at Kiev.

When the Boleheviki secured control of the Petrograd government, hostilities broke out between the Boleheviki and the Ukrainians and it is still in progress.

The fact that there are no Austro-German troops on Ukrainian soil may have paved the way for easier negotiations between the Teutonic and Ukrainian governments.

Recently it was reported that the German envoys were concentrating their attention on the Ukrainian side that territorial concessions had been promised the latter at the expense of Galicia and Poland.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—Former Minister of the Interior Louis J. Malvy, was placed on trial today on the charge of holding unreasonable intercourse with the enemy.

The case will be conducted before the senate which is sitting as a high court of justice.

The demand for the impeachment of Malvy rose in the chamber of deputies following the publication of charges against him by the newspaper L'Action Francaise.

M. Malvy himself proposed his own trial on the treason charge.

Fourteen more than a quarter of a million fresh troops in Belgium for an offensive, it was stated here today by competent military observers.

An Amsterdam telegram reports the presence of many Austro-Hungarian soldiers in Belgium, adding that the Provocing is literally crowded with them.

The foregoing indicates that if Germany undertakes a great offensive in the western front, she may make another effort to break through the British front to the channel.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 21.—Representatives of the Boleheviki are now in direct communication with the German socialists, a Stockholm dispatch stated that Dr. Scheidemann and several other German socialist leaders are in that city conferring with delegates from the Russian radicals.

The nature of the conferences was not divulged, but Scheidemann was quoted as saying it is too early to give any hope of seeing a peace conference either in Stockholm, Copenhagen or Christiania.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Turkey's navy has practically been wiped out by the loss of the big cruisers Sultan Selim and Sultan Osman, the Daily News reported today under the headline "The British victories on Turkish soil will hasten the Ottoman empire into a peace conference."

(The British Baltic and the Medjill were formerly the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, which took refuge in the Dardanelles at the outbreak of the war.)

Two British monitors were sunk from the naval engagement which took place in the mouth of the Dardanelles on Sunday afternoon. Viscount Broom, a nephew of the late Lord Kitchener was in command of one of the monitors and his fate is unknown.

The Breslau was sunk and the Goeben was driven ashore where she was badly damaged by bombs dropped by British aircraft.

Prisoner of Germans Coming

Rev. S. C. Benson, Prison Mate Of Edith Cavell, At High School Next Monday Night.

A lecture that promises to be one of the most thrilling that has been heard here will be given Monday evening, January 28, at the high school auditorium by Samuel Cranston Benson, an ambulance man from France and Belgium.

Rev. Benson was formerly pastor of a Presbyterian church in Pennsylvania. And he was a pacifist. He did not believe in war and had said that there would never be another war.

Even when it came to France he opposed to the United States getting into it. As a student at Princeton he was greatly influenced by Woodrow Wilson, yet when President Wilson urged the nation to prepare, Mr. Benson rented halls and held peace meetings, denouncing military preparations.

But at last, Mr. Benson went to war, nevertheless, not as a fighter, but as a peace worker. He went to carry in the wounded. When he saw the Hunns had led to Northern France, how they had laid waste the country and murdered the population, he changed his views.

"The day the President asked congress to declare war," says Mr. Benson, "I quit being a pacifist, and I became an American."

"The Tuesday after Easter I was arrested by the Germans as a spy. I was strapped in a car and taken to where Edith Cavell met her fate and when a German detective walked over to me with a cloth in his hand, I thought my time had come. They led me to me, 'Take the 7 o'clock train for Rotterdam, (Holland) and never come back into Belgium, France or Germany.' I was at it for six o'clock. But I'm going back," shouts Rev. Benson. "With millions of hands clapping and singing, 'The Lord's Prayer' waving over our heads, we went back into Belgium and on into Germany, too!"

On his return to America, Mr. Benson has travelled from coast to coast, spreading the gospel of patriotism. He was made chief speaker in the Los Angeles Liberty Loan and Red Cross campaigns. He has led to many large audiences his experiences in the trenches. He is an orator of unusual ability. His subject, "Back From Hell," has thrilled his audiences everywhere.

The Chicago Journal says: "When

The car was overturned, but no one was injured. It cost Jack about a hundred dollars for repairs, however. His only satisfaction is that now the flivver has its engine wrapped around the rear axle.

Not long ago the Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy girls, some of whom are appearing in "The Kitchen Lady," sent a lot of Christmas berries to the soldiers in France. By some means the girls' letters arrived at the front long in advance of the parcels.

He was through his audience arse and shouted for him to go on. "The Chicago Daily News says: 'Mr. Benson is one of the most gifted speakers to take the platform and plead the nation's cause. He lived up to advance notices concerning him, lifting the audience almost to their feet several times.'"

It is planned to make the meeting at the auditorium one of the biggest patriotic meetings ever held. The Methodist choir, under leadership of Chas. U. Butler, will sing a number of patriotic songs preceding the lecture and beginning at 7:30. The engagement of Mr. Benson was secured through Miss Jessie Warrington, representative of the National League of the Bureau of Famous Lecturers and Musicians.

speakers were urging the government to accept the peace principles laid down by President Wilson.

Travelers arriving from the frontier estimated that more than one million Austro-Hungarian workers had joined the general strike, but these figures are believed to be exaggerated.

Count Togenburg, minister of interior who has been committed to form a new cabinet, is promising the working classes that there is every likelihood that the peace negotiations with Russia will take a satisfactory course when they are resumed at Brest Litovsk.
