

THREE MILLION MUST GO TO ZONE OF WAR

CONGRESSMAN BELIEVES WE SHALL HAVE LONG STRUGGLE IN EUROPE

Revolution Will Prove Ineffective

World Place All Shipping Activities Under Control of the Navy Department—Submarines Sunk as Fast as They Are Built

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Until the United States has 5,000,000 men in France the war will not be won, Representative Miller, of Minnesota, who has just returned from the French battle front, told the house today.

"We must have 5,000,000 and we should have 5,000,000," he said. "We will never win the war by a revolution in Germany. Some slight revolutions may occur, but not sufficient to be of any particular value. There is just one way to beat Germany, and that is to beat her army."

"Germany has 5,000,000 men, perfectly trained, and splendidly equipped," Miller declared. The weak spot in our preparations to beat such an army is our weakness in the department of transportation.

"Add British officers told me transportation is ninety per cent of the speed of the army," he said.

Summing up the submarine situation, Miller said the Germans had built all their submarines and the Allies had destroyed more than 100. Now submarines are being fastened off as fast as they are manufactured. With the return of the summer, there will be a large number of submarines destroyed by U-boats, Miller predicted.

He insisted that one step that must be taken to increase the efficiency of the shipping of the United States is to put the whole transportation problem in the hands of the navy.

He said that the navy must require all tons of shipping, each year and therefore, to maintain three million men abroad, 18,000,000 tons of shipping would be required.

"We cannot build anywhere near the number of ships we shall need," he added. "An independent market for the construction of ships must be created that we have to farther."

Oats Declined—Corn Dull at Opening

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Selling pressure is causing a decline in the opening of the market here today. The corn market was dull with very little trading and opening prices were about 1/2 cent below last close. Despite lighter receipts of hogs at the stock yards, the market was strong. Receipts 25,000; market strong 10 cents higher. Hogs—Receipts 12,000; market strong 1/2 cent higher. Cattle—Receipts 12,000; market strong 1/2 cent higher. Sheep—Receipts 12,000; market strong 1/2 cent higher.

Small Tolls of Latest Regulations

County Chairman Lawrence Hansen Receives Official Copy of the Rules in Force to Date.

The TIMES is in receipt this morning, through the kindness of Judge Lawrence Hansen, county chairman of the food administration, of the following copy of the latest food regulation order of F. P. Dickell, federal administrator, showing the present status of substitutes: To all County Chairmen and Municipal Representatives: By presidential proclamation it was made necessary to reduce the consumption of wheat flour to require the consumers of the country to purchase at the same time one part of cereals to two parts flour, or stated another way, in the ratio of 33 1/3 of cereals to 66 2/3 of flour.

Under the new regulations the sale of flour is limited to the following quantities: by retailers, millers, or other dealers in towns or cities to individual consumers to not more than 100 lbs. in rural or farm communities to 1 1/2 to 1-2 bushel quantities, or less. Gross maximum profit for wholesalers in flour should not exceed from 50c to 75c per bushel. Profit expected by retail dealers in original mill packages should not exceed from 50c to 75c per bushel.

Please see to it immediately that the regulations as to the following among the grocers under your jurisdiction and report promptly to us any violation of the rules. No choice in the matter but that the new regulations must be obeyed. Our interest is in the public good and a breach will be an order on the licensed wholesalers not to sell them any flour, and against the consumer's board of provision of the Food Control Act which upon conviction will subject the offender to a fine of not more than two years, or both.

Honey Still After Books of Packers

Wants Them to Expedite Records of Their Chicago—Packers Say They Are Private

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Francis J. Henry, counsel for the federal trade commission, is in Chicago today preparing a determined fight to obtain possession of records of Swift & Co., Morris & Co. and Wilson & Co., Chicago, which are being withheld from investigation by the commission. The records sought are in the possession of Henry and Henry's attorneys, and the packers' attorneys declare the records are private and in no way connected with the business of the packers.

Reprisals Will be Applied to Germans

If Reports of Illegal Abuse Are Proven U. S. Says We Have More Prisoners Than They

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—It reports that American prisoners in Germany are being treated unhumanely and are being used for military purposes. It was made clear at the state department today that although no official statement will be made, the government is determined to take reprisals against the treatment of American prisoners if the reports are true.

RAILROADS TRY TO CRIPPLE THE PUBLIC SERVICE

W. G. LEE MAKES RENAISSANCE CHARGE AGAINST THE MANAGERS

Head of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen Says They Are Not Permitted to Perform Their Duties Properly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The traffic congestion of the railroads during the cold weather was caused by the intentional lack of co-operation on the part of railroad managers, it was charged at the hearing before the railroad commission today by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Lee further charged that the managers desired to discredit the operation of the Adamson law by inflating artificially the increased cost to the railroads by this law.

"Railroad owners do not want the operation of the railroads by the government made a success," Lee said. "I hope you will excuse me." He declared, "for being suspicious but I have been dealing with these gentlemen for half a century."

"They do not want the government to make a success of its operation of the railroads. I can back up the statement that experienced railroad men are not permitted to perform their duties as their experience would dictate. They know that if the government makes a success of railroad operation that they will never be handed back. Do you think the public will let them go back? That's why I want to see the government make a success of it."

This agrees with the statement made public Saturday through the International News service that the road managers are not permitted to perform their service, instead of explaining, would frequently simply reply: "What can you expect under government control?"

Finance Corporation Bill Is Introduced

Friction With Japan All Gone

Secret Work of State Department in This Country Is Praised—Hundred and Fifty Americans Are Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—As a result of the work of Colonel House in Europe the United States will furnish more in men and means than was expected of it, it was said today.

The Japanese mission and the exchange of the German Secretary Lansing and Viscount Ishii removed causes of friction and makes quite remote the possibility of trouble between this country and Japan, Flood said.

The appropriation bill carries an increase of $13,240 over last year's bill. The total is $42,208,036. The bill carries large appropriations for relief of American citizens and prisoners of war.

Chairman Flood highly praised the secret service work of the state department. The exposure of the Zimmerman note and the exchange of telegrams and the Bernstorff telegrams, he said, had influenced the policies of many South American countries toward Germany.

There are now 150 American prisoners of war in enemy hands, Flood revealed. "It is expected, however," he added, "that there will be more and elaborate machinery for their care has been created."

GERMANS RAID AND SUFFER A SEVERE DEFEAT

Bolsheviki Breaks With Roumania

British Inflict Severe Loss on Germans in a Trench Raid and Capture Prisoners and Machine Guns

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Feb. 5.—Another attempted German raid on the American sector of the battle front was beaten off Monday morning by the prompt and efficient action of our artillery.

The Germans had massed a considerable force before the American trenches, and it is believed that the Yankee gunners inflicted heavy casualties upon them.

Information had reached the American command that the Germans planned a surprise attack on Monday morning without any artillery preparation, counting on Saturday night's artillery duel to have cut the American telephone wires.

A few minutes before the time the Germans were expected to attack, the American artillery began to roar and a barrage fire was laid down all along the enemy's front line.

The censor now permits it to be known that the Americans are holding the line at a point northwest of Toul.

lies 21 miles southeast of St. Mihiel and about the same distance from the German frontier. This indicates that the Americans are on the western bank of the Meuse river, but they never succeeded in getting any further.

GERMAN JUNKERS TO RULE AUSTRIA OPINION TODAY

JOINT CONFERENCE IN SESSION TO DETERMINE WAR PLANS

Victory in Strike Emphatically Holds Military

Kaiser's Representatives to Dominate in All Plans in the Belief of Neutral Observers of European Affairs

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 5.—Decisions far reaching importance bearing upon the future policies of the German and Austro-Hungarian governments are expected to result from the council of the Teuton chiefs which opened in Berlin yesterday, according to information received today from the German capital.

It is reported that the representatives of the Kaiser and Emperor have decided to serve an ultimatum on the Bolshevik delegates at the Brest-Litovsk peace conference demanding definite acceptance or rejection of the German terms within a specified time.

Another question which is absorbing the attention of the German representatives is the divergence of principle in the recent war aims speeches of Count von Hertling, the German chancellor, and Count Cerain, the Austro-Hungarian minister. The Germans aim to bring the Austro-Hungarians into line and to halt any further overtures which Emperor Charles may be disposed to make towards the United States.

Germany not only wants to hold Austria under German control, but also wants to take the lead and hold the initiative when it comes to putting out "peace feelers" to the enemy.

The industrial unrest in both Germany and Austria is being discussed at the council and co-operative steps are being suggested to meet the exigencies of the situation.

The Kaiser is represented at the council by Dr. von Koenig, the German foreign secretary and Emperor Charles of Austria, has representation in the person of Count Cerain, former foreign minister.

General von Ludendorff, quartermaster general of the German army and chief of staff to von Hindenburg, is representing the German military party. Both Bulgaria and Turkey have representatives present but they are not playing an important part in the deliberations.

It is accepted here as a foregone conclusion that the Germans will dominate the council and that they will secure Austria into the acceptance of their military plans for at least the first half of the war.

The breaking of the German strike is being discussed at the council. The German government now claims that conditions in the industrial districts are normal, though the fact remains that the government has taken to wipe out sudden agitations.

Kimberly Marshal Reports Prosperity

Business Rushing—Since Highway Improvement Permits Auto to Break Ordinances.

Dan Herrington, local marshal, says business is picking up since the roads have improved. People seem proud to forget that Kimberly has a speed limit, unless reminded by being obliged to hand over a ten-dollar bill to the local justice.

Mr. G. H. will probably be a happy man when school is out. He doesn't seem to enjoy Kimberly so much since the bride of a few weeks has been obliged to keep her work as a teacher in Nevada for the rest of the term.

W. L. Downing, local confectionery man is contemplating the building of a new residence.

Frank Barnhill is able to be around again after several days illness. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Showmaker, January 31st. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dunks Sunday, January 27th. Ed. Royston returned to Kimberly Saturday from Fayette where he attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. J. E. Williams. Mrs. Williams was formerly a resident of Kimberly and died at Yale, Oregon Sunday morning, January 27th.

J. W. Case, F. W. Brun, Martin Sullivan, Frank Swearingen, W. Rogers, W. J. Hickerson, Gager, Jean Stoelmitz, C. H. Upton, Jim Robinson, and Carl Ridgeway formed the company representing the Kimberly Saturday at the district meeting held in Elmer Wednesday evening.

Clarence Case returned from his trip to Illinois February 1st. He reports having had a nice time, but is glad to see Kimberly again.

Lillian Caspelli has accepted a position at the Varney Candy Store in Twin Falls.

Clarence Rice returned from Kimberly to his home in Missouri Tuesday morning to his entrance into the army.

C. E. Koko went east with a carload of potatoes and will stop over here with his people before returning.

Mrs. Toland was brought home from the hospital Friday, after a long illness. She is now recovering. She is doing just fine according to a statement made by her daughter Saturday.

BRING THE GOOD THING HOME

Kimberly people seem inclined to forget that Kimberly might just as well have some of the good things that are continually going to other places just a little larger. Kimberly would grow twice as fast, and be twice as nice a place to live, and much more profitable place to abide in if all who live in Kimberly would stand by her.

Learn to support home industry. Trade at home. It will pay just as well. We know from statistical facts that Kimberly merchants can offer as good bargains as any other merchant on the tract.

Promote Kimberly advancement and movements. Bring the good shows to Kimberly. Save car fare and gasoline by talking at home and attending home amusements.

In trading to one of the owners and managers of the local theatre recently he said: "We are ambitious to furnish the people of Kimberly with the best of entertainment. We have built a good theatre for that purpose. If we can have their support we will furnish the best of shows every night in the week. But," he said, "it is hard to bring the best to Kimberly when after we have incurred the expense of transportation of our patrons get in their cars and go off to Twin Falls."

The Hallowell Musical company is a success. The people of Kimberly take much enjoy at home if they were inclined to look for their amusements at home rather than abroad.

A local merchant speaking of the matter said, "People need a vision. They need to look to the building up of Kimberly. Live here, trade here, attract others here, and watch Kimberly grow. Every dollar spent in Kimberly increases Kimberly business and capital; every increase in business means an improvement in local appearance and methods and conveniences; every improvement means a bigger and better Kimberly—and a larger and better Kimberly means better place to live, more advantages, more friends, more trade, better society, and all that can be desired."

AMUSEMENT AND SOCIETY

Kimberly people were permitted to see the new motion picture at the north on the 31st of January, as presented by the Lyceum course. The Lyceum numbers this winter have been exceptionally good and it seems that each number is better or as good as the number that was before. A large audience witnessed the presentation of the motion pictures and all speak highly of them.

The Hallowell Musical company of distinguished musicians appeared at the Star theatre Monday and presented their remarkable program before an interested audience of Kimberly people. One feature of the evening was the singing of the hymns by the local theater with the Organ-Moll Evangelistic company. The evangelists began their meeting in the evening and the managers presented their entertainment following the dismissal of the services at the church. The audience at the entertainment was largely made up of church folks. This indeed shows a

THE TYPE OF PEOPLE WHICH MAKES A GOOD COMMUNITY

(Orvis T. Anderson)

Even more than the relation of the soil or the relation of the market is the making of a good community dependent upon the type of people that it contains. It is not the fact that one of those communities which is richest in the fertility of its soil and most favorably located with reference to market is one of the most undesirable communities in which to live. When this is so, it is because of the type of people. Soil and location alone cannot make up for quality in the people themselves. But there is no question, as we have already tried to show, of the influence of these upon the making of a good community. But this week we want to talk about just what kind of people are desirable in a community and what kind are undesirable. There are really only two kinds on the basis of this classification: those who are likely to make your community what it ought to be or the very ones who hinder it. There may be different degrees of the individuals who contribute, just as there may be different degrees in the extent to which they hinder its well-being. Because of this fact there may be even as large a number of classes of people in your community. Shall we venture to name some of the types found in some communities which you have known? And we do not think it would be out of place to name some of the types which are undesirable, since they are like another class—always with us.

The Miser.—The miser is a clearly defined type that every one recognizes him at once, if not on sight at first acquaintance. He is a "little" first with all that the word implies. He is little of heart, and little of soul and little of social point of view. He lives for himself three hundred and sixty days in the year. He grudges no man but himself. All charities are selfishly conducted. He pretends to believe that it takes nearly by all the money raised for Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. work to pay the running expenses, salaries, traveling expenses and for speeches, leaving only a few cents in the dollar to reach the suffering for whom or in whose name the money is raised. The writer once knew an old miser who was nearly seventy years of age. He was a woman-hater. He had lived alone through all of his life, and although he was charged with much for room rent and board, he never contributed to any benevolent cause. He never helped to support the church nor the school. He paid no taxes, not because he possessed nothing but because his possessions were all in memory which he had accumulated through his long life and which he would never deposit in any bank, preferring to hold it where it would do no one any good. He borrowed the other fellow's paper, though a big daily there would have cost him only a penny a day. He wrote no letters, because it was extravagant to pay two cents to get as small a thing as a letter transported from one place to another. The three-cent letter postage was worked no hardship upon him for he doesn't write letters.

The spendthrift is just the opposite of the miser type, and most communities have at least one. The spendthrift works hard enough, makes enough, has business ability enough, but he never has anything. He lives a little bit ahead of his monthly or yearly income, and always comes out convinced that something is the woman of the family who is the spendthrift. Her husband cannot possibly make enough to satisfy her insatiable desires for unnecessary luxuries. There are some women for whom a Rockefeller could not have made enough. One ventures to express the conviction that if Rockefeller had married any one of those women whom any of us could name, he would have worked on a salary all his days and then have died penniless. Now it is evident that neither the miser nor the spendthrift can help in the making of the ideal community. One can't for it takes all his time to earn a support for an extravagant family. The other won't, because he cares for no one but himself and his own.

The Unsocial.—The next type which we mention is the unsocial. We do not mean the anti-social or the criminal, though nearly every community is at some time cursed with one or more of this type. The unsocial is the man who seeks to live wholly unto himself, apart from their fellow-men. If they do not succeed in so living in the ordinary relations of life, they usually do in the other relations. We recall a certain expense and for speeches, leaving only a few cents in the dollar to reach the suffering for whom or in whose name the money is raised. The writer once knew an old miser who was nearly seventy years of age. He was a woman-hater. He had lived alone through all of his life, and although he was charged with much for room rent and board, he never contributed to any benevolent candidate for the presidency. He came to Chicago a few years before the great fire and started a printing business which was destroyed in the fire. After this, he drifted into the country and lived on a farm in the city and with an old bachelor brother and an old maid sister lived in seclusion for more than forty years, never making any part in any community affairs, and never going anywhere except to the postoffice and country store once in a great while. Having been left alone by the death of both his brother and sister some years, when his own health became so impaired that he could not care for himself, he was removed by the county officials to the poor house, where he died at the age of eighty-four. It cannot be said of him that he was a bad man. I never heard any one say that. His chief fault was that he tried to do what no man can do and at the same time prosper and be happy; he tried to live unto and for himself, alone. He was better than the person who purposely sought to injure others, infinitely better. But he was not as good as the man who lived with and for the welfare of society at large. The right life is the social life. Marriage and home and school and church and community welfare organizations all "call" for our support. If we never married, and had a home, nor helped build and support the school or the church, nor participated in any welfare work for the community, we had lived the unsocial life.

The Community-minded.—But we are interested in the other side of the question. Who are the people who do help to make their community a better community? What types shall we depend upon for community improvement? The presence of all those who have done community work in the country, as also in the city, has made evident one thing only as people come to possess the community point of view and to feel some pride in their own community. It is with this type of much value to their community in its welfare. The selfish man cannot cooperate with his neighbors. He is always thinking of himself or of what he will have to pay. He closes up like a clam when a new proposition is presented for the advancement of the moral or social or religious welfare of the community. The man who has some community pride and who is willing to subordinate self certainly makes the necessary quality of leadership for helping to make his community a better community in which to live.

The Well-informed.—In addition to community pride, knowledge is essential in the building of your community. One can no more be the social architect of his community and build it into a useful social structure without first having mastered some of the principles of his art than could the builder of a bridge build a bridge. He depended that vast mass of steel without knowing the principle upon which it could be done. The bridge existed in his mind before it existed as a completed reality and a wonder of the inventive genius. So, he who would build a social structure for his rural life, it is not necessary that one should read every page of this literature, but it is to understand his task, to understand the nature and extent of the social structure of a new era for the country. Life was ushered in when Theodore Roosevelt appointed his Country Life Commission to investigate and report upon the exact conditions as the members of this commission found them. Since then, sociologists and economists, teachers and preachers, and other public-spirited men have been studying the problem and have written much which is well worth reading.

Perhaps there are no classes of people who by virtue of their position are always ready to take the lead in leadership in this splendid work than the teachers and preachers in the various communities. We would build at all times that teachers are fitted for it. In nearly every community there are some who do have the qualifications and with these the time necessary to work out and put into operation an intelligent community program. These should always be willing to work with the public leaders, and the public leaders should be able to recognize such people in their communities who would be of incalculable help to them. It is a community job, not a one-man or a one-woman job. The people themselves need to be educated up to the point where they will gladly cooperate in such a program as is adapted to their community. And usually most people will respond as they are convinced of the intelligence and the social good of an undertaking. The different drives within the last year has done a wonderful amount of good in the way of finding out whether or not the unsocial and the unsocial. In every community, both town and city, these two classes are already pretty well marked. And another thing which the various drives have done is to single out the natural leaders in the various communities and train them for community action. One of the most heartening things which we have seen was the ease with which our countrymen have taken up the "Red Cross" drive. Not only that, but through another thing not less praiseworthy was the response with which our countrymen have taken up the town and country, as demonstrated by the number of service flags to be seen in the windows during the Christmas holidays.

But we cannot close this subject without saying a word in general to the people in general. No leader will be willing to go to find out there is some disposition on the part of the people to work with him. No one man or one woman can transform your community alone and make it a first class community. You must work with him. And it is not an impossible task. It is only a matter of deciding to get out of the rut of selfishness and unprogressiveness and become a first class community. It will find the task itself comparatively easy. What will you do about your community?

California Farms Company January 5, 1918.

Gentlemen: I have lived at Toppenish on the Indian reservation for the last nine years. The price of land became so high that I wanted to get where there was more chance of increase in value of land, and the health of myself and wife required us to make a change.

After reading your literature I decided it sounded good enough to investigate. I found everything fully as good as was represented to me, and I purchased 40 acres and will take up my permanent residence there at once.

I found that the value of surrounding lands in alfalfa ran from $300 per acre up. I saw fine orchards of deciduous fruits and oranges, lemons and olives full of fruit and fine stands of alfalfa.

The land has good irrigation, and the abundant supply of soft water insures prosperity to the man who is willing to get in and work. The roads which you are building are first class and the natural road material makes for good, permanent roads.

This is the 5th of January and I have not seen any evidences of frost. The settlers are all busy plowing and seeding their first crop of grain in order to get it off in time to plant a second crop of general field crops. I would advise any one looking for a home or investment to investigate Capay Rancho.

Now Planting the First Crop

One crop a year from good land today means good profits. Double this and figure what the two-crop Capay Rancho farm will yield. The California climate alone means fortune to the Capay Rancho farmer. Nearly a score of Washington and Idaho farmers bought at Capay Rancho during the past four weeks—scores more will grasp this land-buying opportunity and share in this season's profits.

It's your one great chance—this wonderful grain land, proven for all deciduous fruits, almonds, walnuts, figs, oranges, lemons, beans, milo, maize, barley, wheat, alfalfa, dairying and hog raising.

The electric pumping plants installed free of all cost insure success right from the start. Each Capay Rancher is his own water boss, and the fast-growing cities surrounding provide the best commercial, social and educational advantages. The wonderful paved highway, the railway and the river bring the markets of San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento to your door.

Marooned Ogden Man Is at Work

Because George Worthington, alias Claudio E. Worthington, was arrested in Ogden, he failed to show up at Twin Falls to connect with C. W. Nelson as with the Dodge car, left stranded by him at the Lind-Auto garage ten days ago. Worthington was arrested on a warrant issued in Boise on the 11th inst. in selling "The Letters and Messages of President," he was securing funds for war effort work.

Worthington was in Ogden two days ago to drive his car for him. He represented himself as a commercial traveler. He did not tell Nelson the character of his business, but went to Mountain Home together and after a short stay in that town drove to Twin Falls, where they arrived January 2. Worthington was at the garage and without stating the time he would return, took the train for Ogden, where he was later arrested. He did not at any time so far as known, try to sell anything here.

Nelson is now employed by the Lind-Auto company in Twin Falls. Worthington, it is said, worked in weeks ago yesterday, and engaged Boise last summer and because of his representation to Nelson, he was the author of the books to Spaniards and others, who claim they would not have bought under ordinary representations. He made several sales to foreigners under threats that they would not be considered friends of this country unless they consented for the money to be represented. They learned later, however, that Worthington was not connected with the government, and a number of them refused to pay the checks given him.

The books are a set published by the Bureau of National Literature of New York and the fact that they are set of congress was necessary in order to release certain plates in the company, made it easy for the book to be sold. It is claimed.

An eastern book agent for the same company two years ago made sales through similar representations, although he did not use the war raffle plea, but simply that he was an authorized agent of some branch of the government which did not exist. He was arrested and the case went to the United States supreme court with the result that the conviction and sentence in the lower court were confirmed.

Two Young Wives Gone - Two young women died Sunday in this city.

Two young women, Misses Edna and Emma, passed away from an attack of enteric fever, which first manifested itself after the birth of a son about two weeks ago. Mrs. Edna was twenty-nine years old and was a native of Kansas. She was well known and popular in educational circles in this city. Her mother, Mrs. Edna, sister came here during her illness and with her husband accompanied the body to Manhattan, Kansas, for interment. Her funeral services were held in the Methodist church yesterday by Rev. C. L. Bent. Mrs. Edna had been confined to bed for some time. Her husband, who is a resident of Duluth, died in this city Sunday, aged twenty-seven years. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Gillette, of Twin Falls. She had a husband and parents, but no children. The funeral services were held at noon today at the Grossman-Bishop chapel under the auspices of the Christian Business church.

HITCHCOCK IS BITTER IN AN ATTACK MONDAY

MISSISSIPPI SENATOR COMES BACK AT THE NEBRASKA INSURGENT

Hitchcock Says Baker Showed Ignorance

Made Big Mistake Regarding Ships—Too Many Shoes Bought—Williams Retorts That Germans Are Muckraking.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Secretary of War Baker's recent announcement of the number of men that the United States would send to France during 1918 was declared an exaggeration of the wildest sort and "absolutely preposterous" by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking Democratic member of the senate military affairs committee, in a speech of amazing frankness in the senate this afternoon.

Secretary Baker told the military affairs committee last Monday that "the present condition of shipping is nothing less than shocking," said Senator Hitchcock. "The present supply is worse than alarming. I am sure that if we were to be charged with giving information of value to the enemy, we were only too glad to tell about the present supply of shipping."

"All who are informed as to the present supply of our shipping will be shocked," said Senator Hitchcock. "The present supply of our shipping is nothing less than shocking," said Senator Hitchcock. "The present supply is worse than alarming. I am sure that if we were to be charged with giving information of value to the enemy, we were only too glad to tell about the present supply of shipping."

"Let any senator take a pencil and figure the matter out for himself. It takes fully five tons of shipping to supply one man in France. I am sure that the ships must be loaded and unloaded promptly. These figures take no account of transports necessary to take men across the ocean. They contemplate only the supplying of men over there, it makes no allowance for sinkings, no allowances for delays, no allowances for bad loadings, all of which have already occurred, and are still occurring. It makes no allowance for hospital ships which will be needed."

...that it will not approximate that amount a year from now. I shall not undertake to say how much it falls short. Any senator interested can ascertain it from the shipping board. Yet, the secretary of war, who is compelled to depend on shipping to get his army and supplies across the ocean, is so out of touch with the shipping board and shipping authorities and shipping information that he makes a statement that is absolutely preposterous. I have no doubt of his sincerity but his act indicates again the extent to which one department is out of touch with another."

Senator Hitchcock reviewed the testimony given before the senate military affairs committee during the past two weeks to prove the lack of co-ordination in the government and of the need of a war cabinet and a munitions director to bring about an efficient conduct of the war.

"WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The administration hurled back a broadside of hot shot at Senator Hitchcock's bitter arraignment of the war management last week to prove the lack of co-ordination in the government and of the need of a war cabinet and a munitions director to bring about an efficient conduct of the war."

"I have listened to the senator's remarks and have reached the conclusion that the administration of the war was not in it with the senator from Nebraska," said Senator Williams. "He has made a strong indictment of the administration. He said that he was afraid to tell all he knew because he feared he might be accused of giving information to the enemy."

"Mr. President, this day takes me back to a time not long ago in this very chamber when men stood up here and demanded an embargo on munitions. That was almost as foolish as this war cabinet. That was the German game then. The German game today is muckraking the administration. This was a direct snub at Hitchcock who wanted an embargo on munitions."

"If all the senators from Nebraska says is true we are whipped already. We are out of this war right now. Going back in history, Senator Williams declared that committees have always hindered. "The trouble with you, and the senator from Oregon," said Senator Williams. "Well, he told about all he knew and he said, 'A congress or committee cannot carry on a war.'"

PLEA FOR SUGAR MADE BY AGENTS

ba for approximately 1,400,000 tons of sugar during 1918. "Owing to the war the production of beet sugar in France will be less than 200,000 tons during 1918, as compared with her pre-war production of 722,000 tons. It is estimated that France will call upon the United States and Cuba to furnish her with approximately 240,000 tons of the article."

"Italy will produce approximately 75,000 tons of sugar during 1918, as compared with its pre-war production of 210,000 tons. Hence it is safe to assume that the sources upon which the United States normally draws will have to furnish Italy with approximately 115,000 tons."

"In view of these facts the unusual demands upon the United States for 1918 will be approximately 1,450,000 tons of sugar over the amount required for domestic consumption. The question of making provision for the supplying of this vast amount of sugar is one of the most difficult problems confronting the food administration and we cannot hope to solve the problem without the support and co-operation of every Utah and Idaho farmer who has land adapted to sugar beets."

God's name, do you know, for you are not their peers in mental ability or ability. Senator Williams declared, "Frankly, there has been no change in moral crookedness in this war. What's the use of standing up here and muckraking this administration?"

"What's the use of all this? Can't we all stand together and help with this war? There is not a republican in this house who stands with the president, except a few fool pacifists, whose political future is settled for them anyway. Don't we know we've got to win? And don't we know that the only way to win is by supporting the man who happens to be in authority no matter who he is?"

"No, I believe he would be within his constitutional rights," argued Senator Williams. "The senator complains that there is no plan," he continued. "Did you ever hear anything more stupid than either Pershing going to fight the war or he should be put out of commission?"

Railroad Men Ask Large Wage Raise

Claim High Cost of Living Has Sent Cost of Living Killing—Want Wages to Correspond With Increase.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Wage increases ranging from 30 to 40 per cent for railroad employees will be asked by the four brotherhoods if war started here. It is declared to be the purpose of the four brotherhoods not to embarrass Director General McAdoo by extravagant demands, but to ask increases amounting to approximately 35 per cent of the increased cost of living occasioned by the war."

A. B. Garretson, president of the conductors organization, and W. H. Lee of the Trainmen, appeared before the wage commission today. They gave statistics showing the increased cost of living and the inadequacy of the present scale of wages paid freight and passenger conductors and trainmen.

For the conductors, Garretson asked a flat rate of $5.20 per hundred miles for the freight conductors and $4.25 per hundred miles for the passenger conductors. The difference between the demands is based on the fact that the freight conductors average 100 miles a day, while the passenger conductors average 125 miles a day. The present rate for the former is $4 to $4.18 and $2.90 for the latter.

Trainmen, admittedly the lowest paid of the railroad organizations, asked through Lee, their president, increased compensation through the various grades, amounting to about 35 per cent of the increased cost of living. According to figures supplied the commission, this cost has risen from 45 to 82 per cent since the war started. Next spoke W. S. Carter, president of the firmen, and Warren S. Stone, the engineers' chief, will testify as to the needs of the employees they represent."

Mr. Garretson said today before taking the stand that while the executives of the four brotherhoods had organized to act together when the Adamson bill was before congress, this time they are acting independently although for a common purpose. The organized railroad men, he declared, have the utmost confidence in obtaining a square deal from the wage commission and ed cost of living and the inadequacy of the present scale of wages paid freight and passenger conductors and trainmen. For the conductors, Garretson asked a flat rate of $5.20 per hundred miles for the freight conductors and $4.25 per hundred miles for the passenger conductors. The difference between the demands is based on the fact that the freight conductors average 100 miles a day, while the passenger conductors average 125 miles a day. The present rate for the former is $4 to $4.18 and $2.90 for the latter.

Trainmen, admittedly the lowest paid of the railroad organizations, asked through Lee, their president, increased compensation through the various grades, amounting to about 35 per cent of the increased cost of living. According to figures supplied the commission, this cost has risen from 45 to 82 per cent since the war started. Next spoke W. S. Carter, president of the firmen, and Warren S. Stone, the engineers' chief, will testify as to the needs of the employees they represent."

GO TO THE THEATRE!! "Overhere" And Help The Boys "Over There"

THERE IS ONE THING THAT MANY HAVE OVERLOOKED. IT IS NOT A BIG THING MEASURED IN TERMS OF WAR MEASURE, BUT IT MEANS APPROXIMATELY ONE MILLION DOLLARS PER MONTH TO THE GOVERNMENT AND IT IS A VITAL THING, TREMENDOUS AND DYNAMIC IN THE AGGREGATE. IT IS THE NEED OF RECOGNIZING THE MOTION PICTURE SCREEN AS A FACTOR IN THE FIGHT AGAINST THE ENEMY. IT IS A UNIT IN A GIANT BRIDGE. IT MUST NOT BE UNDERESTIMATED.

Uncle Sam has imposed a tax on every nickel that goes into the box office. It is not a tax for policy, for extravagant expenses or for stored revenues. It is a tax that will help win the war, that will insure victory, that will bring "our boys" back from the horrors of the trench sooner than without it. The government has by no means declared the theater to be a luxury. They have approved it, recognized it, taxed it. They take the viewpoint that theatergoers are persons who appreciate the opportunity to forget themselves and their troubles for a space. They are willing to pay for recreation for its value to them. They are intelligent enough, so the government argues, to realize likewise just what a few more cents in tax will mean "over there."

They need every cent we can raise for their comfort, their equipment, their assistance. Every time you go to the theater, you are piling up the pennies for an American lad in khaki. Every cent of war tax brings victory just so much nearer. Uncle Sam needs the dollars for the war. But he needs the pennies more. Don't advise staying home. It is the greatest year of need for the theater. Historically and politically, it is the greatest year of America, for this nation is federating a world of nations under the flag of Democracy. It is a big task which has been undertaken in big in spirit, wide in scope, colossal in vision. Don't stay at home—You can get an idea of what is going on. Go! and see what task the country has undertaken.

THE WAR TAX AVERAGES APPROXIMATELY ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS PER MONTH AND SOMEWHAT MORE, ON THE THEATERS IN OUR CITY.

Never in all history has the world needed so much help to keep normal and right with itself as now. Never has the theater been so truly bread and meat to an overthought public mind as at the present time. Portraying and reflecting life as it does, it becomes a vital element in life.

To count the stage and screen a luxury is wrong. To stay away from it on the theory that you are saving is all wrong. The government wants the revenue.

"Under the Stars and Stripes in France"

A BIG 7-PART PRODUCTION WITH SPECIAL ORCHESTRA MUSIC AND LECTURE BY PROF. CHAS. ELLIOT LIPPINCOTT. HIS STRONG DESCRIPTIONS ADD TO THE INTENSE INTEREST.

"FRANCE IN ARMS"

ON THE SAME PROGRAM IS

SHOWS OUR BOYS IN FRANCE A FILM RECORD OF THE AMERICANS ON THE FIGHTING FRONT.

A FIGHT TO DEATH IN THE AIR Among the many marvelous scenes is one taken on a French aeroplane thousands of feet above the earth, showing the French aeroplane shooting down a German machine, that is finally riddled and drops to the earth. A NEVER-TO-BE FORGOTTEN THRILL.

Photographed by the government of France. Authentic and extraordinary war film records—never shown in the City of Twin Falls before.

A splendid instructive feature and in conjunction with the lecturer it is doubly interesting.
