"Of Interest to Farmers"

(Edited weekly by V. G. Backman)

REFUSED—$100—AN ACRE

Land in the Kimberly section still continues to raise in value. Not especially upon a speculative basis of buying and selling, however, but rather upon a basis of the value of land for permanent homes and as a money making proposition.

Kimberly farm land is not an enticing object for the speculator. The value is based upon the hot air of real estate boosters, but upon the substantiality of the land as a basis of paying production. The $100 (for an acre of land in Kimberly) does not signify that the owner believes some fool will come along later who can be persuaded to pay $100 for it. It simply means that the owner knows that he can make good interest on that amount of money invested in his property by farming it.

When a tract of country is built up on a basis of speculation, the value of the farm land that means that it will not be liable to a "dead" period. Of course land that will produce a hundred dollars per acre for grain today will not produce more than three-fourths of that amount next year. And if the value of land is based upon the value of its production, as it is on the Twin Falls tract, it will of course fluctuate in value per acre as the price of its products fluctuates.

Land that is worth four hundred dollars or more per acre under this standard may not be worth more than two hundred in ten years from now. That is so far as its immediate value is concerned. Of course it must be taken into consideration that it has a permanent value as well as an immediate value. This permanent value is always based upon its production. And if land is always more or less accountable for its abundant production, it may always have a high premium value.

In either buying or selling a piece of land these two facts must be taken into consideration. First, that if its immediate value is to be the next couple of years? That is, if I sell today for four hundred, will I lose money? For by farming is this year I may make more from it in the long run, even if I have to sell next year at a lower price. The buyer figures the same way. With prices bound to be high, perhaps I can afford to pay more for a farm today than I could next year.

Second: We must consider the permanent value of the land. Let us figure from past facts the minimum value of production and the minimum average crop per year, and calculate from this how much we can afford to pay for a piece of land and feel in some measure assured that we can make good on it in the course of say ten years, taking into consideration the yearly fluctuations of prices on farm products. We believe these are rules worth considering.

BAD AUTO ACCIDENT

Gerry Hagle and son were driving over to Kimberly from Hianson, this week, at the rate of about twenty miles, when the car suddenly turned turtle. There seems to be no excuse except that Mr. Hagle was unable to fully control the car, and it turned over, pinning him and the son under, severely injuring Mr. Hagle. He was taken to a Twin Falls hospital where he was reported to be recovering.

Each week one column of this paper will be devoted to news items of general interest to farmers. Our material is very limited this week, but this column can prove of real benefit to all if the farmers of the community will take time to report liberally their items of interest, such as land exchanges, crop production per acre, new contrivances for saving labor in these war times, etc. Let us all cooperate.

GERMANY'S POLITY—MANIFEST

What Germany would do to America and every other nation on earth if given the opportunity is being revealed by what she is now doing to Russia. After having cleverly undermined the morality and loyalty of the Russian people, and especially the soldiers, and created insurrection and rebellion she finally rejects all profits of peace either according to her requirements or otherwise, and settles herself to the task of wrapping the Russians into a subterfuge of peace, secured by fear and absolute subjugation.

GIRLS' CONFERENCE PROVIDES BIG SUCCESS

Interesting Program and Much Enthusiasm Marks Meeting of Kimberly Older Girls

Last Tuesday evening was held the most successful meeting of the Older Girls' conference. The meeting had been well planned from the beginning and there were many interesting features of the evening. The presidents, Miss Hazel C. Wood, called the meeting to order about eight o'clock with the usual proceedings. When the reports of committees were called for it was found that most of the chairmen had been quite busy, not one went to sleep. The membership committee reported that there was a big contest on for new members, of course this will mean a banquet next month coming to the way the captains are reporting progress, the race bids fair to be close, there being in the neighborhood of about fifty new girls having signed up since Tuesday evening.

After the report of committees, it was decided by the girls that they should spend one evening that had been previously selected as an evening for the meeting of the conference, to aid in the surgical dressing work. This method the girls could get together, and while the meeting would cause no work and planning by committees, they would be aiding their country.

Following the reading of Mrs. Ormsby's greeting to the girls, Mrs. Alice Haykins of Twin Falls addressed the girls upon the subject, "How to Be Physically Fit." In this talk she showed them what their individual responsibility was in regard to the future generations. Among other points, upon things to be avoided, as leading to impurity, she was writing letters, solid and sailors that the girls know nothing of.

She said that the government was taking radical steps to prohibit this popular pastime of so many girls since it is leading so many of them to take rash steps, and write to those who, if it were known were morally and physically unfit to associate with some of the better type of girls, to whom they need a good deal of help.

This talk, highly understood, was fully appreciated by all. Following this was spent the social hour, that was enjoyed by about fifty-eight girls, three carloads of whom were visitors from Twin Falls, churches were also invited to be present.

Everyone who was present Tuesday evening expressed appreciation for the enjoyment of the evening and the stringers and visitors congratulated the girls on the ideals of the meeting and the methods or plans of procedure, saying the organization was truly worth while. They hope that every girl in Kimberly will think it over!

LAST LYCEUM NUMBER SET

It seems as though the managers desired to make the best impression possible to leave with the people of Kimberly after the meeting of March 11, when they met at the home of Wally Evans on that place on the corner.

Mr. Evans was one of the finest speakers that it was ever the privilege of the people to listen to. He is, as is well known, the nephew of Lloyd George of England, and of course he helped to bring a good crowd. Aside from this Mr. Evans spent some time in the trenches of the allies, and has traveled through all countries of importance on the map.

During his lecture on "What Americans Can Do for the Allies" he mixed wit and humor in such a way that all his jokes struck home. He freely criticized the cheap display of patriotism that has been going on for the time when all men should unite for the common cause of democracy. It is the time for action, not brass bands and parades that now we are most of the audience was under the impression that they were listening to an address by a citizen of England. Mr. Evans, however, told them that he now had his last papers of naturalization for our country, having been here during the war, and that he was now a citizen of America, and that his "Fraternity" or "Brotherhood" for in

NATIONAL PARTY HAS A COMPREHENSIVE PLATFORM

The new National party of which William Jennings Bryan is the official head has given quite a large order in the way of demands, according to dispatches.

The platform in general is grouped under three heads, namely: "Political democracy," "Industrial democracy," and "International democracy."

One plank that is repeated by party leaders is a vital one: advocates labor legislation that would result in complete nationalization of government work; representation of labor in all publicly owned industries; shortening of the work day; government insurance against industrial accidents; old age pensions and scientific regulation of industry to limit immigration to the power of the country to assimilate it.

Abolition of property qualifications for the franchise; extension of the franchise to negroes and citizens of the District of Columbia; freedom of speech and press from censorship not absolutely necessary to military affairs; uniform divorce laws and abolition of the white slave traffic; municipal ownership of all public utilities; comprehensive prison reforms; the short ballot; public ownership of railroads, telephones, coal and metal mines, water power, oil wells, light and power plants, timber lands, terminal warehouses and elevators, packing plants, flour mills and all other industries whose operations depend on franchises or large operations on a non-competitive or central leased basis.

The platform declares against international diplomacy that involves secret treaties and advocates that the people be empowered to sanction all treaties.

In criticizing the scope of the demands voiced allowance must be made for the tendencies of all parties to extend platform demands to catch as many voters as possible. The Democratic party during the first administration of Woodrow Wilson more nearly fulfilled its pledges than any other party in the history of the country in the same length of time.

It is all that any Socialist could demand. It is this which marks the difference between the National party and the People's party. The latter was paternalistic, but kept within the bounds of individualistic political economy in economic as distinguished from purely financial doctrine. The National party is a socialist party at the bottom. We are today experimenting with public railroad management. We believe that until those industries which may at least in principle be found legitimate channels of public activity have proven successful under government ownership we should hesitate to open the floodgates by a limitless demand for national industrial operation. Also, for reasons often given in these columns, we believe that with the restoration of normal competitive conditions after the war many vexatious, though at present necessary regulations, should be repealed and only those retained that are found beneficial in effect.

was, but by the specific demand in the case of negro voters. The TIMES still adheres to the demand for the largest measure of state and local self-government compatible with national security should be retained. On this very matter of negro voters, officious interference by the national government must create much turmoil, since it is certain to be done by those profoundly ignorant of the practical conditions with which they have to deal. The average negro in the south is not today in a condition to intelligently use the ballot. In his case an educational qualification with appropriate provisions from the nation to help in the work of education, especially industrial education, would gradually enfranchise the black voters without friction. To insist that the Ethiopian masses of the "black belt," of both sexes today be invited to exercise the ballot, backed by federal bayonets, is no solution of the problem, whatever benevolent zealots may think about it. In this case the federal government should in our opinion co-operate with the states which have a negro problem, in the effort to solve it in the interest of both races in a practical way. The better classes of the south would undoubtedly welcome such assistance. The short ballot and other measures of local self-government should, we believe, be left to those communities interested in carrying them out. They are matters to be determined by those interested. So far as woman's suffrage, and prohibition are concerned, they are inevitable. The white slave traffic is already legislated against. Most of the demands regarding labor will be adopted anyhow.

The economic demands fall under two heads. Under the first comes the demand for government ownership of railroads, etc., and all other industries whose operations depend on franchises. This demand is held the practically sound, where deemed practically expedient, by the overwhelming majority of authorized teachers of political economy. Whether such should be owned and operated by the government or simply placed in private hands for operation and regulated for public good being solely a practical question. In this class such authorized teachers as Professor John Bates Clark of Columbia, would place coal mines, and the pipe lines for the transportation of oil, if not actually the oil wells. In this class too would fall government terminals, warehouses and elevators, as inseparably connected with transportation. Had the demands stopped there, while involving radical and experimental departures from previous custom, they would not imply any fundamental deviation from recognized principles.

But the demand for the government ownership of flour mills, packing plants and all forms of business depending on "large operation on a non-competitive or centralized basis," opens up a bottomless pit of conscious governmental activity which must eventually swallow all private enterprise. Centralized operation does not necessarily imply non-competitive operation. Potential competition frequently exists as a regulative force in centralized business. This plank was evidently put in to capture the Socialists.

It is all that any Socialist could demand. It is this which marks the difference between the National party and the People's party. The latter was paternalistic, but kept within the bounds of individualistic political economy in economic as distinguished from purely financial doctrine. The National party is a socialist party at the bottom. We are today experimenting with public railroad management. We believe that until those industries which may at least in principle be found legitimate channels of public activity have proven successful under government ownership we should hesitate to open the floodgates by a limitless demand for national industrial operation. Also, for reasons often given in these columns, we believe that with the restoration of normal competitive conditions after the war many vexatious, though at present necessary regulations, should be repealed and only those retained that are found beneficial in effect.

CITY MONEY CANNOT BE HELD BY ATTACHMENT

Mandamus Proceedings Released Money Locked Up by Garnishment Order in J. P. Court

That the city, being a public municipal corporation, cannot be garnished successfully was held by Judge W. A. Babcock in the district court Monday. The case was argued Saturday on a motion for a writ of mandamus filed by William Goldsp, a fireman to compel City Clerk W. A. Babcock to release money held by garnishment proceedings in the justice of the peace court of W. J. Smith. Judge Smith refused to order release of the money, saying that it was not a public policy as power might cripple public service.

Mrs. Chas. Peden Gains 27 Pounds

Was Twice Examined and Each Time Told Operation Would be Only Hope—Case Is Remarkable.

"I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and have gained twenty-seven pounds," was the truly remarkable statement made by Mrs. Charles Peden, residing at 650 Mill street, Huntville, Ala. Mrs. Peden is one of the best known and most highly respected women of that thriving little city, where she has made her home for a number of years.

"When I commenced taking the medicine," she continued, "I only weighed ninety-eight (98) pounds; now I weigh one hundred twenty-five pounds, and never felt better in my life. For years I have suffered with a bad form of stomach trouble, constipation and pains in my side and back. At times the pains took the form of torture and I was twice examined and each time I was told that an operation would be my only hope. I had fallen off until I only weighed ninety-eight pounds and was so weak I could hardly get around.

at all. I was so in-bpy over the wonderful improvement in my condition that I sent for my neighbors to tell them how much better I felt. I sent and got another bottle of Tanlac, and have just finished taking my third bottle and feel like I have been made all over again into a new woman. "As I have said before, I now weigh one hundred twenty-five pounds and my improvement has been so rapid that none of my clothes are big enough for me. I will have to make them all over again. I now have a ravenous appetite and my husband says I am simply eating him out of house and home. I have even gone back to my coffee, which I was told not to touch. Those terrible pains in my back and head have all disappeared and I sleep like a child. I am no longer nervous, and when I get up mornings I feel refreshed, cheerful and bright. I am now able to attend to my household duties, and I feel as if I had started life all over again. My husband is highly delighted, and my recovery is the talk of the neighborhood. I do nothing but relax all day long over the recovery of my health and praise Tanlac to everybody. "I feel so grateful for my escape from the operating table and the knife that you may publish what I have said; you may, if you wish, tell other women suffering as I was to come and see me and I will be glad to tell them about my case."

Tanlac is now sold in Twin Falls by City Pharmacy, in Rogerson by Thompson Drug Co., in Mariuagh by Murrough Drug Co., in Filer by A. E. Wood, in Duff by C. D. Boring Drug Co., and in Kimberly by W. A. L. Stowe.—(Adv.)

Labor Policy Is Now in Making

Plans Discussed by Taft and Walsh Representing Capital and Labor Respectively—Both Pleased.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The nation's labor policy for the duration of the war was today in the making. Former President William Howard Taft and Frank P. Walsh, representative of the public on the labor planning board, met today in the first of a series of sessions at which a program will be definitely mapped out. It was announced that these meetings would be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, allowing no intercesses to have the unbroken remainder of the week for their other business. Mr. Taft made a written proposal. Mr. Walsh left the conference with the labor conferees to draw up a counter proposal. It is anticipated that the terms of the first measure submitted will be confined to private hearings for discussion until the labor men have filed their reply.

The High School enrollment for the current semester is as follows: Freshman class, eighty-one boys and one hundred twelve girls; Sophomores, forty-eight boys and fifty-seven girls; Juniors, thirty-nine boys and seventy girls; Seniors, twenty-seven boys and forty-two girls—total, including two out graduates, 478.

Mr. Ralph L. Morse, now on duty in the office of the Adjutant and Inspector at the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the U. S. marine corps, in a late personal letter, to the singing birds and busting buds have announced spring down there. Also that the winter thus ended has been the longest and harshest for twenty-nine years—including nine consecutive weeks of snow and ice, and also nine weeks of coal shortage. People down there, he writes, are optimistic regarding an early close of the war; this, however, does not include the army and navy people. Mr. Morse is well, but would like to see Twin Falls again with his tour of duty completed and behind him.

A Cheerful Trench Song.—Who can explain the contradictions of human nature? Why tries will surely find himself at a loss—as it seems did the author of "The Glory of the Trenches." Perhaps nothing that has yet been written better accentuates the actual situation along the battle lines, or heralds so well and explains the spirit, past and present, the heroic soldiers, who there withstand the barbarism of "Kultur." But, who shall tell why those battle-scared veterans, standing in the mud of their narrow trenches and surrounded by danger and death, should find comfort and reassurance in a song like the following, which the Lieutenant declares to be a special favorite for the time and place:

"Oh, a little bit of shrapnel
Fell from out the sky one day,
And it landed on the ground
In a field not far away.
But when they went to find him,
He was but beyond repair,
So they pulled his legs and arms off
And they left him lying there.

"Then they buried him in Flanders
Just to make the new crop grow—
He'll make the best manure, they say
And sure they ought to know.
And they put a cross on his grave,
On the day he took his farewell
For a better promised land."

TWIN WINS IN BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT

RUPERT AND TWIN FALLS IN GREAT BATTLE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Great Crowd and Great Enthusiasm

Score Falls to Show How Close Final Game Really Was—Twin Will Now Enter Interstate Tournament at Moscow.

The Southern Idaho Basket Ball Tournament, which was concluded last Saturday evening, after two days of continuous play, proved to be a great success in every way. Not only was there a goodly representation from the high schools of this section, but the attendance and financial results were very satisfactory; and, best of all, the games from first to last, while hotly contested, were absolutely clean, with no manifestation of other than the best of harmony and good feeling.

As already noted, the schools represented were from Rupert, Wendell, Gooding, Oakley, Hoyburn, Burley, Jerome and Twin Falls—eight, with two teams from Twin Falls, which made nine contestants. Our previous mention also gave the results of the actual preliminary games played on Friday; and also of the one played Saturday morning, when the Twin Falls second team was eliminated by Oakley.

This left for Saturday evening only the finals, between Rupert and Oakley for Class B, and between Rupert and Twin Falls for Class A. The Burley-Oakley game was called first at eight o'clock; and while it started off as though there might be a real contest, the Burley boys appeared to lose heart and their game against them by a total score of 45 to 19—25 to 8 in the first half and 20 to 10 in the second. The team thus proven champion in its class was presented with a handsome trophy cup, and retired amid great cheering and applause.

Then came the event of the evening—and of the entire tournament, for that matter—the final test for the A Class between the Rupert and Twin Falls teams. By nine o'clock when the game was called, every foot of sitting and standing room in the gymnasium was filled, and intensely was occupied by keen and intensely partisan crowd, largely from Twin Falls high school, but with a goodly sprinkling of older citizens. While waiting, the high school band blew its blouses—which is very blue; and under the prompting of the yell-leaders, the entire assembly of youths were given, mingling into a roar as the future champions filed in in their yellow attire.

boys were both confident and cocky—both only speculation during the day being as to whether they should take the game by force of two to one, or vice versa.

Under these circumstances the conditions were decidedly tense when the referee, Mr. Geo. Denman, blew his whistle for the commencement of the tilts. And, by the way, Mr. Denman is a sure-enough arbiter; one who knows the game perfectly, who is wholly impartial, and whom nothing seems to escape.

The game, once on, was closely contested every instant, and really was not as one-sided as the score, 44 to 23, seems to show. Twin Falls owes its victory to intelligent coaching toward a sure composition, especially directed to Rupert's strong points, and maintaining, at the same time, a fast offensive play. Neuman, Twin Falls' forward, played his usual brilliant game. Hodges, the smallest and lightest of the team, who only very recently clinched his regular position, actually played better than he knew how. He made seven goals from the field and eight points by free throws—falling on the latter but twice. Neuman also made seven field goals; and Glasgow and Lavender, both of whom were all the time on full duty, made several shots respectively. It was I. Stone's special duty to take care of little Scott, the most dangerous basket shooter of the enemy, and he did it in a charming way. For Rupert, Disney, Scott and Spidell were the stars. The following is the score:

Ward, forward	7
Hodges, forward	4
Glasgow, center	1
Lavender, guard	0
Stone, guard	0
RUPERT	Goals
Disney, forward	3
Scott, forward	4
Klink, center	1
Spidell, guard	1
Goodness, guard	0
Twin Falls, 8 by free throws; total 44
Rupert, 7 by free throws; total 23

At the conclusion of the game, after the conventional cheering and prize silver cup was presented and the championship of Southern Idaho awarded to the Twin Falls team, which will now have to defend its title at an inter-state tournament, held at Moscow this week—the states of Idaho, Washington and Oregon participating. For this purpose the team as given above, with Ward Carter as extra man, accompanied by their official coach, Mr. Nafziger, left this morning. They have no line on any of the teams they will meet, so no predictions can be indulged. But two feet assure that the teams with whom they shall play up there will realize that they are not alone on the floor.

RAILROAD HEADS IN CONSPIRACY SAY OFFICIALS

FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS AVER LABOR CHARGES ARE TRUE

Trains Delayed With- out Reason

Extra Fare Trains on Which to Rebate Passengers Said to Have Been Put On to Count Against Public Management.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 11.—Federal officials have sent to Director General McArdoo at Washington evidence which they say indicates a widespread conspiracy on the part of railroads to discredit government control or ownership of the roads, ac-

According to a statement made by an official here today.

McArdoo's agents are now, it is said, investigating these charges, which are along three lines:

1. That the railroads are attempting to create sentiment against government operation by delaying trains.
2. That they are trying to make operation under government supervision extravagant.
3. That they are endeavoring to make employes dissatisfied with the government's operations.

Affidavits have been submitted with the results of the investigation of federal officers in their report to Washington. It is said trains have been held up and delayed, the report charges to an extent never seen before. Mill trains in particular have suffered from these delays. Evidence has also gone with the report to the federal officials say, to the effect that train crews, when called for service, have been held from 3 to 4 hours without being sent out on trains. These men are paid for their time, thus adding to the expense of operation without any benefit to the public.

Extra fare trains, on which a rebate to passengers for delays, have been held this winter than ever before, the report charges, and considerable expense has been incurred in these rebates.

The report substantiates practically in every detail the charges made by Garretson and Lee, heads of the trainmen's unions, at Washington recently, when they declared that a nationwide conspiracy exists to discredit government operation.

Germans Break Word to the Lithuanians

Promised Freedom Ungranted—Lithuanians Want to Foster Mexican Relations—British Drive Turks

AMSTERDAM, March 11.—A movement has been set afoot in Germany to foster close commercial relations with Mexico after the war. A copy of the Weiser Zeitung, organ of the German shipping interests, received here today, points out that, with the exception of Germany's allies, her only friends among the nations of the world are Mexico, Spain and Sweden. The Russian revolutionary movement which resulted in the overthrow of Czar Nicholas came to a head in Petrograd one year ago today. On March 12, the socialists in defiance of the czar's order of dissolution, convened the duma. The Russian revolution swept the army by leaps and bounds and on March 15, the czar abdicated and a republican cabinet was formed.

THE HAGUE, March 11.—Although Germany promised to "make Lithuania into a separate state" she has now renounced her promise and will refuse to grant the Lithuanians their freedom, according to information received here today from the German frontier.

A Lithuanian delegation called on the German chancellor, Count von Hertling, to ask Germany's future policy toward the Lithuanians. The chancellor stated that, after consideration, the imperial government had decided that the Lithuanians were not ready for self-government.

LONDON, March 11.—British raiders penetrated a German position south of St. Quentin during the night. War office announced today. Casualties were inflicted upon the enemy and a few Germans and some machine guns were captured.

Farther north on the front a German raiding party was dispersed by artillery.

Artillery duels occurred along the Franco-Belgian frontier.

A twenty-two mile retreat for the Turkish forces operating in Palestine was reported by the British war office today. The retreat was carried out in the district north of Hitt (the area above Jerubahem).

While the Turks were falling back British aviators from General Allenby's forces flew over the Turkish forces, inflicting heavy losses with their machine guns. Some of the aircraft were only about 100 feet above the ground.

PARIS, March 11.—German positions in Gorralto were penetrated by American troops that are fighting there with the French, according to a French war office announcement.

The communiqué said that the raiding operations were carried out with great dash.

North of the Aisne river the French delivered two surprise attacks near Fresnois. The Germans made a number of attacks but were everywhere repulsed. The general announcement continued. Near St. Hilaire a German attack broke down, while at Champagne, near the St. Souplet road, the French repulsed a "cooler" charge.

A number of German prisoners were taken. On the Verdun front German storming troops were thrown back after trying to penetrate a French position at Le Mort Homme.

Elsewhere there were artillery duels.

Large Crowds Greet Evangelists Sunday

Audience Frequently Applauded—Illustrations Showing the Good Effect of Clean, Christian Living.

Evangelists Hart and Magann held three splendid services Sunday. The morning service was one that will be forgotten very soon by those who attended. The speaker kindly and tenderly laid the necessary emphasis where it belonged in order that the largest possible results might be obtained.

The meeting for men only, at 2:30 o'clock was full of interest from the start. A great crowd of men filling the main floor, came expecting to hear a strong sermon and were not disappointed. Mr. Hart took for his text "Proverbs 12:12." "As righteousness tendeth to life; so he that pursueth evil, perverteth it to his own death." In no uncertain terms the speaker pointed forth truth backed by facts concerning the once high position of man and the depth of man's fall into vice and crime of all kinds. He said "Man was placed at the top of the structure of creation, but has sunk to greater depths of degradation than any other creature." The speaker spoke of seed sowing and harvest reaping. He showed the ravages of sinful practices upon the physical, moral and spiritual man and showed the man who set up one standard of moral conduct for men and another for women. The speaker was unflinching in his charges against the modern dance and the parlor card gambling as agents to keep young people from the power pool halls and card games and down to town dance halls.

Mr. Hart took the husband and wife of a city life and Christian character and the life of their children in contrast with the man and woman of vile habits of life, with their children and showed the influence upon the community and life in general. How the one represents the real stamina of the community while the other is the cancer growing and eating out the center growing and eating out the center. The speaker then dwelt upon the truths which we have all felt the need of being emphasized. That a man known by the company he keeps—bad thoughts, bad words and bad company. It showed the effect of each in turn by citing cases of noted character, both of bad and the good and the resultant effects on both sides. The address was punctuated through by hearty applause from the entire audience.

Mr. Hart won the company by his manly, straightforward manner, clean presentation and a social atmosphere, a good many rose for prayers and expressed a desire to live a better life, while others made a public profession of Christ as their personal Savior.

AN ALL-PANTAGES VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM AT THE IDAHO

At the Idaho theatre the first half of the week is the new photoplay directed by George H. Melford and released by Paramount "On the Level."

This is a photoplay that will have an especially universal appeal because of the diversity of characters and places shown. From "cultured" westerner to western misanthrope and cowboy and the dance-hall girl—they are all in the picture sooner or later, and many more. Each character has been painted as with the skilled brush of a famous artist by director George H. Melford who has been responsible for many of Miss Wain's previous successes such as "The Crystal Gazer" which was the very popular picture preceding "On the Level."

The program includes a comedy and an all-Pantages vaudeville program of unusual excellence.

LEGAL PUBLICATIONS

Serial No. 019373. NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION. Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office at Halley, Idaho, February 25, 1918.

Notice is hereby given that Otto W. Minnich, of Hanson, Idaho, who on July 12, 1915, made Homestead Entry No. 019373, for SW 1/4 NE 1/4, SW 1/4 NE 1/4, Township 10 South, Range 20 East, Boise Meridian, has filed notice of intention to make Comminu- tion proof to establish claim to the land above described, before C. C. Siglins, United States commissioner, at Twin Falls, Idaho, on the 6th day of April, 1918.

PUMPS, MOTORS AND TRANSFORMERS SHIPPED FOR MILNER PROJECT

Machinery for First Lift on the Way; Petition for Priority Order for Second Lift Essentials Being Signed—Department Officials and Congressmen Favorably Interested.

The assurance that pumps, motors and transformers for the transferring of water to the first lift of 6000 acres of the Milner project had been shipped, that officials of the Interior department heartily approved of the project and that congressmen were favorably interested in the project, were the chief items discussed at the meeting of the Milner-Twin Falls Land and Water company which last week elected C. L. Perrine, president; D. B. Moorman, as secretary and treasurer, and L. L. Palmer as general manager and J. E. Palmer as engineer.

The government will prefer to have this project take power from the Mindokota plant. The department will greatly appreciate most strenuous efforts on the part of the promoters of the Milner project to be ready to put the entire acreage into crops during '18 and '19. I even think the government would have cared a portion of the financing temporarily, if we had been in a position to assure them that some considerable acreage would be put into some kind of crops this year, and the entire acreage in crop, largely in wheat in 1919. I think you should say this both to Moore, Perrine and Moorman.

"The department official with whom I conferred here last week, was most anxious to have the department work what acreage it would be possible to put in wheat during 1918 and 1919. I am knowing that Mr. Perrine has been in the city, and that we have had very satisfactory interviews with the commissioner, the general land office and the director and the reclamation service, and also with the commissioner of Indian affairs regarding the construction of the water works. Mr. Perrine has made an application in writing for the purchase of 12,000 acre feet of water from the commissioner of Indian Affairs to be taken from the Blackfoot reservoir for use during the period of July and August on the Hanson project.

Another Washington letter states that an eastern congressman is interested and expects to invest in the Milner project. It is stated that water has now been secured for from one to five years for temporary supply until the permanent supply is available.

"It will be of interest to you to know that I have recently had a conference with a department official, in which I discussed the matter of the several lifts, both as to the 44,000 acres to be put under pump irrigation and as to power for this entire pumpage. It was stated that the department has agreed that it will be best to take power from the Idaho Power company for the entire project, when the machinery is installed for complete production of intention to make three-year proof, to establish claim to the land above described, before Maurice Guirey, United States commissioner, at Halley, Idaho, on the 16th day of April, 1918.

THE LADY'S WAY

(Contingaby Dawson, in Good Housekeeping)

All the lads have gone out to play and bring soldiers for us. They won't be back for many a day, and some won't be back any morning.

All the lassies who laughing were when hearts were light and lads were here, got sad-eyed, wandering hither and there. They pray and they watch for the morning.

Every house has its vacant bed, and every night, when sounds are dead, some woman yearns for the pillowed head Of some who went out in the morning.

Of all the lads who have gone out to play, There's some who'll return and some who'll stay; There's some who'll be back most any day, but some won't wake up in the morning.

GREAT WAR MEASURES MAPPED OUT BY JAPANESE AND CHINESE

Movement for Establishment of Independent Government in East Siberia With Seat at Harbin—Exchanges on Situation Going on Between Washington and Countries in Europe and Asia.

TOKIO, March 11.—War measures were taken today both here and at Peking in connection with the proposed intervention in Siberia.

A bill providing for the mobilization and requisitioning of war industries and the conscription of labor was introduced in the Japanese diet.

Meanwhile word was received from Peking that the Chinese cabinet has voted $5,000,000 in delay the extension of an expeditionary force of 40,000 soldiers in Siberia.

The foregoing information indicates that intervention in Siberia in protection of allied interests, is close at hand and that Japan and China probably will co-operate. Japan is apparently taking measures on a large scale to meet any contingency.

A strong movement is reported for the establishment of an independent government for eastern Siberia, with the capital at Harbin.

Prince Iwano, former premier of the Tsarist dynasty, is spoken of for prime-minister of the proposed regime.

A number of prominent Russians are at Peking conferring on the project.

today say that part of the Japanese army is being mobilized. The diet has before it a mobilization and conscription bill but according to official advice received here Viscount Motono, the Japanese foreign minister, has declined to make a public statement as to how far the government will go in pressing the measure.

It is said that Roland S. Morris, the American ambassador, held a lengthy conference with Count Motono on Saturday at which the position of the United States towards intervention in Siberia was disclosed. Whether a report of this conference has been made to the state department by Mr. Morris is a matter on which officials here will not comment. Naturally it is assumed that he did.

Officials decline to discuss the progress of the informal diplomatic negotiations. It is known, however, that Japan has renewed her suggestions that the United States approve the general principle of a Siberian military demonstration and that this request also has the sanction of the British, French and Italian governments.

All of Siberia is declared by advice reaching Japanese sources, to be seething with discontent. The German prisoners of war are enjoying their freedom and are declared to have been reorganized as a military force to capture officers. There has been a renewal of outlawry in Manchuria—it is stated—and the city is declared to be demoralized by bandits.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Important exchanges are in progress between Tokio, London, Paris and Rome today according to diplomatic officials here. It is understood they have to do with the proposed Japanese-Chinese military expedition into Siberia. Officials here believe joint action by Japan and China is almost certain unless there is a decided change in the situation. Much, however, will depend on the action of the Bolshevik congress, which will meet in Moscow tomorrow to act on the latest German-made peace proposals.

Confidential advice received here they connect directly with the Siberian situation in Vladivostok and the Pacific. The troops' demoralization of the entire situation and can prevent any hostile move the German prisoners of war or any other hostile force may make.

Administration officials today credited a published report that Ambassador Morris to Russia, M. Udine, was detained by the Bolsheviks at Volodga. They said there was every reason to assume that this report was without foundation. Because of the difficulty of communication messages from Amassador Francis are few in number and several days often received, but the last word received from him stated that the Volodga authorities were doing everything possible for him.

The state department today received a cable from Ambassador Morris in Sweden saying that he had received a telegram from Ambassador Francis at Volodga. The fact that no details were given leads state department officials to believe that the message sent by Francis was purely routine, and strengthens their belief that the Bolsheviks are not in a position to show their strength.

The state department also received confirmation today of the resignation of Leon Trotsky as Bolshevik government.

Other advice reaching the state department confirms the German-Rumanian peace treaty and that the Rumanian people were protesting against "violent and outrageous" German action. It is pointed out that Germany is directed to refrain from recent attempts in the re-organizing of troops. Reports also were received that about 400 of the Russian red guard are threatening to invade Persia, and already have started to march on Teheran. Still further advice was that General Hoffman, commanding the armies invading Russia, has apologized to General Rykoff for the invasion, but that the advance of the Swedish press reports, commenting on the landing of German troops on the heavy bombardment of the commander of the fleet in the Baltic. The British government that Germany is landing forces as a condition of the peace treaty. The German withdrawal as soon as order is restored. He pointed out that one of the Russian German peace terms specified that the German would be withdrawn from Finland and it is chiefly to see that this is done that Berlin has acted.

LONDON, March 11.—German prisoners of war are reported to be fighting with the Bolsheviks against the Czechs in the east.

Advice received here today indicate that the Czechs under General Semenov, had been compelling to retire after a brief with the Bolshevik forces along the trans-Siberian railway west of Harbin.

The Bolsheviks were equipped with considerable artillery, and were evidently under competent leadership.

The possibility of German prisoners of war being used in the far east was one of the reasons for the anxiety of the Japanese government that the Czechs were being equipped to be able to exert control of Vladivostok and might even plan the invasion of northern China. The number of German and Austro-Hungarian prisoners of war in Siberia has been estimated from 45,000 to 50,000.

GERMANS TO SERVE TERMS

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The supreme court today refused to review the case in which employees of the Hamburg-American line were convicted by the lower courts of attempting to cool German ships at sea. The result of today's action is to allow the sentences imposed by the lower courts to go into effect. The three men will go to jail for the remainder of today's action by the supreme court are Karl Banz, managing director of the company; George Kotter and Walter Poppenberg.

The purchasing agent, was also convicted by the lower courts, but has since died.

VILLA'S SALE OF GOODS HELD TO BE VALID

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The validity of the sale of two shipments of hides, seized by General Villa in Mexico, in 1913 and sold by him to raise money for the Carranza government, with which he was then connected, was upheld by the supreme court today. The hides were brought into this country after being seized and sold in Mexico. Contentions were made by the original owners that the seizure and sale in Mexico was a violation of the Hague convention. A similar case regarding the validity of the sale of a shipment of zinc which was seized by Villa in 1913, was also decided by the court on the same theory, the Villa seizure and sale being upheld.

Barling Haid Proves Successful—List of Killed, Wounded and Other Casualties Given

Henry G. Wales (I. N. S. Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, March 10. (Delayed)—A mixed force of American and French troops penetrated German positions to a depth of 1,000 yards in three successful raids on the Champagne front, yesterday.

The raids were preceded by an intense bombardment that levelled the German defenses and blew up German dugouts.

There were twice as many French in the raiding parties as Americans.

(NOTE: The number of Americans was deleted by the censor.)

The mixed force of Americans was picked up by the raiders and brought to the American lines as prisoners.

The same American colonel who went over the top with the French in their great raid last Monday, in which a Bavarian lieutenant was captured, accompanied the Americans this time.

The German positions were found to have been pulverized by the cannonading.

A French division general congratulated the Americans on their success.

"Zero hour" (the hour of attack), was set for five minutes after five in the afternoon. The artillery had been pounding the German works since noon.

It took the first assaulting party just minutes to reach the German's machine gun positions.

The party found that the Bavarians had evacuated their lines under heavy bombardment. The number of bodies behind their shelter flight.

Two minutes later an American lieutenant telephoned to the American staff officers in the American lines:

"We are in the German second line now. Everything is progressing according to our plans."

The raiders carried a telephone line to the German front line, "unreeling the wire as they advanced."

A clean cut "box barrage" fire protected the raiders in front and on both flanks.

(A box barrage is a curtain of fire which is distinguished from the ordinary barrage by being compelled to retire after a brief with the attacking forces along the trans-Siberian railway west of Harbin.)

The captured machine gun positions were equipped with considerable artillery, and were evidently under competent leadership.

The possibility of German prisoners of war being used in the far east was one of the reasons for the anxiety of the Japanese government that the Czechs were being equipped to be able to exert control of Vladivostok and might even plan the invasion of northern China. The number of German and Austro-Hungarian prisoners of war in Siberia has been estimated from 45,000 to 50,000.

PAN-GERMAN CONGRESS

did of reaching the Russian mind. His message was stripped of everything not essential. With engaging candor, it was pointed out he sketched the situation in a way that made the direct language committed the United States to the support of a real Russia.

In some quarters the message is taken to be a forerunner of recognition by the government of the provisional rule now existing in Russia. Officials were reticent upon this phase of the situation, but it was admitted some action along this line is not beyond the realm of possibility.

From confidential sources the president has received information that convinces him that the Russian situation is not as hopeless as many believe. Admitting the chaos now existing, it is pointed out, the Germans, while apparently completely victorious in their campaign, still have a long road to travel before they can turn their advantage into a real tangible asset.

In this connection, it is pointed out that there is a strong possibility of expecting a sharp change in the Russian government's position. The soviets, representing all classes of Russia, are being urged, according to best information obtainable, accept the German terms as merely as did the Petrograd administration.

The president's own opinion, according to exactly the psychological moment, is certain to deeply mark the course of the war.

It is pointed out that the high-level officials believe that Lenin may come tumbling down in the general mix up that is undoubtedly ensue before the soviet reach a conclusion.

AMSTERDAM, March 12.—German troops advanced on Odessa, the chief Russian port on the Black sea, and at last reports were only about ten miles away according to information received here today. The German source, Odessa is in Ukraine.

That Germany planned to occupy Odessa was revealed by the terms of the preliminary treaty between Rumania and the central powers. One of the terms was to give Germany all possible aid to the transport of Austro-German troops toward Odessa.

LIVE TIME AT SCHOOL BOARD

held; and if it were not true that later on in the evening other members denied knowledge as to whether such a meeting would be held.

Mr. Denton had asked the board to hold a meeting to discuss the charges and bring other members who wanted to. Hasson charged that this was taken as evidence by a lot of people that the board was in a state of confusion. He happened to remember what the other members of the board had said in the past. The board invariably elected the superintendent at the February meeting, for the reason they could organize early and secure a better school year. The board invariably elected the superintendent at the other members to verify his statement that he had not worked for Blue.

E. J. Ostrander at this point entered to say that D. M. Denton had referred to him when in his opening speech he had referred to a luncheon which was there to witness the protest which was given by Mr. Blue. He denied that he had made the charge against the men protesting against the board members, Mr. Denton had a copy of the list to different things alleged to have been said by Ostrander about the fixing of the school year. Ostrander, in which it was alleged that the luncheon was held, that he would not contribute to "Dan Denton and a bunch of I. W. Hays, who arose to explain what was said, but was shut off in the excitement before he could tell it. Mr. Denton raised a point of order that Ostrander had no right to speak and interrupt a meeting called to protest against the board.

Ostrander appealed to the board, and he said that this was a school board meeting and that the school board had a right to hold a meeting to discuss the charges against a single member in the man or not. Denton called for a vote on his appeal and the crowd gave it. However, Ostrander continued his speech. He charged that a previous superintendent had been driven out by the board. He stated that this was due to the attacks of a single member, not to a mass protest of citizens, such as appeared on this occasion, representing the sentiment of the people of the city. A split passage at arms followed between A. J. Peavey and Mr. Hasson. Mr. Hasson said he wanted harmony but it could be attained only by the same means. The professors, who would have to go.

J. W. Laubeheim made a temporary protest against the retention of Mr. Blue on the ground that he believed that there was a sentiment among pupils and teachers against him. He deprecated all feeling and all personal attacks, and he regretted their introduction into the controversy.

Mr. Holland repeated what he had heard about dancing and other things, giving them, not as things he knew, but as current report, which tended to undermine the confidence in the school, and expressed the belief that on this ground if for no other reason a change was desirable, as he believed that most people believed these reports.

From confidential sources the president has received information that convinces him that the Russian situation is not as hopeless as many believe. Admitting the chaos now existing, it is pointed out, the Germans, while apparently completely victorious in their campaign, still have a long road to travel before they can turn their advantage into a real tangible asset.

The president's own opinion, according to exactly the psychological moment, is certain to deeply mark the course of the war.

It is pointed out that the high-level officials believe that Lenin may come tumbling down in the general mix up that is undoubtedly ensue before the soviet reach a conclusion.

Before a question whether an advisory election would be called had been decided on, Mr. Sweeley made a statement in which he stated that he knew what way they proposed to proceed. He said that it was the duty of the board to determine the matter. Vague statements were made by somebody else, that somebody also told them they had been asked, but no definite charges had been made. The men protesting were good, intelligent and brave citizens. If they knew anything, none of them would be afraid to say so to Mr. Blue's face. Why shrink as a man? Why not make specific charges if they had facts to back them? If they had the public official who removed, he could be removed by the courts, but that would not be necessary, if that would be needed would be to prove the vital charges. Until this should be done, he felt sure that the board would not be able to step down. If proven he would have to do so. Mr. Sweeley said he spoke as a citizen interested in the schools, but that would not be necessary, if other him or Mr. Downman, but to desire only the good of the schools.
