WIN THE WAR SAYS THOMSON

HOT POINTS FROM ELECTRICAL ELOQUENCE

We who are strong must protect the weak. We made war because we love, not because we hate. Anything to win the war—"If we can be of use, use us!" Raise more and use less of things that can be shipped to France.

The bread bullet is as important in this war as the lead bullet.

History will write the responsibility for this war, but will never justify it.

There is now absolutely nothing to be done except to whip Germany to a standstill.

I wouldn't give much for an Idaho farm if a free American citizen was not living on it.

Every mother's son must stand by the ship—the women, God bless 'em, are perfectly sure to.

This is the greatest wheat-growing area in the world. You know it, for you have admitted it to me.

The United States, beginning with 60,000 muskets and less than that number of uniforms, has accomplished more war preparation in twelve months than any nation has before done in twelve years.

of the products required to win the war, as compatible with their situation even though such action might sometimes involve a sacrifice; that the battle of ideals now involving one thousand million people, was brought on because the German nation had no intelligent conception of our point of view, or of the meaning of the policies of our president, and mentioning several new inventions of Americans that will revolutionize the war; Dr. W. O. Thomson, president of the Ohio State university, in a notable speech Monday night, elucidated the situation in a way which many declared exceeded in its clearness and convincing tone, any previous address on the subject here.

Following music by the Twin Falls band and selections by the Liberty chorus, Dr. Thomson was introduced by Food Administrator C. E. Munson, a representative of the secretary of agriculture. The speaker said that while he did not resent the impudience at all and in a way it was true, he preferred that they should consider him as the son of a shoemaker, who for seven years had worked as a hired man on an Illinois farm, who for six years had lived in the irrigated districts of Colorado, who as chairman of an agricultural committee in Ohio had visited every neighbor-hood; in that state, in which he had owned a farm for sixteen years. He said that he mentioned these facts not in the way of calling attention to himself, except insofar as they indicated some personal knowledge on his part of the point of view of the farmer and with which he was called upon to deal.

In substance and in part he continued: "There is before us today but one great problem and that is to win this war, in which one thousand million human beings are directly interested. It is necessary to win this war in order that hereafter we shall have the right to develop in our own way, and that the peoples of the earth, small and great, shall work out their own destinies in peace. It is a conflict of ideals. In Germany there has developed a sort of state worship and at the head of this state, which is not for national worship is the kaiser. The German idea is that a native of Germany is a super-man and that since he is such, he has the right to overrun other people and force them to serve him. This thing has been studiously instilled into the minds of German children for the past forty years. The idea that might makes right is inculcated as a necessary part of this conception of things, for if the German is a super-man, he assumes that other, supposedly inferior peoples are created for his use and that they have no rights which he is bound to respect, when they run counter to his interests.

A German exchange professor at the Ohio university in no way disguised this idea while there. He was quite willing to admit my superiority officially, but his hesitancy in letting me know in a matter-of-course way that he was my superior as a man, because he was a German.

"It is quite impossible for a people holding this view to understand Woodrow Wilson when he demands that the rights of smaller peoples in the hands of a man with the ambitions of the kaiser, the power to impose or try to impose his autocratic rule on the rest of the world." The kaiser declared in an address that Germany must control the ocean and beyond—and beyond—meant America, and the intrigues exposed show the manner in which plots were laid.

"Holding these views the Germans express surprise and contempt at the manner in which the United States kept its promises to Cuba and the Philippines. They could not understand William McKinley any more than they can understand Woodrow Wilson. They cannot understand the patient policy pursued by a long line of American presidents toward Mexico.

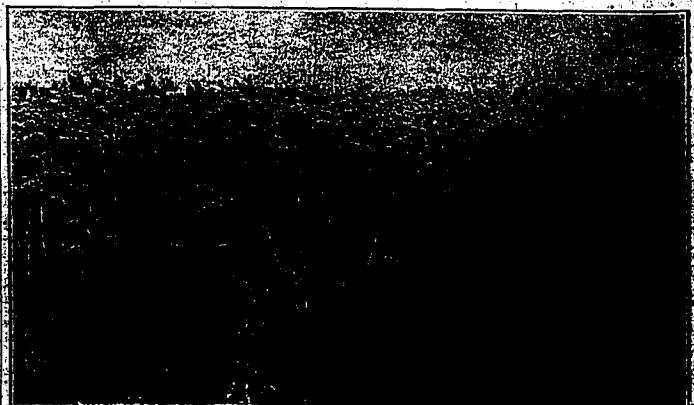

"Since they cannot understand international honor, which regards a treaty as something sacred, as a binding contract, they think our whole policy is due to cowardice and weakness. We have a few men in this country who share the German viewpoint in regard to these things. We have selfish elements here, too, but they are in the minority. Some economic wrongs exist in this country. There was a time in our history when we placed the dollar above the man, in the construction of contracts. We have problems yet to work out, but we are working them out as free citizens and they will be worked out in accordance with American ideals.

"It is true that the German conception of the right of conquest is not new." It has been held by other nations. It has at times been held by most of the nations in Europe. Powerful influences among some of the entire nations after the beginning of this war hold such views. After the United States entered and President Wilson defined the position of the United States, which was in accordance with our international policy, there was a marked change in Europe among the entire nations and selfishness, where it existed, gave way to unselfishness. Our policy is exemplified in regard to Japan in the orient. We want to know whether Japan proposes to come out and fight in the war for democracy, well and good; if she goes in to exploit the people and begin a career of conquest for selfish purposes, she shall not have our support. We will not be parties

One week from Saturday, April 6, the quarterly meeting of the auxiliary will be held.

On Monday, April 1, will be held the regular monthly board meeting.

The treasurer of the Twin Falls chapter has been reimbursed by a portion of the Christmas membership drive and by an additional sum from the War Fund. This will allow the board to operate successfully until the next Red Cross drive.

A String of Paris
The hours I spend on thee, dear sock,
Are as thrilling of pulse to me,
First two I knit, then two I purr,
—And round the leg I slowly curl.
Now joyful peals in the heavens hurl,
I've turned the heel.

O, knotty ends that scratch and turn,
O, stitch that dropped, uneven row,
I kiss each blight and strive at last to learn
To reach the toe, O Lord, to reach the toe.

The Red Cross chapter appreciates the co-operation of the ministers in calling attention to the increased need of workers in the surgical dressing department.

The Belgian Relief committee reports a generous response to the appeal for old clothing this last week. Over three tons—40 big bags—of clothing have been shipped from Twin Falls alone. The auxiliaries are sending direct. Hollister, Rogerson and Hazelton have already shipped. The chapter is very grateful to Mr. Gilbert, under whose direction the donations were gathered in. To Mrs. Packard and her committee who recruited and arranged the garments at St. Paul's hall, for the use of Parish hall, and to Messrs. McMillan, Lembo, and Del Segrara for the use of their automobiles in the collection of the donations.

At a farrow reception given Mr. Brockbridge Friday night at the Presbyterian church Dr. Wilson, in behalf of the board, presented him with a gold Red Cross insignia of the Red Cross chapter. The chapter takes great pride in the fact that one of the members of its board has volunteered his services for the Red Cross work in France.

A complete and beautifully made set of surgical dressings are now on exhibition at headquarters.

Five boxes, each containing 20 inlays, are ready for shipment. Will everyone working on inlays turn them in as soon as possible as they must be shipped to headquarters at Seattle within a limited time.

Dr. Scott, chairman of the first aid committee, will visit northwest-ern division headquarters at Seattle this week.

The ladies of Filer have completed the course of surgical dressing instructions under Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Ormsby. Those now qualified to teach are Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. A. Shear, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Hossman, Mrs. Guy Shearer.

The Elks have donated several large nicely made tables to be used in the surgical dressing department.

The high school students have a shipment of 100 personal effect bags to complete. These bags are given to hospital patients to put their personal effects in for safe keeping.

March 16, 1918, marked the thirty-sixth anniversary of the establishing of the American Red Cross. In the short space it has grown from a struggling, little known organization to a great body of eager workers numbering its members in the millions.

Because of the chapter receiving its quota of hospital work, the work at headquarters at Seattle this week, and because of the unexpected strike (12 boxes a month) in carrying the quota of Twin Falls and interest in them in this work, if every woman would do her share of work, from each one, the time has come when the man-by-money is going to be measured not by money, but by name, not by family, but by service.

THANKS OFFERED FOR BELGIAN DONATIONS

The committee for the relief of French and Belgians heartily thanks the helpers who have faithfully sorted, packed and labeled the garments so generously given away for such a beautiful cause. There were packed and shipped to New York, 729 garments, making 88 bales of a total weight of 6845 pounds. Believers have contributed also two full boxes of clothing, weighing together 885 pounds, which came in time to be shipped to the front. Mrs. J. H. Rogerson sent some directly. Altogether a very creditable showing for Twin Falls county, which is always there in everything.

This is women's work—they may not fight in the trenches, but they can play the game here and do whatever is put up to them to do. The sooner we concentrate every ounce of power in our bodies to winning the war, the sooner the war will be over. Sixty men have pledged themselves to do surgical dressing work. The rooms are full every afternoon and do whatever is put up to them to do. The sooner we concentrate every ounce of power in our bodies to winning the war, the sooner the war will be over.

Germans Will be Driven Back Shortly

British General in Chicago Says They Have Gained Tactical Advantage at Aful Cost

CHICAGO, March 26.—The Germans have won a tactical advantage at an appalling cost in human life. But it will be only two or three days before they will be stopped and then the British will hit the counter blow. This was the comment here today by Brigadier General W. A. White of the British army as he analyzed the situation on the west front from latest newspaper dispatches.

General White admitted that it is perhaps the most critical period of the war since the battle of the Marne, but he also believed it the critical hour for Germany.

"We can still go back five or six miles and then be where we were in 1916 and where we were strong defenses," said General White. "General Haig and the allied war council know what they are doing. The 400 or more guns reported captured were what we call sacrifice batteries, trench mortars and 18-pound pieces."

ROOSEVELT SOUNDS DRIVE IN MAINE TODAY

(By International News Service.) PORTLAND, Me., March 28.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will sound the keynote of the great Republican drive for Congressional representation in the fall election when he addresses the Maine Republican State convention in Bangor today.

The Colonel will take his text from the war and sail away straight from the shoulder at what he calls the "Democratic blundering in the handling of the great war."

Hon. Wallace H. White, Jr., representing to Congress from the Second Maine district, was temporary chairman of the convention. There were 1,474 delegates entitled to seats in the convention and it was an early indication that every delegate was on hand to see the "big delegs."

The Republican State Committee went into session at the Balmouth hotel yesterday and all day and last night heard all contested cases of delegates.

The platform to be adopted by the Republican State convention will contain a plank favoring National prohibition, as well as a strong plank favoring the strict and uncompromising enforcement of the Maine Prohibition liquor law. The administration of Governor Carl E. Milliken will be commended for its business-like character.

A new State committee, consisting of a member from each of the sixteen counties, will be selected at the convention. The present chairman is Frank J. Ham, of Kennebec county, who is also the warden of the State prison at Tomaston, and he will undoubtedly be re-elected.

Governor Milliken recently announced that he would be a candidate for re-election in the Republican primaries, which will be held on the third Monday in June. The election will be held on the second Monday in September.

A governor, United States senator, four congressmen, state auditor, county officers, and members of the legislature will be elected at the September balloting.

TWINN BEING CLOSER BOND BETWEEN U. S. AND CANADA

MONTREAL, Quebec, March 28.—A closer bond of friendship exists between Canada and the United States as the result of the birth of twins to Mrs. Peter McKenzie of this city. While the military train in which she was riding with her husband, Private Peter McKenzie, touched the border line of the United States she gave birth to twins. The first arrival—a boy—was born in the United States, while the girl, who arrived fifteen minutes later—was born on the Canadian side.

TO OBSERVE LOYALTY DAY
The following general letter has been issued by the director of the bureau, Mrs. Kinyon to the chairman of speakers' committees, county councils of defense, calling to their attention the necessity for observance of loyalty day:
"April 6th, 1916, is the first anniversary of our entrance into the great world conflict and has been designated as Loyalty Day. On this day every loyal American citizen is asked to consecrate himself anew to the task of winning the war."
The opening of the Third Liberty Loan Drive is set for April 6th, of this year, and no more fitting date could have been chosen. A proper observance of Loyalty Day will greatly

"Save both butter and lard—and use Vegetable Oils and Vegetable Compounds . . . they are equally good."

U. S. Food Administration

THE United States Food Administration does not step into your kitchen to see if you are playing fair—it simply asks you to

"SAVE ANIMAL FATS"—and puts you on your honor.

Now the Government isn't asking you to deny yourself good eating, but merely to cook in a slightly different way. In a word, to stop short in the use of lard and butter in your cooking and use vegetable fats instead.

In the production of the needed vegetable fats the country is well equipped. Already millions of pounds of pure, wholesome and nourishing vegetable fats are produced and used each year. Cottolene is a familiar example.

In recommending vegetable fats the Government does not specify any particular product. Cottolene, however, is well known as a pure and wholesome vegetable shortening. Incidentally, it gives delicious cooking results.

—Here is the fact to remember when you buy—when you cook—and we quote it from the United States Food Administration:

"It is your patriotic duty to save fat (animal fat) by substituting."

GOOD-HEARTED BURGLAR TOUCHED BY HER FLEE
PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 22.—It was a good-hearted burglar who entered the home of Mrs. Mary Jane Painter, seventy, a recluse. "I have no money in the house and you are too much of a man to kill or harm a poor old crippled woman," she replied to his threats. "All right, I'll take your word for it," he answered as he jumped through the open window into the darkness.

FARMERS WILL PLANT TO HELP

to a war of annihilation. We are in this fight to prevent that sort of thing and end it forever. We sympathize with the people of Russia who acted foolishly in believing the word of Germany, which in accordance with its philosophy, did not hesitate to declare another solemn treaty 'a scrap of paper'.

In this country we look upon a contract as sacred. In Ohio farmers are entitled to be asked to put their name on a note for a loan, unless where required by law, because they regard their word as binding. But later German writers, who have controlled their military and diplomatic affairs regard a contract as worthless if it is found to run counter to their political interests.

After reading several quotations and referring to the actions of Borstorf in this country to prove his statement, President Thompson continued, in substance, as follows:

"Nobody thinks we got into this war too soon. Many think we should have gone in sooner, but I am not here to discuss that. The attitude of President Wilson on this war was similar to that of President McKinley toward the Spanish-American war. A delegation of Ohio leaders went to Washington long before the Spanish-American war to urge President McKinley to ask congress to declare war. They urged him strongly and he received them politely, but declined to act. President McKinley, like President Wilson, did not get until convinced that the American people felt that war was necessary and were therefore willing and ready to give it their whole-hearted support.

The American people are giving such support. It was thought by some that the necessary thing to do was to object without effort to control what they would eat were made. They have not done so. They have realized that an army must be fed like an army, and that green onions and lettuce, while it can be eaten at home, cannot be shipped abroad. In every case the person refraining from eating what is needed on the front is helping win the war. American invention will overcome German invention, since they get all their original ideas from us. We are now manufacturing a gas which is far more deadly than any in Europe, and it is going across. It was invented by a friend of mine. We have now perfected an invention which will enable us to detect a submarine ten miles away and our ships will soon be supplied. Our manufacturers have said to the government to use them where needed.

"In this country it will not be necessary to ask the farmers to do what is needed. They will do that to the best of their ability and, where possible, will so arrange their crops as to help the government. Among certain classes of Russian-Germans in North Dakota there would not be any in Idaho it is true. They will show what they can do of those things which will help win the war for democracy and civilization.

CONGRESS AGAIN CRITICIZES THE DEPARTMENTS

FOES OF ADMINISTRATION RETURN TO THE CHARGE AGAINST BAKER

Delay in Aircraft Is Explained

English and French Asked That Men and Material be Sent Over to Make Them There and Compliance Delayed Things Here.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Congress today was split wide open over war policies. The storm center was the senate, but in the house there was much smouldering discontent. The gravity of the situation in Picardy and a declaration by some senators opposed to the administration that there had been a breakdown in part of the war preparations already had resulted in some plain talk and it was asserted that, at least so far as the senate was concerned, the members intended telling the country what they knew about the war program regardless of the views of the administration.

Opposition senators resented the charge by the administration chiefs that they were "playing politics." They declared that the political situation was developed by Senator Lodge, who has been in session and out of session an uncompromising advocate of fighting the war until Germany is completely crushed, regardless of cost.

The big point of attack is the delay in the aircraft program.

A couple of weeks ago the senators on the military affairs committee went to the war department to have the war program explained to them by Assistant Secretary of War Crowell.

They were told that the air program was very much behind and that the original program had been greatly curtailed in view of the protests that had been made that the air service would be made the greatest in the world if the money was furnished and that this money was now out of question, the senators returned to the capitol much perturbed.

There were spirited matters but not until General Leonard Wood, who stands day before yesterday 'd the storm break. Today anti-administration senators are sharply demanding an accounting and of the plans of responsibility for the future. What they will do has not yet been decided upon.

On behalf of the aircraft board administration leaders today insisted that the charge that it had failed was exaggerated and that a correct and false opinion in the minds of Americans generally. At the request of the allies it was stated, men and materials have been rushed abroad to make machines in both France and England in this way American plants have been deprived of the services of many skilled workers who are now abroad.

The liberty motor is not a failure, senators also claimed. They say that it is doing far more than has been expected of and that it is now being manufactured in quantities. It also was declared that there will be plenty of aircraft by July 1 and that then the problem will be one of getting them to the front.

It is also pointed out that Senator Lodge, who led the attack and in occasion, recently made a bitter, and as the administration men contend, an unfair assault on the war department and that the whole attack consists of a distortion of facts, which if fully and fairly stated will prove creditable to the administration. It is pointed out that the same senators, who are criticizing have stood in the way of the passage of the Overman bill, giving necessary power to the president to coordinate war activities.

It is also suggested that the superiority of allied aeroplanes fleet on the battle front shows that there has been no lack of airplanes except at isolated points.

There will be no presidential reply or "counter offensive" to the burst of criticism of the administration in the senate it was learned in White House circles today. The administration takes the position that the American achievement speaks for themselves and that it was only to be expected that there would be "partial clamor."

Senator Williams of Mississippi, in the senate, replying to critics, said it was extremely unfortunate that there was a "gas attack" in Washington while the people in Wisconsin are attempting to decide in an election between a loyalist and a lukewarm patriot. Senator Williams trotted out Leonard's war record and said that his attitude had been lukewarm throughout. Senators Smoot of Utah, Callinger of New Hampshire, and McCumber of North Dakota, jumped to their feet to defend Leonard.

22 Million Families in the United States

If EACH FAMILY saved one cup of wheat flour it would amount to 5,500,000 pounds, or more than 28,000 barrels. If this saving was made three times a week, it would amount to 838,000,000 pounds, or 4,377,000 barrels in a year.

You can do your share in effecting this saving and really help to win the war by omitting white bread from one meal today and baking in its place muffins or corn bread according to this recipe:

Corn Meal Muffins

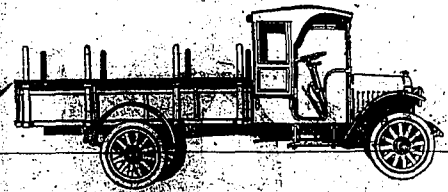

- 1/2 cup corn meal
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar
No eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening

Mix dry ingredients together into bowl; add milk and melted shortening and beat well. Bake in greased muffin tin in hot oven about 20 minutes. Same batter may be baked as corn bread in greased shallow pan.

75% of all hauling can be done by a Maxwell Truck

MAXWELL TRUCK

There are now more than 6600 Maxwell trucks in use. And we cannot find a single business that the Maxwell isn't adapted to.

Up to this time we have listed over 300 kinds of businesses in which Maxwell trucks are employed.

They will do everything a 5-ton truck will do except haul 5 tons at one load. 5-ton trucks aren't better. They're merely bigger.

Big trucks spend more gas hauling themselves than the Maxwell uses at peak load.

How well those Maxwells have done their work is shown by a service record of 99.6% perfect—the greatest record ever made by a motor-driven vehicle.

$400 less than any other truck of similar capacity in the world!

Odessa's Recapture Reported Yesterday

Gray of Empire and Pillage Said to Have Aroused the Masses to Activity

COPENHAGEN, March 27.—Recapture of Odessa from the Germans by the Ukrainian Bolshevik troops was announced in an official statement received here. The city was taken after a hard fight, in which the Black Sea Fleet and the Ukrainian forces had continued their advance seaward, occupying Chernobyl. At that time it was generally supposed that German and Ukrainian troops were making common cause against the Bolsheviks so that the capture of Odessa today caused considerable concern.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—"An orgy of rapine, pillage, crucifixion and drunkenness which beggars description" has been witnessed by Lithuanians since their country was overrun by the Germans, according to a bulletin issued today by the Lithuanian Information Bureau.

"The Huns have given free rein to their lust for flesh and blood," the statement continues. "Bounty hunters have been established, called 'Hussars' and under armed guard (and) rich young girls have been impressed at the mercy of the soldiers." Complete bodies of girls of tender age have been taken to the front by the German officers, have been found in deserted German trenches, it is asserted.

The white guards are beating the reds in Finland, according to a wireless reading of the state department today. No details of the fighting were given. The white guards have driven the reds from the city of Helsinki and are now fighting in the city of Turku. THE BATTLE OF THE AGES

It is absolutely impossible for the human mind, or imagination, to visualize or in any degree to comprehend either the magnitude or the supreme wickedness and cruelty of the desperate battle now raging in northern France—the very greatest in possible results as in fury and in numbers, and all the history of all the world.

Of two millions of men, we are told, one-half is striving to kill the other half—each annihilating million being amply provided with all known weapons, means and methods for causing sudden and violent death!

This in the twentieth century after Christ—and almost under the shadow of that great peace palace at the Hague where all the nations met to learn war no more!

A million men in column of fours, with artillery and equipment, would stretch along a highway for three hundred miles; and, with thirty horses in a single file, with thirty lanes to the man, would make a line of equal length. One man out of ten upon the offensive side and one out of thirty-five upon the other, struck down daily, is not a large toll for such intense fighting! And our own sons and brothers awaiting their turn!

Full confidence that the right will prevail is almost drowned in the magnitude of the bloody cost. "Oh, Lord, how long!"

NEW ANTI-WILSON DRIVE WAS CAREFULLY PLANNED

The second great attack on the war department was evidently carefully timed to strike the public when naturally excited over the great European battle. As it was known for some time that the Hun would strike, it was not difficult to arrange for General Wood to testify before the hostile military committee at the time when the fate of the armies hangs in the balance. The hearing was secret so that it had been the theory of the senate that nothing that could give aid or comfort to the enemy should be revealed. All senators, particularly those in honor bound to keep matters revealed there secret. And yet immediately excerpts of what was alleged, coupled with dire intimations as to their significance.

The next day bitter attacks, were made by Senator Lodge and others, and a demand for "pitiless publicity" of all things relating to the conditions on the front, as seen from the viewpoint biased in favor of the political foes of the administration, was demanded. It was known by everyone making this demand that this could not be allowed for it would amount to giving a statement of the exact condition and location of our troops to the enemy. Yet when it was denied, as the men demanding it knew it would be denied, the cry was raised that "The people were being deprived of the right to know the facts." This at once permitted an appeal to the galleries and also permitted the attacking senators to intimate that conditions were very bad indeed. And since disaster would ensue if the stringer, aware of military secrets, only details could be entered and those could not quite ally the disquietude resulting from the blatant charges. Thus some progress was made by the tactics of the critics. The plans pursued was cheap, simple and effective.

General Wood is an able officer. It should be remembered that able and SINCERE officers often differ regarding military facts and the conclusions to be drawn from them. When it was proposed by the Directory of France to give Aegerus equal command with Napoleon, the latter at once offered to resign, saying that Aegerus was a great general, but "an army can do better under a bad general than under two good ones," thus suggesting that even an incompetent could do better than he and Aegerus together. This simply means that they could not agree with one another, and that no two able generals could agree with one another, as to conditions and policies. Assuming, therefore, that General Wood did testify that the conditions of the air were not satisfactory, it should be remembered that other sorts of reports came from the front apparently from men who were competent, only a short time ago, and that it is a matter of opinion, to a great extent. We believe that whatever General Wood testified to be believed. But he, like other human beings, is biased, and sees things, to some extent, through glasses smoked by predispositions and prejudices. He has always been associated with the political element that disagreed with not only the military but with the economic and fundamental foreign policies of President Wilson. The men and the newspapers that have hounded the president and misrepresented his acts and his motives during his administration, have, at the same time, insisted that all the greatest honors, powers and responsibilities should be given to General Wood. That Wood should accept this view is human. General Grant once said that General Halleck recommended the promotion of General G. F. Smith over Grant on the ground that Smith was the better general, adding that he (Grant) did not think much differently at that time. But, then Grant was one in a million in modesty and ability. Certainly, such sentiment was never uttered by Colonel Roosevelt, with reference to his own comparative qualifications. Probably Wood would not take so unassuming a view of his own talents.

The history of generals, on the average, however patriotic, is that they "see things wrong with the management of the war which they cannot see filling themselves. We are not saying that Wood testified to any of the things attributed to him, for the veracity of those who violated their pledge of secrecy regarding what took place in the committee is about on par with that of Ananias or Munchausen. Neither do we charge him with being a party to any plot.

Again THE TIMES recalls attention to the main fact in this persistent and organized attack inside and outside congress, and that is that while patriotism in the narrow sense largely enters into it, it extends beyond partisanship. Senators who have powerful backing in financial or monopolistic circles are against the administration regardless of politics. Chamberlain and Hitchcock are Democratic examples. Lodge is another of a somewhat different type. Lodge is a natural aristocrat. The idea that he is for sale for so much cash is absurd. But he belongs to the class in this country as aptly referred to by President W. O. Thompson, of the Ohio University, Monday night, who have the class ideal and cannot think in accord with President Wilson or understand his policies. Senator Lodge is the biographer and panegyrist of that great man, Alexander Hamilton, into the spirit of whose policies he entered. Just as the American Economist, which equally hates and criticizes Wilson, sneers at the principles of Jefferson, so in substance, though not so crudely, does Lodge. Both hate Wilson, because he stands not for the international policies for which Hamilton stood, and because he does stand for the principles for which Jefferson stood. Hence, anything which looks like a shortcoming in a Jeffersonian Democrat to this blue stocking critic of essential democracy, grows like the specter on the Brocken. The element which takes this view and that other element of epiphany which likes to "do something for the people," and confer something on them, rather than give them the right to confer something on themselves, and this includes men who have done some real things, hate Wilson, because like Jefferson, the president believes in the people being able to govern themselves. Those, too, start with the assumption that anything done by a man with Wilson's viewpoint, must be inefficiently done; for are they not the only efficient?

Here, then we have a combination that is hard to beat. All the purely partisan anti-administration men; all the predatory elements of monopoly (the privileged); all the "superior" folks, in their own estimation, and all the influence that vast wealth can command. Yet in the interests of victory, of true democracy and human rights, it must and will be beaten. A word about political organization. The new era began with Mark Hanna. There were political organizations before, but never on the same scale. Every day since then, it has been improved. Whoever thinks that men with power to do the great things that have been brought about in business and in construction are unable to plan and perfect and carry into effect needed plans of organization, with all of the required camouflage and subterfuge and aeroplanes, is innocent indeed. Just as a civil war officer would be lost in the present war, so a politician of the Garfield-Hancock or the Cleveland-Blaire campaign would think himself in a new world.

ELSIE FERGUSON OF BOTH STAGE AND SCREEN RENOWN IN SPECTACULAR PRODUCTION

ELSIE FERGUSON in "Rose of the World" An Aircraft Picture

"ROSE OF THE WORLD" SHOWING AT THE IDAHO THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—VAUDEVILLE INCLUDES TRIO IN COMEDY HIT "THE MYSTERIOUS BLONDE" AND HARRY LEE—NOVEL ENTERTAINER

IF YOU WERE A BEAUTIFUL YOUNG WOMAN, and your first husband had been a dashing army officer who had died a hero; and your second husband, was an old man of title and wealth, but stupid and conceited, whom you had married in a moment of weakness; and you found your love for your dead husband growing stronger and stronger, until you could not bear the presence of your second husband; and, to complicate matters, if your first husband's best friend fell in love with you—what would you do?

These are some of the problems that Elsie Ferguson battles with in her latest Aircraft picture, "Rose of the World," in which the lovely star does some remarkable emotional acting. Miss Ferguson has won most of her laurels in heavy roles, and as "Rosemond," the heroine of the film story, she has a part well suited to her talents. The picture is now showing at the Idaho theatre.

SCREEN CHATTER

Since Mary Pickford took San Francisco by storm by leading the Red Cross and they E. S. Martin, George Arlino, recently the little star in Aircraft pictures, has been besieged by requests to participate in similar events the country over. This is actually a movement of a patriotic nature in which America's premiere film actress has not participated in some way, but the demands on her time have become so great that she has been compelled to place a ban on her personal appearances that conflict with her work for the screen.

SCREEN CHATTER

During the filming of "Nan of Music Mountain," which is his newest Paramount picture, Wallace Reid was supposed to be shot in the leg. That was not the worst of it, however, for the handsome hero of the script had to crawl from his horse, from which he had fallen, to a nearby spring, in which he placed his injured leg. Next he fainted and was supposed to stay in that position with his foot and leg in the ice cold water for several days. Of course "Wally" really didn't, but he declared he felt as if he had been there a week, for the waters of the beautiful Sierra Nevada, where the picture was made, are nothing if not frigid.

SCREEN CHATTER

Little Vivian Martin, for the past week has had a freight train all in herself out on the plains. She was permitted to climb around in the car, run the train, and blow the whistle to her heart's content, when she wasn't tied to a steam pipe in the baggage car filming scenes for "Uncle Sam Goodie," her next Paramount picture.

SCREEN CHATTER

Sessie Hayakawa, the Japanese star, who has played Chinamen, Hawaiians, Hindus—and even Japanese—is now cast for the role of an Arabian prince in a Paramount picture being made by James Young. Florence Vidor makes a very pretty Moorish girl, while Jack Holt and Noah Berry are also prominent in the company.

Twin Falls Boy Tells of Front

Graphic Description of Effort of Besse to Learn What Force is in Front

In a letter from "Somewhere in France" by Rufus Stevens of History B, Fritz told us that he had had some experience and had seen the desire on the part of the Germans to learn just what regions of American are in front of them. How the Hun airplanes sail over in the darkness and how they are driven back by anti-aircraft guns and allied airplanes is also told. The letter follows:

Feb. 22, 1918.
N. B. Wolfe,
Twin Falls, Idaho
Dear Friend: After waiting for what seemed a life-time your letter finally arrived and will now try to answer. The winter in Standard about over and the great German drive that was to so utterly pulverize the allies, has not materialized. As you have probably noticed in the papers, some of the boys are still at target practice, but are using German targets for targets. It would tickle Fritz nearly to death if he could know just what regiments are facing him and for that reason I will not say just what part we are playing. But as their aircraft operations from the front line to several miles behind unless stopped by a shell or allied machine, it will not give away secrets to any of them in flying overhead now. I can't see him in the dark but know it is Fritz from the reception he is getting from the anti-aircraft guns. He does not know just what his mission is, but from the nature of the brute it is surely one of mercy, such as dropping bombs on a hospital or church.
The hard work of winter drill and maneuvers have taken some of the bounce out of the boys, but their cheerfulness is still rampant and will never down. Your remark that you would be glad when the Sammites were again made me realize that all of the patriotic duty is not yours, for the Sammites will surely be glad also. But how strange it will seem to be down and sleep without being loaded down with the hardware and medicated muzzles, and to know that one is in no danger of being gas bombed or shelled. Extend best wishes to all.

Sugar Beet Meet at the Bureau

Might Make More Profit in Other Field, Duty to Help, Says Dr. Thompson

The farmers might make more profit on some things than on sugar beets and yet it might be a patriotic duty to help raise sugar beets, was the opinion expressed at a meeting at the office of the government in the court house Saturday, by Dr. W. O. Thompson. Dr. Thompson suggested that every man was in some sense a soldier even if he did not wear a uniform. Even if men could make more than the rate of interest on liberty bonds, it was still their duty to buy liberty bonds. He said that farmers had gotten the "hot end of the poker" often and were suspicious, lest the other fellow was profiting, and this was natural. The farmer wanted to be reassured. He believed that if reassured he would plant. It developed at the meeting that the intention of the government to allow the Amalgamated a pro-war profit of six per cent on investment. President Alworth said that the sugar company had offered to allow an export to go over its books.

A little explanation will clarify this matter. The TIMES does not claim the earth, by any means; but at great expense it is giving the people of this community an absolute up-to-the-hour news service, and wishes that fact to be distinctly and generally understood.

Cigarette Causes Great Explosion

New York Welcher Admits Causing Awful Disaster—Much in Way of Supplies Destroyed

NEW YORK, March 27.—J. Altman, a weigher in the Jarvis warehouse in Jersey City confessed to the police, which announced today, that he threw a lighted cigarette on the floor of the plant, starting the fire which destroyed the plant and did damage totalling nearly $2,000,000 in the Erie yards district.

The blaze spread toward several tons of chlorate of potash, he was quoted as saying, and more than a dozen men who were working in the stock room raced for safety and jumped through windows. The giant explosion which shook the New York district followed within a few minutes.

The police, who shortly previous had announced discovery of a bomb near the scene, pointing to a set bomb were inclined to take Altman's story at its face value and abandoned the alien enemy theory of the origin of the disaster.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A brick wall and a firing squad were turned today by Edward J. Jarvis as a means of preventing more explosions such as were caused by the Jarvis warehouse company, destroyed the Erie shops and threatened to lay waste to the Jersey City terminal district yesterday.

Out of a mass of conflicting evidence, which the federal agents have described regarding the $2,000,000 fire, several suspicious circumstances stood forth today.

Patrick Curley, a new comer at the Jarvis plant, one of a number of workers who had been fired from New York, was held today because he told an unclear story.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has endeavored to cover the field so thoroughly that ignorance of the law cannot be consistently offered as an excuse," said Commissioner "Roper" today. "The present four million men, the state and county councils of defense, the field force of the department of agriculture, and other government departments, hundreds of offices and hundreds of volunteer agencies have co-operated in bringing home to the taxpayer his duty. The man who failed to register under the selective service act was regarded by the war department as a slacker and prosecuted as such. The man who failed to file his income tax will be regarded as a money slacker, and when discovered, as he will be, will be liable to suffer full penalties of the law.

"To the credit of the nation it may be said that I have gratified and convinced thousands of men that come taxes will be paid by the great majority of the American people cheerfully and willingly. But the duty of the honest man does not stop with the payment of his own tax. A man so negligently as to seek to evade what his representatives in Congress have declared to be his just share of a tax imposed for the support of our armies is deserving of no consideration and no sympathy.

"Congress has distributed this tax justly and equitably. The rate is fixed so that the rich man and the man of moderate means are assessed each according to his income. No man can offer the excuse that his neighbor escaped what he is made to pay. Therefore, it is incumbent on all good citizens to aid in carrying out the intent and spirit of the law, which is that the burden of the war tax be evenly distributed and every man compelled to pay his just quota."

100,000 AMERICANS IN COUNTER

Hindenburg's offensive on the Bapaume-Noyon front. Besides various American divisions all branches of service and railway engineers are there.

It is reported that American aviators, including those that volunteered for service in the Lafayette escadrille of the French army, and American ambulance and motor lorry drivers are in the battle zone.

The motor truck drivers are doing their part in getting the ammunition to the front.

It is reported further that the crack Lafayette escadrille, all whose members were taken over by the United States army in January, but who are still flying with the French, are on the scene of the tremendous battle, together with various well known French aces.

Certain American aviator observers also are said to be engaged in the work of regulating the allied artillery and in clearing the German front.

In addition the Americans are believed to be taking part in machine gunnery made by airplanes which sweep low over the enemy's positions.

American "field service" sections which were organized by the United States army and American Red Cross units were organized by Richard Norton and Frederick Harjes are said to be on the ground helping to carry French and British wounded to the field hospitals just as they did at Verdun and Cambrai.

American caring for the wounded have shown remarkable celerity in outfitting the rapid handling of the wounded during the modern warfare.

American motor truck drivers are believed in the United States army have already achieved distinction by their rapid manufacturing of long convoys of camions laden with shells, equipment and foodstuffs.

American operated hospitals in Paris are receiving contingents of wounded.

American relief associations are actively handling the first batches of wounded refugees which are streaming back from their newly taken up homes in the region from which the strategy was driven in the last two years.

Harry English, and after his reported death in battle she marries the lieutenant-governor, Sir Arthur Gardaline. Life with Sir Arthur, who is old, fat and conceited, proves a marked contrast to that with Capt. Harry. She resolves the personal effects of the dashing captain, including his diary, kept up to the hour of battle, in which he tells of his love for his beautiful wife. These tender messages, practically coming from the world beyond, bring to Rosamond a realization of her love for her first husband, and the wife of Sir Arthur becomes unbearable. The story winds up happily in a very unusual manner.

FRANKLIN e-f-f-i-c-i-e-n-c-y The dictionary tells us that the primary meaning of the word is efficacy. That is only another way of saying potency-power-force-ability to serve the purpose for which the man or thing is intended. So that when we say the Franklin is an efficient motor car the reader at once is given an idea of what is meant. There are no words in the language that will give the same impression of completely fulfilling its intended purpose that the Franklin itself will do. It is so much better than all other motor cars of any and all prices that we have nothing with which to make a comparison. It is so much superior in efficiency-efficiency-potency-power-capacity to serve that any description that can be penned does not serve to illumine the subject. It is easy to drive. Those accustomed to cars of the same weight cannot be made to understand just how easy to drive. They understand soon enough once they have experienced the pleasure of driving a Franklin. They are the most comfortable cars in which to ride. Many things in the car go to bring about this result. Light weight, large tires, full electrical springs, absolute balance and perfect proportion all play their part. It is economical. Twice the mileage on gasoline; oil and tires of any other car, with less expense for upping. It is safer than other cars. The braking system is better—the foot-brake, which is in constant use, acting on the transmission. All efforts to describe the car are futile. The FRANKLIN Car is itself. It is wholly different from other cars. There is no other that approaches. It is more nearly a perfect car than any other of any name and at any price. Drive a Franklin a mile. There is no need of talk. The car is its own argument. Gooding Motor Company BUHL BURLLEY TWIN FALLS GOODING

Tax Slackers Will be Arrested at Once

Complete Organization to Prosecute Those Failing to Report Income for Taxation

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Tax slackers will be prosecuted as vigorously and relentlessly under the new tax laws as they were prosecuted under the old law, according to the statement of the committee on combustibles for Jersey City, said that it was possible that the explosions resulted when fire preceded it, reached for candles of chlorate of potash. While reports of wholesale arrests were current, federal agents detained and questioned many Jersey City residents who reported that certain strangers had been seen about the district for days, buying drinks for the men.

Wheat Ordered Seized Where Held

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The United States government will seize wheat wherever it is withheld from the market on the ground that such withholding is giving aid and comfort to the enemy. This was the assertion of the food administration this afternoon in explanation of telegrams sent to various food administrators ordering them to seize hoarded wheat and sell it in the open market.

The seizure of the stock of wheat belonging to Komenpich Brothers by the federal food administrator of New Mexico, ordered from Washington several days ago, and delayed in execution until yesterday, was cited as an example of the extreme lengths food administrator Hoover will go in stamping out wheat hoarding. Reports of similar cases have been received by the food administration and warnings will follow in due course.

Whenever an investigation shows unpatriotic intent or indications of profiteering by those holding wheat in reserve for later market developments, the food administration will take such steps to put the wheat into immediate circulation at its best price. Allowances will be made in cases of wheat to be used for seeding purposes and for personal use.

The amount of wheat already seized is said to total 250,000 pounds. It is said that this amount will be increased until immediate notice is taken by the wheat hoarder to the warnings already given.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 27.—A telegram received by Harry E. Barnard, state administrator, from Herbert Hoover, stated that failure to throw wheat on the market "gives aid and comfort to the enemy" and instructed the state authorities to requisition grain in cases where farmers refuse to dispose of the product.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Regarding the Komenpich Brothers incident the food administration issued a statement explaining the provocation for its action.

"They have consistently refused to sell at the ruling price fixed by the government," the statement says. "They have given no satisfactory explanation of their action. They have been urged to release it (wheat) in order that the United States may maintain its program of exportation."

The report placed the production of these two men, brothers, trading as farmers and storekeepers under the name of Komenpich Brothers at about 100,000 pounds. In addition to this the federal food administrator for New Mexico reported they had purchased about 250,000 pounds which they also refused to release from storage. The United States food administration authorized the seizure of these stocks and placed the entire supply in circulation.

Utah Is Stated for the Next Big Oil Excitement

DEVELOPMENTS are indicating that some portions of this state are underlain with pools of "liquid wealth," and that Utah may soon take her place alongside Wyoming, Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas as an oil producer.

The great fortunes in oil have been made by those who were in on the discovery and development of properties. Once the production is proven, holdings usually take on such values that profits are necessarily smaller.

The DIXIE OIL COMPANY has holdings in southern Utah, on which OIL HAS BEEN DISCOVERED IN SUBSTANTIAL QUANTITIES, and it is a HIGH GRADE OIL.

We announced to some of our Twin Falls Friends that we were developing this property and that we wanted them to come in with us and share in the anticipated profits.

We have had so many requests for further information that we have decided to send our representatives into that territory for a few days to answer these inquiries direct.

Our salesmen, Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Andrews are here now, and have a quantity of our HIGH GRADE OIL DIRECT FROM OUR WELLS, and a miniature refining plant with which they will demonstrate for you how to EXTRACT GASOLINE, KEROSENE AND FUEL OIL FROM THE CRUDE PRODUCT.

You can see with your own eyes that we can save over 75 per cent by ordinary distillation.

Demonstrations evenings—7:30 to 10 or any time by request.

Papers in the Schooner Agassiz Show Plan to Get Tents in Mexico Lined Up

A PACIFIC PORT, March 27.—Papers seized on the schooner Alexander Agassiz which arrived here shortly before noon today show that Fritz Bauman, at one time held as an alien enemy at San Francisco, had been ordered by the German ambassador in Mexico City to assume charge of the Agassiz and the Venus before she then utilize the vessel in destroying allied shipping in the Pacific. Bauman, who was given credentials, calling upon all Germans on the west coast to obey him, was also instructed to seize some vessel capable of making a voyage to Germany, to take important papers from the Mexican ambassador in Mexico to the author, it is said. According to federal officers, papers on the Agassiz show that mailbags were held at the German embassy in Mexico City and elsewhere, where plans for a gigantic plot against the United States were worked out. Aside from eight prisoners on board the vessel when it was captured, two of whom were women. There were a number of Mexicans. Federal officials say that the Mexicans were to be used as a blind in case of capture.

Tense Situation on Italian Front

Austro Hungarians Defeat in Great Force to Assault the Gethes in Italy

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The situation along the Italian front is becoming more and more tense every day, according to the official cablegram from Rome late this afternoon. It appears Austro-Hungarian forces, the dispatch says, are counting upon the success of the German drive in France to discourage the Italians before starting their offensive. New divisions are being brought daily from Roumania to the Italian front. Artillery duels are growing in intensity all along the mountainous sections of the front and at Val Lavagna, Giudicaria and Astico, the Austrians have many new pieces of heavy artillery. Great movements of the Austro-Hungarian troops are being reported by the Italian aviators in Val Bugana, where every effort apparently is being made to break through the mountainous zone of the Italian front.

Four to One Loss Against the Huns

Four Hundred Thousand Germans and 100,000 British Killed and Wounded to Tuesday Night

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The British losses in six days of fighting have totaled less than 100,000 killed, wounded and missing, according to information transmitted to officials here late this afternoon. Full estimates have been cabled here, it was learned, but they have not been made available to the public. About the time this information came to Washington it was estimated that the German losses to date have totaled fully 400,000. This disparity between British and German casualties gave official Washington even greater satisfaction and confidence than had been gained by the reported slowing down of the German drive.

Famous Musician Is Interned by U. S.

Dr. Karl Muck, leader of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Arrived Yesterday

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The arrest of Dr. Karl Muck, leader of the Boston Symphony orchestra, as an alien enemy, is simply a continuation of the policy of the government to intern all dangerous aliens regardless of their social position or number of their friends, officials of the department of justice announced today. Dr. Muck has been under surveillance for months by agents of the department.

The evidence against him will not be revealed. But officials said that they felt confident that he would be detained for the period of the war. It was expected that Dr. Muck would make a fight through his attorneys in Boston on the ground that he is a Swiss subject. Expecting this action, department of justice agents today made a significant move. This would hardly help him. It is entirely possible to deport the musical director for an indefinite period. If he were his Swiss citizenship, which is not considered likely, officials said. Officials declare there is to be no further attempt to keep Muck in the United States. There are too many evidences reaching Washington that the temper of the nation is approaching the breaking point. As a result the agents of the department of justice and the other branches of government which have been assigned to check espionage and anti-American agitation, are working overtime. Many arrests are being made, but under the policy of the department no attempt of this action is made. These aliens and their sympathizers simply are taken into custody on presidential warrants and sent to the detention camps. This action is absolutely necessary, officials who know all of the facts say, if wholesale uprisings throughout the country are to be prevented. Dr. Muck holds anti-American sentiments, the proof on file here in Washington shows.

Characteristic Hun Performance

Shelling of Paris Civilians in Keeping With Becke Kultur Says Reelfield

WASHINGTON, March 25.—"A characteristic German performance; another example of 'frightfulness.' This was the comment of the afternoon of Secretary of Commerce Reelfield in discussing the 'phantom gun' with which the Germans are reported to be shelling Paris at a distance of more than 70 miles. Such a weapon, if one exists, Secretary Reelfield believed, would have little value aside from furthering a campaign of 'frightfulness.' The secretary was optimistic over the general situation. The Germans are presenting the names of many villages they have captured, he said, but they are withholding the cost at which they were taken. 'And they are the same villages they made light of when they first lost them,' he added.

Long and Short Haul Issue Is Up

Will Be Settled by National Government in Opinion of Intermountain Representatives

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The twenty year controversy over long and short haul freight must be settled by the federal government, intermountain representatives of Rocky Mountain cities told the house intermountain foreign commerce committee this afternoon. J. F. Shaughnessy, president of the Intermediate Rate association, insisted that intermountain opinion rates for short hauls must be made non-discriminatory. The issue the railway administration must solve, he said, is to centralize the industrial and commercial activities of the country upon the coasts, and continue to depopulate the smaller cities and towns in the central and western parts of the country. Shaughnessy said. Some relief in tariffs from short hauls has been sought by the interstate commerce commission in its schedules issued March 15, he said, but none had been given for east-bound hauls.

Los Angeles Slacker Held by Uncle Sam

Charged With Outfitting a German Steamer for Frey on Our Commerce Near Mexico

A PACIFIC POINT, March 25.—Whether Robert S. Livingston, wealthy Los Angeles man, is a slacker or suspect, outfitted the auxiliary schooner Alexander Agassiz, captured by the American warship in Pacific waters, will be determined tomorrow by the German sailors, six Mexicans, two women and one American were on board the vessel when it was captured. It is believed the American was from this city and was seeking to evade federal officers who sought him as a slacker. Just before the American jackies climbed aboard the vessel, the German sailors destroyed the engines of the ship. It is believed the arrival of the boat will disclose many clues regarding the alleged plot to use the Alexander Agassiz to free German vessels in a Mexican port. Those boats were to be armed, it is said, and outfitted as raiders.

Intercepted Letter to Wife-Killed Self

CHICAGO, March 25.—A story of love and jealousy and war was disclosed today when the haze of mystery that hung over the death of Donamio Hoffman was lifted a little. It was a letter, believed to have been written by Matthew J. Cassin, a soldier at Houston, Texas, and found in the possession of Hoffman, that lifted the haze. The letter was written to a woman and the police believe that Hoffman intercepted it, thought it was meant for his wife, and ended his life by poison. The letter spoke of a room in a hotel here, pictures the writer standing on the roof looking out at the windows of that room with the tears streaming from his eyes. HOT CROSS BUNS FOR EASTER-TIDE

Bread-making, which had become a "lost art" in many homes, is being revived. And housekeepers are enjoying a great deal of ingenuity in combining the time-saving results of produce wholesome and palatable results, and at the same time to help the Sanitary and healthful and animal fat to some extent.

When bread is made at home, it is very easy to give the family a side-dish of these rolls or buns. Here is a timely recipe for Hot Cross Buns:

- 1 cup milk (scalded).
- 1 cup barley flour.
- 2 cups whole wheat flour.
- 1 scant level teaspoon salt.
- 1 egg.
- 1/2 cup raisins.

Ground cinnamon and cloves to taste. 1/2 yeast cake dissolved in luke warm water.

3 full-tablespoons honey. 2 rounded tablespoons Cottoleins. Dissolve salt and Cottoleins in the scalded milk. When lukewarm add honey and dissolve yeast cake. Sift the two flours together with spices, and add to mixture with the thoroughly beaten egg. Then mix in the raisins. Put in the warm place to rise to double its bulk. Knead thoroughly and shape into buns. Place in greased pan, and with a sharp knife cut a cross on top of each bun. Let rise again. Bake in moderately hot oven about 25 minutes.

WHAT IS A WAR FIE!

A war-pie is a pie made with one crust—an upper or a lower crust. But a war-pie goes one step further than dispensing with one crust. A war-pie must give up its share of what to help the Food Administration send more wheat abroad. After you have learned to make this potato-pie crust, you will hold on to the recipe, even in peace times. For the pie-crust is both nutritious and delicious. The potato adds valuable natural salts. And the use of the vegetable fat supplies its share of body "energy." It is especially good for meat pies and turnovers and tarts. As crust made with potatoes shrinks in the baking, be sure to allow for shrinkage by cutting a little larger than when white flour alone is used.

Potato Pie Crust

- 1/2 cup cold mashed potatoes.
- 1/2 cup cold water.
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder.
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- 1/2 cup Cottoleins.

Cut mashed potatoes into the flour into which the salt and baking powder have been added. Then cut in the chilled Cottoleins. Mix thoroughly blended, add a little ice water to make stiff batter. Roll on slightly floured board. Fold over and roll up by cutting a little larger than when white flour alone is used.

20,000,000 KITCHENS WILL HELP

There are 20,000,000 kitchens in this country, which means 60,000,000 breakfast, lunch and dinner tables. And little saving of wheat and animal fats and sugar at each of these meals means a real contribution to our allies and our own boys abroad—a big help toward winning the war.

Barley, cornmeal, buckwheat, oatmeal, potatoes and rice are all taking their place in helping to save wheat. And vegetable oils are now used in place of butter and other animal shortenings in baking and cooking. A friend of ours, whose family loves these frequent meals, has been using 25 per cent rolled oats or oatmeal with the white flour. She finds this recipe both nutritious and delicious.

Oatmeal Biscuits

- 1 1/2 cups white flour.
- 1/2 cup rolled oats or oatmeal (unbleached).
- 4 level teaspoons baking powder.
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- 1 level tablespoon Cottoleins.
- 1/4 cup of milk (or half water and milk).

Sift together flour, oatmeal, baking powder and salt. Rub or chop in the Cottoleins. Add milk and the water and mix to soft dough with knife. Roll about 1/4 inch thick and cut. Bake in hot oven for 15 minutes.

NIGHTWATCHMAN SHOOTS AT "GHOST" EVERY NIGHT

STUBENVILLE, Okla., March 25.—Patrick Hilley, a watchman at one of the Panhandle crossings here, has the town on edge by firing a revolver promiscuously into the dark and still atmosphere each night. When police warned him to cease he said ghosts walked the tracks at his crossing every night and that he fired shots to scare them away. Citizens are asking that Hilley be disarmed because he is more dangerous than the ghosts.

"Corn-Less Day" for Feet, Every Day

Use "Get-It," the Great Corn Discovery! Makes Corns Peel Right Off!

Look at the illustration below. See the two fingers peeling off a corn as though it were a banana peel. And the man's smiling while he's doing it. All done peacefully and joyfully. The moment "Get-It" touches a corn or callus the growth is stopped. It takes but two seconds to apply "Get-It." The corn is eased off gently. You can get it at your desk or walk about, dance, think, love and work with absolute ease. You can apply it conveniently almost anywhere where you can get your shoes and stockings off for a moment or two. "Get-It" dries at once, then put your shoes and stockings on again. There's no further excuse for suffering from corns and calluses.

"Get-It" is sold at all drugstores (you need pay no more than 25 cents a bottle), or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence and Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Twin Falls and recommended as the world's best Corn Remedy by the Beebe-Wiley Drug Company.

School Students Get Offer on Third Loan

Bankers Will Give $100 for Best Slogan Offered by Pupil Under 18 Years Old.

BOISE, March 25.—Through the courtesy of the Idaho State Bankers' association, the state committee in charge of the third Liberty Loan Bond drive offers a prize of a $100 bond to the school student in this state, 18 years of age or under, submitting the best slogan for the coming drive. Slogans cannot contain more than ten words and must be in the hands of the state committee on or before April 6. This is a free-for-all contest in which every school child in the state is invited to participate. Slogans should be placed in an envelope and addressed to the "Idaho State Liberty Loan Committee, Boise." The sender should include his or her address. The contest offers an excellent opportunity to secure a handsome prize to help make the Liberty Loan drive a success. The following has been authorized by the state committee: "To the School Children of Idaho: We have received a letter as follows: 'The Idaho Bankers' association desires hereby to offer through your committee to the school children of the State of Idaho a one hundred dollar United States bond of the third Liberty Loan for the most appropriate slogan for use in the campaign of the third Liberty Loan drive to begin April 6th, 1914. It is highly desirable that the citizenship of our state should be awakened to the great necessity of putting over this campaign for backing up the government and our boys in France. Our own boys are freely offering up their lives as a supreme sacrifice for us at home and the least we can do is to come to their aid with our money. We must go over the top with the boys to win in the great struggle for Liberty. Yours very truly, J. W. ROBINSON, Secretary.

"The rules of this contest are: 1. Open to all school children not over 18 years of age. 2. Give your name, address and the school you attend. 3. Answers must be in the hands of the Idaho State Liberty Loan Committee not later than April 6, 1914. 4. The slogan or sentence must not contain more than ten words; the shorter the better. 5. An impartial board will be called to judge the answers and to award the prize. 6. Prizes very truly, IDAHO LIBERTY LOAN STATE COMMITTEE."

Memorial Day Speaker Secured for Twin Falls

For several successive Memorial days the Twin Falls Post, O. A. R., realizing that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country," has vainly endeavored to secure some one from the outside to deliver the address of the occasion. Mr. W. H. Greenhow, the present Post Commander, has taken time by the forelock and has obtained a promise of the services of a gentleman of wide reputation, the announcement of whose name will at once command interest. The following letter will explain itself: Wolsor, Ida., March 25, 1914. W. H. Greenhow, Commander Post 33, G. A. R., Twin Falls, Idaho. Dear Sir: It affords me pleasure to be able to accept your invitation to deliver an address before your Post on Memorial Day, May 30, next. The subject of my address will be "The Covenant of Liberty." I shall look forward with great interest to this meeting with you and the members of Post 33, and trust the occasion may be an auspicious one. Sincerely, MILES CONNOR.

Stocks Go Up and Then Drop Back Again

NEW YORK, March 25.—There was a vigorous demand at the opening of the stock market today, with a great deal of outside buying being induced by the news of the day. The market was not maintained and before the end of the first fifteen minutes' reaction was in order. The reaction which started shortly after the opening continued for the most part of the first hour, when losses of around 100 points sustained in many issues. Later in the forenoon, however, the market turned strong with some stocks advanced prices of some stocks above the opening level.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The cattle market opened dull today but had a firm tone. Prices averaged slightly higher than at yesterday's close on account of buying and light offerings. The trade is mainly of a local character. Corn opened firm to an eighth lower. Provisions were easier. The feature being the selling of lard and ribs by local traders. The buying support has been rather poor.

ALLIES AT LAST ON OFFENSIVE

(Continued from page one) formation of a wedge shaped salient offering perfect targets for attack on the flanks. When the allied counter offensive is fully under way it is expected that the British will drive against the northern side of the salient and the French against the southern flank.

WEDNESDAY STORY OF BATTLE

(Cable Editor N. S.) The momentum of the German drive in France has greatly slackened. The British made a slight retirement during the night, the school of Gray, just north of the Somme river, but all efforts against the French front collapsed owing to the gallant resistance of the defenders. Gray lies between eight and nine miles west of Peronne on the Albert-Peronne highway. The British retired on both sides of the Somme river, evidently falling back upon stronger positions for a better defense of Albert on the southwest. Northeast of Albert the Germans were unable to continue their assaults in force apparently because of the tremendous losses they have suffered. The fighting in that district was described by Field Marshal Haig in his report to the British war office as "isolated." The battle in the Albert sector remains unchanged. South of the Somme river the Germans continued to exert strong pressure against the allied line and at one point they gained a footing in an advanced British position, but were driven out before they could organize it. Whether the counter thrusts launched by the British south of the Somme are the beginning of a general counter offensive is not indicated, but European military critics state that the time is rapidly approaching if it is not already here, when a grand counter movement against the Germans by the British, French and American troops may be expected. The greatest number of aeroplanes ever constructed are being used by the allies and the Germans in the battle of Picardy. The Anglo-French air forces maintain their supremacy of the sky. Advice from the front today said that British and French airplanes had brought down between 215 and 250 German machines in four days. Only 21 British machines were missing after the battles. It is believed that the climax of the great Picardy battle has now been reached although the opinion is advanced in some quarters that the Germans may have voluntarily relaxed their efforts in order to force up their heavy artillery towards the front before launching their grand assault. If the German drive has definitely been halted and they are thrown upon the defensive by counter blows of the allies, the ground gained would be out of all proportion to the stupendous losses sustained by the Germans. It would be a "success achieved at a cost of defeat." The French lines are standing like Gibraltar under the blows of the German hordes. The statement of the French war office that they are extending the north of Lesancy indicated that they have again extended that portion of the British battle front which they took back last week. Lesancy is about six miles north-west of Noyon on the Roye-Compiègne road. The capture of Roye was claimed by the German war office on Tuesday. The German attacks along the southern end of the battle zone were very feeble last night. The French had 200,000 to a standard. The French and were surprised by their enormous losses.
