DEPARTMENTS PLEASD WITH WAR PROGRESS

EVERY PROSPECT PLEASED ON TWELFTH DAY OF TERRIFIC STRUGGLE

Basic Order of Battle Maintained

Belief Expressed That Germans Are Playing Last Card and Will Try Out All Positions Before Giving Up Attempt.

LONDON, April 1.—At no time since the beginning of the great German offensive has the situation looked so satisfactory for the allies as it did today—the twelfth of the mighty battle.

Not only were the Germans checked, but the Anglo-French armies, by brilliant dashes, recaptured a number of villages and the situation looked so satisfactory for the allies as it did today—the twelfth of the mighty battle.

Advances from the continent told of the enthusiasm with which the American troops greeted the news that they would be given a chance to show their mettle in the battle now raging on the plains of Picardy.

Two causes combine to account for the halting of the German drive. First—The extremely heavy losses of the Teuton troops.

Second—The ever increasing strength of the allied counter-attacks, in which great numbers of reserves are being used.

Sunday's fighting quieted on that part of the battle front which the Germans had taken in the morning. Still further north, in the sector east of Arras, the British made powerful counter-attacks capturing French and establishing their line east of that village.

The review points out that in spite of the success of the German offensive, the rain overran and the great number of prisoners and war material captured, Field Marshal Haig has been able to make good his plan of the battle and has withdrawn his troops in such a manner as to prevent the enemy from forcing a decision.

The review follows: "The period under review has naturally been one of the most critical in the history of the war. The pressure exerted by the enemy, who has put into action peculiar shock units, long and carefully trained in mobile warfare, has been such that the British have been compelled to give ground."

Field Marshal Haig, in the face of grave difficulties, has been able to maintain his basic order of battle, at the same time withdrawing his troops in such a manner as to prevent the enemy from forcing a decision.

"In spite of the successes gained, the large area of terrain overrun and the great number of prisoners and war material captured, the British have been able to force a decision."

"Through the allies have been compelled to retreat and the enemy has secured a series of tactical gains of strategic importance, as long as the allied armies are able to maneuver with freedom and to maintain a flexibility which they have shown during the engagements of the past week, so long will victory abide the enemy."

"However, as the British high command has stated in its report on the success of the spring campaign of 1918, and is apparently determined to force a decision or prove to its own satisfaction that it is unable to do so, we must be prepared in case of his failure to obtain major results in the present theater of operations. It is the policy of the British high command to attempt further offensive results in adjacent areas."

"From a tactical standpoint, the British high command has been able to maintain its basic order of battle, at the same time withdrawing his troops in such a manner as to prevent the enemy from forcing a decision."

"The British war office has made two successive announcements of gains between Demuin and the Somme which may be regarded as one of the vital points on the line."

"There was heavy counter-attacks along the French front during the night, in which the British were successful in capturing many of their guns forward by their own artillery positions. This would suggest another point of interest."

"The British war office announces the capture of 125 German prisoners in local fighting and the capture of many machine guns."

ANOTHER ADVANCE BY ALLIES FROM SOMME RIVER TO DEMUIN TODAY

Further Progress Made. Since Gains on Same Front Reported Last Night—French Penetrate German Trenches East of Verdun and at Ban-de-Sapt and Capture Prisoners—Bosches Driven Back at Chambrettes—Teutons Bring Up Guns—American Experts Say Huns Cannot Attack Effectively for Months.

PARIS, April 2.—The Anglo-French lines have been advanced between the Somme river and Demuin, the war office announced today.

(The official communique put out last night told of progress for the allies in the same sector.)

Heavy bombardments have been taking part along some parts of the battle front, but the infantry operations lessened.

"Between the Oise and Somme rivers the night was comparatively quiet," the war office stated.

"The Germans became extremely heavy along sections of the front. Anglo-French forces made some progress during the night between Demuin and the Somme river."

"Near Colone trench (on the heights of the Meuse, east of Verdun) and at Ban-de-Sapt, in the Vosges mountains, the French penetrated German trenches and captured some prisoners. The Germans attacked at Chambrettes, but were driven back."

(By Frank Charlton, I. N. S. Cable Editor.)

Although fighting slackened along the British sector of the Picardy battle front, it is believed to be only a lull before a fresh storm bursts forth.

For 48 hours the Germans have been massing troops north and south of the Somme river, evidently preparing for blows against the Anglo-French positions east of the base city of Amiens.

The Germans have been hampered in getting their heavy artillery to new positions by rain which turned the roads and fields to deep mud.

Savege assaults have been launched by the Germans against the French front in the Grincies sector northwest of Mont Didier but the French lines withstood the pounding.

In the valley of the Luce rivulet the Germans were outfought and compelled to give ground.

The declaration by General Foch, the new supreme commander in chief on the western front, that Amiens is safe, brought a thrill of excitement today, says a Paris dispatch.

The French as well as the British realized the serious consequences that would attend the loss of the base city and the confidence of General Foch's statement proved a tonic for soldiers and civilians alike.

German airmen bombed Paris again early today. Gotha machines approached the city shortly after 3 o'clock and the raid was in progress until nearly 4 o'clock.

A number of bombs were dropped. Germany cannot sustain either serious offensive on the western front for several months, High army officers in the American, French and British armies now in Washington expressed this opinion today, after reading the latest reports from the Picardy battlefield.

The German reserves have been exhausted they say, and General Foch maintains all of his reserves, not only intact, but they have not been thrown into the battle. That is the reason those officers say that General Ferdinand Foch so confidently declares "Amiens will not fail. I am prepared to guarantee that."

The very latest information received here shows that the German reserve behind the lines has crumbled from 97 divisions to less than 30.

The muddy condition of the Picardy battle field, caused by recent rains, is hampering the use of tanks, especially the heavy and cumbersome ones, says an Amsterdam dispatch.

Some of the German tanks are equipped with flame throwers as well as machine guns and light artillery.

The announcement that a large force of trained American troops will immediately take an active part in the momentous battle now progressing in France received high praise in British circles today.

The Times says that the announcement had great military importance and perhaps even greater moral and political meaning.

The Chronicle in its comment declared that the wonderful spirit shown by the Americans throughout the critical days of the war has had the utmost effect in encouraging the allies.

"The Daily News takes the view that now the allies have much less to fear. 'The spirit of the United States will certainly receive due recognition,' says the Post.

"Appreciable progress has been made at various points between Demuin and the Somme river," the French war office announced today.

SECOND DAY OF L. W. W. STARTS IN CHICAGO

PRISONERS COME TO COURT LOADED DOWN WITH HEAVY IRONS

Lack of Enthusiasm Is Shown by Defendants

Charged With Conspiring to Defeat Selective Draft—Illness of a Prisoner Causes Delay of the Day.

CHICAGO, April 2.—The second day of the trial of L. W. W. accused of conspiring to hinder the program of the United States, got under way again late today after being halted for two hours as it was yesterday by the illness of one of the defendants.

The defendants came into court as they did yesterday, manacled in pairs, singly, and others in groups, but under the watchful eyes of alert guards.

Every one was searched for weapons, and the search was made in a room where Judge Konevas Mountain Landis waited.

After the men had been herded into their places their shackles were taken off and all in a jangling heap on the floor.

"The prisoners weren't quite so jovial as yesterday when they slumped back over on the benches and shouted 'comrades' across the room."

"When all was ready, a prisoner was taken ill and the second postponement from like cause followed.

Accident Killed Frank Ravenscroft

Car Turned Tumble In Falling Over an Embankment and Buhl Boy Suffered Broken Spinal Column.

Frank Ravenscroft, of Buhl, aged 18 years, was instantly killed in an auto accident about 10:30 o'clock Saturday.

While on his way to school, he was driving west over the grade about half way between his home and Filer to which he and some companions were driving over the toll line.

These boys in the car with him were Wayne Russell and Misses Fern Wallace and Ethel, of Buhl. Miss Wallace is suffering from a broken arm and two broken fingers.

Other members of the party were unhurt. They slowed up on approach to a sharp turn but lost control of the car.

The car started somewhat faster but got out of the regular tracks and into rough ground and finally tipped over on its side.

The car was turned over twice. The others were thrown out, and Frank was caught by the car under the wheel.

Mark showed that he struck his chin against something which threw his head backward and fractured the base of his skull. Death was instantaneous. The funeral will be held Thursday from Filer.

He was survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ravenscroft, one brother and three sisters.

Buhl Young Man Is Dragged to Death

Jasper Williamson Slipped Off Wagon Between Teams and Died Before He Could Be Rescued.

Falling over the front of the wagon from unknown cause, and catching his foot between the shafts, Jasper Williamson was dragged to death before assistance could be given.

He was hauling rock for the Buhl highway district and though other workmen rushed to his assistance he was dead before they could stop the team and get him out. The wagon wheel had been broken in front.

The boy was fifteen years of age. He had three brothers, Walter, Wade, and Harvey, and a sister, Mrs. E. S. Cobb, who lives in this county.

His father, two sisters and a half brother living in Canton, Tennessee. Walter, Wade, was called to the colors this week but was called by the army. The body was shipped to his home in Tennessee for interment.

WILSON OPENS LIBERTY LOAN WITH ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—President Wilson will open the Liberty Loan drive in Baltimore next Saturday with an address. It was learned here today.

He has abandoned any intention he may have had of addressing congress this week. It was stated in White House circles, and will outline his views on current matters at Baltimore.

KING ASKS FOR WAR ON TURK AND BULGAR

Question Whether Bulgarians Are in Drive on West Front Mooted—Is Affirmed by Some and Denied by Others.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senator King of Utah this afternoon introduced a resolution in the senate declaring war on Bulgaria and Turkey.

Reports have been current at the capitol for the past few days that the president would shortly request congress to declare war on Turkey and Bulgaria.

Such action was advocated last December at the time war was declared against Austria-Hungary, but at the request of the president it was postponed to await developments.

Senators favoring the action pointed to reports that Bulgarian troops have been engaged with the Germans in the present drive. They declared this was an added reason for an immediate declaration of war against all of Germany's allies.

It was later denied that King's resolution was referred to the senate foreign relations committee without debate.

The Utah senator urged war on Bulgaria and Turkey.

The text of the resolution was of the most formal character. It stated briefly that both Turkey and Bulgaria have repeatedly committed acts of war against the United States.

WISCONSIN IS CASTING VOTE FOR SENATOR

IMMENSE CROWDS GATHER AT POLLING PLACES THIS AFTERNOON

More Desperate Fight Made on Kaiserism

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—Wisconsin her usual custom of holding a primary election in this county today and will cast a record vote, probably 400,000, in the senatorial election to choose a successor to the late Paul O. Husting.

Large crowds from all over the state are determined to wipe the stain of Kaiserism out of Wisconsin.

Great crowds are rolling up to the polls in all parts of the state according to reports reaching headquarters here.

Because of the huge vote, it probably will be late tonight before any definite results are known.

Running to the three highest formal candidates are claiming victory.

COMMERCIAL CLUB LUNCH AND ELECTION

The Commercial club lunch at noon today was a well-attended and very interesting meeting.

The meeting was held at the Commercial club and was presided over by the club secretary.

ONE DEAD AND ANOTHER BADLY HURT IN FRAY

HOLDUP IN NEVADA RESULTS BADLY FOR INNOCENT BYSTANDERS

Mexicans Rob Roadhouse Toll

Exchange Shots With Proprietor—Both Sides Miss, but Non-combatants Are Struck—Robbers Arrested Later.

Mike McCulloch was instantly killed and Pat Dooley, badly wounded while trying to get out of the way of a fusillade of bullets from the pistols of four Mexicans, who were trying to rob John Sullivan, a Nevada roadhouse proprietor, whose toll they were robbing about noon Sunday.

Dooley was brought to this city last night and is in a local hospital, where a leg shattered above the knee by a stray bullet is being treated.

Three of the Mexicans were arrested later in Joliet.

McCulloch says that he knows little of the particulars of the affair. He and McCulloch were working with the tolling road crew and came down the line to the road house, which is situated ten miles this side of Jarbidge.

They sprang up to look cover and as they did so, he and McCulloch were both shot. He fainted at once and did not recover until the fight was over.

The attending physician says he will set well.

It is understood that the Mexicans tried to holdup Sullivan and that the latter grabbed the gun, at which point opened fire simultaneously. All emptied their guns without effect.

LETTER FROM OTIS EMANUEL

The following letter was received by a friend of Mr. Emanuel, formerly Kimberly boy who joined the colors: "Dear Friend: I haven't the slightest idea of who I am going to say, but just to pass away the time I will try and think of something that will serve the purpose for an answer to your last letter.
"First, let me see, O yes, the weather, beautiful sunny California with now and then a shower just to fresh on the grass and help the blossoming shrubs and trees.
"The section I was in was turned over for regular duty January 23, so I have been doing guard duty since then. I am on guard on the ferry that brings the workmen over from the main land to the navy yards. It is quite a job, too, as we have to inspect every package, bundle, etc. I just on duty one day, and off the next.
"I've got to go on guard tomorrow morning at 4:30, but that is a pleasure as it is the most beautiful part of the day. Rosy dawn on the bay, with the waters' gold and blue, stretching away to the purple hills.
"Seven of the boys in my section were sent to the Philippines, the rest are left over to the U. S. Army Supply Company here on the island. Really not at all sorry now I didn't get to go to the Philippines as I may get a chance to go to France.
"Give my regards to all.

ATTENTION, LOYAL WORKERS

The Loyol Workers class of the Christian church is called to the following poem:
"Loyal Workers' Class"
In days of old, there was a man,
Of the war-like little tribe of Dan;
The last of the judges, the first Nazarene,
Under his twenty years' rule other things came to light.
Not a leader, in war or in peace, we are told,
Just his personal exploits were very bold.
Irresistible, at times was his strength,
His weapons we'll not mention in length.
This singular character of ancient lore,
Furnished the material for an evening's fun,
For the "Loyal Workers," a part for each one.
On Friday evening, April 5th, be sure you have the date,
Then come with your mate, and don't be late!
For the thinking in refreshment you'll find on your plate.
In the Christian church basement beginning at eight.
ETTA H. HAWK, Teacher.

The local high school students gave Monday evening before a well attended auditorium that was a distinct credit to the institution.
The cast, consisting of about thirteen characters, were well chosen, and surely did credit to their various parts.
Their costumes were becoming to the wearers, even the "cooks," and the furniture, furnished by Swearingen and Wilson, made a fitting background.
One of the most amusing parts of the evening's entertainment was that while the time was measured by many moments, there was plenty of "behind the scenes" acting going on, which, because of the lighting of the building, was plainly visible to the audience.
The play was reproduced at Murtaugh.

CALLED BY DEATH OF FATHER

Mrs. Frank Russell was called to serious illness of her father, W. H. Foster, of that city, Thursday evening. Mr. Russell received a telegram that the father had passed away. Mr. Russell left Friday evening for Emmet. Mr. Foster was hurt a couple of years ago by falling from a haystack and by breaking his arm. It seems that the arm healed alright but that the fall permitted a small clot of blood to form on the brain. This caused, in time, paralysis to set in, which eventually caused his death. He leaves besides Mrs. Russell, five sons, two of whom are in France and two daughters.

THE KIMBERLY ELEVATOR

The Kimberly elevator has just completed the finest one in the town. The work was done by Taro and Monroth, but the whole concrete floor was laid by Frank Darrell Hill.
This will make it easier to handle the coal situation. Last winter Kimberly did exceedingly well in handling the coal shortage. Towns within the radius of one hundred and fifty miles of us suffered from it, but Kimberly bins had coal in them. Now they are waiting for the climatic day in the coming winter supply. Several have already taken advantage of this offer.

PIONEER CLUB ANNOUNCEMENT

The Pioneer club will meet from now on the second Tuesday of each month instead of the second Thursday.
It is desirable that a large attendance be at the next meeting because there will be an election of officers. This is necessitated since the constitution demands that the names of the new officers be turned in between March first and May first, in order to get out the new year book.

RED CROSS LOYALTY

Men and women in Kimberly are working most loyally for the Red Cross, especially in connection with the surgical dressing class. That is, soon when and women are working loyally.
There are three classes of people to be taken into consideration in regard to Red Cross work. Those who are constant and loyal. Those who are indifferent and indistinct; and last, those who are interested, but who are not so constant in their efforts of philanthropic work.
A great deal of injustice is prevalent today arising over Red Cross work. These people are not so constant and loyal. Those who are especially enthused over one class of work are sure to criticize the other.
These certain individuals who are spending every minute of their spare time in church and Christian work are criticized by the Red Cross enthusiasts because they do not take an active part in the Red Cross work. These people talk of closing their churches so that the activities of the church will not conflict with the activities of the Red Cross. They forget that the Red Cross is not a church. It is a service. Those who are especially enthused over one class of work are sure to criticize the other.
These certain individuals who are spending every minute of their spare time in church and Christian work are criticized by the Red Cross enthusiasts because they do not take an active part in the Red Cross work. These people talk of closing their churches so that the activities of the church will not conflict with the activities of the Red Cross. They forget that the Red Cross is not a church. It is a service. Those who are especially enthused over one class of work are sure to criticize the other.

Now, there are many good people who are devoting every minute of their spare time in religious work in the churches, and we ask to be just that, they should be branded as unloyal because they do not neglect that work for the work of the Red Cross? Let it be remembered that there are many people who take no part whatever in any kind of philanthropic or religious work. These are open to criticism. We can all do something in this great cause, but we, as a few, cannot do it all.
Let us not permit our ambition to excuse anyone from service of some kind in support of our country in the hour of its need. But we would only call attention to the fact that there is danger of injustice. Let us strive even in our patriotic enthusiasm to be just and reasonable. There are always two sides to every question.
We would say, however, if you happen to be one who is not engaged in any form of work aside from your own business, please be sure that it is time for you to get busy. There are a lot of good church members who never work at it. We would suggest that these business classes at home, that their direction, and that they be obliged to get busy either in the church, Red Cross, or something else, a little bit in all lines of activity. We believe it would be good for them to learn how to do something.
We honor greatly those who have the Red Cross vision of service. Their work is worthy of praise. But they only do their duty. We wish that others would do as much.
Let us work cleaner by speculative causes, but in judgment of others over be reasonable, and in all things let us be true to our "Uncle Sammy."

ANGLO-FRENCH MAKE BRILLIANT DRIVE ON MONDAY MORNING

Recapture Village of Hangard-en-Santerre—Terrific Fight Sunday Afternoon—Germans Unsuccessful at All Points—Twelfth Day of Awful Struggle Shows the Huns Weakening.

PARIS, April 1.—A brilliant thrust, carried out by Anglo-French troops has driven the Germans from the Village of Hangard-en-Santerre, the war office announced today. The Germans made determined efforts to capture Grievences, northwest of Mont Didier, but were thrown back after fierce hand to hand fighting. Fighting of extreme violence raged Sunday afternoon and last night north of Mont Didier. The Germans made strong assaults between Mont-Didier and the Amiens-Perrone road but all were smashed by the allies fire. Fighting of extreme violence occurred Sunday afternoon and night north of Mont Didier, the war office stated. "The enemy used large forces between Mont-Didier and the Amiens-Perrone road, but all of its attacks were repulsed. Hangard-en-Santerre has been completely recaptured from the Germans as the result of a brilliant counter attack. "The Germans delivered savage attacks against Grievences but the village remained in French hands after hand to hand fighting. The Germans sustained severe losses."

(Frank Charlton, I. N. S. Cable Editor). Violent fighting is occurring along a thirty-mile battle front in France, with the Germans delivering fresh blows against both the British and French.

At no point were the Germans successful and their massed columns were dashed in vain against the solid resistance of the Anglo-French armies. For the time being the Germans ceased their efforts on the southern flank of their salient and on the extreme northern end of the line, concentrating all their pressure on that part of their wedge which faces the British base of Amiens.

On the western outskirts of Albert the Teutons made an effort to dent the British front and two strong assaults were delivered, but they collapsed under the galling fire of the British soldiery.

North of the Somme river the Kaiser's field-gray hordes continued their attacks between the Luce brook and the Avre river. Fierce fighting developed in this sector, the British following up the direct attacks by powerful counter attacks.

Despite the determination of the Teutonic thrusts and the recklessness with which the German officers sacrifice their men, the attackers were unable to make any progress.

Further proof of the growing strength of the British counter-offensive was seen in the war office announcement that 109 German machine-guns were captured in the fighting around Serre, seven miles north of Albert.

Apparently the Germans are exerting every ounce of their present power to push the apex of their salient nearer Amiens. As the present time the most advanced German position is between eleven and twelve miles east of Amiens. North of Mont-Didier, where French and British troops are fighting side by side, the Germans employed huge numbers of men in an attempt to straighten their line south of Morsul. The allied line stood firm and the Germans were thrown, and again suffered appalling losses.

Within the past 48 hours the situation on the Picardy plain, where the mighty struggle is raging, has improved greatly and the allies are not only holding up the German advance but are winning back considerable ground.

Further improvement is seen in the information that American troops are on their way to the battle zone. Advice received today from Henry G. Wales, the International News Service correspondent with the American army, indicated that the Americans may be in the thick of the fray very soon.

This was the twelfth day of the German offensive.

ANOTHER ADVANCE BY ALLIES

two counter attacks but they were repulsed by the British artillery. The enemy sustained heavy losses. "In the Houbertine sector the British carried out a local enterprise, capturing 73 prisoners.

An enemy counter attack in the same district was broken up. "In the sector of Achilleville and at Hellebuck, in west Flanders, the British made another local success. The war office report indicated that the fighting had again died down on that part of the Picardy battle front held by the British.

LONDON, April 2.—Another German drive in the direction of Arras is indicated by the developments of the past 26 hours in the great battle of Picardy.

There was a comparative lull in the fighting, but the allied reinforcements of men and guns to the front and the fighting that took place Monday was described in the official reports as "local."

The German drive slackened all along the lines before the desperate resistance of the British and French troops.

Allied armies (including Americans) reported that the Germans were massing troops in the direction of Albert; but there were indications that the new German blows would be directed toward the north in the direction of Arras.

The gallant British and French armies have pressed back the German advance in some points, recapturing part of the ground the Germans had succeeded in overrunning.

The chief center of the German attack is the battle of the Marais, east of the British base at Amiens. A number of heavy assaults were made in that sector, but all broke down before the gallant resistance of the allied armies.

The Germans claim to have captured the heights north of Morsul and to have taken a large number of prisoners in their hands to more than 75,000.

There was a terrific struggle for Grievences, which lies just north of Mont-Didier. Supported by light artillery, the British and French repulsed the German assaults against the defenses of the village. Every time they were

Are on Our Shelves Marked at Prices That Show the Results of Keen Merchandising

YOU'VE heard, no doubt—AND WE KNOW IT FOR A FACT—that there are merchants who—as the common saying goes—"can't see beyond their nose." These are merchants who refuse to see ahead, and claim that they'll charge their customers whatever they have to pay, plus their accustomed profit. A very safe policy for the merchant, this. But what about the customer who must pay more, due to the unprogressiveness of the store from which she buys?

If we were free with comparative quotations, we could unquestionably open your eyes in amazement at the savings effected in each and every case by foresighted purchasing of these wash goods stocks.

Spent About Half Her Time in Bed

Real Estate Man's Wife Gains 14 Pounds on Tanlac—Now a Well Woman.

"I have gained fifteen pounds since taking Tanlac and am feeling like a well woman for the first time in six years," said Mrs. J. H. Smith, wife of a well known real estate man and living at 215 Calhoun, Muskogee, recently.

"I suffered from a severe case of indigestion, nervousness and a general breakdown," she continued, "and in spite of everything I could do I kept getting worse all the time. I had no appetite, and for weeks at a time lived on raw eggs and sweet milk and even that would sometimes disagree with me. I had dizzy spells and my head would swim so I couldn't walk across the room without holding on to something. My nerves were all on edge and I couldn't hardly sleep at all for worrying about my condition and by morning I would be so weak and fagged out I was hardly able to get up at all. It was fast going down hill and I actually felt so weak and listless at last that I had to take to my bed and stay there half the time.

"One day my neighbor came to see me and she told me so much about the good Tanlac had done her that I ordered a bottle and started taking it, and I had taken only five doses when I knew I had at last found what I needed. I have improved right along ever since and I can now eat anything I want and it agrees with me. I don't have those dizzy spells any more, my nerves are all right again and I sleep like a baby. I have gained so much in every way that I am strong enough to do all my household work and find it a pleasure instead of a task. I have taken many different kinds of medicines during the last six years but Tanlac was the only one that really did me any good.

Tanlac is now sold in Twin Falls by City Pharmacy, in Hageron by Thompson Drug Co., in Murtough by Murtough Drug Co., in Filer by A. B. Wood, in Buhl by C. D. Boring Drug Co., and in Kimberly by W. A. L. Stowe.—(Adv.)

DECORATE, DECORATE, ON THE 6TH OF APRIL

In accordance with the proclamation of our mayor making a half holiday of Saturday, April 6th next, the business men and private citizens of Twin Falls, Ida., are asked to decorate their business places and residences with a most patriotic way with bunting and flags. Parties who have service flags showing that they have relatives in the army ready to fight for the liberty of the world will carry their flags in the immense parade headed by the band which will take place on that day. If those flags are owned by ladies, the service flags will be carried in the parade by boy scouts. Please notify in time Jeweler Decker, boy scout master.

Let us make the commemoration of this great event by properly decorating our places.

Chairman of the Decoration Committee.

An Easter Service Full of Patriotism

The Present War Called "The First Real Crusade in the World"—Special Prayers for All Ranks of the Crusaders.

It goes without saying that no pulp in Twin Falls failed to emphasize an Easter morning, the great crisis now facing this nation and the world, nor to ask aid from the God of peace and of battle for all champions of the cause of liberty and righteousness. A notable instance was offered by the sermon preached and the service conducted at Ascension Episcopal church by Rev. L. W. Creasey, of Ft. Hall.

His theme was the re-encouragement, introduced by the story of the raising of Lazarus, prototype of Christ's own rising from the dead, and of all re-juvenation. All life, the speaker said, comes from Him who said, "I am the resurrection and the life"—the life that which mantles the fields in green after the death of winter.

He conspicuously patriotic features of the sermon and service were the declaration that the war in which we are engaged was a spiritual crusade—the first real crusade in the history of the world, with which none of the so-called crusades of the middle ages are at all comparable; that the United States finds itself in this war upon pure principle and absolutely without hope of gain or reward; that the grand men and women of all stations, in life who have offered themselves and their substance to the cause do so, whether they know it or not, from a high prompting of spirit; and that we at home should make the material sacrifices, grave thought they may seem, without hesitation or question—without a great and growing pride in the son, brother or sweetheart who may have gone at duty's call.

Referring to the rather natural impatience at the apparent slowness in the great work of preparation, the speaker declared it not really to have been slow, but remarkably rapid. We must remember that, in a democracy like ours, the impulse that makes all radical changes or movements possible comes from the people—from the bottom and is bound to move slowly. In an autocracy where one man or one small clique of men direct, and the many have only to obey—where all come from the top down, as in Germany, grant haste and less loss or waste of motion; it is a matter of course.

The service was concluded with a series of special prayers, offered most earnestly just before the benediction, which seem to cover the whole field.

Utah Is Slated for the Next Big Oil Excitement

DEVELOPMENTS are indicating that some portions of this state are underlain with pools of "liquid wealth," and that Utah may soon take her place alongside Wyoming, Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas as an oil producer.

The great fortunes in oil have been made by those who were in on the discovery and development of properties. Once the production is proven, holdings usually take on such values that profits are necessarily smaller.

The DIXIE OIL COMPANY has holdings in southern Utah, on which OIL HAS BEEN DISCOVERED IN SUBSTANTIAL QUANTITIES, and it is a HIGH GRADE OIL.

We announced to some of our Twin Falls Friends that we were developing this property and that we wanted them to come in with us and share in the anticipated profits.

We have had so many requests for further information that we have decided to send our representatives into that territory for a few days to answer those inquiries direct.

Our salesmen, Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Andrews are here now, and have a quantity of our HIGH GRADE OIL DIRECT FROM OUR WELLS, and a miniature refining plant with which they will demonstrate for you how to EXTRACT GASOLINE, KEROSENE AND FUEL OIL FROM THE CRUDE PRODUCT.

You can see with your own eyes that we can save over 75 per cent by ordinary distillation.

Demonstrations evenings—7:30 to 10 or any time by request. Dixie Oil company is your own home folks.

For further information call, write or wire Dixie Oil company, 108 Main Avenue North, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Nation-wide Campaign Will Start on Anniversary of Day That War Began—Famous Orators and Great Cartoonists Will Help Get Funds to Win the Fight for Liberty.

Samuel L. Dashiell, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 1.—To commemorate the first anniversary of the war against Germany and to provide for enormous financial operations, Secretary McAdoo issued today an appeal to the nation for $3,000,000,000 of Third Liberty Loan bonds. The interest which the bonds will bear has been raised to 4 1/4 per cent.

The Third Liberty Loan campaign, which will run for three or four weeks from the war anniversary, will draw into intensive action the entire civil energy of the nation. The great drive will be operated through the twelve Federal Reserve districts, and will extend from the "central" headquarters in the treasury department through cities and towns by central and local committees, until the appeal for Liberty bonds will be heard in the smallest hamlets, thousands of miles distant. The army of more than a half million volunteer workers has been mobilized and is ready, and they have prepared elaborate plans for a sudden and swift response.

April 6 will see a veritable shower of 9,000,000 vivid posters, done in the most powerful and colorful of the leading artists and illustrators. They will rain down on every town and proclaim the Third Liberty Loan. The posters will be posted in France, in Hawaii, Porto Rico, Alaska, and they will be read in the subway stations of New York and in the factories of the remote village in the far West—window stickers will be issued to the extent of 5,000,000 and poster stamps will appear in the newspapers.

New Liberty Loan buttons in red, white and blue, 16,000,000 of them; 900,000 more buttons for volunteer workers will be issued in various colors. Different languages will pour into the foreign language newspapers, which have been unfolding in their support; 1,000 German newspapers will be supplied with stories in German; popular writers have contributed to the art will aid the loan, an ad dress at Harbor quick farm loan commissioner will be sent to 5,000,000 farmers; a brilliant book of cartoons by 40 artists will be broadcast; orators will tour the country; moving picture stars will abandon the screen to speak for the loan; and Secretary McAdoo will make a short tour in spite of his labors at the capital— all this unceasing drive will start the minute that the war anniversary arrives, and it will continue until the celebrations will be held throughout the country.

The newspapers of the country, many of them will offer colored supplements on April 7 of the new Honor Flag of the Third Liberty Loan. Tom Willard will be in the capital the morning after the campaign starts.

The Honor Flag is a red bordered banner with a white field across which appear three vertical blue stripes, indicating the third loan. Each town and state will be given its allotment of bonds to buy, and on reaching its allotment the town is to fly the Honor Flag. Should the allotment be doubled, a blue star will be placed against the white. Brisk rivalry for the honor of being the first town or state to fly the Honor Flag will follow the opening of the campaign, and on the treasury department in the capital will appear the national Honor Flag with the names of the states inscribed thereon as they reach their allotment. In the smaller communities the honor roll will comprise those who purchase the Liberty bonds, and will be attached to an Honor Flag erected in a conspicuous or open place. The honor roll in large cities will be divided among the trades and industries. Small Honor Flags will be given to each individual purchaser to be displayed in windows.

The Liberty Loan campaign will have just about started when the vast army of Americans in the rural districts will attend approximately 100,000 school house meetings on the night of April 12. Secretary McAdoo will send his Helms to the farmers, and the co-operation of every school official has been promised for this nation-wide gathering of farmers and their families on the same night. The message of the Liberty Loan will be eloquently by prominent speakers and special and impressive exercises are being planned, in which school house bells, bon-fires and parades have their part.

What will be even more convincing than the general publicity, is an array of twelve exhibits, each a fully equipped train itself. They will run over the lines of the country, and, penetrating into every town and spur line, will carry pictures of the United States soldiers in France; they will be manned by real red coat soldiers and sailors; they will have modern war machines mounted on flat-cars and trained fighters will demonstrate a bit of trench life along the route. Each train will have a military band, and efforts are being made to have a band of French life along the route. Each train will have a military band, and efforts are being made to have a band of French life along the route. Each train will have a military band, and efforts are being made to have a band of French life along the route.

There is another side of the campaign which will be entirely new and entirely welcome to wholesome, fun-loving Americans. Two of the country's popular humorists, George Ade and Fred C. Kelly, will offer a comic argument for the Liberty Loan. McCutcheon will illustrate the story by which the two will be sent out on a booklet to the readers of the country. Many humorous drawings are featured in the cartoon book, and some of the best efforts of such nationally known pen and ink artists as Tom Van Tassel, Lunetta Smith, Octavia Williamson, Merle Glavin, Thelma Banks, Michael Thomas and Francis Smith. Several selections were won on by the high school orchestra and also by the Liberty chorus. Elmer Wyland was the main purpose of the entire drive, to urge sugar beet production among the students, and since it was farmers in a mass meeting or otherwise they asked the students to give their influence to increase production of the great war necessity.

Very interesting talks were made in assembly rooms by the state and county farm bureaus, and Mr. C. D. "North of the Somme the British are holding the enemy on the line north of Pezay through Borel, Bures, Buequey, Beaumont, Hamel, Albert to Salmy-le-See.

"To the south of the river the German line still holds the strategic thrust toward Amiens is being carried through with great vigor along the line Hamel-Mezieres.

"Other sectors of the western front not within the immediate radius of the battle zone have been relatively quiet. Artillery activities were directed against the point of junction of the Franco-British forces in the hope of being able to strike a decisive blow here and lock either the French or the British.

"Our own resources have been placed on a par with those of the allies and our divisions will be used when needed. Our troops are taking their places in other parts of the line, thus relieving veteran French units for emergency service.

"Such of our troops as have received sufficient amount of training will cooperate with the latter and insofar as they are able, will assume a share of the great burden now so valiantly borne by the French and British armies.
