TREATY READY FOR DELIVERY TO GERMANS

Plenary Conference Completes Work Preparatory For Teutons

RESERVATIONS MADE BY MANY POWERS

Document Will Be Handed to Vanquished in Versailles During the Day.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, May 6.—The plenary peace conference completed its work today so far as Germany is concerned and at a secret plenary session communicated the terms of the peace treaty to all the powers represented at the conference. This was the first official delivery of the treaty to the Germans at Versailles tomorrow.

The session was held in the foreign office with the same setting and distinguished personnel as the previous public sessions except in the delivery of the treaty to the Germans at Versailles tomorrow.

Through Sturmond Hoffmann, enormous throngs surrounded the foreign office watching the arrival of the delegates. Those who assembled within the building included Marshal Foch and the British Vice Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss with their staff.

Captain Andre Tardieu read a summary of the treaty, as the complete printed text was not ready when the session was called. One of the notable features incorporated in the treaty was that which placed the responsibility of former Emperor William for causing the war and providing for his trial by a court of five judges from the great powers. When the reading of the summary was concluded, reservations were made by her foreign minister, China, Italy, and France although these reservations are understood, as applicable to viewpoints on various phases of the treaty rather than as objections to the adoption of the pact as a whole.

Many Nations Object. Portugal objected to what were said to be clauses giving insufficient financial recognition for the part she had taken in the war. China's objections were made by her foreign minister, who said that in the opinion of the Chinese delegation, the Kiao-Chow settlement was made without regard to justice for China or the protection of China's territory and integrity. He asked for a reconsideration of the settlement, and if that were not possible, said he desired to make reservations on the part of China.

Signor Crepi, speaking for Italy, said he desired to make reservations regarding any clause dealing with the settlement of the Italian colonies. No action was taken on these reservations.

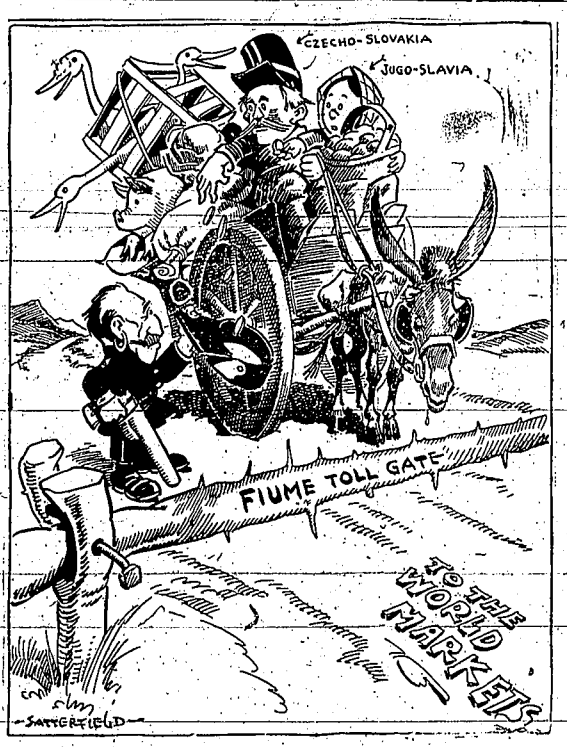

Speeches in Maintenance. The session was held under conditions of unusual gravity, and during the day it was especially warm. The reading of the summary began in French, an English interpretation being given later. When it was observed that many of the delegates were not following the English interpretation, A. J. Balfour, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, said that this would be abandoned and that the document would from that point on be presented in French.

Reservations presented raised the question whether there will be maintained in signing the treaty by the nations making them and whether the conference will permit signatures with reservations. While this has been the custom in the past, the representatives are not expected to interfere with the procedure of presenting the treaty to the Germans.

The clause regarding the responsibility which was not acted on at the previous session of the plenary conference, is understood to have been incorporated in the final draft of the treaty. This provides for the trial of the former German emperor or a successor of his before an international tribunal, the members and the sanctity of treaties by a tribunal composed of representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

The credentials of the Italian delegates to the peace congress were handed this morning to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles. This official announcement was made this morning.

GIRL CHARGED WITH MURDER TELLS STORY

Is Narrative of Great Love For Man Who Wrongs Her.

POISONED HIS WIFE AT HIS SUGGESTION

Court Room in Seattle Was Crowded With Spectators During Sensational Hearing.

By the Associated Press. SEATTLE, Wash., May 6.—For three hours today Ruth Garrison, the 18-year-old girl charged with first degree murder for poisoning Mrs. Grace Glats Stora, her rival for the love of D. M. Stora, on March 18 last, told the tragic details of her life, her love and her confessed crime to a crowded courtroom.

The story was simple. It followed a morning of swifly moving events in her trial. The prosecution had called fifteen witnesses and in less than two hours complete the case without cross-examination by the defense. Stora, accused of the crime, presented his opening statement. His charge that Stora suggested to Miss Garrison indirectly the poisoning of his wife brought from the girl bitter bursts of emotion. When she took the stand later, however, she told her story unflinchingly.

Aakren declared Miss Garrison was mentally irresponsible for her crime. Gri Tella Story. Miss Garrison testified to leaving her father's home and taking an apartment at Stora's suggestion. She told of visiting him in Okanogan where he worked as an automobile mechanic and of a meeting between Stora, his wife and herself at which she said Mrs. Stora promised to divorce her husband if he would marry Miss Garrison.

ENGLAND HONORS JACK PERSHING

American General Will Be Official Guest of Britain for Two Days—Will Decorate Many.

LONDON, May 6.—General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American expeditionary forces, is coming to England on May 21, as the guest of the nation. He will officially take Britain for what she did to make comfortable more than a million troops passing through England on the way to France. For two days he will be the official guest of the nation; he will remain here several more days, during which he will be actively entertained.

With several other American generals the commander in chief will cross on a British destroyer. He will be met at the London station by a guard of honor and will pass through troops lined streets to the hotel where he will make his headquarters.

As the parade of the Great Queen General Pershing will decorate with the American distinguished service medal British officers who won honors with the American army. On May 24, the anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria, a full regiment of Americans, accompanied by an equal number of British will march through the city past Buckingham palace, where the king will take the salute. This regiment probably will be one from the army of occupation.

CALL WILSON DEVIL, HYPOCRITE, DESPOT

Claim Americans and English Invited Chinese to Protest and Korea to Rebel.

By the Associated Press. TOKIO, May 6.—The anti-American campaign in the Japanese press continues with renewed force. No serious overt acts have been committed against Americans or American property, but evidence exists that the newspaper agitation is inciting popular feeling against America and thus paving the way to possible demonstrations.

Representative Japanese deplore the present campaign and have begun to criticize the government for its failure to check the literary outbursts.

The belief is expressed that the basis for the agitation is fear of the growing influence of the United States in international affairs and that it will act as a curb on Japan's aspirations in China and Siberia.

After declaring that renewed attempts for anti-Japanese legislation on the Pacific coast indicates that the American passport to Japan in everything, while wearing the mask of liberty and fairness, the Hoochi Shimizu charges the Americans with having incited the Chinese to make the secret trade pact and also accuse American manufacturers of fomenting the Korean insurrection.

DEPUTIES ENGAGE BANK ROBBERS IN REVOLVER BATTLE

By the Associated Press. VANCOUVER, Wash., May 6.—Word was received here tonight from Cape Horn that deputies pursuing the bandits who robbed the Clarke county bank at Washoum yesterday, had engaged the bandits in a revolver battle and that one of the deputies had been wounded. Passes have pursued the bandits continuously since the robbery, traveling some of the roughest country along the Columbia river.

Summary of The International Situation

By the Associated Press. All the eyes are turned for the presentation Wednesday afternoon of the peace treaty to Germany.

The small powers have been apprised of the contents of the momentous document, and all this seems to be to call the German delegates before the peace congress at Versailles and hand to them the treaty.

The terms admittedly will be hard for Germany, but it is asserted that there is but one road for her to follow if she wishes to obtain the return of peace and the chance to rehabilitate herself economically. Acquiescence, even to a demand for the trial of their former imperial master, William II, which she would not stand to have incorporated in the treaty is to be required.

Reports say the complete economic isolation of the country is being considered if Germany should decline to affix her signature to the treaty.

There is little dissent among the allied and associate powers over some provisions of the treaty. Chief among the objectors is Italy, with France and the Balkan states the point of dispute.

Italy's chief delegates to the peace conference did not visit Versailles Tuesday afternoon when the treaty was read to the smaller powers, but are expected to do so on Wednesday. The credentials already have been handed to the Germans. The Italians were represented at the session Tuesday by Signor Crepi, who made reservations concerning the peace treaty which are not acceptable to Italy.

The Chinese delegates have reiterated their protest concerning the disposition of Kiao-Chow, and Portugal expressed dissatisfaction with the treatment accorded the republic.

Marshall Foch also has expressed opposition to the treaty as it stands and declared it to be his personal opinion that it should be amended. France is insistent that security given France is inadequate.

RAILWAY LOSS $226,000,000 IN YEAR 1918

Uncle Sam Goes Behind $118,000,000 in Fifteen Months.

EXPRESS OPERATIONS ALSO CAUSE DEFICIT

Director General Hines Objects to Raising Rates, Hoping Conditions Will Become Normal.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 6.—Director General Hines in a discussion of recent railroad earnings tonight disclosed that:

The government's deficit in operating the railroads for the first three months this year, or the difference between net earnings and one-fourth of the guaranteed annual compensation, was about $192,000,000 for all roads under federal management.

The government loss for 1918 was $226,000,000. The entire government loss incurred in fifteen months of federal operation was $418,000,000.

Trains in Redwood. Marked reduction of freight traffic under records of similar periods of the last two years were responsible for the bad financial showing and conditions in April, though not yet reported fully, show no promise of improvement.

Despite the big government deficits, the director general does not contemplate any general increase in the level of rates, but prefers to wait restoration of normal business conditions.

The government also incurred a deficit of about $14,500,000 in eight months' operation of the American Railway Express company, the Consolidated Express Corporation, up to March, 1919.

Express Rate Increases. "The present unfavorable results naturally lead to agitation of the question whether there ought to be an increase of rates," said Mr. Hines in his statement.

He stated that the present conditions are too abnormal to serve as a basis for any general change in the level of rates and that it is preferable to defer action on that subject until there shall have been a fairer opportunity to make a more reliable and possibly a more normal measure of the conditions.

Twin Falls has indeed been congratulated upon the many well-dressed women," declared an acquaintance who is visiting Twin Falls friends. "It is a well known fact that the east has always thought that the west is far behind in the styles. This however is untrue.

"The western woman of today demands the latest frock and hat from the shops and it goes without saying that she gets what she desires."

News direct from Paris records that British and American women are quite as well "gowned" as their French sisters. "Looking particularly well in the favorite black and white striped cheviot-tailored suits, with soft white blouses, and smart toques of coarse straw, with a bit of colored catch-up."

Parisian designers will smile upon capes and worked out in tulle for year with light summer frocks they are exceeding chic. Embroideries in Greek and Roman patterns are especially good, and so is the fashionable new embroidery made of fine threads of straw in a lacy, light pattern.

The newest models in seersucker blouses are embroidered in wool flowers of brilliant hue. A new material, flannel, somewhat like voile, but finer, is much desired in the "new colored blue." Frills and ruffles on organdy and net blouses are once more the vogue, and the use of Irish lace, particularly in combination with organdy and chiffon, is a present hobby of smart customers.

The marriage of silk affairs we have loved so long are succeeded by gorgeous sarinades of brocaded satin and sequins and even of metallic cloth, with insets of such materials even though the parasol itself be plain silk.

French Peasants Are Undismayed

By LLOYD ALLEN, Special Staff Correspondent. (Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union.) OIBSONS, FRANCE.—You would expect to find the peasants of France a gloomy lot as they look their way across country, back to shattered homes. Nothing seemed to dismay them. They differed from their fellows in the south of France in this, ranged lips always smiling. They were facing the future cheerfully. They have only one great aim in life: They want to get back to their lands and they are willing to suffer privation in order to get re-established in their business homes. They are numerous, numbering more than two million. I have seen and talked to hundreds in the devastated country around Solons, where acres of towns are wiped out, and found not a single soul starting life over again with a groan.

There is no doubt that such needs suffering was caused by the eagerness of the peasants to get back to their homes before the French government had fully organized its relief machinery. Each peasant, however, knew that the 1919 growing season, in order to be productive of any results, must begin with the spring plowing in February with the disappearance of the snow. So each family had made great effort to get back to the land in the winter of January and early February in order to get some kind of a shelter ready in which to cover sleep and eat before the days were given over to work on the land and the production of food.

Most of the refugees were the very old or very young. During the early weeks of the peacemaking there were very few soldiers returning to the land. Eighty per cent of the French army consisted of men from the farms, and the demobilization was comparatively slow.

As yet an American organization, with a French name, was rendering valuable assistance to the people. This committee, which is known as the Comité American pour les Régions Dévastées de la France with Mrs. A. M. Dika of Baltimore as president and Mrs. Anna Atkinson of New York as vice president, had branches in 20 surrounding villages where supplies were being given away or sold, depending upon the actual condition of the district. If the individual man or woman had money with which to buy goods, a charge of "cost plus 10 per cent" was made. The 10 per cent profit went to the French relief fund, which is a fund for the relief of the war-stricken people in all France. The work of the committee is to collect money and to distribute it to the people in the most efficient manner possible.

Cutry, a Typical Village.

Not far from Solons, which is supposed to be a machine gun fire and shelling by the small German army, is the little village of Cutry, a typical village of destroyed village, with only about 10 per cent of the houses remaining habitable. The American women of the committee peddle supplies in Cutry once in every 10 days. They set up a woman doctor from any committee, visit the place. In Cutry 24 peasants live with the most cheerful outlook on life. Twelve of them sleep in a cave on the hillside. Rough boards have been placed in the cave entrance to keep out the wind. Twelve, in the dark, a small white horse to keep the place fairly warm.

One old woman, one of the hapless creatures in the world apparently, was living alone in one section of the cavern. Adjoining her temporary home was an improvised stable, where the best hen, a donkey and four chickens and a two-wheeled cart. She had fed chickens before the advancing German army with the donkey and cart and four chickens had kept them for four years in the sink of France, and on returning to Cutry rode back in style in the donkey cart.

Down the street, in a house that had suffered severely from shell fire, were Mme. and M. Blanchard. Old Blanchard, a veteran of the Orlean war, was bent and feeble. His eighty years of life on a small French farm had far from almost doubled up with the hardships of age. His face had softened into a perpetual smile. Most of his teeth were gone. Mme. Blanchard, also very old, was more sprightly. The old couple had the joy in their hearts being back home again after four years as refugees. That joy was a big, sleek white cat. They had a son in the army, and while waiting for his return were patching up the house and returning it. Of the seven hundred people that had lived in Cutry, the Blanchards were two of twenty-four that had returned.

They picked up pieces of timbers from shell-truck houses for fuel. They worked by day patching up their house and slept in the cave at night. The American woman of Solons kept an eye on the old folks, bringing them clothes for the old man every now and then and saw to it that they had food enough to keep them going.

It was always a red letter day in Cutry when the committee's auto truck appeared loaded with supplies. Driven by a typical American, the little truck would jangle briskly up the village street, would take the hairpin turn leading up the hill beyond the church and would draw up with a flourish in front of the cave dwellings in the town square. A big shell-truck had been mounted on a pole near the door, where the merchandise with which the truck was loaded was to be sold. The moment the young woman truck driver rang the bell 24 refugees dropped their tasks and came hurrying up the street, anxious to secure some badly needed goods. If they lacked money and really needed stuff it was distributed in the peasant's way to secure the material. While the bargaining and exchanges went on the young American woman chattered French with the peasants, exchanged jokes and generally helped promote the spirit of peace.

Red Tape Causes Suffering.

So there were many bright spots such as this through the gloom square miles of devastated France. In all the ravaged territory—which will halt the work of war for generations—the job of reconstruction was getting on with it. The signs of a holiday, notwithstanding the stunted background of dilapidated roofs, crumbling walls, shell-marked streets and rumped public buildings.

What did it matter that France had built a million houses struck by shells with a surplus of a million ready to rebuild? The big task of rebuilding was starting with an impetus that demonstrated the future's bright days in the future.

The big task of rebuilding was starting with an impetus that demonstrated the future's bright days in the future.

THE FACTS ABOUT ROME

In view of the critical importance of the Italian situation, it is desirable that, even at the risk of wearying repetition, every American should understand the precise nature of the Italian claims to Fiume and Dalmatia.

So far as anything tangible, and definite can be found in Italian utterances on the subject, Italy seems to claim the regions in question on three grounds.

First, they were promised her in the treaty of London, made with Great Britain and France before she entered the war.

Second, they are primarily Italian, a part of "Italia Irredenta," and therefore belong to Italy on the principle of "self-determination."

Third, they are strategically necessary for Italy's safety.

The first is a misrepresentation. The Treaty of London gave Fiume not to Italy, but to Croatia, of which it forms a geographical part.

The second claim also appears to be a misrepresentation. A technical case might be made out for the city of Fiume proper, which by official count is said to contain about 40,000 people, of whom 24,000 are Italians.

The third argument seems to carry little weight because Austria-Hungary, the powerful enemy against whom Italy felt obliged to make herself secure, is annihilated, and in her place are several small, free nations, none of which need be feared by Italy if she plays fair to them.

Germany must surrender. The guilty. There is probably no phase of the peace treaty upon which public opinion will focus more than that involving the trial and punishment of those German authorities responsible for violations of the principles of civilized warfare.

Germany has signally failed to administer such punishment herself. Now if she desires peace she must submit to having her enemies do it for her.

A greater test of the reality of German reform could hardly be imagined. If there is indeed a new Germany, made over in conscience and heart to the standards of humanity and ready to repudiate the old regime, it will be shown plainly by a prompt acceptance of this section of the treaty.

But reformer or un-reformer, the surrendering of her guilty to justice is one of the articles above the dotted line to which Germany must subscribe, unless she prefers to face the consequences in internal disintegration and outward warfare.

SAVED SOLDIERS AND INDUSTRY. Peace is prized chiefly because it keeps men from being slain in battle. The cost and inconvenience are secondary. Anything, then, that keeps men from being killed is acceptably at any time as valuable as peace.

Viewed in this light, a great and cumulative victory has been won in recent years by the American "selective" campaign. A writer in the Scientific Monthly says that the annual toll of industrial fatalities in this country, which 10 years ago was 25,000, has been reduced to 22,000. That means a saving of 14,000 lives a year, one-sixth as many American lives as were lost in this war.

In six years, therefore, this rate of saving will wipe out the war losses.

The improvement indicated is nearly 30 per cent in a decade. It is really more than that, because there are far more men employed in our industries now than there were 10 years ago, and the old ratio of loss would now give considerably more than 25,000 fatalities.

The non-fatal accidents have been lessened in about the same proportion. When there were 51,000 deaths a year there were 7,000,000 "healing accidents." Therefore 690,000 to 800,000 fewer workmen are injured in the course of their work now than would have been injured under the old system.

This is real progress, of which any American may be proud. It is a recognition of the old adage that American industry cares nothing except for production, and is reckless of life and limb. The improvement is proof that the human factor is given more and more consideration. There is reason to hope that as much more progress may be made in the next ten years.

BLAME PULLMANS FOR REPEAL BILL

Hills Quilting Board Fight Slings Out Charges of Threats Made to President.

By the Associated Press. STURMFIELD, Ill., May 6.—Charging that "their members" of the state board of equalization had been approached by representatives of a big corporate interest who threatened to accomplish the abolishment of the board if the assessed valuation of the company's property should be raised, were made before a joint session of the house and senate revenue committees by William H. Malone, president of the board, late today.

"The name of the Pullman company has been mentioned," declared Mr. Malone.

Mr. Malone, replying to a question said he did not believe the alleged emissaries of the Pullman company had been sent by Governor Lowden.

Immediately after the hearing the senate revenue and finance committee reported out favorably bills providing for the abolishment of the equalization board.

Mr. Malone, during the hearing, said the assessed valuation of the Pullman company had been increased $5,500,000 by action of the board of equalization, meaning an increase of $217,000 in taxes.

AMERICAN IMMORTALS WIN HONORS IN FRANCE

LIEUT. HAROLD A. FURLONG

It was a difficult task to select from the thousands of acts of unusual bravery performed by American soldiers in France a few that stood out above all others.

Lieutenant Furlong won the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in action near Danthoville, France, November 1, 1918. Immediately after the opening of the attack in the Bois de Danthoville, when his company was held up by severe machine gun fire from the front, which killed his company commander and several soldiers, Lieutenant Furlong moved out in advance of the line with great courage and coolness crossing an open space several hundred yards wide.

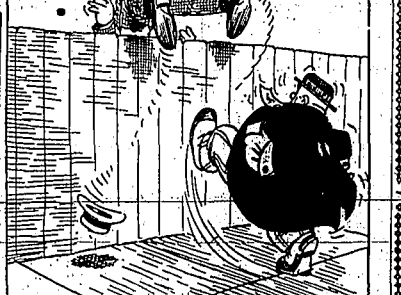

Private Lema was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action near Consenvoye, France, October 9, 1918. When his company reached a point within 300 yards of its objective, which it was advancing under terrific machine gun fire, Private Lema volunteered and unaided, made his way forward, after all others had taken shelter from the direct fire of an enemy machine gun.

Sergeant O'Connor was decorated for conspicuous bravery in action near St. Jurain, France, October 16, 1918. Sergeant O'Connor volunteered and went from his division headquarters to one of the divisions in line to obtain much needed information and to arrange for liaison. He covered the distance of six kilometers through shell fire three times before the unit was found, and while returning with the information, was seriously wounded by a shell which mortally wounded two companions. He gave water and first aid to the two men and dragged himself down the road until he met a soldier whom he sent for an ambulance.

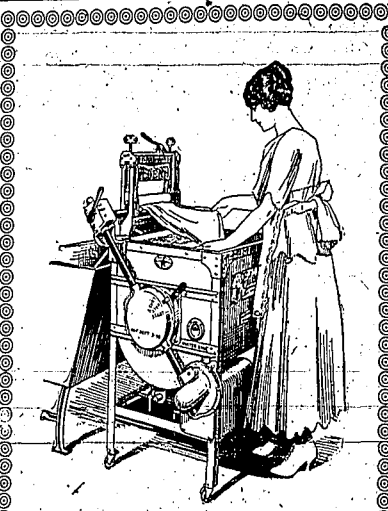

Sergeant Hilton was decorated for conspicuous gallantry at Bancourt, France, October 11, 1918. While Sergeant Hilton's company was advancing through the village of Bancourt, it was held up by intense inflating fire from a machine gun. Discovering that the fire came from a machine gun nest in a shell hole at the edge of the town, Sgt. Hilton, accompanied by a few other soldiers, but well in advance of them, pressed on toward this position, firing with his rifle until his ammunition was exhausted, and then with his pistol, killing six of the enemy and capturing ten. In the course of this daring exploit, Sgt. Hilton received a wound from a bursting shell which resulted in the loss of his arm.

Private Lema was decorated for conspicuous gallantry in action near Consenvoye, France, October 9, 1918. When his company reached a point within 300 yards of its objective, which it was advancing under terrific machine gun fire, Private Lema volunteered and unaided, made his way forward, after all others had taken shelter from the direct fire of an enemy machine gun.

Perkins Defends Y. M. C. A. Work During the War. Save Mistakes of Organization Wrote Down to Effort to Respond to Every Call of Army.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 6.—George W. Perkins, chairman of the finance committee of the Young Men's Christian association, made public here today his official report as investigator into the efficiency and work of the organization during the war.

ALIAS SUMMONS FOR PUBLICATION. In the District Court of the Fourth Judicial District of Idaho, in and for the County of Twin Falls.

"That the Y. M. C. A. undoubtedly made mistakes," Mr. Perkins said. "But what it tried to do was to respond to every call that the army made on it. It did not sidestep any task that it was asked to perform."

"The Y. M. C. A. never pocketed money for the purpose of giving away its canteen supplies. The statement has been frequently made that the Y. M. C. A. charged higher prices for canteen supplies than the army did. This was true, at certain periods when the cost of transportation was exceedingly high and when it was impossible to determine costs accurately."

"The Y. M. C. A. handled in France alone upwards of two million packages of cigarettes, 32,000,000 bars of chocolate, 18,000,000 cans of smoking tobacco, 50,000,000 cigars, 50,000,000 cans of soup, 25,000,000 packages of shaving gum and 10,000,000 packages of candy."

"These are only a few of the items handled but the size of these figures should convince any one that it would be financially impossible for the Y. M. C. A. to give its supplies away generally. Furthermore, the army does not favor any such policy."

The little German band is a thing of the past in America, but the wandering instrumental are frequently seen in German cities now. There are two German soldiers, one of them in civilian dress, picking up coppers by playing for the street crowds in Berlin.

TAKES RATE CASES UNDER ADVISEMENT

Supreme Court Hears Closing Argument in Intra-state Regulations of Railways and Wires.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 6.—Arguments in the telephone and telegraph rate cases involving the authority of the postmaster general to increase interstate toll rates were concluded today in the supreme court and the cases taken under advisement. It is believed the court will render a decision in the two cases before entering upon the summer adjournment next month.

The court, before recessing today until May 19, issued an order permitting the postmaster general to continue to charge increased telegraph rates in Illinois and temporarily delayed the carrying into effect of instructions issued by Federal Judge Landis, cancelling the postmaster general's former making the increase effective.

With the conclusion of the hearings today arguments in all pending cases closed for the term. Arguments today were made by W. H. Hiltchcock of Boston, assistant attorney general of Massachusetts; Oliver E. Sweet, assistant attorney general of South Dakota; Fred S. Jackson, representing the state of Kansas, and Raymond E. Smith, assistant attorney general of Illinois, all in behalf of proceedings attacking the postmaster general's order brought in their respective states. Henry S. Robbins of Chicago, made the closing argument for the government. Attorneys representing the states contended that adequate provisions had been made by the states for determining the justness of intra-state wire rates, that the interstate commerce commission had authority to regulate rates although this power had never been exercised; and that congress had no intention and no doubt of any one attempting to exercise the jurisdiction over the wire properties the postmaster general is exercising.

Mr. Robbins contended that congress conferred "on man power" upon the president to enable him to take over the reins of the country for the successful prosecution of the war, that he or his agents had ample authority to raise rates and that congress had no intention of hampering him in the operation of these utilities.

ARMY CAMPS SELL FOR HALF MILLION

War Department Officials Pleased With Returns From Sale of Twelve Small Towns.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 6.—Approval of the sale of twelve army camps—eight national guard concentration sites and four miscellaneous camps—for a total of more than $450,000 was announced today by Acting Secretary of War Cronwell.

War department officials showed almost exclusively of hastily constructed buildings and some stored equipment. The government reserved for its own use the base hospitals and storage warehouses.

Forty-four bids were received from 35 individuals and corporations, the highest single proposal being from one large wrecking company which offered to take all the camps for a price approximating $440,000. This proposal was rejected largely because of the desire of the department to turn over to cities adjacent to certain camps, the sanitary and other utilities which could be used advantageously for the benefit of their populations.

RECORD PRICE IS BROUGHT BY HOGS

Market Climbs to $21.35 Per Hundred, Highest Ever Known; Corn Sympathetic.

By the Associated Press.
 CHICAGO, May 6.—With hogs jumping today to the highest price ever known, $21.35 a hundred pounds, the corn market ran up sharply despite a widely prevalent opinion that an important address which the national wheat director, Julius H. Barnes, delivered to the members of the board of trade here, would have a bullish effect. Corn closed steady at 1.25 1/2 to 1.26 1/2, and September 1.25 1/2 to 1.26 1/2. Oats finished unchanged to 3-8 cents lower. The advance in provisions was an outcome of the breaking of high price records in the hog market, had already commenced in good earnest before the opening trades were made in the corn pit. The reason for the upward flight of hog values was that the total number of hogs received at the Chicago stock yards today was much smaller than was expected, and supplies also reported scanty at other western packing centers. Unfavorable weather for plowing, planting corn prices.

Much nervousness was manifested, however, regarding the nature of Barnes' speech and there was heavy liquidation at times by holders, together with considerable short selling by bullish speculators. Just before Mr. Barnes appeared on "kings" hogs at the stock yards advanced sharply and the latest "kings" after Mr. Barnes, closed making many traders follow to their surprise that but little corn was for sale. A sharp new bulge quickly came on covering by shorts. Closing going steady with corn at virtually the peak figures of the day. Favorable crop conditions made the corn relatively weak notwithstanding the bullish action of corn. Provisions reflected the gains in the hog market. Trade in provisions however was dull.

FORT WORTH RECORD.
 FORT WORTH, Tex., May 6.—The highest price for hogs in the history of the Fort Worth market was reached today when three carloads brought $20.75 per hundred pounds. This is fifteen cents higher than the record for the year, and five cents higher than for any previous year.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Fresh strength developed in the corn market today largely owing to the ascent of hog prices to a new top. Unfavorable weather for plowing, planting and hauling tended also to lift corn prices. Heavy liquidation by holders, however, was in evidence at times, and there was much nervousness pending an address which the national wheat director, Julius H. Barnes, read scheduled to deliver here after midnight. Opening quotations, which ranged from 10 to 2 1/2¢ higher, with July $1.18 to 1.19 and September $1.21 to 1.22 1/2. A sharp increase in bulk was followed by another decided advance.
 Oats were reported mainly to be firm. After opening 1/4¢ off to a like advance with July 70¢ to 71¢, the market fluctuated both sides of yesterday's finish.

CRACK SHOTS COMPETE FOR HIGH HONORS

Opening of Greatest Marksmanship Tourney in History of Army.

GENERAL PERSHING TALKS TO RIFLEMEN

Urges Practice in Shooting As a Help to Army and Force For the Government

By the Associated Press.

LEMAN, May 5.—In the presence of General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American expeditionary forces and other high officers of the army the A. E. F. rifle, pistol and musketry competition, considered the greatest marksmanship tournament in the history of the United States Army was opened on the Avenue range, near Lemans today.

General Pershing, addressing the contestants, said it was his honor to be selected to compete in a contest of this kind and spoke of the importance of accurate shooting and the distinction which will result with the rifle as it flows upon its possessor.

Marksmanship is Asset

"He urged the officers and men to carry with them, whether their future lay with the regular army, the national guard or civilian life, the reminder that painstaking training and proficiency in the use of firearms is a great asset, as well as a great personal asset."

The scores today were preliminary—slow fire at 300 yards, 500 yards and 600 yards and rapid fire at 200, 300 and 400 yards. Qualification scores will be made tomorrow afternoon.

BOMBS THAT MISSED MARK

Herewith is presented another example of the superiority of Chronicle news service. Within one week after the incident happened The Chronicle gives to its readers this picture of the bomb that failed to reach Americans to whom they were addressed. The diagram shows the construction of the little home-made bomb. Below is the complete story which explains the flimsy nature of the parcel and, nevertheless, after they had been held for some postage.

"I was on my way home when I read an account of the explosion of Senator Harwick's home," says Harwick. "Immediately I remembered the parcel bearing the label of Hinkel Brothers which had been held over from Saturday to Monday because they did not contain proper postage. All day they laid under the counter where I was working, where a kick or the fall of another parcel might have struck the whole postage sky high. It struck me like a flash that these packages were exactly like that one mailed Harwick. I jumped off the train and rushed back down could put something in what she was doing."

After that nothing under the sun could stop me from doing it."

"Put Tulsitt in the cocktail."

After several vain attempts she obtained the poison on the plea that she wished it to kill a cat. At the department store she ordered some Harwick's "wafers" through first the fruit store.

"Before I went in to the 'taroomee,'" Miss Garrison continued, "I loopeed the cork in the bottle and saw it was strathene. When the cocktails were brought I took the bottle out of the pocket and poured a very little bit into the cocktail—a very little bit. I took a spoon and dipped it in the cocktail."

After Mrs. Storrs had eaten her cocktail and fell back in her chair in a convulsion, Miss Garrison testified "what the matter, Grace?"

Allege Mental Weakness

Mental weakness traced back to hereditary cause, an injury sustained in childhood and an operation on her forehead were advanced by Attorney Acker in making the opening statement for the defense at the trial.

Testimony will be introduced, Attorney Acker said, to prove that Miss Garrison was not responsible before the law for the crime of first degree murder charged.

Questions by her attorneys brought out her story of an operation performed upon her head several years ago.

Miss Garrison wept for a few moments while the coroner was telling of the examination he made of Mrs. Storrs' body.

Five witnesses were employees of the tea room where Miss Garrison entertained Mrs. Storrs at luncheon the day of the poisoning. Two other witnesses were the mother and sister of Mrs. Storrs.

LESS THAN HALF QUOTA SUBSCRIBED

Victory Loan Campaign Increases Its Lost Days With Most Of Way to Go

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The two billion dollar mark has been passed by the nation in its race toward the $4,500,000,000 goal which must be reached by Saturday night. Subscriptions officially reported to the treasury tonight amounted to $2,600,000,000, or 46.73 per cent of the quota.

The increase in the total during the last 24 hours was $750,000,000, of which $146,000,000 came from the New York district alone. This falls short of the $225,000,000 average daily subscriptions which must be worked in the remainder of the week if the loan is to be subscribed.

"Experts who have been associated with all loan campaigns are at an absolute loss to explain the slowness of subscriptions," said the treasury's report tonight. "The belief held by many of them at the outset of the loan that its attractive features both as to the interest and maturity would cause an early oversubscription has been rapidly dispelled and yet not only the interest and maturity would cause this situation. Slowness in buying is easily explained in a few isolated localities where certain work is backward or there has been a shortage of employment in farm and industrial plants, but generally speaking no one seems to be able to assign a definite cause for the failure of the country to keep up the pace that was expected of it."

MAKE EFFORT IN IDAHO.

DOHE, May 6.—Desperate efforts are being made throughout Idaho to finish the state's quota on victory bonds by Wednesday night and win second place among the states of the twelfth federal reserve. Battle county reports a record today Wednesday with an over-subscription. Wednesday afternoon, and night particularly all counties will reserve as a business holiday and concerted effort to make to finish the loan.

BRITAINS ARE SKEPTICAL OF NAVY EFFORT

Belittle Effort of American Airmen in Flight Over Atlantic.

DOUBT ABILITY OF LIBERTY MOTORS

Show Displeasure Because St. Johns Papers Give Notice to the United States Planes.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 6.—No attempt will be made tomorrow by the United States navy trans-Atlantic aviators to start on the first leg of their journey because of adverse weather conditions, it was announced tonight by Commander John H. Towers, flight commander.

DELITTE NAVY'S EFFORT

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 6.—"The British aviators, Harry Hawker and Captain Frederick P. Bishopp today were belittled to belittle the coming attempt of United States navy planes to cross Atlantic."

Hawker declared he will water that any fast steamer leaving New York on the same day as the "Nancies" of the navy will beat them to England.

The British aviators here appear skeptical of the ability of the Liberty motors to stand the test of the long flight. Captain Charles W. F. Morgan, "Nancies" navigator, signing himself "Captain C. W. F. Morgan, R. A. F. R. G. B.," announced responsibility for an article printed in the St. Johns Daily Star this afternoon which asserted that the American navy's flying boat would "prove nothing practically or theoretically."

The article said in part: "As no time during this flight will the American planes be out of sight of a ship, as the American navy is putting a ship every 50 miles of the way, which means that the machines never will be more than 25 miles from a ship. This eliminates any risk and also does away with any need of navigation. The Americans might just as well fly the English channels fifty times, an ordinary exploit these days. The flight proves nothing practically or theoretically. The personal opinion of the pilot does not rule into the question, as the machine can land at any time it stops at a ship, stop and proceed. They are also able at any time to replenish their petrol-tanks."

The article adds a reference to the fact that local interest is "all for the Americans" and says: "This seems rather unfair, and we should like to believe it untrue."

Local interest has turned to the progress of the United States navy's flight and St. Johns papers are carrying columns from Trepassy bay an against paragraphs regarding the project of the British here.

FLOODS IN NORTH SWEDEN DESTROY TOWNS AND CITIES

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, May 6.—North Sweden is experiencing the worst floods in many years due to abnormal rains and snowmelt. The damage is estimated at more than 20,000,000 krona.

There have been avalanches and landslides in the Tromsø district. Two cities, Boffetta and Hornsund, and several villages are isolated. Numerous houses are being washed away following the crest of the flood, increasing the damage. Dams, saw mills, iron works, flour mills, power stations, wood pulp mills and other buildings have been washed away or badly damaged.

Clark Declares War on Regular U. S. Army

Ex-Speakers' Son Says National Guard Should Form Basis of Armed Forces

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, May 5.—The National Guard Association of the United States must work to smash the regular army and build up the national guard, Lieutenant-Colonel Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Clark, declared in an address at the closing session of the association's convention here tonight, following his election as president of the organization.

"It is the aim of all of us to build up the national guard and smash the regular army," declared Clark, who is Lieutenant Colonel Harry J. Moss of Washington, state temporary chaplain, asked Colonel Clark if he wished to modify the assertion.

"No," emphasized Clark, "I meant every word I said."

Following Clark other officers made similar declarations.

Resolutions were adopted urging that the national guard be the foundation of the future armed forces of the nation, that congress establish a national guard bureau in the war department and a national guard corps of the army, that national guard units be established in every state with the minimum strength fixed at 250 men for each representative, in the two houses of congress and that universal military training be established throughout the country.

COUNTY TO FAIL IN DRIVE—THOMAS

Effort to Put Over Victory Loan to Be Made By Service Men.

"Twin Falls county is almost certain to fall in its effort to put over the Victory loan," stated C. D. Thomas, chairman of the campaign, after looking over the situation tonight.

"We had thought that the visit here of the whippet tank would make certain the county's success in the affair, but we were mistaken."

In a final effort to bring the campaign to a successful close service men will today make a canvass of the city. Every resident will be visited and those who have bought bonds will be urged to increase their purchases. Fewer people have purchased the amount of their quota than it was at first thought by Missan Egler.

Four days remain before the close of the campaign.

RED GUARDS KILL 400

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 6.—Four hundred persons were killed in Moscow last week when the red guard was called upon to disperse the rioters, says the Exchange Telegraph dispatch quoting advice from Earl Gormary. The casualties resulted when a crowd assembled demanding food and shouting "down with Lenin and Trotsky!"

KIAO-CHAU ISSUE IS UNLIKE FUME

Barry Goto Explains Japan's Attitude and Assures Return of Shantung to Chinese Nation

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Prefacing an address before the Japan society here tonight with the declaration that he was a "private citizen" and did not speak "in behalf of the Japan government," Baron Shimezu Goto, former foreign minister of Japan, characterized the Kiao-Chau-Shantung situation as "not to be viewed in the same light as the Fiume question."

"Japan has never demanded permanent occupation of the former German territory of Kiao-Chau," he said. "She has repeatedly proclaimed to the world that she would return it to China after it was unconditionally given to her at the peace conference. In the judgment of the Japanese government it was necessary for Japan to establish an undisputed right over the German territory before she was in a position to return it to China. In returning Shantung to China, Japan's policy has been influenced by the fear that the Chinese government may not be able to keep the province—that it may be virtually mortgaged to a third power, to the detriment not only of China but also of Japan."

"In returning Kiao-Chau to China, Japan will undoubtedly make it plain that she will never acquiesce in the cession of that territory to any third power on the arbitrary granting of concessions to foreign nations in the province of Shantung. I trust that satisfactory agreement will soon be made between China and Japan with a view to preventing such an unfortunate development."

"The coming few years will furnish a golden opportunity for the Japanese government and people to translate into deeds their professed, and I believe, sincere desire to be China's friend and well-wisher, Japan will undoubtedly make it plain that she will never acquiesce in the cession of that territory to any third power on the arbitrary granting of concessions to foreign nations in the province of Shantung. I trust that satisfactory agreement will soon be made between China and Japan with a view to preventing such an unfortunate development."
