NC-4 TO HOP OFF ON TRIP ACROSS

Navy's Hope Rests in Lieut. Commander Read and Crew.

WILL LEAVE HORTA AT 7 A. M. TODAY

Commander Towers Cables Wife He Is Safe and Well—NC-1 Said to Be Sinking.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Hear Admiral Jackson at Ponta Del Gada, Azores, called the navy department today that the American naval seaplane NC4, in command of Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read, would leave Horta, Fayal, tomorrow at 7 o'clock, Greenwich time (3 a. m. Washington time), under conditions permit. A stop will be made at Ponta Del Gada, the message said.

The early hour was for the start of the flight to Ponta Del Gada was interrupted by several officials here to try of more than 225 mailbags to mean that Commander Read would attempt tomorrow to make the entire Lisbon, Portugal, the real end of the trans-Atlantic flight. The stop at Ponta Del Gada was thought to be planned for the purpose of obtaining supplies.

NO-3 MAKES POIZ. WASHINGTON, May 19.—After weathering a sixty-mile gale and heavy seas, the missing seaplane NC-3 flagship of the American naval seaplane flight squadron, entered Ponta Del Gada harbor today under her own power, after nearly sixty hours from the time she was forced down by fog when almost in sight of the Azores on the record-breaking flight from New Brunswick for Lisbon and Plymouth, England.

Searching battleships and destroyers were scouring the seas and naval officials had all but abandoned hope for the safety of the flying ship and her crew on the 17th. The flight from Ponta Del Gada saw the plane alight across the water headed for the flight objective in the Azores. Navy Hears News.

Hear—Admiral Jackson immediately dispatched the news to the navy department here—relieving the anxiety of officials and ending the long vigil Mrs. Towers had kept since first news came last Saturday morning that her husband's plane had been lost in the fog 300 miles from the Azores.

In a detailed report received at the navy department tonight from Commander Towers, the officer said the NC-3 had suffered severely. The hull was slightly damaged and the forward center engine stalls were seriously damaged in making the landing while later while riding the gale the port wing pontoon was carried away. The report indicates the plane was thrown off her course by high winds and rain squalls while between station ships 13 and 14. The report follows:

Received Ponta Del Gada 17:00 G. M. T. (1:00 p. m. Washington time), May 19. Compelled to go above clouds at station eight on account of failure of lights on the pilot's instruments and engine trouble. Encountered heavy fog for reference. Last destroyer sighted, number 13. Came through clouds at daybreak; but missed destroyer 14. Believe thrown off course by high velocity of upper winds and heavy rain.

Observed heavy fog running to sea to remain in air. Slightly damaged hull and seriously damaged forward center engine struts on landing which made it impossible to leave water.

Ship's Status Generally. Observations showed this position to be 47-45 north 10-25 west (apparently this should be latitude 37 instead of 47 as given in the dispatch. Gave 7:00 on evening of 17th which was ridden out successfully. Reached G. M. T. 15 at 10:00 Washington time) May 19th, when lost port wing pontoon. Seaplane suffered severely but succeeded in riding out gale and by sailing a total distance of 265 miles

HARRY HAWKER AND HIS SOPWITH PLANE

Hawker is Lost in Storm Off Irish Coast

Fate of Pilot and Navigator of Sopwith Plane is Still a Mystery.

SHIPS SEARCH SEA FOR BRAVE AIRMEN

Encounter Forty-Mile Gale Near Goal—Fears for Fate Are Entertained.

By The Associated Press. LONDON, May 19.—London spent the day in tense excitement and suspense waiting the result of Harry Hawker's bold attempt to fly across the Atlantic, and after a day of anxiety and swiftest rumors and speculation, the fate of the pilot and his navigator, Mackenzie Grieve, is still unknown.

A Sopwith machine, supposed to be Hawker's, according to an admiralty wireless report, descended to the surface of the ocean forty miles west of the mouth of the English Channel. Admiralty reports said that this information was not considered reliable.

Early unverified reports were that the Sopwith machine encountered a gale which reduced its speed to forty miles an hour and finally compelled it to descend, owing to exhaustion of fuel.

Crowds of people waited the day long at the Brooklands airrome, where Hawker learned to fly, believing that the aviator would make his landing there, although experts had expressed the opinion that Hawker would not likely be able to fly there after 5 o'clock this afternoon, owing to his limited supply of petrol. The vigil was kept after dark, however, on the chance that the aviator might arrive.

Mrs. Hawker remained at the airrome until 9 o'clock. Her faith in her husband's skill had enabled her to endure the suspense calmly, but on leaving for home she was unable to conceal her anxiety, although she still remained comparatively cheerful.

The fate of Hawker's machine cannot be definitely said, and tonight it is impossible even to assert that the machine found at sea is Hawker's.

The weather off the Irish coast Monday was boisterous, with rain and squalls.

The admiralty has sent out all available ships to search for the aviators.

FEAR FOR HAWKER'S FATE. ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 19.—Early reports of Harry Hawker's safe arrival on the Irish coast, at first accepted as true, had turned tonight to grave fears for the fate of the Australian aviator and his navigator, Commander Mackenzie Grieve. When darkness fell, it was felt that no news had been news for the time allotted for the history-making flight had long since passed.

This little city, which had harbored Hawker and Grieve, wanted to believe that they were safe on the other side of the Atlantic. But laid against their success were paid cheerfully at the first report that they had landed and the whole city rejoiced in their happiness.

Compliments His Royal Highness Captain Frederick P. Vyseham, the British aviator who was badly outburied in the collapse of his Martin's plane when he tried to "take off" in the wake of his rival, sent a message of congratulations to "Hawker" from his stricken and issued a statement, applauding what he termed his "fellow-Briton's success."

When the realization struck home that the 20-hour flying period for which the Sopwith carried fuel had elapsed without official report of the aviators, those familiar with the dangers of the adventure hesitatingly advanced the guess that the flight had stopped short of its goal.

Friends Grow Anxious. Interest at once turned to the possible fate of the aviator, perhaps admit in their ingenuously contrived "emergency boat" which had been devised to form the rear hook of the Sopwith's fuselage after it had been tested here and proved to possess considerable seaworthiness. Then there were the "non-sinkable" rubber suits which Hawker and Grieve wore and discussion switched to them. They were of the United States navy type, designed to be inflated through a small pipe.

It was estimated that food supplies, including warm drink, had been stored in the boat sufficient to last the two flyers 48 hours, provided the "boat" could stay afloat that length of time.

Everyman announced tonight that he may still attempt a trans-Atlantic flight. After a check of the damage sustained by his Martin's, he said he might try to repair it.

Declares He Will Fly. "I shall fly home if it is possible," he declared, "probably in the same plane as this, but that is not possible, then in a new one, providing my own's agree."

Although associates of Hawker and Grieve tonight reluctantly conceded that the aviators "probably have failed," Captain Rynham was still optimistic as to the safety of the Sopwith and its crew. He suggested that Hawker might have landed at some isolated point on the coast of Ireland. The storm breeding depression referred to by meteorologists was known to Hawker and himself "yesterday," he said, he intended to "make the air."

U. S. COURT GETS PHONE RATE CASE

Denver Judge Refused to Act on Injunction Proceedings Brought on by City Fathers.

By The Associated Press. DENVER, Colo., May 19.—The suit for an injunction brought in the Denver district court by the city administration to prevent the collection of increased rates, effective May 1, announced by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company, must be tried in the United States district court, this was the decision given today by Judge Horsey of the Denver county district court, before whom arguments in behalf of the transfer were made by attorneys for the telephone company. The latter's attorneys had previously asked that the case be tried in the United States district court, but Judge Horsey's decision is being made.

Summary of the International Situation

By The Associated Press. Count Brockhoff-Rantau, the chief German peace plenipotentiary, has returned to Versailles from Spa, where he went Saturday for a conference, and has apparently been, with his colleagues, and Herr, Gleditsch, two of the members of the German delegation who had been in Berlin going over the situation with the authorities, and also a large volume of naval, military and naval experts.

These indications are that the Germans intend to continue their efforts to come into agreement with the allied and associated representatives, on peace terms that will be satisfactory to the German government and people.

Meanwhile reports continue to emanate from Germany of dissatisfaction over the terms laid down for Germany to sign and a reiteration by President Ebert that the Germans will never affix their signatures to the treaty as it stands, and that foreign countries will protest with Germany against this "peace enslavement."

On the other hand Field Marshal von Hindenburg is reported to have invited the members of the German cabinet, representatives of the political parties and other leaders at a meeting in Berlin Friday, that resistance was impossible, and that the military leaders considered it necessary to seal the "compact" as desired by the allies.

With almost informal publicity, the proceedings are an exchange of credentials between the Austrian peace delegates and the representatives of the allied and associated powers has taken place at St. Germain. Belief is expressed in Paris that the act of handing in the peace treaty to the Austrians will be delayed possibly until next week, owing to the impossibility of completing the draft.

Belgic forces in Russia have suffered a severe defeat at the hands of General Denikin's troops, which have made 10,000 of the enemy prisoner and captured 28 guns in operations against Smolensk, on the Volga.

British warships have put to rout a Bolshevik flotilla in a fight in the gulf of Finland. One enemy ship was sunk and another forced aground.

Withdrawal of the American forces from the Archangel front in northern Russia is planned to begin within ten days, with the transportation of the 33rd infantry to England. The 13th engineers on the Archangel front and the railway troops on the Murmansk coast are to be the last of the American forces to be withdrawn.

32,500 Added To Program Of New Buildings

By The Associated Press. May will be a record month for the granting of building permits this year. This was assured yesterday when permits for $32,500 worth of construction were granted at the city clerk's office. Conrad Magel secured a permit for the building of a garage on Third avenue, north of Shakespeare. Announcement of Mr. Magel's plans for this building were made several weeks ago. This structure will cost approximately $10,000.

A permit was also granted to E. H. Heinicke for the building of a two-story building on lot 13 of block 21, which is on Fifth avenue north, near Addison avenue. This building will cost $2500.

With plans in the making for several other buildings to cost from $10,000 upwards on which permits will be taken out this month it is anticipated that May will not only be a record month for this year but approximate any record building month of the last 13 years.

BRITAINS COVET U. S. WAR PRIZES

Labor Members of House of Commons Raise Question of America's Right to Hun Ships.

By The Associated Press. LONDON, May 19.—The division of German mercantile shipping which has been the subject of considerable discussion in England since the announcement that America was to receive all vessels detained in American ports, was raised in the house of commons today by Ben Tillett, labor member for North Bedford.

Mr. Tillett asked Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman, what steps the government was taking to prevent the division of shipping in proportion to the losses sustained by us of the vessels detained in American waters. Mr. Bonar Law said he could not discuss the matter, but hoped the house would trust the British delegation to protect British interests.

—Horatio Bottomley, an independent member, asked whether it was not a convenient opportunity for President Wilson to "prove the sincerity of his idealism by making no claim for these ships and giving them to those who have borne the heat and burden of the war." There was no answer from the government bench.

CONGRESS IS ORGANIZED FOR LABORS

Republicans Take Over Legislative Branch of National Government.

EXPECT FLOOD OF BILLS IN SESSION.

Berger, Socialist Member of House, Is Barred From Seat Pending Hearing of Charges.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 19.—The sixty-sixth (or construction) congress, called into extraordinary session by President Wilson, from Paris, convened at noon today and republican majorities in the senate and house organized both bodies.

Representative Orlott of Massachusetts was elected speaker of the house over Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, democratic candidate, and senior speaker, by a vote of 227 to 122.

Senator Cummins of Iowa, the republican candidate, was chosen president pro-tempore of the senate over Senator Tillman of South Carolina, democratic candidate, by a vote of 57 to 37.

Republicans in Control. The republicans of both bodies also elected "majorities" of other officers and thus for the first time since 1817 returned to control of the American national legislature.

Routine affairs of organization complicated the opening day's proceedings, both bodies adjusting, until noon of the day, the speaker's address, which will be read separately in the senate and house. The senate today concluded its session in fifty minutes and the house in two hours and twenty minutes.

There was no outward evidence in the initial proceedings of the enormous amount of work ahead. The peace treaty with Germany, including the league of nations covenant, the American treaty, and the proposed compact for restriction of armaments, are not expected before next month. All had promise of dramatic debate.

House Appropriations Bill. The appropriation bill which filled in the filibuster last March will be read, and immediately in the house, a Chairman Good of the house appropriations committee, tonight called a meeting for tomorrow to begin work on the general deficiency measure.

Legislation dealing with railroads, telegraph and telephones, woman suffrage for restriction of armaments, the luxury taxes and other pressing subjects are promulgated in the van of important economic and reconstruction questions.

The legislation is expected by leaders to have a hearing in the senate continuously until the presidential conventions of 1920. Investigations planned by the republicans of numerous administration acts also are expected to begin in the near future.

Expect Flood of Bills. The flood of bills which is expected to make the new congress momentous began in the house today and the senate's initial measures will be presented tomorrow. House resolution number one was the woman suffrage constitutional amendment measure, introduced by former Republican Leader Borah of Idaho.

Despite the formality of today's proceedings and the absence of the president—the first time congress has opened with a president on foreign soil—overcrowded seats in both houses and some galleries within the hush of the new congress. Many cabinet officers and other high officials were spectators in the house, where cheering and applause-making lent an informal tone of popular interest. When house members were sworn in, Representative Berger of Wisconsin, the lone socialist member who was convicted of violating the espionage law, was prevented from taking the oath, upon objection of Representative Dullinger of Massachusetts, chairman of the house today and the speaker, by a vote of 227 to 122.

Representative Berger was suspended from the floor of the house today and the speaker, by a vote of 227 to 122. Representative Berger was suspended from the floor of the house today and the speaker, by a vote of 227 to 122.

The southern strawberry has for the past few weeks been on the Twin Falls market. Soon, however, the best of the season's berries will be available for the Twin Falls housewife—the Hood River berry. Then with the entrance of the home produce the prices will come within reach of very one.

Here is a good way to serve them, a recipe for the delicious strawberry crust that makes shortcake famous.

Strawberry Shortcake—Sift together 3 cupful pastry flour with 6 teaspoonfuls of baking powder and 1-2 teaspoonful of salt. Mix into the flour about 1-4 cupful of lard or vegetable fat, and when well mixed add enough sweet milk to make a soft dough. Spread a greased pie tin with the dough and bake in a hot oven.

When baked split the cake open and butter both sides liberally. Spread one-half with the fresh strawberries slightly mashed in a little sugar, cover with the other layer, and put whole berries, juice, and cream over the top.

The home of Mrs. C. A. Finer was the scene of a seven o'clock dinner honoring Mrs. Fern Egan given by Miss Mattie Coates and Miss Eva Engle last Saturday evening.

The table was one mass of delicate pink and white rose buds with a large bouquet of the same buds in the center. The place cards were delicate creations of white and pink handpainted roses. The plates of the last course had a single bud on the plate, in the center of which was a tightly folded note containing the announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Fern Egan to Fred Russell of Oklahoma.

Miss Coates sang "In the Heart of a Rose," as the last course was served. After the dinner the evening was spent with music.

The guest list included: Misses Fern Egan, Florence Hill, Brydie Jacobs, Emily Wall, Luella Wolfe, Bloua Spaford, Vivian Markel, Edna DeLo, champ, Meadames Watson and Tetter.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP—DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any one look clean and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowels pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels thus cleaning, sweetening and freshening the entire system, and thus before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at a drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing.

Half of the nation who are accustomed to wake up with a dull aching head or others who have bilious attacks, have furred tongues, bad taste, watery, yellow complexion, acid stomach or constipation are assured of permanent improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

FLY RIGHT STRAIGHT UP

When man can fly RIGHT STRAIGHT UP just like this he will have put one over on the birds.

It's the helicopter that is expected to help him do this.

Orville Wright, first to fly, has faith in the working-out of the new machine.

The helicopter will be raised into the air by a set of screws revolving on vertical axes.

These screws are expected to lift a plane gently to the height at which it is desired to fly. Then the propellers would be brought into play and away goes the plane till it wants to come down.

The vertical screws lift it down gently, perhaps on the top of a big office building, or a specially prepared parking place in the heart of a big city. No 10 acre fields required.

It's the biggest thing yet proposed in air navigation.

URGES LABOR TO RESTORE SANITY

Manufacturers Declare Nation Can Not Build With Six-Hour Day and Five-Day Week

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 19.—A nationwide movement to "restore sanity and common sense" in the relations of labor and industry, was urged upon the National Association of Manufacturers in the report of the committee on industrial betterment, health and safety, read at the opening session of the association's 24th annual meeting here today.

"There can be no question," said the report on industrial betterment, "that we have in our country at this time large numbers of vicious propagandists who would make all property the common dividend among them.

"Never has there been greater demand for sane and courageous leadership in stabilizing business conditions in the industry of our nation."

Pointing to the heavy burdens for taxation and increased costs of freight, communication and other industrial necessities, the committee declared "that the United States will never retain world supremacy by six hours of labor five days a week."

The report commended adoption by all factories of the co-operative representation plan under which employers and employees' committees meet to adjust wages and working conditions.

GEORGE WASHINGTON MEMORIAL BUILDING

By Rupert Hughes

TO Be Erected at the National Capital and Dedicated to Our Boys Who have Fought, Suffered and Given Their Lives for the Freedom of the World.

MEN of '17 and '76! The men of 1917 have maintained the legacy left by the men of 1776, and have met the debt incurred. The odd coincidence in numbers stands as the symbol of a real bond.

Washington borrowed of France the idea and the money that saved the day for the freedom of the colonies. Wilson sent luck to France the men and the money that saved the day for the freedom of the nations. We repaid Lafayette with Pershing.

There is a universal eagerness to build a fitting memorial to the heroes of the war of wars. Money will spring up all over the United States to individual men, officers and organizations. But there is an insistent demand for one great national memorial.

The only place for it is, of course, the capital of the country, and Washington has been and will be in a large sense the capital of the world.

No memorial will be appropriate which has not a lasting value and a dignity of usefulness as well as beauty and splendor. No statue or group of statues could be erected which would express what cannot, though it were made of steel barrels a mile high, would convey the message. An imperial arch would imply nothing more than a gateway for conquerors and would set simply as an obstruction to traffic.

The right memorial must be a temple, a temple of architectural grandeur, a museum for statues, busts, tablets, archives and interesting relics, a place of daily resort, and a meeting place for national gatherings.

It is an amazing fact that Washington—the seat of our national government, the center of world activity, the scene of congresses—has no large and dignified meeting place, no convention hall of any dimensions.

The memorial described will therefore meet a pressing need. (What ideal should this memorial most vividly surely? Of what religion should the temple be? Surely, the religion of freedom, of democracy, of equality, and of opportunity. It should express the triumph of the ideals of Washington and the founders of this Republic as those ideals have spread through the world and united in the recent bloody victory over the spirit of autocracy.)

architects. The committee of award selected from those a plan of such impressive beauty as to silence criticism. This majestic structure will be spacious enough to house a multitude. The main auditorium occupied a floor space of 28,500 square feet, with a gallery of 10,000 square feet, giving a seating capacity of 7,000 persons; it will furnish room for language reception, national and international conventions and conferences, orchestral concerts and celebrations. Several small halls are grouped about it to accommodate meetings of smaller bodies—military, patriotic, scientific, educational, and similar conventions.

On the second floor is a banquet hall with serving rooms, seating 600 people. Here also are rooms set apart as the permanent national headquarters of societies of veterans, of foreign affairs and other patriotic societies. The third and fourth floors are planned to accommodate a museum and library for the care of precious relics, souvenirs, historical documents and the personal histories of our soldiers. A spacious chamber may be set apart for the exclusive use of each sovereign state of the Union and our outlying possessions.

The plans have received the indorsement of the highest authorities. President Wilson writes: "Dear Mrs. Dimock: I have held with genuine interest the plans of the George Washington Memorial Building. The name of each donor will be inscribed on the walls of the building. No one could withhold approval from such plans. They undoubtedly express what the heart of the whole country approves. Cordially and sincerely yours, WOODROW WILSON."

Committee of prominent men and women representing patriotic sections are soliciting. Collective and individual subscriptions in large and small amounts are being received. Every child who contributes ten cents receives a button carrying the legend: "This coin means a brick in the memorial building." The name of each donor will be entered on the records.

Such a building is very much needed, and it erected would contribute very materially toward the process of construction, consultation, discussion, awakening of public interest and confidence, recognition of views, recognition of phases—the process through which a great self-governing people works out its problems and reaches its results. No better tribute to the memory of Washington, who led the men of '76 and to our boys of '17, who maintained the freedom which he established, could be devised than such a national memorial. The number of associations and organizations, permanent and occasional, which seeks to bring people together for worthy objects in this country is enormous.

One of the most urgent needs in a suitable meeting place for national and international societies and conventions in Washington. Under existing conditions we are justified in inviting large societies and congresses, especially those of an international character, to meet in this country; for the natural place is Washington.

The control and administration of this building, when erected, will be the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institution, of which the president of the United States is the presiding officer, ex-officio, and the chief trustee the chancellor. Such a building will aid in advancing the cause of education, patriotism, science and the arts, as well as providing a lasting evidence of our loyal devotion to the memory of our boys who emulated the example and noble character of our greatest commander and first president.

LODGE OPPOSES LEAGUE COVENANT

654; New Draft Is Worse Than Old and More Dangerous to the World's Peace.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Senator Lodge, republican leader and chairman of the foreign relations committee, in a statement tonight declared that the revised league of nations "is unacceptable" and predicted it would not be accepted by the majority of the senate without amendment.

Characterizing the new league covenant as "distinctly worse than the old and more dangerous to the peace of the world and to American rights and interests," Senator Lodge declared that some of the suggestions from the senate on from Ellihu Root had been carried out.

Senator Lodge's statement follows: "So far as I can judge—and I have had conversations with many senators, including members of both parties—I am satisfied that the majority of the senate is strongly averse to the league as now presented. It must receive amendment, that in its present form, without any change, it is unacceptable and would not be accepted."

"To say that the amendments proposed to the senate and those proposed and forwarded by Mr. Root in the suggestion of the state department have been met is without any foundation. Not one of the suggestions of the senate, not one of the amendments proposed by Mr. Root, has been carried out, and where there is an appearance of their having been adopted examination shows that the new form is distinctly worse than the old and more dangerous to the peace of the world and to American rights and interests."

"It is impossible now to enter upon a detailed analysis because, although we may suppose that the draft of the league sent over in the press dispatches is fairly accurate, we have no knowledge of the treaty with Germany or its relations to the league. The summary which was sent out was not only incomplete, but vague and inaccurate, and it is impossible to gather in it what the terms imposed upon Germany in any respects really are. There is no desire anywhere to delay the treaty of peace with Germany until it is impossible to gather in it what the terms imposed upon Germany in any respects really are. A FRENCH ALLIANCE.

The proposal of a VICTIM American alliance with France may arouse more debate than any other matter growing out of the peace conference. It is well that it should be clearly understood before it comes to a decision.

It should be recognized, first of all, that this is not a part of the peace treaty. It is a purely informal and unofficial proposal. France wants a pledge from Great Britain and the United States that they will come to her aid if she is ever again attacked by Germany without provocation. The British government seems willing to give such a pledge. President Wilson, of course, has no authority to commit the United States to it. He has promised the French government that he will submit the proposal to the United States senate. The decision will rest with that body.

The first impulse of every intelligent American citizen is to inquire why such a step should be considered necessary, when the league of nations has been supposed to guarantee the safety of all its members, including France, and to make all alliances superfluous. The answer is that France wants to make assurance doubly sure.

President Wilson himself, who can hardly be said to have shown any special enthusiasm for the project, seems at least to find no objection to it. His position is that such an agreement would only make specific and definite an obligation already covered by the provisions of the league covenant. That puts the matter in about the same light as the Monroe Doctrine, which according to the view of the president and many others was guaranteed by the covenant, and which was nevertheless given special attention in deference to American opinion.

It may not be precisely accurate to describe the arrangement proposed as an "alliance." But it looks very much like it to an ordinary American.

And this same ordinary American has been brought up on a deep-seated prejudice against anything of the kind. There is probably a willful blindness in this country to go to the aid of France again if she is brutally attacked and needs our help. We have not forgotten, and never will forget, the services rendered by France in our own revolution, nor her heroic conduct in the war. But as for an absolute pledge of armed support, that is something about which the American public and the American senate will hesitate, and which they may prefer to leave to the determination of congress hereafter, as occasions arise.

GERMAN SILENCE.

Germany has been having a week of mourning by a "self-order."

"In deep distress and weighed down by care," announced the Imperial Ministry at Weimar "the German people has waited through the months of the armistice for the peace conditions. Their publication has brought inevitable disappointment and unmeasurable grief to her entire people. A public expression ought to be given to these feelings by all Germans."

The imperial government requests that the free states have public lamentations suspended for a week, and allow in this thirty only such productions as correspond to the solemnity of these grievous days.

Accordingly the people stopped dancing and carousing, even in Berlin, and staged the desired exhibition of national sorrow.

It was appropriate, to be sure, the "self-order" forms are quite severe enough to warrant the Germans sitting in melancholy and grief, as that other "Grievous Race" did at the time of the Babylonian captivity. But according to ordinary notions, it is somewhat late for such demonstration.

Germany ought to have celebrated that week of mourning five years ago, when her armies were invading Belgium and all Germany was singing and hurrahing. She might well have done likewise four years ago, when "the Lusitania was sunk, instead of complaining and giving her school children a holiday.

And even now her mourning lacks one very important element. There is grief, but no repentance.

AMERICANISM

Many people, good Americans, too, complain that "Americanism" is a vague thing, and "Americanization" a baffling quest because its objects are so intangible. Secretary of the Interior Lang finds it a rather simple and easy thing.

"It has never seemed to me," he says, "that it was difficult to define Americanization or Americanism. I appreciate our citizenship, I adhere to something; and I want you, my friends and neighbors, to appreciate and admire and love the thing too. That something is America."

And isn't that the gist of the whole matter? Genuine, true, real administration, genuine application, never flinches about anything and definitely nobody can ever define or describe America, but every good American knows what it is. And anyone full of warm enthusiasm for his country ought not to be embarrassed in getting new converts to share his enthusiasm.

CONGRESS ORGANIZED

Druman—H. Newberry—of Michigan, Republican, whose election being contested, by Henry Ford, democrat. Ford had a request for a committee investigation was filed.

Notified by Cable.

In addition to electing of officers, the senate adopted the usual resolution of protest with a departure in that for notifying the president, because of his absence in Paris at the convening. The senate committee of notification sent a cable merely advising the president of the senate's formal action, while the house committee sent a letter of notification to the White House.

Major committees of the house were organized today, but senate committee arrangements went over. Senator Lodge appointed the resolution conference committee on committees to make assignments, selecting two leaders of the progressive group, Senators Borah of Idaho and Johnson of California. Both advised Mr. Lodge that they did not wish to serve, but will be urged to accept. The committee will begin work tomorrow.

Republican senators at a conference late today agreed upon a bill for repeal of the wire control act and for immediate return of the wire system to their owners. The measure probably will be introduced tomorrow in the senate.

American Immortals Win Honors in France.

All the instances of individual bravery among our boys in France during the war were not confined to the infantry. Some of the exploits of members of the tank corps will make bright pages in our history.

Among these was the act of gallantry and self-sacrifice performed by Corporal Donald M. Call, of company B, 344th battalion tank corps, now a second lieutenant. Lieutenant Call hails from Larchmont Manor, N. Y.

Lieutenant Call was decorated for conspicuous bravery near Varennes, France, September 26, 1918. During an operation against enemy machine gun nests west of Varennes Lieutenant Call, then corporal, was in the tank with an officer, when half of the turret was knocked off by a direct artillery hit. Choked by gas from the high explosive shell, he left the tank and took cover in a shell hole thirty yards away. Seeing that the officer did not follow, and thinking that he might be alive, Corporal Call returned to the tank under intense machine gun and shell fire and carried the officer over a mile under machine gun and sniper fire to safety. Lieutenant Call's home is at Larchmont Manor, N. Y.

Details of the report follow: The shot shook the wrecked machine from stem to stern. Noxious gases from the high explosive filled the air and rendered the officer who accompanied Corporal Call unconscious.

Checking, coughing and gasping for air, Corporal Call—through the door of the tank and leaped out. Shells were bursting all around him, and machine gun bullets were splattering against the steel sides of the tank.

"The corporal saw a big shell hole 20 yards away, and crawled on his stomach to it. Then for the first time he thought of the officer.

"'He must be still alive!' thought Call, and without further hesitation he climbed out of the shell hole and stole through that hell, shot and shell back to the ruined tank."

The Hun sniper had discovered him, and through all his advance they rained bullets around him. But Call reached the tank safely, plunged in one day near Cunel, France, October 12, 1918, won the Distinguished Service Cross for Lieutenant Woodfill, who was leading his company against the enemy his line came under heavy machine gun fire, which threatened to hold up the advance. Followed by two soldiers at twenty-five yards, the officer went out ahead of his first line toward a machine gun nest and worked his way around its flank, leaving the two soldiers in front. When he got within ten yards of the gun it ceased firing and four of the enemy appeared, three of whom were shot by Lieutenant Woodfill. The fourth, an officer, rushed at Lieutenant Woodfill, who attempted to club the officer with his rifle. After a hand-to-hand struggle, Lieutenant Woodfill killed the officer with his pistol. His company thereupon continued to advance until shortly afterward another machine gun nest was encountered. Calling his men to follow, Lieutenant Woodfill rushed ahead of his line in the face of heavy fire from the nest, and when several of the enemy appeared above the nest he shot them, capturing three other members of the crew and silencing the gun. A few minutes later this officer, for the third time, demonstrated conspicuous daring by charging another machine gun position, killing five men in one machine gun pit with his rifle. He then drove his machine and started to jump into the pit when two other gunners only a few yards away turned their guns on him. Failing to kill them with his revolver, he grabbed a pick lying near by and killed both of them. Inspired by the exceptional courage displayed by this officer, his men pressed on to their objective under severe shell and machine gun fire. Lieutenant Woodfill is married and lives at 167 Alexandria Pike, Fort Thomas, Ky.

Pulling the inert form from the machine, Corporal Call lifted the officer to his shoulder and started back to the American line, more than a mile away. The German snipers and machine gunners peppered him with their fire, but the heroic corporal bravely escaped, reaching our front line with his human burden in safety.

Sunday's Results.
Twin Falls 10, Filer 6.
Burley 9, Paul 7.
Rupert 11, Buhl 10.

Twin Falls added a game to its winning streak for the ledger Sunday, when it again took the 'C' game into camp this time by the score 10 to 6. This second shutout over the Filer bunch gave the fans of Twin Falls considerable satisfaction for it proved that the local nine will be in the race for permanent honors from the start.

Filer went into the game with the determination to win by a big score. But Tadlock was too much for the boys and even though greatly encouraged by a home crowd neither Carson or Miller could stop the slugger from the country seat. Fifteen hits were hit up by the winner while three batters were out but Filer could garner. In the other two league games the contests were more even and while scores were high the fans were treated to A-1 baseball. The top first place is almost certain to be broken as the part to be played against the local nine on the Twin Falls ground. Burley is more than likely to run up against the rocks, too, as its opponent will be greatly strengthened.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is sure and troublesome. Nowadays, by getting at any drug store for "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost. Don't say "gray" hair! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

whether bound at Horta and the NC-1 (third ship of the aerial fleet, was officially designated as in almost sinking condition 30 miles off Corvo Island, Azores, with the destroyer Fairfax standing by. Commander Hollinger and the crew of the NC-4 are aboard the cruiser O'Brien at Horta, definitely out of the race, according to Hollinger's own report on the condition of his machine.

Towers Takes Charge.
With his arrival at Ponta Del Gada, Commander Towers again takes active command of the flight situation. Whether Commander Head of the NC-4 shall proceed alone at the earliest possible moment, or await refueling of the NC-3 to resume the flight depends on the condition of the latter plane. Officers here believe the NC-4 commander would be ordered to proceed as soon as the weather permits.

A dispatch from Rear Admiral Jackson announcing that the NC-3 had been sighted approaching Ponta Del Gada on the water under its own power, lifted the gloom that slowly had settled over the navy department as the hour passed with no word from Towers and his men. The straggle of anxiety hanging over the department passed in a moment as the post near ran like wildfire through the staff when Admiral Jackson's terse message was received.

As news of Commander Towers' safety spread through the navy department, a feeling of relief followed. It is meant that American naval construction had stood the test of storm on the surface, as well as having conquered the air.

It had been a saying of the service that the planes were built to ride any seas in which they could bank. The NC-3 rode out a gale, that is said to have approached a ninety-mile rate at times and came serenely tacking into port, having kept steadily on her general course under guidance for the service, probably for the world.

When Secretary Daniels got the word of Towers' safety, he personally telephoned H. M. Towers, wife of the officer, who had clung courageously to her faith and hope through the endless hours of waiting. The secretary also flashed to the officer a message of congratulation and assurance as to Mrs. Towers' knowledge of her husband was safe. Later Mrs. Towers received a telegram from her husband saying only "safe and well."

AMERICAN TROOPS STAY IN SIBERIA

Boys Will Neither Be Advanced further Nor Withdrawn, Say Officials in Washington.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Suggestions of the all-Russian government that 4,000 American troops sent to Vladivostok to assist the Czechoslovak forces and guard war supplies be sent further into Siberia brought out today that the United States has no intention either of changing the policy of non-interference in local affairs or of reducing the size of its forces in eastern Siberia.

Officials said that as a matter of fact these American forces were as far inland as it was practicable to send them. While no official statement has been made, it is understood that it is deemed advisable to retain the American expedition in Siberia in order to maintain the international character of the Siberian expedition.

BROOD OF BILLS APPEAR IN HOUSE

Measures Introduced First Day of Session Would Keep Congress Working a Full Twelvemonth.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Enough bills were introduced in the house today to keep the body continuously at work through the year. More than 1,000 measures were placed in the brood hopper.

While most of the bills provide for the donations to various committees and German field pieces captured by the American expeditionary force, much of the legislation that filled at the last session was again introduced and new measures came from the republican side as part of the legislative program agreed upon at the party caucus.

First on the house calendar is the joint resolution of Representative Mann for a federal constitutional amendment providing equal suffrage. Next is the bill of Representative Stenerson of Minnesota, providing for immediate return of telegraph and telephone lines now controlled by the government.

Plans to repeal war time prohibition, the luxury tax section of the war revenue bill and taxes on soda fountain products went early into the hopper. Among the repeal bills were half a dozen measures aimed at the daylight saving act, most of them sponsored by farmers' organizations.

Numerous other bills would provide a larger bonus for men discharged from military and naval service than the $65 set aside under the war revenue bill. Soldier legislation also included a bill for acquisition of an American burial ground in France for men killed in action or who died in service abroad. Another bill called for the immediate discharge of men entering military service after the expiration of war, and of men who enlisted in the army for four years instead of duration of war. Preference in civil service employment to former service men was provided for in many bills.

Representative Laguardia of New York introduced a bill under which the government would provide transportation to France for the nearest of kin of all soldiers buried overseas, this being put forward by him as preferable to the plan of attempting to return all bodies to this country. Prohibitory immigration legislation is embodied in another bill introduced by Representative Larkin of Massachusetts, who asked early consideration for it.

What was regarded as an outgrowth of the ratification of the prohibition amendment was a bill proposing a constitutional amendment providing that all future amendments to that document be ratified by referendum vote in each of three fourths of the states.

The oil land leasing bill was introduced in substantially the same form as at the last session.

War time pensions reaching back to the Spanish-American war, and the Philippine Insurrection and the China relief expedition would be provided for in a bill by Representative Sells of Tennessee.

Creation of a cabinet of education with a cabinet officer at the head and appropriation that $100,000,000 be expended for combating illiteracy and for Americanization, were contained in legislation presented by Representative Towner of Iowa.

First on the house calendar is the joint resolution of Representative Mann for a federal constitutional amendment providing equal suffrage. Next is the bill of Representative Stenerson of Minnesota, providing for immediate return of telegraph and telephone lines now controlled by the government.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Renewed strength in the corn market developed today, owing largely to better quotations on Hoags and to unsettled weather here. Hoags, country offerings to arrive were small.  Oats hardened with corn. Export inquiry continued. After opening unchanged to 3/4 higher, including July at 65c to 66c, the market secured a further upturn.
 Provisions were lifted by the advance for hogs and corn. Lard led the market, rising 1/4c to 1.61 1/4 and September $1.59 3/4 to 1.65 1/4.

PERSHING DEFERS VISIT TO BRITAIN

Germans Will, Probably Have Till End of First Week in June to Make Their Answer.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, May 19.—Marshal Foch today laid before the council of four his plan for military operations that are to be put into effect in case the German plenipotentiaries decline to sign the peace treaty.

After the conference with Marshal Foch and the council of four President Wilson had a talk with General Pershing. It became known later that General Pershing's visit to London may be postponed in order to await developments.

FACE TIME LIMIT.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, May 19.—The Germans probably will have until the end of the first week in June to say yes or no regarding the signature of the peace treaty. The Council of Four, according to this week's dispatches in French circles to be expected, is voluminous that the international delegates can "decide" finish their conditions before June first.

The Germans will then be given, according to the prevailing impression in French official circles, an additional week to consider the allied reply. It will therefore be known by early approximately June 8, according to this French schedule, whether Germany will sign the treaty. The actual signature may come several days later, the interval being necessary to give time for engrossing the document in final form.

An intercepted wireless dispatch from Nuremberg speaks of a disagreement between Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and Philipp Scheidemann, the German chancellor, and says that the German peace mission and the home government are in perfect accord.

CALLS CONFERENCE.

By the Associated Press. VERSAILLES, May 19.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, called the presidents of the different commissions together this afternoon to lay before them the instructions he had received at Spa. He also gave instructions for the drafting of a bulletin which will be submitted to Berlin for approval.

Pershing Will Sail In Eight Weeks-Report

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Army officers arriving in Washington from American headquarters in France, are of the opinion that General Pershing will return to the United States in July. While no specific statement has been made of the commander-in-chief's plans, it is said to be the general impression at Chantilly that the general and personal staff will sail in six to eight weeks.

POPE BENEDICT TO BREAK PRECEDENT

For First Time Head of Church Will Receive Ritual of Faith From Quirinal.

By the Associated Press. ROME, May 19.—The audience and reception of President-elect Pessoa of Brazil and his wife and daughter by Pope Benedict tomorrow will mark an event in the relations of the Vatican with foreign countries without precedent since the fall of the temporal power.

This will be the first time a pope has received the Catholic Rite of a Catholic state who is the guest of the king of Italy. Heretofore all the popes have declined to receive such visitors. It was for this reason that the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria was never able to return the visit paid to him at Vienna by King Humbert of Italy in 1889. The king of Portugal, although he was a cousin of King Humbert, once cancelled a trip to Rome when midway between Portugal and the Italian capital owing to disciplinary threats from the Vatican. Also the king of Spain, notwithstanding negotiations carried on by Count Romanones, his prime minister, never was able to visit the king of Italy.

President Loubet of France in 1904, being the ruler of an important Catholic state, visited King Victor Emmanuel in the old papal palace of the Quirinal without going to see the pontiff which fact marked a definite rupture between the Italy and France.

The visit of Senator Pessoa to the Vatican is to be made in perfect harmony with the views of Pope Benedict in the old papal palace of the Quirinal without going to see the pontiff which fact marked a definite rupture between the Italy and France.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Will Station "Cops" At Corner of Sho. - stone and Main—Attorney in Draft Ordinance.

Traffic problems, which are obscuring the city council, were thrashed out last evening by the city legislators but efforts to reach some definite plan remained more or less unavailing.

Representations of business houses on Main street were present last evening to protest against the elimination of the present plan of parking in the center of the street. For more than two hours the council and the delegation discussed the various phases of the question.

Decision was eventually made by the council to have an ordinance drafted by the city attorney for presentation at the next session. It was also decided that a traffic policeman should be stationed at the corner of Shannon and Main streets to guide traffic.

MORSE J. B. FINNEY, T. G. KEAMAN and A. A. GARLON appeared before the council as representatives of those fighting the proposed bond issue because of the exclusion of certain streets from the project. After the presentation of the matter the council decided to hold a conference with the committee next Wednesday evening, when an effort will be made to provide for another parking district to include the streets excluded, providing the streets from the project. The vote on June 4 is dropped. It is hoped by the council to be able to get cheaper paving for the intersections in the work now planned so that the cost of improvement in the intersections in the supplemental district can be paid for.

Third street between Second avenue east and Third avenue east will be closed during the Round-up celebration to provide a place for the night shows. The council also agreed to provide a special policeman to protect Albert Bohrt who had been treated all street congestion privileges by the city.

A petition was presented to the council, asking for the appointment of Nick Wenzel, a returned sailor, as city electrician. The matter was left in the hands of Mayor Eldridge.

The council passed an ordinance providing for the abatement of places where there were ordors or other nuisances on the complaint of ten citizens.

SULTAN MAY GO TO BRUSA IN EXILE

British Seek to Permit Him to Remain in Constantinople With America As Mandator.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, May 19.—The council of four is finding the partition of Turkey a difficult problem. While an agreement has been reached it apparently will be necessary to make revisions which are now under consideration.

The terms of the agreement have never been announced officially but it is contemplated that the sultan will be expelled from Constantinople to Brusa as Amia Minor, thus eliminating Turkish influence and the head of the sultan from Europe.

Turkish resistance to the landing of the Greeks at Smyrna last week and Mohammedan protests in Afghanistan and Egypt, doubtless induced the British government to seek a revision of the agreement.

Brusa, where it is thought likely the sultan of Turkey will be sent into exile, lies at the northern foot of Mount Olympus, some 57 miles south-east of Constantinople. The town is beautifully situated on a fruitful plain and presents from the distance a charming picture with its numerous Minarets, Kloaks and gardens. Many tens of millions who laid the foundations of Ottoman greatness and of high Turkish dignitaries are to be found in the city and its environs.

ENGLISH HOPE FOR CHANGE.

PARIS, May 19.—The English delegates are urging that the sultan be allowed to remain in Constantinople east of Constantinople. The United States accept the position as mandatory of that city as well as Armenia. The danger of a holy war is increasing the council which has been advised that radical changes are inadvisable without more foreign support of strategic points to steady the situation.

TWIN FALLS COMPANY STARTS HOME SOON

Cablegram From Jack Thorpe Brings Good News of Forthcoming Departure of Union for U. S.

"Orders home 25th."
"Twin Falls" word—old company D of the Second Idaho national guard—which has served throughout the great war as headquarters company of the 146th field artillery, is coming home.

Information that the boys would soon be on their way to America was contained in the three terse words given above in a cablegram that was received yesterday by Miss Nell Bullis from Jack Thorpe, a lieutenant in the organization.

Immediately after the word had been spread that the boys were coming home plans were started for a rousing reception to the lads of the old company. Telegrams will be sent today to the war department requesting that the company be sent to Twin Falls intact. It is anticipated that the boys will get here about the last of June.

Company D first entered Uncle Sam's service in June, 1916, and this month ago the contingent landed in service nearly three years. Seventeen years ago the contingent landed in France. The 146th field artillery went into position in July last year, throwing its first shell on the Chateau Thierry front. The organization participated in all of the major actions thereafter and was selected to go with the army of occupation into Germany. Captain P. W. McToberry was in command of headquarters company while it was on the border and until after it reached France.

The band of the 146th field artillery, in which there were many Twin Falls lads, became one of the famous organizations of its kind in France. It is planned to make this organization the nucleus of the Twin Falls band after its return here.

Reports of the forthcoming return of the famous veteran organization has added incentive to the plans of Twin Falls service men to strengthen the association so as to secure the first big state reunion of veterans here.

SOFT was filed in the district court yesterday by the Miller-Twin Falls

It is also allegation of the plaintiff that the notes and mortgages, which were given by settlers on the project had passed into the hands of the Boise Title and Trust company a year ago and that they rightfully belong to the plaintiff in the case and that in spite of repeated demands that the defendant return the notes and mortgages to the plaintiff.

LESS MEAT - IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Sals to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You

Ending meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidney; they become overworked; get sluggish; stop up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and many kinds of kidney ailments; rheumatic twinges; severe headaches; acid stomach; constipation; torpid liver; sleeplessness; bladder and urinary irritation.

"The moment your back hurts or kidneys bother you, get about four ounces of Jnd Sals from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get agape, and your kidneys will then get agape. This famous Sals is made from the best of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acid in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders."

Jnd Sals cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney diseases.
