Fashions

Even for housewives the main thing to do with June is to enjoy it.

There never was and never will be any household duty so important or so necessary as the housewife's health and sweet temper. And when the warm days of June come household tasks should be reduced to the minimum, so that other workers may share with others the joys of outdoor life.

The two big burdens of summer housekeeping are the cooking and the laundry work. They are the hot jobs that make hot days a terror. The only way to treat them is to simplify and "cool them down" as much as possible.

It's a real economy of time and energy and money, too, to purchase a wash machine and dispense with the hand rubbing or the services of a laundress. Hand laundresses now charge from $1.00 to $1.25 a day with one or two meals included. A wash machine permits the housewife to do her laundry the day it is most convenient and never disappoints by failing to appear at the proper hour. Endless rough towels and sutticants that require no ironing should be in high favor for summer wear and simple dresses for children or grown-ups with the same desirable no-ironing quality should be chosen.

Gas, oil and electric stoves have almost abolished the old-time summer fiddle, the cookstove, from the modern kitchen. The next step is to simplify the foods and menus so they require the least expenditure of time and heat. Nature helps us here by supplying liberal and delicious fresh vegetables and fruits. The hot days very simply disappear entirely in favor of fruits. Breads and simple cakes should be baked early in the cool of the day and in large quantities to last several days. Cookies and drop cakes are simpler than hot cakes and are convenient for lunch and picnic baskets.

Vegetables, too, may be cooked in larger quantities, to furnish the hot dish-for-one-meal and leave some for a cold salad. June is the high season for melons and berries of all kinds. These, used with a constant variety of fruits, vegetables and combinations of both, will simplify the menu and cooking problems.

WITNESSES DETAIL BORDER TROUBLES

Ford's Opposition to Trouble With Mexico Is to Be Emphasized at Hearing.

By the Associated Press. MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., June 6.—Mrs. Nellie F. Austin of Sebastian, Tex., whose husband and son were killed by Mexican raiders on their ranch 35 miles north of the Rio Grande August 6, 1916, testified today for the defendant in the libel suit of Henry Ford against the Chicago Daily Tribune.

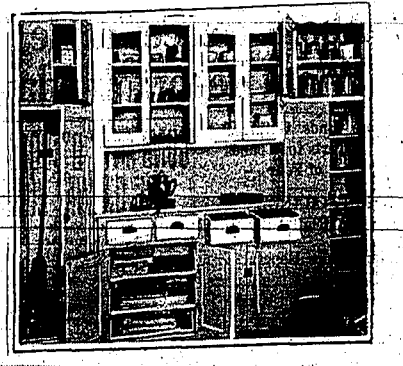

Her testimony and that of V. L. Conrad and Joseph H. Smith, followed the ruling of Judge J. C. Tucker that the defendant might introduce testimony to show actual conditions along the Mexican border, leaving it incumbent upon the defendant to show that the writer of the alleged libelous editorial headed "Ford Is An Anarchist" had such knowledge in a general way at the time he wrote the editorial. The ruling did not come as a surprise, for during the four weeks since the case opened the court repeatedly announced that he was disposed to allow the widest possible latitude to the hearing.

A BIT MORE ABOUT BORAH

Borah was elected in Idaho, not by stalwart republicans, but by—

The women of Idaho,

Plus

Democrats, who were led by Hon. Fred T. Dubois, a Wilson appointee and manager of the Nugent campaign

How are the women who voted for Senator Borah pleased with his vote on suffrage?

And—

How are the democrats who followed Dubois and Nugent into the Borah camp pleased with his attitude on the peace treaty?

And how will Senator Borah's attitude help Idaho? Will it win votes for the big reclamation bill? Will it acquaint eastern members of congress with the undeveloped resources of our state?

Pride of opinion has destroyed many good men.

ANOTHER SOLDIER SWINDLE

A California paper reports that organized swindlers are sending to the relatives of soldiers fake telegrams asking for money.

Two cases have been reported in one town where the father of a boy received a telegram asking him to forward money to a certain address, as his son was out of funds. In one case the swindle was not discovered in time to save the money. In the other case the father became suspicious, sent a decoy telegram in return, and the hoax was laid bare.

No appeal for funds at door, by letter or wire should be answered unless the person appealed to is sure of the honesty of the case. Where there is any reason at all to doubt, he should investigate, referring to the authorities if necessary, and every effort should be made to apprehend and punish those guilty of preying upon the love and sympathy of the soldiers' families.

THE STARTING SIGNAL

It is agreed in financial circles that the signing of the German peace treaty will be the starting signal for American business. Great numbers of new reconstructive enterprises will be launched. Industries now operating under the handicap of financial uncertainty and limited demand will get up steam and order full speed ahead.

The financial relief will be immediate. It will be self-evident that capital is to be released in large volume for purposes of private enterprise. A market will develop at once for corporation securities. Business institutions will thus be able to get bank loans more freely and to float loans for reconstruction and expansion.

Buying of nearly all sorts of commodities, especially building materials and standard manufactured articles, will be greatly accelerated. Congress, it is hoped, will take the formal ending of the war as its cue to provide promptly the legislation necessary to unshackle business and help along the peace time adjustments.

Thus there will be ample cause for rejoicing when the Germans put their signatures to that historic document, quite aside from the predominant human interest of the event. The main thing, of course, is that it will mark the end of the bloodshed and guarantee the safe return of the soldiers to their homes. It is pleasant to realize that, on top of all that, it will mean the definite beginning of the good times anticipated.

POLITICS AND BOOZE

A New York physician discussing the prohibition question, makes a comparison of booze and politics which is even less complimentary to the latter than to the former.

"Although the saloon may be looked upon as an evil influence in American civil life today," he says, "a careful comparison of its history with that of American politics and politicians of the same period will not credit it with being the greater offender in this respect. Cant, hypocrisy, sham-morality and servility to power are the shining sins of American politics. Bad, nay, even base as may be the offenses permitted under the state license system in some of the saloons, these evils were not of this character; neither did they strike at the foundation of our social organization as do those existing in places of power in the political world today."

Perhaps this is not altogether fair. The evils of American politics in the past have been associated very largely in the public mind at least, with the evils of the saloon itself. It was the crooked and profitable alliance between politics and saloons, particularly in municipal affairs, which produced the worst phase of American political history, a phase which has now nearly disappeared, but is still a bitter memory.

It must be admitted, however, that the elimination of liquor as a power in politics does not bring to the latter as much moral regeneration as reformers hoped for. A prohibition wave does bring with it an amount of "cant, hypocrisy, sham-morality and servility to power" that is not pleasant to contemplate, not to mention other substitutes for real statesmanship observable among legislators.

Possibly when a water regimen is finally established for good throughout the country, and the liquor question is forgotten with all its devious ramifications, we may get more honest, sincere and straightforward public service from public servants, notwithstanding many glaring instances to the contrary.

MODIFYING ARMY SENTENCES

If there remained any doubt as to the undue severity of the military sentences imposed on American soldiers during the war it is removed by the recent record of the army clemency board. In two months that body has reviewed 2857 cases, totally remitting punishment in 918 and making total or partial remission of 91 per cent of all the cases considered. The average sentences were reduced from seven years and six months to one year and eight months—a reduction of nearly 80 per cent.

This record is tacit confession that about one-third of the men sentenced to terms of imprisonment by courts martial ought never to have been sentenced at all, and that on an average the men accused of military offenses were awarded punishment more than four times as heavy as they deserved.

It is well that machinery exists to remedy such evident injustice, and that there is willingness to use the machinery. But, surely, it would be far better if the injustices were never committed in the first place. There is hope that the present congress will see that a radical change is made in the makeup and method of the army courts.

A Russian paper complains of the scant recognition given to Russia in the peace treaty, saying, "Russia seems not to exist at all." That's the truth, and likewise the reason for the omission.

A lot of women in New York are going around asking for men's jobs. And they're getting them, too—for the soldiers, sailors and marines. There's an idea that ought to work well anywhere.

KONENKAMP TO CALL OUT TELEGRAPHERS

Nationwide Strike in Support of Walkout in Atlanta Planned.

DATE TO BE FIXED IN CHICAGO TODAY

Congress Continues Consideration of Measures For Relief of the Wire Companies.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—President S. J. Koenenkamp of the Commercial Telegraphers' union of America, announced tonight that he would call a nationwide strike of members of the union upon receiving Congress today news. He said that neither the date of the proposed walkout nor whether it would affect both the Postal Telegraph Cable company and the Western Union Telegraph company had been decided.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—President S. J. Koenenkamp of the Commercial Telegraphers' union of America, announced tonight that he would call a nationwide strike of members of the union upon receiving Congress today news. He said that neither the date of the proposed walkout nor whether it would affect both the Postal Telegraph Cable company and the Western Union Telegraph company had been decided.

The strike, President Koenenkamp said, would be called in support of union operators of the Western Union in ten southern states, who were requested by him to leave their work last night, following return by order of Postmaster General Burleson of the wire systems of the country to private operation.

Postoffice department officials, while intimating that, whereas the wire system now was being operated by the companies, the department was not directly concerned in the controversy, expressed the belief that the strike, if called, would not seriously affect communication.

Western Union officials here pointed to the statement in New York today of Newcomb Carter, president of the company, that out of 40,000 employees eligible to join the Commercial Telegraphers' union only 710 were members.

Leaders in congress despite the postmaster, general's order returning wire systems of the country to private operation, will bring legislation to repeal the wire control resolution.

Committee Holds Hearing. Reopening the hearings on the bill by Senator Keating, Republican of Minnesota, for repeal of the wire control, the senate interstate commerce committee questioned M. C. Kingsbury, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, as to legislation necessary to protect the wire companies.

During the hearing some members of the committee charged that the postmaster general, confronted by a strike, issued the return order for the purpose of "passing the buck."

Mr. Durison in a letter to Chairman Cummins of the senate committee, declared that the bill had been misinterpreted and that actual control of the wire systems had not passed from the department, but only operation had been relinquished.

The committee agreed to amend the bill so that it would continue existing telephone toll rates in effect for 30 days after the wires are returned, instead of 90 days as originally proposed.

Statements Confict. ATLANTA, Ga., June 6.—Continuing the Commercial Telegraphers' strike in ten southern states was marked today by contradictory statements from the Western Union Telegraph company officials and strike leaders as to its effect and extent.

General manager of the Western Union southern division, said that less than 300 operators had left, while Charles F. Mann, representing the Atlantic Telegraphers' union said the number was 3000. The Western Union continued to handle messages.

Newspaper reports through the day indicated that some smaller offices of the Western Union in this territory had closed, but that in larger cities a majority of the employees are still on duty.

NO NEED FOR STRIKE. By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 6.—"No need for a strike now," said Charles F. VILLA REVERTS TO TYPE OF BANDITRY

Reformation of 1913 Ends When Death of Madero Calls Him to Mexico From El Paso.

EL PASO, Texas, June 6.—Francisco Villa, a lover of peace and hater of bloodshed and a family man who wishes nothing so much as to work all day on an American railroad right of way and go home in the evening to play with his little son and continue when he is a prisoner in the Bellem prison at Mexico City, sounds like a paradox.

Yet that was the Villa of 1913 for, leaving his escape from prison where he had been placed by order of General Westcott, Villa fled to Mexico, probably through President Madero's orders, Villa came to El Paso and rented a cheap room in the Hotel Mexico in the Mexican quarter.

At the time Villa was a restaurant of the hotel, Villa told the present correspondent of The Associated Press his plans for the future, his aims and ambitions and also of his expectations for his son to be born to him at the family home and of his wife in San Andres, Chihuahua. At that time Villa was known as a reformed bandit who had followed Madero loyally and who had fought for independence and liberty for his people beside the dominating revolutionary leader. It was not until later that he again won the title of "bandit" by his raid on Columbus, N. M., and his subsequent actions.

"I am tired—tired and tired of war and revolution and bloodshed," Villa said in Spanish as he ate the Mexican dishes served in the little cafe.

"I want no more of it and I have come to the United States to get away from it and to get a job on the Southern Railway. I have a family here in the land of the free. I love Mexico but, if it remains there I will be forced into the political whirlpool and that is the one thing I want to avoid now. There will be a little Francisco Villa awaiting me when I get back to San Andres to bring Luz (his wife) to the border and for his sake I want to live the life of a workman man in the United States where he will have a chance to get the education which I was denied out of by the tyrant Diaz who decreed there should be no schools in the north for fear his people would learn of his marauds."

Before Villa could find employment on the railroad Madero was killed and he organized an expedition consisting of seven men, five mules and three sacks of flour which crossed the border near Hermosillo, N. M., and resulted in the Villa revolution. By a turn of fate, the baby Villa was expecting, died at birth during the battle of St. Andres, which was his first experience with the Mexican federalists. After that Villa reverted to type and his history was the history of northern Mexico for the following five years. His wife is now living in an Antonio, Texas.

Oriental Mysticism and Modern Culture Make Queer Mixture Among Devoutly Religious Armenian People

Site of the first Armenian Christian church at Echmiadzin, between Erivan and Mt. Ararat. The original church was built in A. D. 316, just after practically the whole people had become Christian under teachings of St. Gregory the Illuminator. Present church is seat of the head of the Armenian church. His holiness George V, Catholicos of All Armenians. Portrait of Archbishop Touman, member of Armenian national delegation to Paris peace congress and probable successor to His Holiness George V, aged head of Armenian church.

By PROFESSOR A. DER HAGOPIAN
 Member of the Armenian National Delegation to the Paris peace congress; professor for many years at famous American Robert college, Constantinople.

Armenia has a civilization peculiar to itself—a strange mixture of almost emotional Oriental mysticism and the modern culture of the west.
 This is so because at the gateway between east and west—the world's old dividing line between two worlds—lies Armenia.
 The peculiarity is shown mainly in interior Armenia. All, however, are intensely religious. And, like most peoples, they have their superstitions.
 People of the interior believe in prophetic dreams, in the visitation and intervention of spirits. In pilgrimage to shrines, in good or evil luck, and in certain forms of sorcery and exorcism.
 They believe certain persons are possessed at times with evil spirits; but that such spirits can be driven away by the use of magic.
 There are "sorcerers" scattered about the interior to whom the peasants frequently go when they have lost, some prized thing or when they desire to know of the future.
 Oriental Fatalism Curse of Fate
 It is one of the traits of the Armenians that, though western in spirit and character, who has been literally subjugated in a sea of orientalism. The Orient has undoubtedly made its impression on their lives.
 In their religious activities, they have been imbued in fatalistic terror which surrounds them. Fatalism is therefore widely accepted.
 However, the mass of the people is now covered down by fatalism and superstitious fears and they are naturally cheerful and optimistic.

The Armenians have a national church—the Armenian church—and religion forms a great factor in their daily lives. The Armenian service is "high," something like the Episcopal or Catholic service in America, not as "high" as the Greek Catholic service.
 Their Christian faith has formed the excuse for centuries of massacres, deportations, persecution and pillage. But they have steadfastly refused immunities from oppression to become Mohammedans.
 Strangely, despite the Turkish disregard for Christian life, the church dignitaries were accepted by the Turks, under the old rule, as the highest authority among the Armenians. This was because the Turks did not desire to recognize any political spokesman for the Armenians.
 Among the Armenians the Catholicos, as the head of the church is called, is accepted as the highest Armenian authority. The seat of the Catholicos of all Armenians is at Echmiadzin, near Erivan.

 Armenia has relics of Salome Yeghim. All Armenian priests—the priests are the churchmen who go out into the homes and work among the flocks—are required to marry. While for the "presbyters"—varabets, archbishops and bishops—celibacy is obligatory.
 The shrine at the Armenian monastery of Surp Carapet is reputed to contain the remains of John the Baptist, buried there after Salome danced before King Herod to grant her request for his head upon a platter.
 An inkling of the democracy of the Armenians is evident in the fact that every member of the church clergy is elected by the people up to and including the Catholicos, who is elected by the whole nation.

ADVENTURE ROMANCE THROUGH BRIDE BEQUEATH
 LONDON, June 6.—Wedded to a Turkish girl after a series of adventures and half-bred, catches that would furnish a plot for a novel. That's the experience of Colonel F. P. S. Newcombe, twice decorated. Colonel Newcombe fought in France and Italy with the second Australian division. Then he joined the forces of the king of the Hedjaz. He knew Arab and Arabic from ten years service in Egypt. He grew a beard, stained himself and appeared as one of the mob. Captured by the Turks, he was sent to Constantinople. In a hospital with "malpox," he met Miss Ella Coe. Then romance. He was saved to Bursa. She followed with her maid and helped him to escape disguised as a pirate. He was captured, escaped again and was hidden in Constantinople by his fiancée. He escaped on the eve of the armistice and was followed by the girl when the allies took the city. In London their wedding was delayed by the fact that she was an alien, but the colonel was found to be a British subject and a way was found.

SHORT LINE ROADS DEMAND LARGER SHARE OF U. S. MILLION
 By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, June 6.—Doroforesing its convention here, the American Short-Line Railroad association adopted a resolution demanding a better division of rate revenues for the short lines and insisted that $50,000,000 be set aside for the short lines in the $1,250,000,000 railroad fund now being considered by the house appropriations committee. More than 600 short lines are represented in the association.

TEACHERS NAMED FOR ENSUING YEAR

Large Number of Last Year's Force Anticipate Returning to Twin Falls.

Announcement was made yesterday of the names of teachers reappointed for the ensuing years by the Twin Falls school board. According to an announcement by Superintendent of Schools Blue, all of the superintendents and principals have signed contracts for next year, while four-fifths of the high school faculty will be back. Of the 44 teachers in grades below the high school 26 or practically 75 per cent have signed contracts for the next school year.

Of the 15 teachers not returning six plan to be married some time during the next year, three were not re-elected, but three are away on leaves of absence, one will study during the year and the other will travel. Of the five teachers leaving the profession three will enter business, one will take up nursing in connection with social work of a church. The remaining two teachers plan to rest for a year but will re-enter the work the following year.

Following is the list of those who have signed contracts:

IF BACK-HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

POINTE RICCO'S DRINKING HAIR TONIC, 60 PER CENT

SAN JUAN, June 6.—They're drinking hair tonic in Porto Rico now. That's a 60 per cent kick. The stuff is put out by San Juan firm. In bottles commonly known as "pills." They have crown cork and a handsome label, a line in red ink reading, "Alcohol, 60 per cent. For external use." There's a little quinine in each bottle which adds to the tonic. It disappears when the bottle is uncorked a short time. The makers have been ordered to hold 5000 bottles at the factory ready for shipment. But the formula has been registered according to law and there seems no ground to stop the sale of the mixture. Mean-while the natives are getting beautiful jugs on the stock that has been sold.

"GUESS WORK" DATE MAY BE LATTER PART OF NEXT WEEK
 WASHINGTON, June 5.—President Wilson's visit to Belgium will be made the latter part of next week, the Belgian legation was informed today in a dispatch from Brussels.
 King Albert, the dispatch said, will meet the president at Adinkorke, on the French border and will accompany him to Brussels where Mr. Wilson will be the guest of the king at the royal palace. The Belgian parliament will hold a formal reception in honor of the president, who during his stay will visit Louvain and the devastated regions.

At the Paris "White House" yesterday it was said any reported dates for the visit were "guess work."

EGYPTIAN WOMEN BUY AMERICAN MADE HATS
 ALEXANDRIA, June 6.—American hat worn the heads of Egyptian women. It's one of the results of aggressive American business methods. Though the British have the advantage of governmental control, the American salesman has met the growing demand of Egyptian women for things western and Paris cheap as across the sea. It's with creations from not in the sea.

Far Less Meant If Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else you have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid bowels, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.
 You must simply keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the softest grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inoperative, makes a delightful effervescent lithium-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.
 A well known local druggist says he likes in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

WILSON CONGRATULATES MRS. CATT OVER SUFFRAGE LEGISLATION
 By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Wilson through the White House today sent to Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, woman president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, the following message:
 "I join with you and all friends of the suffrage cause in rejoicing over the adoption of the suffrage amendment by the congress. Please accept and convey to your association my warmest congratulations."

POLISH CAST OFF

THE RUSSIAN INFLUENCE
WARSAW, June 6.—Poland is of the west.
The influence of Italian art and architecture, dating back to the thirteenth century is evident in many of the old houses of Warsaw. Polish kings had a fondness for Italian architects and painters.
The massive Greek church—which Russia built on the highest point of Warsaw—is to be torn down. It clashes with the graceful lines of the old Polish palaces.
In their daily life the Polish much resemble the English. Most of the educated classes speak English. Warsaw has its Little Theater in which the play of Shaw and Galsworthy and Oscar Wilde are given. There is even a Futurist club under the European Club.
"Cooking and service are better than in England restaurants."
Newspaper editors and columnists' paragraphs resemble some of the English towns and the working women in the bright colored handkerchiefs remained one of the girls of Lancashire.
Though Warsaw is under martial law hardly a policeman is to be seen for most of them have joined the army. A military patrol is on duty at night and during the day the city of nearly a million inhabitants "practically" police itself. Yet there is almost no disorder.
German uniform taken by hundreds when the Germans evacuated or worn by the Polish soldiers, but the Polish eagle has replaced the insignia of the German.

BRITISH PLANT BUDS
FIVE AIR MODEL PLANES
LONDON, June 6.—Five types of airplanes are being built for civilian use in the plant of the British and Colonial Aeroplane Co., Ltd., at Filton, Glos. The first of these is a biplane, this is the best evidence of the part flying is to play in transportation. The plane can turn in 90° in a week. The Bullman, a triplane which carries two machines and 12 passengers, is the most luxurious model. It has duplicate drive, right and left, and will travel on two or four engines, carrying 6500 pounds. Arm chairs, a carpet, and full protection from the weather are among its comforts.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.
To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue, no aching your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, indigestion, or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do. To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels drink before breakfast each day a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limonette phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting food into the stomach.
Get a dietetic pound of limonette phosphate from your pharmacist. It is except a scratch thing which is not water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.
To feel like young folks, let me tell you that before your blood, nerves and muscles become saturated with an accumulation of body poisons begin this treatment and above all, keep it up. As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limonette phosphate acts on the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels.

INAUGURATES BROAD HOPES IN AMERICAS

Pan-American Conference Develops Closer Relationship.

TO CONNECT LANDS BY WIRE, RAIL, SHIPS

Finances to Be Provided by the Big Banking Houses of the United States.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—Inauguration of a new epoch in Pan-American commercial relations will date from the second Pan-American commercial conference. Eliezer Green, John Barrett of the Pan-American union and presiding officer of the conference, declared, in summing up the achievements of the meeting at the concluding session today.

"The one outstanding characteristic," said Mr. Barrett, "has been the expression of the Pan-American or all-American idea and viewpoint, in which the interests of Latin-America, just as much as those of the United States, have been frankly considered and discussed by the most eminent and skilled authorities of both North and South America."

"The applause which greeted this statement was considered as reflecting the sentiment of the more than 100 representatives of the United States and Latin-American who have attended the five-day meeting."

Results Are Summarized.

"If the work and results of the conference were to be summarized in the form of a resolution," said Mr. Barrett, "the following should be included:

"The immediate establishment of abundant freight, mail and passenger steamship facilities between the principal ports of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts of the United States on the one hand, and the corresponding ports of Latin-America on the other."

"The making of every effort by both governments and individuals to develop through reciprocity and mutual cooperation methods, regulations, business, ethics and general treatment of commercial relations."

Providing Finances.

"The meeting of the unavoidable and pressing financial needs of the Latin-American and legitimate private undertakings and the protection and enlargement of the United States-Latin-American trade, through the financial and banking interests of the United States providing the necessary money loans and credits."

"A well defined program for the protection of the patents, trademarks and copyrights of each country in all the other twenty, through the new international bureau established in Havana and the support of the Pan-American office in Rio de Janeiro."

"The making of the parcel post beneficial alike to the export business interests of the United States and the rank and file of the Latin-American people, by the removal of unnecessary restrictions and regulations."

"The improvement in the administration of consular officers similarity of consular invoices and fees, the amending of petty laws annoying the traveler through the revision and harmonization of tariffs."

Improved Transportation Planned.

"The undertaking, without delay, to have Latin-America of extensive railway and highway road construction, to carry the railways already in existence, but suffering from the lack of supplies during the war, and the establishment of vast aviation mail services."

"Better credit facilities for Latin-American buyers, a closer study of the Latin-American trade and social conditions by the interests of the United States, and the extensions of United States banking connections for the benefit alike of the United States and Latin-America."

"The improvement and extension of news service, cable service and the employment of the best methods of advertising, publicity and other agencies of commercial intelligence."

"The study of the Spanish and Portuguese languages, Latin-American institutions, history and geography by the people of the United States and a corresponding study of the United States by the people of the Latin-American trade."

"A favorable attitude towards the holding of the second Pan-American financial congress in 1920, called by invitation of the secretary of the treasury of the United States extended to the ministers of finance of Latin-America."

RECAPTURE TOWN. LONDON, June 6.—The Bolsheviks have recaptured Sverdlovsk, on the Kama river southwest of Perm, which was one of the important towns taken by Admiral Kolchak's forces in their spring advance, a Bolshevik wireless message claims. The dispatch also asserts that the Bolsheviks are continuing to advance in this region.

APPROVAL IS GIVEN

the bonds bids for paving will be called for but council does not anticipate that any other paving than that on Shoshone and Main streets will be done this year, the major portion of the program being finished next year.

At the meeting of council a supplemental ordinance will be introduced providing for paving on Third avenue west and Fourth avenue east. Eliminated Opposition.

Council agreed to pass this ordinance if opposition to the issue yesterday, which developed after the passage of the ordinance calling for the election, was stopped. Council agreed to put second class paving on residential streets in order to provide the money for the intersections in the supplemental program, and in addition agreed to paving these streets first, after the paving of Shoshone and Main streets and before the streets included in the first program.

aration allowances, maintenance, of war prisoners and the destruction of ships at a fixed figure per ton. It was found impossible, however, to fix any total sum for all categories, since the cost of reconstruction and restoration in the devastated regions cannot be established until after an extensive survey, and the only general estimate on which the French are willing to act would bring the total to 250,000,000,000 francs, which the experts quite generally agreed, was beyond Germany's power to pay.

Will Get Working Capital.

In addition to learning at once the definite instructions on which the permanent commission will act, the Germans will also be assured that a certain amount of working capital will be left them including probable tonnage for overseas trade, without which they profess inability to make the required reparations.

It is understood the question of a plebiscite in upper Silesia practically has been decided affirmatively.

No change with regard to reparability, punishment of the former emperor or the disposition of the German colonies is regarded as probable. The change in reparations probably will delay presentation of the reparations clauses in the Austrian treaty which will be made to conform to the German proviso under the principle of light and heavy responsibility and administration by the same permanent commission.

GERMANS GROW HOPEFUL.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Thursday, June 6.—While the German correspondents at Versailles continue to take a gloomy view of the forthcoming answer to the German counter proposals, official circles in Berlin, judged wholly by surface indications, appear more hopeful.

The slight tone of optimism which has projected itself into the Berlin estimates of the situation are born of the conviction that a basis for verbal negotiations is gradually being created. Suspicion prevails in some quarters in the Wilhelmstrasse that the entente probably will avail itself of neutral intervention by way of breaking the log.

Official observers here believe Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau holds a slight strategic advantage for reasons outside those that might be contained in his counter proposals.

The trace of optimism is explained by a view which it is believed here will ultimately work out to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's advantage. These factors are to be found in the Paris strike, fresh Polish aggression, French machinations in Rheims, France and the reported American and British opposition to the entente terms.

German optimism is by no means overreaching itself. It is based rather, on the expectation that in view of the liberality and kindness of the German counter draft, the entente leaders will not dare to assume the moral responsibility of slamming the door in the face of the German envoys.

DREBERGER MAKES SIGN.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 6.—Resolutions asking the state department for the text of the treaty with Germany and directing the foreign relations committee to investigate how copies of the unpublished document have reached private hands in New York, were adopted by the senate today without a roll call.

Action on the two proposals came unexpectedly during a lull in the stormy debate they had aroused and scarcely a score of senators were in the chamber when, in quick succession, the resolutions were put to a vote. Their passage itself, however, was no surprise, as it generally had been conceded that each would have a majority.

The request for the treaty will be referred by state department officials to Secretary Lansing and President Wilson at Paris and will have a reply no official action is available here as to whether the text will be forthcoming.

Will Summon Witnesses.

Under the investigation resolution introduced at the request of the Yale class, by Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, senior democrat of the foreign relations committee, it is expected that a far-reaching inquiry will begin within a few days. The committee will meet Monday to formulate plans which may include the summoning of members of the American peace delegation.

Adoption of the Hitchcock resolution came first, just after the debate had reached a dramatic climax in a clash between Mr. Hitchcock and the chairman, Lodge of the foreign relations committee. After this clash a request by Mr. Lodge that the senate substitute an investigation resolution drawn by Senator Kellogg, republican, of Minnesota was withdrawn and the question was put up adoption.

The resolution asking for the treaty text, introduced by Senator Johnson, republican of California, then came up automatically under the senate rules and it was disposed of within less than a minute with only a few scattered "noes." It had been opposed stubbornly during the two weeks of debate of the president's supporters, and the general expectation had been that the vote would be a close one.

Lodge Hites Hitchcock.

In suggesting the Kellogg substitute, Senator Lodge said the Hitchcock resolution, apparently had been "hastily drawn" and that his object was to improve the language of the measure. With this Senator Hitchcock immediately took issue, saying the substitute was quite different in content because it did not name Senator Lodge and Iowa, republican of Idaho as having made the charge that the treaty is in private hands in New York.

His own proposal, continued Mr. Hitchcock, would show, by naming the two senators, where the information came from that started the inquiry.

"I am amazed," continued the Nebraska senator, "at the position now taken by the senator of Massachusetts. Yesterday he wanted immediate action. Yesterday and the day before he was for this resolution. And now the senator, who was so anxious to make statements here about the treaty in New York, wants some one else investigated."

Hitchcock Draws Fire.

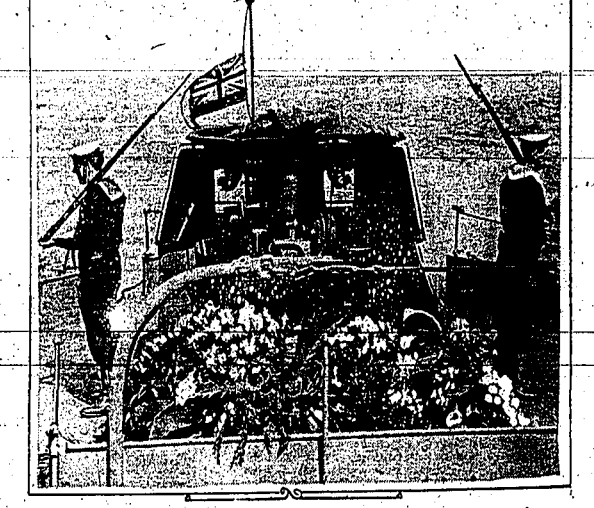

Referring to references that the treaty was in the hands of financial interests, Senator Hitchcock drew a pointed reply from Senator Lodge, "I didn't say that," shouted the foreign relations chairman.

"Does the senator question the truth of what I say?" Senator Hitchcock retorted: "But I think we ought to have another investigation to find out what's happened during the last 24 hours and what now might the senator on the other side of the chamber have seen."

"You can beat my resolution if you want to. You can put in that vague substitute. But the people of the country won't be satisfied with that kind of an investigation."

Senator Lodge denied that he desired to evade investigation and assured Senator Hitchcock that he would "get all the investigation he desires." Senator Borah said he thought either resolution would be free to give the committee access to the "whole field" of investigation.

HONORS TO EDITH CAVELL, MARTYR

Borne on a British destroyer from Ostend to Dover, the flower covered coffin of Edith Cavell had a naval guard of honor while flags stood at half mast in memory of the brave nurse who was martyred by the Huns for her devotion to the cause of her country.
